1. A stream of water flowing with great swiftness and impetuosity, whether from the steepness of its course, or from being temporarily flooded; more esp. applied (as in Fr.) to a mountain stream which at times is full of rushing water and at other times is more or less dry: cf. Winter-bourn.

[1398 Trevisa Bartb. De P. R. XIII. iii. (Bodl. MS.), Of ryuers þ[e] ryei manere kindes..one is ileped a tyuynge ryuer; þat oþer manere ryuer hatte Torreens and is a water þat comeþ wiþ swiftе rees and passeþ; and hatte torrens for it cresep in grete rayne and fordruyseþ in druye wedeir. 1506 Guylford Pilgr. (Camden) 32 So listen we to the torrens Cedron, which in some tyme is drye. [Cf. Vulgate John xviii. 1, trans torrentem Cedron, in Lindisf. gl. þ uinterburna cedron.]] 1601 Shaks. Twel. C. I. ii. 107 The Torrent roar'd, and we did buffet it With lusty Sinewes. 1609 Bible (Douay) Gen. xxvi. Comm., Torrent, the channel where sometimes a vehement streame runneth, sometimes none at al. 1697 Dryden Virg. Georg. I. 160 The wary Ploughman, on the Mountain's Brow, Undams his watry Stores, huge Torrents flow. 1760 Johnson Idler No. 97 P. 5 He observed among the hills many hollows worn by torrents. 1835 Thirlwall Greece I. i. 14 The Ilissus..is a mere brook, which is sometimes swollen into a torrent. 1852 Stanley Sinai & Pal. VII. 209 This green thread is the course of the torrent now called Kelt, possibly the ancient Cherith. 1858 Hawthorne Fr. & It. Note-Bks. I. 247 We discerned the dry beds of mountain torrents, which had lived too briefly a life to let it be a living one.

2. a. fig. A violent or tumultuous flow, onrush, or 'stream', e.g. of words, feelings, opposition, etc.; a 'flood'.

1647 Clarendon Hist. Reb. I. § 1 Those, who out of Duty and Conscience have opposed..that Torrent which did overwhelm them. Ibid. § 70 The torrent of his Impetuous Passions. 1784 Mme. D'Arblay Let. 14 Nov., She poured forth again a torrent of abuse. 1826 Margravine of Anspach Mem. I. viii. 304 He was forced to follow the torrent of his notes [in music]. 1845 S. Austin Ranke's Hist. Ref. I. 249 The near approach of the resistless torrent of Turkish power.

b. transf. A forcible stream or rushing body (of various physical things, as lava, loose stones, wind, light); also, a violent downpour of rain.

1781 More in Phil. Trans. LXXII. 52 The force of those violent torrents of wind. 1806–7 J. Berresford Miseries Hum. Life (1826) II. xiv, A sinking torrent of rain. 1842 R. Burns Arts & Sc. (ed. 18) 27 Torrents of smoke and of flames, rivers of melted metals. 1839 De Quincey Recoll. Lakes Wks. 1862 II. 22 The moon arose, and shed a torrent of light upon the Langdale fells. 1840 R. H. Dana Bef. Mast x. 23 The rain coming down in torrents. 1858 Lanner Hand-bk. Nat. Phil. 360 The torrents of liquid lava which flow from volcanos. 1860 Tyndall Glac. I. viii. 58 A torrent of what appeared to me to be stones and mud.

c. A mass of hanging foliage, drapery, etc. resembling in appearance a descending stream.

1864 Lowell Riverside Trav. 284 A cliff over which the ivy pours in torrents. 1880 'Ouida' Moths II. 271 A loose white gown that was all torrents and cascades of lace.

3. attrib. and Comb. a. Simple attrib., as torrent-action, -bed, -flood, -line, -scar, -sound; -stream, -voice, -water; torrent-wise adv.; b. objective, as torrent-braving adj.; c. instrumental, as torrent-bitten, -borne adjs.; d. similative, etc., as torrent-like, -mad adjs. e. Special combs.: torrent-bow, a rainbow formed in the spray of a torrent; torrent-duck, any species of duck of the South American genus Merganetta.

1826 Kane Arct. Expl. II. xiv. 150 The evidences of torrent-action were unequivocal. 1867 Lady Herbert Cradle L. vii. 203 We rode through this same torrent-bed, at this time of the year, dry. 1869 Atkinson Stanton Grange (1874) 258 The huge sweeping waves whirling the torrent-borne sticks and boughs. 1872 Tennyson Pal. of Art ix, In misty folds, that, floating as they fell, Lit up a torrent-bow. 1777 Warton Odes VIII. vi, The foam-beat pier, and torrent-braving mound. 1899 Camb. Nat. Hist. IX. 116 This peculiar and tame torrent-duck is rarely seen on the sea, though it can fly from one gorge to another. 1825 J. Wilson Poems II. 209 Each misty cataract, and torrent-flood. 1769 Pennant Zool. III. 241 Salmon..gain the sources of the Thames..The rising spite of their torrent-like currents. 1865 Alex. Smith Summ. Skye I. 287 They stand with all their scars and torrent-lines bare to the blue heavens. 1728 D. Mallet Excurs. Wks. 1759 I. 94 A hundred torrent-streams, that dashing up its bed. 1898 Westm. Gaz. 1 Nov. 7/2 The feeding torrents might be diverted or blocked, and the Abyssinian torrent-water might be so interfered with as largely to deprive the river of the fertilising matter which it carries in suspension. 1862 Carlyle Fredk. Gt. xii. xiii. III. 379 These..fly torrent-wise along the winds.

B. adj. Rushing like a torrent.

1667 Milton P. L. II. 581 Fierce Phlegeton, Whose waves of torrent fire inflame with rage. 1859 Tennyson Enid 1020 As one That listens near a torrent mountain-brook.

Hence To·rrentful a., full of torrent or rush of words (whence To·rrentfulness); To·rrentless a., void of torrents.

1873 Symonds Grk. Poets Ser. I. vii. 162 The torrent-fulness, the intoxicating charm of Pindar. 1911 B. W. Bacon in Expositor Mar. 205 The rainless, torrentless, alluvial valley of the Nile.

Torrential (tɒrenʃəl), a. [f. L. torrēnt-em Torrent + -ial: cf. tangential.]

1. Of, pertaining to, or of the nature of a torrent; produced by the action of a torrent.

Torrential months, months characterized by torrents.

1861 J. H. Bennet Winter Medit. I. i. (1875) 11 A series of hills..rent by numerous ravines and torrential valleys. 1873 J. Geikie Gt. Ice Age xxvi. 362 The denuded and partially rearranged portions of old torrential gravel and sand. 1880 V. Ball Jungle Life in India ii. 57 These rivers are..fed by thousands of torrential streams which, when there is no rain, completely dry up. 1892 Daily Graphic 8 Jan. 7/3 The torrential months of January and February.

2. Like a torrent in rapidity or violence; torrent-like; rushing; falling in torrents, as rain.

1849 Fraser's Mag. XL. 605 No eddying groups; no torrential processions. 1865 Tyndall Heat 388 The condensation of the vapour, and its torrential descent to the earth. 1865 Morn. Star 21 July, To the intense heat,..has succeeded torrential rain. 1894 Scotsman 27 Aug. 7 A rainstorm which the newfangled appellation 'torrential' only feebly describes.

b. fig. As copious or impetuous as a torrent.

1877 D. M. Wallace Russia xxv. 396 The poetasters poured forth their feelings with torrential recklessness. 1879 G. Meredith Egoist III. xiv. 293 He could woo, he was a torrential wooer. 1897 in Academy 13 Mar. 308/2 A man of torrential eloquence. 1909 Blackw. Mag. Aug. 232/1 They broke and fled with the British in torrential pursuit.

Hence Torrentiality (tɒrenʃiæ·liti), torrential character or condition; Torre·ntially adv., in a torrential way; in torrents, or like a torrent.

1888 Proctor in Nat. Lond. (N. Y.) 52 Since the woods were cleared the rain falls more torrentially than before. 1891 Cent. Dict., Torrentiality. 1901 Daily Chron. 4 Nov. 5/7 To the stern, where sailors and marines rushed torrentially, called for three cheers, and one cheer more'.

† Torrentille. Obs. rare$^{-1}$. App. var. of next.

c 1460 J. Russell Bk. Nurture 548 Iiff ye haue salt purpose, ȝele, torrentille, deynteithus fulle dere, Ye must do aflure þe forme of frumenty, as y said while ere.

† To·rrentine, sb. Obs. rare$^{-1}$. [In note to passage quoted, said to corresp. to an Ital. torrentina, a fish so called because it abounds in mountain streams.] A kind of fish; perh. trout.

c 1460 J. Russell Bk. Nurture 835 in Babees Bk. (1868) 173 Vynegur is good to salt purpose & torrentyne, Salt sturgeon, salt swyrd-fysche savery & fyne.

† To·rrentine, a. Obs. rare. [f. L. torrēnt-em Torrent + -ine 1.] (See quot.)

1586 Blount Glossogr., Torrentine, belonging to, or abiding in torrents, or swift and violent streames. 1864 in Webster; and in later Dicts.

Torrentous (tɒrenti·ŋəs), a. [= mod.F. torrentueux (neologism in Littré), f. L. torrēnt-em Torrent: see -ious, and cf. tempestuous.] Torrent-like, impetuous.

1840 Thackeray Paris Sk.-bk. vii. Fr. Fash. Novels, Wks. 1900 V. 84 My affairs whirl onwards together in such a torrentous [orig. torrentueux] galopade. 1897 F. Thompson in Academy 6 Feb. 180/2 Womanly and unstayed of nature, torrentious of golden talk.

Torrepine: see Terrapin.

Torret, turret. Obs. or dial. Forms: 4–5 toret, 5 toreet, touret, 5–6 torrett, turet(t, turrett, 5–8 torret, 6 (9) turret. [ME. toret, touret, a. OF. toret, dim. of tor (12th c.), tour a round, circuit, circle, ring: see Tour. From the 15th c. this word is also found as ter(r)et, tyret, tyrret, which in senses b and d are the ordinary forms: see Terret.] a. A swivel ring on a dog's collar by which a string can be attached.

c 1386 Chaucer Knt's T. 1294 Aboute his Chaar ther weren white Alauntz..with mosel faste ybounde Colored of gold, and with gyrtes of Tormentrie, toretys, torettes, turetes, turettes [orig. torettz] fyled. 1552 Huloet, Turret of a dogges collare, vertibulum.

b. Each of the two rings by which the leash is attached to the jesses of a hawk. See Terret b.

[Cf. c 1247 Emperor Fredk. II's 'De arte venandi cum avibus' (1596) II. xl. (heading) De tornetto, qualiter factum sit, et ad quid sit utile.]

c. A ring or the like, often moving on a swivel, whereby an object can be attached to a chain.

c 1391 Chaucer Astrol. I. § 2 Thyn Astrelabie hath a ring to putten on the ȝ[h]omble of thy ryht hand in takyng the heyhte of thynges..This ring renyeth in A Maner turet, fast to the Moder of thyn Astrelabie. 1463 Bury Wills (Camden) 16 My litytl bagge of blakke ledyr with a cheyne and toret of silvyn. 1554 in Shropsh. Par. Doc. (1903) 55 For three cheynes and two turettes for the sensor viiſd. 1900 N. & Q. 9th Ser. VI. 235/2 Turettes, tirets, tirets, or tyrritts, swivels (of metal), a term also used in heraldry. In the trickings of arms in many early heraldic MSS. these are represented as a ring at the end of a chain. 1910 Let. to Editor, The term 'turret' (pronounced 'torret') is still in use at Winterton, North Lincolnsh., though obsolescent, to indicate the bow and pendant of a watch case. The word is used principally by farm men

It is the local name for the sail swivel with which all plough traces are furnished to prevent them from becoming twisted.

d. In horse-harness, A ring on the harness of a horse through which a rein passes: see TERRET d.

1429-30 Durham Acc. Rolls (Surtees) 230 In iiij Renes, ij colers de coroe novis cum Turettes empts. 1849 DE QUINCEY Eng. Mail Coach Wks. 1863 IV. 306 Inspecting professionally the harness, the straps, and the silvery turrets of his harness. [Note] The little devices through which the reins are made to pass...This same word...I heard uniformly used by many scores of illustrious mail-coachmen.

Torret, obs. form of TURRET.

Torricellian (tɒrɪsɛ·lɪăn), tɒ̆rɪse·lɪăn), a. [f. the name of Torricelli, an Italian physicist (1608–1647) + -AN.] Of or belonging to Torricelli.

Torricellian experiment, that by which, in 1643, Torricelli proved that the column of mercury in an inverted closed tube is supported by the pressure of the atmosphere on the mercury in the vessel, and that the height of the column corresponds exactly to the atmospheric pressure. Torricellian tube, early name for the tube of the mercurial barometer. Torricellian vacuum, the vacuum above the mercurial column in the barometer, produced by filling the tube with mercury and then inverting it in a cup of mercury.

1660 BOYLE New Exp. Phys. Mech. xvii. 123 We are unwilling to examine any further the Inferences wont to be made from the Torricellian Experiment. 1663 — Usef. Exp. Nat. Philos. i. v. 69 Nor did it appear that by repeated Suctions..it could at all be mis'd above the seven and twenty Digits at which it us'd to subsist in the Torrecellian Experiment De Vacuo. *a*1686 BUTLER Rem. (1759) I. 162 Or mountains of Air upon Quicksilver with Cylinders of Torricellian Glasses. 1682 H. MORE Annot. Glanvill's Lux O. 130 The Quicksilver in a Torricellian Tube will sink deeper in an higher or clearer Air. 1812 SIR H. DAVY Chem. Philos. 97 Even the best Torricellian vacuum must contain elastic matter. 1812–16 PLAYFAIR Nat. Phil. (1819) I. 243 The weight of air is known from the Torricellian experiment, or that of the barometer. 1835 Penny Cycl. III. 488/2 It is a Torricellian barometer.

Torrid (tɒ·rɪd), a. Also 7 erron. torred. [ad. L. torrid-us, f. torrēre to dry with heat: see -ID. Cf. F. torride (Rabelais 1546), Sp., Pg. tórrido, -a, It. torrido, -a.]

1. Scorched, burned, exposed to great heat; also, intensely hot, burning, scorching.

1622 COTGR., Torride, torride, scorched, burned, parched; also,..dried by the extremitie of heat. 1633 PURCHAS Pilgrimage viii. 1. 603 A torrid and scorched earth. 1658 J. ROBINSON Endeavs iv. 48 Exceedingly simples..corrupted by the long and torrid space of the Voyage. 1667 MILTON P. L. xii. 634 Fierce as a Comet; which with torrid heat ..Began to parch that temperate Clime. 1798 CANNING in Anti-Jacobin No. 27. 146 All in the town of Tunis, In Africa the torrid. 1809 BYRON Ch. Har. i. xxviii. note, Such torrid weather. 1876 MERIVALE Rom. Triumvirates vii. (1877) 246 The march through this torrid and trackless region occupied seven days.

b. esp. in torrid zone, the region of the earth between the tropics. (Orig. in L. form, torrida zona or zona torrida; cf. Virg. Georg. I. 234.)

[1398 TREVISA Barth. De P. R. xii. iii. (Bodl. MS.), Pe cercle pat hatte Torrida zona [L. circulus a 1350] vnder pe whiche pe sonne meneip alwei. 1553 EDEN Treat. Newe Ind. (Arb.) 33 The burning Iyne called Zona Torrida. 1586 MARLOWE 1st Pt. Tamburl. iv. iv, Thence by land unto the torrid zone. 1794 SULLIVAN View Nat. I. 156 Why, under the torrid zone, have the little islands a temperature always inexpressible. 1834 MRS. SOMERVILLE Connex. Phys. Sc. xxvii. 272 In the valleys of the torrid zone, where the mean annual temperature is very high.

c. transf. Inhabiting the torrid zone.

1771 PENNANT Syn. Quadr. 297 Torrid jerboa.

2. Of colour: Burnt, burnished, blackened with burning.

1634 SIR T. HERBERT Trav. 24 Their colour is fansewarble to the Zone they breathe in; blacke and Torrid. 1650 CHARLETON Paradoxes 18 It grows not black and torrid.. by the affriction of the Saphire.

3. fig. a. In reference to the 'heat' of persecution, or sometimes to the burning of heretics.

*a*1635 CORBET Poems (1807) 48 Had shee bin then In Maryes torrid dayes engend'red, when Cruelty was witty. 1702 C. MATHER Magn. Chr. III. i. iii. (1852) 316 The countries which the bloody Popish inquisition has made a time too torrid for a Protestant.

b. Hot in temper or passion; ardent, zealous, enthusiastic.

1646 CRASHAW Steps to Temple 84 Temper'd twixt cold despair and torrid joy. 1685 in Maidment Bk. Scott. Pasquils (1868) 287 But I was not in love so torrid As to miscarry with my mate. 1902 Nation (N.Y.) 129/2 Mr. Finck is about as torrid a hot gospeller as one could meet with.

Hence To·rridly adv.; To·rriduess.

1657 R. LIGON Barbadoes (1673) 9 Finding the Air so *torridly hot, I thought good to make trial of the water. 1658 SIR T. HERBERT Trav. (ed. 2) 36 The [syre] infixed by the *torridnesse of the Zone. *a*1656 USSHER Ann. vi. (1658) 271 Their horses being all spent..with the length and torridnesse of the way.

Torridity (tɒrɪ·dĭtĭ). [f. prec. + -ITY, corresp. to a L. type torriditās*.] The state, condition, or quality of being torrid; intense heat.

1846 in WORCESTER. 1850 Columbus (Ohio) Dispatch 23 June heading, Torridity likely to continue for the coming 24 hours. 1901 Wide World Mag. VIII. 131/1 There is no relief by night from the torridity of the daylight hours.

Torriffy, erron. form of TORREFY.

†Torrion. Obs. [a. obs. F. torrion, ad. It. torrione 'any great town, or strong keepe' (Florio), augm. of torre tower.] A large tower (in Italy).

1652 HOWELL Giraffe's Rem. Naples 11. 144 Hereupon there went off from the Torrion of Carmine, twenty six shot of Ordinance. Ibid. 192 That the said Torrion or Bastion should be put into his hands.

Torrit, obs. form of TOWERED a.

Torrock, local form of TARROCK, a gull.

1752 J. HILL Hist. Anim. 449 The Larus, with a white head, with a spot of black on each side..; Our common people in Cornwall call it the Torrock.

‖ Torru·bia. Bot. [mod.L., named after Joseph Torrubia (d. 1768).] A genus of ascomycetous fungi, parasitic on living insects: a synonym of Cordiceps, but frequent in Eng. use.

1883 R. TURNER in Gd. Teacher Nov. 731/2 The Red Torrubia, growing from the pupa of a moth.

Torsade (tɒrsē·d). [a. F. torsade a twisted fringe, f. L. stem tors- twisted: see TORSE[1] and -ADE.] A twisted fringe, cord, or ribbon, used as an adornment in head-dresses, curtains, etc.

1882 Society 14 Oct. 24/2 Another..hat was composed of cream white felt,..trimmed with..torsades of cream velvet. 1889 Harper's Mag. Apr. 753/1 Little children,..with their heads shaven, and on the crown a tuft of hair bound up and lengthened out with torsades of red wool. 1894 Season X. 25/2 A velvet and silk torsade.

Torsal (tɒ·rsăl), a. Geom. [f. TORSE[3] + -AL.] Of or pertaining to a torse: see quot.

1850 CAYLEY Math. Papers VI. 334 If there is at each point of the line one and the same tangent plane, then the section of the surface by the tangent plane contains the line at least twice; if it contain it twice only, the line is torsal; if three times the line is oscular, and the tangent plane containing the torsal or oscular line may in like manner be termed a torsal, or an oscular tangent plane.

Torse [1] (tɒ·rs). Her. Also 6–9 torse. [a. obs. F. torse, torce, fem. a wreath:—Romanic type tورsa*, f. stem tors- for L. tort- from torquēre to twist.] An occasional term for the twisted band or wreath by which the crest is joined to the helmet.

1572 BOSSEWELL Armorie II. 60 b, For the Creaste uppon the Helme an Hirdon passante, of the Diamonde, charged with Grapes proprie, sett on a torce, Pearle and Emerraude. 1652 J. WRIGHT tr. Camus' Nat. Paradox x. 265 A Milk-white Plume shadowed the Torse of his glittering Helmet. *a*1700 B. E. Dict. Cant. Crew, Wreath, a Torce between the Mantle and the Crest. 1892 E. CASTLE Eng. Bk.-plates 92 The crest is supported by a plain torce. 1910 E. R. SUFFLING Eng. Ch. Brasses 124 A torse, or wreath of two bands of coloured silk.

Hence Torsed (tɒ·rst) a., also torced, furnished with a torse.

1892 EGERTON CASTLE Eng. Book-plates 51 The crested, torced, and mantleted helm.

Torse [2] (tɒ·rs). [a. F. torse masc. (16th c.), ad. It. torso.] = TORSO.

1622 PEACHAM Compl. Gent. xii. (1634) 110 To Painters for the picturing of some excellent arme, leg, torse or wreathing of the body, or any other rare posture. 1762 GOLDSM. Cit. W. xxxiv, The torse..is at last discovered to be a Hercules spinning, and not a Cleopatra bathing. 1892 LD. LYTTON King Pophy v. 78 The necessary quantity of heads To suit the growing torse.

Torse [3] (tɒ·rs). Geom. [f. med.L. tors-us, -um, for L. tort-us twisted.] A developable surface; a surface generated by a moving straight line which at every instant is turning, in some plane or other through it, about some point or other in its length.

1863 CAYLEY Math. Papers (1892) V. 182 By Torse (m, n) I denote the developable surface or 'Torse' generated by a line which meets each of the curves m and n. 1899 — in Encycl. Brit. X. 417 If the system be such that a line does not intersect the consecutive line, then the surface is a skew surface, or scroll; but if it be such that each line intersects the consecutive line, then the surface is a developable, or torse.

Torsel: see TASSEL sb.[2]

Torsibility. [f. torsible* (f. tors-, ppl. stem (see prec.) + -IBLE) + -ITY.] Capability of being twisted; esp. in reference to degree or amount.

1864 WEBSTER s.v., The torsibility of a rope. 1884 A. DANIELL Princ. of Physics x. 234 Torsibility of a body is measured in the simplest case—that of a rod or wire—in terms of the angle through which a unit of force, applied at the distance of one cm. from the axis..can twist it.

Torsile (tɒ·rsĭl, -oil), a. [f. L. tors-, ppl. stem (see prec.) + -IL, -ILE.] Of the nature of torsion.

1882 Athenæum 25 Mar. 388/1 A process for increasing the resistance of iron to tensile, torsile, and transverse strains.

Torsiometer. Ophthalm. [f. late L. torsio (see next) + -METER.] An instrument for investigation of the declination of the meridians of the eye.

1904 in Dunglison's Med. Lex. (ed. 23).

Torsion (tɒ·rʃən). Also 5 torcion, 6 -syon, 7 tortion. [a. F. torsion (1314 in Littré, in sense 2 below), ad. late L. torsiōn-em (Vulg.), by-form of tortiōn-ent, n. of action from L. torquēre, tort-um to twist, wring. Cf. Pr. torsio, Sp. torsion, Pg. torsão; also It. torzione, ad. L. tortiōnem.]

1. The action of twisting, or turning a body spirally by the operation of contrary forces acting at right angles to its axis; also the twisted condition produced by this action; twist.

Angle of torsion, (a) the angle through which one end of a rod or other body is twisted while the other end is held fast; (b) Geom. the infinitesimal angle between two consecutive osculating planes of a tortuous curve. Balance of torsion = torsion-balance: see 3.

1543 TRAHERON Vigo's Chirurg. VI. I 280 Yf the dislocation be lytle, so that the bone be not out all togyther, it is called dislocation not complete, and it is it which commonly is called torsion, or wresting. 1658 PHILLIPS, Torsion, a wresting, or wringing of any thing. 1807 T. YOUNG Lect. Nat. Phil. I. 140 Torsion, or twisting, consists in the lateral displacement, or detrusion, of the opposite parts of a solid, in opposite directions, the central particles only remaining in their natural state. Ibid. 141 The force of torsion, as it is determined by experiment, varies simply as the angle of torsion. 1814 R. BUCHANAN Shafts Mills 24 note, Journeymen gudgeons subject to torsion. 1834 Nat. Philos. III. Hist. Astron. xxi. 109/2 (Usef. Knowl. Soc.) By means of a delicate instrument, called the balance of torsion, the attraction of a leaden sphere, eight inches in diameter, was made sensible. 1835 URE Philos. Manuf. 106 With very short filaments like those of wool, cotton, and cachemire, a thread of the greatest length may be formed by torsion. 1899 J. TOMES Dental Surg. 163 Torsion, or twisting of the central incisors upon their axis, is far from rare. 1867 THOMSON & TAIT Nat. Phil. I. i. § 608 The fundamental principle that spiral springs act chiefly by torsion seems to have been first discovered by Binet in 1814.

b. A twisting of the body or a part of it; contortion, distortion. rare.

1660 F. BACON tr. Le Blanc's Trav. 85 They ejulate, weep, and lament with exotick gestures, and tortions. 1899 Allbutt's Syst. Med. VII. 242 During the flexions and torsions of the vertebral column.

c. Surg. The twisting of the cut end of an artery to stop hæmorrhage.

1872-6 Todd's Cycl. Anat. I. 224/2 The successful employment of torsion of the arteries as a means of suppressing hæmorrhage. 1878 T. BRYANT Pract. Surg. (1879) II. 5 Any bleeding taking place can usually be checked by cold styptics, or torsion.

d. Bot. The condition of being twisted spirally.

1875 BENNETT & DYER Sachs' Bot. 772 A distinction must be drawn between two kinds of torsion; firstly, that of erect organs; and secondly, that of organs..in a horizontal or oblique position. In the former case the torsion results from internal conditions of growth, and especially from the outer layers growing more rapidly than the inner ones.

†2. Path. A wringing or griping of the bowels; tormina. Obs. (The earliest sense in Eng.)

*c*1425 tr. Ardern's Treat. Fistula 78 It availep..to eueryinflacion of pe wombe, and to ventosite of it, and torcions, i[.e] gryndyng. 1543 TRAHERON Vigo's Chirurg. III. Wounds i. ii. 100 Knowen by the greate payne, and torsyon or gryppynge of the bellie. 1626 BACON Sylva § 39 All Purgers have in them a raw Spirit, or Windy; which is the principall Cause of Tortion in the Stomach, & Belly. 1689 MOYLE Sex Chyrurg. III. vii. 109 Sometimes there is..intolerable tortion of the Bowels.

3. attrib. and Comb., as torsion arm, axis, circle, pendulum, screw, spring; torsion-balance, an instrument for measuring minute horizontal forces, consisting of a wire or filament having a horizontal arm to the end of which the force is applied so as to make it revolve and twist the wire, etc., through an angle proportional to the twisting moment of the force; torsion-basin Geol., a basin formed by torsion of the earth's crust in any region; torsion-curve, a curve caused by torsion; torsion electrometer, an electrometer that measures by means of a torsion-balance.

1832 HOLLAND Manuf. Metal I. 199 It does not appear that these torsion nails have ever found much favour. 1837 BREWSTER Magnet. 15 The torsion balance, for measuring small forces. 1873 MAXWELL Electr. & Magn. § 38 The torsion-balance invented by Michell for the determination of the force of gravitation between small bodies, and was used by Cavendish for this purpose. Ibid. § 215 The angle through which the electrical force twisted the torsion-arm. Ibid. § 79 The torsion-screw, which turns the torsion-head round a vertical axis. 1884 F. J. BRITTEN Watch & Clockm. 265 Small clocks..are made with torsion pendulums. 1899 MAR. M. OGILVIE-GORDON in Nature 7 Sept. 445/1 Two great internal torsion-basins, within the Alpine systems of southern Europe, are the Hungarian and the west Mediterranean. 1901 — Ibid. 24 Jan. 294/1, I wrote my paper on the 'Torsion-structure of the Dolomites' in 1898. Ibid. 295 The torsion-curves round the northern periphery of the Adriatic crust-basin.

Hence To·rsionless a., not subject to torsion.

1858 HERSCHEL Outl. Astron. i. iv. (ed. 5) 160 A metallic arc..supported from its middle..by a torsionless suspension.

Torsional (tɒ·rʃənăl), a. [f. prec. + -AL.] Of, pertaining or relating to, or caused by or resulting from torsion.

1861 FAIRBAIRN Iron 295 Experiments..on the torsional strength of iron cast in various forms. 1873 MAXWELL Electr. & Magn. § 215 The torsional elasticity of a glass fibre or metal wire. 1879 THOMSON & TAIT Nat. Phil. I. i. § 435 The torsional rigidity of iron, copper, and brass wires is diminished about ⅛ per cent. with 40° elevation of temperature. 1882 Rep. to Ho. Repr. Prec. Met. U.-S. 583 There is..considerable torsional strain upon the shaft, depending on its length. 1909 Athenæum 6 Mar. 292/1 Interesting experiments are described on the energy dissipated through torsional hysteresis.

Hence To·rsionally adv., in respect of torsion.

1890 Nature 2 Jan. 198 The internal friction of a torsionally oscillating iron wire.

Torsive (tɒ·rsĭv), a. Bot. [f. med.L. tors-us twisted + -IVE.] Twisted spirally; = CONTORTED 2: see quot.

1866 Treas. Bot., Torsive, twisted spirally. The same as Contorted, except that there is no obliquity in the form or insertion of the pieces as in the petals of Oxalis.

Torsk (tɒ·rsk). Also locally tusk, tusk (tʊ·sk). [a. Norw. torsk, tosk, Sw., Da. torsk:—ON. þorskr, þeskr; prob. f. root of ON. þurr, Sw. torr, Gothic þaurs-us dry. Cf. LG. (and Ger.) dorsch.]

A gadoid fish. Brosmius brosme, abundant in the northern seas, especially about the Shetland Islands, and much used for food in the dried form of stockfish. Also attrib.

1707 MIEGE St. Gt. Brit. ii. 14 They have abundance of Fish on that Coast call'd Tusk, as big as Ling. 1776 PENNANT Zool. III. 179 The Torsk, or as it is called in the Shetlands, Tusk and Brosmy in the northern Isles and as yet undiscovered lower than about the Orknies. 1822 SCOTT Pirate xxii, There is torsk for the gentle, and skate for the carle, And there's wealth for bold Magnus, the son of the earl. 1837 M. DONOVAN Dom. Econ. II. 179 The Torsk is not so slender as the ling, and is altogether a smaller fish. As food it is considered more delicate than ling. 1864 COUCH Brit. Fishes III. 96. 1875 W. A. SMITH Louisiana 237 The tursk or tusk...is perhaps the finest of the Gadidæ when fresh. 1883 Fisheries Exhib. Catal. 72 Dried Salted Tusk-fish,...mostly consumed in Scotch Markets.

Torso (tɔ̄r·sō). Pl. torsos. [a. It. torso stalk, stump (e. g. of a cabbage), core (of apple or pear), trunk of a statue:—L. thyrsus stalk, stem (of a plant), a. Gr. θύρσος the THYRSUS (q. v.) or Bacchic wand. The common Romanic form was turso*-, whence also OF. tors, tros, trous, Pr. tros, Sp. trozo stem, stump.]

1. Sculpture. The trunk of a statue, without or considered independently of head and limbs; also, the trunk of the human body. Also attrib.

1797 HOLCROFT Stolberg's Trav. (ed. 2) II. xlvii. 144 The thigh, and torso, or body, from the neck to the hip, are inimitable. 1805 W. TAYLOR in Monthly Mag. XX. 43 An antique female statue, or rather the torso of a statue, had formerly stood in the library at Wolfenbüttel. 1833 ELLIS Elgin Marbles II. 29 The torso of Apteros Victory is 4 ft. 6 in. in height. 1860 HAWTHORNE Marb. Faun v, Headless and legless torsos. 1865 DICKENS Mut. Fr. I. ii, With ... too much torso in his waistcoat. 1875 F. WEY Rome xxiii. 300 The Torso of the Belvedere, a colossal fragment of Herculean stature... Michelangelo studied it to such a degree that he was wont to call himself pupil of the Torso. 1899 F. T. BULLEN Log Sea-wolf 206 Clad only in a waist-cloth, his torso was fully revealed.

2. fig. Something left mutilated or unfinished.

1852 LONGFELLOW in Life (1891) II. 240 We have seen only the brief and mutilated torso of your speech. 1892 STEVENSON Across the Plains 132 Headless epics, glorious torsos of dramas. 1906 H. BLACK Edin. Serm. 56 Without Christ the Old Testament is only a torso.

Torsocclusion (tɔ̄rsŏkl̄·ʒən). Surg. [f. med.L. tors-us twisted + OCCLUSION.] Treatment by acupressure combined with torsion.

1899 Syd. Soc. Lex., Torsocclusion, a form of acupressure in which the point of the pin is pushed through a portion of tissue parallel to the course of the vessel to be secured, then carried over its anterior surface, and passed round until it is brought to a right angle to the course of the artery, when its point is thrust into the soft parts beyond.

Tort (tŏit), sb. Also 6-7 torte. [a. OF. tort (11th c. in Hatz.-Darm.) = Pr. tort, Sp. tuerto, It. torto, med.L. tortum, wrong, injustice (cf. tortum facere, 864, in Capitul. Caroli II), sbst. use of L. tortus, -um twisted, wrung, pa. pple. of torquēre to twist, wring.]

†1. Injury, wrong. Obs. [see TORTIOUS a. 1].

1387-8 T. USK Test. Love II. ii. (Skeat) I. 71 Than wer tort & forthe [? force] worthe an law about. 1588 JAS. I Ess. Poesie (Arb.) 33 So Iob and Ieremie, preast with woes and wrongs, Did right descryue their loyes, their woes and torts. 1590 SPENSER F. Q. II. v. 17 It was complaint that thou hadst done great tort Unto an aged woman, poore and bare. 1591 — M. Hubb'rd 1078 No wild beasts should do them any torte. 1632 LITHGOW Trav. x. 425 To show King James, my torments, pangs, and tort. 1748 MELMOTH Fitzosb. Lett. lxxii. (1940) II. 215 Deem not, ye plaintive crew, that suffer wrong, Ne thou, O man! who doll'st the tort, miseem The equal gods.

†b. Physical injury or pain; torment. c. A false or wrong statement. Obs. rare.

1632 LITHGOW Trav. v. 193 Good t'expell all sorts Of burning Feauers, in their violent torts. Ibid. x. 488 No Tort I introduce,...I Organize the Truth.

2. Eng. Law. The breach of a duty imposed by law, whereby some person acquires a right of action for damages.

1586 FERNE Blas. Gentrie 214 Ministers of the Gospell, to whome the keyes of right do apperteine (for the others did by dissesin and tort, hold the possession of them). 1609 SKENE Reg. Maj., Stat. Robt. I. c. 23 Sciltonn the Law and consuetude of Burghis, quhilk is, to defend preciselie torte and non reason, that is wrang and vnlaw. 1622 CALLIS Stat. Sewers (1647) 284 If two be attributed to a Copyhold by Tort, or in an Office in a Court of Justice unlawfully. 1647 N. BACON Disc. Gout. Eng. I. lxvii. (1739) 162 In case it concerned only a Tort done to the party, he was amerced. 1714 SCROGGS Courts-let (ed. 3) 59 This is a private Tort to the particular Inhabitants of this Vill. 1768 BLACKSTONE Comm. III. viii. 117 Personal actions are such whereby a man claims a debt, or personal duty, or damages in lieu thereof; and, likewise whereby a man claims a satisfaction in damages for some injury done to his person or property. The former are said to be founded on contracts, the latter upon torts or wrongs. 1887 SIR F. POLLOCK (title) The Law of Torts. 1895 POLLOCK & MAITLAND Hist. Eng. Law II. 510 note, Tort again is (in 13th c. A.-Fr.) a large, loose word. Britton, I. 77, heads a chapter on some of the smaller offences present in the eyres by the title De plusseurs torts. 1909 SIR F. POLLOCK in Encycl. Laws of Engl. (ed. 2) XIV. 134 What we now understand by a tort is a breach of some duty between citizens, defined by the general law, which creates a civil cause of action. The duty must be founded in common right. ...It must be a duty assigned by law, not dependent on the will of the parties... There must be a private right of action.

†Tort, ppl. a. Obs. [ad. L. tort-us, pa. pple. of torquēre to twist.] Twisted; in quot. 1513, ? tortured (const. as pa. pple.).

1513 DOUGLAS Æneis x. xi. 30 Now sall he perisch,...be Troisis tort and rent. 1566 GRAFTON Chron. II. 210 Henry Erle of Lancaster with yē write neck, called Tort coll. 1765 J. LEE Introd. Bot. v. xii. 28 Tort, twisted, as in Nerium.

‖Torta (tɔ̄r·tä). Mining. [Sp. torta: see next.] One of the large flat circular heaps or 'cakes' of ore spread upon the floor or patio (PATIO 2) in the Mexican amalgamation process.

1899 UREE Dict. Arts 1219 The patio, or amalgamation floor, is capable of containing 24 tortas, or flat circular collections of lama, of about 50 feet diameter, and 7 inches deep. 1881 RAYMOND Mining Gloss., Torta, a flat heap of silver ore (slime or pulp) prepared for the patio process.

Tortayes, tortayss: see TORTRIS.

†Torte. Obs. [ad. F. tourte, dial. torte = Sp. and It. torta :—late L. tōrta (Vulg. 1 Chron. xvi. 3 tortam panis, Wyclif 'a kake of brede'). A different word from L. torta twisted: see also TOURTE and TART.] A round cake (of bread).

1555 EDEN Decades 194 They drawe a mybke thereof [i.e. of the coco-nut]...The which the Christian men of those regions put in the tortes or cakes which they make of the grayne of Maizium...by reason of the smyle nymbe of Cocus, the tortes are more excellent to be eaten withouet offence to the stomake.

‖Torteau (tɔrtō). Pl. torteaux (tɔrtōz). Also pl. 5 tortellis, 6 tourteaulx, torteaulxes, 6-8 tortauxes, 7 tortauxes, 8 torteaux's, tourteaux, tourteauxes. [a. F. tourteau 'a large round cake or flat bannock of bread', a mass of oilcake, a wooden disk used as a crusher, and in heraldry as below; in OFr. toriel (12th c. in Hatz.-Darm.), in Guernsey tourtel (= Pr. torteli, Cat. tortell), deriv. of tourte (TOURTE, TORTE).]

1. Her. A roundle gules; the specific name of a small red circular figure charged upon a shield, supposed to represent a cake of bread.

1486 Bk. St. Albans, Her. e vj, There be also tortellis yē be like to the fleis which be yclettir than bullys & [= if] tharmys be truly made as here it is opyn... Portat tres tortellas rubias in campo aureo... He berith golde & iij. Cakys of gowles. 1530 in Ancestor XI. (1904) 180 A lymmers hede rased sable with a coller siluer full of tourteaulx. 1562 LEIGH Armorie 151 b, He beareth or, x torteauxes...These haue been called of olde blazoures, wastelles, and are cakes of breade. 1725 COATS Dict. Her., Tourteaux, according to the French, and Tourtelinces, as we make the Plural Number in English, are small Rounds...in England, they are always Red; but the French give the same Name to such as are of any other Colour, expressing the same... The Tourteaux in Latin are call'd Tortellis. 1825 Gentl. Mag. XCV. 1. 304/1 Sir Thomas Dacre...bears three arms 1 Argent, a chevron Sable between three Torteaux, on each an escallop Argent. 1894 Parker's Gloss. Her., Torteaux...: the name now always applied to a roundle gules...The figure is said to have been intended to represent the sacred Host.

†2. A flat cake, a pancake. Obs.

(Cf. quot. 1562 in 1.)

1625 PURCHAS Pilgrims II. ix. xix. § 3. 1652 Torteaux and Bignets, and many other sorts of food...They make pottage, and Torteaux and Galletaux.

Torteaux, torteise, tortesse, obs. ff. TORTOISE. Tortel, early f. TORTEAU; obs. ff. TURTLE.

Tortes: see TORTIS.

†Tortey. Obs. Variant of TORTHEAU L.

1688 R. HOLME Armoury I. 103/3 Our old English terms were...Torteys for Tortesses.

Tortfeasor (tɔ̄rtˌfiz(ĕ)r). Law. [a. OF. tortfesor, tort-faiseur, torfesor, f. tort wrong, evil + -fesor, faiseur doer. (In OF. tortfesor, tort is an adj. qualifying fesor; hence pl. torsfesors.)] One who is guilty of a tort; a wrong-doer, trespasser.

1659 CROKE Reports II. (1669) 383 He is meerly a Tortfeasor, and that Trespass liable against him to recover damages. 1670 BLOUNT Law Dict., Tortfeasor, a Doer of wrong, a Trespasser. Hence in later Law Dicts. 1883 Law Times Rep. XLIX. 11/2 Waiving the tort and bringing an action of indebitatus assumpsit for work and labour done against the tort feasor. 1886 Times 27 Jan. 4 The father and son were here being sued by the plaintiff as joint tortfeasors.

‖Torticollis (tɔ̄rtikˌlis). Path. [mod.L., f. L. tort-us crooked, twisted + collum neck. Cf. obs. F. torticolis.] A rheumatic or other affection of the muscles of the neck, in which it is so twisted as to keep the head turned to one side; wry-neck.

1811 HOOPER Med. Dict., Torticollis, the wry neck. 1857 DUNGLISON Med. Lex., Torticollis...Stiffneck, Wryneck...; a variety of rheumatism, seated in the muscles of the neck. 1859 SEMPLE Diphtheria 347 There was also painful torticollis. 1897 Allbutt's Syst. Med. III. 63 In cases of rheumatic torticollis there is conspicuous muscular spasm.

Tortile (tɔ̄rtil, -ail). a. rare. [ad. L. tortilis, f. tort-, ppl. stem of torquēre to twist: see -IL, -ILE.] Twisted, coiled; winding; capable of being twisted.

1658 SIR T. BROWNE Gard. Cyrus iii. 59 He...may observe it in the Tortile and tiring strokes of Gnatworms. 1760 J. LEE Introd. Bot. III. xxii. (1765) 227 The Arista is tortile, twisted, when it has a twisted Joint in the Middle. 1819 H. BUSK Vestriad IV. 116 Each in her arms two fiery dragons holds, With slender limbs restrains the tortile folds. 1835 URE Philos. Manuf. 62 Tortile fabrics used for making webs of various kinds.

Hence Tortī·lity, the quality of being tortile.

1835 URE Philos. Manuf. 62 Under tortility must likewise be considered...fulling, felting, and the manufacture of hats. 1846 WORCESTER cites Monthly Review.

‖Tortilla (tɔrtī·ʼlä). Also 9 tortillia. [Sp. dim. of torta cake: see TORTA.] In Mexico, A thin round cake made of maize-flour, baked on a flat plate of iron, earthenware, etc. and eaten hot.

1699 DAMPIER Voy. II. ii. 43 Tartillores are small Cakes made of the Flower of Indian Corn. 1828 LYON Mexico x. 142 Obliged to seek...for some poor woman, who will make a few tortillas or a dish of black beans. 1842 New World 11 June 373/3 Maiz...is chiefly used in the Tortillia cakes, of which we hear so much in Mexico...a tortillia is indispensable at least once a day for all classes. 1894 J. L. STEPHENS Centr. Amer. 29 The people live exclusively upon tortillas, flat cakes made of crushed Indian Corn, and baked on a clay griddle. 1888 LEES & CLUTTERBUCK Brit. Columbia 1887 xxii. (1892) 239 Quantities of our favourite luxuries is the tortilla (pronounced tortena).

Tortilly (tɔ̄rtil·ī), a. Her. [ad. F. tortillé twisted, (in heraldry) wreathed, pa. pple. of tortiller to twist closely, f. tort, pa. pple. of tordre to twist.] (See quots.)

(c 1828 BERRY Encycl. Her. I. Gloss., Tortillé, a French term for nowed, twisted, or wreathed. 1889 ELVIN Dict. Her., Tortille, nowed, twisted, or wreathed.] 1894 Parker's Gloss. Her., Tortilly,...a term applied to Ordinaries which are wreathed...the term wreathy is also found. ...Or, a lion rampant gules, a field tortilly gules and vert...Macritchie.

†Tortiloquy. Obs. rare—0. [ad. late or med. L. tortiloquium (Du Cange), f. tortus crooked + loqui to speak.] (See quot.)

1656 BLOUNT Glossogr., Tortiloquy,...crooked talk.

Tortion, obs. form of TORSION.

†Tortionary, a. Obs. rare—1. [ad. med.L. tortiōnārī-us unjust, injurious (1394 in Du Cange), F. tortionnaire, f. L. tortiōn-em 'torment, torture'; in med.L. 'exercise of violence': see -ARY.] Wrongful, illegal.

1694 Falle Jersey vii. 215 A Prize made by one Polnty, ...was..pronounced Tortionary, and Illegal, and Pointy adjudged to make Restitution.

Tortious (tɔ̄r·ʃəs), a. Also 4-6 tortcious, 6 tortecuse. [a. Anglo-Fr. torcions (14th c.), f. stem of torcion, tortion: see prec. and -IOUS. It is use associated with TORT sb., as if from tort + -ous: cf. righteous, wrongous, etc.]

†1. Wrongful, injurious, hurtful; illegal. Obs.

1387-8 T. USK Test. Love II. ii. (Skeat) I. 73 Than wer tort & forthe [? force] nought worthe an law about, and pleasen no men, but thilke greuous and torcious been in might and in doinge. a 1548 HALL Chron., Edw. IV 219 b, A cruell man and a torcious vsurpe. 1588 STUBBES Anat. Abus. i (1879) 36 The deuil...inticed him (oh, torteouse serpent!) to eat of the forbidden fruite. 1590 SPENSER F. Q. II. ii. 18 Ne ought he car'd whom he endamaged By tortious wrong, or whom bereav'd of right. 1742 SHENSTONE Schoolmistress xv, When...tortious death was true Devotion's meed.

2. Law. Pertaining to or of the nature of a tort. (Early quots. show the gradual development of sense.)

1544 tr. Littleton's Tenures 90 The more...that he came to the dede by tortious meane, than by a torcyous meane. 1619 DALTON Country Just. xciii. (1630) 237 Where the arrest is tortious,...there the killing of him that maketh such an unlawful arrest, is...manslaughter onely. 1671 F. PHILLIPS Reg. Norton. 259 The parties...undertaking such breaches of Priviledge, should not take advantage de sou tort, of their own wrongs or tortious doings. 1756 BLACKSTONE Comm. II. ix. 150 Unless the owner...will declare his continuance to be tortious, or, in common language, wrongful. 1863 H. COX Institt. ii. viii. 500 To restrain threatened irremediable injuries to property by acts of a tortious kind. 1907 Law Rep. in Cycl. Tour. Club Gaz. June 220 The animal...would have done no harm but for the tortious act of a third person.

†3. Wrong, incorrect, improper. Obs. rare.

1644 [H. PARKER] Jus Pop. 66 A tortious, unnatural sense of the words. 1657 W. MORICE Coena quasi Κοινή 4 ii. 106 It seemes a very Tortious and improper answer.

¶4. Misused for TORTUOUS.

1682 in R. Burthogge Arg. Infants Bapt. iv. (1684) 170 The most involved, tortious, intricate, that ever you heard of, except Origens Allegorical and Mystical Commentaries.

Tortiously, adv. [f. prec. + -LY 2]: cf. AF. torciousement (Godef.).] Wrongfully, illegally; by tort.

a 1812 LD. THURLOW in G. D. Collinson Idiots & Lunatics (1822) I. 577 (fol.) An application, whereon timber was cut by a stranger tortiously, to have the produce restored to the estate. 1828 CRUISE Digest (ed. 2) IV. 461 If a purchaser is tortiously evicted...he has his remedy at law. 1882 Times 22 Feb. 9/5 Not because the House had tortiously debarred Mr. Bradlaugh from taking his seat, but because Mr. Bradlaugh was disqualified by law from so doing.

†Tortis. Obs. Forms: 4 ? pl. tortyse, 4-5 sing. and pl. torteys, 5 sing. and pl. tortes, sing. tortays, pl. tortayes, torteies, 5-6 sing. and pl. tortys, 6 pl. tortaysez, ? sing. and pl. tortis, pl. tortiz. [a. OF. tortis, -is masc. (a 1200), also perh. tortise, -isse (a 1377), -ice, -iche fem., twisted thing, torch, in med.L. tortīcius (? 11th c. in Du Cange), -īsius, -ilius masc., also tortīcia fem. (a 1400) a torch, f. L. tort-us twisted, or med.L. tortia TORCH + -īcius, -īcia: see -ITIOUS. The forms in -eys, -ays are from OF. torteis, alteration of tortis

after such words as semeis, for semeis :—*seminâticius.]

1. A kind of very large wax candle. (Usually distinguished from a torch : cf. quot. 1611.)

A note to Way's ed. of Promp. Parv. s. v. Percher, mentions torticios, 2 ells long and weighing 5 lb. each.

*c*1375 Sc. Leg. Saints x. (Mathew) 250 Vith incense & lampis lycht And tortyss at brynnand bryycht. 1404-5 Abingdon Rolls (Camden) 68 In j tortess empto xxij*d.* 1413 Pilgr. Soule (Caxton) ii. lx. (1859) 58 This wycked sauour, and smoke of the torteys when the fyre is oute. 1421-2 Durham Acc. Rolls (Surtees) 131 In candelis cerijs et albis..cum ij torchis, ij tortys, iij prikettys & factura eorundem. *c*1450 Bk. Curtasye 492 In Babees Bk. 315 Fyrst to þe chaundeler he schalle go, To take a tortes lyȝt þym fro. *a*1482 Liber Niger in Household Ords. (1790) 22 iij torches, one tortays, and iiij prickettes. Ibid. 1x And he (a Grome of Chambyr) setteth nyghtly, after the seasons of the yere, torchys, tortays, candylles of wax, morters. 1506-7 Burgh Rec. Edinb. (1869) i. 111 That thay have lik ane uane new tortys reddy. 1533-4 Durham Household. Bk. (Surtees) 249 Pro factura 4 le torches et 4 tortaysez xl*d.* 1600 F. TATE Household. Ord. Relig. II (1876) 6 This stewarde..shall take every night for his chamber, one sextier of wine, xij candels, two tortis, one tortis for wine, and one torche. [1611 COTGR., Tortis de cire, a wreathed Linke or great candle of wax; most in vse about Candlemas.]

2. A twisted chain; a wreath. [mod.F. tortis.] 1688 R. HOLME Armoury iv. lx. (Rox.b) 390/2 A tortis or double chaine of gold.

Tortive (tɔ̍·tɪv), a. rare. [ad. L. tortīv-us, f. tort-, ppl. stem of torquēre to twist : see -IVE.] Twisting, twisted, tortuous.

1606 SHAKS. Tr. & Cr. i. iii. 9 Tortiue and errant from his course of growth. 1696 BLOUNT Glossogr., Tortive (tortivus), that is bent or wrung or pressed out. 1880 SWINBURNE On Cliffs 12 Between the tortive serpent-shaped routes.

So † Tortivous a. Obs., in same sense.

14.. LYDG. Temple of Glas (E.E.T.S.) p. 14 Ielusye, The vile serpent, the snake tortyvous.

Tortle, obs. form of TURTLE.

† Tortlet. Her. Obs. [dim. of tortel TORTEAU.] A little cake of bread.

1486 Bk. St. Albans, Her. b iv b, Tortlettis be calde in armys wastell.

† Tortness, obs. f. TAUTNESS : cf. TAUT a. 2 y.

1727 BAILEY vol. II, Tortness (spoken of a Rope, etc.) Straightness, Tightness, by being hard pulled.

Tortoise (tɔ̍·tɔs, -tɔɪs). [Forms : see below. [Found in 15th c. in forms tortuca, tortuce, tortuge, tortu, tortuse, tortose. Tortūca (c 1255 in Albertus Magnus Animal. 24 § 126, 25 § 59) was the late popular L. name (see below), which later regularly became, as still in Prov. and Sp., tortuga, and in F. tortue. (Diefenbach cites also med.L. turtus, tortus.) Of the Eng. forms, tortuce evidently represented the Latin, tortue and tortu the French, and the 16th c. tortuga the Sp. form. Tortuse was prob. a mere variant of tortuce (cf. lettuce, letuse below) ; tortose and the later forms in -esse, -ise, -oise, being further variants, partly at least due to shifting of stress and obscuration of the vowel. The forms in final -s may have arisen simply from dropping -e mute; but some of them may have come from taking the possessive -tortu's, tortoise's, in tortoise's skin, tortuse's shell, as the nominative. The form tortoise appears c 1569, preceded by tortoyse, 1552.

The late popular L. or Romanic tortūca is commonly held to be a derivative of L. tortus twisted, with the formative suffix seen in L. carrūca, fortūca, lactūca, verrūca, and to refer to the crooked feet of the south European species (Diez). With L. tortūca, F. tortue, Eng. tortuce, tortuse, cf. L. lactūca, F. laitue, Eng. lettuce, letuse, and the variant forms of the last. The classical L. name was testūdo, from testa shell, whence It. testudine, testuggine.]

1. A four-footed reptile of the order Chelonia, in which the trunk is enclosed between a carapace and plastron, formed by the dorsal vertebræ, ribs, and sternum; the skin being covered with large horny plates, commonly called the shell.

The Chelonia are usually divided into Land-tortoises (Testudinidæ), Marsh-tortoises (Emydæ), River-tortoises (Trionychidæ), and Marine tortoises (Chelonidæ), in which the feet are compressed into flippers or paddles. The last are now commonly distinguished as turtles; but this name is sometimes extended to species of the Emydæ and Trionychidæ. By some zoologists the name 'tortoise' is confined to the terrestrial genus Testudo and its immediate congeners; see also TERRAPIN.

a. 5 tortuce, tortuge. (tortuca, 6 tortuga).

1398 TREVISA BartH. De P. R. xviii. cviii. (Bodl. MS. c 1450 H. 25 b/2 The tortuce (Latin tortuca) is nourished among snailles for he is closed bitwene twey hard schellis ..and of tortuca is double kinde þat one woneþ in ryuers & þat oþer in londe. c 1440 Promp. Parv. 497/2 Tortuce, beest..., tortuca. 1577 FRAMPTON Joyfull Newes ii. 73 b, [Lagartos] take out their yonglynges, as the Tortugas of the sea doeth. 1596 RALEIGH Discov. Guiana 54 We found thousands of Tortugas egs, which are very wholesome meate. [1632 MACGILLIVRAY tr. Humboldt's Trav. xvii. 223 The arraw or tortuga is a large fresh water tortoise.]

β. 5 tortu, tortu, tortou ; 6-7 tortue.

*c*1440 Pallad. on Husb. i. 874 The sedis in a tortous skyn [testudinis corce] thou dise. a 1450 Knt. de la Tour (1906) 25 In sayeng your conseil, be not like the crane or the tortu..thei are like the crane and the turtu that turnithe her hede and fares bacward, and lokithe ouer the shulder. 1587 MASCALL Govt. Cattle, Horses (1662) 184 If Sinews or Nerues bee broken or bruised,..Yee shall lay thereon the flesh of a Tortue,..beaten with the powder of Mullenherbe.

γ. 5 tortose, 5-7 tortuse, 6 -tuous, -tueis, 7 -tuis, -tus.

1484 CAXTON Fables of Avian. ii, The..fable..of the tortose and of the other byrdes. 1495 Trevisa's Barth. De P. R. xviii. cviii. (W. de W.) g g iv b/1 The londe Tortuse [Bodl. MS. tortuge] dwellyth in houses and in wodes and is clene and good to etynge. 1565 COOPER Thesaurus s. v. Tegimen, The Tortuous, when she is shronke into hir shelle. 1590 TARLTON News Purgat. (1844) 76 She that.. hath the tortueis under her feet, and gads not abroad. 1598 YONG Diana 49 Their shields ..were broad shels of enormous Tortuses. 1630 LENNARD tr. Charron's Wisd. (1658) 39 In the sense of Hearing, the Hart excelleth all others..; of Feeling the Tortuis. 1651 Tortus [see TORTOISE-SHELL 4].

δ. 6 torteyse, torteaux, 6-7 torteese, -teise, 7 tortise, (-ties).

1545 ELYOT, Chelys, a tortoyse. 1567 MAPLET Gr. Forest 106 The Tortesse is reckned one amongst the Snaile or Wormes. 1581 PETTIE Guazzo's Civ. Conv. i. (1586) 3, I goe to it as the Torteise to the inchantment. 1600 B. de Yonghe's Trvs Declar. Army by Sea 22 There they saw verie great Torteauxes. Ibid., The same day they took a Torteaux. 1615 G. SANDYS Trav. 205 The brooke it selfe abounding with Tortesses. 1661 LOVELL Hist. Anim. & Min. Introd., Having shells, as the Torteise. Ibid. 124 Tortise, in the deserts of Africa, Lybia, and Mauritania.

ε. 6-7 tortoyse, 6-8 -tois, (6 -toys, 7 -toisse, turtois), 6- tortoise.

1552 HULOET, Tortoyse fyshe, chelys. 1555 EDEN Decades 200 In ..Cuba, are founde great Tortoyses (which are certeyne shell fyssheses of such bygenesse that tenne or fyfteene men are scarsely able to lyfte one of them owt of the water. 1569 Tortoises [see 2]. 1589 GREENE Menaphon (Arb.) 39 Venus standeth on the Tortoys, as shewing that Love creepeth on by degrees. 1601 HOLLAND Pliny vi. xxii. 1. 131 Tortoisses..so great..that one of their shels will serve to cover an house. 1611 BIBLE Lev. xi. 29 The Weasell, and the Mouse, and the Tortois, after his kinde. 1617 KEYNES in Ashley's Archæol. 34, I have seen..one toule of Tobacco, one Tortoyse. 1648 Turtoises [see b]. 1666 J. DAVIES Hist. Caribby Isles 133 There are Land-Tortoises, Sea-Tortoises, and Fresh-water Tortoises, which are of different figures. 1699 GARTH Dispens. ii. 19 And there, the Tortois hung her Coat o' Mail. 1719 DE FOE Crusoe i. 102 Going down to the Sea-side, I found a large Tortoise or Turtle. 1841-71 T. R. JONES Anim. Kingd. (ed. 4) 737 The perfect Amphibia are the Lizard, the Tortoise, and the Serpent, breathes air, and air only.

b. A figure or image of a tortoise.

1648 J. RAYMOND II Merc. Italico 42 Two Marble Pyramids that stand on brasse Turtoises. 1883 HUMPHREYS Coins Coll. Mem. iii. (1876) 21 The coins of Ægina are easily recognized by the tortoise which is their invariable type. 1897 Westm. Gaz. 22 Apr. 3/3 Two metal tortoises—probably tobacco-jars?..were lying at hand on the table.

c. Taken as a type of slowness of motion; hence, applied to a very slow person or thing.

[1670 G. H. Hist. Cardinal's II. iii. 108 He is slow in his Negotiations, advancing like a Tortoise.] 1825 SCOTT Talism. xxii, The speediest horse he had ever mounted was a tortoise in comparison to those of the Arabian sage. 1842 I. WILLIAMS Justiniary ii. xviii. (1874) 6 One is travelling with a tortoise by his side, How slowly doth he wend.

2. a. A sort of penthouse, under which besiegers were protected as a tortoise by its shell ; = TESTUDO 3.

1569 STOCKER tr. Diod. Sic. III. viii. 123/2 He had also many other Engines. and two great and puissant Tortoises to helpe them. 1620 W. FOULKINGHAM Art of Survey i. xiii. 45 Battering-Rams, Sowes, Horses, Tortuses. 1795 SOUTHEY Joan of Arc VIII. 159 Tortoises, beneath whose roofing safe, They, filling the deep moat, might for the towers Make fit foundation. 1898 GROTE Greece II. xcii. XII. 129 His soldiers, protected from missiles by moveable penthouses (called Tortoises).

b. = TESTUDO 3 b.

1697 DRYDEN Æneid II. 601 Their Targets in a Tortoise cast, the Foes Secure advancing, to the Turrets rose. 1734 tr. Rollin's Anc. Hist. xix. iv. (1827) VIII. 139 They came forward in the form of the testudo, or tortoise. 1863 WHYTE MELVILLE Gladiators 408 He bade them form with their shields the figure that was called 'the Tortoise'.

3. Short for TORTOISE-SHELL. Usually attrib. or as adj.

1654 DOROTHY OSBORNE Lett. to Sir W. Temple (1888) 240 The ring..is very well, only a little of the biggest. Send me a tortoise one that is a little less. 1702 Lond. Gaz. No. 3833/4 A Gold Snuff-Box,..the bottom Tortoise. 1902 Fur & Feather 19 Sept. 232/2 The Young Brindle or Tortoise class [of Cavies].

4. attrib. (sometimes = adj.) and Comb., as tortoise broth, -feeder, god, -heart, -myth, pond; tortoise-headed, -shaped adjs., -like adj. and adv.; esp. with reference to the slow gait of the tortoise, as tortoise-hours, -pace, -race; tortoise-footed, -paced adjs.; also tortoise-beetle, a leaf-beetle of the family Cassididæ, from the resemblance of the wing-cases and prothorax to the carapace of a tortoise; † tortoise encrinite, a fossil crinoid of the genus Marsupites; tortoise-flower, a plant of the genus Chelone, from the resemblance of the corolla to the head of a tortoise (also called turtlehead); † tortoise-iron, ? a peg for tethering captured tortoises; tortoise-lyre, a lyre made of a tortoise-shell; tortoise-plant, a South African plant, Testudinaria elephantipes, allied to the yam, having a large fleshy root-stock growing above ground, the surface of which becomes deeply cracked so as to suggest the carapace of a tortoise; also called elephant's foot and Hottentot's bread; tortoise-roof = sense 2; tortoise-roofed a., having a roof resembling a tortoise-shell ; tortoise rotifer, a rotifer or wheel-animalcule of the family Brachionidæ, having a broad shield-shaped body ; tortoise tent, a kind of tent with a roof shaped like the shell of a tortoise ; tortoise-wood : see quot.

*c*1711 PETIVER Gazophyl. vi. lix, Brasil *Tortoise Beetle ..Its Legs and Body of a golden green, with Copper Edges, it creeps softly, and is slow to fly. 1826 KIRBY & SP. Entomol. III. xxix. 74 Cassida viridis, a tortoise beetle,..covers her group of eggs with a partially transparent membraue. 1861 HULME tr. Meguin-Tandon II. iii. 178 *Tortoise broth is prepared from the flesh of the Testudo Graeca. ..Some of the fresh-water tortoises may be substituted. 1868 PARKINSON Org. Rem. Former World II. xxii. 225 The extraordinary fossil, which, from the disposition of the plates of which it is formed, may be termed the *Tortoise Encrinite. 1855 KINGSLEY Heroes, Theseus ii. 213 Holla, thou *tortoise-feeder. 1818 MILMAN Samor 83 Thou *tortoise-footed sluggard! 1750 PARSONS in Phil. Trans. (1753) XLVII. 120 The *tortoise-headed seal. On the shores of many parts of Europe. 1865 J. H. INGRAHAM Pillar of Fire (1872) 223 A tortoise-headed god. 1873 E. BRENNAN Witch of Nemi, etc. 163 Fair women I beguile the *tortoise-hours. 1691 DAVENPORT Voy. round World (1699) 37 The Moskito-men make their own striking Instruments as Harpoons, Fish-hooks, and *Tortoise-Iron or Pegs. c 1630 DRUMM. OF HAWTH. Poems Wks. (1711) 56 Stone-rolling Tay, Time *tortoise-like that flows. 1648 BP. HALL Remedy Discontents 141 What is this, but Tortoise-like to be clogg'd with a weighty shel? 1804 [see TORTOISE-SHELL 4 b]. 1820 SHELLEY Hymn to Mercury xxv, With his left hand about his knees—the right held his beloved *tortoise-lyre tight. 1865 TYLOR Early Hist. Man. xii. 234 The *Tortoise-myths of North America and India. 1690 DRYDEN Don Sebast. III. i, Thou mov'st a *tortoise-pace to my relief. a 1649 DRUMM. OF HAWTH. Cypress Grove Wks. (1711) 122 Swift and active pilgrims come to the end of it in the morning or at noon, which *tortoise-paced wretches..scarce ..crawl unto at midnight. 1866 Trans. Bot., *Tortoise-plant. 1855 SINGLETON Virgil I. 288 Leaguered by the *tortoise-roof. 1866 Pall Mall Gz. 12 Oct. 4/1 They [Mormons] contrive within that hideously ugly, *tortoise-roofed building called the Tabernacle. 1826 KIRBY & SP. Entomol. III. xxix. 77 Those singular immovable *tortoise-shaped insects. 1890 Daily News 8 Apr. 3/2 The patients found evening care bestowed upon them in the *tortoise tent. 1901 Daily Chron. 23 July 3/2 A good case made out for the *tortoise-tent as used by the Portland Hospital. 1866 Trans. Bot., Tortoise-wood, a variety of Zebra-wood.

Tortoise-shell (tɔ̍·tɔsʃel, collog. tɔ·təʃel). 1. The shell, esp. the upper shell or carapace, of a tortoise, consisting of horny scales covering the dermal skeleton. a. with a and pl.

1601 HOLLAND Pliny IX. x. I. 241 Among the Islands principally in the red sea, they use Tortoise shells..for boats and wherries. 1644 EVELYN Diary 21 Mar., Curiosities of ivory and tortoise-shells. a 1843 SOUTHEY Commonp. pl. Bk. Ser. II. (1849) 570 In Yucatan they made a musical instrument of the tortoise-shell, preserved whole. 1863 W. C. BALDWIN Afr. Hunting 388 A drink of muddy water..out of a dirty tortoise-shell.

b. As a material (without a or pl.) : The shell of certain tortoises, esp. that of the hawk's-bill turtle, Chelone imbricata, which is semi-transparent, with a mottled or clouded coloration, and is extensively used in ornamental work, as inlaying, etc.

1632 EARL OF CORK Diary in Lismore Papers Ser. I. (1886) III. 132 A cabbonett of Tortles shell. 1688 R. HOLME Armoury II. 206/2 The Turks have a kind of Tortoise shell..of which they make hafts for Knives. 1703 DAMPIER Voy. III. i. 82 The Hawksbill-Turtle..of Brazil is most sought after..for its Shell, which..is the clearest and best clouded Tortoise-shell in the World. 1756 MSS. CALDERWOOD in Colness Collect. (Maitl. Club) 192 A bit of horn or tortyshell. 1768 HOLDSWORTH On Virgil 131 Some of the Romans were so extravagant as to cover their doors and door-cases with Indian tortoise-shell. 1779 FORREST Voy. N. Guinea 112 At Krudo, and the islands near it, may be got much tortoiseshell. 1838 DICKENS Nich. Nick. xv, The tortershell would have affected the brain. 1841 LANE Arab. Nts. I. 123 Made of wood,..inlaid with mother-of-pearl, tortoise-shell, etc.

† 2. = TORTOISE 2 a and b. Obs.

a 1661 HOLYDAY Juvenal ii. (1673) 29/2 Like souldiers,.. when..they cast themselves..into the military figure of the testudo, or the tortoise-shell. 1726 LEONI Alberti's Archit. I. 68 The ditch..will render the moveable Tortoise-shell.. from approaching the wall.

3. Short for (a) tortoise-shell cat, (b) tortoise-shell butterfly : see 4 b.

1840 P. Parley's Ann. 123 Oh, what a pretty little kitten! what a beautiful little dear tortoiseshell! 1884 Pall Mall G. 12 Aug. 3/2 A splendid specimen of the large tortoise-shell was fluttering about Westminster Bridge. 1903 Westm. Gaz. 11 Aug. 10/2 Of all flowers..that which the Red Admirals, Peacocks, and Tortoiseshells seem to like best is peppermint. 1903 F. SIMPSON Bk. Cat xvii. 208 Real tortoiseshells may be called tricolour cats, for they should have three colours..., namely black, red, and yellow, in distinct patches or blotches.

4. attrib. or as adj. a. Made of tortoise-shell.

1651 in Verney Mem. (1904) I. 480 His toilet equipment includes..12 Tortus shell Agendas, 2 gold picktooths. 1652 in 10th Rep. Hist. MSS. Comm. App. 1. 38 Fyue torter shell spoones. 1683 Lond. Gaz. No. 1809/4 A great Tortoise-shell Comb, in a Case of the same. 1689 Ibid. No. 2416/4 A very large Tortoise-shell Tobacco Box. 1896-9 DICKENS Sk. Boz, Doctors' Commons, A very fat and red-faced gentleman, in tortoise-shell spectacles.

b. Having the colouring or appearance of tortoise-shell; mottled or variegated with black, red, and yellow, or similar colours; spec. tortoise-shell butterfly, one of several butterflies, esp. the European Vanessa urticæ and V. polychlorus, and the American Aglais milberti; tortoise-shell cat, a domestic cat of this colour; tortoise-shell goose (see quot. 1885); tortoise-shell palm (see quot. 1902); tortoise-shell tiger (see TIGER sb. 1 b); tortoise-shell ware, a fine kind of pottery coloured with oxide of copper and manganese.

1782 W. CURTIS Brown-tail Moth 6 The Papilio Urticæ, and Io, small Tortoise-shell and Peacock Butterflies. 1791 HUDDESFORD Salmag., Moundy death Dick 141 Cats..sable, sandy, grey, and tortoiseshell. 1803 SHAW Gen. Zool. IV. 471 Tortoise-shell Sparus..: colour brown, with a strong suffusion of pale yellow. 1804 Ibid. V. 444 Tortoise-shell Tetrodon..: The Linnæan name [Tetrodon testudineus] of this fish is supposed to have been given from its tortoise-like beak, but perhaps, with more propriety, from its variegated skin. 1898 Lydekker What will he do I. xiv, They kept a tortoise-shell cat and a canary. 1885 SWAINSON Provinc. Names Birds 148 White-fronted Goo-e (Anser albifrons)..Tortoise-shell goose (Ireland). From the mottled markings on the abdomen. 1902 P. FOUNTAIN Mounts. & Forests S. Amer. x. 270 The tortoise-shell palm ..the leaves of which are so hard, and withal flexible, that combs, spoons, and ornamental articles are made of it. 1903 F. SIMPSON Bk. Cat xxv. 284 The tortoiseshell tom is a most rare and uncommon animal.

c. Producing tortoise-shell: tortoise-shell turtle, the hawk's-bill turtle, or other species from which tortoise-shell is obtained.

1886 MIVART in Encycl. Brit. XX. 446/2 In the other Chelonians there are large epidermal shields, which may overlap, as in the Tortoise-shell Turtle (Chelonia imbricata) and others.

5. Comb., as tortoiseshell producing adj.

1883 W. S. KENT in A. J. Adderley Fisheries Bahamas 31 (Fish. Exhib. Publ.) The edible turtle (Chelone midas) and the tortoiseshell-producing variety (Caretta imbricata) ..among the marine products of the Bahamas.

†Tortor. Obs. Also 6–7 -our(e. [L., agent-n. from torquēre, tort-um to twist, torture.] A torturer, tormentor; an executioner.

1570 FOXE A. & M. (ed. 2) 125/2 The boucherlye tortoure pluckte the skynne from the crowne of hys head. 1606 tr. Rollock's Lect. on 1 Thess. 305 The conscience..as a tortor within thee to torment thee. 1610 HOLLAND Camden's Brit. I. 410 The Tortor proudly did the feat, but cleere he went not quit; That holy Martyr lost his head, this cruell wretch his sight. 1619 PURCHAS Microcosmus xiii. 401 Tortures and Torture-Dealers and Deadlish Plagues.

Tortor, Tortou, obs. ff. TORTURE, TORTOISE.

Tortour, var. TORTOR Obs.; obs. f. TORTURE.

Tortricid (tɔ̄·tristid), a. and sb. [f. mod.L. Tortricidæ pl., f. TORTRIX: see -ID 3.] a. Entom. adj. Belonging to the family Tortricidæ of Lepidoptera, comprising the leaf-roller moths, typified by the genus Tortrix; sb. a moth of this family. b. Zool. adj. Belonging to the family Tortricidæ of snakes, typified by the genus Tortrix or Ilysia; sb. a snake of this family. So Tortricine (-sain), a. and sb. = tortricid; Tortricoid (-koid) a., belonging to the suborder Tortricoidea of Ophidia, including the family Tortricidæ (see b above).

1889 MARY E. BAMFORD Up & Down Brooks 113 The small tortricid moths that, as caterpillars, curl the leaves of rose-bushes.

‖Tortrix (tɔ̄·tristiks). Pl. tortrices (-oi·sīz). [mod.L. tortrix, -icem, fem. of TORTOR, but taken in the literal sense 'twister', in reference to the leaf-rolling habits of the larvæ.]

1. Entom. A genus of moths, typical of the family Tortricidæ (see prec. a); a moth of this genus or family, a leaf-roller moth.

1797 Encycl. Brit. (ed. 3) XIV. 263/2 (Families of Moths) 5. The tortrices. The wings are exceeding obtuse, their exterior margin is curve, and declines towards the sides of the body. 1819 G. SAMOUELLE Entomol. Compend. 425 Tortrix Ayellana. The hazel Tortrix. 1834 R. MUDIE Brit. Birds (1841) I. 347 The eggs and larvæ of the tortrices and other insects which they [tits] pick up. 1909 Daily News 31 May, 5 The rook..preys largely on the larvæ and pupæ of the oak tortrix, a most destructive insect.

2. Zool. A genus of snakes, also called Ilysia, including the coral-snake of Guiana, T. (I.) scytale.

1843 Penny Cycl. XXV. 79/2 Tortrix, Oppel's name for a genus of serpents. 1864 in WEBSTER.

Tortu, tortuce, tortue, obs. ff. TORTOISE.

†Tortue, a. Obs. rare⁻¹. [a. F. tortu, -ue (1214 in Hatz.-Darm.), f. L. tortus, F. tort twisted.] = TORTUOUS 1.

c1450 Merlin xiv. 206 He bar [on a banner] a dragon.. and the taile was a fadome and an half of lengthe tortue.

Tortueis, tortuga, tortuis: see TORTOISE.

[Tortulous, error, form of TORULOUS.

1864 in WEBSTER.]

Tortuose (tɔ̄·tiuōs), a. rare⁻¹. [ad. L. tortuōs-us: see TORTUOUS.] = TORTUOUS 1.

1829 LOUDON Encycl. Plants (1836) 471 Stem tortuose.

Tortuosity (tɔ̄tiu,ō·siti). [ad. L. tortuōsitās, from tortuōs-us TORTUOUS: see -ITY. Cf. F. tortuosité, Pr. tortuositat, It. tortuosità.] The quality or condition of being tortuous; twistedness, crookedness, sinuosity; an instance of this.

1. lit.: cf. next, 1.

1603 HOLLAND Plutarch's Mor. III. 686 The tortuositie of the bodie and branches. 1658 PHILLIPS, Tortuosity... a windingy, or crooking in and out. 1799 Trans. Thames 40 The crookedness or tortuosity of its course. 1851 LANDOR Popery xiv. 42 A thread which has long been twisted carries with it when untwisted the tortuosity of its entanglement. 1889 Proc. R. Geog. Soc. Apr. 253 The extreme tortuosity of the river Yang-tsze.

b. Geom.: see quot. 1867, and cf. next, 1 c.

1867 THOMSON & TAIT Nat. Phil. I. 1. § 7 There are not two curvatures, but only a curvature..of which the plane is continuously changing...The course of such a curve is, in common language, well called 'tortuous'; and the measure of the corresponding property is conveniently called Tortuosity. 1898 A. N. WHITEHEAD Univ. Algebra I. 132 A curve locus of any order of tortuosity.

2. fig. Mental or moral crookedness: cf. next, 2.

1621 T. GRANGER Comm. on Eccl. ii. 14. 63 Hee discereth the vprightnesse of godlinesse, and the tortuosity of wickednesse. 1767 A. CAMPBELL Lexiph. (1774) 62 To convict him of the tortuosity of his imaginary rectitude. 1828 BYRON Juan I. cccviii, Led by some tortuosity of mind. 1851 Fraser's Mag. XLIV. 336 The charge of deliberate tortuosity of action and double-dealing.

3. with a and pl. An instance of this, or something that exemplifies it; a twisted or crooked object, a twist, turn, winding. a. lit.: cf. 1.

1646 SIR T. BROWNE Pseud. Ep. v. v. 239 The tortuosity or complicated nodosity we usually call the Navell. 1853 KANE Grinnell Exp. xvii. (1856) 131 The linear distance, including tortuosities, is but three hundred miles.

b. fig.: cf. 2.

1677 GALE Crt. Gentiles II. iv. 109 Sin is said to be a Tortuositie or wresting of the Law. 1751 JOHNSON Rambler No. 122 P 3 The tortuosities of imaginary rectitude. 1837 CARLYLE Mirac., Miraheau (1840) V. 239 The strangest of styles..distracted into tortuosities, dislocations. 1896 DONAN Knts. & their Days viii. 126 In tracing the tortuosities of this chivalric romance.

Tortuous (tɔ̄·tiuəs), a. [a. AF. tortuous (12–13th c. in Hatz.-Darm.) = 14th c. F. tortueux, ad. L. tortuōs-us, 'full of crooks or turns or twists', f. tortu-s a twisting, f. tort-, ppl. stem of torquēre to twist.]

1. Full of twists, turns, or bends; twisted, winding, crooked, sinuous.

1426 LYDG. De Guil. Pilgr. 18320 A camell..is so encombred and tortuous. *c*1450 Merlin xxii. 393 The dragon..be-tokened the kynge Arthur and his power;..and the taile that was so tortuouse be-tokened the grete treson of the peple. 1555 RECORDE Pathw. Knowl. I. Defin., Parallels tortuous, which bowe contrarie waies with their two endes. 1667 MILTON P. L. IX. 516 Hee..of his tortuous Traine Curled many a wanton wreath in sight of Eve. 1768 STERNE Sent. Journ., Riddle Explained, The most difficult and tortuous passages of the heart! 1821 A. T. THOMSON Lond. Disp. II. (1818) 317 The root is perennial, woody, and tortuous. 1839 DARWIN Voy. Nat. ix. (1879) 186 We found the river-course very tortuous.

†b. Astron. Applied to the six signs of the zodiac from Capricornus to Gemini, which (in northern latitudes) rise more obliquely than the other six. Obs. rare⁻¹.

*c*1391 CHAUCER Astrol. ii. § 28 Thise same signes, fro the hoed of capricorne vnto the ende of geminis, ben eleped tortuos signes or kroked signes, for they arisen embelif on owre Orisonte.

c. Geom. Applied to a curve of which no two successive portions are in the same plane; also called a non-plane curve, curve in space, or curve of double curvature (see CURVATURE 1 b).

1867 see TORTUOSITY 1 b.

2. fig. Not direct or straightforward; indirect, irregular, devious, circuitous, crooked: esp. in a moral sense. (In quot. 1801 app. Dealing in quaint 'turns' of speech or expression.)

[1682: see TORTIOUS 4.] 1801 LD. CALTHORPE Let. in Wilberforce's Priv. Papers (1897) 104 Sir W. Scott..was very tortuous and amusing. 1823 SCOTT Quentin D. viii, The unscrupulous cunning with which he assisted in the execution of the schemes of his master's tortuous policy. 1858 SEARS Athan. III. vii. 319 A narrow and tortuous criticism. 1865 MILL Exam. Hamilton 415 The tortuous phraseology by which our author evades recognising the ideas of truth and falsity. 1901 Times 2 Nov. 3/4 A more tortuous way of trying to get possession of goods he had never heard of.

¶ 3. Malign (obs.); wrongful. (Misused for or confused with TORTIOUS.)

1594 GREENE & LODGE Looking Glasse (1598) E iv b, What tortuous planets..Hath made the concaue of the earth vnclose? 1839 Times 13 May, Keeping tortuous possession of premises after their several gentlemen had departed. 1839 Morn. Herald 3 June, The first action ever brought against a returning officer for the tortuous refusal of a vote for members of parliament.

Hence Tortuously adv., in a tortuous manner (lit. and fig.); in quot. 1839 misused for TORTIOUSLY); Tortuousness, the quality or condition of being tortuous, tortuosity.

1824 New Monthly Mag. X. 275 Musty precedents.. which an ingenious tortuousness may call in. 1839 Morn. Herald 3 June, Any person, whose vote has been..tortuously refused at an election. 1853 KANE Grinnell Exp. xiv. (1856) 413 We wound our way tortuously among them. 1862 H. SPENCER First Princ. II. iix. § 80 (1875) 245 In proportion to the complexity of social forces is the tortuousness of social movements. 1884 Pall Mall G. 8 Aug. 5/1 Puget Sound..runs southward tortuously from Vancouver Island far into the rugged heart of the Washington territory.

Torturable (tɔ̄·tiŭrăbl), a. rare. [f. TORTURE v. + -ABLE.] Capable of being tortured. Hence Torturableness (rare).

1655–87 H. MORE App. Antid. v. § 4. 193, I..assert that a torturable being is a Spirit incorporate. 1727 BAILEY vol. II, Torturableness, capableness of Torture. 1852 BURTON Crim. Trials Scot. I. 229 Long confinement having reduced the extent of his torturable strength.

Torture (tɔ̄·tiŭr, -tjər), sb. Also 6–7 tortour, tortor. [a. F. torture (12th c. in Hatz.-Darm.), ad. L. tortūra twisting, wreathing; torment, torture; f. torquēre, tort- to twist, torment.]

1. The infliction of excruciating pain, as practised by cruel tyrants, savages, brigands, etc., from a delight in watching the agony of a victim, in hatred or revenge, or as a means of extortion; spec. judicial torture, inflicted by a judicial or quasi-judicial authority, for the purpose of forcing an accused or suspected person to confess, or an unwilling witness to give evidence or information; a form of this (often in pl.). To put to (the) torture, to inflict torture upon, to torture.

1552 Acts Privy Council (1892) III. 407 Assisting to the sayd Commissioners for the putting the prisoners..to suche tortours as they shall think expedient. 1593 SHAKS. 2 Hen. VI, III. i. 131 You did deuise Strange Tortures for Offendors. 1608 D. PRICE Chr. Warrr 21 To punish the bad, and to prouide some sharpe and fearful tortors for them. 1653 H. COGAN tr. Pinto's Trav. iv. 10 We put the Captain and Pilot to torture, who instantly confessed. 1708 Act 7 Anne c. 21 § 2 After [1 July 1709] no Person accused of any Capital Offence or other Crime in Scotland, shall suffer, or be subject or liable to any Torture. 1769 BLACKSTONE Comm. (1830) IV. xxv. 326 They erected a rack for torture. 1838 THIRLWALL Greece III. xxv. 393 Plunder moved that the persons ..should be put to the torture, that all their accomplices might be known. 1849 MACAULAY Hist. Eng. i. (1871) I. 76 According to law, torture..could not..be inflicted on an English subject. 1881 GARDINER Hist. Eng. (1884) VI. lxx. 359 note 2 Torture had been allowed [in England] by custom as inflicted by the prerogative, but not by law...Torture was inflicted as late as 1640 by prerogative.

†b. transf. An instrument or means of torture. 1602 SHAKS. All's Well IV. iii. 125 He calles for the tortures, what will you say without em? 1621 E. SANDYS Ovid's Met. IX. (1626) 278 To teare the torture [letiferam vestem] off, he striues. 1721–2 R. WODROW Suffer. Ch. Scot. II. xiii. § 5 (1837) II. 458/2 His leg being in the torture [i.e. the boot].

2. Severe or excruciating pain or suffering (of body or mind); anguish, agony, torment; the infliction of such.

*c*1540 tr. Pol. Verg. Eng. Hist. (Camden) I. 269 Doe you preferre the horrible tortures of warre before tranquillitee? 1593 SHAKS. Lucr. 1287 And that deepe torture may be call'd a Hell, When more is felt than one hath power to tell. 1612 WOODALL Surg. Mate Wks. (1653) 185 Pain and torture of the intestines. 1659 H. MORE Immort. Soul II. x. § 6. 229 Who would bear the torments of Fears and Jealousies, if he could avoid it? 1734 BP. PETER Let. in E. H. Burton Life Challoner (1909) I. 93 He wasted away by degrees under the torture of the Strangury. 1744 M. BISHOP Life & Adv. 52 They were in such great Torture, wishing they had never come to Sea. 1797 MRS. RADCLIFFE Italian II. He determined to relieve himself from the tortures of suspense. 1878 BROWNING La Saisiaz 353 As in one or other stage Of a torture writhe they.

b. transf. A cause of severe pain or anguish. (In quot. 1859 humorous.)

1612 BRINSLEY Ludus Lit. viii. (1627) 106 The labour of learning..Authours without booke..is one of the greatest tortures to the poore schollers. 1889 Habits Gd. Society xi. 300 Never was a more solemn torture created for mankind than these odious dinner-parties. 1873 HAMERTON Intell. Life ii. i. (1875) 52 An ugly picture was torture to his cultivated eye. 1908 R. BAGOT A. Cuthbert xxvii, Do not make me put it into words, it is torture!

3. transf. and fig. with various allusions: Severe pressure; violent perversion or 'wresting'; violent action or operation; severe testing or examination.

1605 BACON Adv. Learn. II. xvii. § 9 All the kernell [is] forced out and expulsed with the torture and presse of the Methode. *c*1670 HOBBES Dial. Com. Laws (1681) 147 This Statute cannot by Sir Edw. Cokes Torture be made to say it. 1691 RAY Creation I. (1692) 87 All the Tortures of Vulcan or corrosive Waters. 1818 BYRON Ch. Har. IV. lxix, The hell of waters I where they howl and hiss, And boil in endless torture. 1855 BRewster Newton I. iv. 91 Experimental results, that may put his own views to the torture. 1887 Spectator No. 3067. 491/2 Much so-called wit of the present day is nothing more than the systematic torture of words.

4. attrib. and Comb., as torture-chamber, -house, -monger, -rack, -room, -wheel; torture-scored adj.

1615 J. STEPHENS Ess. & Char. (1859) 133 An Impudent Censurer—Is the torture-monger of Wit, ready for execution before Judgement. 1829 SCOTT Anne of G. x, Building castles with dungeons and folter-kammers, or torture-chambers. 1832 CARLYLE Fr. Rev. I. i. ii, Torture-wheels and cruel oubliettes. *a*1847 ELIZA COOK Silence 2 Poverty has a sharp and goading power To wring the torture cry. 1898 S. COLERIDGE Step by Step 4 The guardian of the secret of the torture-house. 1899 Westm. Gaz. 9 Feb., 2/1 The torture-instinct (common alone to human and feline).

Torture, v. Also 6 -or, 7 -er. [f. prec. sb.: cf. F. torturer (1480 in Hatz.-Darm.).]

1. trans. To inflict torture upon, subject to torture; spec. to subject to judicial torture; put to the torture. Also absol.

1593 SHAKS. 2 Hen. VI, III. i. 376 Say he be taken, rackt, and tortured; I know, no paine they can inflict vpon him, Will make him say, I mou'd him to those Armes. 1594

First Pt. Contention (1843) 35 A murtherer or foule felonous theefe..I torford above the rate of common law. 1611 Bible Heb. xi. 35 Others were tortured [1671 a. versions racked], not accepting deliuerance. 1692 Lithgow Trav. x. 480 Hee thought hee saw a man Torturing [i. e. being tortured]. 1651 Hobbes Leviath. i. xiv. 70 What is in that case confessed, tendeth to the ease of him that is Tortured. 1847 Miss A. Kerr tr. Ranke's Hist. Servia x. 203 Shall I live to see thee slowly tortured to death by the Turks? 1896 'M. Field' Attila ii. 48 You will not torture? Flaccilla. We use that to extort confession, not As punishment.

2. To inflict severe pain or suffering upon; to torment; to distress or afflict grievously; also, to exercise the mind severely, to puzzle or perplex greatly. Also absol. to cause extreme pain.

1588 Shaks. L. L. L. v. ii. 60 That same Berowne He torture ere I goe. 1611 Speed Hist. Gt. Brit. IX. xvi. (1623) 842 To consider how Writers torter us with the diuersities of reports. 1715-20 Pope Iliad xi. 985 The closing flesh... cens'd to glow, The wound to torture, and the blood to flow. 1769 Junius Lett. xxix. (1797) I. 203 When the mind is tortured, it is not at the command of any outward power. It is the sense of guilt which constitutes the punishment, and creates that torture. 1849 Macaulay Hist. Eng. vi. II. 67 Jeffreys was...tortured by a cruel internal malady. 1855 Ibid. xii. III. 167 It was rumoured...that he was tortured by painful emotions.

3. fig. a. To act upon violently in some way, so as to strain, twist, wrench, distort, pull or knock about, etc.

1626 Bacon Sylva § 137 The Bow tortureth the String continually, and thereby holdeth it in a Continuall Trepidation. 1743 Davenson Æneid VII. 298 A top whirling under the tortured lash, which boys ... exercise and torture in a large circuit. 1822 Shelley To Jane—the Recollection, Pines..Tortured by storms to shapes as rude As serpents interlaced. 185. B. Harte My Other Self in Fiddletown, etc. (1872) 120, I stood at the glass in the despairing attempt to torture my hair after the fashion of young Wobbles.

b. To 'twist' (language, etc.) from the proper or natural meaning or form; to distort, pervert.

1648 Jenkyn Blind Guide i. 8 To torture Scripture for the defending of his errors. 1682 Dryden Mac Fl. 208 There was mayst...torture one poor word ten thousand ways. 1803 Visct. Stangford Camoens' Poems Notes (1820) 127 It is surprising that this idea has not been more ramified and tortured by the English metaphysical poets of that school. 1869 Baldw. Brown Chr. Policy Life (1880) 281 There might be a sentence here and there which might be tortured to bear that meaning.

4. To extract by torture; to extort. rare.

1687 tr. Sallust's Wks. (1692) 29 They..by all manner of extortions hale and torture money to themselves. 1818 Keats Endym. iii. 236 Like a wretch from whom the rack Tortures hot breath, and speech of agony.

Tortured (tɔ̄·rtiŭrd, -tʃərd), ppl. a. [f. prec. + -ED 1.] Subjected or put to torture (lit. and fig.); tormented; wrested, etc.: see the verb.

1603 Drayton Bar. Ware iv. xxxix, Eu'ry cadence as a torturde cry. 1687 Dryden Hind & P. ii. 129 The torturd Texts. 1743 Francis tr. Horace Odes iv. xiii. 44 Charm'd by the melodious Strain The tortur'd Ghosts forget their Pain. 1814 Scott Ld. of Isles iv. xii, Scarba's isle, whose tortured shore Still rings to Corrieveken's roar. 1858 Lytton Leila ii. vi. They father filled his treasuries from the gold of many a tortured Hebrew.

Torturer. Also 6-7 -or. [f. Torture v. + -er 1.] One who or that which inflicts or causes torture; a tormentor; spec. one who executes judicial torture.

1593 Shaks. Rich. II, iii. iii. 198, I play the Torturer, by small and small To lengthen out the worst, that must be spoken. 1597 A. M. tr. Guillemeau's Fr. Chirurg. 52 b/2 Two torturers will deprive a man of life..the torturer of greefe and sorrowe is the most cruellest. 1612 Shaks. Cymb. v. v. 215 Thou King, send out For Torturers ingenious. 1780 Beckford Italy (1834) I. 69 That respectable corps, the torturers of butterflies. 1805 Southey Madoc in Azt. ii. 114 Thou know'st how manfully These tribes..in bonds Defy their torturers. 1830 Scott Ayrshire Trag. iii. 1, A torturer of phrases into sentiment.

Torturesome (-sŭm), a. rare. [f. Torture sb. + -some.] Characterized by, or causing torture; extremely painful or distressing.

1889 E. Saltus Tristram Varick 146 The enforced inactivity was a torturesome as suspense. 1906 Charl. Mansfield Girl & Gods viii, Your life in every way must be of an opposite or torturesome emotion.

Torturing, vbl. sb. [f. Torture v. + -ing 1.] The action of the verb Torture; infliction of torture; tormenting; fig. wresting, perversion.

1633 P. Fletcher Purple Isl. xii. lxv, He soon was led Unto a thousand thousand torturings. 1638 Drumm. of Hawth. Irene Wks. (1711) 170 Ruines of noble houses,... confiscation of estates, torturings of bodies. 1733 W. Stewart in Scots Mag. Mar. 135/2 What strange...torturing of... upright actions must there be, to make this criminal? 1765 Blackstone Comm. (1830) I. i. 133 Prohibition not only of killing and maiming, but also of torturing (to which our laws are strangers). 1855 Maurice Patriarchs & Lawgs xii. (1882) 223 These are not inferences drawn from the story by an unnatural torturing.

b. attrib. Torturing-stock (nonce-wd.), one upon whom torture is inflicted.

1622 Br. Hall Serm. 6 pr. Yea. I 15 Sept., Wks. (1624) 493 Yet..were these poor torturing-stocks higher..than their persecutors.

Torturing, ppl. a. [f. as prec. + -ing 2.] That tortures; inflicting or causing torture; tormenting, excruciating.

1612 Sir W. Mure Misc. Poems ii, 46 He [Cupid]..fled away..I But, (woes me,) felt behind his tort'ring toyle. 1669 A. Thorold in St. Papers, Dom. 505 An eminent French Protestant..put to a tortering death. 1794 Mrs. Radcliffe Myst. Udolpho xxxiii, This state of torturing suspense. 1817 Shelley Rev. Islam x. viii. [He] bade the torturing wheel Be brought. 1867 Aug. J. E. Wilson Vaskit xvii, Her past..of which the bare memory was so torturing.

Hence To·rturingly adv.

a 1625 Fletcher & Massinger Laws of Candy iii. ii, An host of furies Could not have halted me more torturingly. 1882 T. Hardy Two on a Tower ix, He was there a torturingly long time.

Torturous (tɔ̄·rtiŭrəs), a. Also 5, 7 tortorous. [a. AF. tortorous = OF. tortureus, -euse, f. L. tortūra Torture: see -ous.] Full of, involving, or causing torture; tormenting, excruciating; in first quot., given to inflicting torture.

c 1495 Epitaphs, etc. in Skelton's Wks. (1843) II. 392 O turmentoure, traytoure, tortorous tyranne. 1600 Abp. Abbot Exp. Jonah 199 Dying he must live and living he must dy in a tortorous execution. 1618 M. Baker Horsemanship, Cures, They follow the tortorous inventions of hard snaffles. 1721 Shaftesb. Characc. II. ii. II. (1737) II. 146 The assuaging of the most tortorous Pain. 1871 R. Ellis Catullus lxv. 1 Outworn with sorrow, with hours of tortorous anguish.

b. fig. Involving perversion or violent dislocation (of words, etc.): cf. Torture sb. 3, v. 3 b.

1842 D'Israeli Amen. Lit. (1889) II. 27 Their tortorous arrangement of words without rhythm or cadence. 1890 Standard 23 Aug. 3/2 Tortuous, as well as torturous, renderings of Psalms, Te Deums, Canticles, and responses.

Hence To·rturously adv., very painfully.

1857 W. Arnot Lect. in Mrs. A. Fleming Life vi. (1877) 320 They make the carriages torturously hard. c 1873 J. Addis Ellis. Echoes (1879) 77 A fate Through all thy Future torturously throbbing.

Tortus, -use, obs. forms of Tortoise.

Tortys, tortyse: see Tortis.

‖ Torula (tɔ̄·rŭlă). Biol. Pl. -æ (-ī). [mod.L. dim. (with change of gender) of Torus (sense 3): cf. F. torule masc.] lit. A small rounded swelling or bulge. a. Each of the minute rounded cells of various fungi or microbes, as the yeast-plant and certain endoparasitic organisms; also, a chain of such cells. b. (With capital.) A genus of fungi, chiefly fermentative. (Introd. by Persoon, 1790.)

1833 Hooker Brit. Flora II. ii. 359 (Genus) Torula. Pers. Sporitia chained together into moniliform erect flocci. 1860 Berkeley Brit. Fungology 326 Torula. P. Spores toniparous, simple. 1861 H. Macmillan Footn. Page of Nat. 243 In all saccharine fluids undergoing the alcoholic and even the acetous fermentation these minute torulæ or yeast-cells make their appearance. 1875 Huxley & Martin Elem. Biol. 1 2 Each granule [of yeast] (which is termed a Torula) is..a round, or oval, transparent body..The Torulæ are either single, or associated in heaps or strings. Ibid. 26 Brit. Fungology 326 Torula. P. Spores toniparous, simple. 1881 H. Macmillan Footn. Page of Nat. 243 In all saccharine fluids undergoing the alcoholic and even the acetous fermentation these minute torulæ or yeast-cells make their appearance. 1895 Huxley & Martin Elem. Biol. 1 2 Each granule [of yeast] (which is termed a Torula) is..a round, or oval, transparent body..The Torulæ are either single, or associated in heaps or strings. Ibid. 26 Brit. Fungology 326 Torula. P. Spores toniparous, simple. 1861

the best Irish etymologists agree that the form of the word is that of an agent-noun.

The following passage has what at first sight appears to be the same word, but the date makes this impossible. The writer is treating of the diversity of North American Indian languages, and Toryies may probably an Indian word :—

1634 W. Wood New Eng. Prosp. ii. xviii. 92 When any ships come neare the shore, they [Tarrenteens, Indians of Maine] demand whether they be King Charles his Tories, with such a rumbling sound [of r], as if one were heating an unbrac't Drumme.]

A. sb. 1. In the 17th c., one of the dispossessed Irish, who became outlaws, subsisting by plundering and killing the English settlers and soldiers ; a bog-trotter, a rapparee ; later, often applied to any Irish Papist or Royalist in arms. Obs. exc. Hist.

1646 (Jan. 22) Exam. P. Congm in Cal. Ormonde MSS. N.S. (1902) I. 105 Some others of the Irish called Tories. 1646 (May 17) Mat. W. Cadogan in Cale. Ormonde MSS. (1899) II. 39 Divers that had served under Finglas, Rowen and Welsh and such as had been Tories. 1647 Proclamation 4 Nov. (MS. Trinity Coll. Dublin, F. 3. 18. No. 22) Roberies ...committed by the Tories and Rebells upon the Protestants and others adhering to the Protestant parte. 1650 Whitelock Mem. 12 July (1732) 464/1 That eight Officers...riding upon the Highway (in Ireland) were murder'd by these bloody Highway Rogues called the Tories. 1652 (Dec. 18) in Cal. St. Papers, Dom. 41. I took the little island in Waterford river, and beat off Starlock, the great Tory. 1656 Blount Glossogr., Banditti. . in the north of England, Moss-Troopers ; in Ireland Tories. 1657 Burton Diary 10 June, Major Morgan. . We have those beasts to destroy, that lay burdens upon us,—1st, is a public Tory, on whose head we lay 200*l.*, and 40*l.* upon a private Tory's...2*d.* beast, is a priest, on whose head we lay 10*l.*, if he be eminent, more. 3*d.* beast, the wolf, on whom we lay 5*l.* a head if a dog, and 10*s.* if a bitch. 1675 Essex Papers (Camden) I. 307 Wee, the undernamed parish prests in the County of Kery,..doe undertake and faithfully promise ..That in our respective congregations we shall publike and declare, and denounce, all toreys, murtherers, thieves & Robors. 1676 Coles Dict., Tories, Irish Out-laws. 1681 E. Murphy State Ireland 5 Being a cruel Murderer, Rebel and Tory. 1693 G. Story Contin. Hist. Wars Ireland 59 They generally never can be reputed other than Tories, Robbers, Thieves, and Boggtrotters. 1707 Irish Act 6 Anne, c. 11 An Act for the more effectual suppression of tories, robbers, and rapparees. 1769 Dublin Mercy. 16–19 Sept. 3/3, 24 hedges were ... driven..into a bog by tories, robbers and rapparees out in arms. 1849 Macaulay Hist. Eng. ii. I. 257 The bogs of Ireland ..afforded a refuge to Popish outlaws, much resembling those who were afterwards known as Whiteboys. These men were then [temp. Chas. II] called Tories.

†b. Extended to (a) robbers or bandits of other races, as Border moss-troopers, Scottish Highlanders, (b) Rajpoot maranders or outlaws. Also (c) fig. Obs.

(a) [1651 Mercurius Scoticus 28 Oct., The Highlanders under Marquesse Huntley and Lord Balcarras..are now betaking themselves to the Highwayes to play the Tories and Robbers.] 1652 Lady Balhurst Lett. to Cromwell 26 Oct. (Clarke MSS. LXXXVI. ff. 109 b), Argyll tells mee he cannott advise mee to advance further, though hee suffer never soe much by those Tories. 1654 R. Baillie Lett. & Jrnls. (1841) III. 255 The discussing of the Northern Tories would cost him but a few weeks labour. a 1661 Fuller Worthies, Cumbld. (1662) i. 216 The..Earl of Carlisle, who routed these English-Tories [i.e. moss-troopers] with his Regiment. 1689 Kimmy Hist. Ch. Scot. (1817) 367 Among the tories in the Highlands. 1690 Ibid. v. 158 Middleton had undertaken to command the tories on the hills in Cromwell's time.

(b) 1662 J. Davies tr. Mandelslo's Trav. I. 25 These Rachoutes are a sort of High-way men or Tories. Ibid. 237 The distractions which then shook the State wherein there were eight Armies of Tories, or common Rogues.

(c) 1687 Kirby & Bisset Mirror of Crowd. i. 43 And now I must..drop down a little lower to the Sphere of Mars, who is termed a Tory amongst the Stars.

2. With capital T: A nickname given 1679–80 by the Exclusioners (q. v.) to those who opposed the exclusion of James, Duke of York (a Roman Catholic) from the succession to the Crown.

According to Roger North Examen (1740) iii. v. 7 § The Bill of Exclusion 'led to a common Use of slighting and opprobrious Words ; such as Yorkist. That..did not scandalise or reflect enough. Then they came to Tantivy, which implied Riding Post to Rome..Then, observing that the Duke favoured Irish Men, all his Friends, on those occasions such by appearing against the Exclusion, were straight become Irish, and so wild Irish, these Bogtrotters, and in the Copia of the factious Language, the Word Tory was entertained, which signified the most despicable Savages among the Wild Irish'. See also Whig.

1681 [see Tantivy B. 2]. 1682 O. Heywood Diaries, etc. 24 Oct. (1882) II. 235 A new name lately come into fashion for Ranters calling themselves by the name of Torys...A gentleman..had a red Ribband in his hat,..he said it signifyed that he was a Tory, whats that sd. she? he ans. an Irish rebel...I hear further since that..instead of Cavalier and Roundhead, now they are called Torys and Wiggs. 1681 Dryden Abs. & Achit. To Rdr., Wit and fool are consequents of Whig and Tory; and every man is a knave or an ass to the contrary side. a 1685 Earl of Dorset Wiggs & Tories in Coll. Poems 25 The Fools might be Whigs, none but Knaves shou'd be Toryes. a 1734 North Examn. ii. v. (1740) 321 Thus the Anti-exclusioners [c 1679] were stigmatised with Execration and Contempt, as a Parcel of damn'd Tories, for divers Months together. Ibid. 324 The Faction..had found a sarcasmous Name to fling upon the Loyallists,..that of Tory, the same as savage Brute and Idiot.

3. Hence, from 1689, the name of one of the two great parliamentary and political parties in England, and (at length) in Great Britain.

The party sprang from the 17th century Royalists or Cavaliers, and its members at first were more or less identical with the Anti-Exclusionists or 'Loriers' in sense 2. For some years after 1689 the Tories least more or less decidedly towards the dethroned House of Stuart ; but upon the accession of George III they, as a party, abandoned this attitude, retaining the principle of strenuously upholding the constituted authority and order in Church and State, and of opposing concessions in the direction of greater religious liberty. In opposition to the growing demands of Liberalism (see Liberal 5), a consistent antagonism to measures for widening the basis of parliamentary representation, or tending to impair the exclusive privileges of the Church as by law established, became their most marked characteristic ; but this has in course of time undergone many modifications. As a formal name, 'Tory' was superseded c 1830 by Conservative, merged after 1886 (when the Conservatives were joined by many who had previously belonged to the Liberal party, in opposing Home Rule for Ireland) in that of Unionist. But 'Tory' is still retained (†) colloquially ; (2) as expressing attachment to a policy either more old-fashioned (cf. Old or High Tory in 1), or more positive and constructive than that of ordinary Conservatism (cf. Tory democracy, C. 3) ; (3) in hostile usage, identifying the party with the bigotry and opposition to reform and progress charged upon earlier Toryism. Opposed originally and during the 18th c. to Whig ; later to Liberal, and (still more) to Radical.

1705 G. Lockhart Let. to Dr. Atholt 15 Oct. in 12th Rep. Hist. MSS. Comm. App. viii. 62 Her Majesty having now, more than ever before, devoted herself and interest to the Whigs, the Torys have no hopes of being reconciled in allmost anything..during this parliament. 1710 Swift Jrnl. to Stella 7 Nov., The Queen passed by us with all Tories about her ; not one Whig :..and I have seen her without one Tory. 1712 Addison Spect. No. 445 The Knight is a much stronger Tory in the Country than in Town, which..is absolutely necessary for the keeping up his Interest. 1728 [see High-flyer 3]. 1735–8 Bolingbroke Parties vii. Wks. 1844 I. 132 The Tory, detested of Whig and Tory were thus (in 1689) destroyed, but the name survived. 1741 Hume Ess., Parties Gt. Brit. (1758) 45 A Tory, therefore, since the revolution, may be defined in a few words, to be a lover of monarchy, tho' without abandoning liberty ; and a partizan of the family of Stuart. 1755 Johnson, Tory. (A cant term, derived, I suppose, from an Irish word signifying a savage.) One who adheres to the ancient constitution of the state, and the ancient hierarchy of the church, in opposition to one who is a whig. 1781— in Boswell (1906) II. 396 The prejudice of the Tory is for establishment ; The prejudice of the Whig is for innovation. A Tory does not wish to give more real power to Government ; but that Government should have more reverence. 1806 T. W. Coke Lett. 23 Sept. in Parr's Wks. (1828) VII. 246 It was..a glorious victory of the Whigs over the Tories. 1827 Hallam Const. Hist. III. xvi, To a tory the constitution, insomuch as it was the constitution, was an ultimate point,..from which he thought it altogether impossible to swerve ; whereas a whig deemed all forms of government subordinate to the public good. 1830 Macaulay Ess., Southey's Coll. (1860) I. 125/2 A Tory of the Tories..won and wore that noblest wreath, 'Ob cives servatos'. 1831 Arnold Apr., in Life & Corr. (1845) I. vi. 302 The old state of things is gone past recall, and all the efforts of all the Tories cannot set it up again. Hobson in Knapp Life (1899) I. xiv. 144 As the question is, or will shortly be, Tory or Radical, we say Tory ! and advise every honest man to say so too. 1833 Gen. P. Thompson Exerc. (1842) II. 255 The discussing of the Northern Tories would cost him but a few weeks labour. a 1861 Fuller Worthies, Cumbld. (1662) i. 216 The..Earl of Carlisle, who routed these English-Tories [i.e. moss-troopers] with his Regiment. 1689 Kimmy Hist. Ch. Scot. (1817) 367 Among the tories in the Highlands. 1690 Ibid. v. 158 Middleton had undertaken to command the tories on the hills in Cromwell's time.

(b) 1662 J. Davies tr. Mandelslo's Trav. I. 25 These Rachoutes are a sort of High-way men or Tories. Ibid. 237 The distractions which then shook the State wherein there were eight Armies of Tories, or common Rogues.

(c) 1687 Kirby & Bisset Mirror of Crowd. i. 43 And now I must..drop down a little lower to the Sphere of Mars, who is termed a Tory amongst the Stars.

b. With various qualifications, as

High, High-flying T., a Tory of 'high' principles ; in 17–18th c. a High-Church Tory, a 'Church and King' man ; cf. High-flyer 3 a ; later, a thorough, old-fashioned, or reactionary Tory ; Jacobite T., a Tory of Jacobite principles, or tending to Jacobitism ; Old T., a Tory of a non-modern type ; in quot. 1827, a Jacobite Tory ; ultra T., a Tory of extreme principles or opinions.

1713 Swift Jrnl. to Stella 9 Apr., The Bishop of Chester, a 'high' Tory, was against the Court. 1827 Scott Jrnl. 3 Sept., The King..probably looks with no greater [favour] on the return of the High Tories. 1842 Mem. M. T. Sneller x. 335 One..whom it is customary..to hold up with peculiar abhorrence as a 'bigot', a 'borough-monger', and a 'high Tory'. 1863 G. Prynne Autobiog. Recoll. 12 Nov., I have been told by at least two high Tories that they could not discover by my lectures what political sentiments I held. 1738 Bolingbroke Lett. ii. Patriot King (1856) 165 What gives obstinacy without strength..to the *Jacobite-tories at this time? 1827 Hallam Const. Hist. (1876) III. xv. 125 note, The thorough-paced royalists, or *old Tories [c 1690]. 1850 Hr. Martineau Hist. Peace I. iii. xi. 555 We have, what the old Tories have not and cannot conceive of. 1886 T. E. Kebbel Hist. Toryism viii. 366 The first Factory Bill *was introduced by the typical old Tory, Mr. Sadler. 1895 Oman Hist. Eng. xxxix. 646 When O'Connell's agitation grew formidable, and the old Tories urged him to repress it by force, he [Wellington] refused. 1833 Croker 25 Mar., in Kebbel Hist. Toryism v. (1886) 254 [Sir R. Peel] foresaw that Radicals and *ultra-Tories would unite against him. 1862 Knight Pop. Hist. Eng. VIII. vi. 109 The measures..hardly came up to the expectation of the ultra-Tories of that day [1829].

4. U.S. Hist. A member of the British party during the Revolutionary period ; a loyal colonist.

(These were orig. 'Tories' in the English political sense, who naturally continued loyal to the King.)

1774 J. Adams in Fam. Lett. (1876) 7 Dr. Gardiner, arrived..from Boston, brings news of a battle at the town meeting, between Whigs and Tories. 1774 — Wks. (1854) IX. 336 The tories were never, since I was born, in such a state of humiliation as at this moment.] 1775 Pennsylvania Even. Post 1 July 278/1 The Whigs and Tories at Georgia are disputing with each other, and Governor Wright is much alarmed for his safety. Ibid. 18 July 399/2 The Tories in Georgia are now no more, the province is..about to chose Delegates to send to the Congress. 1776 M. Cutler in Life, etc. (1888) I. 54 The ships lay down below the castle with the soldiers and tories and their families on board. 1776 Ann. Reg. 29 Many of the well-affected or Tories, which was the appellation now given to them throughout America) thought it prudent..to seek the same asylum. 1777 [implied in Toryess below]. 1821 J. F. Cooper Spy xxix Washington will not trust us with the keeping of a suspected Tory, if we let this rascal trifle in this manner with the corps.

5. transf. Applied to any one in foreign countries or former ages holding views analogous to those of the English Tories; also, one who is by temperament or sentiment inclined to conservative principles.

1797 J. Boucher View Amer. Rev. Pref. 22 Every man capable of forming an opinion..is, in some degree, either a Whig or a Tory. New Eng. The American revolution was clearly a struggle for pre-eminence between Whigs and Tories. 1827 Hallam Const. Hist. (1876) III. xvi. 201 The names whig and tory are often well applied to individuals. 1836 Arnold Lect. Mod. Hist. (1842) II. v. Const. 84 If 66 Men are all Tories by nature, when they are tolerably well off. 1841 Ibid. 26 June ibid. I. ix. 267 After all, those differences in men's minds which we express, when exemplified in English politics, by the terms Whig and Tory, we very deep and comprehensive,..they seem to be the great fundamental difference between thinking men. 1860 Russell Disney India II. x. 191 Purrus Ram and Khoom Dass ..fear greatly..that the Tories of Bussahir will triumph.

B. adj. 1. That is a Tory ; of, pertaining to, or characteristic of a Tory or Tories; consisting of or constituted by Tories ; also, having the principles or aims of a Tory ; supported or recognized by the Tory party ; Conservative.

1682 Dryden Loyal Brother Epil. 3 He's neither yet a Whigg nor Tory-Boy. 1682 — Dk. Guise Epil. 44 A kind of Bat..With Tory-Wings, but Whiggish Teeth and Claws. 1689 Evelyn Diary 15 Jan., There was a Tory party (as then so call'd) who were for inviting his Majesty [Jas. II] against upon conditions. 1693 Rokeby Diary 25 Aug., It is a Tory complaint against a Whigg. 1694 Ibid. 2 Apr., A Tory Bigot. 1710 Swift Jrnl. to Stella 5 Dec., [They] drank Mr. Harley's, Lord Rochester's, and other Tory healths. 1721 Addison Spect. No. 81 ¶ 2 [She] has most unfortunately a very beautiful Tory Mouth. 1727 Swift Drapier Let. 4 1734 North Examn. ii. v. (1740) 322 He has split the former Church of England into two Churches, the Tory Church, and the Whig Church of England. 1735–8 Bolingbroke On Parties viii. Wks. 1844 I. 136 This inconsiderable faction could not be deemed the tory party, but received the name of jacobite with more propriety. 1738 — Lett. ii. Patriot King (1750) 165 Men who had sense,..before that moment, thought of nothing, after it, but of setting up a tory King against a whig King. 1776 Pennsylvania Even. Post 18 July 356/1 Yesterday several Tory prisoners were sent to Halifax jail. 1791 Boswell Johnson 11 June an. 1784, We drank 'Church and King' after dinner, with true Tory cordiality. 1820 Scott Ivan. 15 Dec., The Tory interest was weak among the old stagers, where I remember it so strong. 1830 Gen. P. Thompson Exerc. (1842) I. 306 The advice of the English High Church and Tory party has been taken ; and the Bourbons are driven from France. 1886 T. E. Kebbel Hist. Toryism viii. 398 The Tory revival was but the twin sister of the Anglican revival. Ibid. ix. 468 In its defence of the Monarchy, the Church, and the territorial Constitution of the country, the Tory party has never faltered.

b. With various qualifications : see A. 3 b.

1791 Boswell Johnson 11 June an. 1784, A sermon (1772) ..full of high Tory sentiments. 1827 Scott Jrnl. 11 Aug., A High Tory Administration would be a great evil at this time. 1850 Ht. Martineau Hist. Peace II. v. xvii. 445 It was cheering to see..high tory and deep radical chemists helping out one another's information about soils and manures. 1852 Earl Malmesbury 6 Jan. in Lett. Q. Victoria (1908) III. xxiii. 2 The base and infamous attacks made upon the Prince..chiefly..in those papers which represent ultra-Tory or extreme Radical opinions. 1862 Knight Pop. Hist. Eng. VIII. xviii. 320 The expectations of the ultra-Tory party that the Reform Bill [1832] would be repealed. 1895 Oman Hist. Eng. xl. 667 Benjamin Disraeli, ..who combined high Tory notions on Church and State with extreme Radical views on certain questions.

1908 Lett. Q. Victoria I. i. 6 The ultra-Tory party, who had opposed *to the last the Emancipation of the Catholics and the Reform Bill.

2. In extended or transferred senses : see A. 5.

1832 Gen. P. Thompson Exerc. (1842) II. 7 The Catilinarian conspiracy..was manifestly a plot in a green bag, and Cicero a Tory Secretary for the Home Department. 1837 Ibid. IV. 267 To pick holes in the history of the Greek republics, on the strength of the remains of the Tory poets of that time. 1899 R. H. Charles Eschatology v. 162 It [Ecclesiastics] is uncompromisingly tory, and refuses to admit the possibility of the new views as the future life. Ibid. vi. 204 The still orthodox and tory view found in the Old Testament.

C. Phrases and combinations.

1. Used advb. in phr. to talk, vote Tory.

1827 Scott Jrnl. 21 July, Nobody talks Whig or Tory just now. 1912 Ch. Q. Rev. Jan. 42 It had the manhood to stand by his chapel and refuse to vote Tory.

2. Comb., as Tory-Radical sb. and adj.; Tory-Irish, -leaning, -ridden, -voiced adjs.; Tory-Williamite, a Tory who supported or adhered to William III.

1696–7 Rokeby Diary (Surtees) 51 Mr. Ratcliff, sheriff of Devonshire, is a Tory-Williamite. 1834 Tait's Mag. I. 387/2 The Convertor, not on the question of slavery, the black niggers, and the Church, latterly became a sort of Tory-Radical. 1836 K. of Belgians 18 Nov., in Lett. Q. Victoria (1908) I. v. 53 An infamous Radical or Tory-Radical paper, the Constitutional, which seems determined to run down the Coburg family. 1894 Westm. Gaz. 21 Sept. 2/3 Cases like mine, where in Tory-ridden villages the overseers resent both Liberal and women voters. 1898 Ibid. 24 Mar. 2/2 It must in the long run be a new Tory-Irish understanding. 1908 W. Churchill in Nation 7 Mar. 812/2 The pressure of Tory-voiced discontent.

3. Tory Democracy, combination of Toryism with democracy; democracy under Tory leadership; new or democratic Toryism; progressive Conservatism.

1879 Spectator 21 June 776 Tory democracy—Jingoism is its proper name. 1884 Pall Mall G. 29 Nov. 3/2 We would venture to lay very long odds that Tory Democracy is much more likely to come in with a boom than to go out with a fiz. 1885 Gladstone Let. to Ld. Acton 11 Feb. in Morley Life (1903) III. viii. x. 173 'Tory democracy'..is more like the conservative party in which I was bred, than it is like liberalism. In fact less. It is demagogism, only a demagogism..living upon the fomentation of angry passions, and still in secret as obstinately attached as ever to the evil principle of class interests. 1891 Nineteenth Cent. xxix. 248 VI. 346/2 (Lord Randolph Churchill) By this time [1882] he had definitely formulated the policy of progressive Conservatism which was known as 'Tory democracy'. He declared that the Conservatives ought to adopt, rather than oppose, reforms of a popular character, and to challenge the claims of the Liberals to pose as the champions of the masses.

b. So Tory Democrat, one who professes or supports Tory democracy. Also Tory Democratic a.

1863 Daily News 2 Dec., Constitutionalist, tory, and tory democrat, are the names between which their choice lies. 1902 Daily Chron. 29 Aug. 4/5 The policy of the advanced Tory Democratic section. 1903 Westm. Gaz. 14 Jan. 2/2 Recommended..to the electors..on the ground that he is a 'Tory Democrat', in which hybrid political nomenclature he roundly declared 'there is really more of true, old-fashioned Liberalism than in the Liberal Party to-day'. 1910 Encycl. Brit. VI. 976/2 Lord Randolph Churchill called himself a 'Tory democrat'.

Hence (chiefly nonce-wds.) † Tory-oal a. [after historical] = Tory adj.; Tory-dom, the realm or rule of Tories; Tory-ess, a female Tory (in quot. in sense 4); Tory-stic a., inclined to Toryism; Tory-ize v., trans. = Toryfy; Tory-ship (humorous), the personality of a Tory.

1682a Thoresby Diary 14 July, Had some ineffectual discourses..with the Toryical Papists. 1859 W. Chadwick Life St. Pol II. 104 The Tory-dom; and, thanks to Tory-dom, there it remains! 1908 M. Baring Russian Ess., etc. Ded. 12 Here, they thought, was the voice of officialdom, Torydom, and hypocrisy speaking. 1777 Franklin Let. Wks. 1889 VI. 67 You mistake Boys and Toryess as well as you, and can as flippantly call rebel. 1899 Howells in Literature I July 692 By a curious irony of fate he came to stand in later years for something † toryistic to men who were fighting other anti-slavery battles. 1887 Lpool Mercury 5 Jan., He was the first to show that London might be *Toryised. 1890 Pall Mall G. 22 Aug. 2/2 A narrow little clique—fossilized and Toryized to an almost incredible degree. 1793 Parr Let. to Routh 12 June, Wks. 1828 VII. 652 Farewell, and believe me..your *Toryship's friend and servant.

† Tory, v. Obs. [f. Tory sb.]

1. intr. To live as an Irish Tory or outlaw.

1651 G. Rawson Let. 24 Dec. in St. Pads., Irel. CCLXXXII. 201 (C.S.O.) Sir Phil and Cornelius Dillon Tory about Braintree woodes; see that they cannot stirr out of Charlemount but with a considerable strength. 1655 [W. Gookin] Gt. Case Transpl. Irel. 21 Many Inhabitants, who are able to subsist on their Gardens in their present habitations, .. will rather choose the hazard of Torying, than the apparent danger of starving [in Connaught].

2. trans. To becall or nickname Tory.

1681 T. Flatman Heraclitus Ridens No. 34 (1713) I. 228 [They] shall pass for white Boys, and have never a word said to them for Torying, Tantivying and Masquerading his Majesty's most loyal and dutiful Subjects.

Toryfy, torify (tɔ·rifəi), v. humorous. [f. Tory + -fy.] trans. To make a Tory of, convert to Toryism (generally dyslogistic). Hence Tory-fied, Tory-fying ppl. adjs.; also Tory-fica-tion, conversion to Toryism.

1763 Wilkes N. Brit. No. 37 (1766) 212 The strict harmony subsisting between the whigified Tories, the tortified Whigs, and the amphibious North Britons. 1834 Lady Granville Lett. (1894) II. 277 Neither of the Clanricardes seems pleased, or Tory-fied at the news. 1843 Sir G. C. Lewis Lett. 262 Most of his [Gladstone's] High church supporters stick to him, and..he is Liberalizing them, instead of their Torifying him. 1876 G. Meredith Beauch. Career xxviii, Mr. Tuckham was..prophesying the Torification of mankind. 1901 A. Birrell in N. Amer. Rev. Feb. 251 The Torification..of London and of so many of our great towns ..is one of the most striking political facts of recent times. 1902a Academy 11 Jan. 65/2 Lowell was born and bred in a Toryfied old country seat at Elmwood, Cambridge, New England.

Toryish (tɔ·riiʃ), a. [f. Tory sb. or a. + -ish 1.] Somewhat Tory; inclined to Toryism. So To·ry-ishly adv.

1681 T. Flatman Heraclitus Ridens No. 41 (1713) II. 17 The Hectors of the Hectoring, it seems, Toryishly affected, would have two Pence the Dish for true Protestant Coffee. 1684 (Mar. 26) Let. fr. Irel. in T. Hutchinson Hist. Mass. (1764) I. ii. 343 note, I suspect you of the Massachusets, are more whiggish, and your neighbours more toryish, to express it in the language of late in use. 1794 Parr Let. to Routh 22 July, Wks. 1828 VII. 658 Manners which you would call Toryish, because they were at once correct, elegant, and dignified. 1826 New Monthly Mag. Jan. 20 He must not be too whiggish for his Tory customers, nor too toryish for his Whigs. 1876 G. Meredith Beauch. Career xiv, I fancy he is Toryish.

Toryism (tɔ·riiˌizˈm). Also 7–8 Torism. [f. as prec. + -ism.] The principles, practices, and methods of Tories: spec. a. those of the British Tory party; Conservatism.

1682a in Westm. Gaz. 22 Jan. (1909) 2/3 [The Loyal London Mercury declared that it would not go with either] Whigism or Torism. 1711 Medley No. 24, 279 Put Torism instead of it, and it sits exactly in all its Parts. 1713 (title) Torism and Trade can never agree. 1735–8 Bolingbroke Ch. Parties ii. Wks. 1809 III. 47 An Inquiry into the rise and progress of our late parties; or a short history of toryism and whiggism from their cradle to their grave. 1786 Mrs. Piozzi Anecd. Johnson 40 Of Mr. Johnson's toryism he will have long been witness. 1772 Boswell Johnson 22 Mar. an. 1775, I felt all my Toryism glow in this old capital of Staffordshire. Ibid. 3 June an. 1784, Oxford, that magnificent and venerable seat of Learning, Orthodoxy, and Toryism. *c*1832 Borrow in Knapp Life, etc. (1899) I. xiv, 144 The chief reason for Toryism, a reason sufficient by itself, is that within it are comprised love of country and pride of country. 1862 Knight Pop. Hist. Eng. VIII. xxix, 228 The principle of ultra-Toryism. 1885 E. Kebbel Hist. Toryism viii. 335 Lord Beaconsfield carried Toryism into the next stage. Ibid. 337 The Toryism of the future must be popular Toryism or nothing. 1895 Oman Hist. Eng. xlii. 709 Disraeli, seated firmly in power, was able to display the characteristics of the 'New Toryism'. 1910 S. J. Low in Encycl. Brit. VI. 346/2 He was actively spreading the gospel of democratic Toryism in a series of platform campaigns. Ibid. 1 284 the struggle between stationary and progressive Toryism came to a head, and terminated in favour of the latter. 1913 F. E. Smith in Daily Express 12 Feb. 2/4 Not the least potent method of preserving (the State) is to link the conception of State Toryism with the practice of Social Reform.

b. of the American Tories or Loyalists at the War of Independence: see Tory sb. 4.

1777 J. Adams Diary 18 Sept., We are yet in Philadelphia, that mass of cowardice and Toryism. 1888 Bancroft Amer. Commns. III. cliii. 468 Because the Anglican Clergy were prone to Toryism (as attachment to the British connection was called).

c. Applied generally to principles analogous to those of English Toryism: cf. Tory sb. 5.

1832a Gen. P. Thompson Exerc. (1842) II. 7 Why will nobody rewrite Greek and Roman histories, and give us an insight into the Toryism of antiquity? 1837 Ibid. IV. 367 Toryism..is not a thing of modern date, but goes back to the earliest histories. 1837 Arnold Let. 3 Mar., in Life & Corr. (1843) II. 77 I dare said, I would run in a row for 'As in præsenti', perhaps even for 'Propria quæ maribus'. Is not this a laudable specimen of Toryism?

Torymid (tɔ·rimid), a. and sb. Entom. [f. mod.L. Torymidæ pl., f. Torymus, name of the typical genus: see -id 3.] a. adj. Of or pertaining to the Torymidæ, a group of chalcididan parasitic hymenoptera. b. sb. An insect of this group.

1895 Camb. Nat. Hist. V. 547 Some of these Torymid figwasps have winged males, as is normal in the family.

Toryn, obs. f. torn, pa. pple. of Tear v.[1]

† To·ry-ro·ry, a. (adv.) Obs. [Origin obscure: perhaps orig. a reduplication or riming expansion of rory, Roary, f. Roar sb. or v. The Eng. Dial. Dict. cites it from S. Lancash. as meaning 'a state of hurry or excitement'. After 1680 it was sometimes abusively associated with Tory sb.; but there can hardly have been any original connexion. Reference to the Irish tories or outlaws and marauders is chronologically possible, but not evidenced.]

1. Roaring, uproarious, roistering, boisterous; in quots. 1694, 1716 with allusion to Tory A. 2, 3.

1678 Dryden Limberham I. i, And, before George, I grew tory rory, as they say. Ibid. IV. i, Sing like nightingales, you tory-rory ladies. 1678 Otway Friendship in F. II. i, Methinks you look like two as roring, ranting tory rory Sparks as one would wish to meet withal. [1681 O. Heywood Diaries, etc. 24 Oct., Theres a book called the character of a Tory written, A Tory, a Whory, a Rogue, a Scory, a Sory.] 1694 Motteux Rabelais v. Pantagr. Progn. v. 237 Swaggering Huffsnuffs, ..Tory-rory Rakes and Tantivy-boys. 1716 M. Davies Athen. Brit. II. 337 From a Tory-Rory-Boy, he is become a cool-temper'd Wig.

2. Ruffianly (like the Irish tories, or Judge Jeffreys).

1682a Mrs. Behn City Heiress 52 Some damn'd Tory-rory Rogues, to rob a man at his Prayers! 1882a Parr Let. to Hill 25 Jan., Wks. 1828 VII. 605 Servile and corrupt judges, prejudiced and perjured juries, merciless jailors and a tory-rory hangman.

B. adv. In a roaring or uproarious manner; boisterously, rantingly, roisteringly.

It may have been the name of a rowdy song or tune.

1664 Cotton Scarron. iv. (1715) 97 Roaring and drinking tory-rory. [1667 Dryden & Davenant Tempest iv. iii, I found her an hour ago under an elder tree,..singing Tory Rory, and Raritum Scantum, with her own natural brother.] 1673 Shadwell Ignoro Wells ii. i, We were at it Tory Rory, and Sung old Rose, the Song that you love so.

Hence † To·ry-ro·ry v. Obs., intr. to behave uproariously.

1685 Crowne Sir C. Nice iv. 43 Well the house is our own, and the Night our own,..we'l Tory-rory, and 'tis—a fine Night, we'l Revel in the Garden.

† To-sa·me, to-sa·men, adv. Obs. Forms: 1 tosomne, tosamne, 2–3 to somne, (Orm.) tosamenn, 2–4 to same, 3 to somnen, 3–4 to samen, 4 to samyn. [OE. tōsamne, tōsomne, f. tō, To prep. + Samen together. Cf. OFris. to samene, OS. tō samane, te samne (MDu. te-samen, Du. samen), OHG. saman, zi samane (MHG. zesamene, Ger. zusammen); also ON. til-samans.

The element samen represents an orig. sb., of which saman, samane, samans were case-forms: cf. Skr. samana concourse, assembly, samana adv. together; also OIr. samain assembly, the Tara-festival.]

Together; into or in one body or company.

*c*893 K. Ælfred Oros. iv. xi. § 9 Raðe þæs þe hi tosomne comon. 971 Blickl. Hom. 191 Þa comon þær tosamne unarimedlico menigeo. *c*1000 Ælfric Hom. II. 100 Moyses feðe feowertig daga and feowertig nihta tosamne. *c*1200 Trin. Coll. Hom. 23 Roðe to same þe sowle and þe lichame. *c*1200 Ormin 649 Forþi shulenn alle þa..Tosamenn standenn att te dom. *c*1205 Lay. 8907 To-somnen we scullen gliden. *c*1315 Shoreham i. 116 Crist is mid ous to-same. 13.. Cursor M. 11461 (Cott.) And dis he suith to samen call þe maisters of his kingrik all. *c*1375 Ibid. 3073 (Fairf.) To-samyn dwelled þai bare.

† To·sapholth (tɔ·safəlθ). Also tosafoth. [Heb. תוֹסָפוֹת tōsāphōth, pl. of תוֹסֶפֶת tōsāphāh addition, f. יסף yāsaph to add.] Critical and explanatory notes on the Talmud. Hence To·saphist (-fist), a writer of tosapholth.

1887 H. Adler in Papers Anglo-Jewish Hist. Exhib. 272 The marvellously exhaustive list of Tosafists (authors of comments on the Talmud) contained in Zunz's 'Zur Geschichte und Literatur'.

† To·sard. Obs. Some kind of fire-wood, or a form in which it was sold in 14th to 16th c.

1336 in Rogers Agric. & Prices (1866) II. 396 (Farley, Surrey) Tosards 1250 at 2/- [Ibid. 393 note, Tosards..are sold by the hundred]. 1339 Ibid., Tosards 50 at 5/. 1341 Ibid., Tosards 1000 at 3/-. 1429 Ibid. III. 257 (Charles & Rowhill) Tosards 15c at 2/-. 1550 in Strype Stow's Surv. (1755) II. v. xxii. 422/2 If any Freeman of this City use to resort into the Countries near to this City, and there to ingross and buy up much Billet, tall Wood, Faggot, Tosard, or other Fire-wood.

‖ Tosca (tɒ·skā). Also tosco, toska. [Sp. tosca, fem. of tosco coarse.] A soft dark-brown limestone occuring embedded and sometimes stratified in the surface formation of the Pampas.

Also applied to various lavas in southern Italy and Sicily; and in Colombia, S. America, to a surface rock of supposed volcanic origin (Cent. Dict.).

1818 Amer. St. Papers, For. Relat. (1834) IV. 277 This concretion, as it projects along the water's edge of the Rio de la Plata at the city of Buenos Ayres, is called tosco, or rough earth. 1846 Darwin Geol. Observ. S. America iv. 77 For convenience sake, I will call the marly rock by the name given to it by the inhabitants, namely, Tosca-rock. 1859 Page Handbk. Geol. Terms, Tosca-Rock, a name given by the inhabitants of Buenos-Ayres to a marly calcareous rock found imbedded in layers and nodular masses among the argillaceous earth or mud of the Pampas.

Toscan, obs. or alien form of Tuscan.

† To·sca·tter, v. Obs. [ME. to-scater-en, f. To- [2] + scateren, Scatter v.] trans. To scatter abroad, disperse.

1382 Wyclif Chron. xxxiv. 7 Whanne the auters he hadde to-scaterede..he is turned aȝein in to Jerusalem. — Ezr. vi. 5 To-scatere wen ther houses. *c*1386 Chaucer Sompn. T. 261 Lo ech thyng that is oned in it selue Is moore strong than whan it is toscatered. 1494 Fabyan Chron. vii. ccxvii. 236 Lastely Harolde was wounded in the ye with an arowe, & was slayne, and his people to scatered.

b. intr. To part asunder, go to pieces. rare.

13.. Cast. Love (Halliw.) 1556 Castell, toure, boure ne halle, But thei shulle to-skatur and downfalle.

Toschach, Tosche: see Toshach, Tush.

To-schrape, To-set: see To- pref.[1], 2.

Tose, Toser, etc.: see Toze v.[1], Tozer.

Tose, obs. f. tees, pl. of Toe.

Tosh (tɒʃ), sb.[1] School slang. A bath; a footpan. Also tosh-can, -pan.

1881 Leathes in Pascoe Life Publ. Sch. ii. 20 A 'tosh' pan ..is also provided. 1883 Tosh-can [see Tosh v.[1]]. 1905 H. A. Vachell The Hill i, We call a tub a tosh. Ibid. iii, His feet were thrust into a 'tosh' filled with steaming water.

Tosh (tɒʃ), sb.[2] slang. Bosh, trash; nonsense, rubbish, twaddle; in Cricket, see quot. 1898.

1892a Oxf. Univ. Mag. 26 Oct. 26/1 To think what I've gone through to hear that man! Frightful tosh it'll be, too. 1898 Tit-Bits 25 June 252/3 Among the recent neologisms of the cricket field is 'tosh', which means bowling of contemptible easiness. 1906 E. V. Lucas Listener's Lure (1909) 36 This London business seems to me the most awful tosh.

Hence Toshy (tɒ̍ʃi). a. slang, trashy, rubbishy.
1902 Belloc Path to Rome 163 The poor public.. is driven back to toshy novels about problems, written by cooks.

Tosh, a. (adv.) Sc. [Origin not ascertained.]
1. Neat, clean, tidy, trim.
1776 D. Herd Coll. Songs Gloss., Tosh, tight, neat. 1794 Ritson Scot. Songs I. 99, I gusg my tou clean and fou tosh, As a' the neighbours can tell. 1823 J. Wilson Trials Margt. Lyndsay xxxiii. 271 The hedges will do—I clipped them wi' my ain hands..and, nae doubt, they make the avenue look a hantle tosher.
2. Agreeable, comfortable; friendly, intimate.
1821 Blackw. Mag. X. 4 We were a very tosh and agreeable company. 1887 Suppl. to Jamieson, s. v., 'They're unco tosh wi' ither'.
B. as adv. = Toshly (see below).
1780 Mayne Siller Gun x xxiii, Sweether your arms; o I ha'd them tosh on, And not athraw! 1828 Moir Mansie Wauch vi, Matters were..settled full tosh between us.

Hence To·shly adv., neatly, tidily, trimly; snugly; To·shy a., neat, tidy, pretty.
1788 Picken Poems 176 Row't toshly up, an' frankest. 1827 J. Wilson Nect. Ambr. Wks. 1855 II. 21 Phrenologists ..hae nae slicht o' haun in curlin their hair toshly. 1896 J. Ballantine Poems 47 And see how it's keepit sae toshy and clean. 1881 Jessie Simpson in Mod.Sc. Poets III. 263 Nae mair wee toshie feet to bath, nor gowden locks to klaim.

Tosh (tɒʃ), sb.[1] Sc. [Tosh a.] trans. To make 'tosh'; to tidy, trim.
1826 J. Wilson Noct. Ambr. Wks. 1855 I. 266 Hoo she wad try to tosh up..her breest. 1886 A. Wardrop Mid Cauther Pair 9 Let's tosh yer plaid a wee.

Tosh, v.[2] School slang. [f. Tosh sb.[1]] a. trans. To splash, souse. b. intr. To bath, 'tub'.
1883 J. P. Groves Pr. Cadet to Capt. iii. 22[1] 'Toshing' was the name given to a punishment inflicted by the cadets on any one of their number who made himself obnoxious. The victim, dressed in full uniform, was forced to run the gauntlet of his brother cadets, who, as he passed, emptied the contents of their 'tosh-cans' (small baths holding about three gallons of water) over the wretched lad's head. 1903 Farmer & Henley Slang s.v., He toshed his house beak by mistake, and got three hundred. 1905 H. A. Vachell The Hill i, I believe he toshes me—once a month or so.

Tosh, obs. and dial. form of Tush, tusk.

Toshach, -och, toschach, phonetized forms of Toiseach.
1836 W. F. Skene Highl. Scot. (1902) II. vi. 289 Toshoch being unquestionably the title anciently applied to the oldest cadets of the different clans. 1861 C. Innes St. Early Scot. Hist. 356 The magistrate and head man of a little district known among his Celtic neighbours as the Toshach. 1872 — Lect. Scot. Legal Antiq. iii. 97 Some of the inferior executors of the law had Celtic names long preserved as Maor and Toschach.

† To-sha·ke, v. Obs. Forms: see Shake v. [OE. tosceacan, i. To-2 + sceacan, Shake v.]
1. trans. To shake to pieces, shake asunder; to disperse or destroy by shaking.
a 1000 Gloss. in Wr.-Wülcker 214/34 Concutit, i. turbat, terreat, toscæcþ. c 1000 Ælfric Hom. I. 570 He ða tosceoc þone lig of ðam ofne. a 1250 Owl & Night. 1647 þu seyst þat gromes be ivoþ..& þe to wrichep & to schakep. 13.. Sir Beues (A.) 742 Man and houndes, þat he tok Wip his tokes he al to-schok. 1382 Wyclif Isa. xxiv. 20 With shaking shal be to-shaken the erthe. c 1440 Pallad. on Husb. ii. 240 The shaken tigges a depper delt desireth And larger space, as wynd may hem to shake. 1584 R. Scot Disc. Witcher. xii. xviii. (1886) 222 In the blood of Adam death was taken, In the blood of Christ it was all to shaken.
2. intr. To tremble, quiver, shiver violently.
a 1300 Cursor M. 22552 All þe erbe it sal toscak. 1303 R. Brunne Handl. Synne 2508 He broghte on þat brynnyng croke, A brennyng soule þat al to-shoke. 14.. Gosp. Nicodemus 797 þe erth trembled and al toschoke. 1508 Dunbar Gold. Targe 232 With the blast the leuis all to-schake.

† To-sha·tter, v. Obs. [ME. f. To-2 + Shatter v.] trans. To break into small pieces.
1494 Fabyan Chron. vi. cxliii. 156 Whan yᵉ shote was spent and the sperys to shateryd, than bothe hoostis ran to gyther with Rowlandys songe, so yᵉ in shorte whyle the grene feelde was dyved into a parfyte redde.

† To-she·d, v. Obs. Forms: see Shed v.[1] [OE. tosceddan, f. To-2 + sceddan, Shed v.[1]: = OHG. za-, zisceidan.] trans. To separate, divide, diffuse, scatter, part; to divide, as discriminate, discern, distinguish.
c 888 K. Ælfred Boeth. xxxiv. § 3 Æle þing þe tosceaþed biþ from oðrum biþ oðer, oþer þæt þing. Ibid. xl. § 7 Se þe gesceadwisnisse hæfð, se mæg deman & tosceadan hwæs he wilniþan scead. c 1000 Ælfric Hom. II. 106 He toscæt hi on twa, swa swa scephyrde toscæt scep fram gatum. c 1200 Ormin 19862 Forr þatt he wollde hire & te king Todeleem & tosshedenn. c 1205 Lay. 30262 He nom his lauerdes hefd..& his lockes he to-scæddde. 1387 Trevisa Higden (Rolls) III. 241 Leonida..fil vppon the oper deel anyst.. and to schad hem euerich oon from oper. 1398 — Barth. De P. R. xix. xiv. (Bodl. MS.) lf. 295 b/2 Depe rede toschedeþ þe sip as ille doþ.e.
b. intr. To divide, separate, fall apart.
c 1330 R. Brunne Chron. Wace (Rolls) 6276 So þat þe Romayns route to-schadde, & dide hem to þe hauene fle. 1387 Trevisa Higden (Rolls) I. 133 þe hepes of graueł to schedeþ and to falleþ.

† To-she·nd, v. Obs. [f. To-2 + Shend v.] trans. To ruin or destroy utterly.
1382 Wyclif Ps. lvi. [lvii.] 1 In to the ende, ne destroye thou or shend [v.r. to-sheende] Dauid. c 1425 Cast. Persev. 794 in Macro Plays 102 Now schal careful Couetyse, Mankende trewly al to-schende. c 1500 Lancelot 1221 His face was al to-hurt and al to-schend.

† To-she·ne, v. Obs. Forms: 1 to-scēnan, 3 to-scænen, to-scenen, to-schenen. [OE. to-scēnan, f. To-2 + scēnan to break: see Shene.] trans. To break or dash to pieces; also, to disperse, break up (an army).
c 950 Lindisf. Gosp. Mark v. 4 Ða fattro þe forbræc vel toscæende [c 975 Rushw. feoturo..toscænde]. — John xix. 36 Ban ne to-scænas vel ni gebræcaþ ze from him. c 1000 Ælfric Saints' Lives xxiii. 496 Ne furðon an ban næfde he nid ,ofrum, ac toscænede ofer call þagon. a 1250 Owl & Night. 1120 Stones hi doþ in heore slytte..& þine fule bon toschenep.
b. intr. To come or break in pieces.
c 1205 Lay. 2309 Al þu scalt to-scænde Mid scearpe mire eaxe. Ibid. 2315 þe stan al to-scænde. c 1275 Ibid. 4537 Sip orn to-þein sip þat hit al to-scende.

Tosher[1] (tɒ̍ʃə). Thieves' Cant. A Thames thief who purloins copper sheathing from the bottoms of vessels in the river or from the docks. So To·shing, the practice of a 'tosher'.
1859 Slang Dict., Tosheres, men who steal copper from ships' bottoms in the Thames. 1862 Smyth Sailor's Wordbk., Toshing, a cant word for stealing copper sheathing from vessels' bottoms, or from dock-yard stores.

To·sher [2]. [Origin uncertain; ? from Tosh v.[2]] A small fishing smack.
1885 Daily Tel. 26 Nov. (Farmer), A tosher is a long-shore driver, though the little vessels are employed in catching what they can close into the land. 1891 Daily News 10 Oct. 4 Time after time her stout-hearted skipper thrashed the smaller craft (she is but a 'tosher' of 23 tons, carrying only three hands), to windward.

Tosher [3] (tɒ̍ʃə). Underprivileged slang. [A humorous deformation from unattached: cf. Footer sb.[1] 3 b, Rugger [2], Socker, etc.] An 'unattached' or non-collegiate student at a university having residential colleges.
1889 Durham Univ. Jrnl. 9 Nov. 216 The 'toshers' as they are called in 'Varsity slang—the term is a corruption of the word 'unattached'—have been looked down upon in the past. 1891 Duncan Amer. Girl in Lond. 214 The man ..being an unattached student, a 'tosher'. 1897 Blackw. Mag. May 724 A third deemed that the millennium had arrived with the advent to Oxford of the humble 'tosher'.

† To·shi·ft, v. Obs. Forms: see Shift v. [OE. tosciftan, f. To-2 + sciftan to divide, Shift.] trans. To divide, separate, distribute.
c 1122 O. E. Chron. an. 1083 pe cyng let to scyfton þone here ȝeond all þis land to his mannon. Ibid. an. 1095. He.. into Wealan ferde & his fyrde to scyfte. c 1315 Shoreham i. 721 For þer he hys, he hys al y-hol Ne mey me hym toschifte. 1387 Trevisa Higden (Rolls) I. 97 Noher water noher fire mys-ham to schifte noher to dele. Ibid. II. 251 Pere..þe longages and tonges of þe bulders were i-schad and to schift. c 1400 tr. Higden (Rolls) VII. 528 (MS. B) So þei beth departed and to schifte [y schift] atweyne.

† To·shi·ver, v. Obs. Also to-shever. [f. To-2 + Shiver v. So MHG. ze-, zer-schivern.]
1. trans. To break into shivers, shatter, splinter.
c 1200 Trin. Coll. Hom. 113 Ure helende..also shivede þe ȝisten and in wende. c 1300 [See To-crush]. c 1435 Torr. Portugal 1172 Hors and man down he bore, And alle to-sheverd his shield. 1470–85 Malory Arthur ii. x. 87 They..smoten ȝoders and al to sheuered their speres.
2. intr. To fly to shivers, break into splinters.
13.. K. Alis. 2728 The scharpe spere gynneth al toschivere. c 1381 Chaucer Parl. Foules 493 The noyse of ffoules..So loude rongeᵗ..þat wele y wenᵗ þe wode had Al toshiuered. Alto-shyuered. c 1450 Syr Gener. (Roxb.) 5156 His sheld to-sheuered euen in twoo. c 1530 Ld. Berners Arth. Lyt. Bryt. (1814) 270 Bothe theyr speres all to sheuered to theyr fystes.

† To·shoo·t, to·she·te, v. Obs. [OE. tosceotan, f. To-2 + sceotan, Shoot v. Cf. MHG. zeschiezen, Ger. zerschiessen to destroy by shooting.]
1. intr. To spring apart; to burst asunder.
c 1000 Ælfric Hom. II. 352 þa toscuton ða deofla sona þe me mid heora tangum ȝelæcean woldon. c 1122 O. E. Chron. an. 1083, þa munecas..to scuton, sume urnon in to cyrcean. 1340–70 Alisaunder 1008 þe ai [=egg] fell on þe flore..And þe shell to-shet on þe schire grounde.
To-shred, To-skair, To-skill: see To-pref.[2] 1.

Toshy, a.[1], [2]: see under Tosh sb.[2], a.

Tosie, Tosily, Tosiness: see Tosy.

Tosk, dial. var. Torsk. Toske, obs. f. Tusk.

† To·slay·, v. Obs. Forms: see Slay. [OE. tosleán, f. To-2 + sleán to strike, Slay. So OS. te-slahan; OFris. to-slâ, OHG. za-, zi-slahan, MHG. zerslahen, zerslân, Ger. zerschlagen.] trans. To strike or knock to pieces; to strike down violently; also, to kill outright.
a 700 Epinal Gloss. (O. E. T.) 195 Concidit, tisloz. c 725 Corpus Gloss. 516 Tosloz. c 893 K. Ælfred Oros. iv. ii. § 2 Punor tosloz heora hiehstan godes hus Iofeses. c 1000 Ælfric Hom. II. 490 Swiðlic wind..tosloh þæt hus. c 1430 Syr Tryam. 372 Why dyd he the to-slon? 14.. Sir Beues (C.) 2972 And had caste on hym venome, And the knyght all to-sloon.

† To-sli·ft, v. Obs. rare[−1]. [ME. tosliftte(n, deriv. vb. f. OE. to-sliftan to split, cleave, cut to pieces: cf. Slive v.[1]] trans. To break to pieces.
c 1315 Shoreham i. 726 To-slyfte A myrour þou myȝt fol wel, Bote naught þe ymage schifte.

† To-sli·t, v. Obs. [ME. to-slitte(n, f. To-2 + slitte(n, Slit v.] trans. To slit open, split.
a 1250 Owl & Night. 694 Ac ȝif hat he forlost his wit, Þonne is his red purs al tosilt. c 1300 Seyn Julian (Ashm.) 246 þe bones hi to slitte & þe marw out drowe. c 1400 Laud Troy Bk. 16808 Many a baly schet ther rittes And many a scheld sche al to-schittes. 14.. Sir Beues (M.) 520 There was no sarzin, that hym hitte, But he is body all to-slit.

To-slive, To-smite, To-sparple, etc.: see To- pref.[2]

To-souse (all to souse): see All C. 15, and Souse v.[1]

† To-spread, v. Obs. Forms: see Spread v. [OE. tospriédan, f. To-2 + sprédan, Spread v. So OHG. za-, zi-, zarspreitan, MHG. ze-, zerspreiten.] trans. To spread abroad, spread open; to expand, stretch out; also, to disperse, scatter.
a 1000 in Teckmer's Zeitschr. II. 122 (B.-T.) Tospræd Sine fingras. c 1200 Trin. Coll. Hom. 21 His holie lichame was tospred on þe holie rode. Ibid. 205 Was to sprad. a 1225 Ancr. R. 402 To luuien þene king of blisse þet to-spret so touward on his ermes. 1297 R. Glouc. (Rolls) 4317 þo þe romeynes..to sprutebloom her & per. 1300 Gower Conf. II. 260 With..fot al bare, Hir her tosprad sche gan to fare.

† To-spri·ng, v. Obs. [OE. tospringan, f. To-2 + springan, Spring v. So OHG. zispringan, MHG. ze-, zerspringen; Ger. zerspringen.] intr. To spring apart; to burst asunder.
c 1000 Ælfric Hom. II. 156 Se niðfulla deofol..wearp ða mæne tan to ðære bellan, þæt heo eall tosprang. Ibid. 382 þæt [isene ȝeat] tosprang þæræhte him togeanes. 1303 R. Brunne Handl. Synne 10672 þe bondes to-braste, and alle to-sprunge. c 1320 Cast. Love 593 Er him ouste þe herte to springe þe scholde him wraþþe for eny pinge. c 1400 St. Alexius 1020 Myne herte wil to-springe.

† To-squa·t, v. Obs. [ME. f. To-2 + Squat v.] trans. To flatten, crush, squash.
c 1325 Poem Times Edw. II (Percy) lxxii, Trechery is imeynteynd And trewth is al tosqwat. a 1380 St. Ambrose 544 in Horstm. Altengl. Leg. (1878) 16 Wip seknes he was al to squat. c 1386 Wyclif Wks. (1880) 401 She shal al to-squatte þyn heed. 14.. Sir Beues (A.) 1129 Arondel..Wip his binder for him smot þat he al tosquat is brain.

Toss (tɒs), sb.[1] [f. Toss v.] An act of tossing.
1. A pitching up and down or to and fro.
1634 Sir T. Herbert Trav. Ded., This poore Barque.. hath endurde many tosses at Sea, and is now tost on Land. 1801 Southey Thalaba xi. xi, The little boat rides rapidly, And pitches now with shorter toss Upon the narrower swell. a 1849 Sir R. Wilson in Life (1862) I. iii. 139 The continual toss almost made me mad. 1859 Habits Gd. Soc. ix. 286 The man who gives your hand one toss, as if he were ringing the dinner-bell.
† 2. A state of agitation or commotion. Obs.
1666 Pepys Diary 2 June, This put us at the Board into a tosse. 1667 Ibid. 10 Oct., Lord! what a tosse I was for some time in. c 1724 Swift Lett. (1828) II. 319 You can easily imagine what a toss I was in, to lie about a week aboard the ship for want of pratique. 1837 Longf. in Life (1891) I. 278 The Little-Pedlington community of Boston is in a great toss, first about the college, and then about Dr. Channing and the abolitionists.
3. An act of casting, pitching, throwing, or hurling; a throw, a pitch. Full toss, in Cricket, the delivery of a ball which does not touch the ground in its flight between the wickets.
1660 F. Brooke tr. Le Blanc's Trav. 119 The Criminal.. expected death, a tosse or two at the least. 1833 Nyren Yng. Cricketer's Tutor 8 By one stroke from a toss that he hit behind him, we got ten runs. 1862 Pycroft Cricket Tutor 52 Some balls of a loose sort—Volleys, Long-hops, and Tosses.
4. A sudden jerk; esp. a quick upward or backward movement of the head.
1696 Devnen Man of Mode Epil. 22 His various modes from various fathers follow; One taught the toss, and one the new French wallow. 1718 Free-thinker No. 17 ¶ 8 She throws up her Head with a scornful Toss. 1836 I. Gilbert Chr. Ancestors viii. (1898) 242 The question is dismissed from the minds of some with an indignant toss. 1848 Thackeray Van. Fair xlviii, She walked in..with a toss of the head which would have befitted an empress.
† 5. A bout, an encounter. Sc. Obs.
1730 T. Boston Mem. n. (1899) 316, I had a toss with Mr. Murray, he affirming and I denying that I had given them ground by word or deed. 1730 — View of this & other World (1799) 399 You may get enough ado even to die through a vehement toss of sickness.
6. An act of tossing a coin: see Toss v. 9, 14; a decision arrived at by this means: see toss-up in 10, and cf. Pitch and Toss.
1798 T. Jefferson Writ. IV. 227 The question of war and peace depends now on a toss of cross and pile. 1838 De Morgan Probabilities 75 Let us find the probability that, out of 200 tosses with a halfpenny, there shall be exactly 100 heads and 100 tails. 1859 All Year Round No. 13. 305 The town won the toss for innings. 1876 Geo. Eliot Dan. Der. xxviii, I don't care a toss where you are. 1887 L. Stephen in Dict. Nat. Biog. XI. 46/2 They..decided by the toss of a halfpenny that Concanen should defend the ministry.
7. The throwing off of homing pigeons in a trial of their flight and homing powers.
1897 Westm. Gaz. 1 June 9/2 As some of the 'tosses' numbered 6,000 birds at one time, the sight was a remarkable one. 1899 G. J. Larner in Notes Genl. XLV. 8/9 The first of these two experimental tosses took place on the 17th of December last year.
† 8. (?) A payment. Obs.
1630 Massinger Picture II. ii, Yet, not to take From the magnificence of the King, I will Dispense his bounty too, but as a page To wait on mine: for other tosses, take A hundred-thousand crowns.
9. A measure for sprats: see quot.
1851 Mayhew Lond. Labour I. 69/2 They [sprats] are sold at Billingsgate by the 'toss' or 'chuck', which is about half a bushel, and weighs from 40 lbs. to 50 lbs.
10. Toss-up. The throwing up of a coin to arrive at a decision: see Toss v. 14.

27.. Laws of Cricket in Grace Cricket (1891) 14 The party that wins the toss-up shall go in first at his option. 1862-12 BENTHAM Ration. Judic. Evidc. (1827) V. 64 What charity-boy..was ever at a loss to know that the toss-up of a half-penny was worth a farthing. 1868 'S. DARYL' Quolts & Bowls 48 A toss-up decides which party is to play first.

b. fig. A chance where the probability either way is equal; an even chance. colloq.

1809 MALKIN Gil Blas xi. vii. (Rldg.) 407 It is a toss up who fails and who succeeds. 1844 DICKENS Mart. Chuz. xii, It was a toss-up with Tom Pinch whether he should laugh or cry. 1862 J. SKELTON Naggs Crit. vi. 253 It is generally the merest 'toss-up' what verdict the..critic pronounces on any work. 1888 Times (weekly ed.) 14 Sept. 15/1 It was a toss up whether Lord Salisbury was going to offer them an Irish Government or a Coercion Act.

Toss, sb.[2] dial. [A variant of TASS 1.] A heap, stack; = TASS 1.

1695 KENNETT Par. Antiq. II. Gloss. s.v. Thassare, To lay up hay or corn into a tass, toss, stack or mow. Ibid., A mow of corn in a barn is called in Kent the toss. 1847-78 HALLIWELL, Toss, the mow or hay of a barn into which the corn is put preparatory to its being threshed.

†Toss, sb.[3], var. of or misprint for TASS 2.

1658 FRYER Acc. E. India & P. 231 A Silver Toss, or Cup. Ibid. 399 Bowls of Wine,..most of Silver, some of Gold, which we call a Toss, and is made like a Wooden Dish.

Toss (tŏs), v. Pa. t. and pple. tossed (tŏst), also 6– tost. [In use soon after 1500, and current in nearly all its senses by 1550. Origin uncertain: the only cognate word appears to be the Norw. and Sw. dialect tosza to spread, strew (Aasen); Welsh tosio is from Eng.]

I. trans. 1. To throw, pitch, or fling about, here and there, or to and fro: expressing the action of wind or wave, or the light, careless, or disdainful action of a person, on something easily moved.

1506 GUYLFORDE Pilgr. (Camden) 73 Howbeit the wrought sees tossyd and rolled vs ryght greuously. 1526 TINDALE Matt. xiv. 24 The shippe was in the middes of the see, and was toost with waves. – Jas. i. 6 Lyke the waves off the see, tost off the wynde. 1529 Pilgr. Perf. (W. de W. 1531) 30 Not restynge, they dyd cary the & tosse the from place to place. 1693 Miracles Our Saviour in FERT S. P. Jas. I (1846) 356 The Shaking ships amid the seas tyost. 1634 SIR T. HERBERT Trvels. 79 The shippes were tossed they know not where. 1782 COWPER Parrot 1, A native of the gorgeous east, By many a billow tost. 1852 THACKERAY Esmond II. vii, Mistress Beatrix..tossing her rustling flowing dressing about her, and quitting the room followed by her mother. 1887 BOWEN Virg. Æneid I. 524 We Troy's ill-starred sons, long tossed by the winds on the deep.

b. fig. or in fig. context.

1545 BRINKLOW Compl. 21 b, How men be tossed from one corner to another. Ibid. 59 b, He that denyeth them but one grote..how will thei tosse hym in the lawe. 1569 W. SAMUEL viii Chapter of Job ii, Both night and day they haue their toyl With work and drearnes itost. 1592 G. HARVEY Pener Lett. iii. Wks. (Grosart) I. 238 He tost his imagination a thousand waies. 1611 BIBLE Eph. iv. 14 That we..be no more children, tossed to and fro, and carried about with eurry winde of doctrine. 1633 P. FLETCHER Purple Isl. xii. iii, Though it seemes tosseling rowe, Tost up and down in waves of worldly floud. 1727 GAY Fables i. xvi. 17 Here, there, by various fortune tost. 1823 CHALMERS Serm. I. 245 This unhappy man thus tost and bewildered and thrown into a general uncasiness and frenzy. 1864 MISS H. WOOD Mrs. Hallib. Troub. I. 3, I have been tossed about a good deal of late years.

†2. To turn over and over, to turn the leaves of (a book, etc.). Obs.

1555 W. WATKEMAN Fardle Facions Ded. 2 The searche of wisedome and verticie, for whose sake either we tosse, or ought to tosse so many papers and tongues. 1579 LYLY Euphues (Arb.) 99, I will to Athens, there to tosse my books. 1581 PETRIE Guazzo's Civ. Conv. III. (1586) 159 Whether in tossing our your bookes, you have light vpon that place where Cicero giueth a nip to his daughter. 1597 MORLEY Introd. Mus. Pref., What labour it was to tomble, tosse, and search so manie bookes. 1730 T. BOSTON Mem. xi. (1850) 373 The huge toil in tossing lexicons and the Hebrew concordance.

3. To shake, shake up, stir up.

1557 N. T. (Genev.) Matt. xxiv. 29 The powers of heaven shall be tossed. 1610 HOLLAND Camden's Brit. (1637) 208 Thomas..was much tossed and shaken. 1811 Oya & Yelled I. 205 She tossed the cup after breakfast, and read the fortunes of the maid-servants. 1834 M. SCOTT Cruise Midge (1859) 291 A tall solitary pain shot up and tossed its wide spreading fan like leaves in the wind.

†b. To fling (hay, wool, etc.) abroad, so as to loosen the mass. Obs. exc. as in 1.

1557 TUSSER 100 Points Husb. xci, With tossing and raking, and setting on cox: The grasse that was grene, is now hay for an ox. 1573 – Husb. (1878) 131 No turning or tossing till seynge ye make..By turning and tossing they shed as they lie. 1581 A. HALL Iliad vi. 118 Of some Greeke thou shalt become the slaue Who to his country shal thee leade to tease and tosse his wul.

c. Tin-refining. (See quot.)

1884 C. G. W. LOCK Workshop Receipts Ser. III. 452/1 The refining [of tin] may be divided into two stages, liquation and tossing...The same effect is sometimes produced by' tossing' or raising the metal in ladles, and pouring, from some height through the air, back again into the pan.

¶ d. Tin-refining. Errcn. used for TOSS v.[2] q.v.

4. fig. To disturb or agitate socially or politically.

1552 ASCHAM Germany 36 Cesar..also tossed the whole world with battle & slaughter, even almost from the sun setting into the sun rising. 1618 BOLTON Florus (1636) 250 Hee tossed both Seas, and land with mixture of his miseries. 1796 BURKE Regic. Peace II. Wks. VIII. 252 The..speculator Harrington, who has tossed about society into all forms.

b. To disquiet or agitate in mind; to set in commotion, as by shifting opinions, feelings, circumstances, or influences; to disturb, disorder.

1526 Pilgr. Perf. (W. de W. 1531) 172 b, To be exercised and tossed in dyuerse temptacions. 1561 T. NORTON Calvin's Inst. I. 53 Contrary motions do tosse and diuersly draw his soule. 1590 SPENSER F. Q. I. i. 55 That troublous dreame gan freshly tosse his braine. 1632 LITHGOW Trav. V. 199 Thus was I tost..With straughtig doubts. 1833 HN. MARTINEAU Tale of Tyne iv, The seamen were tossed in spirit through fear of the press gang. 1834 J. MACDONALD in Tweedie Life iii. (1849) 238 My mind is tossed by various considerations.

II. intr. (Related to I.)

†5. To be in mental agitation or distraction; to be disquieted in mind or circumstances. Obs.

1509 HAWES Past. Pleas. ii. (Percy Soc.) 14 So forthe I went, tossynge on my brayne. 1513 MORE Rich. III, Wks. 35/1 Katheryne whiche longe tyme tossed in either fortune sometime in wealth, otte in adversitie. 1582 N. LICHEFIELD tr. Castanheda's Conq. E. Ind. I. viii. 20 b, The Captaine generall and the other Captaines thus tossing vp and downe, to and fro, as well with their ships, as also in their mindes, determined to beare towards the Ilands of Mombassa.

6. a. for refl. To fling or jerk oneself about; to move about restlessly.

1560 BIBLE (Genev.) Job vii. 4, I am euen full from tossing to and fro vnto the dawning of the day. 1575 Gamm. Gurton I. v. 22 See how Hodg lieth tomblynge and tossing amids the flours. 1638 JUNIUS Painted Antiquity 24 Burning fevers shall leave you lyeing in your sownes, if you tosse in woven imagerie,..than if you lie under..ordinarie coverings. 1754 GRAY Pleasure 45 Wretch, that long has tost On the thorny bed of Pain. 1886 Trip Cat xix, The child was tossing and turning and talking in her sleep.

b. for pass. To be flung or rocked about; to be kept in motion; to be agitated.

1582 [see 5]. 1596 SHAKS. Merch. V. I. 1. 8 Your minde is tossing on the Ocean. 1809 JAS. MOORE Camp. Spain 2 The soldiers..remained tossing on board the crowded transports. 1827 POLLOK Course V. x. 471 The unfathomable lake, Tossing with tides of dark, tempestuous wrath. 1835 MACAULAY Hist. Eng. xviii. IV. 131 A fleet of merchantmen tossing on the Maimon Mast into the Sea. 1718 LADY M. W. MONTAGU Let. to Abbé Conti 31 July, The governor's daughter..tossed a note to him over the wall. 1810 SCOTT Lady of L. III. xiv, The falc'ner tossed his hawk away. 1830 in Cobbett Rur. Rides (1885) II. 308 Two or three, or even one man, may, if not tossed out at once, disturb and interrupt every thing. 1853 KINGSLEY Hypatia xvi, He tossed his purse among the crowd. 1857 G. Bird's Orin. Dependr (ed.) 1. 1. 1.

1844 J. T Hewlett Parsons & W. iv, That dreamy, "toss-about sort of slumber. 1681 W. Robertson Phraseol. Gen. (1693) 1078 Fortunes "toss-ball. 1659 Torriano, Accoltelatore, a fighter, a "tosse-blade, a swash-buckler. 1883 G. H. Boughton in Harper's Mag. Apr. 682/2 The merry, liquid-eyed "toss-cup of Ostade. 1849 Thackeray Pendennis v, A little scamp of a choir-boy, who played "toss-halfpenny. 1906 Daily Chron. 8 Sept. 3/2 When that has been the case the writer cannot remember the "toss-losers failing to win the event. 1796 Mrs. Glasse Cookery v. 57 Put half a pint of gravy into a "toss-pan. 1824 Symonds St. Italy & Gr. (1893) v. 98 Men and boys play for the most part at bowls or "toss-penny.

Toss, Tosser, etc., ctron. ff. Tozr, Tozer, etc.

†To·ssant, a. Obs. rare—[1]. (pseudo-arch.) [irreg. f. Toss v. + -ant[1] of F. pr. pple.] Tossing. 1616 Lane Cont. Spr.'s T. xi. 267 His tossant plume, which sublimeth his head, All colors wore, save white, that mote bee read.

Tossed (tɒst), ppl. a. Also tost. [f. Toss v. + -ed[1].] Thrown about, hurled this way and that; disordered; disturbed, troubled: see the vb.

1621 Br. Hall Heaven upon Earth § 4 The galled soule ..after many tossed and turned sides, complaines of remediless and vnabated torment. 1659 R. Cromwell in Clarke Papers (Camden) IV. 207 Oh,..that poore tossed Ingland might at laste finde a quiet harbour! 1780 A. Young Tour Ireland. I. 265 Wild tossed-about ground. 1807 Crabbe Village i. 116 On the tost vessel bend their eager eye. 1829 Scott Talism. vi, His tossed couch and impatient gestures showed..the energy and the reckless impatience of a disposition, whose natural sphere was [etc.]. 1844 H. G. Robinson Odes of Horace i. xxxii, His toss'd bark made fast to the watery shore.

Tossel, -ell, obs. ff. Tassel sb.[1], [2], Tercel.

Tosser (tɒ·sər). [f. Toss v. + -er[1].]

1. One who or that which tosses. Also with adv.

1612 T. Taylor Comm. Titus ii. 12 (1619) 475 Scoffers of such as walke in these straite waies of God, tossers of reproaches against them. 1623 Fletcher & Rowley Maid in Mill ii. ii, As satisfaction to the blustring god, I'o send his tossers forth. 1837 New Monthly Mag. L.I. 195 Ticket-porters are..such..tossers-off of beer. 1846 Mrs. Gore Eng. Char. (1852) 109 The hapless tosser-up of omelets. 1896 A. Morison Child of the Jago 130 The hist of the tossers stuffed away his coppers. 1905 Daily Chron. 7 Sept. 4/4 As a caber tosser he has never been equalled.

2. A cooking-vessel, a tossing-pan.

1884 Hand & Heart Oct. 123/2 Cut the other parts in small bits, put them in a small tosser with a grate of nutmeg, the least white pepper and salt,..simmer a few minutes before you fill.

Tossicate, variant of Tosticate.

Tossily, adv. : see Tossy a.

To·ssing, vbl. sb. [-ing[1].] The action of Toss v. in various senses. Also with adv.

1557 [see Toss v. 3 b]. 1598 Lyte Dodoens 367 The other ..stirreth vp tossings, windinesse, and vomiting. *a*1586 Sidney Arcadia ii. (Sommer) 173 When Basilius after long tossing was gotten a sleepe. 1642 Fuller Holy & Prof. St. iii. x. 174 Like the tossing of a pike, which is.. to shew the strength and nimblenesse of the arm. 1711 Addison Spect. No. 63 r 1 The Tossings and Fluctuations of the Sea. 1801 Sporting Mag. XIX. 115 No cards, dice, odd-horse or tossing-up to be permitted.

b. attrib.: †tossing iron, some cooking utensil; tossing-pan, a pan for tossing food in cooking.

*a*1564 Fletcher Women's Prize ii. v, They heave ye stool on stool, and fling main pot-lids Like massy rocks, dart ladles, tossing irons And tongs like thunder-bolts. 1769 Mrs. Raffald Eng. Housekpr. (1778) 75 Put them all in your tossing-pan, and shake it over the fire till it boils, then put in your woodcock. 1796 Mrs. Glasse Cookery v. 47 Put it into a tossing-pan with a tea-spoonful of lemon-pickle.

To·ssing, ppl. a. [f. Toss v. + -ing[2].] That tosses: see the vb.

1575 Gamm. Gurton ii. iv, My goodly tossing sporyars neele, chaue lost kih wot not where. 1742 Young Nt. Th. i. 167 How I dreamt..Of stable pleasures on the tossing wave! 1816 J. Wilson City of Plague ii. iv. 206 Beside the couch of tossing agony. 1896 F. H. S. Merriman[1] Flotsam iv, A fine boy with tossing flaxen curls.

Hence To·ssingly adv.

1620 Thomas Lat. Dict., Volutatim .. rollingly, tumblingly, tossingly.

†To·ssment. Obs. [f. Toss v. + -ment.] The action of tossing or fact of being tossed.

1650 T. B. Worcester's Apoph. lix. 208 After so long a voyage as thresscore and sixteen years tossement upon the waves of this troublesome world.

Tosspot (tɒ·spɒt). [f. phr. to toss a pot, Toss v. 10 b.] One accustomed to toss off his pot of drink; a heavy drinker; a toper, drunkard.

1568 Fulwel Like Will to Like D j b, I wil pledge Tom tospot, til I be as drunk as a mouse a. 1577 tr. Bullinger's Decades (1592) 152 Come not in companie of blasphemous tosspots. 1674 Josselyn Voy. New Eng. (1675) 76 The eggs of an owl put into the liquor that a tospot useth to be drunk with, will make him loathe drunkenness. 1809 W. Irving Knickerb. iv. v. (1861) 204 They were sturdy toss-pots of yore. 1890 Besant Demoniac iv, He is .. a brother tosspot.

b. Comb., as Tosspotlike adv.

1580 H. Gifford Gillyflowers (1875) 150 Doste thinke that such as tospotlike Set all at sixe and seuen, Are in a ready way to bring Their sinfull soules to heauen?

To·ssy, a. rare. [f. Toss sb.[1] or v. + -y.] Contemptuous, pert. Hence To·ssily adv.

1851 Kingsley Yeast vii, Argemone answered by some tossy commonplace. Ibid., She answered tossily enough.

†Tost, v. Corruption of Toss v.

1606 tr. Rollock's Comm. on 2 Thess. 138 (Jam.) Thou shalt be beatten and tosted here and there. 1632 Lithgow Trav. v. 215 The Whirlwind of Time, still so speedy posts, That like it selfe, all things therein, it tosts.

Tost, var. Tossed, pa. t. and pple. of Toss v., also ppl. a. Still frequent in poetry, and as second element in compounds, as tempest-tost.

Tost, obs. form of Toast.

To·stand, To·step: see To- pref.[1]

Tostioate (tɒ·stikət), v. Also 9 dial. tossicate. Usually in pa. pple. tosticated, app. originally a mispronunciation of intoxicated and so used, but later also associated with tossed, tost, and used as = tossed about, distracted, perplexed. So Tostication. Common dialectally; cited in E.D.D. for many counties from W. Yorksh. to Somerset.

1650 J. Reynolds Flower of Fidelity 3 His tosticated conceits fixt upon renowned travel. Ibid. 42 Being tosticated with the lectiony. 1697 Mrs. D'Anvers Academia 8 Madam's most sadly tosticated, Knowing her Boy but empty-pated, Lest the soft Squire might starv'd be, When e're he's sent to th' Versity. 1712 Swift Prud. to Stella xxviii, I have been so tosticated about since my last. 1748 Richardson Clarissa xvii. (1810) V. 181, I want these tostications (thou seest how women and women's words fill my mind) to be over. 1821 Ora & Juliet I. 32 Get thee to bed..and sleep off thy delicious wine, lest thou be tosticated thy self-see. 1828 Craven Gloss., Tossicated, tossed, perplexed. Also, drunk. 1881 Miss Jackson Shropsh. Word-bk., Tossicated, harassed; worried,—'upset', as by vexation or trouble.

To·stick, To·sting, To·stink, etc.: see To- pref.[1], 2.

†Tostock(e, -stok(e, shortening of Tavistock, q. v. Obs.

1511-12 Act 3 Hen. VIII, c. 6 § 3 Wollen Clothes called Tostokes made in the Countie of Devonshire. 1523 Act 14 & 15 Hen. VIII, c. 11 Any Clothes cally'd Tostokes.

†To·swe·ll, v. Obs. [OE. toswellan, f. To-2 + swellan, Swell v. So OHG. ziswellan, MHG. ze-, zerswellen.] intr. To swell out; also fig. to be puffed up, as with an emotion. Chiefly in pa. pple. to-swolle(n.

*c*1000 Ælfric Saints' Lives iii. 481 He hæfde ænne lic-frowere..Eccelice to-swollen. *c*1205 Lay. 3782 Al is eme to-swollen...Nu nan ich wurðe dæd. *a*1250 Owl & Night. 145 þeos vle..Sat toswolle & tobolewe So heo hedde one frogge iswolwe. *c*1330 R. Brunne Chron. Wace (Rolls) 10898 Pem þoughte for wo þey al to-swrak. 1382 Wycliff Ps. v. 22 To-swelle shul his flodis. *c*1400 Lanfranc's Cirurg. 311 Humouris fel so myche þerto þat his leggis & his hipis to-swollen al greet.

To-swelt, To-swinge, To-swink: see To- pref.[1]

Tosyn, tosie (tō·zi), a. Sc. Also tozie, -y. [Origin uncertain: it can hardly be the same as Tozy a.]

1. Warm; comforting or comfortable, snug, cosy. Sometimes app. = 'fresh, refreshing'.

1720 Ramsay Patie & Roger i. 1, How tosie is't tae snuff the cauller air. 1722 Hamilton Wallace iii. 1. (1774) 58 He..brought them wealth of meat and tosie drink. 1890 J. Service Notandums x. 71 As tozie a howff as you would fin' in a' Glesco.

2. Slightly intoxicated; tipsy. Also tosy-mosy.

1727 P. Walker R. Cameron in Biogr. Presbyt. (1827) I. 278 The Magistrates gave him Drink and kept him tozy. 1794 Poems Eng., Sc. & Lat. 95 (Jam.) What puir man, whan he's tozy, But spends as he ware bein and cozy? 1828 Moir Mansie Wauch xvii. (1849) 111 We had another jug, after which we were both a wee tozy-mozy.

Hence Tosily, -lie, adv. ; To·siness.

1825 in Jamieson.

†Tot, sb.[1] Obs. rare. In 5 totte, 7 toute. [Origin unascertained.] A person of disordered brain, a simpleton, a fool.

*c*1425 Cast. Persev. 2880 in Macro Plays 162 Werldlys good þou hast for-gon, & with tottys þou schalt be torn. *c*1440 Promp. Parv. 497/2 Totte, vapra in folie. Ibid. (MS. Winch.) Tatte, fowle, supra in ff. [Hfolt idem quod folet, ffolette, ffatuellus]. *a*1660 Contemp. Hist. Irel. (Ir. Archæol. Soc.) I. 278 Whoe answeared like a toute, or a maddman, as he was, that he was for the Kinge.

†Tot (tɒt), sb.[2] Obs. Also 6–7 tott(e. [f. Tot v.[1] (or its source).] The word tot or letter T written against an item in an account to indicate that the amount specified has been received; hence, an item in an account; also generally, a note, jotting, or comment written down.

1529 Gardiner Let. to Wolsey in St. Papers Hen. VIII I. 345 The copy..I sende unto Your Grace,..adding in the margyne tottes, wherby Your Grace may perceyve onme consilium rei gestæ. *a*1601 Sir T. Fenshawe Pract. Exch. (1658) 71 After his said Secondary hath made up the Sheriffs second summ upon his De debitis pluriminum, which he his Tots and upon his De pluribus debitis charge which be his greene wax, and his whole as before, or so many of them as he is charged with, then the Sheriffs Foreign charge accounts to be cast up. Ibid. 80 He maketh speciall tot against the same summe thus [etc.]. 1642 C. Vernon Consid. Exch. 32 The greatest part of the Sheriffes totts a summes of money by him taken in charge at his apposals, would be set off and discharged. 1798 T. Farrer in Manning Exch. of Pleas (1819) II. App. 267 Such fines, recognizances and amerciaments, as each sheriff has received he answers by saying Tot, whereupon I (deputy clerk) mak that answer upon the roll of the estreat. When the sheriff receives part and not the whole, he answers Tot as to part, and Nil as to the rest.

Tot (tɒt), sb.[3] colloq. [Short for total or L. totum: see also Tote sb.[1]] The total of an addition, sometimes having tot. written against it; hence, an addition sum; also (tot up) the action of Tot v.[2]; adding up, totalling.

[1690 Pepys Mem. Royal Navy 36 Repaires, l. 130000, Sea-stores, l. 88000. Tot, 220,000.] 1821 Standard 13 Feb. The task of going over the cards..and comparing the lists, and doing the general tot-up, is very arduous. 1879 C. Marvin Our Public Offices ii, I fell upon the row of 'tots' with the same vigour. 1894 Daily News 14 July 5/2 He has seen children in Standards IV and V using their fingers freely during the examination, and even trying to do 'tots' by this cumbrous method.

Tot, sb.[4] colloq. or local. [app. a recent word; recorded 1725. Origin uncertain. Tottr occurs in Icel. as the nickname of a dwarfish person, and tommel-tot as Danish for Tom Thumb; but no connexion has been traced.]

1. A very small or tiny child.

1725 Ramsay Gentle Sheph. i. ii, Wow! Jenny, can there greater pleasure be Than see sic wee tots toolying at youre knee? 1865 Cornh. Mag. Mar. 335 Her tiny trembling tot with yellow hair. 1896 Ian Maclaren[1] Kate Carnegie 25 I've had it since I was a little tot and could remember anything.

b. Tot-o'er-seas, a local name of the Goldcrest.

1885 Swainson Provinc. Names Birds 25 Goldcrest... From its tiny size. Tot o'er seas. 1895 Newton Dict. Birds, Tot-o'er-seas, a name by which Regulus cristatus is said to be known on some parts of the east coast.

2. A very small drinking-cup; a child's mug. (See also quot. 1845.) Chiefly dial.

1828 Craven Gloss., Tot, a cup or glass. 1845 Sir H. B. Edwardes in Mem. (1886) I. 53 That half-maul camel, who is overladen with tents and tots. [Note. 'Tin pots, out of which the European soldiers drink.] 1890 Daily News 5 Sept., Dark figures [soldiers]...throw themselves down on the straw, and investigate into the contents of the mug or of the tot. 1890 'R. Boldrewood' Miner's Right xxvii, Give me that 'tot' that I see tied to your saddle. 1891 Sale Catal. Glass Wks. Stourbridge, Twenty-seven tots. Two flower bowls.

3. A minute quantity of anything, esp. of drink; a dram; also, anything very small.

1828 in Craven Gloss 1847–78 Halliwell, Tot, anything very small. Cant. 1856 Kane Arctic Explor. II. vii. 78 We jabbed the stopper down the whiskey-tin and gave you a tot of it. 1878 F. S. Williams Midl. Railw. 527 The hole is charged with gunpowder,—about a pint—or two 'tots', being usually enough. 1908 Times 30 July 8/3 The issue of 'tots of rum' on cold nights was not only not desirable, but absolutely pernicious.

Tot, sb.[5] slang. [Origin unascertained: cf. Tat sb.[5], v.[3]] A dust-heap picker's name for a bone; whence by extension, anything worth picking from a refuse-heap or elsewhere. Hence To·tter, a rag-and-bone collector; To·tting, dust-heap picking.

1873 Slang Dict. s. v., 'Tot' is a bone, but chiffoniers and cinder-hunters generally are called Tot-pickers nowadays. Totting also has its votaries on the banks of the Thames, where all kinds of flotsam and jetsam, from coals to carrion, are known as tots. 1880 Law Rep. 5 Q. B. D. 369 The contents of the dust-bins consisted chiefly of cinders and ashes and the sweepings of the houses, but they also contained a number of articles thrown into them as refuse by the occupiers of the houses, and known as 'tots'. 1891 Daily News 11 Mar. 5/5 Costermongers, wood-cutters, and 'totters', men who lounged about areas in the hope of getting old bottles and things from servants. 1910 Lond. City Mission Mag. May 85/2 The Totters. Up betimes, these queer people set out by the dozen, with sack or barrow, in quest of rags and bones, rubber, and bottles, scrap iron and cast-off clothing. Ibid., When all else fails, and one can stoop so low, a day's totting is bound to yield the cost of a night's lodging.

†Tot, v.[1] Obs. [f. L. tot so much, so many; acc. to Blount, short for tot pecuniæ Regi debentur 'so many sums of money are due to the king'.]

1. trans. To mark (an item in the sheriff's list) with the word tot or the letter T, showing that the amount had been levied, and was to be accounted for, by him. Cf. Nichit, O.Nt. Also used in certain accounts between the Exchequer and other persons: see quot. 1785. Hence Totting vbl. sb.

[1368 Act 42 Edw. III, c. 9 Est ordene..qe homme vele les dites estretes enseallees, & qe ce qest paie soit totee, et meismes les estretes mandes as Visconites sur la receite. trans.] a Man shall see the same Estreats sealed, and that the same which is paid, be totted, and the same Estreats sent to the Sheriffs upon the Receipt.] 1530-1 Act 22 Hen. VIII, c. 15 All other yssues and amercyamentes.. whether they be totted or not totted, taken to the charge of the Shyryff or not taken to his charge. 1620 J. Wilkinson Coroners & Sheriffes 75 An ignorant Undersheriff may both undoe his high Sheriffe and himselfe, both in this world and in the world to come by totting and nichting. Ibid., If it bee totted, that is charged, though it can never be leuied, it will now hardly be auoided, but it must be paid. *a*1726 Sir G. Gilbert Treat. Crt. Exchequer vii. (1758) 125 If the Sheriff has levied any Part of these Debts he Tots it, and the Letter T is set upon such Sum. 1785 MS. Dean's Bk. Canterb. Cathedr. lf. 129 Agreed that the process called Totting, in the Exchequer, for a share of the Post Fines, attended with great expence, and little or no advantage, be in future discontinued. 1798 T. Farrer in Manning Exch. of Pleas (1819) II. App. 267 As to such sums as are totted by the sheriff.

2. transf. To note or distinguish (a name in a list) by some mark or a prick, e.g. to prick the sheriffs; also to make a note against a name in a list or a sum or item in an account; also, to write down by way of note, to jot down in writing.

1444 Paston Lett. I. 55 Sir, ther arn xv. jurores abowe to certifie ye, as many as ye will: but lete these men that ye tolde be certified, for thei be the rewelers. 1534 WOLSEY Let. to Hen. VIII in St. Papers I. 115 The Judges procedyd to election of your Schreffes..for thys yere; whos namys he comprisid in a byll of parchement herin closid; desyring Your Grace to tote and marcke suche oon of thye namyd for every shire, as may stand with your gracious pleasure. 1524 Ibid. 150 The copy.., with my poore opinion upon the same, totted in the margyne. 1587 FLEMING Contin. Holinshed III. 1514/2 Such as were absent, had no allowance that daie: if they came late, their wages was totted at the expenditors good discretion. 1612 Manch. Crt. Leet Rec. (1885) II. 270 Those ffreeholders..whose names are not totted in the Courtbooke.

Tot (tɒt), v.[2] colloq. [f. TOT sb.[3]] trans. To add together and bring out the total of; to sum up.

1760–72 H. BROOKE Fool of Qual. (1809) IV. 82 These, totted together, will make a pretty beginning of my little project. 1839 T. HOOK Gurney Married 103 Now, ma'am, if you will just tot up your account for schooling and that, I'll arrange the whole matter. 1876 FARJEON Love's Vict. xiv, When he totted up the figures, he was rather serious. 1898 STUART & PARR Variety Stage ii. 31 A waiter totting up the amount as you passed through.

b. intr. To tot up: to amount, 'come' (to).

1882 BESANT All Sorts iv, I..wondered how much it would tot up to. Something, I thought, in four figures. 1892 Idler July 719 Three stalls a week tot up frightfully in a year.

Hence To-totting vbl. sb.

1892 Monthly Mag. LV. 237 All the items were tenaciously preserved in the toting up. 1893 COWDEN CLARKE Shakes. Char. vi. 152 The very 'totting up' of his qualifications creates a 'real presence' of the man. 1895 Standard 31 July, The totting [of the votes] was not concluded by Mr. Dames until half-past two.

Tot (tɒt), v.[3] Sc. [Not recorded before 19th c.; ? playful shortening of totter or tottle. Connexion with TOT sb.[4] + 'tiny child' uncertain.] intr. 'To move with short steps as a child does' (Jamieson 1825); to totter; to toddle; also playfully, to walk, go, move.

1824 W. JAMESON in Mem. & Lett. (1845) 46 My little Benoni is gathering strength and totting about. 1844 A. M'KAY Mod. Sc. Poets 127 When ye were wee bairnies, tot, totting about. c 1850 Whistle-binkie (1890) II. Songs Nursery 81 Awa they tot wi' anne anither.

Tot, in phr. tot and quot: see TOT-QUOT.

†To-tag. Obs. In 3 to tagge, (to tage). [app. f. To-1 + tagge, TAG sb. pendant or addition, or v. to append. But the simple sb. and vb. are not known bef. c 1400, and then not in abstract sense.

It is to be remembered however that tag was prob. a word not likely to occur in literature; and that there are other words in which the compound with to- is known much earlier than the simple word, e. g. to-crush, to-touse.]

Something 'tagged' or attached to a fact; a circumstance.

c 12.. Ancr. R. 316 (Corpus MS.) Six binges O Latin circumstances: On Englisch to tagges mahe been ikeiopede [MS. Cott. Nero On Englisch heo muwen heon ihoten totagges: persone, stude, time, manere, tale, cause]. Ibid. 346 [with sum ast] to tagge thisfe [Corpus tage] Ibid., Efter pe to tagges [Nero circumstances] pe beoð iwriten pruppe. [So in 8 instances in place of 9 in which Cott. Nero has circumstances without a gloss.]

Total (tōtălĭ), a. and sb. [a. F. total (14th c. in Hatz.-Darm.) = Sp., Pg. total, It. totale, ad. Schol.L. tōtāl-is (in St. Bernard 1150), f. L. tōt-us entire: see -AL.]

A. adj. 1. Of, pertaining, or relating to the whole of something. Now rare, exc. in

Total eclipse, an eclipse of the sun or moon in which the whole of the disk is obscured. (Often taken as sense 3.)

c 1386 CHAUCER Pars. T. ¶ 218 His contricion..shal be vniuersal and total. 1394 BLUNDEVILE Exerc. iii. (1636) 105 The Total Sine, which is the whole Semidiameter, and greatest right Sine. 1627 W. SCLATER Exp. 2 Thess. (1629) 172 There are two kindes or degrees of it [faith]. 1. Totall respecting the whole word of God...2. Partiall. a 1633 GOUGE Comm. Heb. ii. 9 (1655) 170 He was a totall Saviour. He saveth soul and body. 1671 MILTON Samson 81 Irreconverably dark, total Eclipse Without all hope of day. 1683 Phil. Trans., Abr. II. 60 Total Eclipse of the Moon, Feb. 11–21, 1682, observed at Paris and Copenhagen. 1697 tr. Burgersdicius his Logic I. xv. 51 That Cause is total, which in its Species wholly causes the Whole Caused. 1715 HALLEY in Phil. Trans. XXIX. 245 Observations on the Total Eclipse of the Sun..22nd of April. 1857 WHEWELL Hist. Induct. Sc. (ed. 3) I. 362 The eclipse must have been one decidedly total.

2. Constituting or comprising a whole; whole, entire.

c 1400 Plowm. T. 418 Goodes frendship hem makes, They toteth on hir somme totall. 1474 Acc. Ld. High Treas. Scot. I. 72 Sum totale of batt thir sidis, lix li. xvd. c 1477 CAXTON Jason 7 b, The veray and sewre foundement vpon which thy total esporyt and hope restedh. c 1586 CTESS PEMBROKE Ps. xcviii. iii, Thou total globe and all that thee enjoy. 1610 DONNE Pseudo-martyr 201 The whole totall body..of the points of their profession. 1709 LADY M. W. MONTAGU Let. to Mrs. Hewet 10 Nov., This is the sum total of all the news I know. 1807 J. BARLOW Columb. III. 174 The flaming deluge..Sweeps total nations from the staggering world. 1830 SIR W. Napier Penins. War (1856) II. App. 428 Total number of bayonets..4924. 1833 HT. MARTINEAU Cinnamon & P. vi, In total revenue does not pay its expenses. 1903 Daily Chron. 25 Mar. 8/7 The percentage of total rainfall which reaches the river is diminishing, as well as the total rainfall itself.

3. Complete in extent or degree; absolute, utter.

1647 CLARENDON Hist. Reb. I. § 1 Nothing less..could have produced such a total and prodigious Alteration and Confusion over the whole kingdom. 1769 Def. Locke's Opin. Pers. Identity 31 After a total interruption of thought ..during sound sleep. 1770 Aberdeen Burgh Rec. in Bulloch Peterhead (1887) 76 To put a total stop to the rolling of all sorts of Casks. 1816 COLERIDGE Human Life 1 If total gloom Swallow up life's brief flash for aye, we fare As summer-gusts, of sudden birth and doom. 1837 LOCKHART Scott I. iv. 127 Notwithstanding all that Scott says about the total failure of his attempts in the art of the pencil... they proved very useful to him afterwards. 1838–9 FR. A. KEMBLE Resid. in Georgia (1863) 24 A total absence of self-respect.

b. Total abstinence: spec. entire abstinence from the use of alcoholic drinks. So total abstainer; also (rare) total abstinent, total abstention.

1831 J. TUCKERMAN Let. respecting a City Temperance Soc., Boston, Mass. 5 A total abstinence from intoxicating stimulants, except for medicinal purposes. 1856 VAUGHAN Mystics (1860) II. 219 How much easier is total abstinence from scenes of amusement than temperance in money-getting. 1862 Total-abstainers [see ABSTAINER]. 1880 RICHARDSON in Med. Temp. Trnl. 71 In their allegiance to 'total abstention'. 1888 in A Magazine, Very few public men..care to order a bottle of wine at a public table. It is not because they are total abstinents.

†4. Summary, concise, brief. Obs. rare—[1].

a 1586 SIDNEY Arcth. & Stella xcii, Or do you meane my tender eares to spare, That to my questions you so total are? When I demanded of Phœnix-Stellas state, You say, forsooth, you left her well of late: O God, thinke you that satisfies my care?

B. sb. (the adj. used absolutely). The aggregate, the whole sum or amount; a whole.

1557 RECORDE Whetst. C ij b, The totalle will bee (as here in woodes appeareth) 335.016. 1621 BP. MONTAGU Diatribæ 65 To cast vp these particulars into one total. 1656 EARL MONM. tr. Boccalini's Advts. fr. Parnass. II. xi. 224 Here..is a business in which consists the total of our safety. 1772 BURKE Corr. (1844) I. 380 But I must say with as great, as just suspicions of him and his, as with attachment to you, on the total. 1841 MARRYAT Poacher xxii, You can..sum up the totals. 1849 GROTE Greece II. xliii. V. 218 The grand total was not less than 210,000 men.

Hence To-totalness, totality. rare—[0].

1727 BAILEY vol. II, Totalness, the Wholeness, or whole Sum. Hence 1818 in TODD; and in later Dicts.

Total (tōu·tăl), v. [f. TOTAL a. and sb.]

1. a. trans. To reach the total of, amount to.

1859 All Year Round No. 13. 305 One of our adversaries scored 70 off his own bat: they totalled 138. 1884 Pall Mall G. 22 Aug. 2/2 The proofs actually issued in neither case totalled 1,000. 1901 Cycl. Tour. Cl. Gaz. Oct. 389 A list [of accidents]..totals no less than twenty.

b. intr. To amount to, mount up to.

1880 Scotsman 24 Jan., For the whole of 1879 they probably totalled up to between 26 and 27 millions. 1896 Daily News 23 Jan. 7/5 Even the 5s. or 10s. required as deposit on each ticket must total to a large amount.

2. trans. To bring to a total, add up, complete.

1726 M. DAVIES Athen. Brit. III. 59 One, if not both of those Collectors (viz. those those Collections were total'd. 1863 P. BARRY Dockyard Econ. 23 The rating, valuing, totalling, and proving of workmanship notes in the Accountant's department. 1894 Cath. News 16 June 4/5 The heavy legal costs..will total up to a very serious sum. 1901 Ibid., Either pe to tagges [Nero circumstances] pe beoð iwriten pruppe. [So in 8 instances in place of 9 in which Cott. Nero has circumstances without a gloss.]

Totality (tōtæ·lĭti). [ad. Schol.L. tōtālitās (a 1141 in Hugo de S. Victor, also in Albertus Magnus, Aquinas, Duns Scotus), f. tōtālis TOTAL; cf. F. totalité (14th c. in Hatz.-Darm.).]

1. The quality of being total; entirety.

1627 DONNE Serm. xlv. (1640) 443 God the Father, God the Son, and God the Holy Ghost, whom this day we celebrate, in the Ingenuity, and in the Assiduity, and in the Totality, recommended in this text. 1682 BAXTER Answ. Theol. Dial. 4 We will not be cheated by it to believe that it causeth any more than Totality or Integrality. c 1819 COLERIDGE in Rem. (1836) II. 149 Instead of unity of action I should greatly prefer the more appropriate, though scholastic and uncouth, words homogeneity, proportionateness, and totality of interest. 1869 INGLEBY Introd. Metaph. ii. ii. 171, I remark, obiter, that Totality is plurality in unity.

b. Astron. Total obscuration of the sun or moon in an eclipse; the moment of occurrence or time of duration of this.

1842 G. B. AIRY in Mem. R. Astron. Soc. (1846) XV. 12 About six minutes before the totality. Ibid. Plate ii. Fig. 1 Appearance of the sun a short time before totality. 1860 F. GALTON in Vac. Tour. 439 About twenty-five minutes before totality they gave vent to our wishes. 1871 TYNDALL Fragm. Sc. (1879) I. vi. 208 The appearance of the corona and prominences at the moment of totality.

2. That which is total; a whole; the total number or amount, the aggregate.

1598 FLORIO, Totalità, a totalitie or whole sum. 1602 WARNER Alb. Engl. xiii. lxxix. (1612) 327 Whences, and to which Totalitie begins and ends alone. 1654 JER. TAYLOR Real Pres. xi. 224 There is a new heap of impossibilities, if we should reckon that which flowes from the multiplication of totalities. 1660 R. COKE Justice Vindi. 35 The will of the major part cannot be the will of the totality, but plurality. 1789 GOUV. MORRIS in Sparks Life & Writ. (1832) I. 356 The totality of the public debt here is about 4,000,000,000 livres. 1864 BOWEN Logic iv. (1870) 76 'The universe'..means only the totality of that class of objects which we are thinking of. 1884 H. SPENCER in Contemp. Rev. XLVI. 33 The totality of all powers and rights originally existed as an undivided whole in the sovereign people.

Totalization. [f. TOTALIZE v.: see -ATION. Cf. F. totalisation (neologism in Littré).] The action or process of totalizing, or the condition of being totalized; calculation.

1888 Sci. Amer. 29 Dec. 404/1 The totalization of the slight lifting due to the repetition of this maneuver on each of the cables..naily effected a general lifting of four inches. Mod. The totalization of the returns from different parts.

Totalizator (tōu·tălĭzātŏr). [f. as if from a L. totalizāre* to totalize: prob. ad. mod.F. totalisateur (1869 in Littré, in scientific use).] A machine or apparatus for registering and showing the total of operations, measurements, etc.; spec. an apparatus for registering and indicating the number of tickets sold to betters on each horse in a race.

1879 S. Australian Independ. & Presbyt. Nov., The passing through Parliament of the Totalizator Bill—a measure to legalise a certain form of betting. 1881 Standard 7 Sept. 5/2 'Paris mutuals'..would perhaps be better understood by English people under their other appellation of 'totalisators', instruments much in vogue upon the race-courses of Australia. 1885 Q. Rev. Oct. 455 A board is exhibited, containing the names of the horses starting. A person who wishes to back a horse pays in a pound, or as many pounds as he likes, to the officer in charge of the totalisator. When the race is over, all the money staked is divided between the backers of the winning horse, less ten per cent, which is the profit of the management. 1890 Times 26 Feb. 5/3 The Lower House of the Reichstath to-day adopted a resolution in favour of increasing the tax on the totalisator, or parimutuel, used on Austrian race-courses, from 3 to 5 per cent.

Totalize (tōu·tălĭze), v. [f. TOTAL a. + -IZE: cf. F. totaliser (neologism in Littré).] trans. To make total; to combine into a total or aggregate. Hence To-totalized ppl. a.; To-totalizing vbl. sb. and ppl. a.; totalizing machine, a totalizator.

1818 COLERIDGE in Rem. (1836) I. 229 To place these images totalized and fitted to the limits of the human mind so as to elicit from..the forms themselves the moral reflexions to which they approximate. 1855 BAIN Senses & Int. iii. ii. § 33 (1864) 592 This force, or impulse, of mind that resists the totalizing influence of a complex object, and isolates for study and comparison its individual effects. 1865 GROTE Treat. Mor. Ideas iv. (1876) 43 A number of partial views which we cannot harmonize and totalize or bring into a whole. 1888 Daily News 27 Aug. 3/5 [At Baden] Betting is now strictly prohibited, except by the medium of the totalising machine, which is worked under State supervision. 1888 Sci. Amer. 29 Dec. 404/1 The cables..constituted a totalizing apparatus that permitted of moving millions pound masses by means of..successive stresses never exceeding 15 tons.

To-totalizer. [f. prec. + -ER[1].] That which totalizes; in quot. = TOTALIZATOR.

1887 Daily News 18 Apr. 2/6 The Jockey Club and the National Steeplechase Society have applied for permission to make use of the betting-machines known as 'totalisers', which are in use throughout the Continent.

Totally (tōu·tălĭ), adv. [f. TOTAL a. + -LY[2]: cf. Schol.L. totāliter, OF. totalement (Oresme, 14th c.).] In a total manner or degree; wholly, completely, entirely, altogether.

1509 HAWES Past. Pleas. xliv. (Percy Soc.) 216 Lyke as the world was distroyed totally By the vngins sone, so it semed well A virgins sone to redeme is pytee totally. 1647 CLARENDON Hist. Reb. I. § 32 The Imprudence and Presumption..of carrying the Prince into Spain, was totally Forgotten. 1660 BLOUNT Boscobel 23 Thus was the Rebel Army totally subdued, thus dispersed. 1711 ADDISON Spect. No. 121 ¶ 6 Tho' the Mole be not totally blind (as it is commonly thought). 1825 W. H. IRELAND Scribblemania 30 note, He seems to be at present totally eclipsed by Walter Scott. 1881 MRS. PITMAN Mission L. Greece & Pal. 155 It is totally beyond human effort to control the memory.

†b. In a body, collectively, in one lot. Obs. rare.

1696 Lond. Gaz. No. 3073/4 Diamond Watches and Pocket Clocks..are to be Sold, either totally or severally, at his late shop,..on the back-side of the Royal Exchange, London.

†Totangle. Obs. nonce-wd. [f. L. tōt-us whole, entire + angulus, ANGLE sb.[2]] A figure that is 'all angle': applied to a circle as the limit of regular polygonal figures when the number of angles is infinite.

1628 JACKSON Creed VI. XXI. § 3 The circle likewise is as truly ἀσύμπλεκτος and ἀνόμοιος, of no lateral sides and angles, as δλόπλευρος and δλόγωνος, a totangle or totilater.

Totanine (tɒ·tănŏin), a. Ornith. [f. mod.L. Totaninæ, f. Totan-us, name of a genus of birds, including the redshanks: see -INE[1].] Of or pertaining to the Totaninæ, a subfamily of the Scolopacidæ; called by some the tattlers (TATTLER 3).

‖ Totara (tōu·tărä, tōtä·rä). Also erron. totarra. [Maori to'tāra (Morris).] A large New Zealand coniferous tree, Podocarpus Totara, producing light, durable, tough timber of a dark red colour, highly valued for building, piles, cabinet work, etc.

1832 G. BENNETT in Lambert Genus Pinus II. 190 (Morris) This is an unpublished species of Podocarpus, called Totara by the natives. 1840 J. S. POLACK Manners & Cust. N. Zealanders I. xx. 227 The totarra or red-pine. 1860 DONALDSON Bush Lays 38 A ponderous totara down on them doth bear. 1872 A. DOMETT Ranolf vi. 1. 107 One lone totara-tree that grew Beneath the hill-side. 1892 E. REEVES Homeward Bound 73 Totara piles immersed in salt water for forty years have been taken up at Wellington sound as the day they were put down.

Tote (tōut), sb.[1] Now dial. Also Sc. tot (tot, tɒt). [Short for total: cf. TOT sb.[1]]

1. The total amount, number, or sum. Mostly in pleonastic phrase the whole tote.

1771–2 Lex. fr. Balchelor (1773) II. 40 That this was the whole tote of his case is notoriously known. 1774 Foote Cozeners III. Wks. 1799 I. 80 My bill?..what is the tote? a 1801 R. Gall Poems, Tint Quey (1819) 37 Where the hale tot, for fear o' skaith, Were fley'd to speak aboon their breath. 1810 Bentham Mem. & Corr. Wks. 1843 X. 460 Let me have the whole tote. 1824 J. Neal Brn. Jonathan III. 384 Our gals—the whole tote of them. 1830 Galt Lawrie T. I. iv, Only myself of the whole tot was accustomed to the handling of iron. 1905 in Eng. Dial. Dict. (from Northumbld. to E. Anglia and Cornwall, with long ō).

2. Also dial. or low colloq., abbreviation of total abstainer (also tot); and in Australian colloq. of Totalizator; hence tote-man, tote-shop.

c 1890 Music Hall Song (tote-man), By all of his mates called the Tote. 1887 Mather Nor'ard of the Dogger 239 The fishermen are all 'totes'. 1891 E. Kinglake Australian at H. 74 Altogether, bookmakers, 'tote' proprietors, sweep promotors, in spite of occasional fines of £50 and £100..drive a roaring trade in Australia. 1901 Westm. Gaz. 8 Mar, 5/1 One of his audience called out: 'Are you a 'tot'? 'Yes', the Bishop replied. 'All right, go on, then; if you wasn't I wouldn't listen to you'. 1902 Ibid. 25 Jan 7/3 You..walk into the money order department and deposit the amount you would have invested on the Tote. 1906 Daily Chron. 3 Aug 4/7 Nearly a,000..entering the gambling dens or 'tote-shops'.

Tote (tōut), sb.[2] Also 9 toat. [app. t. tote, obs. and dial. form of Toot v.[1] to project, stick out. (R. Holme belonged to Cheshire, where the form tote vb. is still tote.)] The handle of a carpenter's plane.

1698 Moxon Mech. Exerc. iv. 61 A Fore Plain. a The Tote. 1688 R. Holme Armoury III. 352/2 All the difference is in the Tote or Handle, which every Workman maketh according to his own Fancy. 1823 P. Nicholson Pract. Build. 243. 1873 Routledge's Pop. Genit. Mag. July 503/1 The handle [of a jack plane] is called a toat or horn. 1901 Y. Black's Illustr. Carp. & Build., Home Handicr. 10 The jack plane is used by grasping the 'tote', or handle, firmly with the right hand, placing the left hand on the fore part of the plane [etc.].

†Tote, sb.[3] Obs. rare—[1]. Of doubtful origin and meaning; recorded only in the passage quoted. Prob. = MDu. tote, pl. toten, 'the point or toe of a shoe'; from the same root as prec.

The suggestion has also been made that totes is a verb (viz. tote, Toot v.[1]), and that totes or tots 'toes' has been omitted before it, the reading being his toes totes out' 'his toes peep out'; cf. his ton toteten out 'his toes peeped out' (P. Pl. Crede 425).

13.. E. E. Allit. P. B. 41 His tabarde to-torne and his totes oute.

Tote (tōut), v. U. S. colloq. Also toat. [In current use 1676–7; origin unascertained.

For an alleged Negro origin there is no foundation; the quot. 1676–7 from Virginia does not refer to negroes; later the word is found well-established in the New England States; evidence for an Indian origin is also wanting.]

trans. To carry as a burden or load; also, to transport, esp. supplies to, or timber, etc. from, a logging-camp or the like. To tote fair, to carry one's fair share; fig. to act or deal fairly or honestly.

For catena of quots. see Mr. A. Matthews in N. and Q. 10th Ser. II. 161, and Thornton American Gloss. s. v.

1676–7 (Feb.) Grievances of Glouc. Co. (Va.), (Col. Office Rec., P.R.O. 5/1371, p. 326), They [Governor's out-guard] were by Beverly commanded to goe to work, fall trees and mawle and toat rails, which mawling and toating refusing to doe, he presently disarm'd them. 1769 Boston Gaz. 7 Aug. 3/2 The next Morning he was toated on board the Rippon, in a Canoe.. or some other small boat. 1781 J. Witherspoon Wks. (1802) IV. 470 To t is used for carry, in some of the southern states. 1803 J. Davis Trav. U. S. 389, I.. cart all the wood, tote the wheat to the mill. Note, Tote is the American for to carry. 1807 W. Irving Life & Lett. (1864) I. 189 At Baltimore I made a stay of two days, during which I was toted about town. 1809 Monthly Anthology VII. 264 Tote is marked by Mr. Webster 'Virg.' But we believe it a native vulgarism of Massachusetts. 1812 J. J. Henry Camp. agst. Quebec 38 (Arnold's Exped. 1775) We slided gliby along, over passages where a few days previously, we had toted our canoes. 1852 Mrs. Stowe Uncle Tom's C. vii, Is that a man going to tote them bar'ls over to-night? 1883 A. Forbes in Contemp. Rev. Oct. 605 His lordship and the lady had toted the trunk on to a cart. 1892 Kipling Barrack-r. Ballads 117 The Government Bullock Train toted its load. 1896 Current Hist. (Buffalo, N.Y.) VI. 865 The trust maintained a regular force of inspectors to keep all the members of the pool 'toting fair'.

b. The verb-stem in combination with a sb.; as tote-pole, -team, -wagon; tote-load (see quot. 1859); tote-road, a rough temporary road for conveying goods to or from a settlement, camp, etc.

1857 Thoreau Maine W. (1894) 296–7 The Indian was greatly surprised that we should have taken what he called a 'tow' (i. e., tote or toting or supply) road, instead of a carry path. 1859 Bartlett Dict. Americanisms, Tote-load, as much as one can carry. Southern. 1887 M. Roberts West. Avernus 71 On this 'toat' or freight-road the wagons went east during one part of the day and west during the other. 1892 T. A. C. Emerson in Century Mag. July 478/2 One might visit every one of the hundreds of logging camps [in Maine]..and he would find each one furnished with its separate 'tote road', 'tote team' and 'toter'.

Hence To·ting vbl. sb.; also Tote sb., an act of carrying or transporting (Webster, 1911); To·ter, one engaged in toting, a carrier, teamster, etc.

1859 Toting [see b. above]. 1860 Olmsted Journ. Back Country I. 48 Each gang was attended by a 'water-toter'. 1895 Toter [see b. above]. 1911 Blackw. Mag. Sept. 362/2 So accustomed are some of them to this 'toting' of loads.

Tote, var. Toot v.[1]; obs. or dial. f. Toot v.[1]

†To-tea·r, v. Obs. Forms: see Tear v.[1]

[OE. to-teran, f. To- [+ teran, Tear v.[1] So MHG. zerwern.] trans. To tear to pieces.

c 893 [see To-Tee]. a 900 Ags. Ps. (Th.) xcix. 11 Þu totære min hwite hræsl. c 1000 Ælfric Hom. II. 238 Da nædran hi toteron. c 1200 Lay. 4994 Heo nom hire on anne curtel þe wes swiðe to-toren [c 1275 al to-tore]. a 1225 Ancr. R. 84 3et wolde he teteren & pileken, mid his bile, toted stinkinde flesshe. 13.. K. Alis. 4658 Alisaundre his clothes to-torn. c 1380 Wyclif Serm. Sel. Wks. II. 204 pis spirit..al to-teerynge him, wente oute from him. c 1440 Partonope 4452 Why be your clothes thus to tore? c 1485 Digby Myst. (1882) iv. 305 The tormentours..With sharp scowrges to-teere his flesche. 1594 Treat. Gadaunt (W. de W.) xiv, In our wanton weryngge of clothes to-torne. 1605 Sylvester Du Bartas II. iii. III. Law 784 Their shields, and staves, and chariots (all-to-tore).

†To-tee', v. Obs. [OE. to-tēon, f. To- 2 + teon, Tee v.[1] to draw, pull. So OHG. ziziohan, MHG. zerziehen.] trans. To pull to pieces.

c 893 K. Ælfred Oros. III. xi. § 3, & his æfterfolgeras feowertiene year hit siþþan totuzon & toteron. a 1000 Ags. Ps. (Th.) cxxiii. 5 Þam þe us midl toðum toteon woldan. c 1175 Lamb. Hom. 9 Ac me þe sculde nimen and al to-teon mid horse. 13.. Guy Warw. (A.) 517 Al mine limes it wil to-te. 13.. in Rowland & V. (1836) p. xxiii, Ther men might reuthe y-see, Mani baroun her here to ten.

Totel, -er, var. Tutel, -er Obs., to whisper.

Totem (tōu·tĕm), sb. Also 8 totam, 9 otem. [From Odjibewa, or some kindred Algonkin dialect. Mentioned (apparently) in 1609 by Lescarbot as aoutem (in Acadia); by Long 1791 as totam, by Henry a 1776, Cooper 1826, Catlin 1841, as totem, by Rev. P. Jones (a native Odjibewa) 1861, as toodaim, by Francis Assikinak (an Ottawa Indian) as Ododam, while the Abbé Thavenel gives the simple form as ote, 'the possessive of which is otem'. The initial t is explained by some as the final letter of a prec. possessive pronoun. The meaning given by most of these is 'mark'; by the younger Henry 'tribe'; Thavenel gives 'mark' and 'family or tribe', app. meaning 'that which marks the family or tribe'. Lescarbot and Long explain it as applied to a familiar spirit.]

1. Among the American Indians: The hereditary mark, emblem, or badge of a tribe, clan, or group of Indians, consisting of a figure or representation of some animal, less commonly a plant or other natural object, after which the group is named; thus sometimes used to denote the tribe, clan, or division of a 'nation', having such a mark; also applied to the animal or natural object itself, sometimes considered to be ancestrally or fraternally related to the clan, being spoken of as a brother or sister, and treated as an object of friendly regard, or sometimes even as incarnating a guardian spirit who may be appealed to or worshipped.

[1609 Lescarbot Hist. Nouvelle France vi. 683 Son dæmon appellé Aoutem, lequel ceux de Canada nomment Cudonagui.] 1760–76 A. Henry (the elder) Travels (1809) 305 The tribes are called by Indians called, in the Algonquin tongue, a totem, and which is in the nature of an armorial bearing. 1791 J. Long Voy. Indian Interpr. 86 One part of the religious superstition of the Savages, consists in each of them having his totam, or favourite spirit, which he believes watches over him. This totam they conceive assumes the shape of some beast or other, and therefore they never kill, hunt, or eat the animal whose form they think this totam bears to them. One of them, whose totam was a bear, 1799–1808 A. Henry (the younger) Journals (1897) I. 106 Should he not belong to the clan (totem). 1826 F. Cooper Mohicans (1829) II. x. 162 There was one chief of his party who carried the hatchet, as a mark of his rank, or totem, 1841 Catlin N. Amer. Ind. II. liv. 168 Here are to be seen (and will continue to be seen for ages to come), the totems and arms of the different tribes, who have visited this place for ages past. Ibid. 170 We is Mandan chief and his tribe] left our totems as marks on the rocks. We cut them deep in the stones, they are there now. 1851 Schoolcraft Indian Tribes 294 A single element in the system attracted early notice. I allude to the institution of the Totem, which has been well known among the Algonquin tribes from the settlement of Canada. 1855 Longf. Hiawa., Picture Writing 23 From what old, ancestral Totem, Be it Eagle, Bear, or Beaver, They descended, this we know not. 1865 J. G. Hommes Nat. Canada 101 The totem, or outline of some animal, (from do-daim, a family mark,) was always the chief's signature to a treaty. 1861 P. Jones Hist. Ojebways 128 Each 'nation' is subdivided into a number of tribes or clans called 'toodaims', and each tribe is distinguished by certain animals or things, as for instance: the Ojebway nations have the following toodaims:—the Eagle, Reindeer, Otter, Bear, Buffalo, Beaver, Catfish, Pike, Birch-bark, White Oak Tree, Bear's liver, etc.—The Mohawk nation have only three divisions or tribes—the Turtle, the Bear, and the Wolf. 1865 Tylor Early Hist. Man. x. 281 The Indian tribes are usually divided into clans, each distinguished by a totem (Algonquin do-daim, that is 'town mark') which is commonly some animal, as a bear, wolf, deer, etc., and may be compared on the one hand to a crest, and on the other to a surname. 1885 Clodd Myths & Dr. i. vii. 106 The Jacobis would neither kill nor eat their totems. 1887 L. Oliphant Episodes 72 Twelve of these placed their totems opposite my signature; each totem consisting of the rude representation of a bear, a deer, an otter, a rat, or some other wild animal. 1893 A. Lang Custom & Myth 105 Prof. Max Müller (Academy, Jan., 1884) says the word should be, not Totem, but Ote or Otem. Mr. Tylor's enquiries among the Red Men support this.

b. By anthropologists the name has been extended to refer to other savage peoples and tribes, which (though they may not use totem marks) are similarly divided into groups or clans named after animals, etc.; such animals, animal-names, or animal-named groups, being spoken or written of as their totems, and their organization, their complex system of mutual and marriage relations and religious usages, being styled Totemism, q. v.

There are also said to be among certain races (as the Australians) sex-totems, peculiar to men or to women, and personal totems, pertaining to the individual and not hereditary.

[1851–9 Prichard in Man. Sci. Eng. 263 The institution of the Totem as it was termed among the North American nations has its counterpart among the nations of Australia.] 1874 Lubbock in Manch. Sci. Lect. Ser. v. & vi. 248 In Australia we seem to find the Totem, or, as it is there called, the 'k. bong', in the very process of deification. 1879 A. Lang in Academy 11 Jan. 24/2 A man or woman is born of such or such a totem, and choice has nothing whatever to do with the matter. 1883 — in Contemp. Rev. Sept. 415 The totem was but a badge worn by all the persons who found themselves existing in close relations. 1889 J. G. Frazer Totemism 52–3 Clearly these sex totems are not to be confounded with clan totems...The sex totem seems to be still more sacred than the clan totem; for men who do not object to other people killing their clan totem will fiercely defend their sex totem against any attempt of the opposite sex to injure it. 1888 — in Encycl. Brit. XXIII. 467/1 A totem is a class of material objects which a savage regards with superstitious respect, believing that there exists between him and every member of the class an intimate and altogether special relation. 1905 Athenæum 21 Jan. 87/1 They have no special word answering to 'totem' for such animals. Ibid., M. van Gennep..uses 'totem' only in the sense of the hereditary name giving animal or other object of the kin. 1909 tr. Hoff's Hum. Species 300 The necessity for setting up sub-totems first arose from the great extension of the totem; in a single tribe, and it was convenient to take the sub-totem from the father who transferred his totem-name to his son.

c. fig.

1890 Pall Mall G. 30 June 7/2 The vulgar embroidered smoking-cap, which used to be the distinctive totem of the bazaar debauchee. 1893 Times 11 May 9/3 Mr. Bryce, whose totem is very different, threatened the Unionists that their vote against a bogus second chamber would be remembered against them.

2. attrib. and Comb., as totem ancestor, animal, clan, figure, god, group, kin, name, people, plant, soul, stage, system, tree, worship, etc.; totem exogamy, the custom of marrying only one of a different totem or totem-clan; totem-pole, totem-post, a post carved and painted with totem figures, erected by the Indians of the north-west of North America in front of their houses; totem-stone, a stone with markings supposed to be prehistoric totemic figures.

1869 M'Lennan in Fortn. Rev. Oct. 408 Men in, what we may call, the Totem stage of development. 1870 Ibid. Feb. 213 The tribesmen..esteem themselves as of the species of the Totem-god. 1871 Tylor Prim. Cult. I. xv. 413 Some accounts describing the totem-animal as being actually regarded as the sacred object. Ibid. 414 Considering it [animal-worship] as inherited from an early totem-stage of society. Ibid. 415 The systematic division of a whole people into a number of totem-clans. 1879 Max Müller Voltaire v. 241 The needs and aspirations..of the developed polytheist [would not be satisfied] by totem-worship. 1882 Athenæum 22 Apr. 507/3 Even ethnologists..will maintain that the totem-kin became the gens. 1888 J. G. Frazer in Encycl. Brit. XXIII. 468/1 The Bechuanas in South Africa..have a well-developed totem system. Ibid. 470/1 The fundamental rules of totem societies. Ibid. 470/2 The Australian ceremony at initiation of pretending to recall a dead man to life by the utterance of his totem name. 1889 W. Robertson Smith Relig. Semites viii. 276 Among totem peoples..the sacred animal is forbidden food, it is akin to the men who acknowledge its sanctity. 1891 Cent. Dict. s. v., Totem Posts, Canadian Pacific Coast. 1895 F. B. Jevons Introd. Hist. Relig. xx. 294 The sacramental eating first of totem-animals and then of totem-plants. 1901 Athenæum 7 Dec. 779/1 Mr. N. W. Thomas exhibited a collection of 'totem-stones'. 1902 Folk-Lore Dec. 363 To savage reasoners, the totem-soul may perhaps seem to tenant each plant or animal of its species. 1907 C. Hill-Tout Brit. N. Amer., Far West ix. 177 The family or kin totem-figures which are customarily carved on the beams or painted on the sides of their houses. 1910 Seligmann Melanesians of Brit. N. Guinea Introd. 10 Totem exogamy is still generally observed. 1910 A. F. Chamberlain in Encycl. Brit. XXIV. 470/1 The wood art of the Indians of the North Pacific coast (masks, utensils, houses, totem-poles, furniture, &c.).

Hence To·tem v., trans. to draw, paint, or tattoo (a totem mark).

1894 S. Jackson Educ. in Alaska in Educ. Rep. (U. S.) 1892–2, 890 Some (Tchuktchi men] have a small mark or figure totemed on their cheek.

Totemic (tōte·mik), a. [f. prec. + -IC.] Of, pertaining to, or of the nature of a totem or totems; characterized by or having totems.

1865 Lubbock Preh. Times xiv. (1878) 528 The totemic tie that binds relationships together. 1867 Parkman Jesuits N. Amer. Introd. (1875) 68 The names of the totemic clans, borrowed in nearly every case from animals. 1885 Clodd Myths & Dr. I. vi. 99 The belief of the Moquis of Arizona, that after death they live in the form of their totemic animal. 1905 Athenæum 21 Jan. 87/1 Mr. Haddon derives totemic names from such surnames as 'Eaters of Turtle'. 1906 Ibid. 17 Mar. 332 There are many taboos on food which are certainly not totemic in origin.

Hence Tote·mically adv., in reference to totems or totemism; after the manner of a totem.

1902 Folk-Lore Dec. 373 Two cases in which Australian totem-groups averred that they were named totemically after a small species of opossum. 1910 Athenæum 11 June 707/3 We may regard Africa, totemically speaking, as an unexplored continent.

Totemism (tōu·tĕmiz'm). [f. TOTEM + -ISM.] The use of totems, with the clan division, and the social, marriage, and religious customs connected with it.

1791 J. LONG Voy. Indian Interpr. 87 This idea of destiny, or, if I may be allowed the phrase, 'totemism',..is not confined to the Savages. 1870 LUBBOCK Orig. Civilis. v. (1875) 199 Nature-worship or Totemism, in which natural objects are worshipped. 1883 A. LANG in Contemp. Rev. Sept. 414 Totemism is the name for the custom by which a stock (scattered through many local tribes) claims descent from some plant, animal, or other natural object. Ibid. Totemism..is a widespread institution prevailing all over the north of the American continent. 1905 Westm. Gaz. 13 Dec. 3/2 Here is the beginning of totemism—'the bearing of the name of an object by a human group', as Mr. Howitt says. 'Naming' is the 'original germ', says Mr. Lang, 'of totemism'.

To·temist. [f. TOTEM + -IST.]

1. One who belongs to a totem clan, or has a totem.

1882 Cornh. Mag. Sept. 332 Our Aryan ancestor in person was a most undoubted totemist. 1883 F. SERGEANT Eng. VIII. Community 362 The conclusion that the Saxons were 'totemists'. 1887 A. LANG Myth, Ritual & Relig. I. 73 Totemists..spare the beasts that are their own..kin. 1905 Athenæum 21 Jan. 87/1 If the people were once true totemists, the traces thereof are indistinct.

2. One who is versed in the history of totemism.

1897 Edin. Rev. July 239 Some of the highest authorities on the myths and customs of savage races are by no means on the side of the thoroughgoing totemist. 1902 Folk-Lore Dec. 361, I am not aware that any totemists do make this assertion.

So Totemi·stic a., of, pertaining to, or characterized by totemism.

1882 Sat. Rev. 12 Feb. 216/2 Why were the 'primary divisions', as Mr. Fison says they were, totemistic? 1882 Athenæum 22 Apr. 501/1 While Huitzilopochtli had many features of the magician, he had also elemental and totemistic sides to his complex nature. 1884 Pall Mall G. 28 Oct. 5/1 Their society is Totemistic; that is to say, they are divided into stocks of kin (real or assumed), each designated by the name of its Totem plant, animal, or what not. 1905 C. SQUIRE Mythol. Brit. Isl. 20 An agricultural ..people, still in the Stone Age, dwelling in totemistic tribes on hills.

Totemite (tōu·tĕmīt). [f. TOTEM + -ITE [1].] = TOTEMIST I.

1904 HOWITT Native Tribes S.E. Australia iii. 145 To dream about his own totem means that some one has done something to it for the purpose of harming the sleeper or one of his totemites. 1911 MARETT Anthropol. vi. 167 Sometimes the totem is thought of as an ancestor, or as the common fund of life out of which the totemites are born and into which they go back when they die.

†Toth. Obs. rare. [Only in Ormin, tohþ. Origin unknown: the short o makes connexion with OE. tōþ, TOOTH, highly improbable.] Exact meaning uncertain: the comforting simplest sense kind of wrongdoing.

c1200 ORMIN 7286 Alle þa þatt lifenn tohþ & woh & unnsahlittnesse. Ibid. 9317 Sill þatt þe wel 3ȝaw lokenn Fra clakke & sakes, & fra þatt tohþ þatt follȝhepp gilternesse.

Tother (tʊ·ðər), pron. and a. Now dial. Forms: α. (3 þet oþer), 3–5 þe toþer, 4–6 the tothir, the toder, etc. (see OTHER), 4–7, 9 the tother, 7–8 the t'other, 8–9 Sc. the tither. β. 4 þat toþer, þat toiþer. γ. (without the) 6 tothir, (dial. toore), 6–7, 9 tother, 7–9 t'other. [ME. þe toþer, for earlier þet oþer, þat oþer 'the other'; formed in the same way as þe tone from þet or þat one: see TONE pron. and a. The tother is still used in Sc. and in north. Eng. dialects, but in general Eng. is replaced by the other, and often in familiar use by the simple tother, also written t'other. Cf. the similar use of tone, t'one. When a possessive pronoun or case took the place of the, tother remained, e.g. his tother hand, in literary Eng. 'his other hand'.]

A. pron., or adj. used absolutely.

1. The other (of two): often opposed to tone (see TONE pron.).

a. [a 1225 Leg. Kath. 101 Ane dale ha etheold..& spende al þ oðer. 1340 Ayenb. 26 þet nariste heaued of þe beste of helle ys predo, þet oþer is emule.] c1250 Gen. & Ex. 2921 Dis on wolde don ße toþer wrong. a1300 Cursor M. 11056 Þe tan was leuedi maiden ying, þe toþer [Gött. toder] hir band-womman kesling. c1380 WYCLIF Sel. Wks. III. 248 Þe tonn pope failiþ þe toþurs bollis. 1382 — Isa. vi. 3 Thei crieden the tother to the tother. 1388 Ibid., Thei crieden the toon to the tother. c1440 Anc. Cookery in Household. Ord. (1790) 435 Dresse up the tone with the tother. 1533 J. HAYWOOD Play Weather (1901) 1100 Nother wyll we do the tone nor the tother. 1613 FLETCHER, etc. Captain ii. ii, Fran. What's the tother? Clor. What tother? Fran. He that lyes along there. 1725 M. DAVIES Athen. Brit. I. 7 Two small Dissertations, the one upon Noe's arrival, the t'other was about the Origin of the Druids. a1774 FERGUSSON Drink Eel. Poems (1845) 49 Brandy the tane, the tither whisky. 1816 SCOTT Antiq. xxvii, My lord cares as little about the tane as the tother.

β. 13.. Cursor M. 84 (Cott.) And in hat toher [m. rr. þe toher, hat oher] scho lastes ever. Ibid. 2092 'Þi fader slepand', said hat toiher [other MSS. þe toher], 'Liggus here-onte'. Ibid. 3494 His moder him lused mare þan hat toher [other MSS. þe toher].

γ. 1587 FLEMING Contin. Holinshed III. 1339/1 Tone gone to God,..still reigning tother. 1632 BROME North. Lasse i. iv, Here's one, there's tother. 1688 PRIOR On Exod. III vi, He on Tother's Ruin rears his Throne. 1710 PALMER Proverbs 129 Scarcity the vogue on one side and t'other. 1800 MAR. EDGEWORTH Lame Jervas i, I saw the ghost.. with the light in one hand, and a chair dragging after him in t'other. 1870 LOWELL Study Wind. 259 You cannot tell one from tother.

†2. The second (of two or more): cf. OTHER B. 3. (Cf. Ger. der andere.) Obs.

a1300 Cursor M. 1629 (Cott.) Þe first was sem, cham was þe toþeir [other MSS. þe toher]. And laphet hight þat yongest broher. 1380 Lay Folks Catech. 332 (Lamb. MS.) þe fyrst ȝs syȝt of eye, þe toher heryng of Ere. c1450 Merlin ii. 24 Thre sonnes, the first hight Moyne, and the tother Pendragon, and the thirde Uter.

3. pl. (the tother obs., tothers rare): The others, the rest: cf. OTHER B. 4.

c1330 R. BRUNNE Chron. Wace (Rolls) 45 Þat were Maysters of alle þe toilye, Hengist he hight, & Hors his brohre. 13.. Cursor M. 4948 (Gött.) Þan spac ruben þe eldest broder Stille menand til þe toder. 1494 FABYAN Chron. VII. 339, xviii. were conuycte and hangyd, & the tother remayned longe after in prysone. 1691 J. WILSON Belphegor v. iii, When t'others shall..break themselves, on what they fall.

B. as adj. preceding a sb.

1. The other (of two). In early use often opposed to TO, TONE a.: see these.

α. a1300 Cursor M. 6305 (Cott.) In sirie apon þe toiher side. Ibid. 16721 Þe toher [Laud MS. the toiir] theif him gaf answer. 1303 R. BRUNNE Handl. Synne 1303 Yn þe toher worlde her þey shul be, þey are nat wurþy any ioye to se. c1385 CHAUCER L. G. W. 325 (Balade) Or he hane herd the tothyr partye speke. 1419 Mustim. de Mirtow (Hanna, Ser. 2) Betwix..Dauid abbot..and hys Conuent on þe ta part and Nychole of Wedale on þe toher part. 1465 Cal. Anc. Rec. Dublin (1889) 320 The tothyr half to the cowrte. 1482 Monk of Evesham (Arb.) 71 He..brought eetten water to the todyr man that tolde me. 1512 MORE De Quat. Novissi. Wks. 75/1 On the tother syde wher as one doth such spiritual busines with a dulnes of spirite & weriness. a 1578 LINDESAY (Pitscottie) Chron. Scot. (S.T.S.) I. 149 He dreamed beith the tudder twa. 1681 DRYDEN Span. Friar v. ii, No I the t'other old gentleman in black shall take me if I do. 1716 M. DAVIES Athen. Brit. II. 172 In requital to the t'other Prelate's Urias's Letter. 1816 SCOTT Antiq. xxxix, I beset Puggie Orrock, and the tother thief of a sheriff-officer..speaking about it.

γ. 1627 W. SCLATER Exp. 2 Thess. (1629) 299 Wee, Britans of t'other race. 1720 WHITE Monit. Clergy Peterbo. 1. iv This Island and t'other invented Order of their Church. 1727 GAY Begg. Op. II. xiii, How happy could I be with either, Were t'other dear Charmer away!

†b. After a possessive: Other. Obs.

1482 Ceely Papers (Camden) 108 Accordyng as hit specyfyeth in my toder letter. 1549 Compl. Scot. 6 The grit armye of enemeis valkand on ther tothir syde. 1613 HEYWOOD Silver Age II. i. Wks. 1874 III. 113 Vnlesse it were my tother selfe, I haue no hand in it. 1721 D'URFEY Two Queens Bromsford v. i, Now you shall have my t'other Walk.

†2. The second (of two or more): cf. OTHER A. 3. Obs.

α a1300 Cursor M. 1627 heading (Cott.) Her bigins at noe þe lede þe toher werld right for to led. c1400 MAUNDEV. (1839) xxi. 225 The first statute was, that [etc.]..The tother Statute was, that [etc.]. a 1400 Relig. Pieces fr. Thornton MS. (1845) 13 Tiler speccle as þat we sall trowe. 1456 SIR G. HAYE Law Armis (S.T.S.) 2 The ferde is of the first angel..The fyft is of the tothir angel.

β. The second, another, one more. Obs. exc. Sc.

1600 ROWLANDS Lett. Humours Blood xix. 25 He calleth: Boy, fill vs the tother quart. 1653 WALTON Angler ii. 218 Then each man drink the tother cup and to bed. 1723 RAMSAY Tea-t. Misc. (ed. 9) I. 9 The lover he ga'e her the tither kiss, Syne ran to her dady and tell'd him this. 1785 BURNS Tolly Beggars ii, And aye he gies the tozie drab The tither skelpin' kiss.

3. (The) tother (day, etc.). †a. The second; the following, the next (day, etc.): cf. OTHER A. 3 b (a). Obs. †b. The preceding (day, etc.): cf. OTHER A. 3 b (b). Obs. c. The other (day, night, etc.); a few days, etc.) ago: cf. OTHER A. 3 b (c).

a. a 1300 Cursor M. 7619 (Cott.) Þe toher morn [Gött. day] her after-ward þe warlau trauail saul ful hard. Ibid. 13249 In aueril þe toher dai. c1330 R. BRUNNE Chron. (Rolls) 38 Þe toher yere next of his conuynent. 13.. Cursor M. 5993 (Gött.) Moyses praid þe toher day, All þe filjs wair quit a-way. c 1430 Syr Tryam. 508 The tother day, on the same wyse, As the kynge fro the borde cam rynse. a 1761 K. Estmere xxvii. in Child Ballads iii. (1885) 53/1 Tone day to marrye Kyng Adlands daughter, Tother daye to carrye her home.

b. c 1470 HENRY Wallace v. 908 Schir Jhone the Graysme, ..To the Corthed come on the tothir nycht.

c. 1575 Gamm. Gurton iii. iv, Did not Tom Tankard rake his Curtal toore day standing in the stable? 1680 SIR C. LYTTELTON in Hatton Corr. (Camden) 232 Tother day, in shifting of class-mates. 1711 STEELE Spect. No. 153 P 1 An old Gentleman t'other Day in Discourse with a Friend. 1779 Mirror No. 12 P 8, I confess, I could not help being in a passion t'other day. 1863 Tyneside Songs 31 Tuther Setuerday we saw a grand foot race Alang at the Victoria grund.

C. Comb. (nonce-wds.): tother-day a. (see B. 3 c), that happened or existed a few days ago, very recent; tothersider, one from the other side.

1662 OWEN Animadv. Fiat Lux Wks. 1851 XIV. 65 Do we talk of t'other-day things? 1900 H. LAWSON Over Slipprails 72 We were all T'othersiders, and old mates, and we worked things together. It was in Westralia—the Land of T'othersiders.

To·ting(e, obs. form of TITHING sb.

To-threat, To-thrust: see To- pref.[2]

†To-throw, v. Obs. Forms: see THROW v.[1] [ME. f. To-[2] + thrawe(n, throwe(n, OE. þrǽwan, to twist, THROW v.[1] Cf. MHG. gedrejen, gedrewn.] trans. To wrench asunder; to separate, part.

c1325 SHOREHAM i. 1740 Þe tyme is, wane aran an Oper flesshlyche y-knowe; For wanne hy habbeþ þet y-do, Ne mowe hi be to-þrowe. 1340 Ayenb. 256 Ne þynge word to-þrauþ þe raynes.

Totient (tōu·ʃĕnt). Math. [irreg. f. L. totiēs, totiens, f. tot so many, after QUOTIENT.] The number of numbers (including unity) less than and prime to a given number. So Totitive (tōˈtitiv) [irreg. f. L. tot + -itive in such words as primitive, unitive], any one of such numbers in relation to the given number.

1879 SYLVESTER Math. Papers (1909) III. 337 Understanding by the 'totitives' of k the numbers less than k and prime to it, these totitives may be arranged in (among others) the natural groups hereunder written. 1889 Ibid. (1912) IV. 102 The sum of the totients of all the natural numbers up to x inclusive—a totient to x (which I denote by rx) meaning the number of numbers less than x and prime to it. 1891 Athenæum 21 Mar. 389/1 'Some Theorems concerning Groups of Totitives of n', by Prof. L. Tanner.

‖ Toties quoties (tōˈ·ʃiz kwōˈ·ʃiz), adv. Also totiens quotiens (tōˈ·ʃienz kwōˈ·ʃienz). Also 6 tociens quociens, tossyens quossyens. [L., 'so often as often'.] As often as something happens or occasion demands; repeatedly.

1512 Acts Privy Council 1. 68 Ye shall ..ryde..troubill Alexander Whitlaw..under the pane of ⁊c li. toties quoties. 1698-9 Act 12 Will. III, c. 3 § 141 And such Assignee may in like manner assigne again and soe toties quoties. a 1734 NORTH Exam. 1. iii. § 166 Grand Juries may enquire toties quoties of the same Offence. 1845 FOSS Handbk. Spain II. 771/1 Hence the jubilee was called 'toties quoties', for it was an annual benefit.

†To·ti·ght, v. Obs. [ME. to-tuhten, f. To-[2] + tuhten, OE. tyhtan, TIGHT v.[1] trans.

1. trans. To stretch or spread out; to extend.

c1200 Trin. Coll. Hom. 209 His lichame beð to-spred and to-tiht on þe rode. Ibid., Þeh his lichame..ne beo to-spred ne to-tuht on lichamliche rode.

2. To pull or draw asunder.

13.. Guy Warw. (A.) 5211 Mi sorwe is euer cominge,..al mi limes it hath to-tiȝt; Swiche liif y lede day & niȝt. Ibid. 3711 Her armes & legges he to-tiȝt, (C. to-twighte = twitched) & cleped hem wreches [MS. wroches] anon riȝt.

†Totila·ter. Obs. nonce-wd. [f. L. tōt-us whole, entire + latus, later- side: cf. QUADRILATER.] A figure that is 'all side', or consists of an infinite number of sides: applied to a circle as the limit of regular multilateral figures when the number of sides is infinite.

1628 [see TOTANGLE].

†To·tilde, v.b. (?a.). Obs. [f. ME. tot-en, TOOT v.[1], to peep out, pry,+ (perh.) -ild, fem. suffix, as in beggild, begenild, cheapild, fostrild, etc.] ? A peeping, peering, or prying woman.

a 1225 Ancr. R. 102 Þeiner eni toilde [so also Corpus] ancre uondede euer þis, þet heked [C. breaked] euer utward ase untowe brid ine cage?

[But the attrib. or adj. use, and the final -e, suggest that totilde here is perh. a scribal error for totinde, pr. pple. of toten, TOOT v.[1]: cf totinde ancres, ibid. 50 and 100.]

†To·ting, ppl. a. Obs. [pr. pple. of tote, earlier form of TOOT v.[1]; see also tooting under the verb.] Protruding, projecting, sticking out.

c1645 HOWELL Lett. (1650) I. iii. xxxi. 97 Though perhaps he had never a shirt to his back, yet would he have a toting huge swelling ruff about his neck. Ibid. (1655) IV. vii. 19 A poor shallow-brain'd puppy, who..would have men to have a priviledg to change their Wives,..deserves of all other to wear a toting horn. 1648-60 HEXHAM, Genewst, Nosed, or he that hath a great Nose, or a toting Nose. 1650 HOWELL Giraglia's Rom. Naples 1. By With a toting plume of feathers in his hat all white. 1676 WISEMAN Chirurg. Treat. I. xxvi. 141 Rending the Visage fiery, and in progress of time make those toting Copper-noses, as we generally express them.

Totipalmate (tōtipæˈlmēt), a. (sb.) Ornith. [f. L. tōti-, from tōt-us whole + PALMATE.] Wholly webbed; having all the toes connected by membrane which reaches to the extremities; steganopodous. b. sb. A totipalmate bird. Hence To·tipalma·tion, the condition of being totipalmate.

1872 COUES N. Amer. Birds 28 Goatsuckers, some Western swifts, loons, and all the totipalmate swimmers. Ibid. 296 Feet totipalmate, with three full webs; hind toe semi-lateral,..connected with the inner toe by a complete web reaching from tip to tip. 1884 Ibid. (ed. 2) Index, Totipalmation.

Totipotent (tōtiˈpōtĕnt), a. Biol. [f. L. tōti- (see prec.) + POTENT: cf. omnipotent.] Capable of developing into or generating a complete organism: said of a cell. So Toti·potence, To·tipotentia·lity, the quality of being totipotent.

1901 T. H. MORGAN Regeneration xii. 243 If we substitute the term 'totipotence', meaning that any meridian of the egg has the possibility of becoming the median plane of the embryo. 1904 Amer. Nat. July–Aug. 504 While in this species also the material is totipotent, yet when the determining influence of polarity is removed the stronger tendency is to produce a tail. 1909 J. W. JENKINSON Experim. Embryol. 281 In very many, though not in all, instances the parts of the ovum—blastomeres or egg fragments—are totipotent...The totipotence is, however, sooner or later lost. Ibid. 76 From other sources also there is evidence of a progressive loss of totipotentiality of the parts. 1911 — Sea Urchin 292.

† Totipre·sent, a. Obs. nonce-wd. [f. as prec. + PRESENT: cf. omnipresent.] Present throughout the whole of a space. So † Totipre·sence, the fact of being totipresent.

1768 TUCKER Lt. Nat. (1834) I. 337 Our own manner of existence in a sphere or portion of space sufficient to receive the action of many corporeal particles, we may term a totipresence throughout the contents of that sphere...A totipresence throughout all immensity amounts to the same as omnipresence. Ibid. 409 There is a certain portion of space throughout which we are totipresent, because we can receive the action of many corporeal particles at once which cannot be brought into contact with a mathematical point.

Totitive: see †TOTIENT.

Totive (tōʊ·tiv), a. nonce-wd. [f. L. tōt-us whole + -IVE.] Denoting a whole: see quot.

1894 KEY Language xviii. 225 A leading use of the genitive is that called 'partitive', but might more fitly be called 'totive', for the genitive here denotes the whole whence a part is taken.

Totle, Totnam: see TOTTLE v.[1], TOTTENHAM.

‖ Toto (tōʊ·tō), adj. sing. masc. and neut. of L. tōtus all, whole, entire: occurring in a few phrases in literary use, as Toto cœlo (tōʊ·tō sē·lō), 'by the whole heaven', by as much as the distance between the poles, diametrically; in quot. 1844 attrib. entire, absolute; Toto genere (dʒē·nĕri), 'in the whole nature or character; Toto orbe (ē·bē), 'by the whole world'; = toto cœlo.

1797 POPE Art of Stukiing I. Wks. 1751 VI. 167 In their others [pieces] they differ'd toto cœlo from us. 1844 W. G. WARD Ideal Chr. Ch. (ed. 2) 272 The toto-coelo difference in kind between [etc.]. a 1878 SIR G. G. SCOTT Lect. Archit. xvi. (1879) II. 234 The dome [of the Pantheon]. differs toto cœlo from the normal mode of construction. 1672 BOYLE Orig. & Virt. Gems I. 49 Bodies, that differ toto genere, as Metals and Stones. a 1834 COLERIDGE Lit. Rem. (1839) IV. 232 Here I differ toto orbe from Waterland.

Toto, totoo (16th c.), i. e. too too: see Too.

Toto-, used as combining form of L. Tōtus whole, in certain cases, instead of the normal form toti- (see -O), forming compound adjs., a. in sense 'entirely, wholly, utterly' (see -O 1), as to·to·conge·nital, to·to·mu·te, to·to·offi·cious; b. in sense 'total and . . ' (see -O 2), as To·to·partial Logic, applied to a proposition in which one term is universal and the other particular; so To·to·to·tal, having both terms universal.

1890 Q. Rev. Jan. 68 The marriage of toto-congenital deaf mutes. 1893 F. W. BOOTH World's Congr. Instruct. Deaf 59 The German semi-mute brought to a study of English has a decided advantage over his *toto-mute brother. 1586 in J. Morris Troub. Cath. Forefathers (1877) 69 Condemned as rude, troublesome, and *toto-officious. 1833 SIR W. HAMILTON Discuss. (1852) 162 *Toto-total—all is all. . *Toto-partial—all is some.

To·toy, variant of †TOTUG v. Obs.

† To·toll, v. Obs. [ME. f. To-[2] + TOLL v.[1] to draw.] trans. To pull or drag hither and thither.

c 1325 Poem times Edw. II (Percy) lix, Hit schal be totolled, hit schal be totwyst [v.r. Hit shal be forpinched, totoilled & totwiht]. Ibid. lxi, Hit is so to-tolled, bothe heder & theder Hit is halfendel istole, ar hit be brout togeder. c 1330 Arth. & Merlin (Kölbing) 8832 Þe hepen me tok & totoiled, Tobeten, todrawe & defoiled.

To·torve, To·tose, To·tray, etc.: see To-[2].

† Tot-quot. Obs. [L. tot quot as much or as many as (there may be).]

1. Eccl. A dispensation or licence to hold as many ecclesiastical benefices as the holder pleases or can get; hence, the holding of such benefices, unlimited pluralism; pl. benefices so held.

1509 BARCLAY Ship Folys (1570) 60 He hath hope To haue another benefyce of greater dignitie. And so maketh a false suggestion to the pope, For a tot quot or els a pluralitie. 1522 SKELTON Why not to Court? 125 We shall haue a tot quot From the Pope of Rome. a 1550 Image Ipocr. i. in Skelton's Wks. (1843) II. 420/2 Ye drawe and cast lottes, In hattes and in potes, For tottes and for quottes. 1583 STUBBES Anat. Abus. ii. (1882) 79 They purchase a dispensation, a licence,..by vertue whereof they may hold totquots so manie, how manie soeuer. 1637 BASTWICK Litany II. 9 The Pope selleth nonresidences, pluralityes, trialityes, totquots, the Prelats doe the same.

b. transf. One who holds tot-quots; an unlimited pluralist.

1628 P. SMART Serm. Durh. Cath. 7 July 21 The same will be also a notorious Non-resident, a very Tot-quot. 1677 W. HUGHES Man of Sin 11. iv. 82 S. Wereburga,..being Governess of three Nunneries (being no more, she was no Tot-quot then).

2. An indefinite or infinite number; as many as you like.

1565 J. SWIN. Repl. Harding xiii. (1621) 360 He pleadeth his totes, quotes, and thereby would erect a whole totquot of Masses, sans number. ..By these words, M. Hardinga Totquot is much abridged.

3. A rate or tax assessed in proportion to income.

1611 COTGR., Quottité, an euen assessement, a rate or totquot imposed; the laying on euerie one his share.

† To·tread, v. Obs. [OE. totredan, f. To-[2] + tredan, TREAD v. So OS. te-tredan, OHG. zatretan*, MHG. ze-, zertreten, Ger. zertreten.] trans. To trample down, trample upon. Hence † To·treading vbl. sb.

[c 725 Corpus Gloss. (Hessels) D 77 Desicit [? Deficit], teridit.] c 1175 Lamb. Hom. 133 Sum [feol] hi be weie and wer3 to-treden and fuȝeles hit freten. 13.. K. Alis. 3946 (Bodl. MS.) Horses totraden alle þe Boukes of noble Barouns & of Dukes. 1382 WYCLIF Prov. xxvii. 7 The soule fulfild shal *to*tread the hony comb. 1535 COVERDALE Isa. xxviii. 18 The greate destruction..shal all to treade you.

Totsane, Tott(e, obs. ff. TUTSAN, TOT.

† To·tted, ppl. a. Obs. rare[−1]. [? related to TOT *sb.*1] ? Muddle-headed; or = TOTTY a.[2]

c 1480 Kyng & Hermyt 348 in Hazl. E. P. P. I. 26 And you schall here a totted frere Say Stryke paunere; And in y° cope leve ryȝt noȝt.

Tottenham (tɒ·t'năm). In 6 Totnam. Name of a northern suburb of London. † Tottenham is turned French, a proverb used in reference to any unlikely or remarkable change.

1546 J. HEYWOOD Prov. (1867) 14 Their faces told toies, that Totnam was tourned frenche. 1581 A. HALL Iliad IV. 60 Do what thou canst, the time will come that Totnam French shal turn; The Gods and I will so prouide. a 1661 FULLER Worthies, Middlesex (1662) II. 178.

Totter (tɒ·tər), sb.[1] Forms: 4–5 totre, 5 totyr, totoure, 6– totter. [f. TOTTER v. Cf. Flem., Du. (and WFris.) touter in sense 1.]

† 1. A swing; a board suspended by two ropes, on which a person sits and is swung to and fro.

1387 TREVISA Higden (Rolls) II. 387 Whan men [fel] of þe totres and were I-herte sore, it was ordeyned among hem þat image I-lik to bodies schulde be sette in þe totros, and meue and totery in stede of hem þat were a-falle. Þat game is cleped ocillum in Latyn. c 1440 Promp. Parv. 498/2 Totyr, or myry totyr, chylderys game, ..oscillum. 1468 Medulla Gram. Ascilium, genus ludi, cum funis suspenditur a trabe in quo pueri et puelle sedentes impelluntur hinc et illuc,—a totoure. Petaurus, quidam ludus, a totre. 1483 Cath. Angl. 309/2 A mery Totyr (A. A Totyr), petaurus, & cetera. 1552 HULOET, Totter playe, betwene two bell ropes to totire to and fro, petaurum.

2. The action, or an act, of tottering; wavering, oscillation; an unsteady or shaky movement or gait as of one ready to fall.

1747 E. POSTON Prattler I. 1 My Mind is so on the Totter between For and Against. 1752 JOHNSON Rambler No. 109 P. 8, I..had his hend in my shoulders, and his totter in my gait. 1830 Chron. in Ann. Reg. 35/2 He seemed all of a totter and tremble. 1898 WATTS-DUNTON Aylwin II. iv, Without raising an arm to balance her body, without a totter or a slip.

3. attrib. and Comb. (or from the verb-stem), as totter-arse, † (a) the game of see-saw; = TITTER-TOTTER 1; (b) one who totters (dial.); totter-grass, quaking-grass, Briza media, or sometimes another grass with slender stalk; to·tter-hea·ded a., light-headed, frivolous, changeful; totter-kneed a., yielding, 'weak-kneed'.

1611 COTGR., Baccoler, to play at titter-totter, or at *totter-arse; to ride the wild Mare; as children who sitting vpon both ends of a long Pole, or Timber-log (supported only in the middle) fall one another vpon and downe. 1888 ELWORTHY W. Somerset Word-bk. s. v., I ant a-zeed no such two double totterarse 'is longful time. 1821 CLARE Vill. Minstr. II. 198 And *totter-grass, in many a trembling knot. 1909 Spectator 10 July 48/2 The ox-eye daisies white among the totter-grass and sorrel. 1662 PETTY Taxes ii. § 24 The things which cause animosities among the *totter-headed multitude. 1889 G. MEREDITH Ballads & P., Whimper of Symphathy, The Singer of the *totterkneed'S.

Totter, sb.[2]: see TOT *sb.*5

† Totter, a. Obs. rare[−1]. In 4 totyre.

[If genuine, goes with TOTTER v. (but it may be a copyist's error for TOLTER.)]

Tottering, shaky, unstable, insecure.

c 1375 Sc. Leg. Saints xxviii. (Margaret) 42 Þe wikit world scho ouercom ala, þat ay is totyre, fekil, & fals.

Totter (tɒ·tər), v. Also 3–5 toter, 6 tottre. [Appears first c 1200; has the form of a frequentative from a stem tot-, expressing instability or unstable movement. Perh. from Norse: cf. Norw. dial. tutra, totra to quiver, shake (Ross), Sw. dial. tuttra (Rietz). The sense is found in Flem. & Du. touteren to swing, though it is difficult to connect this phonologically: cf. TOLTER v.]

† 1. intr. To swing to and fro, esp. at the end of a rope; fig. to waver, vacillate. Obs.

c 1200 Vices & Virtues 135 Ne mid fote sitten toterinde. 1387 TREVISA Higden (Rolls) II. 387 Men of Athene heng vp ropes in þe ayer and men totrede þeronne and meued hider and hider [orig. huc et illuc stabantur]. Ibid. [see TOTTER sb.[1] 1]. c 1440 Promp. Parv. 498/1 Toteron, or waveron, vacillo. 1552 [see TOTTER sb.[1] 1]. 1594 PLAT Jewell-ho. III. 47 It should seem that before the breaking of the yolke, that the yolke did hang playing or tottering within the white. 1601 SHAKS. All's Well I. iii. 129 Manie likelihoods..which hung so tottring in the ballance.

† b. spec. To swing from the gallows, to be hanged. Obs.

c 1530 Hickscorner B ij b, That is a knauysshe sight to se them totter on a beme. 1542 UDALL Erasm. Apoph. 122 Diogenes..had a greate zele..to see them euery one swyng-yng & tottreyng in halters. 1556 J. HEYWOOD Spider & F. xv. 13 If they be had, they shall hang therupone, And yet if they totter twenty togyther, Still do theenes rob there. 1623–33 FLETCHER & SHIRLEY Night-Walker III. v, I would lose a limb, to see their roguesships totter.

† c. To play at see-saw. Cf. TITTER-TOTTER.

1530 PALSGR. 760/1, I totter to and fro, as chylder do whan they play...je ballance...Totter nat to moche leste you fall.

† 2. To move up and down or to and fro, as a ship on the waves; to toss, to pitch. Obs.

13.. E. E. Allit. P. C 239 Penne þay hem takel were torne, þat totered on yþez. c 1400 Laud Troy Bk. 4294 Other.. In the water swam and flotered, And there schippis a-boute totered. 1596 Edward III, III. i. 170 Then might ye see the reeling vessels split, And tottering sink into the ruthless flood.

3. To rock or shake to and fro on its base, as if about to overbalance or collapse; † in quot. c 1400, to tremble.

c 1400 Laud Troy Bk. 9717 Thei sat toteryngge as it were gece—What for the strokes & the hete. 1522 MORE De Quat. Novissi. Wks. 99 The hands trimbling..and the feete toteryng. 1576 PETTIE Petite Pallace 33 As a tree hewen downe with axes, redy to fal.., tottereth euery way, being vncertayne which way to fal. 1697 DRYDEN Æneid II. 384 Troy nods from high, and totters to her fall. 1775 SHERIDAN St. Patr. Day II. ii, I was..taken with a sudden giddiness, and Humphrey seeing me beginning to totter, ran to my assistance. 1896 MARRYAT Midsh. Easy xxx, Her mainmast was seen to totter, and then to fall over the side.

b. fig. or in fig. context.

1610 SHAKS. Temp. III. iii. 8 If th'other two be brain'd like vs, the State totters. 1641 MILTON Ch. Govt. i. Wks. 1851 III. 100 So long as the Church is mounted upon the Prelatical Cart..it will but shake and totter. 1719 DUNC Revenge IV. i. O forbear! You totter on the very brink of ruin. a 1774 TUCKER Lt. Nat. (1834) II 173 Their faith..will be apt to shake and totter grievously in the storms of opposition. 1874 GREEN Short Hist. v. § 2. 222 From the day of Cressy feudalism tottered slowly but surely to its grave.

† c. To oscillate, vibrate, rock (without any notion of falling). Obs. rare.

1668 CULPEPPER & COLE Barthol. Anat. I. xi. 27 The use of which bones, is to hinder that the valve do not easily totter. 1698 MOXON Mech. Exerc. iv. 64 Not letting the Plain totter to or from you-wards.

4. To walk or move with unsteady steps; to go shakily or feebly; to toddle; also, to walk with difficulty; to reel, stagger.

1602 MARSTON Ant. & Mel. I. Wks. 1856 I. 17 He totered from the reeling decke. 1796 MORSE Amer. Geog. II. 489 Chinese women..may be said to totter rather than to walk. 1797 DOWNING Disorders Horned Cattle, etc. 106 When the staggers and convulsive symptoms arise, the horse..is feeble, reels and totters about as he moves. 1818 SCOTT Br. Lamm. xix, The old blind woman arose, assumed her staff, ..tottering to her hut. 1863 W. C. BALDWIN Afr. Hunting vii. 280 Three niggers staggering after us with as much as ever they could totter under.

b. trans. (nonce-uses.) (a) To make (one's way) totteringly. (b) To carry with tottering steps.

1846 MRS. GORE Eng. Char. (1850) 57 Poor Corney tottered his way from the miserable cellar of St. Giles's..towards the fashionable quarter of the town. 1864 LOWELL Fireside Trav. 280 After our little bearers [mules] had tottered us up and down the dusky steeps.

† 5. trans. To cause to shake to and fro, to rock; to render unstable. Also fig. Obs.

1625 T. ADAMS White Devill 45 There is some disobedient and fugitive Jonasses that thus totter our ship. a 1625 FLETCHER Hum. Lieut. I. i, Earthquakes To shake and totter my designs. a 1693 Urquhart's Rabelais III. Prol. T He..totter'd it, lifted it,..transpos'd it, transplaced it.

Totterdemal(l)ion, obs. f. TATTERDEMALION.

† Tottered (tɒ·tərd), ppl. a. Obs. [Orig. a variant of TATTERED, and used in that sense (cf. Norw. dial. totra rag); subsequently associated with TOTTER v., and more or less assimilated in sense.]

1. = TATTERED 2, 3.

1570 FOXE A. & M. (ed. 2) 1357/1 He..was not so disguised in hys tottered attyre, but that hys countenance gaue signification [etc.]. 1596 SHAKS. I Hen. IV, IV. ii. 37 A hundred and fiftie totter'd Prodigalls, lately come from Swine-keeping. 1657 S. PURCHAS Pol. Flying-Ins. 118 [They] have their wings tottered and torn. a 1693 Urquhart's Rabelais III. xvii, The ragged and tottered Equipage of her Person.

2. Of a building or a ship: Battered and shaken, rendered ruinous and liable to fall; in a tottering condition.

1615 G. SANDYS Trav. 178 A tottered Tower doth challenge regard for the waste receiued in that places protection. 1640–50 in Swayne Sarum Chronicles (1896) 60 Carpenters pulling down y° tottered ceiling over y° east end of the Chancell. 1689 SHERLOCK Disc. Death (1715) 26 Merciless waves even overwhelm his tottered and decayed vessel. 1808 SCOTT Marm. IV. xi, Thy towers rude, and tottered Keep, Have been the minstrel's loved resort.

3. Made to totter, shaken, reeling. rare.

1621 G. SANDYS Ovid's Met. xv. (1626) 327 The hot horses ..O'r ragged rocks the tottered chariot draue: While I to curb their furie vainly striue.

Totterer (tɒ·tərər). [f. TOTTER v. + -ER[1].] One who totters, or walks with tottering steps.

1711 SWIFT Jrnl. to Stella 21 Apr., I am much better than I was, though something of a totterer. 1827 Blackw. Mag. XXII. 702 He snatched the little totterers..up in his arms. 1890 [see next].

To·ttering, vbl. sb. [f. TOTTER v. + -ING[1].] The action of the verb TOTTER; oscillation, wavering, shaking as if about to fall.

1387 Trevisa Higden (Rolls) II. 387 That game is cleped scillium in Latyn...of cilleo cilles pat is forto mene toteryngge. c 1440 Promp. Parv. 498/1 Toteryngge, or waveryngge, vacillacio. 1577 B. Googe Heresbach's Husb. 40 The Wayne or Cart must be lyned with sheets, lest with iogging and tottring of the carryage, the seede fall throwe. 1672 Clarendon Contempl. Ps. Tracts (1727) 280 The prodigious tottering and instability of this [church] they are about to enter. 1890 J. H. Stirling Gifford Lect. xii. 262 If you totter already, the tottering against you of ever so many totterers will only floor you.

To·ttering, ppl. a. [f. Totter v. + -ing 2.] That totters, in various senses of the verb.

1532 More Conf. agst Trib. xxiv. (1847) 298 The three feet of this tottering stool. 1585 Abp. Sandys Serm. xiv. 232 Our tottering boate is tossed in the stormie seas. 1610 Holland Camden's Brit. (1637) 642 The tottering walles of Caer-phili Castle. 1700 T. Brown Amusem. Ser. & Com. ii. 12 The tottering Earth made them Giddy and Stumble. 1801 Southey Thalaba IX. xvii, She leans on her staff With a tottering step. 1877 Black Green Past. xxxv, A tottering white-headed old man.

fig. 1554 Latimer Disput. Oxford in Foxe A. & M. (1563) 980/1 That thys world hath bene, and yet is, a tottering world. 1649 Milton Eikon. v. Wks. 1851 III. 375 A tottring and giddy Act rather then a settling. 1796 Burke Regic. Peace I. Wks. VIII. 158 The tottering imbecility of a new government. 1870 H. Smart 'Race for Wife' iii, Tottering coronets must be propped by wealthy alliances.

Hence To·tteringly adv.

1656 Ingelo Bentiv. & Ur. (1682) 82 It seem'd to stand totteringly upon a pitiful foundation. 1891 L. Keith Lost Illusion II. xii. 41 An old man totteringly and feebly cleaning a little vegetable-bed.

Totterish (tɒ·tərɪʃ), a. rare. [f. Totter a. or v. + -ish 1.] Inclined to totter; somewhat tottery.

1817 Scott Let. to Mrs. M. Clephane 23 Mar., in Lockhart I. 2m still very totterish and very giddy. 1828 — Let. to Southey 4 Apr. ibid., My health is at present very totterish.

Tottery (tɒ·tərɪ), a. [f. Totter v. + -y.] Given to tottering; shaky; unsteady.

1861 Hughes Tom Brown at Oxf. vi, When I looked up and saw what a tottery place it was, I concluded to give them a wide berth. 1880 Miss Braddon Just as I am xviii, Frances felt very faint and tottery. 1907 Speaker 19 Jan. 484/2 Stocks have been distinctly 'tottery' this week.

Tottie (tɒ·tɪ). Also Totty. With capital T: Familiar diminutive of Hottentot.

1849 E. E. Napier Excursns. S. Africa I. 55 To portray.. the Hottentot of the time of Van Riebeck, and the 'Totty' of the present day. 1863 W. C. Baldwin Afr. Hunting ix. 366, I have...five horses, six Kaffirs, and one Tottie, and have every comfort in my wagons. 1883 Gd. News in Africa viii. 110 The Hottentots are a miserable little race, sometimes called 'Totties' in contempt.

Tottie, variant of Totty.

Totting: see Tot sb.[5], v.[1] and 2.

Tottle (tɒ·tl), a. dial. [? t. tot- in Totter v. + -le 1, as in brittle.] Weak-headed, silly, dazed.

1894 Baring-Gould Kitty Alone II. 94 Wi' the death of her little maid, gone almost tottle (silly). 1897 — Furze-Bloom (1899) 13, I reckon, Genefer, the old lady be gone quite tottle (dazed).

Tottle (tɒ·tl), v.[1] Also 8–9 tottle. Chiefly dial. [In sense 1 app. onomatopœic, representing the motion and sound involved. In senses 2 and 3 perh. by-form of Toddle or Totter, and Topple.]

1. intr. To move and bubble, as a boiling liquid; also said of the vessel; and applied to the somewhat similar motion and sound of a rivulet over a stony bed. Sc. Hence To·ttling vbl. sb.

1717 Lament for Ld. Maxwell in Jacob. Songs & Ball. (1887) 109 Fyve tuns, Sicke the tuns where some burn tottles owre. 1739 A. Nicol Nat. without Art 100 In Winter-time a Piece fat Beef to tottle. 1835 Monteath Dunblane (1887) 32 The woman...cast a longing eye at the kail-pot tottling on the fire'. 1864 A. Leighton Myst. Leg. Edinb. (1886) 68 They heard the sound of..the sweltering and tottling of the pot.

b. trans. To cause to simmer or boil. Sc.

a 1774 Ferguisson To Principal, etc. St. Andrews 40 Imprimis, then, a baggies fat, Wel tottl'd in a seything pan. 1776 Herd Collect. Scot. Songs II. 182 Ye's get a cock well tottled i' the pat, An ye'll come hame, an ye'll come hame.

2. intr. To move unsteadily and with short tottering steps; to toddle.

1821 Galt Sir A. Wylie III. xxxiii. 287 Their bairns..when they begin to tottle about the house. 1844 — Rothelan iv. iii, The tidy grand-dame..is seen with a pitcher slowly tottling across the fields to the dairy. 1873 Hale I'n His Name i. 4 The twin babies who could hardly tottle along the road.

3. intr. = Topple 2. dial.

1830 Hogg in Blackw. Mag. XXVIII. 895 Off flew the English warder's head, And tottled into Foxton burn. a 1905 in Eng. Dial. Dict. s. v., (N. Yorks.) 'T'oad fella nearly tottled off t' steul 'at he was set on wi' laughing.

Hence To·ttledom, nonce-word (for toddledom), the sphere of toddlers or toddling; babyhood, infancy; Tottlish (tɒ·tlɪʃ) a., unsteady, totterish.

1889 Anthony's Phologr. Bull. II. 354 There not being the least fear of its..ever exceeding the limits of cameraic "tottledom. 1893 Mrs. Moodie Life in Clearings 16 This was the first time he had ever ventured upon the water in such a "tottlish machine [as a birch-bark canoe]. 1880 C. F. Woolson Jupiter Lights xxviii, She'll soon fill it full of tottlish little tables and dimity.

To·ttle, v.[2], altered form of Total v., with shortened vowel. (Common dialectally.) 1891 Gosse Gossip in Library xiii. 164 She did not tottle up her milk-scores on the bastard-title [of a book].

To·ttling, ppl. a. [f. Tottle v.[1] + -ing 2.] That tottles; moving unsteadily; apt to tip or topple; shaky; crazy; also fig. feeble or shaky in intellect. Cf. Totty a.[2] 1746 Exmoor Scolding (E.D.S.) 53 A toteling, wambling, slottering, zart-and-vair yheat-stool. 1849 Dana Geol. ii. (1850) 31 Safe navigation for the tottling canoe. 1872 E. H. Clarke Sex in Educ. 55 The girl..will circumscribe a doll, that her tottling brother looks coldly upon. 1880 Mrs. Parr Adam & Eve xxxvi, Th' ole chap was gone reg'lar totlin' like, and can't tell thickee fra that.

Totty (tɒ·tɪ), sb. (a.[1]) Also tottie, totie. Affectionate diminutive of Tot sb.[5]; a tiny tot or little child. Also as adj. Tiny, wee. Hence To·ttykins = Toddlekins.

1821 Galt Sir A. Wylie III. xxxiii, 287, I would be blithe to see the wee totties spinning about the floor like peeries. 1849 J. Milne Let. in Bonar Life ix. (1868) 129 There is not a day that I don't think of our poor little totty. Ibid. 128 Bonnie wee totkins, Bricht as a bee. 1906 A. McCormick Tinkler Gipsies Galloway ii. 89 The fairies,—totie wee bodies a' clad in red.

Totty (tɒ·tɪ), a.[2] Now dial. Forms: 4–6 toty, 6 tottye, -ie, 6– totty. [app. f. tot-, as in totter and tottle + -y.] Unsteady, shaky, tottery (physically or mentally); dizzy, dazed; tipsy, fuddled.

c 1386 Chaucer Reeve's T. 333 Myn heed is toty of my swynk so hyge. 1412–20 Lydg. Chron. Troy II. 5732 Somme also so toty in her hede pat pei..haue no foot for to stonde vp-rigt. 1522 More De Quat. Noviss. Wks. 97 What good can the great gluton do wt..his noll toty with drink? 1530 Palsgr. Lanc. 231 Toty, vacillant. 1579 Fenton Trag. Gt. 1594 O. B. Quest. Profit. Concern. 23 b, I thought his head was but totie. 1652 Season. Exp. Netherl. 10 Who proving totty, They thought to ballast him. 1819 Scott Ivanhoe xxviii, I was wiewiewhat totty when I received the good knight's blow, or I had kept my ground. 1828 Craven Gloss., Totty, half drunk, tipsy. 1890 Doyle White Company xvii, Nay, nay, your head I can see is still totty.

D. Comb.: totty-grass, totter-grass, quaking-grass; totty-head, an imbecile; totty-headed a., light-headed, silly, frivolous; dizzy, giddy.

1901 Speaker 20 Apr. 86/2 Who ever saw a child that did not love to gather primroses, horse daisies, or "totty-grass? 1680 Honest Hodge & Ralph 28 Not such "Totty-heads yet, as to be led by the Nose by him. a 1700 B. D. Dict. Cant. Crew, Totty-headed, Giddy-headed, Hare-brain'd. a 1825 Forby Voc. E. Anglia, Totty, totty-headed, dizzy. Particularly from the effect of too much drink.

Totty, variant of Tottie.

† To·tu·g, v. Obs. Also 3 te-, 5 to-tugge. [ME. f. To- 2 + tuggen, tugge, Tug v.] trans. To pull to pieces.

c 1220 Bestiary 420 in O. E. Misc. 13 [He] tetogge[ð] and tetire[ð] hem mid hire teþ sarpe. c 1400 Destr. Troy 5642 All fadit that faire of hir fyn coloure,..All to tugget hir tresses of hir triet here. 1446 Lydg. Two Nightingale Poems i. 256 On euery syde to-tugged and to-drawe.

Totum 1 (tō·tĕm). Now dial. [a. L. tōtum all, the whole, the initial T of which was one of the four letters inscribed on the tetotum: cf. F. totom, in Cotgr. and Dict. Acad. 1694–1740 totum, pronounced (tɔtɔñ.] = Tetotum, q. v.

[1500–20 Dunbar Poems xxii. 74 He playis with totum and I with nickell.] 1706 Phillips (ed. Kersey), Totum, a Whirl-bone, a kind of Die that is turned about. 1734 Chesterfield in Lett. C'tess Suffolk (1824) II. 116 A couple of totums set in beginning. 1828 Jamieson, Totum sb., the game of Te-totum. [See Eng. Dial. Dict., Totum 2.]

To·tum 2. Sc. [perh. a humorous extension of Tot sb.[4]; but generally associated with prec.] A little child, a wee tot.

17.. Cauld Kail in Aberdeen in Aitken Scott. Song (1874) 146 Wheer the totums cry for meat She curses aye his cogie. 1844 A. Cochrane in Whitelaw Bk. Scott. Song (1875) 73/1 Our twa bits o' totums are toddlin their lane. 1898 Westm. Gaz. 6 Oct. 3/2 The fact..that had generated so critical an eyesight in this 'totum' of three.

‖ To·tum 3. [L.: see Totum 1.] A whole.

1657 J. Smith Myst. Rhet. A viij b, Totum, is whatsoever hath parts:..and so parts are such as make up the whole. a 1658 Cleveland On little Gentleman 22 How comes it that she thus converts So small a Totum, and great Parts? 1678 Cudworth Intell. Syst. i. i. § 31 The totum or compositum of a man or animal may be said to be generated and corrupted, in regard of the union and disunion, conjunction and separation of those two parts, the soul and body.

† To·tuple, a. Obs. [L. tot so many, after Quadruple, etc.] So many-fold: = Tantuple.

1586 Hobbes Six Less. iii. Wks. 1845 VII. 240 The antecedents are of their consequents totuple or tantuple, that is, equimultiple. a 1696 Scarburgh Euclid (1705) 201 Therefore..Totuple shall AB, CD together, be of E, F together.

To-turn, To-twin: see To- pref.[2]

† To·tu·se, v. Obs. rare[−1]. [ME. f. To- 2 + tusen,* Touse v. (The later ME. form would have been to-touse.)] trans. To pull asunder; to dishevel.

c 1300 Havelok 1948 Al to-tused and al to-torn.

† To-twe·n, prep. Obs. rare. [f. To- 1 + -twesen in Between.] Between.

c 1440 Partonope 4170 And cleuyd hys forhed to twene pe yen.

† To·twe·me, v. Obs. Forms: see Tweme. [OE. totwēman, f. To- 2 + twēman, Tweme v. to separate, part.] a. trans. To separate, divide; also to distinguish, discriminate.

c 893 K. Ælfred Oros. iii. vii. § 6 Hie eft totwemde wæron. a 1225 Ancr. R. 396 Auh ure Louerd willeliche totweamede [v. r. to-twinnede] his soule uron his bodie.

b. intr. To separate, part asunder.

c 1205 Lay. 26593 Æfter heo to twemden [v r. to-tweinden] þe wuste wes Ron-loeden. a 1225 St. Marehar. 17 Wiþ þe ilke þe eorðe to twemde ant bitunde him.

† To-twi·tch, v. Obs. [ME. to-twicchen, f. To- 2 + Twitch v.] trans. To pull apart or away with a sudden jerk or twitch. Also fig.

c 1175 Lamb. Hom. 53 Swa sone se hi beoð iturned awey from heom, [hi] heom to-twicchið & to-drageð mid ufele weordes. a 1250 Owl & Night. 1419 Cromes þe þrowl.. & þe to twicchep & to schakep. c 1350 Will. Palerne 2097 His berde & his brist fax for bale he to-twist.

‖ To·ty. Anglo-Ind. [Tamil and Canarese toti.] A man of a low caste employed as messenger and odd man of a South Indian village. Also totyman.

1800 in Gurw. Wellington's Suppl. Desp. (1858) I. 452 Washerman, barber, and totyman. 1886 Yule & Burnell Hobson-Jobson, Toty.

Toty, Totyr, obs. ff. Totty a.[2], Totter.

Tou, Toual(l, obs. forms of Tough, Towel.

Touart, Toubbe, obs. forms of Toward, Tub.

Toucan (tŭ·kăn, tū·kăn). Also 8 tokan, 9 toukan. [= F. toucan, Sp. tucan, Pg., It. tucano, a. Brazilian, Tupi tucana, Guarani tucà, tucán (a nasal), the native name, prob. from its cry or call; but other suggestions have been offered.

The statement of Buffon that the name means 'feather' arose from his misunderstanding a statement of Léry c 1586: see J. Platt in N. & Q. 6th s. VII. 480, VIII. 250.]

1. A Neotropical bird of the genus Rhamphastos, or, in a wider use, of the family Rhamphastidæ, inhabiting the tropical parts of South America, a few species being also found in Central America and Mexico. They are noted for the enormous size of the beak and their striking colouring. The species originally so named was app. R. toco.

[1558 Thevet Sing. France Antarctique, D'un oyseau qu'ils appellent en leur langue Toucan.] 1568 tr. Thevet's Newfoume World 73 Of a birde named toucan. 1624 T. Johnson Parey's Chirurg. xxv. xxii. (1678) 621 He saw a Bird in America, which in that Countrey Speech is called Toucu, ..that the beak in length and thickness exceeds the bigness of the rest of the body. 1668 Charleton Onomast. 115 Tucana..Toucan. 1677 Plot Oxfordsh. 178 In..1644 the Pica Brasiliensis, or Toucan, whose beak is near as big as its whole body, was found within two miles of Oxford. 1681 Grew Museum i. iv. § 59 The Head of the Toucan, so called by the Indians. 1796 Stedman Surinam I. vi. 117 The toucan is not larger than a tame pigeon, and yet its beak is no less than six inches in length. 1863 Bates Nat. Amazon xii. (1864) 404 Toucans...Two of them are often heard yelping alternately, and in different notes. These cries have a vague resemblance to the syllables Tocáno, Tocáno, and hence the Indian name of this genus of birds. 1875 Whitney Life Lang. vii. 100 The cuckoo and the peewee and the toucan were named from their notes.

b. Sometimes applied or misapplied to other birds with large or curious beaks; esp. in the East Indies to species of Hornbill (Buceros).

But the word in the latter case is said to be the Malay tukang 'workman' or 'artificer', and entirely distinct from the Brazilian: see Yule & Burnell Hobson-Jobson.

1816 Tuckey Narr. Exped. R. Zaire iii. (1818) 82 Several varieties of the king fisher, a toukan, and many small birds. 1862 Jerdon Birds of India I. 242 They [the hornbills] are indeed, popularly called Toucans throughout India; and this appears to be their name in some of the Malayan isles; the word signifying 'worker', from the noise they make.

2. Astron. Name of a southern constellation.

1669 Sturmy Mariner's Mag. vi. iii. 218 The Bird Toucan [for. Taican], or Brasilian Duck, in which Constellation is 7 Stars. 1868 Lockyer Guillemin's Heavens xii. (1872) 319 The splendid cluster in Toucan, quite visible to the naked eye.

3. Comb., as toucan skin, etc.; toucan-beak, the beak of the toucan, or the substance of this used as a decorative material.

1862 List Contrib. pr. Brit. Guiana to Lond. Exhib. in Veness El Dorado (1866) App. 145 Tassel of Toucan Skins, worn by the Accawai Indians..hanging down the back. 1886 Art Jrnl., Exh. Suppl. 26/2 Some clever and minute carvings in toucan-beak set with alternate links in gold.

Hence Toucanet (tŭ·kănet), any of the smaller kinds of toucan, as those of the genera Pteroglossus and Selenidera; Toucanity (tŭkæ·nĭtĭ), nonce-wd., the character of a toucan.

1825 Waterton Wand. S. Amer. 128 There are three species of Toucans in Demerara, and three diminutives, which may be called Toucanets. 1892 Cornh. Mag. May 525 A large bill..a mark of perfect and advanced toucanity.

Touch (tʊtʃ), sb. Forms: see Touch v. [Originally a. OF. touche, f. toucher to Touch: cf. Pr., It. tocca stroke, blow, touch; also Prov. toc, It. tocco knock, stroke; f. toccare to hit, strike. In some later uses, directly from Touch v.]

1. Literal and directly connected senses.

† 1. The action or an act of touching (with the hand, finger, or other part of the body); exercise of the faculty of feeling upon a material object. † In quot. 1340, ? a tactile organ (obs.). In quot. 1591, Hold, grasp, embrace (nonce-use).

1340 Hampole Pr. Conse. 779 Fyngers and taes, fote and hande, Alle his touches [MS. Lansd. lymmes] er trembande. 1390 Gower Conf. II. 136 For he..preide, That wheruppon his hond he leide, It schulde churph his touche anon Bccome gold. 1398 Trevisa Barth. De R. R. xvi. rii. (Bodl. MS.), Quyke siluer..semeb ful colde in touche. 1513 DOUGLAS Æneis III. iv. 36 The Harpyes..with thair laithlie tuiche all thing file thai. 1591 SHAKS. Two Gent. V. iv. 60 Ruffian: let goe that rude vnciuill touch. 1614 PURCHAS Pilgrimage IX. vii.(ed. 2) 864 He toucheth the face and breast with cold touches. 1681 H. MORE Exp. Dan. iv. Notes 120 He healed the Blind and the Lame with Spittle and touch. 1705 Lond. Gaz. No. 4106/3 They were not well before received the Royal Touch. 1841-71 T. R. JONES Anim. Kingd. (ed. 4) 464 The antennæ..may be regarded as special instruments of touch. 1842 TENNYSON Break, break, break' iii, But O for the touch of a vanish'd hand! 1898 G. H. SHAW Widowers' Houses I. 6 The porter..receives it with a submissive touch to his cap.

b. euphem. Sexual contact.

a 1300 Cursor M. 2985 (Cott.) Fra toche of hir i saued þe. 1412-20 LYDG. Chron. Troy I. 2850 Sche Ay kepte hir clene from touche of any man. 1603 SHAKS. Meas. for M. v. i. 141 Who is as free from touch or soyle with her As she from one vngot.

c. Med. Examination by feeling, esp. of a cavity of the body; palpation.

1805 Med. Jrnl. XIV. 245 Had we..trusted to the touch, it might have been said we were deceived. 1860 MAYNE Expos. Lex., Touch, Obstet. Term for the examination of the womb, or mouth and neck of the womb.

d. Milit. Contact between the elbows of a rank of soldiers; see quots. and cf. TOUCH v. 2 g.

1877 Man. Field Artillery Exerc. 23 The right-hand or left-hand man being first placed, the remainder will fall in in line one after the other, closing slightly towards him, turning the elbow slightly outwards. Soldiers must be carefully instructed in the 'Touch', as, in this formation, it is the principal guide when marching. Ibid. 25 During the march..the dressing is kept by the touch.

e. Within or in touch, near enough to touch or be touched; within reach (of); accessible; also fig.

1854 S. DOBELL Balder v. 29 Tottering..In touch of the inestimable prize. 1858 HAWTHORNE Fr. & It. Note-Bks. I. 119 The rough-hewn roof was within touch. 1896 Times 26 Dec. 5/3 [He] is not yet within touch of the telegraph.

†f. The act of touching at a port (TOUCH v. 11); a passing call during a voyage. Obs. rare—1.

1603 KNOLLES Hist. Turks (1621) 1331 His first touch was upon the Island of Cerigo.

g. A boys' game in which one player touches another, who then chases and tries to catch him; in full touch-and-run; also allusively (cf. TOUCH AND GO). Cf. TIG.

1883 LADY GRANVILLE Lett. (1894) I. 80 His favourite has hit the line between good-humoured frankness and vulgarity, just touch and run. 1912 Daily News 4 Nov. 2/2 The lad was playing 'touch-and-run' with a number of others.

2. The act, fact, or state of touching or being touched (of inanimate objects, or as an involuntary act: see TOUCH v. 3); contact.

13.. E. E. Allit. P. C 939 With-outen towche of any tothe he tult in his prote. a 1388 SIDNEY Arcadia II. (1590) 149 b, The touch of the cold water made a prettie kinde of shrugging come ouer her bodie. 1596 SHAKS. Merch. V. III. iii. 273 And not one vessell scape the dreadfull touch Of merchant-marring rocks? 1667 MILTON P. L. VI. 520 Part incentive reed Provide, pernicious with one touch to fire. 1784 COWPER Task II. 11 The flax That falls asunder at the touch of fire. 1874 O'SHAUGHNESSY Music & Moonlight 40 Her passing touch was death to all, Her passing kiss a blight.

†b. Geom. Contact; point of contact. Obs.

a 1400 in Halliwell Rara Mathem. (1841) 62 Counte þe poyntes fro þe begynnyng of þe side of þe vmbre to þe touche of þe perpendicle. 1551 RECORDE Pathw. Knowl. I. xxix, In the very poynte of the touche muste I make an angle. 1570 BILLINGSLEY Euclid III. def. iii, Such a touch of circles is euer in one poynt onely.

c. A small quantity of some substance brought into contact with a surface so as to leave its mark or effect; a dash, as of paint; a mark or stain so produced. See also 10.

In quot. 1581 with figurative allusion: cf. PITCH sb.[1] 4, and quot. 1382 s.v. TOUCH v. 1. So a touch of the tar-brush: see TAR-BRUSH b, quot. 1864.

1581 PETTIE Guazzo's Civ. Conv. I. (1586) 24 Of one selfe pitch, we all haue a touch. 1664 POWER Exp. Philos. I. 31, I..giew'd them to the object-plate, as I do stronger insects with a touch of Turpentine. 1818 SCOTT Hrt. Midl. xvii, Maybe a touch o' a blackit cork, or a slake o' paint.

d. A very close approach, a 'shave'; cf. TOUCH v. 14, TOUCHER 4.

18.. DICKENS (Ogilvie), The hind coach passed my engine by a shave. It was the nearest touch I ever saw.

e. No touch to (U. S. colloq.): 'nowhere near', not bing approaching to.

1838 HALIBURTON Clockm. Ser. II. vi. (1862) 206 Our sea sarpant was no touch to it. 1840 — Letter Bag ii. 28 You ab seen fourth July day,..well he [is] no touch to it.

3. That sense by which a material object is perceived by means of the contact with it of some part of the body; the most general of the bodily senses, diffused through all parts of the skin, but (in man) specially developed in the tips of the fingers and the lips.

a 1394 P. Pl. Crede 537 Panne haue y tynt all my tast, touche and assate! 1599 DAVIES Immort. Soul CCXXII, By touch the first pure qualities we learn Which quicken all things, hot, cold, moist, and dry. a 1704 LOCKE Elem. Nat. Philos. xi. (1754) 50 The fifth and last of our senses is touch; a sense spread over the whole body, tho' it be most eminently placed in the ends of the fingers. 1764 REID Inquiry vi. § 8. 213 That figure and that extension which are objects of touch have been tortured ten thousand ways for twenty centuries. 1851 CARPENTER Man. Phys. (ed. 2) 551 There is strong reason to regard the sense of Taste as only a refined kind of Touch, combined with the sense of Smell.

b. The sensation caused by touching something (considered as an attribute of the thing); tactile quality, feel.

1674 DRYDEN Epil. opening of New House 4 A Country Lip may have the Velvet touch. 1804 J. GRAHAME Sabbath (1805) 37 The smooth birch With rind of silken touch. 1839 URE Dict. Arts 1202 Moreover the 'the touch', that is, the feel and appearance of a drop of the syrup..drawn into a thread between the thumb and fore-finger. 1844 Jrnl. R. Agric. Soc. V. 1. 259 The first token..for the purpose of ascertaining the feeding properties of an ox, is technically called the touch.

4. A hit, knock, stroke, blow; esp. a very slight blow or stroke.

[Quot. 1297 here appears to be the earliest example of the word in Eng., and perh. shows the original sense, as 'hit, stroke, blow'.]

In quot. c 1375, ? a slight wound or abrasion such as might be produced by a blow or scratch.

1297 R. GLOUC. (Rolls) 12020 So þat he erl of wareine slon atte vreste touche Bisides þe iustinge ase bronch at alein de la souche. c 1375 Cursor M. 14012 (Fairf.) per ho fande any touche of sare [Cott. ani breck or sare; Trin. chyn or soore] Wip hir þingus anoynt hit bare. c 1420 Anturs of Arth. xxxi (Thornton MS.) Swylke a touche at hat tyme he taughte hym in tene. 1581 T. HOWELL Devises (1879) 216 For some perchance will byde a touch or two, And will not seeme to flye when you shall fall. 1879 F. W. ROBINSON Coward Conscr. II. xvii, ? he requires the finest touch, said Mr. Slitherwick, shutting one eye to admire the position of the balls, 'one of your very best touches, Mr. Oliver'.

b. fig. A 'hit', stroke (of wit, satire, etc.); a 'knock'; a 'blow'.

1524 World & Child (1817) C 1, How sayeste thou now folye hast thou not a touche? 1667 MILTON P. L. IX. 1244 To whom soon mov'd with touch of blame thus Eve. c 1720 PRIOR Paulo Purganti 29 It yet may feel the nicer touch Of Wycherley's or Congreve's wit. 1852 THACKERAY Esmond II. v, There was a hard touch for his Grace,..in the concluding sentence of the Libel.

II. Technical and allied senses.

* Relating to the touchstone.

5. The action or process of testing the quality of gold or silver by rubbing it upon a touchstone. [So OF. touche, It. tocco.]

1436 Pol. Poems (Rolls) II. 187 Whereof was fyned metalle gode and clene, At the touche, no bettere coude be sene. 1587 Mirr. Mag., Runa ii, Good metall bides the touch that tries out the gold. 1686 W. DE BRITAINE Hum. Prud. xx. 94 He is like Gold, which hath too much Allay, that feareth the Touch. 1837 WHITTOCK, etc. Bk. Trades (1842) 279 This test, by the touch, is performed at the present day. ..Touch needles are small bars made of compound metals, the proportions whereof are accurately marked on each.

b. An official mark or stamp upon gold or silver indicating that it has been tested, and is of standard fineness; also, a die, punch, or stamp for impressing this. Also, an official mark stamped upon pewter.

1443 [see TOUCH v. 8 b]. 1443 Test. Ebor. (Surtees) II. 132 A quart pot of silver with the touche of Parys. 1522 Will S. Swarbeck (Somerset Ho.), Which spanes the touche of the Goldesmythes. 1526-7 in Welch Hist. Pewterers I. (1902) I. 128 A fyn for defiueryng vessell vn-markyt w[t] his towch..vs. [1574-1750 ibid. passim.] a 1553 UDALL Royster D. II. ii (Arb.) 34 If he haue not one Lumbardes touche, my lucke is bad. 1594 PLAT Jewell-h. III. 79 Plate as either carieth no touch, or so old a touch as the buier shall not bee acquainted wi'hall. 1697 View Penal Laws 142 If the Keeper of the Touch mark such harness with the Leopards head. 1858 A. RYLAND Assay of Gold & Silver 38 The Touch is used in the old Statutes to denote in some places the Standard, in some the punch used in marking the wares, and in others the mark impressed upon the plate. 1860 J. SCARTH in Ves. China 116 Of the enormous amounts of gold..the greater part is guaranteed by a certain touch.

c. The quality or fineness of gold or silver (or other metal) as tested with the touchstone and indicated by the official mark. [Cf. OF. touche de Paris, etc.]

a 1325 MS. Rawl. B. 520 If. 53 b, Þat is to witen golde of certein touche. Ibid., Ant þat non be wurche worse gold þan þe touche of paris. 1465 Paston Lett. I. 334, I herneyse complete of the touche of Milleyn. 1601 HOLLAND Pliny XXXIII. ix. II. 479 An act..for the proofe and allowance of siluer deniers, what touch and what poise they should have. 1697 Observ. on Money & Coin 9 Gold shall be of the fineness of the Touch of Paris. 1766 T. BROOKS Coins E. Indies 6, 1 Madrass Rupee..is Country Touch 98¾. China Touch 98¾. 1908 H. B. MORSE Trade Chinese Emp. 149 'Pure silver' of the Kuping tael touch is actually 987 fine when reduced to the Western standard of chemically pure silver.

d. fig. Quality, kind, sort, 'stamp'. In quot. 1878 transf. Quality or degree of purity (of opium).

1388 Pol. Poems (Rolls) I. 274 Fresch of the newe touch, incedunt ridiculose, Lityl or nought in hor powch, pascuntur deliciose. 1579 J. STUBBES Gaping Gulf A vij, To be of one assaie or touche with the idolatrous and traytorous Israelites. 1607 SHAKS. Cor. IV. i. 49 Come my sweet wife, my deerest Mother, and My Friends of Noble touch. 1821 LAMB Elia Ser. I. Imperfect Sympathies, He never stoops to catch a glittering something, before he quite knows whether it be true touch or not. 1878 BABER Rep. Chinese Opium (Parl. Paper Eng. C. 2378, 1882, 29) The advantage of 'touch', or percentage of extract, possessed by the Indian drug.

†6. Short for touchstone (see TOUCHSTONE 2); esp. applied to black marble or some similar black stone used in monumental work. Obs. [So OF. touche for pierre de touche (Godef.).]

a 1509 Will. of Hen. VII (Parker Gloss. Archit. 1845), In which place we wol, that..be made a Towmbe of Stone called Touche, sufficient in largieur for us booth. a 1548 HALL Chron., Hen. VIII 56 b, Gates all like Masonrie, of White and Blacke, like Touche and White Merbell. 1577 STANYHURST Descr. Irel. in Holinshed (1808) VI. 41 Such notable quarries of greie marble and touch. c 1625 BACON Will Wks. 1874 XIX. 541 Also the armour, and also all tables of marble and touch. a 1661 FULLER Worthies, York (1662) II. 186 Vulgar eyes confound the inlayings made of black Marble..with Touch, Geat, and Ebony. 1665 SIR T. HERBERT Trvvs. (1677) 143 Several parts of it were as bright and splendent as Touch or Steel-mirrour.

7. fig. (from 5). An act of, or thing that serves for, testing; a test, trial, proof; a criterion, 'touchstone'. Now chiefly in phr. to put to the touch.

1582 MULCASTER Positions iii. (1887) 12, I will binde vpon proofe, and let triall be the tuche. 1592 SHAKS. Rich. III, IV. iii. 8 Ah Buckingham, now doe I play the Touch, To trie if thou be currant Gold indeed. 1624 QUARLES Job VII. med. xiii, Affliction is the Touch, whereby we proove, Whether it be Gold, or guilt. 1668 R. HOLME Armoury III. 206/1 Verity is not ashamed of the Light, nor afraid to come to the touch. 1706 KENNETT Compl. Hist. Eng. III. 561/1 That when it came to the Touch, they wou'd never bear the Brunt of a Battle. 1886 STEVENSON Kidnapped 10 Till I had put the matter to the touch of proof.

 In instrumental music.

8. Mus. The act or manner of touching or handling a musical instrument, so as to bring out its tones; now esp. the manner of striking or pressing the keys of a keyboard instrument so as to produce special varieties of tone or effect. Hence transf. (chiefly poet.) a single sound produced by touching an instrument; a note or brief strain of instrumental music.

13.. Gaw. & Gr. Knt. 120 Nwe nakryn noyse with þe noble pipes, Wylde werbles & wyȝt wakned lote, þat mony hert fil hipe hef at her towches. 1591 SHAKS. Two Gent. III. iii. 79 Orpheus Lute,..Whose golden touch could soften steele and stones. 1596 — Merch. V. v. i. 67 With sweetest tutches pearce your Mistresse eare, And draw her home with musicke. 1668 MILTON Par. Regain. IV. 58 Listening to what unshorn Apollo sings To th' touch of golden wires. 1667 — P. L. IV. 686 With Heav'nly touch of instrumental sounds. 1828 SCOTT F. M. Perth x, I hear no unpleasing touch of minstrelsy. 1892 A. J. HIPKINS in Grove Dict. Mus. I. 647 A sensitive instrument of touch, instead of one of mere percussion. 1884 F. TAYLOR ibid. IV. 152 Pianoforte music demands two distinct kinds of touch, the one adapted for..brilliant passages, the other for sustained melodies.

b. As an attribute of the performer: Capacity, skill, or style of playing; now esp. on a keyboard instrument, in relation to the action of the fingers upon the keys (see above).

1601 ? MARSTON Pasquil & Kath. I. 15, I had the best stroke, the sweetest touch, but now..I am falne from the Fiddle. 1613 FLETCHER, etc. Captain I. iii, You had a pleasant touch o' th' cittern once, If idleness have not bereft you of it. Mod. He has a remarkably delicate touch, and excels in pianissimo.

c. As an attribute of a keyboard instrument, referring to the manner in which its keys and action respond to the touch of the player.

1884 W. PARRATT in Grove Dict. Mus. IV. 153 It is rare to find any two [organ] manuals with a similar touch, and the amount of force required to press down the key varies within wide limits. Even on the same keyboard the touch is appreciably heavier in the bass. 1885 C. G. W. LOCK Workshop Receipts Ser. IV. 209/1 The next item, and one claiming serious attention, is the 'touch', for on this depends in a great measure the pleasure and comfort of the performer. 1906 Edin. Rev. Apr. 412 It has a flexibility, what musicians call a sense of touch. Mod. This piano (or organ) has a very stiff (or, a very light) touch.

†d. app. = TOCCATA. Obs.

a 1623 in Grove Dict. Mus. IV. 154 (title of MS. in Brit. Mus.) A touche by Mr. Byrd. a 1782 Ibid. (title of MS. in Lib. Roy. Coll. Music), Mr. Kelway's touches.

9. Bell-ringing. Any series of changes less than a peal.

1872 ELLACOMBE Ch. Bells Devon, etc. ix. 471 A peal.. means the performance of the full number of changes which may be rung on a given number of bells; any less number of changes would be called 'a touch'. 1898 G. S. TYACK Sib. about Bells viii. 141 Five thousand changes, is the smallest number to which the name of a peal is technically allowed, less than that number merely constitutes a 'touch'.

 In artistic work.

10. An act of touching a surface with the proper tool in painting, drawing, writing, carving, etc.; a stroke or dash of a brush, pencil, pen, chisel, or the like; hence, a stroke or dash of colour in a picture, etc., or a detail of any artistic work, as in literary description; a slight act or effort added in doing or completing a piece of work of any kind.

1607 SHAKS. Timon I. i. 38 It [a picture] tutors Nature, Artificiall strife Lives in these touches, liuelier then life. 1693 DRYDEN Juvenal Ded. (1697) 5 Some few Touches of your Lordship, some secret Graces which I have endeavour'd to express after your manner. 1712 ADDISON Spect. No. 357 ¶ 8 Milton never fails of..bestowing the last finishing Touches to every Incident. 1768 W. GILPIN Ess. Prints 39 Unless the pencil add those high-blown touches, which mark the passion. 1842 L. HUNT Men, Women, & B. II. x. 212 She might be suspected of having given it some after touches. 1894 J. T. FOWLER Adamnan Introd. 74 Eddius's graphic touch about St. Wilfrid..some life-like touches in Colgan's Vita Secunda.

b. Capacity of using the brush, pencil, pen, or other instrument; artistic skill or faculty; style or quality of artistic work; method of handling, execution. (Cf. 8 b, 18.)

1815 J. Smith Panorama Sc. & Art II. 748 Painting in crayons..may serve to teach him a masterly freedom of touch. 1880 Warren Book-plates iv. 35 In Mountaine's early Chippendale style, and with that engraver's touch.

* * * * In Magnetism.

11. The action or process of magnetizing a steel bar or needle by contact with one or more magnets; different methods are known as single, double, and separate touch.

1705 Derham in Phil. Trans. XXV. 2143 This gave so vigorous a Touch, that I am almost of opinion, it is the best way of Touching. 1837 Brewster Magnet. 15 The science of magnetism is..indebted to Mr. Michell for his invention of the method of double touch. 1849 Noad Electricity 308 Mr. Michell states that two magnets will, by his process of double touch, communicate as strong a magnetic virtue to a steel bar, as a single magnet of five times the strength, when used in the process of single touch.

* * * * In Football.

12. The act (in the Rugby game) of touching the ground with the ball behind the goal, usually the opponents' goal (see Touch v. 30, also touch-back, -down s. v. Touch- 2); transf. (esp. in phr. in or into touch), that part of the ground outside the bounding lines of the field of play (touch-lines and goal-lines); touch-in-goal, that part of this behind the goal-line.

1864 Field 5 Nov. 331/1 The School..managed to keep the ball close to their opponents' goal, till at length a long drop of Poole's took the ball into touch-in-goal. Ibid. 19 Nov. 354/2 (see Touch v. 2f). 1879 Ibid. 24 Feb. 220/2 Clifton scored a touch in goal. 1886 Ibid. 9 Oct. 535/2 An easy victory..by eight goals, three tries, and six touches to one goal. 1889 H. Vassall Rugby Football 18 Our full-backs should always bear in mind that he must send it [the ball] into touch at all costs, as that means so much ground gained for his side for the next line out. 1895 Outing (U.S.) XXVII. 250/2 The ball is thrown out from touch by the side that carried it in, or by the opposite team to that which kicked it in.

III. Various figurative senses. (See also 1 e, 2 e, 4 b, 5 d, 7.)

13. fig. The act of touching or fact of being touched (in fig. senses of the vb.). a. A stroke, action, or influence (esp. slight, or momentary); a slight or instantaneous act producing some effect.

c 1586 C'tess Pembroke Ps. xc. i, Free From all touch of age and years. 1602 Marston Ant. & Mel. ii. Wks. 1856 I. 35, I will..strike her thoughts with the pleasing touch of my voice. c 1742 Gray Ignorance 21 With damp, cold touch forbid it [spark of wit] to aspire. 1780 Burke Sp. Econ. Reform Wks. III. 261 Those their ancient..castles should moulder into decay, under the silent touches of time. 1799 Monthly Rev. XXX. 490 The Cartesian hypothesis melted away under the touch of geometry. 1819 Scott Leg. Montrose xvi, Curing me, in respect that I had got a touch of the wars in my rear-seat. 1878 Browning La Saisiaz 329 Death's kindly touch..gave Soul and body both release. 1884 H. James Little Tour France xxvii. 273 Vineyards red with the touch of October.

b. spec. An impression upon the mind or soul; a feeling, sense (of some emotion, etc.); † a feeling of interest or concern in something (cf. Touch v. 20, 21).

c 1586 C'tess Pembroke Ps. ciii. viii, And looke how much The meerly touching touch The father feeles towards his sonne most deare. 1591 Shaks. Two Gent. ii. vii. 18 Didst thou but know the inly touch of Loue. 1650 C. Nesse O. & N. Test. I. 210 If the Holy Spirit doth not touch us with his divine touches, the unclean spirit will with his deadly touches. 1666 B. Taylor Over Possession Poems 270, I wait the touch of song. 1869 Tennyson Highl. Tweed II. 232 One occurrence, or idea, or touch of feeling, is selected, and..seldom treated at any great length. 1873 Black Pr. Thule xii, Some touch of compunction smote him.

c. The condition of being mentally 'touched' or affected (Touch v. 23 b); slight derangement. rare—1.

1710 Steele Tatler No. 178 P 2 My Friend the Upholsterer, whose Crack towards Politicks I have heretofore mention'd. This Touch in the Brain of the British Subject is..owing to the reading News-Papers.

d. A close relation of communication, agreement, sympathy, or interest; chiefly in phr. in or out of touch with, also to keep or lose touch with (rarely of). [Perh. orig. in literal use, in military drill; cf. 1 d.]

1884 Church Bacon vi. 153 The Kingship of the Tudors..always seeking..to be in touch and sympathy with popular feeling. 1884 Pall Mall G. 25 Jan. 4/2 Sir Henry Parkes has always kept himself in touch with English public opinion. 1884 Christian World 15 May 369/2 He had never lost touch with his brethren. 1887 A. Fleming in Libr. Mag. 29 Jan. 325 To bring religion into touch with conduct. 1901 Earl Spencer in Parl. Deb. 5 July 946 But they are not in touch.. with all the best information which the Board of Admiralty have at their command.

14. (fig. from 3.) A faculty or capacity of the mind analogous or likened to the sense of touch; mental or moral perception or feeling.

1656 Stanley Hist. Philos. iv. (1701) 234/1 They held that..those things only can be perceived which are felt by inward touch as grief and pleasure. 1872 Lindon Elem. Relig. v. 129 An accuracy and delicacy of intellectual touch. 1904 H. Black Pract. Self-Cult. vii. 168 You will develop tact, which is just the faculty of touch, fineness of sensation.

15. A stroke of action, an act; a brief turn or 'go' at some occupation; † in early use, a sly, mean, or deceitful act, a trick (obs.). Now rare.

1481 Caxton Reynard xxv. (Arb.) 56 O what false touches can he, how can he stuffe the sleue wyth flockes. a 1521 J. Heywood Pard. & Friar Plays (1905) 21 If thou playme such another touch I sh' lock thee on the costard. 1539 Palsgr. 640 It is no good felowes touche to stande mouching in a cornar. 1572 Gascoigne Counc. to B. Withipoll 7 Beleeue me now it is a friendly touch, To vse fewe words where friendship doth remaine. a 1593 H. Smith Wks. (1867) II. 406 Mahomet..went and first took part with the Romans, but afterwards served them a sly touch, and forsook them. 1598 T. Bastard Chrestoleros (1880) 36 Some will give the peasant for a witty touch, And some to see an Ape will giue as much. 1681 T. Flatman Heraclitus Ridens No. 37 (1713) I. 246 We'll have a Touch with him for it one of these Days. 1791 O'Keeffe Wild Oats ii. ii, I'll take a touch at the Theatre. 1833 Hr. Martineau Loom & Lug. ii. i, She might not only clean her husband's loom in peace but have a touch at the old man's.

16. An act of touching upon or mentioning something; a mention, reference, allusion, slight notice, hint; a brief statement or narration. Now rare or Obs.

13.. Gesta & Gy. Kni. 1301 Bot he had craued a cosse, bi his courtesyse, Bi sum tewch of summe tryfle, at sum tales ende. 1460 Capgrave Chron. Ded. (Rolls) † Whanne I loke upon hem, and have a schort touch of the writing, I can sone dilate the circumstaunses. 1600 O. E. Repl. Libel v. 169 To passeth this over without touch, and onely telleth vs [etc.]. 1628 Coke On Litt. (1629) 289 † No ancient Records .. whereof to my remembrance, I neuer read any touch in our Bookes. 1653 H. More Antid. Ath. ii. ii. § 7 (1712) 43 First I shall recurr and give a touch upon the nature of gravity. 1685 Baxter Paraphr. N. T. Mark xvi. 14 Mark doth but give us a brief touch of some of Christ's appearances, and leaves much, recorded by others. 1706 J. Logan in Pa. Hist. Soc. Mem. X. 120, I cannot think it becomes me when I write about thy business to give it by hints and touches. 1855 W. Arnot Let. in Mrs. A. Fleming Life vi. (1877) 295, I can on short warning give you a little touch, with a moral in it like the two papers I have sent you.

† b. The fact or quality of touching, affecting, concerning, or relating to something; relation, reference, concern. Obs. rare.

1612 Bacon Ess., Discourse (Arb.) 21 Speech of touch toward others, should bee sparingly vsed; for discourse ought to bee as a field, without comming home to any man. 1625 Ibid., Anger 566 Opinion of the Touch of a Mans Reputation doth multiply and sharpen Anger.

† 17. The quality or fact of affecting injuriously; reproach, blemish, stain, taint. Obs.

1567 Q. Eliz. Let. to Throgmorton in Robertson Hist. Scot. (1759) II. App. 47 We..cannot but think them to have therein gone so far beyond the duty of subjects, as must needs remain to their perpetual touche for ever. c 1580 Walsingham in Digges Compl. Ambass. (1655) 366 They shall not see how their Monsieurs honour..could be salved, without great touch to both. 1588 Copy of Let. in Harl. Misc. (Malh.) II. 71 Reported, to the dishonour of the Duke of Medina..and to a great touch to the commanders of the Spanish navy. 1616 Sir R. Dudley in Fortescue Papers (Camden) 26 That I have lived these nine yeares abroade, without all tutche of disloyalty.

18. A distinguishing quality, characteristic, trait. (Cf. 5 d; but app. partly fig. from 10.) In later use often passing into 'trace': see next sense.

1539 Taverner Erasm. Prov. (1552) 38 It is thy own maners, theyr owne qualities, touches, condicions, & procedynges that shape them this fortune. 1603 B. Jonson Sejanus i. 1, But he had other touches of late Romans, That more did grace Pompey's dignity, The inbreed virtues of Cato, Cæsar's spirit. 1605 Shaks. Tr. & Cr. iii. 175 One touch of nature makes the whole world kin [= One natural trait proves the kinship of all mankind]: That all with one consent praise new born gauds. 1679 J. Goodman Penit. Pard. ii. i. (1713) 144 As if men had forgone all touches of humanity and were become a kind of walking-ghosts. 1856 Emerson Eng. Traits, Ability Wks. (Bohn) II. 32 You shall trace those Gothic touches at schools, at country fairs, at the hustings, and in Parliament. 1897 H. Newbolt Admirals All 30 But cared greatly to serve God and the king, And keep the Nelson touch.

19. A slight amount or trace of some quality, attribute, or ingredient; † a small quantity intermingled' (J.); a trace, spice, smack.

1594 Shaks. Rich. III, iv. iv. 257 Madam, I have a touch of your condition, That cannot receive the scent of reproofe. 1643 J. M. Sovereigne Salve 21 Hath not even the Lord Chancellour a little touch of such a power? 1707 Norris Treat. Humility vi. 282 The bashful and blushing speaker must have a touch of vanity in his constitution. 1841 Scott Kenilw. viii, She hath in her a touch of her father Henry. 1835 Lindley Introd. Bot. (1839) 477 Grey with a touch of red.

b. spec. A slight affection or attack of illness or disease; a twinge. (Cf. 4.)

1662 J. Davies tr. Olearius' Voy. Ambass. 259 Monsieur Mandelslo was the onely person who had no touch of sickness all along our Travels. 1689 A. Lowell tr. Thevenot's Trav. i. 260 Every one threatned me with that Distemper, and yet .. I never had the least touch of it. 1791 'G. Gambado' Annals Sporting. viii. (1802) 102, I have a touch of the gout in my knees. 1891 Besant Demonisac ii, He said he had had a touch of sore throat.

c. Without of: A very little, a slight amount; in advb. const. = slightly, somewhat, 'a little bit'.

1786 Burns Twa Dogs 81 Ye maist wad think, a wee touch longer, An' they naun starve o' cauld and hunger. 1827 Scott Surg. Dau. vii, Still this story..seems a touch even beyond Tom Hilliary. 1868 Freeman in Stephens Life & Lett. (1895) I. 405, I really think that the Great Unpaid are a touch more sensible.

20. a. slang or colloq. An article or 'affair' that will touch or move purchasers to the extent of a certain price.

1712 Swift Pref. to Burnet's Hist. Ref. Wks. 1738 VI. 53, I desire you to print in such a form, as in the Bookseller's phrase will make a Sixpenny touch. 1720 Sir E. Phillips Diary 22 Sept., At night went to the Ball at the Angel. A guinea touch. 1815 Scott Let. to J. B. S. Morritt 2 Oct., in Lockhart, I think..the Poems of David [Hume] would make a decent twelve-shilling touch. 1865 Slang Dict., Touch, a slang expression in common use in phrases which express the extent to which a person is interested or affected, as 'a fourpenny touch', i. e. costing that amount.

b. slang. An act of stealing or theft, esp. of pocket-picking; also, the act of getting money from a person; transf. a sum of money gained or got at once. esp. by theft. (Cf. Touch v. 15, 16 b.)

1888 'R. Boldrewood' Robbery under Arms xliv, A thousand ounces of gold was no foolish touch. 1900 Westm. Gaz. 13 Dec. 12/2 Returns of pocket-picking. He estimates twenty-five dollars a 'touch' as a fair record if there is much money in the crowd, and five or six touches a day as a good average. 1912 Nation 7 Dec. 428/2 No two thefts are ever absolutely alike, and no 'touch' of any merit is brought off but with study and preparation.

IV. Concrete senses. (See also 2 c, 6, 10, 20.)

21. Short for Touch-powder, Touchwood, or the like. Obs. exc. dial.

1541-2 Act 33 Hen. VIII, c. 6 § 1 Little handguns, ready furnished with..Gunpouder, fyer, & touche. 1629 H. Hutton Follies Anat. (Percy Soc.) 18 Where's your tobacco box your steele and touch? 1649 G. Daniel Trinarch., Hen. IV cclviii, The fangle which Fires the drye touch of Constitution. 1887 Suppl. to Yankeism, Touch, touche, short for touch-wood, but applied to amadou and other materials used as tinder: 'as sharp as touch', as quick [to 'fire up'] as touch-wood, quick-tempered.

† 22. = Touch-piece 2. Obs.

1659 Leak Waterworks. 26 When the Barrel turns the pins Q and R, they may make the said conveiances open ..according to .. the disposition of the Pins and Touches Q and R.

23. Shipbuilding. In a plank tapering both ways, the projecting angle at the broadest part (near one end if worked top-and-butt, in the middle if worked anchor-stock fashion); also, each of the angles of the stern-timbers at the counters.

1711 W. Sutherland Shipbuild. Assist. 25 Set off the exact Length forward and afward from the Observation of the rising of the Keel, by Shipwrights called the Touch, or Place where the Keel's upper Part ends to be streight. 1797 Encycl. Brit. (ed. 3) XVII. 392/1 On the pencil line set off the distance the touch of the lower counter is abaft the aft side of the wing transom. c 1850 Rudim. Navig. (Weale) 128 This work is the best when the touch or knuckle is at the planksheer.

V. Phrases.

† 24. To keep touch. a. To keep covenant, keep faith, keep one's promise, or engagement, act faithfully. Also to hold touch. (? From the practice of striking hands, or of touching something sacred (cf. Touch v. 1, quot. 1491), in making a covenant.)

13.. Gesta & Gy. Kni. 1677, I schal..halde þe towchez, a 1529 Skelton Mann. World 50 Among them that are riche, No frendshyp is to kepe tuche. 1540-1 Elyot Image Gov. (1556) 159 By kepyng his promise and touche. 1557 Abp. Parker Ps. lxxviii. 219 They kept not true tutch wyth God hys pact they overyed. 1594 Death of Usurie 4 If a shop-keeper lend mony..to his neighbour ..if he breake touch the shop-keeper may lawfully take so much as he sustained losse. 1663 Butler Hud. i. i. 847 Quoth Hudibras, Thou offer'st much, But art not able to keep touch. 1706 Reflex. upon Ridicule 47 To promise every body and keep touch with no body. 1825 Lamb Elia Ser. ii. Superannuated Man, When the week came round did the glittering phantom..keep touch with me?

b. To keep up communication, keep in touch with: so to lose touch: see 13 d.

† 25. To flee touch, to make off, to escape; also = break touch (see 24 a). Obs.

c 1530 Hickscorner B j b, A strype he gaue me, I fledde my touche, And frome my gyrdle he plucked my pouche. a 1569 Kingsmyll Man's Ext. x. (1580) 56 He was fain to flee touche and avoide from Bethlehem into Egypt. 1583 Golding Calvin on Deut. xxvi. 153 They were vnconstant and fled touch anon after.

† 26. True (good, sure) as touch: perfectly or absolutely true, etc. (? from sense 5.) Obs.

1590 Spenser F. Q. i. iii. 2 To shinke how she through guyleful handeling, Though true as touch,..Is from her knight diuorced. 1620 Shelton Quix. (1746) IV. x. 77 Of Sancho's Proceeding in his Government, with other Successes as good as Touch. a 1650 Hackett Abp. Williams i. (1692) 187 And that was sure as touch, because the House was to be past by Act of Parliament to the King's Majesty.

† 27. Rum touch: an odd or queer fellow. Obs. slang.

1804 T. Creevey in C. Papers, etc. (1904) I. 22 To meet Brougdea and Col. Porter, two cursed rum touches that he has persuaded to vote with him and to desert Fox. 1806 S. Greenhill Miniature (ed. 2) II. 9 The last whom I shall mention is an Odd Fellow, or according to the language of the day, 'a rum touch'. Ibid. 10 Whereas many young fellows ..have..attempted to sustain the character of a Rum Touch, and have..failed most miserably, notice is hereby given [etc.].

28. In or out of touch with: see 13 d. In or within touch: see 1 e. To put to the touch: see 7.

VI. Combinations: see Touch- in comb.

Touch (tʊtʃ), v. Forms: α. 3–6 touche, 3–7 towche, (4 tuoche), 4–6 touche, tuche, (tuouche), 4–7 tuch, 5–7 towch, (6 twoche, 6–7 tutuch, tutch(e, 7 towtch), 6– touch. β. (chiefly Sc.) 4–6 tweich(e, 5–6 twich(e, twych, tuiche, tueich(e, 5–7 tuich, 6 tweich, tueiche, tuitch, 6–7 twitch; γ–9 dial. titch. [ME. a. OFr. tochier, touchier (11th c. in Chanson Roland), mod.F. toucher 'to touch' = ONF. toquer, Pr. toquar, tocar, tochar, Sp. and Pg. tocar, It. toccare 'to strike, to smite, to hit, to touch' (Florio), Roumanian tocà to knock.

The passage of the sense 'knock, strike' into that of 'touch (in Fr., etc.), is like that of Eng. 'thrust, push' into 'put'; a stroke at its lightest is a mere touch. The Romanic toccare has been held, after Diez, to be from an OLG. tokkôn*, tukken*, MLG. tocken, tucken, = OHG. zocchôn, zucchen, 'to draw or pull with force, pluck'; but a change of sense from 'pull' to 'knock' is inexplicable, and it is a more probable view that toccare was not from German, but an onomatopoeic formation of the Romanic langs. from the syllable toc imitating a knock. Tucken, in its own sense 'draw', is still in use in LG. and in parts of Holland on the German frontier, but not in Dutch itself. But the South Netherlands (Flanders, Antwerp, etc.) use now, as in Kilian's time, a vb. tokken in the same sense as the toquer, tonker of Old Northern French and its modern dialects, whence this has prob. been taken over. There is thus a gap in local continuity, as well as in sense, between the German and Romanic words. (Cf. Diez s.v. Toccare, Scheler s.v. Toucher, Körting 9802 Tukken; Gaston Paris in Romania XXVII. 626.)]

I. The simple verb. * Physical senses.

1. trans. To put the hand or finger, or some other part of the body, upon, or into contact with (something) so as to feel it; 'to exercise the sense of feeling upon' (Phillips, 1696). Also with the hand, etc., as subject of the verb.

Usually denoting a momentary and slight act: cf. TOUCH sb. c 1300 Beket 2229 And he mijte him enes tuochi, he was glad ynou. 13.. Cursor M. 24498 (Cott.) Þat i moght toche him hand and fote. 1382 WYCLIF Ecclus. xiii. 1 Who shal touche pich, shal be defiled of it. 1382 — Matt. viii. 3 And Jhesus holdynge forthe the hond, touchide hym, sayinge, I wole, be thou maad clene. 1491 Regr. Aberdon. (Maitl. Cl.) L. 328 þe parteis..aroblist..be þe laiiy ewangell tweiche befor þir vyttnes. 1526 TINDALE John xx. 27 Jesus sayde vnto her: touche me not. 1528 LYNDESAY Dreme 1088 All that he twychit, but delatioun, Turnit in gold. 1570 LEVINS Manip. 189/30 To Tutche, tangere. 1599 DAVIES Immort. Soul ccxvii, And in those fists All things their Formes expresse, Which we can touch, tast, feele, or heare, or see. a 1687 SIR W. MURE Misc. Poems xi. 5 Hands, forbeare to touch Ogh 30' touching can bewitch! 1764 REID Inquiry v. vi. 127 My two hands touch the extremities of a body. 1800 tr. Lagrange's Chem. I. 22 When I touch a warm body, the caloric passes from the body into my hand. 1847 KINGLAKE Eothen xvi, With tremulous boldness she touched—then grasped your hand.

Constructions. b. To touch (a thing) with the hand or other part, or with some instrument.

c 1375 Cursor M. 20759 (Fairf.) Ga to þa men..& touche þam he saide wip hit. 1598 SHAKS. Merry W. v. v. 88 With Trial-fire touch me his finger end. 1643–[see TONGS 2 a]. 1667 MILTON P. L. iv. 811 Him thus intent Ithuriel with his Spear Touch'd lightly. 1704 POPE Messiah 6 O thou my voice inspire, Who touched Isaiah's hallow'd lips with fire. 1839 URE Dict. Arts 582 (Glass-making) The ..workman..touching its tubular neck with an iron chisel dipped in cold water. 1847 KINGLAKE Eothen xviii, She has touched the poor Levantine with the hem of her sleeve.

c. To touch (the hand or other part, or something held) to (†till) something, = to bring it into contact with something; with pl. obj. to bring (two things) into mutual contact.

a 1300 Cursor M. 27549 (Cott.) Þe thred [third cross] hat toched til his hide, And þa heras wit-vten hide. c 1460 Play Sacrain. 775 And towche thym hand to thy saluacon. 1715 PRIOR Down-Hall 173 Now let us touch thumbs, and be friends ere we part. 1760–72 H. BROOKE Fool of Qual. (1809) IV. 141 He then touched his white wax with the neck of his steed. 1897 Outing (U.S.) XXX. 278/2 Touch a match to it, and you will presently have a fire.

d. absol. or intr. (in general sense).

1388 WYCLIF Isa. lix. 10 We as with outen iyen touchiden. a 1648 DIGBY Chym. Secr. II. (1682) 232 Dip a Straw or Feather in it, and touch all round about the borders of the Sore with it. a 1897 G. MEREDITH Marian i, She can talk the talk of men, And touch with thrilling fingers.

2. Specific applications of sense 1.

a. To have sexual contact with. trans., or (obs.) intr. with to (till). Obs. exc. as merged in 12.

13.. Cursor M. 10877 (Gött.) þe womman þat neuer touchid man, How sal scho conceyne? tell me þan. Ibid. 11139 (Cott.) Als quen be fruit wit barn his wijf, þat he neuer had toched till. c 1375 Ibid. 2422 (Fairf.) þat mugt na mon of lecchery hir body touche wip velany. 1512 Helyas in Thoms Prose Rom. (1828) III. 40 Your noble person hath touched often times to hers after the consideracion of the sacrament of mariage. 1762 BRYDGES Burlesque Homer (1772) 361 May I for cats and dogs tum butcher, If ever yet she'd let me touch her.

b. To lay the hand upon (a diseased person) for the cure of the 'king's evil' or scrofula, as formerly practised by French and English sovereigns. Also absol.

1606 J. MELVILL Diary (Wodrow Soc.) 657 The Royall ceremonie of tuiching of some diseased childrein, for hailing off some of the escrolles. 1660 EVELYN Diary 6 July, His Majestie began first to touch for the evil, according to costome. 1705 Lond. Gaz. No. 4126/3 All Persons who shall..apply to be Touched, shall bring a Certificate. 1716 HEARNE Collect. (O.H.S.) V. 359 He said the King touched many for y^e Evil, and that they recovered. 1791 BOSWELL Johnson (1906) I. 17 His mother..carried him to London, where he was actually touched by Queen Anne. 1880 DIXON Windsor IV. xxxi. 298 The King began to touch for scrofula.

c. Sc. Hist. referring to the touching of an Act of Parliament with the sceptre in token of the royal assent.

1694 FOUNTAINHALL in M. P. Brown Suppl. Decis. (1826) IV. 179 This act was not touched; and Queen Anne, they could not supply the royal assent, nor make it an act. 1855 MACAULAY Hist. Eng. xviii. IV. 186 He [William] had ..suffered the law which abolished patronage to be touched with his sceptre. 1907 A. LANG Hist. Scot. IV. i. 3 Of the Acts passed by the Estates at this time, hardly one was 'touched' with the sceptre by the Commissioner. Ibid. ii. 29 He was to 'touch and pass the Acts of 1689 for restoring Presbyterian preachers.

d. Med. To examine by touch or feeling: see TOUCH sb. 1 c. Also absol.

1734 E. HOME W. Giffard's Cases Midwif. lxxxi. 192, I thought it proper to touch her. 1754–64 SMELLIE Midwif. III. 424 Upon touching I found the os uteri a little more dilated.

e. To bring by touching into some condition.

1813 MONTGOMERY World bef. Flood II. 207 Time had but touch'd her form to finer grace. 1892 TENNYSON Making of Man 4 Shall not scon after scon pass and touch him into shape?

† Football: = Touch down: see 30.

1864 Field 19 Nov. 354/2 When the ball is touched inside goal-line, must it be touched down dead? that is, is it fair touch if the ball move or roll afterwards? 1877 Ibid. 24 Feb. 90/1 Hutchinson..safely touched the ball behind the home team's line.

g. absol. or intr. Of soldiers in the rank: To close up until the elbows are in contact.

1803 DICKINSON Instr. Infantry 79 The leading man of the Front Rank..marks Time, the Rest wheel up to him, dressing by the Left, and touching by the Right. 1877 Man. Field Artillery Exerc. 26 During the wheel, each man must touch lightly..towards the pivot flank.

h. intr. for pass. (with descriptive extension): To 'feel' to the touch; to cause a specified sensation when touched.

1770–4 A. HUNTER Georg. Ess. (1803) IV. 575 We say this beast touches nicely upon its ribs. 1885 JEFFERIES Open Air (1890) 104 They touch rough—dusty rough, as books touch that have been lying unused.

3. trans. To come into, or be in, contact with. (Expressing an involuntary act or state of a person or part of the body, or of an inanimate thing.)

c 1330 R. BRUNNE Chron. (1810) 190 He smote him in þe helm, bekwand he bare his stroupe. þe body he did overwhelm, his hede touchide þe croupe. 1382 WYCLIF Numb. xxxi. 19 Who sleeth a man, or a man sleyn touchith. 1398 TREVISA Barth. De P. R. xvi. viii. (Bodl. MS.), Quike siluer ..dieseb nouht to binge þat it touchep. 1506 GUYLFORDE Pilgr. (Camden) 65 If the galye had ones touched the rok, we had ben all peryysshed. 1653 H. COGAN tr. Pinto's Trav. iv. 10 The ends of their sailyards, whereof some were so long that they touched even the very water. 1731 LUCKOMBE Hist. Print. 385 Its touching the letters underneath may be prevented. 1850 TYNDALL Glac. II. viii. 263 Loose shingle..falls upon the ice where it touches the rocks.

b. intr. or absol.: usually of two things, in reciprocal sense.

1615 W. LAWSON Country Housew. Gard. (1626) 23 That no tree..drop vpon, or touch his fellows..If they touch, the winde will cause a forcible rub. 1821 SHELLEY Epipsych. 578 Those spheres..Touch, mingle, are transfigured. 1832 TENNYSON Princess Pale Woman, 116 The bright death quiver'd at the victim's throat; Touch'd; and I knew no more. 1842 — Talking Oak 131 So fleetly did she stir, The flower, she touch'd on, dipt and rose. Mod. Place them close together, but do not let them touch.

4. trans. To be contiguous or in contact with, or immediately adjacent to; to adjoin, border on; to skirt.

c 1391 CHAUCER Astrol. II. § 5 Waite wel wher as thin Almury toucheth the bordure, & set ther a prikke of ynke. 1630 R. Johnson's Kingd. & Commw. 361 This State, touching the Apenine mountaines on the South, and the Adriatick Sea vpon the North. 1865 DICKENS Mut. Fr. iii. viii, A part of the road where it touched the river. 1896 BADEN-POWELL Matabele Campaign x, The Transvaal border touches ours near Tuli.

b. intr. † To be contiguous to (obs.); fig. to have mutual contact; (with upon) to succeed continuously.

c 1400 MAUNDEV. (1839) vii. 80 The vale of Josaphathe, bat touchethe to the walles, as thoghe it were a large dyche. 1669 FLAVEL Husb. Spir. III. iii. (1674) 211 There are several particulars in which this..design..and the pains of Husbandmen..do meet and touch. 1794 PALEY Evid. I. ix. § 4 (1817) 238 A series of writers touching upon one another.

c. Geom. (trans.) Of a line (straight or curved) or a surface: To meet (another line or surface) at a point so that when produced it does not (ordinarily) intersect or 'cut' it at that point; to be tangent to. Also absol. or intr. in reciprocal sense.

(A straight line may exceptionally both touch and cut a curve or curved surface at the same point, viz. at a point of inflexion, where the curvature changes from convex to concave or vice versa. In some cases also two surfaces (e.g. a cylinder and a plane, or two cylinders) may touch along a line instead of at a single point. See TANGENT A. 2, B. 1 b.)

1570 BILLINGSLEY Euclid iii. def. ii. 81 A right line is sayd to touch a circle, which touching the circle and being produced cutteth it not. 1840 LARDNER Geom. 52 The straight line joining the centres of circles which touch externally, must pass through their point of contact. 1885 EAGLES Constr. Geom. Plane Curves 136 To describe an ellipse to touch five given lines. 1885 LEUDESDORF Cremona's Proj. Geom. 147 An infinite number of conics can be drawn to touch a given straight line at a given point, and to touch two other given straight lines.

5. To strike or hit lightly (esp. with the spur, or in Fencing); in quot. c 1550, to hit, beat.

a 1330 Otuel 84 Wiþ þat word þe kinges a non Touchede here stedes & made hem gon. c 1550 R. WEVER Lusty Iuventus D iij b, If thou tel not truth, I wil not be behind, To touch you as wel agayne. 1596 DALRYMPLE tr. Leslie's Hist. Scot. IX. (S.T.S.) II. 181 As a noble horss tuechte with the spur is mair quik. 1809 ROLAND Fencing 124 At no time should you endeavour to touch your adversary while thrusting carte and tierce. 1832 SCOTT Ct. Robt. iii, Achilles ..touched the door with a rap, distinct at once and modest.

6. To affect physically in some way by contact.

a. To make an impression upon; to stain, scratch, abrade, corrode, decompose, etc.

Touched with the tar-brush (fig.): see TAR-BRUSH b.

c 1440 Gesta Rom. xii. 40 (Harl. MS.) If ye hadde on your choke, the reyne shuld not haue yrakowched your clothing. 1677 MOXON Mech. Exerc. I. 3 So hard that a File will not touch it (as Smiths say when a File will not cut or race it). 1725 Bradley's Fam. Dict. s.v. Silver, The Aqua Regalis, which dissolves Gold, will not touch Silver. 1881 YOUNG Every Man his own Mechanic § 1438 No file or cutting tool will 'touch' it.

† b. intr. with upon, some sense. Obs.

a 1626 BACON Phys. Rem. Wks. 1879 I. 245/1 For dissolution into liquor, we are to inquire..what will touch upon the one (metal) and not upon the other.

c. trans. To magnetize by contact or rubbing with a magnet. † Obs. (Cf. TOUCH sb. 11.)

1627 CAPT. SMITH Seaman's Gram. ii. 12 The darke Compasse hath the points blacke and white, and the other onely touched for the true North and South. 1698 BALLARD in Phil. Trans. XX. 418, I took any Knife, which had been formerly touch'd..and proffering it to the Needle, it drew the North Pole. 1706 E. WARD Wooden World Diss. (1708) 13 The Loadstone,..tho' never so well touch'd, will often point from its true Pole. 1796 MORSE Univ. Marine (1798) Toucher un compas, to touch the needle of a compass with a magnet. 1795 HUTTON Math. Dict. s. v. Magnet, This vertical way of touching a bar will not give it quite so much of the magnetic virtue.

d. To apply some substance lightly to (a part of the body, etc.) by contact, esp. for medicinal purposes (const. with the substance); spec. (Med.) to touch the gums, to induce salivation, as by the use of mercury.

1602 SHAKS. Ham. iv. vii. 147 He touch my point, With this contagion, that if I gall him slightly, It may be death. 1843 R. J. GRAVES Syst. Clin. Med. xxvi. 332 The raw surface itself..touched with zinc-ointment. 1859 W. R. GOWERS Man. Dis. Nerv. Syst. (ed. 2) II. 358 The patient should be brought slightly..under its [i.e. mercury's] influence, so as just 'to touch the gums' as the phrase is.

7. To affect injuriously in some physical way (e.g. by fire or frost), esp. in a slight degree; to communicate disease to by contagion, to infect, taint; also spec. in reference to a horse's 'wind' or breathing. (Usually in pa. ppple.)

1595 SHAKS. John v. vii. 2 It is too late, the life of all his blood Is touch'd corruptibly. 1601 W. LEIGH Soules Solace (1617) 7 When..he [Job] was touchet in his own person, so as his bone claue to his flesh. 1681 Lond. Gaz. No. 1584/4 Lost..a bright Bay Gelding..all his Paces..his Wind touch'd. 1772 R. GRAVES Spir. Quixe. (1820) I. 82 A horse which was touched in the wind. 1794 MRS. RADCLIFFE Myst. Udolpho xxviii, An icy coldness touched her cheeks, and her tears for awhile overcame her judgment. 1884 ROE Nat. Ser. Story ii, The plants that were touched with frost.

8. To test the fineness of (gold or silver) by rubbing it upon a touchstone (see TOUCHSTONE 1); † fig. to test, try, make trial or proof of (obs.).

a 1548 HALL Chron., Hen. VIII 193 There the crownes were wayed and touched. 1595 SHAKS. John III. i. 100 A counterfeit Resembling Maiesty, which being touch'd and tride, Proues valueless. 1607 — Timon III. iii. 6 They haue all bin touch'd, and found Base-Mettle. 1745 P. THOMAS Jrnl. Anson's Voy. 136 They..then carry [the bars of Silver] to be touch'd and mark'd. 1908 H. B. MORSE Trade Chinese Emp. 160 Silver is to be touched 'and the difference..from a certain standard, as indicated by the colour on the touchstone, is written on the other side.

b. To mark (metal) as of standard purity, etc., with an official stamp, after it has been tested.

1423 Rolls of Parlt. IV. 257/1 That no..Man that weareth Selver Hernoik, put noon Sterof to the sale, or [=nor] that it be touched wyth the touche of the Liberdished, that that may resonabli bere the touche. 1697 View Penal Laws 142 None shall put to sale any Silver Harness in London before it is touched. 1746–7 in Welch Hist. Pewterers' Co. (1902) II. 193 That all..wares capable of a large Touch shall be touched with a large Touch. 1772–3 Act 13 Geo. III, c. 52 § 6, I will touch no silver but what shall be of the goodness of and according to the standard of this kingdom. 1892 A. RYLAND Essay Gold & S. 72 The silversmiths..were under great difficulties..for want of assayers in convenient places to assay and touch their plate.

c. intr. for pass. To appear or prove to be of standard fineness on testing; to undergo or stand the test. lit. and fig. † Obs.

1628 FLETCHER Loyal Subject I. v, And now you are brought to th' test; touch right now, soldier, Now shew the manly pureness of thy mettle. 1701 COLLIER M. Aurel. 31 His honesty is right sterling, and touches as well as it looks. 1705 tr. Boisman's Guinea 81 These Lumps or Pieces are called Mountain-Gold; which being melted, touch better than Dust-Gold.

9. trans. To strike the strings, keys, etc. of (a musical instrument) so as to make it sound; to play on, esp. to play a few notes on; to sound (a horn, a bell). [Cf. Fr. toucher la lyre, Sp. tocar la lira.] ✝ Also intr. with on (quot. c 1470).

c 1470 Henryson Orpheus & Eurydice 611 Than Orpheus our ressoun is full wo, And twichis on his harp. 1484 Caxton Fables of Æsop vi. vii, A fyssher .. somtyme touched his bagpype tyl he the Ryuer for to make the fyssh to daunce. 1580 Lyly Euphues (Arb.) 473 Instruments sound sweetest when they be touched softest. 1633 Massinger Guardian ii. iv, I'll touch my horn (Severilio blows his horn); they know my call. 1697 Dryden Virgil ix 22 Thus touches .. With flying fingers touched the lyre. 1779 Mirror No. 43 ¶ 6 The organ was touched with a hand less firm. 1818 Peacock Melincourt xxi, Touch the bell for the waiter. 1829 Sir J. Barrington Pers. Sk. over Times (ed. 2) II. 164, I recollect Moore one night touching the piano-forte in his own unique way. 1888 Burgon Lives 12 Gd. Men II. ix. 214 Having touched the piano, [he] was requested to sing.

b. transf. To produce (musical sounds) by 'touching' an instrument; to play (an air).

1823 Scott Peveril x, A person in the royal retinue touched a light and lively air on the flageolet. 1848 Thackeray Van. Fair lix, Touching, to the best of her simple art, melancholy harmonies on the keys. 1848 Dickens Dombey xviii, Her low voice in the twilight, slowly and stopping sometimes, touched the old air to which he had so often listened.

10. In drawing, painting, etc.: To mark, draw, delineate (a detail of the work) by touching the surface with the pencil, brush, etc.; also, to modify or alter by such touches. Hence transf. in literary composition. (See also touch in, 31, touch up, 34.)

1675 A. Browne App. Art of Limning 70 The next you touch the Tips of the Eares with the forementioned Temperature. 1709 Pope Ess. Crit. 22 The Rules I lay, tho' touch'd but faintly, are drawn right. 1780 Cowper Let. 2 July, To touch and retouch is .. the secret of almost all good writing especially in verse. 1890 N. & Q. 7th Ser. X. 118/2 My impression [of the engraving] is unequal, being faint in some parts, very dark in others. If the plate was worn, it has been 'touched' afterwards.

✝ b. intr. with upon: To add touches to, modify by touching, touch up. Obs.

1675 Bentley in Dryden's Mistaken Husb. To Rdr., If a great Master have but touch'd upon an ordinary Piece, he makes it of value. 1762-71 H. Walpole Vertue's Anecd. Paint. (1786) III. 219 A French painter who was suffered to alter and touch upon his pictures.

c. fig. (trans.) To mark slightly or superficially with some colour or aspect: chiefly in pa. pple. Also said of the colour, etc.

c 1600 Shaks. Sonn. xcvii, Such heavenly touches nere toucht earthly faces. 1829 Scott Anne of G. xiii, The dawn had scarce begun to touch the distant horizon. 1847 L. Hunt Jar Honey xii. (1848) 158 The rock on the woody promontory .. is touched with rose-colour. 1883 F. M. Peard Contrad. xix, A faint smile touched her lips as she wondered.

11. intr. Of a ship, or those on board: To arrive and make a short stay in passing at a port or place on the way; to call in passing. Also transf. (of a traveller), and fig. Usually with at.

1517 Torkington Pilgr. (1884) 16 Many Shippys and galyes touche ther rather thanne at Parence. 1582 N. Lichefield tr. Castanheda's Conq. E. Ind. i. xiii. 96 That in his way he should touch at the Ilande of S. Blaze. 1697 Dryden Æneid vii. 29 Lest the Trojan's pious host Should bear, or touch upon th' inhospitable coast. 1721 Pot Voy. round World (1840) 58 Whenever any ship touched at that port. 1745 P. Thomas Trnl. Anson's Voy. 59 For the Ships who frequently touch here. 1828 Dupre Trav. Italy, etc. 208 We touched at Panaria, on account of its warm baths of which there are numerous vestiges. 1870 Kingsley in Gd. Words 203/1 Our own mail steamers..could as easily touch at Terceira now, as they did a few years since.

b. trans. with the port or place as obj.: To land upon; to visit in passing; also transf. and fig.

1593 Shaks. Rich. II, iii. 1. 288 All these.. With eight tall ships..meane to touch our Northerne shore. 1632 J. Haward tr. Biondi's Eromena 7 Supposing that they could not touch land in Sardegna. 1724 Johnson Let. to Boswell 26 Nov., Shall we touch the continent? 1872 Tennyson In Mem. xiv. 2 If one should bring me this report, That thou hadst touch'd the land to-day.

 Physical, passing into non-physical.

12. To handle or have to do with in any or the slightest degree; to meddle or interfere with however slightly; to 'lay a finger on'. (Usually with negative expressed or implied.)

1377 Langl. P. Pl. B. xviii. 192 Pat Adam & Eue.. Shulde deye doun right. If ja hi hem touchedd a sore, ne finite eten. c 1400 Destr. Troy 1337 All loste pe lyfe pat pe lede touchet. 1591 Spenser M. Hubberd 702 He so light was at le,tierdemaine, That what he toucht came not to light againe. 1656 Fuller Ch. Hist. v. 3 1 Being conscientiously scrupulous, not to take or touch a thread which is none of our own. 1711 Hearne Collect. (O.H.S.) III. 103 Five hundred Pounds..wch he said he never did or would touch. 1886 Ruskin Praeterita I. xi. 345, I had never touched a card.

b. spec. To lay hands on or meddle with so as to harm; to injure, hurt, in any or the least degree.

1297 R. Glouc. (Rolls) 10369 In pe popes half he sede, Ich norbede..Pat no man ne touchi bulke clerc. c 1400 Maundev. (1839) ix. 76 The Soudan hath do make a wall aboute the sepulcre, pat noman may towche it. 1596 Shaks. 1 Hen. IV, ii. iv. 300 The Lion will not touch the true Prince. 1716 Hearne Collect. V. 271 He stood [in the Pillory]..on Wednesday, and was not touch'd; but yesterday .. he was pelted miserably. 1832 Ld. Wellington in Examiner 23 Nov., 746/2 No officer was touched. 1836 J. Gilbert Cher. Atonem. vii. (1852) 204 The hand of violence must not touch them. 1888 Times (weekly ed.) 21 Dec. 4/2 Enemy in full retreat.. No English officers touched.

c. To take (food or drink); to 'taste'; usually (with negative), not to take any at all. (Cf. L. tangêre to touch, in this sense.)

c 1400 Destr. Troy 466 That euyn full was pat fre and no fode touchet. c 1450 St. Cuthbert (Surtees) 3346 pe forsaide gose pat touched nogt. 1600 Shaks. A. Y. L. ii. vii. 98 He dies that touches any of this fruit, Till I, and my affaires are answered. 1766 Goldsm. Vic. W. xxi, If a spoonful of liquor were to cure me of a fever, I never touch a drop. 1886 W. J. Tucker E. Europe 191, I could not touch another drop, unless I drink the gentlemen join me.

✝ d. intr. with with, at, on: To meddle with, have to do with (slightly or at all); to deal with cursorily (quot. 1693); to come into contact with.

a 1656 Bp. Hall Revelation Unrev. viii, That they ever offered to touch with any either secular or sacred business, we never find. 1693 Locke Educ. § 175 Studies which a Gentleman should not barely touch at, but constantly dwell upon. 1697 Collier Ess. Mor. Subj. ii. (1709) 29 He will never touch at a great Proposal; nor run any generous Hazards for his Friends or Country. 1702 Col. Rec. Pennsylv. II. 63 But they refused to touch with it unless it was intirely surrendered to ym [them]. 1746-7 Hervey Medit. (1818) 214 Our purity is of so delicate a complexion, that it scarce touches on the world without contracting a stain.

13. trans. To get or go as far as; to reach, attain (lit. and fig.).

c 1384 Chaucer H. Fame iii. 885 And with hir hed she touched heyne. 1613 Shaks. Hen. VIII, iii. ii. 223, I haue touch'd the highest point of all my Greatnesse. 1713 Steele Guard. No. 82 ¶ 1 Mr. William Peer [an actor] distinguished himself particularly in two characters, which no man ever could touch but himself. 1842 Tennyson Vis. Sin 23 The music touch'd the gates and died. 1864 — En. Ard. 57 Ere he touch'd his one-and-twentieth May. 1883 Manch. Examr. 3 Dec. 4/1 The price, after touching 88, fell back on French sales to 86.

b. fig. To attain equality with, 'come up to', rival, compare with. colloq.

1838 Dickens O. Twist xliii, Is there one of you that could touch him or come near him on any scent? 1902 Yoxall Jacob Cloud-Shadera xxiii, I thought there was nothing that could touch that mare of mine.

✝ c. intr. with to, in same sense. Obs.

1450-1530 Myrr. our Ladye 298 Tyl there were rysen a starre..that myght with hys heate touche to the heate of the sonne.

14. intr. with at, to, on, upon (also absol.): To approach closely, draw very near; to verge upon; ✝ in quot. 1615, to resemble closely (obs.).

1451 Capgrave Life St. Gilbert 75 Thus seknes growyng, and age of an hundred yere touching, he was in party compelled for to passe fro pis lif. 1615 Chapman Odysse. i. 326 Thy forehead and fair eyes at his form touch. 1791 Burke App. Whigs Wks. VI. 116 During the course of a political life just touching to its close. 1801 Lusignan IV. 224 Brother Ambrose touches at that dreadful hour, which delivers us to the sentence of an incorruptible judge! 1819 Lady Morgan Autobiog. (1859) 315 He sometimes touched on the very verge of meanness. 1832 Lytton Eugene A. iv. iii, At length the time touched upon dinner.

b. Naut. (trans.) To keep as close to (the wind) as the vessel will sail. Also absol.

1568 Satir. Poems Reform. xlvi. 54 Syne treveiss still, and lay abowt, And gar hir top twiche wind and waw. 1627 Capt. Smith Seaman's Gram. ix. 37 Touch the wind, and warre no more, is..to bid him at the Helme to keepe her so neere th'wind as may be. 1692 Ibid. i. xvi. 76 In keeping the Ship close to the Wind, these terms are used, Veer no more, touch the Wind. c 1860 H. Stuart Seaman's Catech. 85 Keep your eye on the weather leech of the sails, and just keep them touching.

15. trans. To take in the hand, take, receive, draw (money). [Cf. F. toucher de l'argent (16th c. in Littré)]; sometimes, to get by underhand means; hence (Thieves' cant), to steal. Also absol. Now chiefly slang or colloq.

1654 in Nicholas Papers (Camden) II. 253 He will give you a good account of Mr. Lovell and that he hath touched ..over £1000 sterling to his owne use. 1691 Wood Ath. Oxon. I. Fasti 859 Out of which, he had, I think, 1000l., which, with 200 l. more, was all he touched in the said 19 years. 1720 Swift Elegy on Demar 27 He touch'd the pence when others touch'd the pot. 1758 Smollett Hist. Eng. III. ii. vii. 82 For secret service money during the last ten years the Earl of Oxford had touched £1,452,400 of public money. 1833 Marryat P. Simple xxxii, I proved the [will]..at Doctors' Commons, and touched the whole of her money. 1855 Thackeray Newcomes xxxi, The..matrimonial arrangement is conducted (the agent touching his percentage). 1898 Bodley France II. iii. v. 238 The average annual ministerial salaries touched by French legislators.]

16. To fee, 'tip', bribe, tamper with. ? Obs.

1752 Fielding Amelia xi. iv, He had heard that the great man must be touched; for he never did anything without touching. 1754 J. Shebbeare Matrimony (1766) I. 281 N— ..having 'scaped the Servants..without touching one of them. 1770 Foote Lame Lover iii. Wks. 1799 II. 84 The court may proceed..But..I hope no gentleman has been touched in both cases.

b. To 'come down upon', 'get at', or 'tap' (a person) for money, to succeed in getting money from (colloq.); also, to rob (thieves' cant); in Australian slang, to swindle, cheat.

1760 C. Johnston Chrysal (1822) II. 43, I am quite broke up; his grace has touched me for five hundred. 1809 E. S. Barrett Setting Sun III. 103 If you could get me a commission, I could touch Dad for a few hundreds. 1898 Tit-Bits 21 May 239/3 Well, old boy, I've just touched Reggy for another tenner. 1898 Westm. Gaz. 14 Nov. 8/1 L.'s going to touch the public to a pretty tune for this.

c. To lay hold upon, to arrest.

1791 O'Keeffe Wild Oats ii. 1, Knock [at his door], and when he comes out touch him.

 Non-physical senses.

17. trans. To apprehend, succeed in getting at, 'hit', hit upon; to guess or state correctly. ? Obs.

c 1325 in Rel. Ant. I. 292 'The tuchest nowt the notes (in singing), thu bites hem on sonder. 13.. Cursor M. 18940 (Cott.) Als gad to paim be haligast Alkin wit to tuche and tast. 1606 Shaks. Tr. & Cr. ii. iii. 194 There you touch the life of our designe. 1725 De Foe Fam. Instruct. i. iii. (1841) I. 58 O you have touched it! there it lies. 1797 Hy. Lee Canterb. T., Old Wom. T. (1799) I. 380 He had at length, then, touched the point of truth.

✝ b. intr. with at: To succeed in hearing, to 'catch'. Obs.

c 1621 Chapman Iliad xix. 77 Hard it is, in such a great concourse (Though heaters' ears be ne'er so sharp) to touch at all things spoke.

18. trans. To speak or write of, treat of, mention, tell, relate; now always, to mention briefly, casually, or in passing; to refer to, allude to. Now rare or arch.

13.. E. E. Allit. P. B. 1437 Penne touched to pe tresour [= treasure] pis tale wats sone. 1380 Lay Folks Catech. (Lamb. MS.) 266 The secunde part of pis Crede..towchis xiiij artyculis. c 1440 Gesta Rom. i. 1 (Harl. MS.) And shortly for to touche his lete hem lete lese. 1585 T. Washington tr. Nicholay's Voy. iii. xi. 91 b, I will not forgette to touch the manner of the apparrell. 1669 Stormy Mariner's Mag. v. xii. 67, I shall come to touch how to make a good Shot. a 1704 T. Brown Sat. agst. Wom. 120 Nor shall I touch their secret mischief. 1895 Gladstone Feather 170 Subjects specially touched in particular passages of the Psalms. a 1903 'H. S. Merriman' Last Hope v, She gave a curt laugh, as if he had touched a topic upon which they would disagree.

b. intr., usually with ✝ of, ✝ at (obs.), on, upon, in same sense.

c 1320 Cast. Love 1309 Sumwhat touchen Ichulle fonde Of pat ich may vnderstonde. c 1400 Maundev. (1839) xxx, 302 The roundenesse of the erthe, of the whiche I haue touched to you of before. 1549 [see 26]. 1575 L. Lloyd Marrow of Hist. (1653) 39 To omit..to touch any more of women. 1610 Healey St. Aug. Citie of God 139, I thought good to touch at this Asian luxurie. 1638 R. Baker tr. Balzac's Lett. (vol. II) 39 One cannot touch upon any point where he is not ready for you. 1669 J. Sergeant Sure Footing 85 We will briefly touch at some of the Advantages which those Assistances .. give the Church. 1746 Wesley Anim. Ch., Prim. Methodist 8 To touch only on what seems of the most importance. 1878 Jowett Plato (ed. 2) IV. 5 He touches on the same difficulties and he gives no answer to them. 1883 Manch. Guard. 22 Oct. 5/2 The matter was touched upon in a general way at the Leeds Conference.

✝ 19. trans. (? fig. from 5.) To take to task, rebuke, reprove, censure; to charge, accuse. Obs.

1526 Pilgr. Perf. (W. de W. 1531) 145 yf he be touched with a sharpe worde, we shal yelde a benigne & gentyll answere. 1570 Daywell Papers in H. Hall Soc. Elis. Age (1886) App. 248 Sur Water Hungerfo, and his brother hathe touched me in iij thinges. 1596 Dalrymple tr. Leslie's Hist. Scot. x. (S.T.S.) II. 474 Gif tha touoche ouer scharphie, tha be suspected of Inuious persouuis. 1643 J Venn & James I in Select. fr. Hard. Mss. (1792) 306 He is strong with fear to be touched with Overbury's death. a 1677 Barrow Serm. (1687) I. xxii. 307 Our Saviour..touched Martha for being troubled about many things.

20. With mixture of senses. To say something apt or telling about, esp. in censure; to 'hit' by some apt or smart saying. Also to touch to the quick (cf. 25 b).

a 1529 Skelton Agst. Scotter 86 Thalia, my Muse, for you also call I, To touche them with tauntes of your armony. 1548 Udall Erasm. Par. Luke x. 92 b, The Pharisee beyng somewhat touched with ye answer of our Lorde.. . wouldde not acknowledge his owne faulte. a 1566 R. Edwardes Damon & Pithias Prol., In commedies the greatest skill is this, rightly to touche All thinges to the quick. 1593 Humours Town A vj, If thereforo any find themselves touch'd, they ought to make a Right Use of it. 1733 Pope Hor. Sat. ii. i. 41 Ev'n those you touch not, hate you. 1831 Scott Ct. Robt. xxxiii, 'Marry, you touch me there', said the centurion.

21. trans. To pertain or relate to; to have bearing upon; to be the business of; to concern. Obs. or arch. (passing into next sense).

a 1325 MS. Rawl. B. 520 If. 52 b, Pat þer ne passe no writ..vnder þe kinges lutele seal þat tuchi þe commune lawe. c 1350 in Eng. Gilds (1870) 349 Pinges þat touchen þe rewle of þe town. 1428 Surtees Wills. (1888) 7 Yis mater touched all ye grude men of ye counsell. 1535 Coverdale Eccl. xii. 14 Feare God, and keape his comandlementes, for that touchetth all men. 1697 Bentley Phal. (1699) 128 [These] Arguments touch only those particular Epistles. 1883 Manch. Guard. 22 Oct. 5/3 This..touches us not as Liberals or Conservatives, but as citizens.

✝ b. intr. with to, unto, upon, in same sense.

c 1325 Poem times Edw. II (Percy Soc.) xxxix, 3ut ther is another craft That towcheth to clergy. 1390 Gower Conf. I. 225 That oght unto me to touchetth. 1486 Sir G. Haye Law Armis (S.T.S.) 220 The offence touchis to the realme, and to the citee anerly of thair propre burges. 1523 Ld. Berners Froiss. I. ccccxv. 682 [It was] the duke of Lancastre, to whome the matere moost touched. 1623 Essex Papers (Camden) 104 This may a litle touch upon his Father in Law, my Lord Chancell. 1816 Scott Antiq. xxxiv, Ne'er a man should steer a hair touching to Monkbarns while Steenie and I could wag a finger.

c. To have affinity with. ✝ intr. with at (obs.), on.

trans. (obs. or arch. exc. as directly fig. from 3 or 4).

c 1611 Chapman Iliad xxi. 103 None now of all the brood of Troy..shall any breath enjoy.., specially that touch at Priam's race. 1774 Burke Corr. (1844) I. 505 To secure the attendance of those whom they touched the most nearly. 1888 BURGON Lives 12 Gd. Men 1 v. 6 He never identified himself with any school of religious thought, though he touched them all.

21. trans. To be felt as the concern of or important to; to be a matter of moment to; to affect, make a difference to.

*c*1470 Golagros & Gaw. 1177 It tuichis myne honour sa neir. 1491 Act 7 Hen. VII c. 26 § 8 That this Acte..in no wise extend to ne touche the warde ne mariage of Henry Erle of Essex. 1523 LD. BERNERS Froiss. I. cxv. 136 A thynge..which herafter may sore touche the Countrey of Flanders. 1613 SHAKS. Hen. VIII, iv. ii. 54 His Curses and his blessings Touch me alike; th' are breath I not believe in. 1882 PRODY Eng. Journalism xxi. 156 Till the publication of penny newspapers a few years ago the position of the Provincial Press was hardly touched.

†22. To produce an impression on, strike, impress (the senses, or organs of sense). Obs.

*c*1400 Destr. Troy 1668 Bright Aumbur, bat..smellis full swete, With taste for to touche the tabull aboute. 1596 SHAKS. Merch. V. v. i. 76 If..any ayre of musicke touch their eares. 1607 — Cor. ii. i. 67 If the drinke you gine me, touch my Palat aduersly, I make a crooked face at it. 1669 MILTON Morn. Christ's Nativity, Hymn xiii, Ring out ye Crystall sphears, Once bless our human ears, (If ye have power to touch our senses so). 1667 — P. L. IX. 987.

23. To affect mentally or morally, to imbue with some quality; in bad sense, to infect, taint (cf. 7). Also predicated of the quality. Usually in pa. pple.

13.. Cursor M. 12308 (Cott.) þis wymman þat had his tast Touched o þe hall gast. 13.. E. E. Allit. P. A. 837 For neuer lesyng ne tale vntrwe Ne touched her tonge for no dysstresse. a 1568 So Yvemmit is my Fortoun 14 in Bannatyne Poems (Hunter. Cl.) 717 Hairtles I am, for slewth twichis me so. 1600 SHAKS. A. Y. L. iii. iii. 56, I thanke God, I am not a Woman to be touch'd with so many giddie offences as hee [my uncle] hath generally tax'd their whole sex withal. 1640-2 SIR B. RUDYARD Sp. in Rushw. Hist. Coll. (1721) IV. 167 The Scots being truly touched with Religion, according to their Profession. 1850 TENNYSON In Mem. cix. 10 High nature amorous of the good, But touch'd with no ascetic gloom. 1871 MORLEY Crit. Miscs. Ser. 1. Byron (1878) 221 Byron was touched by the same fire.

b. pass. To be deranged mentally in a slight degree; in pa. pple. slightly insane or crazy, 'cracked'.

[1603 SHAKS. Meas. for M. v. i. 51 With that opinion That I am touch'd with madnesse.] 1704 STEELE Lying Lover v. iii, Pray mind him not, his Brain is touch'd. 1708 VANBRUGH Confed. v. ii, You see master's a little touched, that's all. 1810 Sporting Mag. XXXV. 292 He thought he was a little touched, or insane. 1873 MISS THACKERAY Old Kensington xxviii, What an extraordinary creature poor Sarah is! touched, certainly.

24. To affect with some feeling or emotion; to move or stir the feelings of; to produce an emotion in; spec. to affect with tender feeling, as pity or gratitude. Const. with.

*c*1340 HAMPOLE Prose Tr. 2 þe mynd towchede with þe soueryne swettnes. *c*1500 Three Kings Sons 188 He thought it touchid hir heart somwhat. 1603 H. CROSSE Vertues Common. (1898) 123 [He] heareth a buzzing sound in his eares, but is neuer touchedinthe his heart. 1632 GOUGE God's Arrows III. § 50. 277 It is inhumanity not to be touched with others needs. 1711 STEELE Spect. No. 11 P 7, I was so touch'd with this Story..that I left the Room with Tears in my Eyes. 1832 TENNYSON Poems 135 That man, of all the men I ever knew, Most touched my fancy. 1860 THACKERAY Round. Papers, Nil nisi bonum 227, I can't say how much the thought of that fidelity has touched me.

b. With the feeling as subject; in passive const. with the feeling.

1560 DAUS tr. Meidane's Comm. 371 They are neither touched with the gilt of conscience, nor haue given none any occasion of displeasure. 1663 BP. PATRICK Parab. Pilgr. xii. 70, I know this touches you with a strong incitination to it. 1778 Phil. Mag. xxi. 105 If ever yet soft pity touch'd thy mind. 1810 SCOTT Lady of L. i. ix, Then, touched with pity and remorse, He sorrowed o'er the expiring horse.

c. To influence, move (in mind or will).

1570 T. WILSON Demosth. Orat., Life 127 As for corrupting him wyth giftes or rewardes, he is no more to be touched that way, than was Aristides. 1667 MILTON P. L. x. 45 No Decree of mine Concurring to necessitate his Fall, Or touch with lightest moment of impulse His free Will.

25. a. To grieve, vex; to injure, harm: esp. in a slight degree. ? Obs. (or merged in 23). Cf. 5.

1535 STEWART Cron. Scot. (Rolls) II. 262 As ressone wald, it tuechit him full sore. 1581 Reg. Privy Council Scot. III. 401 Be the violatioun and brek of the same his Hienes is sumthinat twitchit and offendit mitie. 1608 Yorks. Trag. i. ii, Shall I stand idle And see my reputation touch'd to death?

b. To hurt or wound in mind or feelings, as if by touching a sore or tender part; to irritate, sting, nettle. Often in fig. phrases, as touch to the quick. (Cf. 5, 19 b.)

1589 Love & Fort. A ij b, He hath been lately rubde and touchi perhaps too neere. 1600 E. BLOUNT tr. Conestaggio 85 They touched the ministers of iustice to the quicke. 1711 ADDISON Spect. No. 99 P 7 Telling a Man he lyes, is touching him in the most sensible Part of Honour. 1820 HOGG Tales & Sk., Bridal of P. II. 66 He feared it would be..touching the king upon the sore heel. 1898 J. ARCH Story of Life xi. 257 It touched scores and scores of labourers on the raw.

II. Phrases.

26. Phrases with other verbs or sbs. Touch and go: to touch for an instant and immediately go away or pass on; to deal with momentarily or slightly. (See also TOUCH AND GO sb. and a.) 1549 LATIMER 1st Serm. bef. Edw. VI (Arb.) 26 As the text doeth ryse, I wyl touche and go a lyttle in euery place, vnty I come vnto to much. 1600 ABP. ABBOT Exp. Jonah 446 Therefore it shall be enough for me, now to touch and go. *c*1670 in Roxb. Ball. (1891) VII. 486 A Taylor in the Strand ..Most finely was Trappan'd, touch and go.

b. Touch and run: see TOUCH sb. 1 g.

27. Touch and take: in various senses (see above and TAKE v.); in quot. 1793, to take fire at a touch.

1691 NARBOROUGH Jrnl. in Acc. Sev. Late Voy. I. (1694) 14 One blinded with a Cloth serv'd every Man as they were called to touch and take. 1793 Regal Rambler 40 Our hero laid in a large cargo of fresh fuel, ready to touch and take like phosphorus. 1804 NELSON Let. to F. D. Thomson 5 Sept., The Enemy have a shoal of frigates with their fleet and other Small Vessels, which will take their Crippled Ships in Tow. My Motto shall be Touch and Take.

28. In comb. with sb. To touch one's hat: to raise the hand to the hat and touch it in token of salutation (an abbreviated form of the act of taking off or raising the hat). Const. to (the person saluted).

1782 MISS BURNEY Cecilia VII. ix, And, touching his hat, he was riding away. 1820 W. IRVING Sketch Bk. II. 149 Not a stage coach-man..but touches his hat as he passes. 1840 HALIBURTON Letter Bag iv. 54 We bow and touch our hats with much formality. 1863 KINGSLEY Water-Bab. i, So Mr. Grimes touched his hat to him.

29. In To touch wood. a. In a children's game: see quots. 1849, 1888. b. In folk-lore, or quasi-superstitious use: To touch wood as a charm to avert apprehended misfortune, esp. that apt to follow untimely boasting or self-gratulation: cf. L. absit omen! (OMEN sb., quot. 1637).

1849 Boy's Own Bk. 37 This..game [TOUCH sb. 1 g] is sometimes called 'Touch-iron' or 'Touch-wood'; in these cases the players are safe only while they touch iron or wood, as may be previously agreed. They are liable to be touched only when running from one piece of wood or iron to another. 1888 Berksh. Glossr., Touch 'ood. Boys have games called 'touch 'ood' and 'touch-iron', where anyone not touching either of the substances named is liable to be caught by the one standing out and has to stand out accordingly. 1908 Westm. Gaz. 30 Dec. 2/3 On the next occasion when we read of Christmas with spring weather or of the changing seasons we shall 'touch wood'.

III. In combination with adverbs.

30. Touch down. Rugby Football. trans. To touch the ground with the (ball) behind the goal, usually that of the opposing side; also absol. See also touch-down sb. (TOUCH- 2).

1864 Field 5 Nov. 331/2 The Old Rugbeians..soon touched the ball down in the School goal. Ibid. 19 Nov. 354/2 [see TOUCH sb. 1 g]. 1882 Standard 20 Nov. 2/8 The Military had..to touch-down several times in self-defence. 1891 Football; Rugby Union Laws § 19 A Maul in Goal is when the ball is held inside the goal line and one of the opposing sides endeavours to touch it down. 1897 Sportsman 16 Dec., [B.] took a shot at goal..but the ball went wide and J. touched down.

31. Touch in. trans. In drawing, painting, etc.: To insert (a detail) by touching with the pencil, brush, etc.

1871 Routledge's Ev. Boy's Ann. Oct. 625 The dry leaves in the hedges..may be touched in with burnt sienna. 1891 Photogr. Ann. I. 262 Touching in as small a portion of top edge as possible.

32. Touch off. trans. a. To represent exactly, to 'hit off' (cf. 17); also to touch it off, to do exactly right, hit the mark exactly; in quot. 1766, to 'take the measure of' correctly, 'size up', hence to be a match for (obs.).

1758-65 GOLDSM. Ess. I. P 5, I was [told]..that I should now see something touched off to a nicety, for Mr. Sprigins was going to give us 'Mad Tom' in all its glory. 1766 GOLDSM. Vic. W. xii, I knew you would touch them off. 1821 GALT Ayrshire Legatees viii, He's such a funny man! and touches off the Londoners to the nines.

b. To fire off (a cannon, etc.), orig. by putting a match to the touch-hole.

1907 Daily Chron. 6 Dec. 7/3 The only delay..is due to a fear that a dispatch of the troops will touch off the magazine.

33. Touch out. trans. To clean out (corners) by touches or light strokes, as in wood-carving.

1879 Cassell's Techn. Educ. V. 71/2 Tools..for fancy work, and for touching out corners difficult of access.

34. Touch up. a. trans. To improve, finish, or modify by adding touches or light strokes.

† 1715 ADDISON Freeholder No. 44 P 3 What he saw was..her natural Countenance, touched up with the usual Improvements of an aged Coquette. 1748 Phil. Trans. XLV. 773 All the illuminated Sets were..touch'd up and finish'd by his own Hand. 1860 THACKERAY Round. Papers, Screens, Suppose the Editor..never touched up one single line of the contribution. 1863 BARING-GOULD Iceland 277 It is touched up, but it is for the most part quite trustworthy.

b. To stimulate by striking lightly or sharply, as with a whip; hence fig. to remind, 'to gently jog the memory' (Farmer Slang).

1810 Sporting Mag. XXXV. 34 (Single Stick) Maslen set to with great confidence, sharply touching up the right arm of his antagonist. 1838 DICKENS Nich. Nick. xxxii, He let out his whip-lash and touched up a little boy on the calves of his legs. 1902 'MRS. ALEXANDER' Stronger than Love viii, She touched up the ponies, and brought them over the bridge..at a great pace.

Touch- sb. or vb. in combination.

1. a. Simple attrib. combinations of the sb., as touch-feeling, -knowledge, -pleasure, -sensation.

b. Special combinations of the sb. (or in some cases directly from the vb.-stem): touch-bodies, -corpuscles Anat., minute bodies of connective and nervous tissue occurring in the skin of the hands, feet, lips, and other parts, supposed to be connected with the sense of touch; also called tactile corpuscles; touch-cell Anat., a nerve-cell at the end of a sensory nerve in a touch-corpuscle; touch judge, in Rugby Football, an umpire who marks when and where the ball goes 'into touch' (TOUCH sb. 12), corresponding to a linesman in the Association game; touch-key, name given to an instrument for scientific experiments on the sense of touch; touch-needle, a slender bar or rod of gold or silver, one of a set of different standards of fineness, used in conjunction with a touchstone for testing the fineness of gold or silver; touch-plate, one of a set of plates bearing the 'touches' or official marks of the company of pewterers (TOUCH sb. 5 b); † touch-point Geom., point of contact; touch-proof, in Sugar Manuf. a method of testing the degree of crystallization of the syrup by touching a drop of it, laid on the thumb, with the forefinger, and drawing it out to a thin thread; † touch-warden: see quot. 1676 (cf. TOUCH sb. 5, v. 8); also fig.; touch watch, a watch so contrived that the time by it can be ascertained by touch, e. g. in the dark; touch-weight, one of a set of weights used in experiments on the sense of touch. c. Connected with the notion of ready ignition: see TOUCH-POWDER; touch-pan, the pan of an old-fashioned gun, into which the touch-powder was put; touch-paper, paper steeped in nitre so as to burn slowly on being touched by a spark, used for firing gunpowder, etc.; touch-plate, the metal plate in which was the touch-hole of a culverin; touch-string, string steeped in nitre used as a fuse (cf. touch-paper). See also TOUCH-BOX, TOUCH-HOLE, TOUCHWOOD.

1889 Cent. Dict. s.v. Corpuscle, Tactile corpuscles..Also called..touch-corpuscles, *touch-bodies, palpation-corpuscles. 1897 PARKES & HASWELL Zool. II. 100 Touch-corpuscles are formed of an ovoidal mass of connective tissue containing a ramified nerve, the terminal branches of which end in *touch-cells. 1896 DUHRING Dis. Skin 26 Tactile corpuscles are also called *touch corpuscles. 1899 Allbutt's Syst. Med. VI. 641 A trophic centre in a touch corpuscle. 1884 tr. Lotze's Metaph. iv. 507 heading, How can *Touch-feelings form a series? 1893 Daily News 14 Dec. 2/6 Messrs. Temple Gordon and Percy Christopherson were *touch judges. 1894 Westm. Gaz. XX Jan. 5/3 Altogether 14 players were injured, the touch-judge was threatened, and the referee reported that it had never been his lot to witness such a shameful exhibition. 1902 TITCHENER Exper. Psychol. II. i. 159 Fig. 60. Scripture's *touch key. 1884 St. James' Gaz. 13 June 4/2 The true dealer's *touch-knowledge of Oriental antiquities. 1763-6 W. LEWIS Comm. Phil.-Techn. 224 Accustoming himself to compare the colours of a good set of *touch needles. 1884 F. J. BRITTEN Watch & Clockm. 266 Touch needles are small bars of gold, one each of all the different standards likely to be tested. 1891 SYLVESTER Du Bartas I. viii. 36 Down falls the Cock, up from the *Touch-pan flies A ruddy flash. 1750 Phil. Trans. XLVI. 449 Neither these, nor those of Cheltenham, will defiagrate or flash in *Touch-Paper. 1832 MISS MITFORD Village Ser. v. 113 Why dost thou not fire?..So please your worship, the wind hath extinguished the touch-paper. 1873 E. SPON Workshop Receipts Ser. I. 131/2 Touchpaper..placed..round the mouth of the firework, and twisted into a point. 1778 PRYCE Min. Cornub. 178 [The miners] have a touch-pipe, that is, rest..half an hour to smoke a pipe. 1508 Acc. Ld. High Treas. Scot. IV. 122 For vernesing of ane lang culveryn and gilting of the end of it and the *twich plaith. 1902 WELCH Hist. Pewterers' Co. I. Introd. 1 The..inventories of the Company's goods show that touch-plates existed at an early date. a 1618 SYLVESTER Spectacles xii, How soon doe Odours from thy Nostrils fly! How short, *touch-Pleasures (tipt with pain and fear)! 1602 BLUNDEVIL Theoriques Seuen Planets 29 The *Touch-point, otherwise called the point of concauitie. Ibid. 73 The right line BHP sheweth the Touch-point. 1899 Allbutt's Syst. Med. VII. 35 The transmission of ordinary *touch sensations being unimpaired. a 1860 ADA SHEW Lond. Med. Stud. (1861) 61 Crackers..contrived to explode at any period..by attaching graduated pieces of *touch-string to them. 1644 BULWER Chirol. 172 The grape of the Index [finger]..is..chiefe *Touchwarden to the King of the five senses. 1676 B. W[ILLIS] Man. Goldsm. 30 The Wardens that are to make the Assays and mark the Silver, are now called the Touch-Wardens. 1862 Catal. Internat. Exhib., Brit. II. No. 3322 *Touch watches, regulators, and railway clocks. 1884 F. J. BRITTEN Watch & Clockm. 33 Blind Man's Watch...A watch in which the progress of the hands may be ascertained by touch...The objection to this form of touch watch is that if the pointer is pressed hard against the finger it is apt to advance the hands of the watch. 1905 TITCHENER Exper. Psychol. II. ii. 46 The *Touch-Weights. Sets of these weights were made, a few years ago, by Willyoung.

2. Substantival phrases consisting a. of the vb. in combination with an advb.: touch-back (Rugby Football), the act of touching the ground with the ball on or behind the player's own goal-line after it has been driven there by the opposing side; touch-down (Rugby Football), the act of touching the ground with the ball behind the goal-line, usually that of the opposing side; safety touch- down, the same done behind the player's own goal-line after it has been driven there by his own side, in order to prevent the opposing side from making a touch-down; touch-up, an act of touching up (see TOUCH v. 34 a); a stroke added by way of improvement or finish; also a slight incitement or reminder; b. of the vb. with object; touch-no-wall, -s, Tennis: see quots.

a. 1864 Field 29 Oct. 215/1 The School... obtaining two "touches down", which Poole was unable to turn into a goal. 1898 Outing (U.S.) XXVII. 240/2 Canadian system of scoring...A 'touch-down' or 'try' consists of four points with the privilege of trying a kick at the goal, which, if successful, nets the team which scored two points more. 1888 Athenæum 1 Aug. 144/3 Tom Moore did not...give the great novelist a retrospective "touch-up with his poetic pencil. 1907 Times 3 May 4/1, I ask your lordship to give a sort of a kind of 'touch-up' to these people.

b. 1777 [T. Swift] Gamblers 1. 221 Now sounds the Grill; 'tis Setts, and Touch-no-wall, And Chaces echo thro' the Intire'd Hall. 18..Lawn Tennis § 33 in J. Marshall Ann. Tennis (1878) 168 When the odds of touche-no-walls, or touch-no-side-walls, are given, a ball returned by the giver of the odds, which makes a nick, is counted for the striker. 1898 J. Marshall Ann. Tennis 160 Touch-no-walls, or All-the-walls: a point of cramped-odds, by which the giver of the odds loses a stroke whenever a ball returned by him, touches a wall or a gallery-post, or enters an opening, before falling on the floor.

Touchable (tʊ·tʃăb'l), a. [f. TOUCH v. + -ABLE.] Capable of being touched.

1. Affecting the sense of touch; tangible.

c 1400 Wycliff's Bible Heb. xii. 18 Se han not come to the tretable fyer, or able for to touche [v.r. or toucheable]. 1572 J. Jones Bathes of Bath n. 18 The truest touchestone, of all properties, trying both touchable and tasteable qualities. 1656 W. D. tr. Comenius' Gate Lat. Unl. § 469. 135 To the end that things touchable may in lying down gently affect us. 1829 Jas. Mill Hum. Mind (1869) I. 13 In that case, we should have no idea of objects as seeable, as hearable, as touchable, or tasteable.

b. Fit to be touched or tasted. nonce-use.

1751 Smollett Per. Pic. lxxxvii. 188 Black Beautiful Wretch, etc. III. 177 The butter was not touchable.

2. Capable of being affected in mind or feeling.

1822 Examiner 154/2 Every mind touchable by musical sounds. 1890 Church Union (N.Y.) May 3 Most of our readers as are touchable by the appeal of this writer.

Hence Touchableness.

1620 T. Granger Div. Logike 66 Also visiblenesse, touchableness, which are inseparable both in state of mortalitie, and in the state of glory. 1674 Blount Glossogr., Tangibility, touchableness.

Tou·ch and go', sb. and adj. phr. (Also with hyphens.) [The vbl. phrase touch and go (Touch v. 26) used as sb. or adj.]

A. sb. 1. The act of touching for an instant and quitting immediately; something done quickly or instantaneously.

1655 Mouffet & Bennet Health's Impr. (1746) 59 However we may taste of it to bring on Appetite, let it be but a touch and go.

2. Applied to a person of hasty temper or disposition. nonce-use.

1675 Duffett Mock Temp. III. i, Old touch and go, why so hasty?

3. A risky, precarious, delicate, or ticklish case or state of things (such that a mere touch may cause disaster); a narrow escape, 'near shave'.

1825 R. Wardlaw Lect. in Alexander Life vi. (1856) 166 'Twas touch and go—but I got my seat. 1831 Miss Ferrier Destiny iv, So it was with Glenroy and his lady. It had been touch-and-go with them for many a day; and now ... end in a threatened separation. 1898 C. Hunt in Merc. Marine Mag. V. 84 Passing so close, that it is often a 'touch and go'. 1867 Smyth Sailor's Word-bk., Touch-and-go, said of anything within an ace of ruin; as in rounding a ship very narrowly to escape rocks, &c., or when, under sail, she rubs against the ground with her keel, without much diminution of her velocity. 1887 'H. Smart' Cleverly Won iii, She caught [the horse]...by the mane, and though it was touch and go she managed to retain her seat.

B. adj. 1. Involving or characterized by rapid, slight, or superficial execution; sketchy; casual, careless; instantaneous; expeditious.

1812 H. & J. Smith Rej. Addr. Pref. 11 There is an art of writing for the Theatre, technically called touch and go,...indispensable when we consider the small quantum of patience which...a London audience can be expected to afford. 1832 Moore Mem. (1854) VI. 247 Free to introduce anecdotes, quotations, and all such touch-and-go things as the formality of an essay would not admit of. 1832 J. P. Kennedy Swallow B. xii, It was a touch-and-go manner which spoke volumes. 1879 Stevenson Trav. Cevennes (1886) 98 In the neighbourhood of women, it is but a touch-and-go association that can be formed amongst defenceless men. 1884 Miss Braddon Wyllard's Weird iv, A murder of that kind must be touch and go—no sooner thought of than done. 1891 Spectator 14 Feb. 246/2 They are 'touch-and-go' sketches, and impressions such as a clever man may throw off at will.

2. Risky, of the nature of a narrow escape: cf. A. 3.

1896 Alexander R. Wardlaw vi. 168 His getting off at all was generally a 'touch and go' matter. 1897 Blackmore in Blackw. Mag. Sept. 362 Some touch and go adventure he has been through.

† Tou·changle. Obs. rare. ? = Angle-twitch, worm used as bait in angling.

1582 J. Bell Haddon's Answ. Osor. 291 With this touchangle he may fishe a good while, and catch a foole at the last.

† Tou·chant, prep. Obs. rare. [a. F. touchant prep. use of pr. pple. of toucher to Touch.] = Touching prep.

c 1375 Cursor M. 26439 (Fairf.) Touchant dedeli synne say we. 1425 Paston Lett. I. 21, I send you ... the copie of my frendely lettre..sent to me late, touchant the same matier. ?1430 Ibid. 30 My clerke, to wham I prey yow to gyve feith and credence touchant this matier. 1457 Harding Chron. in Eng. Hist. Rev. Oct. (1912) 731 His greuance...touchant the Euydence of the souereyne of Scotlonde.

Touchar, obs. form of Tocher.

† Tou·ch-box. Obs. exc. Hist. [for touch-powder box: see Touch-powder.] A box for 'touch-powder' or priming-powder, formerly forming part of a musketeer's equipment.

1549 Acts Privy Council (1890) II. 348 Flaskes, cviij; touche boxes, c. 1564 Wills & Inv. N. C. (Surtees) I. 206 One dagg w^th flask and tutchbockes vt. 1590 Sir J. Smythe Disc. Weapons 21 The touchpowder in the touch-boxes also. 1591 Garrard's Art Warre 3 Hys Flaske and Tutchboxe must keepe hys Ponder. 1598 Barnaby Short Warres 11. i. 34 To haue his touchboxe fastened by the string..and to prime his peece with touch-powder. 1627 Capt. Smithe Seaman's Gramm. xiv. 68 A Horne is his touch-box. 1660 Acts Chas. II. c. 3 Sched. 1, Boxes, Touch-boxes of iron or other mettall, guilt, the dozen...j. l. 1902 Firth Cromwell's Army iv. 81 A fine powder for priming...in what was termed a touch-box or primer, and a coarser powder for loading...in his flask.

Touched (tʊtʃt), ppl. a. Also 7–8 toucht. [f. Touch v. + -ED 1.] In various senses corresponding to those of Touch v.

In quot. a 1625, tried, proved (sense 8); in quot. 1667, magnetized (sense 6 c); in quot. 1660 absol. from sense 2 b.

Touched gold, the touch-piece given by the sovereign when he touched for the 'king's evil', supposed to retain a healing virtue. Touched proof, a 'proof' from an engraved or etched plate approaching completion, submitted to the artist of the picture copied, for his approval or criticism.

c 1400 Hylton Scala Perf. (W. de W. 1494) II. ii. It was impossyble goddis sone to be borne of towchyd woman. a 1586 Sidney Arcadia (1622) 461 To repay the touched honour of her house. a 1625 Fletcher Women Pleased II. i. Yo. Gal. I am a touch'd friend. 1660 Evelyn Diary 6 July, The other Chaplaine..., having Angel gold strung on white ribbon on his arme, delivers them one by one to his Majestie, who puts them about the necks of the touched as they passe. 1667 P. Oldenburg in Phil. Trans. II. 423 Whether touched Needles move otherwise, when the Veins of Iron do not lie North and South. 1715 E. Betts 1 Map. in The Betts of Wortham xvi. (1912) 167 My mother tooke Cos Mary Betts ye piece of toucht gold with ye Britaine and this motto [etc.]. 1861 Thornbury Turner I. 408 Turner was always quarrelling with the engravers about his touched proofs. He wanted every proof on which he had written directions to be returned.

b. With adv., as touched-up: see Touch v. 34.

1875 tr. Vogel's Chem. Light vii. 48 A single touched-up negative gave hundreds of unexceptionable impressions.

Hence Tou·chedness (in quot., state of being mentally 'touched', slight insanity).

1883 F. W. Robinson Hands of Justice II. v, Clambering out of the window in the middle of the night was a surking example of his 'touchedness'.

Toucher (tʊ·tʃăɪ). [f. Touch v. + -er 1.] One who or that which touches, in senses of the vb.

1. gen. a. lit. or in physical sense.

1435 Misyn Fire of Love I. xxv. 54 Qwhils þe hart of þe toucher in dyuers desises is takyn. 1495 Trevisa's Barth. De P. R. viii. xxx (de Worde 1530) V The [torpedo] be touchyd with a spere, the towcher shall fele the vyolence of the venym. 1548 Udall, etc. Erasm. Par. Matt. ix. 59 [Jesus] loked about hym as seking for the priuy toucher. 1680 C. Nesse Church Hist. 340 Touch a wicked man upon the sore...he fumes and casts the toucher into prison. 1763 Life Swift in Wks. XI. 265 A thistle is the Scotish arms Which to the Toucher threatens harms. 1904 Times, Lit. Suppl. 1 Apr. 97/2 That high sort..means death to the profane toucher.

b. fig.

1601 Deacon & Walker Spirits & Divels 121 This argument...is a toucher. 1709 Mrs. Manley Secret Mem. (1720) III. 323 A Heart truly touch'd, values nothing in comparison with the Toucher. 1846 Haydon in Guilick & Timbs Paint. (1859) 235 The touchers..are the great men who had discovered the optical principles of imitating nature to convey thought.

c. With adv., as toucher-up.

1908 Westm. Gaz. 28 Jan. 4/1 Taken..advantage of by the wily dealer and his ally, the 'toucher-up'.

2. Bowls. A bowl which touches the jack.

1600 Nashe Summer's Last Will 1178 Ho, wel shot, a tutcher, a tutcher! 1669 Fuller App. Inj. Innoc. (1840) 52, I expected when the Antimaleuoler had knocked away my bowl, he would have laid a toucher in the room thereof. 1868 'S. Daryl' Quoits & Bowls 52 A bowl which touches the Jack at any time during its course...is called a 'toucher'.

3. An instrument for touching: see quot.

1888 C. G. W. Lock Workshop Receipts Ser. IV. 327/2 By means of a little strip of brass—called a 'toucher'—the crossings are found [in examining a watch].

4. colloq. or slang. a. A case of close contact, an exact fit. b. A very near approach, a 'near go'; in phr. as near as a toucher, very nearly, all but.

1828 Craven Gloss. s.v., An exact fit. 'It hits to a toucher', i.e. so exactly that the joints touch each other. 1840 I. T. Hewlett P. Priggins ix, 'So Dick and Tripes were nearly being rusticated this morning'...'As near as a toucher'. 1860 Sala Baddington Peerage I. xvii. 298 It was a near toucher, though! 1894 Astley 30 Years Life II. 199, I was as near as a toucher turning too short, through mistaking the post.

Toucher, obs. form of Tocher.

Tou·ch-hole. [f. Touch- in touch-powder + Hole.] A small tubular hole in the breech of a fire-arm, through which the charge is ignited; the vent.

1501 Acc. Ld. High Treas. Scot. II. 25 Item, for casting of the erd fra Mons [Meg], and to turne hir aid iayr the twych hole vp, ..iij.s. ijd. 1560 Whitehorne Ord. Souldiouers 33 Putting sum poulder in the touchehole and abuote the touchhole, the Gunne is then charged. 1618 in Foster Eng. Factories Ind. (1906) 31 The fire out of hir touchole (as yt is most likely) tooke hold of the bandeleros. 1709 Dampier Voy. III. ii. 81 Six bad Guns..whose Touch-holes..are so enlarg'd..that a great part of the strength of the Powder flies away there. 1827 W. Irvine Capt. Somerville (1829) 193 Some of the more knowing..contrived to stop the touch-holes of the field-pieces with dirt.

b. fig. or allusively.

1601 Marston Ant. & Mel. II. Wks. 1856 I. 19 The match ...will presently set fire to the touch-hole of intemperance. 1617 Middleton & Rowley Fair Quarrel II. ii. a 1625 Fletcher & Mass. Cust. Country III. iii. 1664 Butler Hud. II. ii. 830 Like linstock, to the horse's touch-hole.

Touchily (tʊ·tʃĭlĭ), adv. [f. Touchy + -ly 2.] In a touchy manner; irritably, testily; † saucily.

1653 Waterhouse Apol. Learn. 251 The King answered only, Say what I can do acceptable to the Athenians; the Varlet Democrates replyed touchily, Nothing better then to hang thy selfe. 1844 Wardlaw Provo. II. xxxix. 47 The hasty spirit...startles touchily at every word. 1888 Mrs. H. Ward R. Elsmere xiv, Rose..had grown so touchily sensitive.

Touchiness (tʊ·tʃĭnĕs). [f. as prec. + -ness.] The quality of being touchy.

1. Sensitiveness of temper, irritability, testiness.

1653 Gauden Hierasp. To Rdr. 26 Nor is he ignorant of the touchiness, and roughness, of many mens spirits in these times. 1660 Hickeringill Jamaica (1662) 96 Their discontents had heated them to so (tinder-like) a Touchiness, that they were ready to take fire on all occasions. 1828 Lights & Shades II. 52 She is known only by her one absorbing quality of touchiness, and is dreaded and hated accordingly.

2. Ticklishness, precariousness.

1648 Eikon Bas. iii. 74 My friends resented it as a motion ...not prudent, with such discretion, as the touchiness of those times required.

3. Painting, etc.: see Touchy 4.

1813 Examiner 8 Feb. 90/2 The heads and hands have...a rich touchiness of pencil. Ibid. 1 Mar. 141/2 The trees..have perhaps too minute a touchiness of touch. 1861 New Monthly Mag. III. 391 It is too much limited to the outline of the body: it wants a good filling up, a breaking and touchiness in the intermediate spaces.

Touching (tʊ·tʃĭŋ), vbl. sb. [f. Touch v. + -ing 1.] The action of the verb Touch.

1. The action, or an act, of feeling something with the hand, etc.; the fact or state of being contiguous; touch, contact; a touch; spec. for the 'king's evil' (quot. 1704).

c 1290 St. Lucy 33 in S. Eng. Leg. I. 102 Þorus touchinge of seinte Agace toumbe þou schalt beo hol a-non. a 1450 Knt. de la Tour (1906) 58 Leude touchinge and handelyng sterithe and chafithe the flesshe. 1462 T. Norton Ordinal Chem. iv. xix. (1652) 123 Some he healed with touchings, other some with his word. a 1657 Sir W. Muke Misc. Poems xi. 6 Hands, forbeare to touch Ogbt 30' touching can bewitch! 1704 Lond. Gaz. No. 4020/4 Her Majesty thinking it necessary to discontinue Touching for this Season. 1842 Tennyson Locksley Hall 38 Our spirits rush'd together at the touching of the lips.

† b. The sense of touch. Obs.

c 1460 Wisdom 1105 in Minor Poems 22 By towchynge, I felte pryne smerte. 1500–20 Dunbar Poems lx. 12 My wittis fyve,—in hering, gesting, twistling, and smelling. 1656 Stanley Hist. Philos. v. (1701) 189/1 The sense of Touching. 1774 Goldsm. Nat. Hist. (1776) II. 179 The closer senses, if I may so call them, such as smelling, tasting, and touching, are..as simple as they are limited.

c. In various spec. senses: see the verb.

1671 Milton P. R. II. 370 No interdict Defends the touching of these viands pure. 1705 Derham in Phil. Trans. XXV. 2143 This way of 'Touching [with a magnet]. 1833 T. Hook Parson's Daughter III. xii, The only difference between the passages is the frequency of touching in the one case. 1908 H. B. Morse Trade Chinese Emp. 148 A lot of sixty [silver ingots] of which I saw the weighing and touching.

d. In reference to painting, or artistic or other work; also with up: see Touch v. 10, 34 a.

1781 Sir J. Reynolds Journ. Flanders, etc. Wks. 1797 II. 87 [Tenier's] manner of touching, or what we call handling, has perhaps never been equalled. 1825 J. Nicholson Operat. Mechanic 465 The several touchings and retouchings requisite. 1901 Athenæum 26 Apr. 538/2 The touchings-up of the Gavotte were in the worst possible taste.

e. slang. Getting hold of money, as by theft, or pocket-picking; also bribery (? obs.): see Touch v. 15, 16.

1726 C. D'Anvers Craftsman No. 32 (ed. 3) 299 If once he gives himself up to touching..I give him over as incurable. 1896 A. Morrison Child of the Jago 231 It would never do to go home without touching.

2. In various fig. senses: Mention, treatment or discussion; affecting or injuring; † charging, accusation, etc.

a 1400 Hylton Scala Perf. (W. de W. 1494) I. ii, Made bi the presence and the touchyng of a good angell. 1410 in Proc. Privy Council (1834) I. 326 And yf that mocioun and touchynggge the forseide Emonde may fele the forseide Duc be ther of righte desirous. 1590 Sir J. Smyth Disc. Weapons Ded. 13 Is no other but a blaspheming and offending of God in the highest degree, a touching of the honour of the Princes. a 1625 Sir H. Finch Law (1636) 285 The touching of him with some hainous crime. 1711 Addison Spect. No. 34 ¶ 6 To commend my Prudence in not touching upon the Army.

†3. Building. (pl.) Projections from the foundations of a building, from which those of the adjoining building are begun. Obs.

1663 Gerbier Counsel 50 To cause the foundation of the intended building to be generally laid, without leaving any touchings.

4. attrib., as touching-distance; touching-stuff, in engraving, a composition of cork ashes, ivory-black, gall, and treacle, used for touching up the dark parts of a plate (Cent. Dict.).

1884 J. Tait Mind in Matter (1892) 314 'Criticism' has never reached nearer than touching-distance to the extreme outworks of divine truth.

Tou·ching, ppl. a. Forms: see Touch v. [f. as prec. + -ing 2.] That touches: in various senses of the verb.

1. lit.: chiefly of things: Coming into, or being in contact.

1674 N. Fairfax Bulk & Selv. 113 Because this touching draught is more broken in some, and more tight in others. 1875 Knight Dict. Mech. s.v. Riding-part, The joint part of a scissors-blade which forms the touching portion back of the rivet.

2. fig. That touches the feelings or emotions; such as to excite tender feeling or sympathy; affecting, pathetic. (The usual sense.)

In quot. 1509, ? 'sharp', satirical or reproachful.

1508 Dunbar Twa Married Women 209, I wald rycht tuichand in talk be. 1601 Shaks. Jul. C. iv. iii. 151 O insupportable, and touching loose! 1742 Young Nt. Th. iii. 240 If not forgot my touching tale. 1823 Scott Peveril xiii, So touching, also, in her simplicity and purity of thought. 1870 Huxley Lay Serm. iii. (1874) 30 A touching faith in the efficacy of acts of parliament.

Tou·ching, prep. Now somewhat arch. Forms: see Touch v.; also 4 -end(e, 4, 5 Sc. -and(e. [The pres. pple. of Touch v. used prepositionally; cf. Concerning prep. Prob. after F. touchant, used in the same way: see also Touchant.]

1. (introd.) Where touching is in concord with a prec. sb. or pron., and may be rendered 'that refers or relates to' (Touch v. 18, 20). In later use passing into 2. (Cf. Concerning prep. 1.)

*c*1350 Will. Paterne 3383 For þe tyding þat þei told touchend hire fadur. 1496 Sir G. Hawe Law of Armes (S.T.S.) 10 The visioun touchand the first tyme of the scrowfull persecuciouu. 1542 Hen. VIII in Buccleuch MSS. (Hist. MSS. Comm.) I. 221 Certeine thinges..touching vs and.. our Realme. 1621 Rising Debates Jo. Lords (Camden) 129 There was debate touching Sir Gyles Mompesson. 1709-10 Steele Tatler No. 145 ¶ 1 A late Request..touching the Care of a young Daughter. 1867 Freeman Norm. Conq. I. iv. 196 note, The dealings of the Assembly touching the abdication of Rolf.

2. Without concord, becoming entirely prepositional: In reference or relation to; as to, respecting, regarding; in the way of mentioning or treating of; concerning, about. (Cf. Concerning prep. 2.)

*c*1375 Cursor M. 23011 (Fairf.) Saint austin sais touchand [C., G. enent, T. of] þat day is name can goddis consail say. *c*1400 Maundev. (Roxb.) xxiii. 107 Wonder suteil of witte towchand any thing þat þai will do. 1513 Douglas Æneis xii. Prol. 271 Twichand the lattyr buke of Dan Virgill. 1594 T. B. La Primaud. Fr. Acad. ii. 49 The composition of the head touching the bones thereof. 1612 Bible Transl. Pref. 5 This may suffice touching the Greeke translations of the old Testament. 1771 Smollett Humph. Cl. 17 Apr., The master of the company being sent for, and examined touching the said Wilson. 1855 Dickens Dorrit ii. xxviii Touching the bargain, your..mother was a little too calm.

3. Preceded by as. (Cf. Concerning prep. 3.)

*c*1386 Chaucer Franklt. 7. 685 Mo than a thousand stories ..Koude I now telle as touchynge this mateere. 1428 Mennin. de Medrar (Bann. Cl.) 221 As twichand be pleu of land in be husbandry..pe assis saide it vedit an deputision. a 1533 Ld. Berners Huon lix. 203 What counsell wyl ye geue me as touchyng yᵉ admyral? 1601 Holland Pliny x. xxxii. I. 287 As touching the Gals or Sea-cobs, they build in rockes. 1780 M. Madan Thelyphthora (1781) I. 105 The exceeding ignorance of mankind as touching the acts and dispensations of that infinitely wise Being. 1890 Freeman in W. R. W. Stephens Life & Lett. (1895) II. 420 Your facts are very valuable, specially as touching your own essay in Cesta.

†4. Followed by of or to (and mostly preceded by as as in 3), forming a prepositional phr. Obs.

As touching for in Paston Lett. is app. a confusion between as touching and as for.

1390 Gower Conf. I. 307 Now tell me forth if ther be more As touchende unto Wrathches lore. Ibid. III. 174 And as touchende of this bataille, Thou schalt noght of the sothe faile. 1417-19 Paston Lett. I. 10 As towchyng to the derth of vytayles withyn thys..Cytee. ? 1450 Ibid. 161 As towchyng for tydynge, I can noone. 1523 [Coverdale] Old Gad & New (1534) F j, Speake as towchyng to yᵉ workes of theym selues.

Touchingly (tʊ·tʃiŋli), adv. [f. Touching ppl. a. + -ly 2.] In a touching manner; so as to touch the feelings; affectingly, pathetically.

1737 Garth Ovid's Met. Pref., This last fable shows how touchingly the poet argues in love affairs, as well as those of Medea and Scylla. 1844 Examiner 246/2 Sympathy.. makes the scene tell more touchingly. 1884 Q. Victoria More Leaves 210 He prayed most touchingly for me.

So Tou·chingness, touching or affecting quality, pathos.

a 1750 A. Hill Wks. (1753) II. 355 He..charm'd me infinitely..by a peculiar touchingness, in cadency of voice.

1823 Examiner 411/1 Her medium notes have a touchingness about them which is not common. 1841 Fraser's Mag. XXIII. 315 To..prove The simple touchingness of Morn. 1876 G. Meredith Beauch. Career II. v. 79 Beauchamp had the history..resounded to him, with a mixture of Gallic irony, innuendo, openness, touchingness, ridicule, and charity novel to his ears.

Touchit, Sc. obs. var. Tewhit, the lapwing.

Touchless (tʊ·tʃlĕs), a. [f. Touch sb. + -less.] a. Devoid of the sense of touch. b. Incapable of being touched, intangible: cf. viewless.

1823 T. Busby Lucretius I. iii. 936 As the touchless space, they're free from blow. 1871 Huxley Crit. & Addr. xiii. (1873) 353 Of course our touchless man would be devoid of any notion of resistance. 1888 B. W. Richardson Son of Star xii, Touchless with human hands, Sightless with human eyes.

Tou·ch-line. [f. Touch sb. or v. + Line *sb.*2]

†1. Geom. A straight line that touches a curve; a tangent. Obs. (Orig. two words.)

1551 Recorde Pathw. Knowl. 1. Defin., A touche lyne, is a line that runneth a long by the edge of a circle, onely touching it, but doth not crosse the circumference of it. 1593 Fale Dialling 7 Which shall be called the touch line or line of Contingence. 1675 Collins in Rigaud Corr. Sci. Men (1841) I. 277 If you conceive a chord line to join R, T, and a touch-line to be drawn at either of those.

2. (Touch line.) A line in a diagram representing the touch of the counter of a ship: see Touch sb. 23.

1797 Encycl. Brit. (ed. 3) XVII. 392/2 Take the round up of the upper counter from the dimensions, and set it below the touch at the middle, and with a pencil draw a level line; take also the round aft, and set it forward from the touch on the touch line, and square it down to the pencil line.

3. Football. The boundary line on each side of the field of play, extending from goal-line to goal-line: cf. Touch sb. 12.

1868 Boy's Own Bk. 132 [Diagram of football ground]. The goals at either end; ..the goal lines; ..touch, the touch lines. 1889 Pauline VIII. 58 The kick, which was very near the touch-line, was not successful. 1895 Sporting (U. S.) XXVII. 247/2 The Canadian football field. ..Along the edges, from one end to another, run the 'touch lines', and when the ball goes over these it is not in play.

Tou·ch-me-not, sb. [plural use as sb.]

1. Name for two different kinds of plants with seed-vessels which burst at a touch. †a. The Squirting Cucumber: see Cucumber 3. Obs.

1597 Gerarde Herbal II. cccxxvii. 766 Cucumis asininus. Wilde Cucumber...Called..wilde Cucumber..and Touch me not. 1611 in Corgr. s.v. Concombre. 1760 J. Lee Introd. Bot. App. 330 Touch me not, Impatiens. 1885 Hornaday 2 Yrs. in Jungle xxv. 300 A bed of touch-me-nots took me back like a flash to the terrace flower-beds at college. 1888 Harper's Mag. Dec. 133/2 The touch-me-not 'or 'snapweed' of the loitering school-boy, with its touchy, jumping pods, popping even at a hard look or breath.

2. A name for the disease Lupus.

1860 Mayne Expos. Lex., Touch-me-not, common name for the disease Noli me tangere.

3. gen. A person or thing that must not be touched; in quot., a forbidden topic.

1893 Daily News 8 May 5/5 Military matters..are a 'touch-me-not' here.

b. attrib. or as adj.

1852 Thackeray Esmond iii. iv, The saucy little beauty carried her head with a toss..and assumed a touch-me-not air, which all her friends very good-humouredly bowed to. 1880 'Ouida' Moths 43 Just the old-fashioned, prudish, open-air, touch-me-not Englishwoman.

Hence Touch-me-no·t-ish a. [-ish 1], having a 'touch-me-not' character; whence Touch-me-no·t-ishness (nonce-wd.). Cf. stand-off-ish.

1837 Dickens Pickw. viii, There was a dignity in the air, a touch-me-not-ishness in the walk, a majesty in the eye of the spinster aunt.

Touch-no-wald, -s: see Touch- 2 b.

Tou·ch-piece. [f. Touch v. or sb. + Piece sb.]

1. A coin or medal (originally a gold angel, in later times specially struck for the purpose in gold or silver) given by the sovereign to each person touched for the 'king's evil' (Touch v. 2 b).

1844 Chron. Seasons II. 26 Touch-pieces were a sort of coins, of which the king, when he touched a person in order to cure the evil, used to hang one round the neck of the patient. 1855 Smedley, etc. Occult Sc. 341 The touch-pieces were generally preserved with great care, and worn as amulets. 1908 Athenæum 20 June 769/1 There are varieties of gold and silver touch-pieces of the time of James II.

2. A piece of mechanism operated by a touch.

1897 Daily News 7 June 6/4 The observer taps a little touch-piece by the side of the instrument, and this movement is conveyed by galvanic wire to the chronograph.

3. A piece of music designed to exhibit the touch of the performer, a toccata. (nonce-use.)

1900 New Cent. Rev. VII. 394 A Toccata (or touch-piece).

†Tou·ch-powder. Obs. [This appears to be the earliest of the series of compounds mentioned in Touch- 1 c, in which touch- signifies the ready kindling or setting fire to something; app. from OF. tochier (le feu), toucher to set fire. Touch-powder prob. represented an OF. poudre-à-toucher* (le feu). Thence touch-box, -hole, -pan, etc., and the parallel touch-wood, etc.] A fine kind of gunpowder placed in the pan over the touch-hole in an old-fashioned fire-arm; priming-powder. Also attrib.

1497 Naval Acc. Hen. VII (1896) 88 Towchepoudre.. j barell. 1508 Acc. Ld. High Treas. Scot. IV. 137 Item, for double gilting of the Kingis twich powdir horn, xxvj s. 1592 Garrard's Art Warre 6 Let him make hys Tutch Poudar. 1598 [see Touch-box].

Touchquhare, obs. form of Tocher.

Touchstone (tʊ·tʃstōn). Forms: see Touch v. [f. Touch- 1 + Stone: cf. Of. touchepierre, F. pierre de touche, Sp. piedra de toque.]

1. A very smooth, fine-grained, black or dark-coloured variety of quartz or jasper (also called Basanite), used for testing the quality of gold and silver alloys by the colour of the streak produced by rubbing them upon it; a piece of such stone used for this purpose.

1530 Palsgr. 282/1 Touch stone to prove golde with. 1754 Phil. Trans. XLVIII. 664 The difference in colour of these compositions was much less conspicuous on the touchstone. 1812 J. Smyth Pract. of Customs (1821) 262 Touchstone is the Basaltes, a heavy hard stone, of a very fine texture, of a deep glossy black, resembling that of polished steel. 1908 H. B. Morse Trade Chinese Emp. 249 A silver commercially pure, as shown by the trade methods of the touchstone.

b. fig. That which serves to test or try the genuineness or value of anything; a test, criterion.

a 1533 Frith Another Bk. agst. Rastell (1829) 216 Lay them to the touchstone, and try them with God's word. 1535 Coverdale Eccles. vii. 27 Vnto such sins as is were a twichstone, & he casteth her from him in all the haist. 1677 Govt. Venice 106 Therefore it is that Venice is called the School and Touchstone of Ambassadors. a 1720 Sheffield (Dk. Buckhm.) Wks. (1753) II. 207 Time..in all matters of writing, is the only true touchstone of merit. 1824 Hallitt Table-t. I. xi. 253 Well-digested schemes will stand the touchstone of experience. 1871 Blackie Four Phases i. 42 The touchstone..to distinguish the true man..from the false pretender.

2. Applied to other stones of similar texture and colour, as black marble or basalt. (Cf. Touch sb. 6.)

1481-3 Acc. Exch. K. R. Bd. 496. No. 26 (MS.), Ultra iv dolijs lapidum de Cane,..et xxxiij dolijs de Touchstone. 1509 Hawes Past. Pleas. xxxv. (Percy Soc.) 184 into the castell of olde foundacion, Walled about with the blacke touche stone. 1584 in Willis & Clark Cambridge (1886) I. 294 The pece of tutch stone wch my Ladye Bacon hath gyven vnto this woorke. 1607 Topsell Four-f. Beasts (1658) 377 Upon the steps of the Capitol of Rome, there were two Lions of black Marble touch-stone. a 1647 Habington Surv. Worc. in Worcs. Hist. Soc. Proc. I. 102 All..wrytten in Tuchstone with letters of goulde. 1670 Pettus Fodinæ Reg. 1 If common Stones only are found (as Marble, Touchstone, Freestone, etc.) we call them Quarries, and not Mines. 1845 Parker Gloss. Archit., Touch-stone [is] a name sometimes applied to compact dark-coloured stones, such as Purbeck and Petworth marble ..frequently used for fine work in Gothic architecture.

Touchwood (tʊ·tʃwud). [f. Touch- 1 c + Wood sb.] Wood or anything of woody nature, in such a state as to catch fire readily, and which can be used as tinder. a. The soft white substance into which wood is converted by the action of certain fungi, especially of Polyporus squamosus, and which has the property of burning for many hours when once ignited, and is occasionally self-luminous.

By confusion the name is sometimes applied to the powdery snuff-coloured mass into which wood is sometimes converted without the agency of fungi, by a process of slow chemical combustion (eremacausis), which is not distinguishable from the effects of dry rot, except by the absence of fungous spawn. (M. J. Berkeley in Treas. Bot. 1866.)

1509 Lilly Euphues (Arb.) 69, I, but Euphues, hath she not hard also that the dry touchewoode is kindled with lyme..that the fire quickly burneth the flaxe? 1621 Burton Anat. Mel. III. ii. ii. 1 (1651) 450 As match or touchwood takes fire, so doth an idle person love. 1646 Sir T. Browne Pseud. Ep. II. v. 89 To make white powder..The best I know is by the powder of rotten willowes; spunck, or touchwood prepared, might perhaps make it russet. 1706 E. Ward Wooden World Diss. (1708) 14 He hath not so much as see the whole Fleet parch'd up like Touchwood, for want of Water. 1799 Med. Jrnl. II. 298 Observations..on the luminous property of touchwood. 1809 Malkin Gil Blas iv. vii. ▶ 13 Gonzales, dry as touchwood, with all its inflammability. 1887 T. Hardy Woodlanders III. ix. 183 The rain had imparted a phosphorescence to the pieces of touchwood. 1898 Watts-Dunton Aylwin xv. vi, A fallen willow tree, the inside of which was all touchwood.

b. A name given to various fungi, esp. two species of Polyporus (P. or Fomes fomentarius and P. or F. igniarius), also called Touchwood Boletus, or to the tinder called 'amadou' made from them. Cf. Tinder.

The former of these is found on oak, beech, birch, lime, etc., the latter (which requires a process of preparation) on ash, poplar, willow, plane, fir, etc.

1598 Florio, Fungo..touchwood, or a spongie swelling on a tree like a mushrume. 1666 Pepys Diary 12 Nov., His skeleton [is here seen], with the flesh on; but all tough and dry like a spongy dry leather, or touchwood all upon his bones. 1688 R. Holme Armoury II. 85/2 Touchwood [is] a kind of hard, dry, spungy Mushroom. 1778 Lightfoot Flora Scot. (1789) II. 1034 Boletus igniarius. Touchwood Boletus. ..An excellent touchwood is made from this Fungus by..

pounding and boiling it up with saltpetre 1845-50 Mrs. Lincoln Lect. Bot. 199 'The genus Boletus contains the touchwood, or spunk, which is sometimes used as tinder.

c. fig. Said of a thing or person that easily 'takes fire', or which, like tinder, 'kindles' something else (quot. 1601); esp. an irascible or passionate person, one easily incensed. Now rare.

1601 Dent Pathw. Heaven 204 Sins of oppression..be the very fire-brands of Gods wrath, and as it were touch-wood, to kindle his anger.] 1637 Minshew & Rowlands Pair Quarrel 11. i, The Colonel, soon enrag'd, as he's all touchwood. c 1640 Fletcher & Massinger Lit. French Lawyer II. iii, Peace touchwood. 1761 G. Colman Jealous Wife I. i, She is all Impetuosity and Fire,—A very Magazine of Touchwood and Gunpowder. 1840 Life of Origen vii. 66 Wood, hay, stubble, and that which soonest burns of anything, the touchwood of denial.

d. attrib. and Comb.

1784 Cowper Task VI. 688 From his touchwood trunk the mulberry-tree Supplied such relics as devotion holds Still sacred. 1864 Tennyson Aylmer's F. 514 There the manorial lord too curiously Raking in that millennial touchwood-dust Found for himself a bitter treasure-trove.

Touchy (tʊ·tʃi), a. Also ? tutchie. [f. Touch sb. or v. + -y; but in sense 1 perh. an alteration of Tetchy.]

1. Easily moved to anger; apt to take offence on slight cause; highly sensitive in temper or disposition; irascible, irritable, testy, tetchy.

1605 King Lear & Daughters D 3, She breeds yong bones, And that is it makes her so tutchy sure. 1619 Beaum. & Fl. Maid's Trag. III. ii, Yare touchie without all cause. c 1650 Bromе Queen I. iv, Then the old touchie testie Lord. 1656 H. Jeanes Pulm. Christ 79 If earthly Potentates be so tender, and touchy in the point of their Embassadours honour and safety. 1702 C. Mather Magn. Chr. I. ii. (1852) 50 Avoid all discoveries of a touchy humour. 1843 Le Fevre Life Trav. Phys. I. i. viii. 70 She was most touchy upon the subject of age. 1903 G. H. Birch Lond. on Thames II. 28 The citizens wanted no foreigners—they were always very touchy on that subject.

2. Sensitive to touch; physically irritable.

1601. 1618 perh. belongs rather to 1.

1618 Latham 2nd Bk. Falconry xiv. 57, I perceiued her to bee very tutchie and coy to bee handled. 1658 A. Fox Worth' Surg. I. vi. 25 As often as a vein or sinew is touch ..is a new pain caused; for they are very touchy and full of sense. 1710 T. Fuller Pharm. Extemp. 209 Those whose Guts being wove up of fine-spun Fibrillæ, are touchy and irritable. 1806-7 J. Bereesford Miseries Hum. Life (1826) xi. xv, Jarring the touchy part of your elbow against the edge of the table. 1888 [see Touch-me-not 1 b].

b. Taking fire when touched with a spark; easily ignited.

In quots. 1660 and 1766 combining this sense and 1.

1660 [implied in Touchiness 1]. 1679 Phil. Collect. XII. 7 Our Colliers assure me that those touchy Works which are continually apt to take Fire, do it most..in the Winter. 1766 Goody Two-Shoes iv. (1882) 111 You are both as touchy as Tinder, and very often make your own House too hot to hold you.

3. Ticklish, risky, precarious; not to be touched without danger. (Cf. 2 b.)

1620 Wotton in Reliq. (1672) 500 In such a touchy time as this, I had almost had my share. 1651 N. Bacon Disc. Govt. Eng. II. vi. (1739) 36 It is a touchy thing to have to do with fire, lest it get too highe. 1697 Collier Ess. Mor. Subj. I. (1709) 53 You are upon a touchy Point, and therefore I hope you will treat so nice a Subject..with proportionable Caution. 1884 Graphic 15 Nov. 518/2 These were, of course, very touchy subjects to ask of courtiers.

4. Painting, Drawing, etc. Characterized by or composed of distinct touches or light strokes.

1820 Examiner No. 651. 634/1 One of the prime beauties ..is its extensiveness of touchy marking, whereby in all the parts the eye is most satisfactorily entertained. 1826 Ibid. 340/1 Indifferent anatomy and a want of touchy pencilling. 1839 Chatto & Jackson Wood Engraving viii. 649 The drawing, which originally may have been clear and touchy, loses its brightness, and becomes indistinct from its frequent contact with the soft pliable paper.

5. Involving a mere light touch. nonce-use.

1879 G. Macdonald Sir Gibbie xiv, As if some gentle hand had..dipped them—just a tiny touchy dip, in a molten ruby.

†6. 'Touched' or slightly affected in the head; slightly crazed or crack-brained, 'cranky': in comb. touchy-headed.

1666 J. Smith Old Age To Rdr. A iij b, The Author..is himself as willing, as any touchy-headed Decryers of Anatomy and Anatomists..that all the shame..should return upon his own pate. 1675 R. Wilson Shadowene Dunelmensis Pref. 17 Those touchy headed Chymists, who pretend to Panacæa's, Universal Medicines, Secrets, and such like whimsical Remedies.

Touck, -e, Toucker, obs. ff. Tuck sb. and v., Tucker. Touel, Touele, obs. ff. Towel, Tewel. Touffan, -on, obs. forms of Typhoon.

‖Toug (tʌg). [a. F. toug, ad. Turk. طوغ tūgh tail of a horse.] The Turkish standard, consisting of a horse's tail fixed at the end of a short pike.

1687 A. Lovell tr. Thevenot's Trav. I. 82 The Toug is a Horses Tail fastened to the head of a Pike: It is neuer put out but in extreme necessity, and then all the Militia must take the Field. 1901 R. W. Chambers Maids of Paradise v. I could still hear..the tinkle of the silver chimes on their toug.

Tough (tʌf), a. (adv., sb.) Forms: a. 1 tóh, tóoh, 3 tou, 3-5 tough, 3 tough, 3-6 tow, 4 touh, towh, tow3, tow3e, 4-5 tough, towe, 5 tou3, tow3e, toghe, towghe, tough, touhe, (towhhe), 5-6 towgh, toughe. 4- tough. β. Sc. 5-9 teuch, teugh, (5-6 tewch, 6 tuich, tewgh, teoch, twch, -e, twich). γ. (with inorganic -d) 3 tught, 3-4 tog3, 3-5 tou3t, Sc. 4 tucht, 5 tou3te, tout; 6 Sc. tewcht. δ. 4-5 tuf, 7 tuffe. 7-8 tuff. [Ob. tóh :—tŭnh* :—tanh*, OTeut. tunχu-s*: NFris. toch, tuch. From an OTeut. stem taχ-, taχg-*, whence OE. ge-tenge. Cf. (with ending of -ja decl.) OS. tâhi* (MLG. tâ, tei, LG. taa, tage, taa, Du. taai); OHG. zâhi (MLG. zâhe, zahe, zech, Ger. zähe, zähi.)]

1. Of close tenacious substance or texture; strongly cohesive, so as to be pliable or ductile; not easily broken, divided, or disintegrated; not fragile, brittle, or tender; of food, difficult to masticate.

a. 1700 Epinal Gloss. (O.E.T.) 581 Lauta, tarda vel toh. Ibid. 614 Lentum vimen, toh gerd. c 1725 Corpus Gloss. 1207 Lentum vimen, toh gerd. c 1275 Lay. 5865 Keruep youre speres long and makep heom toge an strong. 1340-70 Alex. & Dind. 611 Hure tileda in hur time on be toun erbe, & whete sopliche sew. 13.. E. E. Allit. P. B. 630 [Abraham] a calf bynges Pat watz tender & not tog3e; bod ..pat he hit sebe frete. 1387 Trevisa Higden (Rolls) IV. 217 Temperyng of glas to make þe glas tough leowe to bende. c 1400 Laud Troy Bk. 10877 The spere was tow & long. c 1400 Destr. Troy 7405 Telamon, the tore kyng, with a tough speire. c 1440 Promp. Parv. 496/1 Touhe, not tendyr (A. tow, P. tough). 1558 Hulloet, Towgh, renax. 1612 Two Noble K. II. v. 2, I have not seene..a man of tougher synewes. 1697 Dryden Virg. Georg. II. 628 The tougher Yeugh Receives the bending Figure of a Bow. 1759 E. Rangeley Sermons 209 Its body is tough and fibrous. 1819 Faraday Chem. Manip. v. (1842) 251 A wrought-iron mortar ..would be too tough. 1843 Miss Carlyle Lett. (1883) I. 219 The 'cold fowl' was..as tough as leather.

β. c 1300 Havelok 1174 With seuen cordys..Bath scharp and tewch. 1513 Douglas Æneis VII. xiii. 65 Knyt wyth a teuch string. a 1584 Montgomerie Cherrie & Slee 928 The Cherries..grewe On trimbling twistis twch. a 1758 Ramsay Address of Thanks xii, That setting-dog his man, May..use a teugh St. Johnston ribbon.

γ. 1297 Tought [see δ]. c 1386 Dunbar's Poems xxxii. 24 Na 3owis auld, twch [Maitl. MS. tewcht] and skleuder.

δ. a 1300–50 Alexander & Dindimus 1148 Tuffe in for-toppes, tuffe hornes. a 1600 Tuffe [see sense 4]. 1653 Walton Angler xii. 223 Gentles..is a good bait..being lively and tuffe. 1665 Hooke Micrograp. 51 The pure parts of metals are of consistency tuffe, and ductile. c 1670 R. Boyle Colour II. Dram. Wks. 1739 II. 267 Let his Skin be tuff as Wall. 1683 Pettus Fleta Min. I. (1686) 3 Silver which is tuff or hard. 1733 W. Ellis Chiltern & Vale Farm. 8 Being tuffer, and more tenacious than any other.

2. Of viscous consistence or nature; sticky, adhesive, tenacious; glutinous.

c 1000 Sax. Leechd. III. 16 Gnid ða buteran on ðæm hwetstane mid copore þæt heo beo wel toh. 1382 Wyclif Gen. xi. 3 Thei hadden..towȝ cley for syment. c 1440 Pallad. on Husb. I. 66 Tough to glue ayein though thowe it delve. 1460 Capgrave Chron. (Rolls) 30 Tow erde, cleped bitumen. 1530 Tindale Answ. More IV. xii. Wks. (1573) 338/2 A carte that is ouer laden..in a tough mire maketh them [the horses] stand still. 1658 A. Fox Würtz' Surg. III. iv. 228 Clear water, somewhat tuff and slimie. 1789 W. Buchan Dom. Med. (1790) 675 Tough viscid saliva. 1800 Med. Trnl. III. 154 The first class possess tough, glutinous juices.

3. fig. Stiff; severe, violent; †(sometimes) grievous, painful; of a contest, etc.: stoutly maintained, strenuous, vigorous and stubborn.

a. c 1205 Lay. 9319, & Hamun him to strac Mid toȝen [c 1275 luþer] his maine. 1297 R. Glouc. (Rolls) 10605 Wan tueye stronge comb to gadre, it is somdel ton [prime lout]. c 1300 Cursor M. 24439 (Cott.) I sagh him dei, i sorud al, ..mi tenng es sa togh. c 1430 Hymns Virg. 120 With wawȝs grete, & stornȝys towe. 1539 Taverner Erasm. Prov. 1551 b They wil shewe a much tougher and more ernest strokes. a 1661 Fuller Worthies, Warwick (1662) II. 122 There was a tough contest betwixt the South and Northermen in that university. 1895 Gosse Land & Sea (1874) 4 A tough breeze from the westward. 1892 C. Roberts Adrift Amer. 153 In spite of the tough racket I had had.

γ. 13.. R. Gloucester's Chron. (Rolls) 517 Pe wrastlinge bitvene hom was somdel tozt [prime lout]. 1400-40 Ibid. App. H. 41 Pat batail was wel towȝ [prime nout]. Ibid. App. XX. 20 Ze somdel þat was tout [prime nout].

4. Capable of great physical endurance; strongly resisting force, injury, fatigue, etc.; not easily overcome, tired, or impaired; hardy, stout, sturdy.

c 1330 R. Brunne Chron. Wace (Rolls) 13098 Petron had go, nad Beofs be tow. 1393 Langl. P. Pl. C. xiii. 187 Ac seedes pat been sowen and sowe suffre wyntres, Aren tydyour and tower to maynes bycheffes. 1451 Capgrave Life St. Gilbert 73 His witte as fresch,..his mynde as tow, ..as euyr bei were. 1571 Satir. Poems Reform. xxv. 100 They know I am ane tuilzeour teoch. 1576 Fleming Panopl. Epist. 358 A painefull and laborious fellowe, and such a one as is hard and tougho, and able to indure toile. a 1602 in Campion Art Eng. Poesie v. 18 All the glebe His tuffe hands manurd. 1697 Dryden Virg. Georg. II. 322 A Glebe that asks Tough Teams of Oxen, and laborious Tasks. 1775 Sheridan Rivals I. i, There is an old tough aunt in the way. 1818 Scott Br. Lammm. xxi, That was what tough old Sir Evan Dhu used to say. 1896 Emerson Eng. Traits, Ability, Even the..sons of England are of a tougher texture.

5. Having great intellectual or moral endurance; difficult to influence, affect, or impress; steadfast, firm, persistent; also, stubborn, obstinate, hardened.

c 1400 26 Pol. Poems xxv. 521 Yef myn hert be styf and towe, To thanke the in wele and woo. 1411 Ibid. x. 35 My lone to man it was so tow. 1519 Horman Vulg. 142 b, The stewarde of the house is harde and toughe. 1603 Knolles Hist. Turks (1621) 965 A man of ripe yeares, but yet fierce of courage, tough in opinion. 1780 Cowper Table-Talk 458 Obduracy takes place; callous and tough, The reprobated race grows judgment proof. 1848 Dickens Dombey x, You'll find him tough, Ma'am. Tough, Sir, tough is Joseph. 1898 Daily News 25 Jan. 6/2 As a witness before Parliamentary Committees he was what is called 'a tough customer'.

6. Difficult to do, accomplish, perform, or deal with; hard, trying, laborious, troublesome.

1619 Viscount Doncaster Let. in Eng. & Germ. (Camden) 133 To persuade them to hearken to a treaty would prove a tough piece of worke. c 1645 Howell Lett. (1650) I. iv. xv. 117 [The town of Breda] hath yeelded..after a tough siege of thirteen months. 1797 Mrs. Radcliffe Italian xiii, They should find tough work of it. 1828 Scott F. M. Perth xv, 'It will be a tough job', growled the assassin. 1853 Kingsley Hypatia xxv, [He] comforted his troubled soul with a tough problem of astronomy.

b. Hard to believe or understand; taxing credulity or comprehension.

1820 W. Irving in Life & Lett. (1864) I. xxvii. 459 When your boy grows large enough to understand tough stories. 1840 Barham Ingol. Leg. Ser. I. Acc. New Play, Tell us tough yarns, and then swear they are true. 1861 Du Chaillu Equat. Afr. xii. 155 This seemed to them the toughest yarn of all.

7. U.S. Of criminal or vicious proclivities. Cf. B.

1884 J. Miller Mem. & Rime I. 9 And oh! but this is a tough town! 1894 Stead If Christ Came to Chicago 35 An oasis of cleanliness and light in the midst of a district which was decidedly tough. Ibid. 36 One of the toughest of the toughs in the slums.

†8. Phrase. To make it tough. a. To make it difficult; to make difficulties about doing something; to show reluctance. Obs.

1297 R. Glouc. (Rolls) 10498 þe king glosede her & þer & made it soundel tough, As he ȝe come to be strenghe he nolde it graunti nought. c 1369 Chaucer Dethe Blaunche 531 Lo howe goodly spake this knyght..And made it neyther tough ne queynt. c 1400 Rowland & O. 128 Þou may langill & make it toughe. c 1412 Hoccleve De Reg. Princ. 3516 'Iulius', quod he, 'make it noght so tow [v. r. tough]'. c 1470 Golagros & Gaw. 1069 It may noght mend the ane myte to make it so tough. 1530 Palsgr. 624/2, I make it tough, I make it coye, as maydens do, or pretende to be strange if they be asked a questyon...Mary, you make it toughe, Marie, vous faites le dangereux.

†b. To be persistent or obstinate. Obs.

a 1549 in Laneham's Lett. (1871) Pref. 151 Abeide yt make it never so tough, To me your blouse is in vesture. c 1560 J. Scott Poems (S.T.S.) II. 154 Quhen thai saw Sym sic curage ta, And Will mak it sa twche.

†9. quasi-adv. Vigorously, stoutly; persistently.

1398 Trevisa Barth. De P. R. XI. xviii. (Tollem. MS.), Yf it be toute [ed. 1535 strongly] blowe, and panne broke. c 1470 Golagros & Gaw. 704 The wyis..All to-rumit thair entyre, traistly and twch. 1581 Satir. Poems Reform. xliv. 125 Quhen as he draue and Knox held steue the pleuch, And Mettham seu adulterie so twch. 1605 A. Douglas Poems (1806) 12 At Lancaster they fought ful teuch. 1807 W. Taylor Poems (ed. 2) 98 (E.D.D.) The carle he did play sae teugh.

10. a. In special collocations, as tough-cake: see quots. 1881, 1896; tough-iron: see quot. 1686; tough-pitch = tough-cake; tough-stone = puff-stone (Puff sb. 9 b).

c 1640 J. Smyth Hundred of Berkeley (1885) 175 In this toune [Dursley] is a rocke of a strange sort called a Puffe stone or as some pronounce it a tough stone. 1686 Plot Staffordsh. 101 The fourth and best sorts of Iron they call tough-Iron of which they make all sorts of the best wares. 1881 Raymond Mining Gloss., Tough-cake, refined or commercial copper. Ibid., Tough-pitch, see Tough-cake. 1896 E. Durham Gloss., Toughcake, a water-cake, or white-cake, baked on the girdle. No currants used.

b. In comb. (chiefly parasynthetic) with other adjs., as tough-backed, -looking, -metalled, -shelled, -skinned, -string.

a 1642 Fletcher & Massinger Elder Brother v. i, A true tough-metall'd blade. 1682 N. O. Boileau's Lutrin II. 14 A tough-back's Knave. 1768 Tucker Lt. Nat. (1834) I. 644 Their solid bones, their tough-strung muscles, their strong-bounding blood. 1882 Cornishman Lett., to J. Gillman (1895) 743 Nature is..tough-lived as a turtle. 1826 Miss Mitford Village Ser. II. 132 A tall, spare, tough-looking woman, with a long bony face. 1872 Browning Pifine xxxi, Unassailed, tough-thonged in lieu of one fine nerve.

B. sb. U.S. A street ruffian; C. Rough sb. 7.

1866 Howells Venet. Life ii, The toughs of the distant alleys. 1884 J. Miller Mem. & Rime i. 9 Another 'tough' ..helped them hustle me in. 1897 Outing (U. S.) XXX. 429/2 It has spoiled our football, ruined our baseball, except for the 'tough'. 1903 C. Lumholtz Unknown Mexico I. 3 A raid on the camp by some toughs in the neighbourhood.

Tough, obs. variant of Tow v.[1]

†Tought, towghe. Irish Hist. Obs. Also 6 toghe. [repr. Ir. tuath (-th = -h) territory, district.

Joyce Irish Names of Places ser. 2 (1875) 212, cites Tuaghnefall and Tuagh of the Fall from early 17th c. grants, as name of a district south of Belfast, now known as 'The Falls'; the orig. Irish being Tuath-na-bhfál, district of the fáls, i. e. hedges or enclosures.]

A territory or district in Ireland.

[.. Old Ir. doct., cited in G. Hill Plantation in Ulster (1877) 102 This is the number of Toughs [districts] that are in Tirconnell.] 1584 Calr. Carew MSS. II. 391 The towghe of the two towghes, called the barony of Clonballykernan 1586 Ibid. 426 The three toughes of Donseveige, Loghgill, and Toughe Ballamonyn. 1906 Proc. R. Irish Acad. XXVI. 58 Ancient Castles of Co. Limerick...These baronies were divided into Toghes, 'tuaths', or cantredes.

Toughe, variant of Tow sb.[3] Obs.

Toughen (tʊ·f'n), v. [f. Tough a. + -en 5.]
1. trans. To make tough.
1582 Stanyhurst Æneis iii. (Arb.) 76 O my son Æneas, with Troian destenye toughned. 1793 T. W. City & C. Purchaser 213 To toughen his Nails that were brittle. 1739 G. Smith Laboratory (1799). I. ii. 69 heading, Method of testing, refining, separating, allaying, and toughening [gold and silver]. 1901 F. W. Maitland Roxb. Lect. 37 Any scheme better suited to harden and toughen a traditional body of law. 1906 Mem. Abp. Temple I. 471 The experience of life had toughened the fibre of thought.
2. intr. To become tough.
1707 Mortimer Husb. (1721) I. 185 Lay them in some Room three or four Weeks or more, that they may cool, give and toughen. 1801 Southey Thalaba IX. xxx, Ere the green beauty of their brittle youth Grows brown, and toughens in the summer sun.
Hence Toughened (tʊ·f'nd) ppl. a., Toughening (tʊ·f'nin) vbl. sb. and ppl. a.; Toughener (tʊ·f'nər), one who or that which toughens.
1896 Encycl. Brit. V. 754/2 Toughened glass invented. 1894 Chicago Advance 25 Oct. 118/1 [They] went away.. with a toughened propensity to be bad. 1895 C. W. Lyman in Voice (N. Y.) 5 Dec. 7/2 Recommended as a toughener of the constitution. 1868 Jevnson Metals 45 The toughening of cast-iron. 1869 Sir E. J. Reed Shipbuild. xxi. 317 The toughening effect produced on a mass of Steel when it is heated, and plunged into a bath of oil. 1882 Raymond Mining Glos., Toughening, refining, as of copper or gold.

Tougher, obs. form of Tocher.

Toughish (tʊ·fiš), a. [f. Tough a. + -ish 1.] Somewhat tough.
1776 Da Costa Conchol. v. 121 A kind of toughish coriaceous or leather-like substance. 1840 Darwin in Life & Lett. (1887) I. 271 A toughish argument. 1882 Standard 26 Sept. 2/1 The limpet is a toughish comestible.

Toughly (tʊ·fli), adv. [f. Tough a. + -ly 2.] In a tough manner (in various senses of Tough); strenuously; persistently; stoutly; vigorously.
c 1400 Apol. Loll. 68 [Peij] þat he knawiß to stond touȝly in þer synnis þat þei han don. c 1450 tr. De Imitatione iii. viii. 74 Not to cleave ouer touȝly to his affeccion. 1589 Greene Menaphon (Arb.) 83 They fell toughly to blowes. 1692 Shirley Coronat. i, Cassander,...oppos'd him toughly with his faction. 1728 Ramsay Fables xi. 32 He..laid till t'toughly tooth and nail. 1822 Joanna Baillie Metr. Leg., Lady G. R. liii, Strong and toughly marred. 1882 Stevenson Silverado Sp. iii. (1886) 20 We struggled toughly upward.

Toughness (tʊ·fnes). Forms: see Tough a. [f. Tough a. + -ness.] The state or quality of being tough, in various senses of the adjective.
c 1440 Promp. Parv. 498/2 Toughenesse (K., A. townesse, P. toughnes), tenacitas. 1573-80 Barret Alv. T 307 Lentor, toughnesse: a clammie, or gluish humour. 1597 A. M. tr. Guillemeau's Fr. Chirurg. 48 b/2 The great toughenes of the .. Pituita. 1613 Fletcher, etc. Honest Man's Fort. v. ii, Stock fish..., If it be well drest, for the tuffness sake. 1674 Grew Vegetr. Trunks vii. § 12 Hence likewise we may understand the Cause of the Toughness of Flax. 1732 Arbuthnot Aliments, etc. (1735) 422 The Viscosity or Toughness of the Fluids. 1733 W. Ellis Chiltern & Vale Farm. 9 Red Clays..stand in the frost..for..Tuffness, Coldness, and Moistness. 1830 Herschel Stud. Nat. Phil. iii. i. (1851) 238 The toughness of a solid, or that quality by which it will endure heavy blows without breaking. 1845 J. Courtie Adv. in Pacific xi. 4 For its extreme toughness, we could not cut it. 1895 R. P. Herrick in Boston (U. S.) Pilgr. Missionary June 11/1 You have gained a very good idea of the toughness of these mining towns.

Tought. Now dial. Also 7 towght, 9 dial. towt (tuut). [Origin obscure. It answers in form, but barely in sense, to OFris. tocht, Bfris. tocht, togt, MDu. tocht, togt, Du. togt, draught, drawing.] A length or section of an angler's hair-line, a link, a trace; also a piece of spun yarn (E.D.D.).
1676 Cotton Angler II. v. 39 Take a strong small silk..and then whip it twice or thrice about the bare hook..both to prevent slipping, and also that the shanck of the hook may not cut the hairs of your Tought. 1681 Chetham Angler's Vade-m. ii. § 6 (1689) 10 When you make lines, especially 4 or 5 of the lowermost links, Gilders or toughts. 1905 Eng. Dial. Dict., Towt, tout, tought, old rope, a piece of spun yarn, or a single strand of tarred rope used as a lashing.

Tought, -e, obs. ff. Taut, Tough. Toughy, dial. var. Toffee. Touh, -e, obs. ff. Tough.

Touit(t: see Tovet, two-peck measure.

Touk(e, obs. form of Tuck (of drum).

Toul, toule, toull, obs. forms of Toll.

Tould(e, obs. f. told, pa. t. and pple. of Tell v.

Toulner, Toulsell: see Tolner, Tolsell.

† Toum, obs. variant of Taum, fishing-line, etc.
1670 Bk. Barony of Urie (1892) 90 Showe them what they ar to cast in ther severall toumes.

† Toumbe, v. Obs. rare—1. [ad. F. tomber to fall. Cf. Tumb v.] intr. To fall.
1297 R. Glouc. (Rolls) 10830 Pe king..bigan nei vor pite issowe vpriȝt toumbe.

Toun(e, obs. f. Ton 1, Tone, Town, Tun, Tune.

Tounder, -ire, obs. Sc. forms of Tinder.

Tounding, var. Tundra. Toung, obs. f. Tongue.

† Toup, to-up, prep. Obs. rare. Also 4 topen. [f. To-1 + Up, uppan: cf. OE. on-uppan.] Above, beyond, in addition to.
c 1315 Shoreham v. 284 Ac toup alle oþren ys y-blessed, Soþe wyf and mayde. 13.. Guy of Warw. (A.) 2735, & topen al pis, ȝif Gij wer ded, We misten haue þe lesse dred.

Toup, toupe, obs. forms of Tup.

Toupee (tuːpi', tʊ·pi'). Now rare. Also 8 toupé, tupee, toppee, 9 towpee. [app. ad. F. toupet: see next.] A curl or artificial lock of hair on the top of the head, esp. as a crowning feature of a periwig; a periwig in which the front hair was combed up, over a pad, into such a top-knot, worn by both sexes in the 18th c.; also the natural hair dressed in this mode; a patch of false hair or small wig to cover a bald place.
1731 Fielding Grub-st-eet Op. iii. xv, Love is his lac'd coats, lies, and pops from his toupee. 1748 Pope Dunc. iv. 88 Whate'er of dunce in College or in Town Sneers at another, in toupee or gown. 1753 in Fairholt Costume in Eng. (1885) I. 376 A tye-wig is banished for a pigeon-winged toupée. 1770 Barbauld Spectr. fr. Lond. to Vienna I. 237, I hate to see a little girl with a tupee. 1778 F. Marion in Harper's Mag. Sept. (1883) 546/1 The Lt. Col. recommends to every Soldier to have ..the fore top short without toppee & short at the sides. 1843 Macaulay Ess., Mme. D'Arblay (1887) 740 He stalked about the small parlour, brushing the ceiling with his toupee. 1860 Catal. Internat. Exhib., Brth. II. No. 4586 Fronts, partings, and toupees on the same novel principle.
attrib. 1827 Coleridge Satyrane's Lett. iii. 241 In the portrait of Lessing there was a toupee periwig.
† b. One who wears a toupee; a person of fashion; a beau, a spark, a buck. Obs.
1727 Pope, etc. Art of Sinking x. 94 Then oh! she cries, what lives I found me see? Here a tit-jit he Rocket, there a smart Toupee. 1747 Gentl. Mag. Nov. 537/2 Here swiftly move toupee's, in spruce undress.
Hence Toupee'd a., wearing a toupee.
1847 R. Chambers Traditions of Edinburgh 45 Their toupeed and deep-skirted beaux.

Toupet (tʊ·pig, tʊ·pet, tʊ·pét). [a. F. toupet (tupe) tuft of hair, esp. over the forehead, deriv. (in form dim.) of OF. toup, top, tup, tuft of hair, foliage, etc.; ad. *LG. topp- = OHG. zopf top, tuft, summit; cf. OFris. top tuft, top, ONorse topper top, tuft, lock of hair: see Top *sb.*1]
1. = Toupee.
1729 Art of Politicks 10 Think we that modern words eternal are? Toupet, and Tompion, Cosins, and Colmar Hereafter will be called by some plain man A Wig, a Watch, a Pair of Snaps, a Fan. 1818 Scott Rob Roy vi, These vaduers, which every gentleman with a toupet thinks himself obliged to recite to an unfortunate girl. 1863 Cornh. Mag. VII. 395 Wigs are dangerous unless frankly avowed. A toupet may easily escape detection.
† b. transf. = Toupee b. Obs.
1728 Fielding Love in Sev. Masques Epil., From you then—ye toupets—he hopes defence. 1748 Richardson Clarissa VI ks. 2883 VII. 405 A couple of brocaded or lacedwaistcoated toupets, with their screwed up half-curled faces.
2. † The forelock of a horse or other animal (obs.); a thick head of hair (in quot., of a negro).
1797 Sporting Mag. X. 295 The Tuft or Toupet, that part of the mane which lies between the two ears. 1834 Southey Doctor iii. (1862) 5 Some of the inhabitants of Congo make a secret fob in their woolly toupet.
attrib., as toupet-coxcomb, -man, -wig; toupet-titmouse, the Crested Titmouse.
1731 Fielding Mod. Husb. i. ix, I meet with nothing but a parcel of toupet coxcombs, who plaster up their brains upon their periwigs. 1748 Richardson Clarissa (1811) VII. vi. 35 No mere toupet-man; but all manly. a 1784 Pennant Arct. Zool. (1785) II. 423 Titmous. Toupet.. feathers on the head long, which it erects occasionally into a pointed crest, like a toupet. 1884 E. Yates Rec. & Exper. III. 238 A carefully arranged toupet-wig.
Hence Toupeted nonce-wd. (tʊ·pétěd, tʊ·pěd) a., wearing a toupet.
1903 Smart Set IX. 53/2 We go in to dinner with the toupeted colonels.

Toupinambou, obs. form of Topinambou.

Tour (tʊər), sb. Also 7 toure, tower: see also sense 4. [ME. a. F. tour, in OF. and Prov. tor, back-formation from nom. tors :—L. tornus, a Gr. τόρνος a tool for describing a circle, a turner's wheel, a circle. The orig. acc. form was torn, tourn :—L. tornum; cf. Prov., Cat. torn, Sp., Pg., It. torno. In some of the Fr. and English senses, perh. n. of action f. tourner to turn.]
I. 1. One's turn or order (to do something); also, a spell of work or duty; a shift: see Turn sb. † By tour, by tours, by turns (obs.). Now mainly Mil.
[1292 Britton iv. ii, Si soen tourn soit a cele foiz de presenter ou noun.] c 1320 Cast. Love 1334 He was a-bashed of his tour [Fr. Il est de son torn abatus]. 1546 Reg. Privy Council Scot. I. 57 To cum and remane at the assege of the Castell..., ilk quarter in his tour. 1640 Sc. Acts Chas. I (1819) V. 311/1 If any of the tenes whose toure fallis to be present shalbe absent. 1781 in Simes Mil. Guide (ed. 3) 9 That..each [may] march in their tour. 1868 Regul. & Ord. Army ¶ 837 When an Officer is in the performance of a duty, and his tour for another duty occurs, he is not to make good that other duty, but his tour is to pass him. 1889 Harper's Mag. June 129/2 The 'machine-tenders'..work in 'tours' or 'shifts' twelve hours each.
† 2. A turning round, circular movement, revolution (in quot. 1688 fig.). Obs. rare.
1477 Caxton Jason 95 b, They go to the masse..for to make their tours and signes thenne for ony deuocion. 1688 Burnet Lett. conc. St. Italy 175 After the many tours, that the matter made in the many Ballotings, it came to the fixing of the last three out of whom the Doge was to be chosen. 1712 Blackmore Creation II. 77 The Tours by Heav'nly Bodies made. 1719 De Foe Crusoe xix. (1840) I. 349 He made so many Tours..and led us by such winding Ways.
3. A going or travelling round from place to place, a round; an excursion or journey including the visiting of a number of places in a circuit or sequence; often qualified, as cycling, walking, wedding tour; esp. a circuitous journey embracing the principal places of the country or region mentioned. On tour, touring: see Tour v. 2.
The (grand) tour, a journey through France, Germany, Switzerland, and Italy, formerly fashionable, esp. as a finishing course in the education of young men of rank: see Grand tour.
1649 Denham Cooper's H. 183 Visits the World, and in his flying towers Brings home to us, and makes both Indies ours. 1652 Evelyn St. France Misc. Writ. (1805) 46 A traveller..making the tour as they call it. 1688 Burnet Lett. conc. St. Italy 155 He made the Tower of Italy with him this year. 1697 Dampier Voy. round World (1699) 104 Having made a Tour, or Semi-circular March they return to the Sea again. 1748-1869 [see Grand tour]. 1779 Mirror No. 57 ¶ 13 Manly and I..had set out together to make the tour of Europe. 1812 Combe (title) Dr. Syntax's Tour in Search of the Picturesque. Ibid. 1, I'll make a tour —and then I'll write it. 1815 Scott Guy M. xiv, He..resolved..to make a short tour of a fortnight. 1887 Graphic 15 Jan. 62/1 An actor..'on tour' in the Fetish company. 1888 Spectator 28 Apr. 561/1 President Carnot is on tour in the Gironde. Mod. We made the tour of the town and saw all the places of interest.
b. transf. and fig. A round.
1704 Swift T. Tub Pref., Thrice have I forced my imagination to make the tour of my invention. 1718 Lady M. W. Montagu Lett. (1887) I. 238 After having made their tour, the bride was again led..round the rooms. 1746 Cornelious (title) A Tour through the Animal World; or an historical and accurate Account of near 400 Animals, Birds, Fishes, Serpents, Insects, &c. 1857 Jas. Hamilton Less. Gt. Biogr. (1859) 152 Making another tour of the company, each disciple filled his basket.
† c. A short outing taken for exercise, recreation, as a social function, or the like; also, the route taken on such occasions; in 17th c., in London, the drive round Hyde Park. Obs.
1686 Duchess of Newcastle True Relation in Life (1886) 300, I go sometimes abroad..in my coach..about some of the streets, which we call here a tour, where all the chief of the town resort to be seen. 1665 Pepys Diary 19 Mar., Mr. Povy and I in his coach to Hyde Parke, being the first day of the tour there. 1667 Duchess of Newcastle Life Dk. of N. (1886) ii. 99 Whereas at first there were no more but four coaches that came the Tours.. all those that had sufficient means, and could go to the price, kept coaches, and went the Tour for their own pleasure. 1725 De Foe Voy. round World (1840) 250 Now and then making a little tour about the fields, and towards the mountains. 1773 Life N. Frowde 46 Whilst the Ship staled at Cork we were perpetually diverted with Visits,..Tours into the adjacent Country, and Entertainments at Home.
d. The circuit of an island, etc.; a round.
1719 De Foe Crusoe (1840) I. x. 162 My next design was to make a tour round the island. 1748 Anson's Voy. III. v, He one day, attended by some of his officers, endeavoured to make the tour of the Island. 1756-7 tr. Keysler's Travs. (1760) II. 124 The tower is something above fifteen Italian, or three German miles.
† 4. A crescent front of false hair (F. tour de cheveux). Obs. exc. Hist.
Cf. also Taure. Also, in this sense, by confusion with Tower *sb.*1, spelt ? towr, 7-8 tower.
1674 Lond. Gaz. No. 900/4 Lost..a Red Russia leather Trunk about two foot long..; a very light curled Tower and Locks,..with..other wearing apparel in it for Women. 1676 Etherege Man of Mode ii. 1, Her Tour won'd Keep in Curl no longer. a 1700 B. E. Dict. Canal. Crew, Tower, a Woman's false Hair on their Foreheads. 1727-41 Chambers Cycl., Tour of hair, a tress or border of hair, going round the head, which mingled dextrously with the natural hair, lengthens and thickens it. a 1732 Gay Toilette Poems 1737 II. 6 Ancient matrons with their frizled towrs. 1837 Thackeray Ravenswu. vii, People in tours and pig-tails.
b. See also Tower *sb.*1 6 b.
II. Figurative uses (mostly from French).
† 5. A course to turn to; a shift, device, expedient.
1555 Phaer Æneid II. D iij b, What shift ? what tour is best we take? 1699 Vanbrugh False Friend iii. iii, We are still in the dark. I have one tour yet. Impudence be my aid!
† 6. A mode of phraseology; a 'turn' given to a phrase or sentence, etc. Obs.
1685 Boyle Eng. Notion Nat. ii. 39 A dextrous Writer may oftentimes be able to give such a Form (or, as the Modern Frenchmen speak), such a Tour to his many-ways variable Expressions, as to avoid the necessity of making use of the Word Nature. 1713 J. Brown Serub. Chaaric. 32 With regard to the oratory of the bar,..it is easy to observe, what a different tour the learned council takes, in addressing himself to the judge or jury.
† 7. Manner of presenting or exhibiting anything; an aspect given to a matter. Obs.
1687 Burnet Reply to Varillas 68 Yet Mr. Varillas has a sublime tour in every thing, so that instead of setting before us the reasons which led him to depend upon such an Author,..he gives one, which indeed no man beside himself would ever have brought on. Ibid. 119, I find I judged too well of his Invention, in ascribing to him those Romantick Tours that he gave matters. a 1734 North Examn. iii. vi. § 22 (1740) 4,8 The next Tour of the Author..is to demonstrate, that although there were very good Reasons for the King to indulge the Fanatics..., yet he did it for none of those, but for other Reasons that were abominably bad.
† 8. The course or compass of anything; what it amounts to; range, scope. Obs.
1697 Bentley Phal. (1699) 8: The latter part of his Life was the whole Tour and Compass that the Sophist designed to write of. 1713 — Free-thinking xviii. 36 The whole Tour of the Passage is this: A man given to Superstition can have no security, day or night, waking or sleeping.

1737 WATERLAND Eucharist vii. 232 Such is the Tour of the Argument, such the Chain of Ideas that forms it.

†9. Manner or mode of being. Obs.

1 FARQUHAR Inconstant v. ii. Something I saw of a well-furnished, careless, agreeable tour about you. 1736 MRS. MANLEY Secret Mem. III. 204 The new-fashion Tour of Religion and Politicks.

†10. A round, a course (of engagements, etc.).

1712 STEELE Spect. No. 266 P. 2 Scarce one of all the Women who are in the Tour of Gallantries ever hear any thing of what is the common Sense of sober Minds.

11. One of the several trills, variations, or changes in the song of a trained canary.

1906 Daily Chron. 20 Oct. 6/7 There are...in all, some twenty known trills or 'tours' in the song of a really accomplished roller canary.

III. 12. attrib. and Comb., as tour-book, -making, -writer, -writing; tour-money, money paid for travelling fare and accommodation on a tour.

1767 BUSH Hibernia Curiosa (1769) p. vi, Neglected by the.. tour-writers. 1793 W. ROBERTS Looker-On No. 74 (1794) III. 171 The rage for tour-writing, which prevails in the female world. 1824 MCCULLOCH Highl., etc. Scot. I. 41, I shall be obliged to write a tour book myself. 1869 P. LANDRETH Life & Min. A. Thoughts I. 1 This occasional tour-making did not break up the continuity of his energetic life. 1909 Daily Chron. 5 Aug. 4/4 A third member of the party took fright...and requested the return of the tour-money.

Tour (tŭə), v. [f. TOUR sb.]

†1. intr. To 'take a turn' in or about a place, esp. riding or driving. Obs.

1746 MRS. DELANY in Life & Corr. (1861) II. 443 The coach is ready for D. D. and me to tour in the park, and to see my lord's improvements. 1760 Ibid. III. 619 The Duchess has carried us to tour about the park and to see her hot-house.

b. To turn, direct one's steps. dial.

1768 ROSE Helenore 1. 33 Aff I scours Blessing my lucky stars, an' bauns I tours.

2. intr. To make a tour or circuitous journey, in which many places are visited, usually without retracing one's steps; to make a prolonged excursion for recreation or business; spec. of an actor, a theatrical company, or the like: to go 'on tour', to travel from town to town fulfilling engagements.

1789 A. C. BOWER Diaries & Corr. (1903) 97 We are all got thus far touring for Health. 1799 COLERIDGE Lett., to T. Poole (1935) 306 The tours I intended to make in Wales and afterwards published his 'Tour'. 1858 CARLYLE Fredk. Gt. x. vii. (1872) III. 276 Algarotti..has been touring about as a celebrity these four years past. 1886 Cyclist's Tour. Club Gaz. IV. 126 A word of advice to those about to tour at Easter. 1897 Literature 13 Nov. 224/2 [He] has made up his mind to take up once again lecturing work, and he will tour in several of the large American towns. 1907 H. WYNDHAM Diary of Footlights xii, Godfrey Deane has decided not to tour,...so I shall ask Antony for the part.

3. trans. To make the tour or round of, to tour in (a country or district).

1888 J. COLEMAN in Longm. Mag. VII. 67 Barrett organised a company with which..he toured the provinces. 1889 Blackburn Times 8 Oct. 5/2 He landed at Melbourne, and toured the colonies with great success. 1898 Westm. Gaz. 25 Jan. 5/3 Mr. R. is this week touring his constituency. 1899 Ibid. 2 Feb. 9/1 To tour India..with an English amateur cricket team.

4. To cover (a distance) in touring.

1891 in Pall Mall Gaz. 12 Feb. 1/2 One good performance on the path does more to arouse attention than 20,000 miles quietly toured.

4. spec. (Theatr.) To take (a play or entertainment) on tour; to tour with.

1892 Westm. Gaz. 22 May 5/1 'The County Fair', the American drama..now being toured in the provinces by Mr. Neil Burgess's Company. 1904 Ibid. 12 Feb. 5/2 It is the intention of the lecturer to tour his illustrated entertainment in the provinces. 1910 Stage Year Bk. 5 This production [Peter Pan] was magnificently staged in Sydney, but the business was poor, and it was never toured.

†Tourney in Capt. Smith Virginia (1624) VI. New Eng. 212 is an error for turning in the earlier Descr. New Eng. (1616) 17.

Hence Touring ppl. a., that tours.

1870 Athenæum 15 Oct. 506 A touring troupe of singers from this country. 1889 Pall Mall Gaz. 27 Oct. 4/1 Township abiding and touring Americans. 1888 J. PENNELL Ibid. 25 Oct. 5 From the standpoint of a touring cycler.

Tour, obs. form of TOWER, TWIRE.

‖Touraco (tūə-räkō). Also touracou, -caw, turaco, -ko, -koo. [= F. touraco, Du. toeraho: native name in W. Africa of Turacus persa.

Buffon, Hist. Nat. Oiseaux (1783), calls it touracou, which name he claims to have invented from the first part of tourterelle turtle-dove + kaoco, Fr. name of the curassow; but the bird was known to G. Edwards 40 years earlier as touraco.]

Any bird of the family Musophagidæ (plantain-eaters), natives of southern, west, and central Africa, and esp. of the genus Turacus (or Corythaix), large birds with brilliant purple, green, and crimson plumage and prominent crest (hence formerly called crown-birds); also of the genus Schizorrhis, with plumage of a plainer character.

1743 G. EDWARDS Hist. Birds I. 7 The Touraco. This Bird is about the Bigness of a Magpye or Jay: the Make of its Body is rather long than round; the Head of a moderate Size. 1840 Penny Cycl. XVII. 29/2 The Touracos..feed principally on soft fruits. 1861 DU CHAILLU Equat. Afr. vii. 77 (Acinonyx the Puma) His head was..decorated with the red feathers of a touracaw. 1863 R. F. BURTON Abeokuta I. 58 The gay crested touraco (Corythaix), with its jay-like manner, beautiful and harsh-voiced as the Maids of Athens, aired its purple crest on the sunbeams upon the tree-top. 1896 List Anim. Zool. Soc. 321 Turacus persa.. Senegal Touracou..West Africa..T. livingstonii..Livingstone's Touracou..British Central Africa..T. corythaix.. White-crested Touracou...South Africa. Ibid. 322 Gallirex chlorochlamys..Green-necked Touracou...Schizorrhis africana..Variegated Touracou.

Tourbe, var. TURB Obs., a troop.

Tourbillion (tuəzbi·lyən), ‖ tourbillon (turbi·yŏn). Also 5 turbilloun, 8 -billion. [a. F. tourbillon whirlwind, in OF. torbellion (12th c. in Hatz.-Darm.), torbillon, app., from the sense, an irregular derivative of L. turbo, -inem 'whirlwind'; though the form seems to connect it with vulgar L. turbēla, turbella 'bustle, stir', deriv. of turba crowd. See Hatz.-Darm., Littré, and Scheler.]

1. A whirlwind; a whirling storm. Also fig. rare. † Obs.

*c*1477 CAXTON Jason 57 A meruaillous turbilloun of winde roose in the see. 1588 J. WASHINGTON tr. Nicholay's Voy. I. xi. 13 A wind called..vulgarly Tourbillon or whirlewinde. 1751 ELIZA HEYWOOD Betsy Thoughtless III. 138 With the more violence those tourbillions of the mind rage for a while, the sooner they subside. 1819 W. TENNANT Papistry Storm'd (1827) 5 A Archarp-ee'd man, whose sicht was clear, Beneath the stowry tourbillon Micht see [etc.].

2. transf. A whirling mass or system; a vortex; a whirl. Also fig. Obs. exc. as French.

1712 STEELE Spect. No. 472 P 4 Each of them [the fixed stars] is a Sun moving on its own Axis in the Centre of its own Vortex or Turbillion. 1753 CHESTERF. Lett. 26 Nov. I am very glad, that you are whirled in that tourbillon of pleasures. 1779 H. WALPOLE Let. to C'tess Ossory 27 Oct., The tourbillon of Ranelagh surrounds you. 1824 SCOTT St. Ronan's III. All things were engaged in the tourbillon, of which she formed the pivot and centre.

3. A kind of firework which spins as it rises, describing a spiral.

1765 R. JONES Fireworks iv. 121 When you fire tourbillons, lay them on a smooth table, with their sticks downwards. 1842 H. FRANCIS Dict. Arts, etc., s. v., Fire will issue from four holes; that from the two lower holes will drive the tourbillion into the air, and that from the side holes will spin it round. 1873 E. SPON Workshop Receipts Ser. I. 135/7 The tourbillion is a species of firework very ingeniously contrived to represent a spiral column of fire.

4. (See quot.)

1884 F. J. BRITTEN Watch & Clockm. 266 Tourbillon..a carriage in which the escapement of a watch is fitted so that it revolves round the fourth wheel. The idea of the tourbillon..is to get rid of position errors.

Tourbine, Tourche, Tourcheman, Tourd(e: see TURBINE, TORCH, TRUCHMAN, TURD.

‖ Tour de force (tŭrdə·fŏrs). [F. tour turn, feat, de of, force force, strength.] A feat of strength, power, or skill.

1805 G. ELLIS Let. in Lockhart Scott (1837) II. ii. 80 Leyden's breakfast was only a tour de force to astonish Ritson. 1818 LADY MORGAN Fl. Macarthy II. v. 234 Each should try a tour de force with the other. 1870 RUSKIN Lect. Art i. (1875) 15 The execution of the best Artists is always a splendid tour-de-force. 1895 SALMOND Chr. Doctr. Immort. vi. iii. 62 It is only by a tour de force that they can be driven that length.

Toure, variant of TOR a. Obs., difficult, tedious; obs. form of TOWER, TWIRE v. (to peep).

Tourelle (‖ tu-, turel'). Also 4 torel, -elle, tourel, towrelle, turel, -eile. [a. F. tourelle, dim. of tour TOWER.] A turret.

13.. Cursor M. 10005 (Cott.) Pe four torels [v.rr. turet, tretis, turettes] on hei er sett. *c*1330 R. BRUNNE Chron. (1810) 138 A fair tourelle..com fro R[ichard] had doun smyten. 13.. K. Alis. 7173 (Bodl. MS.) He hab taken myne castels, He hab afeled myne Tourels [v.r. torellis]. 13.. Cœur de L. 1841 A castel..With six stagis full of towrelles, Wel flourished with cornelles. 1840 LOUISA S. COSTELLO Summer amongst Bocages II. 218 Two beautiful and exquisitely carved tourelles. 1895 CROCKETT Men of Moss-Hags 291 In the little sunlit tourelle at Earlstoun.

Touret, -ette, obs. forms of TORRET, TURRET.

Tourette (tūret'). [f. TOUR sb. + -ETTE.] A little or short tour; an excursion.

1881 HARE Story of Life (1900) V. xxii. 332, I made a tourette into Norfolk. 1906 BUMPUS Cathedr. Eng. & Wales II. 197 Charming tourettes may be made in one direction to Dedham..in another to Chelveston.

Tourify (tŭ·rifəi), v. colloq. [f. TOUR sb. + -(I)FY.] intr. To make a tour; to tour. Hence Tourifying ppl. a. So Tourification, a touring.

1802 R. COUPER (title) The Tourifications of Malachi Meldrum, Esq. 1819 MISS MITFORD in L'Estrange Life (1870) II. iii. 71 Mr. Holland is just now setting out on a tourification along the banks of the Seine. 1820 Ibid. 116 Dr. Nott..has been tourifying about Normandy. 1825 W. TAYLOR in Monthly Rev. CVI. 14 In this tourifying age.

Touring, vbl. sb. [f. TOUR v. + -ING 1.] The action of the verb TOUR.

1818 Sporting Mag. II. 225 Some persons call this touring. 1827 SOUTHEY Lett. (1856) IV. 76 It was in the summer season of touring and visiting. 1874 BLACKIE Self-Cult. 44 The modern habits of travelling and touring can be made to subserve the double end of health and culture.

b. attrib., as touring club, ground; touring-car, a motor car designed for touring purposes, with accommodation for passengers and luggage.

1898 CARLYLE Frederk. Gt. VII. iii. II. 281 Touring expeditions; which are now..done by steam, without even eyesight, not to say intelligence. *c*1898 Prospectus, The Bicycle Touring Club, founded at the North of England Meet held at Harrogate on the 5th August, 1878. 1885 Manch. Exam. 11 Nov. 3/2 Norway has become such a..popular touring ground. 1908 Westm. Gaz. 23 July 4/2 The Grand Prix was in no sense a touring-car race.

Tourism (tŭə·riz'm). [f. TOUR sb. + -ISM.] The theory and practice of touring; travelling for pleasure. Usually depreciatory.

1811 Sporting Mag. XXXVIII. 251 Sublime Cockey Tourism. 1843 THACKERAY Irish Sk.-bk. xvii, No doubt, ere long..the rush of London tourism will come this way [West of Ireland]. 1872 JERNINGHAM tr. Hübner's Sixtus the Fifth I. vi. I. 87 Tourism was born in the seventeenth century, and Englishmen were the first to practise it. 1903 C. WHIBLEY Thackeray iii. 44 The literature of 'tourism' is ever increasing.

Tourist (tŭə·rist). [f. TOUR sb. + -IST.] One who makes a tour or tours; esp. one who does this for recreation; one who travels for pleasure or culture, visiting a number of places for their objects of interest, scenery, or the like.

*c*1800 PEGGE Anecd. Eng. Lang. (1814) 313 A Traveller is now-a-days called a Tour-ist. 1803 SYD. SMITH Wks. (1850) 34 An agricultural tourist will faithfully detail the average crop per acre. 1824 SCOTT St. Ronan's I, It provoked the pencil of every passing tourist. 1855 H. SPENCER Princ. Psychol. § 66. 246 The Swiss tourist whose inquiries respecting distances are answered in 'stunden', or hours. 1873 SMILES Huguenots Fr. III. i. (1881) 383 Dauphiny..lying completely out of the track of ordinary tourists.

b. attrib. and Comb., as tourist agency, country, rendezvous, ticket; tourist-crammed, -haunted, -laden, -mobbed, -ridden, -trodden adjs.; tourist-car, a railway carriage with special accommodation for tourists.

1867 J. G. FENNELL (title) The Rail and the Rod; or, Tourist-Angler's Guide to Waters and Quarters around London. 1881 I. E. B. COX (title) The Angler's Diary and Tourist Fisherman's Gazetteer of the Rivers and Lakes of the World. 1887 RUSSWURM Pretoria II. 379 Ruin was inevitable in the valley after it became a tourist rendezvous. 1892 Pall Mall G. 16 July 2/1 A tourist country like Switzerland. 1895 P. HEMINGWAY Out of Egypt i. ii. 22 It was no good applying to the hotels or tourist agencies. 1897 MRS. E. L. VOYNICH Gadfly ii, The glaring white streets and dusty, tourist-crammed promenades. 1898 Edin. Rev. Oct. 521 The beautiful but now..hackneyed and tourist-mobbed route to Chamonix. 1905 Westm. Gaz. 1 Travelling of Lhasa xiii. 242 Just as one is dragged into a church in some tourist-ridden land. 1908 Westm. Gaz. 9 May 3/1 His [ticket] had the tourist-car ticket appended as a portion of the fare.

Hence (nonce-wds.) Touristdom, the realm or collective body of tourists; Touristing, the practice or habit of touring; Touristry = touristdom or touristing; Touristship, the quality or position of a tourist; Touristy a., colloq., characteristic of the tourist.

1888 Pall Mall G. 28 Aug. 13/2 Ere those Circe's sties, the Club-huts, barboured touristdom in flocks. 1883 A. STEWART Nether Lochaber xxxviii. 233 Never before were all the conveniences for 'touristing' so perfect. 1898 STEVENSON Island Voy. 30 All the ruck and rabble of British touristry. 1883—Silverado Sq. 27 It was a pure little isle of touristry among the solitary hills. 1894 Speaker 7 Apr. 390/2 A Venice vulgarised by Cook's touristry. 1849 Fraser's Mag. XL. 375 He was rather a tourist than a traveller, and this touristship was the worse for his scientific crotchets. 1906 Athenæum 8 Sept. 278/3 The letterpress ...is..slight, sketchy, touristy', but genial.

Touristic (tŭristi·k), a. [f. TOURIST + -IC.] Of or pertaining to tourists or touring.

1848 Blackw. Mag. LXIV. 373 The touristic hordes, who paddled up and down the well-known old banks. 1865 LD. STRANGFORD in Lett. & Papers (1878) 98 (There is no such thing as a record of touristic journeying in Crete. 1894 Athenæum 26 May 672 It has importance from another than the touristic point of view.

So Touristical a., in same sense.

1863 W. COBY Lett. & Jrnls. (1897) 98 A long quiet walk, only one touristical incident by the way. 1893 Nat. Rev. 28 Feb. 789/3 His discursive record is chiefly 'touristical'.

Tourize (tŭə·roiz), v. [f. TOUR sb. + -IZE.] intr. To make a tour, to go touring.

1837 SIR J. PAGET Let. 22 Mar., in Mem. v. 102, I think, if we are spared to tourize together, our first trip shall be to Fontainebleau. 1864 Macm. Mag. Apr. 521 Let him tourize out of the beaten track.

Tourmaline (tŭə·mălin, -in). Min. Also tour-, turmalin, -ine, (tormaline). [= F. tourmaline (1771 in Lict. Trev.), Ger. turmalin (1707, Garmann), Du. toermalijn (1778), It., Sp. turmalina; all ultimately f. Sinhalese tōramalli, according to Clough 'a general name for the cornelian'. The origin of the European final -ine is obscure: cf. mandarin, talapoin, etc. The better (18th c.) English spelling was tour-, turmalin; the spelling -ine is in imitation of French, in which the e merely supports the n.] A brittle pyro-electric mineral, occurring in crystals, also massive, compact, and columnar, originally obtained from Ceylon; a complex silicoborate with a vitreous lustre, usually black or blackish and opaque (SCHORL), but also blue (INDICOLITE), red (RUBELLITE), green, or colourless, and in various rich transparent or semi-transparent shades, known as precious tourmaline, and much used as a gem. Also formerly called, from its electrical properties, ash-drawer, Du. aschentrecker, Ger. aschenzieher, F. tire-cendre.

1759 B. WILSON in Phil. Trans. LI. i. 308, I have the pleasure to communicate to you some experiments made upon the Tourmalin, or Ashstone. 1794 SULLIVAN View Nat. I. 440 The tourmaline is a variety of the schoerl. 1798 EDGEWORTH Pract. Educ. (1811) II. 204 A small electrical stone called tourmalin. 1799 KIRWAN Geol. Ess. 121 All...lose some part of their weight when exposed to a strong heat...: tourmaline loses 15 per cent. 1812 SIR H. DAVY Chem. Philos. 131 There is a stone, called tourmaline, which is sometimes crystallized as a nine-sided prism, terminated by a three-sided and a six-sided pyramid. 1825 HEBER Jrnl. xxvii. (ed. 2) 189 The topaz, ruby, tourmaline, diamond, and various others. 1853 TR. ROSS Humboldt's Travs. III. xxxii. 382 The granite is traversed by...veins..abounding with rock-crystal, black tourmalin, and pyrites. 1866 RUSKIN Eth. Dust ix. 179 This black thing,...one of the prettiest of the very few pretty black things in the world, is called 'Tourmaline'. 1888 RUTLEY Rock-Forming Min. 38 A plate of tourmaline cut parallel to the principal axis.

b. With a and pl. A specimen or gem of this mineral; also a transparent plate of tourmaline cut parallel to the vertical crystal axis, used in polariscopes, etc.

1816 P. CLEAVELAND Min. 262 When a tourmaline is viewed perpendicularly to the sides of the prism, it is more or less transparent, but, if observed in the direction of the axis, it is opaque. 1843–54 PEREIRA Pol. Light (ed. 2) 211 If the two tourmalines be crossed the rays are suppressed—if they coincide the rays are transmitted. 1890 Academy 2 Apr. 252/1 It [a bracelet] consists of a broad and heavy band of Californian gold, set with two large tourmalines.

c. attrib. and Comb., as tourmaline crystal, granite, pendant; tourmaline pincette, tongs, a simple polariscope, consisting of tongs having a plate of tourmaline mounted in each grasping jaw; tourmaline-rock, -schist: see quots. 1882.

1843–54 PEREIRA Pol. Light (ed. 2) 213 The two sets of rays..successively pass through the tourmaline analyzing plate. 1879 RUTLEY Stud. Rocks x. 138 The terminations of tourmaline crystals are frequently composed of a great number of faces. 1882 GIKIE Text-bk. Geol. (1885) 73 Tourmaline..with quartz forms tourmaline-rock. Ibid. 131 Tourmaline-schist..a blackish, finely granular, quartzose rock with abundant granules and needles of black tourmaline. 1888 RUTLEY Rock-Forming Min. 59 The tourmaline pincette, or tongs.

Hence Tourmali·nic a., pertaining to, of the nature of, or consisting of tourmaline; Tou·rmalinate Min., tourmaline; Tou·rmalinize v., trans. to impregnate or charge with tourmaline.

1879 DANA Man. Geol. (ed. 3) 70 Tourmalinic, containing tourmaline. 1896 CRESTER Dict. Names Min., Tourmalinite, variant of tourmaline. 1908 Amer. Jrnl. Sc. Apr. 322 Along the margin..the granite is often strongly tourmalinized.

Tourment, etc., obs. form of TORMENT, etc.

Tourn (tŭrn). Eng. Hist. Also 6–7 tourne, turne, 6–8 torn, 6–9 turn, 7–8 torne. [a. Anglo-Fr. tourn, TURN, n. of action f. tourner to turn, go round; in med.L. turnus. In the ordinary senses the sb. and vb. have become turn; but in this historical sense the Anglo-French spelling is usually retained, though Pollock and Maitland prefer to call it 'the sheriff's turn'.]

The tour, turn, or circuit formerly made by the sheriff of a county twice in the year, in which he presided at the hundred-court in each hundred of the county; the great court leet of the county, held by him on these occasions; it was a court of record.

[1217 Magna Carta, and Reisme c. 42 Nec aliquis vicecomes vel ballivus suus faciat turnum suum per hundretum nisi bis in anno,..semel post Pascha et iterum post festum Sancti Michaelis. 1292 BRITTON I. xix. § 3 Sutes dues a noster Counté, et a nos hundrez, et a nos maners, et a tourns de noster viscounte. Ibid. xxx. § 1 Les..sutes a quelque tourns de viscounte; qi deis foir par an les deit toner par mi chescun hundred de soen counté.] 1432 Rolls of Parli. IV. 403/2 By cause the Decennare and Decennes..comen noght hole and full unto the Sherrefes turn. 1532 Dial. on Laws Eng. t. vii. 26 In every shyre..there is a courte ..that is called the Shyryffes torne. 1542–6 in 14th Rep. Hist. MSS. Comm. App. ix. 272 Bobbingworth Village come to the 'Turne aforesaid by till men, Tenants by coppie, and the Reeve of the village there. 1608 DALTON Office of Constables etc., Sheriffs, [The sheriff] hath authority to hold two several courts of distinct natures: the one called the tourne, because he keepeth his turn and circuit about the shire. 1765 BLACKSTONE Comm. I. 368 The sheriff's tourn, which is the court-leet of the county. 1875 STUBBS Const. Hist. II. xiv. 27 The 42nd article orders..the sheriff's tourn, which now first appears in the charters, [to be held] twice a year. 1895 POLLOCK & MAITLAND Hist. Eng. Law I. 555 Twice a year the sheriff makes a tour or turn (turnus vicecomitis) through all the hundreds of the country. He holds each of the hundred courts, and on these occasions many persons besides the ordinary suitors ought to be present.

Tourn, Tournado, obs. ff. TURN, TORNADO.

Tournament (tū·mămĕnt), sb. Forms: a. 3 tornei-, 3 5 torne-, 4–7 tornea-, 5–7 torna-ment. β. 3–5 turne-, 4–8 turna-, 5–6 turnei-, turney-, 7 turneament. γ. (5 tourney-), 5–7 tourne-, 7 tournea-, 6– tournament. (Also 4–6 -mente, pl. 3–5 -mens.) [a. OF. torneiement (Endas, c 1150), torney-, tornee-, torniement; central and later OF. tornoie-, tornoiment, tournoie-, tournoyement; also turnoie-, turneie-, turneement, f. tourneier, -oier, etc., TOURNEY v.: see -MENT. Cf. Pr. torneiament, It. tornia-, † torneamento; the later Eng. spellings tornea-, tourna- were app. due to the influence of med.L.

Cf. med.L. torneamentum (fr. Fr.), 1157 in Reims Synod, Canon iv, and 1179 in Lateran Council, Can. xx " detestabiles illas nundinas vel ferias, quas vulgo tornamenta vocant ".]

1. Originally, A martial sport or exercise of the middle ages, in which a number of combatants, mounted and in armour, and divided into two parties, fought with blunted weapons and under certain restrictions, for the prize of valour; later, A meeting at an appointed time and place for knightly sports and exercises.

According to Roger of Hoveden III. 268, first introduced into England by Richard I.

α. 1297 R. GLOUC. (Rolls) 2896 In ioustes & in tornements. Ibid. 12041 Sir edward..haunted torneiments [v.r. (C.) turnement] with wel noble route. 13..Sir Beues (A.) 3766 [pai] ben come for a torneiment Pat is cride for a maide faire. c 1440 Promp. Parv. 497/1 Tornement, torneamentum. 1612 SELDEN Illustr. Drayton's Poly-olb. iv. 70 Torneaments and iousts were their exercises.

β. a 1225 Ancr. R. 390 Ne dude him lne turnement, & hefde uor his leofmonnes luue, his schelde ine uihte. 13..Guy Warw. (A.) 821 He schal bring to pe turnement [v.r. turnement] Pat day Wiche is him bat it winne may) A gentilmanne Pat is mide white. Ibid. 829 Who so winnep pe turnement al bi alper half, pe priis have schal. c 1450 Merlin ix. 135 After they be-gonne a turnemente, and departed hem in two partyes. 1590 SPENSER F. Q. ii. v. 1 That doughtie turnament. 1596 Ibid. iv. iv. 12 Against the Turnament. Ibid. 13 Unto the place of Turneyment. a 1700 DRYDEN Theodore & Hon. 18 He..At tilts and turnaments obtained the prize, But found no favour in his lady's eyes.

γ. 1470–85 MALORY Arthur x. v. 41 Upon newe yeersday the barons lete maake a Iustes and a tournement c 1483 CAXTON Dialogues 25/1 For suche ladies ben the tournements. 1488 — Paris & V. 11 Ioustes and tournoyment doon in his cote of vynne. 1552 HULOET, Tournaments or iuste. 1656 BLOUNT Glossogr. (1674), Tournement, or Tourneament. 1756–7 tr. Keysler's Trav. (1760) IV. 291 A cuirass used by the elector Augustus in tournaments. 1801 STRUTT Sports & Past. III. 103 Every kind of military combat made in contrarity to certain rules..was ancienly called a tournament. 1818 HALLAM Mid. Ages ix. II. (1819) III. 302 Tournaments..may be considered to have arisen about the middle of the eleventh century for..the name of tournaments, and the laws that regulated them, cannot be traced any higher. 1841 JAMES Brigand i, Henry the Second [of France]..closed his career in the last tournament [1559] which Europe was destined to witness. 1888 Encycl. Brit. XXIII. 48/1 Tournaments and joints differed from one another principally in the circumstance that in the first several combatants on each side were engaged..., and in the second the contention was between two combatants only.

b. A modern imitation of the mediæval pastime.

1701 Lond. Gaz. No. 3734/4 The Imperial Court continues at the Palace at Favorita, where they were entertained yesterday with a Turnament. 1839 LD. COCKBURN Jrnl. (1874) I. 239 In August last the display called the Tournament took place at Eglinton Castle.

c. Applied to the Olympic and other ancient games or contests.

1387 TREVISA Higden (Rolls) I. 12 After be strif, ioustes, and turnements of Olympy. Ibid. II. 381 Theseus..slowȝ Minotaurus in pe torneiment [in agone interemit]. 1610 HOLLAND Camden's Brit. (1637) 703 Severus..His body was ..committed to the flames, honoured with Iusts and Tournements of his souldiers and his owne sonnes. 1866 FELTON Anc. & Mod. Gr. II. v. 358 They..utterly disappeared from the face of Hellas, with their language, their manners, their Iusts and tournaments.

2. fig. An encounter or trial of strength.

1598 BP. REYNOLDS Peace Ch. 31 Happy..the Church of God, when curious novelties, and as it were Tournaments in sacred things are esteemed prophane. 1659 Gentl. Calling (1696) 118 They keep, as it were, solemn Iusts and Tournaments in the Nursery. 1901 Empire Rev. I. 370 When this dogmatic tournament has spent its force. 1902 R. BRIDGE Donna Diana xx, In the rose-gardens below, the nightingales were holding a tournament of song.

3. transf. A contest in any game of skill in which a number of competitors play a series of selective games, e. g. a chess or lawn tennis tournament.

Military or naval tournament, an athletic meeting at which there are a large proportion of contests especially adapted for soldiers or sailors.

1761 Ann. Reg. 152 A naval tournament, or race upon the waters, resembling those practised at Venice in the carnival season. 1829 H. STANTON (title) The Chess Tournament. A collection of the games played at this celebrated assemblage. 1869 in J. D. Heath Croquet-Player (1874) 95 N.C.C. Open tournament at Highgate (6 inch hoops). 1872 R. C. A. PRICE Croquet 55 The Sporting Chronicle announced last year a 'POTATO Tournament'. 1885 Sat. Rev. 24 Jan. 123 If..the old Counties Chess Association..holds its tournaments in the provinces. 1888 Daily News 15 Sept. 5/5 Lawn Tennis. The Essex Open Tournament was resumed yesterday at the Connaught Grounds.

4. attrib.

1848 THACKERAY Van. Fair iii, It had been a Cistercian Convent in old days, when the Smithfield, which is contiguous to it, was a tournament ground. 1901 Mensey's Mag. XXVI. 470/2 When the skater has become proficient in all of them, he is ready to proceed to the simpler combinations of the tournament figures.

Hence Tournament v. (nonce-wd.), intr. to ride as in a tournament, to tilt; Tourna·mental a., of or pertaining to a tournament; † Tournamentee·r, Obs. rare, a combatant at tournaments.

1884 J. SHARMAN Hist. Sonnering i. 20 They bestrode chairs and benches,..and *tournamented about the room. 1801 STRUTT Sports & Past. III. i. 147 When the grand tournamental conflict was finished. 1896 Daily News 28 May 3/1 The rumour..that there was tournamental antagonism between the Navy and Army. 1737 OZELL Rabelais II. 221 Great Tilters and Turnamentees.

Tournasin (tū·măsin). [a. F. tournasin, tournassin (Littré), f. tournaser, -nasser to turn (pottery) on the wheel, derivative of tourner to TURN.] A knife or spatula used to remove excess of slip from decorated pottery when partially dried.

1839 URE Dict. Arts, etc. 1017 The excess of the paste is removed by an instrument called a tournasin, till the ornamental figure produced by the stamp be laid bare. 1874 KNIGHT Dict. Mech. 908/1 Excess of slip is removed, after a certain amount of drying, by a spatula or knife, known as a tournasin.

Tournay (tū·rnē). [a. F. Tournai, Tournay (Flem. Doornik), name of a town in Belgium. Cf. DORNICK.] See quot.

1898 SIMMONDS Dict. Trade, Tournay, a printed worsted material used for furniture. Hence in mod. Dicts.

Tournay, obs. form of TOURNEY.

Tourne, obs. form of TOURN, TURN.

‖ Tourné (tŭrne), a. Her. [Fr., pa. pple. of tourner to turn.] REGARDANT A. 2.

1725 COATS Dict. Her., Tourné is used by French Heralds for what we call Regardant, that is, looking back, or behind. 1882 in OGILVIE; and in later Dicts.

Tournell, var. TURNEL Obs., ring, ferret.

‖ Tournelle (tŭrnel). Obs. Forms: 4, 6 tornel, 6 tornelle, 6–7 tournel, 7 tornil, tournell, 6–8 tournelle; also 5 turnelle. [a. OF. tornele, F. tournelle, according to Hatz.-Darm. deriv. of tour TOWER, influenced by tourner to turn.] A small tower; a turret. With capital T, name in the 16–18th c. of the building in Paris in which the criminal court sat; hence applied to this court, its prison, and other courts.

a 1400 Siege of Troy 1023 in Archiv neu. Spr. LXXII. 33 Vche tornel of pe toun pey gonne aparelle. 1589 TR. Puttenh's Poet. Lett. ii. 43, I was carried to the Tournel, where they put the persons condemned to the Gallies. 1771 Ann. Reg. 102 Eleven members of the great council, who composed part of the great chamber out of the Tournelle of the new parliament, have resigned their places.

Tournement, Tourner, -erie, Tournesoll, -soule, tournsol, obs. ff. TOURNAMENT, TORMENT, TURNER, -ERY, TURNSOLE.

Tourney (tū·rnĭ, tŭ·rnĭ), sb.[1] Forms: α. 4 torneie, -aie, 5 -eye, -oye, 5–6 -ey, -oy, 6 -ay. β. 4–7 turnay, 4–8 -ey, -y, 6 -ei(e, -oye, -oi. γ. 4 tourneie, 4–9 -ay, 5 -oye, -oy, 6 -ai, 6–7 -oi, 4– tourney. [ME. a. OF. tornei (Endas, c 1150), turnei, tornai, tournay, F. tournoi, vbl. sb. f. tornei-er, TOURNEY v. So Prov. tornei, It., Sp., Pg. torneo.]

1. = TOURNAMENT 1.

α. c 1374 CHAUCER Troylus iv. 1641 (7669) In werre or torney [v.r. tournay] Marcial. c 1440 LOVELICH Merlin 9614 There departed the Tourneye soone. c 1485 CAXTON Dialogues 45/27 Reyner the squyer Is atte Iustes At the tornoye. a 1533 LD. BERNERS Huon xxi. 62, I..haunted the iustes & tornoys. a 1548 HALL Chron., Hen. IV 167 b, These ij valeant persones coped together in the tornay. 1579 FLETCHER Guiscard ii. (1599) 107 The King..amused the time about iustes, torneys, and other pleasures of Court.

β. 13.. K. Alis. 141 Ladies loven solas, and play: Swaynes, Iusters: knyghtis, turnay [Bodl. MS. tournay]. 1516 St. Bridget in Myrr. our Ladye p. lv, In turneys and in vanytes of the worlde. 1550 J. COKE Eng. & Fr. Heralds § 125 (1877) 95 Assaulies, turneis, scrymises and syrrges. 1556 Chron. Gr. Friars 97 The kynge helde ryall iustes, turneyes, & bankettes six dayes after. 1558 in Feuillerat Revels Q. Eliz. (1908) 70 The apparell & Trappers..appointed..for his Iustes & Turneis. 1585 T. WASHINGTON tr. Nicholay's Voy. iii. xxvii. 146 All sortes of turneyes and cumbates. 1632 MILTON Penseroso 118 Great Bards..have sung, Of Turneys and of Trophies hung. 1742 COLLINS Ode Poet. Char. 7 The magic Girdle..At solemn Turney hung on high.

γ. 13.. Seuyn Sag. 119 In a mete and his tourney Of mon that were of gret nobleye. 1523 LD. BERNERS Froiss. I. xix. 27 There was also great iustes, tourneys, daunsyng, carolyng, and great feastis euery day. 1552 HULOET, Tournay, vide in turney. 1556 Aurelio & Isab. (1608) B iv, She can not keape her from the dances, iustes, tournes. 1569 STOCKER tr. Diod. Sic. iii. xviii. 134 For the sportes, tournais, and diuerse other pastimes. 1625 BACON Ess., Masques & Triumphs (Arb.) 540 For Iusts, and Tourneys. 1820 W. IRVING Sketch Bk. I. 193 The suit of armour..embodied lished as if to figure in the tournay. 1868 FREEMAN Norm. Conq. (1877) II. viii. 265 Not justing with his lance as in a mimic tourney.

fig. 1898 E. JENKINS Haverholme 33 A few days' trial, a tournay of keen lawyers..and the poor man walked out of court beat.

† b. Applied to ancient games; = TOURNAMENT I c. Obs.

1485 CAXTON Trevisa's Higden ii. xxxii. (1527) B 7 b, Where the Iliens hane theyr tournaments from iij yere to iiij yere, so that iiij yere was bytwene the tornoyes. 1586 T. B. La Primaud. Fr. Acad. i. (1594) 103 Cæsar the first Romane emperor..not sparing any cost upon plaies, turneies, feastes, largesses, and other baits to carry favour. 1600 HOLLAND Livy xxix. xxii. 726 The land souldiours, running and charging one another at turney. 1602 — Pliny VIII. ii. 192 In the late solemnitie of tournois & sword-fight at the sharpe, which Germanicus Cæsar exhibited to gratifie the people.

2. attrib. and Comb., as tourney-day, -fall, field, -fight, -prize; † tourney-head, ? a blunt spear-head used in a tournament; tourney-helm, a helmet worn in tournaments, with light open bars across the face; distinguished from a tilting-helm; tourney-queen, the 'queen of beauty' at a tournament.

1813 Scott Triern. III. xxxvii, Forgot was that fell tourney-day. 1886 J. Richmond Prog. Notice to Chatterton's Poet. Wks. 25 The gay crowd of the tourney-field. 1892 Tennyson Gareth & Lyn. 88 In those brain-stunning shocks and tourney-falls. 1814 Scott La. of Isles IV. xxv, Victor in Woodstock's tourney-fight. 1506-7 Acc. Ld. High Treas. Scot. III. 364 Tua tourney swordis, four † tourney hedis to the tourney. 1872 Tennyson Last Tourn. 32 Take thou the jewels of this dead innocence, And make them...a †tourney-prize. 1848 Kingsley Saint's Trag. IV. iii. 92 Now ruffling up like angry †tourney queen.

† Tourney, -ay, sb.[2] Obs. Also 5–6 turn-. [a. OF. tornee (13th c. in Hatz.-Darm.), F. tournée, lt. tornata, ppl. sb. from tourner, tornare to Turn; lit. a turning, going round, circuit.]

†1. The sheriff's tourn: see Tourn. Obs. rare.

a 1500 in Arnolde's Chron. (1811) 181 All maner preuyleagis fraunchesses hundredis wapentakes leetis rapis vyew of frankpledge sherefs turnays sheref(g)ydes amerciamentis.

†2. One's turn in order or rotation. Obs. rare.

1523 Fitzherb. Surv. 29 b, Also what lordes or Gentylmen haue their tourneyse [1539 turneys] with them in the same benifyce...who shall haue next.

Tourney (tŭrni, tŭrnĭ), v. Forms: see Tourney sb.[1] [ME. a. OF. tornei-er, -ey-er, tornai-er, -oy-er (later tornoi-ier, -oy-er, tournoy-er, etc. = Pr. torneiar, -ejar, torniar, Cat. tornejar, Sp., Pg. tornear, It. torneggiare :—Romanic type torniāre*, tornidiāre*, f. torno, L. torn-us sb. or torn-āre vb.: see Turn sb. and v. Torniāre was a secondary formation, with a specific sense, referring to wheeling or evolutions.] intr. To take part in a tourney; to contend or engage in a tournament.

a. 13.. Sir Beues (A.) 612 Manl a gentil knijt Torneande rijt in pe feld. Ibid. 3774 Jaune seide Beues vnto Terry: 'Wile we tornaie for pat leuedy?' 1390 Gower Conf. I. 126 On jousteth wel, an other bet, And otherwhile thei torneie. c 1440 Lovelich Merlin 7177 Pere eche man torneyed with o yer. 1470–85 Malory Arthur VII. ix. 228 His custome is ..to lye in this medowe to Iuste and torneye.

β. c 1435 Torr. Portugal 2591 They justyd and turneyed there. 1513 Douglas Æneis v. x. 10 Bid hym bring hiddir his rowtis to turnay. 1567 Drant Horace, De Arte Poet. Biv, He dare not turney, nor yet tilte which neuer knew the play. 1600 Holland Livy xxvi. ii. 624 He conversed among the legions, and turnoiled with them.

γ. 1.. K. Alex. 195 (Bodl. MS.) Per was knijttes tourneying [v.r. turnyng]. 1470–85 Malory Arthur I. v. 41 Alle knystes that wold Iuste or tourneye. a 1533 Ld. Berners Gold. Bk. M. Aurel. (1546) Diij, Yf he vse armes, all wil tourney. 1579 Lewis Mainph. 19/15 To Tourney, hastis concurrere. 1577-87 Holinshed Chron. III. 803/1 So presented themselues...readie to tourneie. 1622 Mabbe tr. Aleman's Guzman d'Alf. I. 86 Because he might not Tourney. 1632 tr. Francisco's Pilgrim (1663) I. v. xviii. 227 There were ..tourneying together with coursing Chariots. 1855 Singleton Virgil I. 189 They tourney; in high heaven a din is raised.

δ. trans.[?]

a 1400–50 Alexander 5429 Ilka twelmonth a turne þai [snakes] turnay to-gedire.

Tourneyer. Also 4 tourn(e)uor, 8 turnier. [ME. a. OF. tornoieor, tournoieur, -ieur, f. torneier: see prec.] One who engages in a tourney.

1303 R. Brunne Handl. Synne 4615 For wymmen sake knyghtheys tournaments make..loke now wheder swyche tournoiers [v.r. tourneoures] Mow be kalled turmentours? 1738 [G. Smith] Curious Relations II. 358 Forty-eight Turniers, dress'd after the ancient German manner, in yellow Liveries, trim'd with black Velvet, and small Gold Lace. Ibid. 359 Twenty-eight Turniers on Horse-back, after the ancient Manner. 1846 H. W. Torrens Rem. Milit. Hist. 191 Mere fantastic tourneyers breaking a lance for the bright eyes of their lady.

Tourneying, vbl. sb. [f. Tourney v. + -ing[1].] The action of the verb Tourney. Also attrib.

13.. K. Alis. 1015 (Bodl. MS.) Carolyng & turneiyng And wrestlyng & skirmyng. c 1386 Chaucer Knt.'s T. 1699 No lenger shal the turneying [v.r. torneyenge, turnyinge, tourneying] laste. 1483 Caxton G. de la Tour g viij b, The Iousty nge and the torneyeng was fayre to see. 1503 Acc. Ld. High Treas. Scot. II. 202 To the turnaying at Vasterringis xviii. 1548 Udall, etc. Erasm. Par. Mark Pref., To prouse masteries with wagoners in the listes or turneiyng place called Circus. a 1631 Donne Paradoxes (1652) 75 No way ..to win a Lady but by Tylting, Turneying, and riding in Forrests. 1657 C. Beck Univ. Char. L vij b, Tournaying or tilting. 1843 Carlyle Past & Pr. II. xv, A liberty of tourneying.

Tourniquet (tŭ·niket, ‖ turnīke). Also 7 turneke, 8 turniket, tournequet. [a. F. tourniquet, dial. torniquat, deriv. of tourn-er to Turn.]

1. A surgical instrument, consisting essentially of a bandage, a pad, and a screw, for stopping or checking the flow of blood through an artery by compression; also, a bandage tightened by twisting a rigid bar put through it.

1698 W. W. New Lt. Chirurg. put out 53 His..slacking the Turneke..caused such an additional Expence of Blood. 1721 Naish in Phil. Trans. XXXI. 227 Upon slackening the Turniket. 1756 Gentl. Mag. XXVI. 381 The offender is..strangled by putting a cord twice round his neck, and twisting it tight with a piece of stick behind, like a tourniquet. 1806 Med. Jrnl. XV. 149 Remarks..on the screw tourniquet. 1869 Latest News 10 Oct. 7 He strangled himself in bed with a tourniquet made of a handkerchief and a piece of stick. 1877 Reichsen Surg. I. 34.

attrib. 1767 Treat. Wounds I. 143 When such a wound happens in a limb, the leaving a tourniquet ligature loose about it,..till the surgeon can be called, is a precaution. 1820 Sporting Mag. VII. 108 The tourniquet [hand] shake is the next in importance.

2. a. A turnstile. rare. b. = Barker's mill (Ogilvie, 1882).

1706 Phillips (ed. Kersey), Tourniquet, a Turn-Still. 1768 Strane Sent. Journ. (1775) I. 56 Seek some winding alley, with a tourniquet at the end of it, where chariot never rolled or flambeau shot its rays. 1876 Ruskin Fors Clav., lxiv. VI. 113 We..are to work outside, here, for your dinners, and hand them through the wall to you at a tourniquet.

Tournit, -yt, obs. Sc. forms of Turned.

‖ Tournois (tuərnwā), a. (sb.) Hist. Forms: 4–5 Tourneys, 5 Turneis, 6 Tornois, 7 Tor-, Turnoys, 7– Tournois. [Fr. Tournois adj. :—L. Turonēnsis, of Tours, Turonēs, a city of France.] Of or pertaining to Tours: esp. said of the money coined at Tours, one-fifth less in value than that struck at Paris.

1475 Bk. Noblesse (Roxb.) 32 To the yerely valeu of ..xl. M. marcs yerely, whiche was lx. M. li. Turneis. 1593 Ld. Berners Froiss. I. cliv. 184 The french kyng shall delyuer to the kyng of Nauer, xxxviii. M. li. tornois of lande. 1625 in Rushw. Hist. Coll. (1659) I. 231 The sum of Two hundred and thirteen thousand Livres Turnoys. 1769 Chron. in Ann. Reg. 85 The ship of war..has on board..about an hundred thousand crowns tournois in piastres. 1852 Miss Yonge Cameos (1877) III. iii. 27 Sufficient to pay nine thousand soldiers at the rate of ten livres tournois per month.

b. sb. Money or a coin of Tours: see quots.

13. Coer de L. 2856 They myghte have none ohtir thyng For whyt tourneys, ne for sterlyng. 1426 Lydg. De Guil. Pilgr. 17664 To tourne, by hys sotylte, A Tourneys to A paynym. 1836 Blount Glossogr., Tournois..., a French penny, the tenth part of a penny sterling...In France they say so much money Tournois, as we say sterling. 1893 Antiquary Mar. 105 Coins found in St. Queran's Well, 1809. ..Double Tournois.

‖ Tournure (tuərnūr'). [F. tournure, earlier tourne.ure :—late pop.L. tornātūra, f. tornāre to Turn; in Fr. (1) rounded form given to anything; (2) manner in which anything is fashioned.]

1. (Graceful) manner or bearing; cultivated address.

1748 Chesterf. Let. 12 Oct., The easy manners and tournure of the world. 1816 Sporting Mag. XLVII. 118 That ease and tournure so indispensable in the composition of a gentleman. 1834 Hall. F. Talfourd Dormest. Manns. Amus. ii. (1839) 7 Her manner was easy and graceful, with a good deal of French tournure. 1878 Cornh. Mag. June 687 She had the tournure of a princess.

2. The turning of language or of a phrase; mode of expression. rare.

1824 J. Scott Vis. Paris (ed. 5) 194 The tournure of the phrase, when a woman is spoken to, cannot be mistaken.

3. Contour, outline, shape (of a limb, etc.).

1841 Lady Blessington Idler in France I. xv. 354 There was the same classic tournure of heads and profiles. 1848 Cloncurry Bothlen v. 112 The tournure of the elbow is shapely. 1864 Daily Tel. 5 Nov., You have..the exquisite tournure of a figure, the subtle trick of a ridiculous expression.

4. A pad worn round the waist or hips to give shapeliness to a woman's figure; also = Bustle sb.[2]

1874 Echo 30 Dec. (Stanf.), The tournure..is still worn. 1882 Daily News 3 June 3/2 The tournure is a small horse-hair pad, worn under the dress at the waist. It throws out the skirt from the figure.

Tourrette, obs. form of Turret.

† Tours (tŭrz). Obs. Also 6 Towres, 6–7 Towers. [Name of a city in France.] Used attrib. in names of things made at or associated with Tours; as Tours taffeta (also taffeta Tours).

1558 in Feuilleret Remèd. C. Eliz. (1908) 21 Taffita Towers white six yardes. Ibid. 38 The gowne lyned with white towres taffita. 1572 Ibid. 187 Of Taffata crimsin thirtie two yardes, of Taffata Tawnie Towers thirtie and sixe yardes. 1586 Rates of Customs B vij b, Tafata, called Towers Taffata the yarde iis. iiij. d. 1640 in Entick London (1766) II. 169 Tabbies of silk, towers taffaty, the dozen yards, 2*d.*

b. Tours sorrel, buckler-shaped or French sorrel, Rumex scutata.

1578 Lyte Dodoens v. ix. 558 Oxalis Romana, Tours Sorrel or Romayne Sorrel. [Ibid. 559 Romayne Sorrel..in Frenche Oseille Romaine, and Oseille de Tours.] 1611 Cotgr., Oseille Romaine, Roman Sorrell,..Tours Sorrell.

‖ Tourte (tuərt). Also tourt. [mod. F. tourte, now, a piece of pastry containing meat, fish, etc., eaten hot, a pie; dial. bread in the form of a disk, a round flat cake, also in transferred senses; in dial. F. torte, Sp. and It. torta :—late L. tŏrta a cake of bread, of uncertain origin. Cf. also Torta.] (See quots.)

1706 Phillips (ed Kersey), Tourte, (in Cookery) a kind of Pastry-work bak'd in a Pan; a Pie. 1725 Bradley's Fam. Dict., Tourte or Pan-pie, in general a Pie bak'd in a Pan, of which there are several Sorts. Ibid., To make a Tourte of Veal Sweet-Breads. 1762 Chron. in Ann. Reg. II. 34 The pheasant court was a discovery he made in Spain. 1895 Funk's Stand. Dict., Tourte.

Tourteaux: see Torteau.

Touse (touz, tous), sb. dial. [f. Touse v.]

1. Rough pulling about, horse-play; a 'row', commotion, uproar; an outcry, a fuss.

1795 Wolcott (P. Pindar) Lousiad iv. 173 Let's have no more touse. 1802 — Middlesex Elect. II. vi, Amongst the derty, lowzy crew, There's zich a touse and hullibulloo. 1835–40 Haliburton Clockm. (1862) 28 Marm Lecain makes such an eternal touse about her carpets. 1882 Jago Cornwall Gloss., Touse, fuss, row, uproar, hurry. 'Making such a touse'.

2. A tousled mass: in quot. of hair.

1894 Crockett Lilac Sunbonnet v. 43 With a touse of lint-white locks blowing out in the gusts.

Touse (touz), v. Now rare. Forms: (3 to-tuse, 4–5 be-touse), 6–7 towse, 6–8 touze, towze, 6– touse, 8–9 Sc. and north. dial. touze (tūz). [The simple vb. is known only from c 1500; but the compounds with be- and to- are found in ME. from c 1300, pointing to an unrecorded OE. tīsian*, ME. tīsen, tousen, cognate with OHG. -zūsōn zir-zūsōn to pull to pieces, MHG. erzūsen, er-zousen, Ger. zausen; also LG. (El'ris.) tūsen to pull or shake about, tease, treat roughly, NFris. tuuse to pull by the hair :—OTeut. vb. stem tīs-, closely allied in sense to tais-, whence Tease and Toze.]

1. trans. To pull roughly about; to drag or push about; to handle roughly; of a dog: to tear at, worry.

[c 1300 Havelok 1918 Bernard sone ageyn [him] nam Al totused and al to-torn. c 1400 Laud Troy Bk. 10314 Thei were alle thorow wet...Al be-rayned and be-touseid. 1509 Hawes Conv. Swearers xii, Beholde my body with bloody proppes endewed...Towsed and tugged with othes cruelly. 1567 Maiden Gr. Forrest B.b.b, There was a Dog...which at the first dash or onset...daunted and touzed the Lyon. 1590 Spenser F. Q. II. xi. 33 As a Beare, whom angry curres have touzd. 1633 Heywood Eng. Trad. II. Wks. 1874 IV. 56 The Cooke...did so Towse them and Tosse them, so Plucke them and Pull them. 1736 Mrs. Delany in Life & Corr. (1861) I. 556 To Court, where we were touz'd and hunched about to make room for citizens in their fur gowns. 1769 Peacock Lonsdale Gloss., Touse, to tug or pull about. 1898 T. Hardy Wessex Poems 66 When she used to sing and pirouette And touse the tambourine.

† b. To pull out of joint, to rack. Obs. rare.

1603 Shaks. Meas. for M. v. 313 To th' racke with him: we'l towse you Ioynt by ioynt, but we will know his purpose.

† c. To pull (a woman) about rudely, indelicately, or in horse-play; to tousle. Obs.

1623 Massinger Bondman I. iii, They are rough, Boisterous, and saucy, and at the first sight Kuffle and touze us. 1658 Ford Fancies III. iii, He towzes the lady's sleeves as a tumbling dog does young rabbits. 1675 Hobbes Odyssey XVI. 105 Maids touz'd ill-favouredly. 1719 D'Urfey Pills (1872) I. 93 And she...Still gave him leave o towze her. 1751 Eliza Heywood Betsy Thoughtless I. 71 He..began to kiss and touze me so, that..I was frighted almost out of my wits.

2. To disorder, dishevel (the hair, dress, etc.); to tumble, rumple (bed-clothes, sheets, etc.).

1598 Florio, Sparpagliare, to deshevell, to vnkembe, to touze a womans haire. 1647 Stapylton Juvenal 215 Though her...hair be towsd, her face and cheeks do glow. 1682 D'Urfey Butler's Ghost 149 A Rampant shaver,..with licentious hands does touze The Bridal Vesture of your Spouse. 1693 Congreve Old Bach. iv. viii, Oh the most inhumane barbarous Blackmoor-Coach! I am jolted to a Jelly! —Am I not horribly touzed? 1912 R. Macdonald First of Ebb xi, Upon the lap of Clothilde..lay the tousled, sleeping poll of the little Antoinette.

3. fig. To abuse or maltreat in some way compared to the literal senses. Now rare or Obs.

1530 Tindale Answ. More III. xiii. Wks. (1573) 321/1 There he bleth, sucketh, gnaweth, towseth, and mowseth Tyndall. 1593 Dravton Eclogues i. 59 Fortune, the World that towzes to and fro. 1609 Hy. W. Barlow Answ. Nameless Cath. 86 Hee hath towsed her in her Beastly bed; now hee runnes backe 70. yeeres, to towse her in her Cradle. c 1680 Hickeringill Hist. Whiggism I. Wks. 1716 I. 37 If they get a piece of a Text by the end..they do so tear it, and touze it, and towzer it..that they lose themselves. 1844 Blackw. Mag. LVI. 212 Invite especially those that have hitherto tightly toused, mocked, and scorned thee.

† 4. To tease (wool); = Toze v.[1] 1. Obs.

1599 T. Mouffet Silkewormes 4 Deuising beetles, backels, wheeles, and frames, wherewith they touze, spin, and weaue the same. 1601 Holland Pliny IX. xxxviii. I. 259 They let the wouli lie to take the liquor..: then they have it forth, touse, and card it. 1706 Phillips (ed. Kersey), To Tous or Touse Wool, is to Card or dress it.

† 5. intr. To touse each other, tussle; also fig.; in quot. 1607, to pull things about in disorder, rummage. Obs.

1542 Udall Erasm. Apoph. 25 While she & I be touzyng & topplyng together. 1606 Ford Hon. Tri. (1843) 16, I touze to gaine me fame and reputation. 1607 Dekker & Webster Northm. Hoe III. Wks. 1873 III. 41 Sweet limes shee..opend her chests, touz'd among her linnen. 1681 Otway Soldier's Fort. I. i, To see a pretty Wench and a young Fellow touze and rouze and frouze and mouze.

Hence Toused (touzd) ppl. a., Tou·sing vbl. sb. and ppl. a.

a 1550 Jack Juggler (1873) 66, I haue forgotten with tousing by the here, What I deuised to say a lytle ere. 1582 Stanyhurst Æneis I. (Arb.) 21 Hee noted Aeneas his touzed tost mauye to wander. 1682 Mrs Behn City Heiress 21 Be sawcy, forward, bold, towzing, and lewd. 18.. Moore Moral Positions iii, To guard the frail package from tousing and routing. 1912 Toused [see sense 2].

Tou·sle, tou·zle (see next), sb. [f. next.]

1. A struggle, a tussle; a rough romping with a woman. Sc.

1788 R. Galloway Poems 214 For tho' I be baith blyth and canty, I ne'er get a touzle at a'. 1814 J. Boswell Justiciary Op. (1826) 11 A chield had taen a glass, and had A towzle wi' a gauger. 1839 Galt Lawrie T. vii. vi, Ye're no' a pin the worse of all the bit touzle.

2. A tousled mass or mop (of hair).

1880 Daily Tel. 26 Nov., The eyes peeping out from under the overshadowing touzle, like young birds through a hedge. 1887 Rlg. Warden Scheherazade ii, The thick touzle of hair..was entirely innocent of curling tongs.

3. attrib. and Comb., as tousle-haired, -headed adjs.

1880 Cornh. Mag. Feb. 136 A couple of bare-armed touzle-headed viragoes. 1898 Westm. Gaz. 8 Dec. 9/1 Cattle of all kinds... Touzle-haired, tawny Highlanders with great sweeping horns, polled Galloways with coats like black astrachan.

Tousle, touzle (tau·z'l, Sc. tū·z'l), v. Forms: 5, 8 tousel, (5 Sc. towsill, 7 -ell, 9 towsel), 6- touse; 7- touzle, (8–9 towzle, 9 -zel, Sc. and north. toozle). [Iterative of Touse v.: see -le 3. Cf. LG. tüseln (Brem. Wörb.); Oberd. zusseln, süsseln (Doornkaat-Koolman).]

1. trans. To pull about roughly; to handle (esp. a woman) rudely or indelicately; to disorder, dishevel (the hair, clothes, etc.); = Touse v. 1, 1 c, 2.

a 1440 Sir Degrev. 1492 Fayre scheuus of sylk..Quyltes poyned of that yilk Tousseld they ware. c 1475 Rauf Coilzear 432 For to towsill me or tit me, thocht foull be my clais, Or I be dantit on sic wyse, my lyfe salbe lorne. a 1585 Montgomerie Flyting 362 Tousled and tuggled with towne tykes. 1642 H. More Song of Soul ii. 1. xiv, His rugg'd flowing mane, Which the fierce winds do tosse and tousell sore. 1725 Ramsay Gentle Sheph. iv. i, I have towzled his harigalds a wee! 1764 Foote Mayor of G. i. 1, Come, Jane, give me my wig; you shall, how you have touzled the curls. 1839–40 W. Irving Wolfert's R. xix. (1855) 181 [He] kissed and tousled the young vrouws. 1884 Harper's Mag. Aug. 464/1 Romping with the dogs, tousling a big St. Bernard.

b. With about, out, up.

1816 Scott Antiq. ix, After they had touzled out mony a leathr poke-full o' papers. 1822 W. Irving Bracch. Hall xxxviii, Mrs. Hannah..being tossed and tousled about by the crowd. 1883 Mem. S. Miller Pref. 20 [She] requested us ..if she should be drowsy to be sure and 'touzle' her up.

2. fig. = Touse v. 3.

1826 J. Wilson Noct. Ambr. Wks. 1855 I. 260 Hoo your een sparkle as you touzle the clergy. 1900 Hare Story my Life VI. xxv. 188 Religion worried and touzled by a thousand million vagaries of personality.

2. intr. To toss oneself about; also, to rout, rummage (cf. Touse v. 5).

1852 Mrs. Stowe Uncle Tom's C. xxxvii, Tom Loker we left groaning and touzling in a..clean Quaker bed. 1880 Baring-Gould Mehalah xxiv, Do you think she is to come here touzling about among the wittles in her best gown?

Hence Tou·sling, tou·zling vbl. sb.

1749 Fielding Tom Jones xvii. xii, Damn me, if he shan't ha the tousling her. 1771 E. Long Trial Dog 'Porter' in Hone Every-day Bk. (1827) II. 202 Tearings, woundings, pullings,...touzlelings,..malicious ly inflicted. 1865 R. Burnett Walk Land's End 284 What tugging and touzling, and pinching and pulling at the tail he [a dog] will take.

Tousled, touzled (tau·-, Sc. tū·z'ld), ppl. a. [f. Touse v. + -ed 1.] Disarranged, dishevelled, tumbled; also shaggy, matted.

1848 Dickens Dombey xxv, Rob the Grinder..stood then, panting at the captain, with a flushed and tousled air of bed about him. 1852 Mrs. Stowe Uncle Tom's C. ix, A very heavy mat of sandy hair, in a decidedly tousled condition. 1861 Crt. Life at Naples II. 2 Prudent mammas carried off reluctant daughters, whose touzled dresses, disordered hair, and heavy eyelids bore witness..to the wisdom of the measure. 1890 W. Booth Darkest Eng. 104 A grimy footsore tramp..with filthy shirt and towselled hair.

b. Comb., as tousled-headed, -looking adjs.

1860 Dickens Uncomm. Trav. xiii, The touzled-headed man..hadn't got his coat on yet. 1883 Cleland Inchbracken xiii. 105 A damp and tousselled-looking youth, who grasped his dripping 'Tam o' Shanter' tightly in both hands.

‖ Tous-les-mois (tu:lemwā). [F., = 'all the months, every month'; but probably a popular perversion of toloman, according to Duss and Jumelle the name in the French Antilles, prob. of native S. American origin.] The name in St. Kitts, etc., of species of Canna, esp. C. edulis, and of the starch obtained from its root-stocks, also called tous-les-mois starch.

Canna coccinea was introduced into W. Indies from S. America in 1731: C. edulis from Peru in 1820 (A. W. Hill, Kew). Samples of the farina were sent to England from St. Kitts in 1835–6: see Ryan's Med. & Surg. Jrnl. Aug. 1836, and Morning Chron. 4 Aug. 1837.

1839 Olphers Lei. cited in Pharm. Jrnl. VII. 56 (On the Canna Achira or Tous les Mois). 1858 Hogg Veg. Kingd. 787 The article known as Tous-les-mois is obtained from the root-stocks of some species of Canna...The substance is prepared in the island of St. Kitts. 1861 Bentley Man. Bot. 669 One or more species of this genus [Canna] yield 'Tous les mois', a very pure and useful starch, now largely consumed in this country and elsewhere. 1867 J. Hogg Microsc. i. ii. 133 The larger-grained starches form splendid objects; tous-les-mois being the largest may be taken as a type of all the others.

Tously (tau·zli), a. Also tousley, towsly. [f. Tousle sb. or v. + -y.] Characterized by being tousled or dishevelled; having tousled hair or dress.

1891 Pall Mall G. 14 Feb. 6/2 Hither came the women, a blowsy, touzley crew, with mouth agape. 1905 Daily News 2 Aug. 6 One [humble-bee] with a tously yellow head and thorax and dark brown abdomen. 1911 Ibid. 7 Mar. 4 Why should a man send many men and teams of horses..to fetch towsly brown grass to clothe his town lawn?

† Toust, sb. Sc. Old Law. Also 6–7 towst, 6 towist. [a. AF. toste, touste (13–14th c. in Godef.), var. spelling of tôte, toute, toulte, tolte, 'enlèvement' = med.L. tolta, f. OF. toldre, L. tollĕre to lift, take away, raise: see Tolt.] An impost, rate levied, tax.

1574 Reg. Privy Council Scot. II. 408 Gif ony towst sould be takin of thair gudis. Ibid., The said towist and imposition. 1596 in Hunim. Burgh Trim. (1890) I. 85 Grant to the provost, bailies, council and community of Irwing..the toust, exaccion and impoist of all the following sorts of merchandise. 1598 in Reg. Mag. Sig. Scot. 1603. 513/1 Pro receptione cujusdam taxationis le toust and taxationis. 1620 Ibid. 777/2 Cum potestate..recipiendi parvas custumas ..le toust aliasque devorias nundinarum et portus.

Hence † Toust v., Sc. Obs. rare, trans. to tax; whence † Tou·sting vbl. sb.

1568 in Cadenhead Hist. Kirkb. (1843) II. 374 The taxing and tousting of her Majestie's baronis and other lieges, which are tousted for repairing of that which was so indiscreitlie of the patrimonie forsaid dilapidated.

Tousy, towsy (tau·zi, tū·zi), a. Chiefly Sc. and north. dial. Also 8 touzie, 9 touzy, towzy, -sie, toosy. [f. Touse v. + -y.] Dishevelled, unkempt, tousled; shaggy, rough. Also in comb.

1500–20 Dunbar Poems xviii. 32 And be I ornat in my speiche, Than Towsy sayis, I am sa streiche.] 1786 Burns Twa Dogs 33 His breast was white, his touzie back Weel clad wi' coat o' glossy black. 1820 Blackw. Mag. May 150/1 Like yere ain towsie hassock o' hair, that has nae been kamed since Kate Kimmer kamed it with the three-footed stool. 1826 J. Wilson Noct. Ambr. Wks. 1855 I. 180 What an outlandish, toosy-headed, wee sun-burnt deevil o' a lassie that. 1871 C. Gibson Lack of Gold xiv, His hair was long and 'touzy'.

Tout (tout), sb.[1] Also 8 toute. [f. Tout v.[1]]

1. A thieves' scout or watchman. slang.

1718 C. Higden True Disc. 13 (Farmer) He is a pushing touts, alias thieves' watchman, that lies scouting in and about the City to get and bring intelligence to the thieves.

2. One who solicits custom: = Touter 1.

1853 Household Words VII. 26/1 Touts and spungers to foreign hotels and on foreign visitors. 1879 Sala Paris herself again (1880) II. xi. 163 A regular house to house visitation was made..by touts or agents of the insurers. 1881 Besant & Rice Chapl. of Fleet i. vi, Ludgate Hill, where the touts of the Fleet parsons ran up and down. 1881 Hughes Rugby, Tennessee 34 The hotel touts rush on you.

3. (More fully racing tout.) One who surreptitiously watches the trials of race-horses, so as to gain information for betting purposes: = Touter 2.

1865 Slang Dict., Tout, in sporting phraseology, signifies an agent in the training districts, on the look-out for information as to the condition and capabilities of those horses entering for a coming race. 1887 Black Sabina Zembra I. vi, 'Is..don't object to seeing the touts coming about; it shows they think we have some horses worth watching.'

4. The action of Tout v.[1]; in phrase to keep (the) tout, to watch. slang.

1812 J. H. Vaux Flash Dict. s. v., To keep tout, is to look out or watch, while your pall is effecting any private purpose. A strong tout, is strict observation or eye, upon any proceedings, or persons. 1834 H. Ainsworth Rookwood iv. ii, [They] on each other kept the tout.

Tout (tout), sb.[2] Sc. Also towt. [Origin obscure: cf. Tout v.[2]]

1. A fit of ill humour; a transient displeasure; a pet.

1787 Shirrefs Jamie & Bess i. ii, Were he ay sae, he then wad ay be kind, But then gudwife mun tak' the change fan mind. 1818 Scott Br. Lamm. xii[i], He taks the tout at every bit lippening word. 1835 Carrick Laird of Logan (1841) 76 Leezie was..discontented, and subject to bits o' touts now and then.

2. A fit or slight bout of illness.

1808–18 Jamieson, Tout, towt, an ailment of a transient kind. 1823 Galt Entail II. ii. 12 It's neither the t'ane nor the t'ither, but just..a bit towt that's no worth the talking o'. 1841 Miss Ferrier Destiny lxxvi, The baby had a sad towt with its teeth. 1855 Mucklebackit Rhymes 219 (E.D.D.) She teuk the tout, near Galashiels,..She dee'd that vera nicht.

Tout, sb.[3] [? Fr. tout all.] A term for a specially successful result in certain games: see quots. and cf. Littré s. v. Tout 47.

1698 Dryden Limberham iv. ii, Well, I have won the Party and Revenge however: A Minute longer, and I had won the Tout. 1687 Sedley Bellamira iv. i, I lost three sets at back-gammon, and a tout at trick-track, all ready money. 1891 Cent. Dict., Tout 3. In the game of solo, a play when one person takes or proposes to take all the tricks.

Tout (tout), v.[1] Forms: 4–5 tute(n, 7- tout. [ME. tūte-n, pointing to an OE. tūtian*, synonymous with OE. tōtian, Tout v.[2], and OE. tȳtan :—tūtjan*. (For etymological relations, and cognate words in the other Germanic langs., see under Tout v.[1]) As used in ME., tūte-n was identical in sense with tōten, Tout v.[2], sense 2; the two forms occur even as textual variants: see the first quotation in sense 1. The mod.Eng. form tout was in use before 1700 as a cant or slang word, whence the later sense-development, which has differentiated the word from Tout.]

† 1. intr. To peep, peer, look out; to gaze; = Tout v.[2] 2. Obs.

a 1400–50 Alexander 694 (Ashmole) Anec[tanabus] ..treyned doune fra pe toure to tute in pestemes [Dubl. MS.] to tote on pe sterneis]. Ibid. 4776 (Ashm.) Pe kyng in his caban with his knigtis he ligis. Tentand out of his tentis. c 1603 T. Cartwright Confut. Rhem. N. T. (1618) 192 Dare you also affirme, that the soules in hell have the same knowledge, by touting into the diuell? 1676 Coles Dict., Tout, to look out or upon.

2. To keep a sharp look-out or watch; to take heed; to be on the look-out. Thieves' cant.

a 1700 B. E. Dict. Cant. Crew, Tout, to look out Sharp, to be upon one's Guard. 1728 [De Foe] Street Robberies Consider'd, Tout, take heed.

2. trans. To watch, spy on. slang.

a 1700 B. E. Dict. Cant. Crew, Tout the Cully, Eye those folks which way they take. 1812 J. H. Vaux Flash Dict., Tout, to tout a person, is to watch his motions. 1832 Examiner 67/1 Two of them were sent forward..in disguise, to tout (watch) the door of the house. 1870 Sat. Rev. 2 Apr. 445 But..the Prince of Wales is touted, Mr. Gladstone is touted, their minutest actions are eagerly watched and regularly reported; why should not we be allowed to procure similar information about race-horses?

b. To watch furtively or spy upon (a race-horse or his trainer) with a view to using or disposing of the information for betting purposes.

1812 Sporting Mag. XXXIX. 283 He made it his business to be at the Wheat Sheaf public-house..to tout Mr. Prince, who had the mare under his training. 1870 Sat. Rev. 2 Apr. 445 The touting of race-horses is practised, not to gratify curiosity, but as an aid to gambling. 1894 M. H. Hayes Men & Horses vi. (ed. 2) 94 With the fear of being touted ever on them, the Newmarket trainers are..shy of strangers. 1895 Westm. Gaz. 2 Oct. 7/3 One of the most assiduously 'touted' animals at Newmarket during the last fortnight has been M. Aumont's Dormeuse.

3. intr. To look out busily for customers; to solicit custom, employment, etc. importunately; also, Colonial and U.S., to canvass for votes.

1772–54 [see Touting, Touter 1]. 1837 Dickens Pickw. x, Doctors' Commons..! wot porters..as touts for licences... Two coves in white aprons—touches their hats ven you walk in—' Licence, sir, licence?' 1847 Ale. Smith Chr. Tadpole xix, He used to go backwards and forwards..to tout for customers. 1857 Kingsley Two V. Age x, I am to tout for introductions for you? 1869 Rogers Hist. Gleanings (1870) II. 200 Before Lord Hardwicke's Marriage Act, a particular class of clergymen, not..in very good repute, touted for marriage-fees. 1881 Nation (N. Y.) XXXII. 397 It has never occurred to him that people would be shocked by seeing him 'tout' at Albany. 1891 Melbourne Argus 28 Sept., He should have gone round cap in hand and touted for votes. 1898 J. Hollingshead Gaiety Chron. ii. 119 The same way as postmen tout for Christmas boxes.

Hence Tou·ted, Tou·ting ppl. adjs.

1812 Sporting Mag. XXXIX. 283 An object worthy the consideration of the touting firm. 1895 [see 2 b].

Tout (tout, tūt), v.[2] Sc. Also towt. [Origin of sense 1 obscure. Sense 2 evidently goes with Tout sb.[2], and may be a different word from 1.]

1. trans. To toss or throw about in disorder. Also fig. to canvass, discuss.

a 1568 Bannatyne Poems (Hunter. Cl.) 408/28 To spill the bed it war a pane, Quoth he, the laird will nocht be fane, To fynd it towtit and ourtred. 1596–7 J. Melvil Diary (Wodrow Soc.) 410 We perceave the purpose is hot to canvess and towt our matters heir at vnhyl, thairfter mon of lytle skill and les conscience may decern in to tham as they pleis. 1812 P. Forbes Poems 38 (E.D.D.) [He] lang an' sair the claise did tout, Dreaming o' an invasion An' fights yon night. 1899 J. Lumsden Kittin. Poems & Songs 250 Their waters mountain high Uprear in never-ending wars And tout the ships an' flout the sky As if they'd quench the eternal stars.

2. To irritate, vex, tease. Cf. Tout sb.[2]

1725 Ramsay's Gentle Sheph. 718 (E.D.D.) Loch preserve us, bless! At thys tym; and swa towtit! 1832 Carrick in Whistle-Binkie Ser. ii. (1853) 124 Weel, weel, Janet, dinna be sae touty about it—I was awa' at a burial. 1887 P. M'Neill Blairwerie 61 If Boo touttit you, very likely ye hae been toutin' him too.

b. intr. (See quot.)

1825 Jamieson, Tout, to be seized with a sudden fit of sickness [or] ill humour.

Tout, obs. f. Taut, Taught; var. Toot.

Toutach, obs. form of Touch.

† Toute. Obs. Also 5–6 towte. [Derivation obscure: ME. toute answers to an OE. tūte*, belonging to the root tūt-*, to stick out, project: see Note to Toot v.[1]] The buttocks, fundament, posteriors, rump.

c 1305 Land Cokayne 136 He [the abbot] takep maidin of pe toute And turnip vp her mouse And betip pe taburs wip is hond To make is monkes lip to lond. c 1386 Chaucer Miller's T. 626 Of gooth the skyn an hande brede aboute, The hoote kultour brende so his toute. c 1450 Cokewolds Dance 120 in Hazl. E. P. P. I. 43 To vse well pe lechers craft, With rubyng of ther toute. c 1460 Towneley Myst. ii. 63 Com nar, & other drife or hald, and kys the dwills toute.

Toute, var. Tot sb.[1] Obs., fool; obs. f. Tout sb.[1]

Touteau, obs. erron. form of Tourteau.

Tout ensemble: see Ensemble B.

Touter (tou·tər). [f. Tout v.[1] + -er 1.]

1. One who touts or canvasses for customers or clients; = Tout sb.[1] 2.

a 1754 Richardson Corr. (1804) III. 316 Here [Tunbridge Wells] are a parcel of fellows, mean traders, whom they call touters, and their business touting..riding out miles to meet coaches and company coming hither, to beg their custom while here. 1762 Derrick Lett. (1767) II. 49 The tradesmen of Tunbridge Wells, who use this silly practice [of waylaying visitors to solicit their custom] are called Touters or Touters. 1844 Thackeray Wand. Fat Contrib. i, Touters were about seizing upon the passengers and recommending their hotels. 1881 Nation (N. Y.) XXXII. 397 His performances at Albany as a touter for votes.

2. A spy upon race-horses; = Tout *sb.*1 3.

1812 Sporting Mag. XL. 200 A touter, that is, a person who hides up between the furzes on the heath to see the trials of horses.

3. A thief's scout; = Tout *sb.*1 1.

1844 Dickens Mart. Chuz. xxxvii, Thimble-riggers, duffers, touters, or any of those...sharpers, known to the Police.

†4. One who or that which watches; see quot. and cf. Tooter 1 1. Obs.

1867 Smyth Sailor's Word-bk., Tout, an old term for looking out, or keeping a prying watch; whence the revenue cruisers and the customs officers were called touters.

Touting (tou·tiŋ), *vbl. sb.*1 [f. Tout *v.*1 + -ing 1.] The action of Tout *v.*1 1731 Gentl. Mag. Sept. 390/1 Soon as they set Eyes on you, off flies the Hat, Does your Honour want this, does your Honour want that?...Now this, please your Honour, is what we call Touting, A Trick in your Custom to get the first footing. 1777 Antip. in Ann. Reg. 149/2 Touting at Tunbridge-wells means...inviting and bringing guests to their master's house. 1820 W. C. Oulton Pict. Margate 47 This practice, called by the inhabitants touting, is exceedingly troublesome to strangers upon their landing at Margate. 1883 Manch. Exam. 26 Nov. 5/1 If there was any touting for the Irish vote at York. 1894 M. H. Hayes Men & Horses vi (ed. 2) 93 The disease of touting is endemic in Newmarket.

Touting, *vbl. sb.*2, in touting-hen: see Toot, Tout *v.*3 Toutsayne, early form of Tutsan.

Toutwad, Touzle: see Toward, Tousle.

†Tovet. Obs. local. Forms: 6 tolvet, -vett, 7 talvett, tovit(t, 7–8 tof(f)et, 7–9 tovet: also 9 tavort, tobit, tofet, toflet (Eng. Dial. Dict.). [A local word of Kent; evidently the same as tolfat (see Toll *sb.*1 3).] A measure of two pecks or half a bushel.

1522 [see tolfat s. v. Toll *sb.*1 3.] 1580 MS. Acc. St. John's Hosp., Canterb., Paied .for a tolvet of malt in drynk vj d. 1587 Ibid., For iij tolvetts of otemele xvij d. 1547 [see tolfat, as above]. 1618 MS. Acc. St. John's Hosp., Canterb., When he brought the iij tovetts of malt, iij d. 1629 Ibid., For a taluett of wheate ij s ij d. 1639 Ibid., Payed for meninge of a toutit ij d. 1674 Jeake Arith. (1696) 81, 1 Bushel 2 Tovits or Half bushels, 1 Tovit 2 Pecks. 1674 Ray S. & E. C. Words 77 A Tovet or Tofet, half a bushel: Kent. 1695 Birchington Par. Acc. in Archæol. Cant. XII. 407 For three tovets of hair. 1777 Ann. Reg. n. 149 Tovet..in Kent means two pecks.

Tovore, variant of Toforе Obs., before.

Tow (tōu, Sc. tou, tou), *sb.*1 Forms: 4–7 towe, (5 towe, 6 toa, 7–8 toe), 5–6 tawe, 5– tow. [Known only from last quarter of 14th c. Origin doubtful; perh. related to ON. tó, n. unclassed wool or flax, unworked fibre of thread; which is doubtfully connected with OE. towu* spinning, weaving, in towcreft, towhäs, and towlic fit for spinning, textile, and obs. MDu. touwen to knit, to weave (Kilian). The original sense may have been 'textile fibre' generally.

Kilian has 'Touw Fris. Ang. j. werck, Stupa'; and 'Tauew j. towe'; also, 'Werck, Stupa, lini stupa, linum vile, lini purgamentum, lana crassior & recrementitia,' which evidently agrees with our word; but no such word has been found in Fris., and the value of Kilian's entry is uncertain.]

†1. app. The unworked stem or fibre of flax, before it is heckled. Obs. rare—1.

c 1400 Maundev. (Roxb.) xi. 49 Raab..hat ressayued þe messangers of Israel. .and seled [v.r. feled] þam in hir hous amang towe of lyne [cf. Vulgate Josh. ii. 6 operuitque eos stipula lini; Wycliff, couerd hem with stuffe of flaxe].

2. The fibre of flax, hemp, or jute prepared for spinning by some process of scutching.

1377 Langl. P. Pl. B. xvii. 245 Ac hew fyre at a flynte fowre hundreth wynte But þow haute towe to take it with tonge or bronches Al þi labour is loute. c 1385 Chaucer L. G. W. 2004 (Ariadne) Ballis ek also Of wex & tow [v.r. towe]..To slake his hungir & encoumbre his teth. c 1440 Promp. Parv. 498/2 Toow, of a rok, or a roket (..K. towe of hempe, or flax, or ohyr like), penuum. 1545 Rates of Customs c vij b, Towe tyme the .c. pounde iij s. iiij. d. 1599 A. M. tr. Gabelhouer's Bk. Physicke 38/2 Madefye heerin hempen ton, and apply.. rowndie about his heade. 1616 Surfl. & Markh. Country Farme 568 To the end that..in beating it with beetles, heckling and spinning of it, such filth may not remaine among the tow. 1674 Grew Anat. Trunks II. vii. § 13 The Qualities of the best Tow,..are that the Staple be long, small, tough, and white. 1725 Ramsay Gentle Shaph. II. ii. Gae break your wheel, and burn your tow, And set the meiklest peat-stack in a low. 1788 Burns (title) The weary pund o' tow. Ibid. i, I think my wife will end her life Before she spin her tow. 1825 Jamieson, Tow, hemp in a prepared state. 1839 Cundill. & Westmorld. Dial. 13 Tac..spin tow for bord claiths an sheets.

b. fig.; esp. in phrase to have tow on one's rock (distaff), to have business to attend to.

c 1386 Chaucer Miller's T. 588 This Absolon ..hadde moore tow (v. r. towe) on his distaf Than Gerueys knew. c 1460 Towneley Myst. xiii. 389, I haue tow on my rok more then eiher I had. 1756 Mrs. Calderwood in Coltness Coll. Inct. (Maitl. Club) 155 'In good faith', says John, 'the Dutch has some other tow in their rock'. 1890 Doyle White Company v, They may find they have more tow on their distaff than they know how to spin.

3. More strictly, the shorter fibres of flax or hemp, which are separated by heckling from the fine and long-stapled, called line; = Hards, hurds.

1530 Palsgr. 183 Lines estoupes, a locke of towe or hurdes. Ibid. 282/2 Towe, estoupes. 1552 Huloet, Tow, stipa, æ, stupa, æ. 1601 Holland Pliny xix. i. II. 4 Tint part..which is utmost and next to the pil or rind, is called Tow or Hurds, and it is..good for little or nothing but to make lampe-match or candle-wicke. 1844 G. Dodd Textile Manuf. v. 165 The flax ceases to be called by that name after it has passed through the heckling-machines; the good portion is then called 'line', and the inferior 'tow'. 1893 Daily News 14 July 3/7 Prices of lines and tows unchanged. 1896 Ibid. 12 Dec. 8/6 Flax, tow, and codilla quiet.

4. attrib. and Comb. a. attrib. 'Of or for tow', as tow-beetle (Beetle *sb.*1), -card (Card *sb.*1 2 a), -quality, -waste; 'consisting or made of tow', as tow cloth, goods, hards, rope, sheeting, string, thong, weft, yarn. b. Comb., as tow-heckler; tow-coloured, -haired, -like, -made adjs. c. Special combs.: tow-head, a light-coloured head of hair; also an unkempt or tousled head; a person having such hair; spec. a local name in southern U.S. for Mergus cucullatus, the Hooded Merganser of North America, the male of which has a semicircular crest with a white patch; hence tow-headed a., having whitish or tousled hair; tow-wheel, a large spinning-wheel for making coarse tow yarn.

1602 Holland Pliny xix. i. II. 4 To be beaten and punned ..with an hurden mallet or *tow-beetle made for the purpose. 1801 Jas. Thomson Willy Wonder's Legacy xxv, A pair o' guide tow-cards. 1775 Cooke in Sparks Corr. Amer. Rev. (1853) I. 27 Such a demand for *tow-cloth for family use. 1822 J. Flint Lett. Amer. 232 A tent was dismantled of its tow covering. 1887 J. Asbury-Sperry Cucumber Chron. 5 There are six *tow-haired children playing beneath a guide-post. 1617 J. Barber Jun. Ling. 98 The remnants of *tow-hards..are turned into smoke, or burned in the chimney. 1884 G. H. Boughton in Harper's Mag. Sept. 530/2 The *tow-headed children rolling about in the orchards. a 1800 Peggie Suppl. Grose, *Tow-Heckler, a dresser of tow for spinning. North. 1907 10th Cent. Apr. 584 Her *tow-like hair was piled up with tortoise-shell. 1896 Daily News 12 Dec. 6/6 *Tow-made goods are selling freely in heavy makes for unions. 1336 Acc. Exch., K. K. 19/31 m. 4 (P.R.O.) In x. petris cordis de canabo..pro vno *towerong inde facienda. 1901 Crockett Raid xxxiii, Saunders Lennox's new rape will break many a promise on Monday mornin' by nine o' Kirkcudbright clock. 1776 Pennsylv. Even. Post 25 May 264/2 A pair of *tow trowsers. 1837 Civil Eng. & Arch. Jrnl. I. 79/1 Bags filled with clay and *tow-wastie. 1901 Mary E. Wilkins Parson Lord (ed. Tauchn.) 26 The great arc of an old *tow-wheel. 1780 A. Young Tour Irel. I. 262 The warp of *tow-yarn.

Tow (tōu, Sc. tou, tou), *sb.*2 Also 5–7 towe. [Known in Sc. use c 1470: not in OE. (exc. perh. in 'tōh-line remuleus', tow-line, in Wr.-Wülcker 182/32). Corresponds to OFris. tow (from 15th c.), WFris. tou, NFris. tau, táw, mod.Du. touw, early mod.Du. touwe (Kilian), MLG. touwe, touw, LG. and EFris. tau, whence mod.Ger. tau (1663 in Kluge); generally identified (at least the monosyll. forms) with ON. tog, Norw. tog, Sw. tåg, Da. tovg, tov, all meaning 'rope, cable, cord'; akin also to ON. taug-i, OE. téog, téah string, rope, Tie sb. The fundamental meaning was app. 'means for drawing', I. ablaut stem teuh-, tauh-, tuh- (log.) to draw: see Tee *v.*1 Rope. Chiefly Sc.

c 1470 Henryson Mor. Fab. v. (Parl. Beasts) xii, With towis proud ane paheoun can thay picht. 1513 Douglas Æneis v. xii. 163 Thair cabillis new, and thar heid towis reparis. 1534 Acc. Ld. High Treas. Scot. VI. 234 Cabillis and towis troch hame to the Kingis schip. c 1598 Lindesay (Pitscottie) Chron. Scot. (S.T.S.) I. 175 His handis bund with sic ane tow of hempt. 1646 Aiton Kirk Session Rec. in North. N. & Q. 28 For towes to the bell. a 1670 Spalding Troub. Chas. I (1829) 12 Upon Monday..at night, he came down over the castle wall, upon tows brought to him secretly by his wife, and clearly wan away. 1785 Burns Holy Fair xxvi, Now Clinkumbell, wi' rattlin tow [=bell-rope] Begins to jow and croon. 1828 J. M. E. Saxby Lairs of Lunda 117 She was scudding out the Voe, Erik steering, Bill at the tows.

b. spec. A hangman's rope, a halter.

1596 Dalrymple tr. Leslie's Hist. Scot. viii. ell. (S.T.S.) II. 56 The tow, quilkis he maid to hang vtheris in, him selfe was first caught in. 1822 Scott Pirate xviii, It can end in nauthing but trees and tows [= gallows]. 1886 Stevenson Kidnapped 50 There's many would like to see him getting in a tow.

c. In various specific or contextual uses (Sc. or Eng. dial.): e. g.

The rope or chain by which the weights of a clock are suspended (Sc.); a line or rope for sea-fishing (Oxney & Shetl.); the winding-cable for raising and lowering the cage, etc. in a coal-pit (Sc. and north. Eng.); a rope or chain for hauling timber (Eng. dial.); a line attached to the horns of the leading oxen in a South African team (also fore-tow).

1834 A. Smart Rhymes 136 Just pou' the tow up when ye bedde Wi' H. Maxwell. Sports & Adv. Scot. xv. (1855) 136 They prepare to set their towis, or lines, provided with ling hooks...The whole of the packies a boat carries is a fleet of towis. 1890 R. G. Cumming Hunter's Life S. Afr. (1900) 8/1 The twelve oxen are soon all securely yoked in their proper places; the leader has made up his 'fore-tow', which is a long spare rheim attached round the horns of each of the fore or front oxen. 1863 W. C. Baldwin Afr. Hunting viii. 257 When the front oxen had reached the boys, I shouted, 'Let go the tow, and get out of the road'. 1883 Gresley Gloss. Coal-mining, Tow,..2. A winding rope of hemp. 1884 W. Worc. Gloss. (Upton-on-Severn), Tow, a chain for hauling timber. 1893 Heslop Northumbld. Gloss., Tow, a small rope or painter. 1898 Daily News 25 Feb. 5/1 He went down with the first tow and found the fireman there.

†Tow, *sb.*3 Obs. locat. Forms: 5 toughe, 7 tawe, 8 tow. [Agrees in form and sense with Norw. toge (for togje), Aasen.] Orig. an iron chain, later, a large iron link, attached to the heel of the turn-wrest plough, and by which this is drawn. Also called tow-chain.

1407 in Kennett Par. Ant. (1818) II. 213 (Cxf. & Bucks.) Pro ino vomere et una culura et dinid. Toughe cum ano Plowsho emptis, xxviiid. 1607 J. Cardmeter Husbe Mens Plough 160 The Tawe, or that iron Rope which embracing the Beame, assureth it to the Tractory or Lambe. 1733 Tull Horse-Hoeing Husb. xxi. 302 The Tow-Chain which fastens the Plow-Tail to the Plow-Head. 1796 J. Hows Agric. Kent (1813) 52 The plough there being drawn by a long large iron link, called a tow, which comes from the axle of the carriage round the heel of the plough.

Tow (tōu), *sb.*4 Also 7 tawe. [f. Tow *v.*1]

1. A rope used for towing, a tow-line.

1600 Hakluyt Voy. III. 584 [The Phœnix] kept her company until the next morning, then taking in a small cable from her for a towe: but by 9..she spent her maine mast and split her foreyard, breaking also her tow. 1625 J. Glanvill Vay. Cadiz 61 We could not thus have fastned a towe unto her. 1669 Sturmy Mariner's Mag. I. ii. 16 Those that be on Shore may have a Towe, and be blest with a Rather; for we will stay for no man.

2. The action of towing or fact of being towed; chiefly in in tow, in the condition of being towed (of or by the towing vessel); esp. to take in tow (said of a ship, etc.): to begin and continue to tow, to tow.

1622 R. Hawkins Voy. S. Sea (1847) 226 The Daintie sayled badly, ..and with the advantage which all the South-sea shippes have of all those built in our North-sea, the admirall gave her a tawe. 1704 J. Harris Lex. Techn. I. s. v., Whatever is drawn after a Ship, or Boat with a Rope, &c. is said to be Towed after a Ship, or to be in her Tow. 1720 De Foe Capt. Singleton I. (1840) 4 As they were sailing away with our ship in tow as a prize. 1793 Smeaton Eddystone L. § 109 One of these blocks..is by a strong chain attached to the carriage, ..which is then drawn forward with the block in tow. 1865 Livingstone Zambesi xvi. 324 We took the hippopotamus in tow. 1872 R. Buchanan With Christ at Sea 151 The long upward tow was nearly at an end. 1902 Westm. Gaz. 11 Apr. 5/2 The worst weather experienced during the tow was a fresh gale and lumpy sea.

b. fig., esp. to take in tow, to take under one's guidance or patronage; to take charge of.

1789 Dibdin Poor Jack ii, Providence takes us in tow. 1790 Wolcott (P. Pindar) Advice to Future Laureat II. xxiii, Too proud for hands to take in tow my name. 1894 Fessenden Deuteron. (1869) II. 30 'I'll be will condescend, I trow Our commonwealth to take in tow. 1883 Gilmour Mongols (1884) 226 A young lama..took me in tow, and conducted me to all the tents. 1896 Mrs. Caffyn Quaker Grandmother 28 She set off ..to explore the world, with a one-eyed old aunt in tow, and a prize bull-dog.

3. A vessel taken in tow; also, a string of boats, barges, etc., being towed.

1805 in Nicolas Disp. Nelson (1846) VII. 189 note, Trinidada in tow. Employed knitting fore and mizen rigging, and securing the masts and tow. 1883 Fisheries Exhib. Catal. (ed. 4) 175 Methods of Crossing a Channel with Tows of Seals. 1883 Law Times 24 Nov. 62/1 The R. R., by reason of the inefficiency of the W. S. to command the seven tows, stranded and became a total wreck. 1888 Law Times Rep. LIII. 53/2 The schooner..having come into collision with a tug and her tow. 1897 Outing (U.S.) XXX. 120/1 The tow consisted of thirty-four boats towing four abreast, a floating village with its houses and families and small children. 1906 Rep. Comm. Canals, Min. Evid. 59, I have seen a tow of as many as 23 boats in the Bilsworth tunnel on the Grand Junction.

4. A vessel that tows; a tug.

1874 Bedford Builder's Pocket Bk. vi. 172 The heaviest boats should be nearest the tow. Weighted boats tow best.

4. attrib. and Comb. (or perh. from Tow *v.*1), as tow-barge, -horse, -man, -vessel; tow-boat, a boat used in towing; spec. a small vessel built for towing others, a tug; tow-car, on street-railways in U.S., a car which is towed by another, a trailer (Funk's Stand. Dict. 1895); tow-iron, in Whaling, the toggle-iron or harpoon to which the tow-line is attached (Cent. Dict. 1891); tow-post, a towing-post; tow-rail: see quot. Also see Tow-line, -net, -path, -rope.

1681 W. Robertson Phraseol. Gen. (1693) 1085 A *tow-barge. 1815 Massachusetts Statute 7 Feb., His patent steam *tow-boats..said patent bearing date the 2 day of April 1814. 1860 Merc. Marine Mag. VII. 99 Two powerful tow boats..are stationed at the bar. 1864 Carlyle Fredk. Gt. xvii. vii. IV. 590 New boatmen, forty new *towmen. 1908 Daily News 29 July 4 He braced his back against the *tow-post as he flicked the cleanings overboard. 1894 Pall Mall Mag. Nov. 380 A stout arched timber, reaching from bulwark to bulwark [of a tug], termed the *tow-rail. 1698 T. Sherry Naviig. Impr. 10 The *Tow Vessel in [16]82 drew but four and a half Water the Outside.

†Tow, *sb.*5 Obs. rare. local. Forms: 5 togh, 6 tow, towe, tawe. [Origin obscure: it cannot easily be connected with Tye, tie in same sense.] A pillow-case; cf. Tye *sb.*1 4.

a 1400 Boroughe Rtn. (Nasmith 1778) 268 Unam cimbam cum una togh de raychith. 1535 in Weever Fun Wills (1890) 95 A coffer, ij pelowtowes, a salte, a gyrdell. 1542–3 (Jan. 27) Will Y. Dowdynge, widow (Wells Prob. Reg.),

A syller, price of 7s: a pelow with a tawe. 1543 (Sept. 8) Will R. Arnold (Ibid.). A pillow with the tow.

Tow (tō), v.[1] Forms: 1 tozian, 3 tozen, 4 towen, 4–6 tou(e, 4–8 towe, (6 toagh, toogh, tough, 6–7 togh, toe; 6 taw, 6–7 tawe), 6– tow. [OE. tozian to draw or pull by force, to drag, ME. tozen, towen = OFris. toga to pull roughly, pull about, MLG. togen (early mod.Du. togen (Kilian)), OHG. zogôn to draw, tug, drag (MHG. zogen), ON. and Norw. toga to draw, pull :—OTeut. togôjan*, deriv. vb. from tog-, weak grade of ablaut-series teuh-, tauh-, tug- (tog-) to draw: see TEE v.[1]

†1. trans. To draw by force; to pull, drag.

c 1000 Passio St. Margaret in Assmann Ags. Hom. 178 And þa godes wiðerwinnan þa fæmnan zehmon, ut of þere byrig ingeneardelice hi tozoden. c 1175 Lay. 7556 Julius þat sweord heold; and Nennius þane sceald and longe þus i tozede. ?a 1400 Morte Arth. 3655 The maryner...Towyne trysselle one trete, trysseine vpe sailes. 1494 Acc. Ld. High Treas. Scot. I. 248 Item, for a rope...quhille was tookyne wyth towen of the tymmyr..ijs. iiij.d. 1581 STUDLEY Agamemnon III, They tough their oars and with their toyle they helpe the wynd and weather. Ag. 1583 STUBBES Anat. Abus. II. (1882) 50 What tricking & toying, and al to tawe out mony, you may be sure.

†b. To convey, carry. Obs. rare.

13.. E. E. Allit. P. C. 100 Jonas..Maches hym with þe maryneres, makes her paye, For to towe hym in-to Tarce; as tyd as þay myst. a 1375 Troyle & Criss. 374 Penne þul taken þis mon and towen him to þe temple.

c. To draw up or let down with a tow or rope. Sc. In this sense perh. directly from Tow sb.[2]

1596 DALRYMPLE tr. Leslie's Hist. Scot. (S.T.S.) I. 27 With long towis and Lathiris hatin donne thay ar towit vpe. 1755 Edom o' Gordon xxii. in Percy's Reliques (1765) I. 104 O tow me in a pair o' sheets, And tow me owre the wa.

2. spec. To draw or drag (a vessel, persons in a boat, etc.) on the water by a rope.

To tow (a boat) under water, to swamp by towing.

[1290 : implied in TOWAGE 1.] 1291 Earl Derby's Exp. (Camden) 23 Pro towing navem domini de la hauen apud Boston. a 1500 in Arnolde's Chron. (1811) 133 After tyme she was weyed and towed to the hauyn at Caleis. 1553 in Hakluyt Voy. (1904) V. 92 The boat which we took aseame from Jaffa). 1557 W. TOWSON Ibid. (1589) 117 Her rudder was broken, so that the Hart was glad to towe her. 1562 J. SHUTE tr. Cambini's Turk. Wars 34 b, They tawed the palandre after them. 1589 WARNER Alb. Eng. VI. xxiv. (1612) 144, I will ..toogh the Pinnesse of my thoughts to kenning of your eyes. 1591 SYLVESTER Du Bartas I. i. 578 He that..toghes against the tide His laden barge. 1597 J. KING On Jonas (1618) 56 They..laboured to toagh their ships to land. 1620 R. COCKS Diary (Hakl. Soc.) II. 112 I sent out 4 barkes to helpe to toe her. 1630 DRAYTON Muses Elizium II. 343 Swans vpon the Streame to tawe me, Stags vpon the Land to draw me. 1644 Z. BOYD Gord. Zion in Zion's Flowers (1855) 40 Pp. 7/1 In thy great Barge me togh against the tide. 1743 BULKELEY & CUMMINS Voy. S. Seas 143 We took from the Indians a Canoe, made of the Bark of Trees, but soon towed her under Water. 1769 De Foe's Tour GL. Brit. (ed. 7) I. 133 King's Ferry, where a long Cable of about 140 Fathom,..fastened at each End across the Water, serves to get over the Boat by Hand. ..The Ferry-keeper..is obliged to tow all Travellers over free. 1877 A. B. EDWARDS Up Nile vii. 174 Barges towed by government steam-tugs.

b. intr. To pull or tug as in trying to move.

1884 Law Times to May 26/2 A tug towed at her for an hour and a half before she was got off.

3. trans. To drag by or after a line. (humorous.)

1663 BUTLER Hud. I. ii. 1125 The Knight himself did after ride Leading Crowdero by his side, And tow'd him, if he lagg'd behind. 1767 LADY MARY COKE Jrnl. 29 July (1889) II. 68 Monsieur Wangenheim was towing up Lady Sarah, and complain'd it was hard work. 1803 SCOTT Lett. to Ellis 14 Oct., in Lockhart, A rosy lass..entered our cottage, towing in a monstrous sort of bulldog. 1883 W. H. Bishop in Harper's Mag. Mar. 503/1 A mounted Mexican towing a bull. 1884 Nineteenth Cent. 16 June 578/1 Mr. Cumberland, blindfolded, towed another dignified gentleman through the streets by a silken cord.

4. intr. or absol. To advance or proceed by towing or being towed.

1612 DRAYTON Poly-olb. ii. 451 When toglING vp that stream..shee yet continues her name. 1624 CAPTAIN SMITH Virginia III. vi. 61 He would..cause..divers of his Countymen helpe vs towe against winde or tyde. 1667 Lond. Gaz. No. 286/4 One of them endeavoured to tow after him. 1692 BLACKMORE Pr. Arthur I. 37 At last King Octa.. Commanding all to follow, tows away. 1720 DE FOE Capt. Singleton v. (1840) 90 We towed up as far as..our boats would swim. 1813 SOUTHEY Nelson I. iii. 143 The French vessels were allowed to tow out of the port of Genoa. 1894 [see TOW sb.[2] 3 b].

Hence Towed (tōud), Towing (tōu-iŋ) ppl. adjs.

1898 Daily News 4 Aug. 5/3 The river journey in "towed barges from Shellal to Wady Halfa. 1901 Westm. Gaz. 8 July 9/3 One tug, and one towed raft, two self-propelled rafts. 1795 Act 35 Geo. III, c. 106 § 23 For the making...a Way or Road for the "Towing Horses. 1842 BRANDE Dict. Sc., etc. s. v. Tow, As the vessel towed affects the motions of the other, much attention is required on her part to second the intentions of the towing vessel. transf. 1909 Westm. Gaz. 2 Feb. 4/2 To couple up a towing machine to a fully equipped [motor-] car by means of a strap.

Tow (tōu), int. and v.[2] a. int. A word used in calling a hawk, and in urging on greyhounds. b. vb. trans. To urge (greyhounds) on with this call.

1575 TURBERV. Falconrie 182 Make them come from it to your fist ..with calling and chirping to them, saying: Towe, Towe, or Stowe, Stowe, as Falconers vse. 1793 F. GROSE Olio (1796) 178 Towing on two greyhounds, the constant attendants on his steps, pursued the game. Note. Tow, Tow, used in setting on greyhounds in Gloucestershire.

Tow (tōu), v.[3] [f. Tow sb.[1]] trans. To comb or card flax; also, to reduce to the state of tow or fibre. Hence Towing vbl. sb., spec.: see quot. 1891; ‡towing-mill, a carding-machine: see quot. 1789.

1615 MARKHAM Eng. Housew. II. v. (1668) 134 That which comes from the flaxe being a little towed again in a pair of Wooll Cards, will make a course harding. 1789 Trans. Soc. Arts VII. 195 Mills..in Yorkshire..called Towing-Mills..worked by men turning them backward and forward, till the wool is sufficiently opened for use. 1891 Lond. Dict. Towing, in curled-hair manuf., the operation of picking to pieces the ropes of hair after they have been steeped in water and then subjected to slow heat [to give a permanent curl to the hair].

Tow, v.[4] Pottery manuf. [f. Tow sb.[1]] trans. To smooth the surface of (earthenware or china) when in the dry clay state before firing, by rubbing it with tow, sand-paper, or flannel. Hence Tow·er, Tow·ing vbl. sb.

1892 Daily News 23 July 5/4 Mr. Brewer, a factory inspector in the Derby district, calls attention to the probable extension of the method of putting a finer surface on earthenware, which is known as 'towing'. 1894 Labour Commission Gloss., Towers, ..pottery workers, who, when plates that are still unfired are dried till nearly all the moisture is out of them, pass over the surface while they..are rotating on a wheel a piece of 'tow', or sandpaper, to make them smooth.

Tow, obs. form of TOWGH, TWO.

Towage (tōu-ēdʒ). [Used in 13th c. in med.L. form towagium, in 13th or 14th c. in F. form touage, implying verbs med.L. towáire, F. touer. These verbs, however, have not yet been found at that date, and Hatz.-Darm. consider Fr. touer to be a deriv. of ON. toga to draw, pull; it might also be from MLG. togen: see Tow v.[1] The Eng. form towage appears in L. context a 1327. In mod. use it is felt as a direct derivative of Tow v.[1]

1. The charge or payment for towing a vessel (in quot. 1670, for permission to tow along the bank). Also attrib.

[1286 (Pipe Roll 14 Edw. I in Cange). 1290 Rolls of Parlt. I. 27/1 Cum Dominus Rex habeat & habere debeat Towagium navium & batellorum majorum & minorum in Aqua de Tyne, ascendendo versus Novum Castrum.] 1562 in R. G. Mantell Ord. Adm. (Selden) I. 64 Towage, sownage, and petye lodemanshippe with all other accustomed averages. 1670 BLOUNT Law Dict., Towage..is the towing or drawing a Ship...Also, that Money or other recompence, which is given by Bargemen to the owner of the Ground, next a River where they tow a Barge, or other Vessel. a 1688 DALLAS Stiles (1697) 414 Merchant of the said Towage, Rowage, Anchorage,..and other dues. 1755 MAGENS Insurances I. 72 To the petty, or accustomary Average..belong Lodemanage, Towage, and Pilotage.

2. The action or process of towing or being towed.

[1297 Boston Customs Acc. Customs, K.R. Bd. 5 No. 5 dorso (P.R.O.), In frectagio pro..lij. saccis et xx. pettis lane..et in toualagio victarum lanarum et in loademanagio..lxxj.s.. Item in primagio..ij.s.] a 1327 Acc. Exch. A. R. 17/34 m. 3 (P.R.O.) In towage eorundem [xl doleorum vinij per aquam ..de lostwithiel vsque Fawe ad nauem ..xii.s..iiij.d. 1612 COTGR., Touage, Towage, the towing of a ship by boats, or the interme of another ship. a 1690 JACKSON Creed xi. xliv. § 2 There is no possibility for two to go on breast, nor any room for steerage, but only towage. 1670 [see sense 1]. 1827 Blackw. Mag. XXI. 244 Under his towage we made way at a tolerably rapid rate. 1894 Times 12 Feb. 4/2 The Mosquito proceeded to tow the Cathay towards the Humber. The Cathay continued to labour heavily, and the towage required great care.

‖ Towai (tōʹwai). Also towhai. [Native Maori name. (Not to be confused with TAWHAI.)] A large New Zealand timber tree, Weinmannia racemosa, N. O. Saxifragaceæ, also called by colonists Black Birch.

1845 WAKEFIELD Adv. N. Zealand II. 95 (Morris) Its banks..are covered almost wholly with the towai. This tree has very small dark leaves. It is used for ship-building, and is called by Englishmen the 'black birch'. 1851 MSS. Wilson N. Zealand 43 The ake..and towai (Leptospermum racemosum) are almost equal, in point of colour, to rosewood. 1883 J. HECTOR Handbk. N. Zealand 132 (Morris) Towhai, Kamahi. A large tree; trunk two to four feet in diameter, and fifty feet high.

Towail(e, -aille, -ale, -all, obs. ff. TOWEL.

Towan (tou-ăn). Cornw. Also towin, tewen, tuan, tŭyn. [Cornish towan, Welsh twywn in same sense.] A coast sand-hill.

1803 FOLWHELE Hist. Cornw. I. v. 161 The green hillocks or levels of our downs in the vicinity of the sea. We call them towans. 1899 M. WALCOTT Guide Devon & Cornw. 529 The neighbourhood of Hayle is remarkable for sands composed of shells, the towans. 1888 JAGO Cornw. Gloss., Towan, towin, tewen, tuan, or tŭyn..are Celtic Cornish words for a dune or heap of sand. 1899 QUILLER COUCH Ship of Stars 19 He heard a horn blown somewhere high on the towans behind him.

†Towanite (tou-ănoit). Min. [Named 1852, from Huel Towan in Cornwall: see -ITE 1.] An obsolete synonym of CHALCOPYRITE.

1852 BROOKE & MILLER Phillips' Introd. Min. 182 Bornite ..occurs in beds and veins in the older rocks with towanite [etc.]. 1898 GURNEY Crystallogr. 79 Towanite or Copper Pyrites is a double sulphide of copper and iron.

Towar, obs. Sc. form of TOWER sb.[2], ⅔.

Toward (tōu-(w)ərd, tō-ərd), a. and adv. Forms: see next. [OE. tōweard adj., f. tō, To prep.+ -weard, -WARD. So OS. tōward, -weard, OHG. zuowart, -wert, adjs. In OE., when used attributively, inflected like other adjs.; when in the predicate, uninflected exc. with pl. -e. The advb. use appears to arise out of the predicative use of the adj., or from the neuter adj.]

A. adj. †1. That is to come, coming, future. Obs.

c 888 K. ÆLFRED Boeth. xxxix. § 1 Tacn þæs towardan welan. 971 Blickl. Hom. 15 Þe þisse ondweardan tide, þe eac be þaere towardan. c 1000 Ags. Gosp. Mark x. 30 On toweardre [Hatt. G. towearde] worulde ece lif. 11.. 12th Cent. Hom. xiv. 136 N-æfð he naefre þærof forsyfnesse, ne on þisse weorlde, ne on þa towardan. 1590 SPENSER F. Q. II. iv. 22 He, either envying my toward good, Or of him selfe to treason ill disposed. 1613 CHAPMAN Rev. Bussy D'Ambois i. i. The toward victor of the whole low Countryes.

†b. predicatively. Coming or going (to be), about to be, future. Obs.

c 888 K. ÆLFRED Boeth. xl. § 1 Ne hæt hwæt him toward bið, hwæðer þe god þe yfel. c 1000 ÆLFRIC Gen. xviii. 18 He ys toward on micelre mæðe. Ibid. xlix. 1 Ic eow cyðe þa þing þe eow towarde synd. 1000 Deut. xxix. 23 Eallum mannum, þam þe mu sint and þam þe towarde sint. c 1550 LD. BERNERS Arth. Lyt. Brytt. (1814) 48 And she grew and amended dayly, so that she was towarde to be fayrest creature of ye worlde.

†2. Approaching, imminent, impending. Obs.

c 890 tr. Bæda's Eccl. Hist. IV. i. (1890) 256 Hy nedde se towearda winter, þæt heo stille wunedon. 971 Blickl. Hom. 195 Forþon þe he mæ nolde ongytan þone toweardon deaþ. 1586 J. HOOKER Hist. Irel. in Holinshed II. 154/2 Dispatching also a messenger to hir maiestie of these toward broiles and rebellion.

b. pred. Now rare or Obs.

c 890 tr. Bæda's Eccl. Hist. IV. xiv. [xi.] (1890) 294 Mid þy he ..ongæt þæt him deaðes dæg toweard wæs. a 1000 Leechdoms II. xlvi. in Sax. Leechd. II. 256 Þæn hu sio ald toweard sie. 1387 TREVISA Higden (Rolls) V. 101 Also for weres and batailles þat were toward [L. propter imminentia bella]. 1462 J. PASTON in P. Lett. II. 121 Mak as merry as ye can, for ther is no toward sorowe yet no. 1494 FABYAN Chron. VII. 387 For so moche as wynter was towarde. 1582 N. T. (Rhem.) Acts xxvii. 20 No smal storme being toward [imminent] al hope was now taken awaye. 1600 SHAKS. A. Y. Like. I. iv. 35 There is another flood toward, and these couples are comming to the Arke. 1795 Monitord Castle II. 50 There was a trifling banquet toward, at which they would be glad of his company. 1877 BLACKMORE Cradock Nowell xviii. (Pop.) 1, Ah knowed fower weeks sin' at ther war a wedding toward.

c. In progress, going on; being done.

1838 CAROLINE FOX Old Friends (1882) 229 Louis Buonaparte has reached France from London to see what is toward. 1891 A. MURDOCH Yoshiwara Episode 60 News of the encounter that was toward had spread..., and all the inmates ..had pushed into the ante-room where the contest was in progress. 1893 RIDER HAGGARD Montezuma's Daus. xxi, A fierce hope smote me..when I saw what was toward.

d. 'Getting on', forward, advanced.

1893 Cornh. Mag. Nov. 522 Glidden's operations were well toward.

3. Of young persons: Promising, 'hopeful', forward; making good progress in learning or practice; disposed, apt, or willing to learn; docile. = TOWARDLY a. 2. Obs. or arch.

c 1450 S. Eng. Leg. I. 40/258 Swuch a child touward as þou art! loked. 1538 CROMWELL in Merriman Life & Lett. (1902) II. 163 On the behalfe of a ryght towarde yonge man, Edwarde Basbe, this Berer. 1598 B. JONSON Ev. Man in Hum. II. i, Where proving A toward imp. 1600-1 HEYWOOD 1st Pt. Edw. IV, Sirs, 1589 is a toward year. 1605 B. JONSON Staple of N. II. i, Vouchsafe my toward kinsman, gracious madam, The favour of your hand.

†4. Disposed to do what is asked or required; willing, compliant, obliging, docile. (The opposite of FROWARD a. 1.) Obs. or arch.

c 1440 York Myst. xxvi. 159 Goode sir, be toward þis tyme, And tarie noght my trace, For I haue tythandis to telle. 1472–3 Rolls of Parlt. VI. 6/1 Of their fre wille, toward, lierty and lovyng dispositions. 1532 CROMWELL in Merriman Life & Lett. (1902) I. 320 What thalbe your towarde mynde herein I pray you to Aduertise me. 1592 SHAKS. Ven. & Ad. 1157 Perueise it shall be, where it showes most toward, Put feare to valour, courage to the coward. 1713 STEELE Guardian No. 142 ¶ 3 Miss hath hitherto been very tractable and toward. 1738 tr. Guasco's Art Conversation 233 A Child of a toward Disposition.

b. Of things: Favourable, propitious: the opposite of unteward. rare.

1830 GLADSTONE Homer II. 100 She can order out a rattling zephyr ..or simply a toward breeze. 1868 — Gen. Mundi viii. (1870) 281 He too sends for the Greek ship a toward breeze. 1900 Daily Chron. 29 May 3/2 There are plenty of what we may call toward coincidences in Mr. Yoxall's book.

5. Left, as opposed to right. dial.

[From the fact that the left side of a horse, etc., is toward the person who mounts or leads it. Cf. NEAR a. 3.]

1866 BLACKMORE Cradock Nowell xxii, 'Mark, does Mr. Cradock Nowell generally shoot with cartridges?' 'He laiketh mostways to be with a cartreege in his toward barryel, sir'. 'Oh, keeps a cartridge in his left barrel, does he; and fires first the right, I suppose?' 1879 MISS JACKSON Shropsh. Wordbk. s. v. Prommet, A hinversfield term. Toert is left hand...'Theer, now yo'n chucked it down toert way'.

†6. ? Forthcoming, ready at hand; in existence, going'. Obs. (Quotations obscure.)

c 1350 Will. Palerne 1101 Of proude princes sones, douzti men toward, Fulle foure schore. Ibid. 1443 He has a sone dere, On þe triest man to-ward of alle douzti dedes, þat any man vpon moldie way of here. 1393 Langl. P. Pl. C. 1. 214 And 3ę route of ratons of rest men a-wake, Ne were be cat of be court And songe Kytones to-warde. c 1530 Lo. Berners Arth. Lyt. Bryt. cxiv. (1814) 540 And this chyld was the most fair chyld toward of the world, and wel fourmed, byg and mysthty. [orig. & si estoit l'enfant le plus beau qu'onques fut veu grand & gros & bien formé.] 1559 Aylmer Harborowe 12, I shewed you the lyke toward in a man of late.

B. adv. [Cf. MHG. suowart adv.]

1. In a direction toward oneself, or toward something aimed at. Obs. or arch. † Toward and froward (dial. fromward), to and fro.

a 1300 E. E. Psalter cxviii[i] 8 Ne-ward, fra-ward, forlete me noght. a 1400 in Halliwell Rara Mathem. (1841) 58 Come toward and go froward til pe perpendicle..falle vpon be mydel lyne of pe quadrant. Ibid. 66 Go toward and froward til bou se be toppe of bat thing in be mydel of pat myrure. 1470–85 Malory Arthur xiii. xvi. 534 He rode many Iourneyes bothe toward and froward. 1898 Bushnell Serm. New Life xi. (1869) 148 The motion is outward and not toward, as we conceive it to be in happiness.

b. To the left or near side (of a horse, etc.). dial. 1711 Lond. Gaz. No. 4917/4 The forepart of his Mane longest, the one part being short, lies toward, the other fromward. [Gloucester, Hampsh., Wilts, in Eng. Dial. Dict.]

2. Onward (in a course), forward (lit. and fig.).

a 1225 Lyrc. De Guil. Pilgr. 1229 At that throw wendyst ha be toward, Ys but a passage that goth bakward. 1590 Hawes Past. Pleas. xxx. (Percy Soc.) 148 The time renneth toward right fast. 1529 More Dyalogue Wks. 170/1 By that way, yt faith went well toward, and one heritage so tourned did turne many other. 1888 Berksh. Gloss., Toward, towards; forward. When a come a little tow-ard I could zee as 'twas a pawle cat.

Toward (tə·wɑ̃rd, tō·ərd, tō·ɑrd; tă·wō·ərd), prep. Forms: 1–2 toward, 2 touward, 2–3 touward, 2–4 to-ward, 2, 4–6 Sc. towart, (4 tawart, 6 Sc. touart), 3 (Orm.) toward, (3–4 to(-)war), 4–5 tward(e, 4–6 towards, 5 toward, to-wards, to ward, to-ward, (tow)or, 6 towards, tow(r)d, tward(s), 3– toward, (8–9 tow'rd, 9 dial. tow(a)rd). [OE. tōweard adj. To prep. -weard, -wārd; orig. the uninflected form or singular neuter of Toward a. In OE., originally followed by a genitive; later by a dative like the simple to. The first pronunciation figured above is now chiefly northern and (app.) American; the fourth is not recognized in any modern dictionary, British or American, nor app. by any orthoepist; but it appears to be the prevailing one in London, the south of England, and in Scotland, in the word. It was app. referred to in 1749 by Chesterfield Lett. 27 Sept.: 'The vulgar man goes to wards and not towards such a place'. It may have arisen from the analytical form in to ne onward, to hennen onward, in which to has its ordinary stressless pronunciation as a preposition; and, if so, may have existed locally or as an alternative form, esp. in verse, from the 16th c. So with Towards.]

1. Of motion (or action figured as motion): In the direction of; so as to approach (but not necessarily reach; thus differing from To prep. 1).

c 893 K. Ælfred Oros. v. 1. § 22 Þonne ærnaþ hy ealle towe rd þæm feo. c 897 — Gregory's Past. C. ix. 59 Þa ðe gaþ on rychtne weg toward þæs hefonrices. c 1175 Lamb. Hom. 3 Þe hiend mihlechedes to-ward hiere burh. Hego 2 Eng. Leg. i. 18 589 Þo þe deuelene comen toward him, huy ne mizten come him neiȝ. c 1375 Cursor M. 3356 (Fairf.) Quat mon ys þat comande tawarde [v. r. tilward] vs [Gt. towarte Sc. Leg. Saints xxxiii. (George) 84, Dacyans ... Towart his palace went.] a 1400 Destr. Troy 6112 Þo ledys..gon toward þe geekis. c 1470 Henry Wallace i. 98 Towart Dunbar without restynyd thail raid. 1552 Huloet, Torde, vide in toward. 1621 Burton Anat. iii. 1§ 1 presse toward the marke. 1725–40 Pope Iliad xi. 641 The steeds with sounding feet Shake the dry field, and thunder tow'rd the fleet. 1807 J. Barlow Columb. i. 504 Tow'rd the Northern sky..the Hero cast his eye. 1890 Morris Earthly Par. (1890) 23/2 The company of maidens drew Toward where they stood.

† b. pred. after to be: On the way to. Obs.

1297 R. Glouc. (Roll) 3560 Þe king was toward scotlond. c 1425 Seven Sag. (P.) 660 Toward the deth as he was..He mette with master Bauudilas.

† c. With implication of reaching; to. Obs.

c 1386 Chaucer Prol. 27 Pilgrimes were they alle That toward Canterbury wolden ryde. c 1425 XV Pains of Hell 238 in O. E. Misc. 218 Vp taward heuen þai con him bryng. 1440 Paston Lett. I. 40 This same weke shall he toward Fraunce. c 1500 Melusine 102 They departed fro Lusynen and canne to Poytiers toward the Erle. 1596 Shaks. Merch. V. iv. 1. 403, I must away this night toward Padua. 1611 — Wint. T. v. 1. 232 Vpon which Errand I now goe toward him.

2. Of position: In the direction of; on the side next to; turned or directed to, facing.

13.. Cursor M. 2471 (Cott.) Abram chese him toward be est. 1387 Trevisa Higden (Rolls) I. 235 Alway his face was toward pe soune. c 1400 Maundev. (Nokh) xxxii. 147 Pat tyme occupied Cristen men many cuntrees toward pase partiez. c 1482 J. Kay tr. Caoursin's Siege of Rhodes (1870) 7 to Aide fote of a hylle toward the West. a 1548 Hall Chron., Hen. V 55 When he entred into the chambre the dukes backe was towarde him. 1610 Holland Camden's Brit. (1637) 306 Under Suth-rey toward the South lieth.. Suth-sexe. 1760–72 H. Brooke Fool of Qual. (1809) I. 75 This needle..has never been turned the point. 1823 M. Arnold Scholar Gypsy xiii, Have I not passed thee on the wooden bridge..Thy face toward Hinksey and its wintry ridge?

† b. Beside, near; about, in attendance upon; in the possession of; with. Obs.

c 1400 tr. Secreta Secret., Gov. Lordsh. 110 And be gretteste with-holde toward pe. c 1400 Brut cxxxii. 136 Harolde..wolde nouȝt departe with his peple of þing þat he hadde gete, but helde it al toward [v.r. towards] him-self. 1433 Rolls of Parlt. IV. 423/1 Makyng þo þat beth toward hym to do the same. 1469 in Archæologia XV. 170 The oon key shall abyde toward the wardeyn, and the second toward the master abovesetd. 1601 Br. Andrewes Serm., Matt. xxii. 21 (1631) ii. 88 Herod and they that were toward him, being all that they were by Cæsar.

3. In the direction of (in fig. senses). a. gen.: esp. with words expressing tendency or aim, and followed by an abstract noun expressing state, condition, etc. (In quots. 13.. and 1553 'on the way to': cf. 1 b; in quot. 1600, 'to': cf. 1 c.)

[a 1225 Ancr. R. 120 Tu schalt demen þi sulwen wod, þo þu þer toward boteless.] 13.. Cursor M. App. ii. 790 (B. M. Add. MS.) What þinges þat I say may To myn felawis... That I was toward þi buriynge. 1426 Lydg. De Guil. Pilgr. 75 That folk may the Rybte weye se Best assuryd to-warde ther passage. 1553 Respublica iv. iv. 1126 So ye though oppressed with longe aduersitee, Yet doubte not, are towarde wealth & prospiritee. 1600 Shaks. H. V. L. ii. vii. 162 His bigge manly voice, Turning again toward childish treble, pipes And whistles in his sound. a 1677 Barrow Serm. Eccl. ix. 10 Wks. 1686 III. 224 Incessantly working toward the end for which it was designed. 1818 Southey Ess. (1832) II. 135 There is no danger of our proceeding in the same extreme. 1895 Whitney Life Lang. ii. 18 Tracing the history of words toward their origin. 1891 Mrs. Maude Pyrography i. 7 An immense advance has been made toward perfection.

b. With a noun or pronoun denoting the object of action or feeling: To; against.

c 1175 Lamb. Hom. 17 Gif we mennesceð toward him we sculen gan to bote. c 1200 Ormin 2601 Forr þho wass..milde & meoc & blibe, 3a toward Godd, 3a toward mann. 1390 Gower Conf. I. 122 Bot wolde god that grace sende, That toward me myhte wende, As I towardes hire wene. c 1400 Land Troy Bk. 10049 He is wel wroth toward his wiff. c 1460 Oeuney Reg. 123 The seruice..that þe saide chanons schall aquite towarde the Chefe lordes. c 1500 Melusine xxxvii. 297 Now haue I betrayed you..and haue forsworne my self toward you. 1601 Shaks. Twel. N. iii. ii. 13 This was a great argument of loue in her toward you. 1785 Liberal Amer. II. 226 To explain the real motives of his conduct toward me in America. 1813 Southey Nelson II. vi. 84 The policy which ought to be pursued toward the French in Egypt. 1867 R. Collyer Nat. & Life xiii. 247 This is the way in which I act toward my own children.

† c. With regard to, in reference to, respecting, concerning, about. Also as toward (cf. as to). Obs.

a 1240 Lofsong in Cott. Hom. 211 Opene ham [my wits] heouenliche king touward heouenliche pinges. c 1300 Beket 765 If þu wolt owȝt toward me, þu wost wel y ne mai nost tize. 1390 Gower Conf. II. 34 Wel me qweneth, That thou thinkest so muche toward this wyf. 1400 Rowlandson Wit Abide mai. 1433 Rolls of Parlt. IV. 423/2 As toward his abode here..he saide pat he knoweth [etc.]. a 1548 Hall Chron., Hen. VI 96 b, And as towarde the letter sent..vnto my lor. k of Bedford of the whiche tie tenor is before rehersed. 1564 Reg. Privy Council Scot. I. 285 Swa that na complaint salbe..maid to the Quenis Majestie towart the saidis contraversis and debatis. 1670–1 Marvell Corr. Wks. (Grosart) I. 160 On Monday next, when the House will probably proceed severely toward their penalties.

d. In comparison with: = To 18. Now dial.

1527–8 in Strype Eccl. Mem. (1721) I. App. xvii. 38 Which bookes..be not to be regarded toward the new printed Testament in Englishe. 1887 S. Chesh. Gloss., To'art as, in comparison with.

4. Of time: So as to approach; at the approach of, nearly as late or as far on as, shortly before, near.

14.. Torr. Portugal (E. E. T. S.) Fragm. ii. 511 It drewe towards the nygh. † a 1500 Wyclief (1828) p. ii, Towarde the laste dayes the kynge of the northe shall come. 1797 Holcroft tr. Stolberg's Trav. (ed. 2) III. lxxx. 240 Toward the conclusion of their independence. 1802 M. Cutler in Life, etc. (1888) II. 89 Gentlemen most accustomed to speaking, were principally to wait till toward the close of the debate. 1844 Southey Life A. Bell I. 54 Toward the close of October letters..had reached him by way of Glasgow. 1876 Stedman Victorian Poets 103 At dates well toward the mid-dle of this century.

5. † a. Of condition or quality: Verging upon, near; somewhat like, nearly, as if; toward blackness, somewhat or nearly black. Obs.

1533 Elyot Cast. Helthe (1541) N iij, Than the bladder is towarde any syckenes. 1562 Turner Herbal ii. 153 The Thlaspi y' cometh out of Cappadocia is toward blackness, and the seede is not fully rounde. 1568 Bullinger Horsemanship iv. iv. (1580) 3 It is best knowne, whether a Horse be sicke or not, or toward sicknesse, by these signes.

b. Of quantity: Nearly as much as, nearly.

c 1449 Pecock Repr. i. iv. (Rolls) 90 Welnyȝ or weel toward fifti yeres ago, with which Cristen men ben chargid. 1879 S. C. Bartlett Egypt to Pal. xxi. 453 They rise..toward a hundred feet above the plain.

6. In prospect of; in the imminence of; (as predicate) in preparation for. Obs. or arch.

1542 Udall Erasm. Apoph. 327 b, When Crassus was towarde a voyage against the Parthians. 1576 Gascoigne Steel Gl. (Arb.) 79 Towarde shipwracke, many men can pray. 1865 Swinburne Atalanta 877, [I] stand, girt as they toward hunting.

† b. Coming upon, 'in store for'; usually of evil; ready to fall upon, threatening. Obs.

1375 Barbour Bruce x. 82 Þai coth nocht persawe þe skaith Þat toward þaim was apperand. 1606 G. Woodcocke] Hist. Iustine xxvi. 94 By the inwardes of those beasts, perceiuing..that there was toward them a great slaughter. 1609 Holland Amm. Marcell. 399 All which.. plainely shewed, that this kind of death was toward him.

7. In the way of contribution to; as a help to; for the purpose of making up, promoting, assisting, or the like; for.

1468 in Blades Caxton (1882) 131 Hit is accorded that [they] shall haue in honde xl li sterling towarde thoire costs & charges. 1483 Cely Papers (Camden) 144 To pay thys hallf yerys wages..here ys nothyng toward hyt. c 1530 H. Rhodes Bk. Nurture 655 in Babees Bk. 100 Give the pore of thy good; Part thou therof toward their want. 1662–3 Marvell Corr. Wks. (Gros.) II. 85, I have writ this same..to prepare our correspondence toward your service. 1710 Swift Jrnl. to Stella 5 Oct., Here is two and eight-pence halfpenny toward your loss. 1828 Southey Ess. (1832) II. 273 Raising a fund..toward the expenses of removing paupers by emigration.

8. For to...-ward, separated by the sb. or pron., as in to us-ward, to God-ward, see -ward, and cf. To prep. 2 e.

To·wardliness (see next). Now dial. or arch. [f. Towardly a. + -ness.] The quality or character of being 'towardly'.

1. Good disposition towards something, willingness; spec. aptness to learn, docility, tractableness; forwardness in learning, 'promise'; ingenuity, proficiency: = Towardness 1, 2.

a 1569 Kingesmyll Confl. Satan (1578) 25 Such as haue no towardlinesse nor framing of their hearts..to do the will of God. 1603 Knolles Hist. Turks (1621) 360 [He] appointed eight hundred of the Christian children, in whom appeared most towardlinesse, to be brought up for Ianezaries. 1612 Bensley Lad. Lit. p. xxv, All scholars of any towardlinesse and diligence may be made absolute Gramarians, and every way fit for the Vniuersitie, by fifteen yeares of age. 1735–6 Carte Ormonde I. Introd. 65 The loss of his only son, a young gentleman of great and of great towardliness. 1830 Godwin Cleveley III. i. 3, I had children that improved every day in towardliness and beauty.

2 Favourableness, friendliness, affability.

1566 Q. Mary Let. in Sir J. Melvil's Mem. (1735) 114 Touching our Towardliness to them of the Religion. 1603 Knolles Hist. Turks (1621) 573 The great towardlinesse and courteous nature of the Turkish emperour.

3. Furtherance, advancement, promotion.

1553 S. Cabot Ordinances in Hakluyt Voy. (1589) 262 In towardlinesse of beneficial trade. 1623 Burton Exp. James iv. 16 Wks. 1871 IV. 394 If God sispend his concurrence, the creatures cannot act, at least not with any towardliness and success.

† 4. Likelihood, likely condition or position, prospect; in such phrases as in great towardliness, very likely. (Cf. Towardness 3.) Obs.

1579–80 North Plutarch (1676) 90 Cato put out of the Senate also, one Manlius, who was in great towardliness to have been made Consull. 1655 Owen Vind. Evang. Wks. 1853 XII. 192 The signs..that he would be exalted to a Kingdom. He was by them in a good towardliness for it.

Towardly (tō·ə(w)ɑrdli, tō·ɑrdli), a. [f. Toward a. + -ly 1: cf. OE. tōweardlīc that is to come, future (which did not survive into ME.).]

1. Likely to lead to a desired result; promising success, propitious; helpful, favourable, advantageous; seasonable, befitting. (Cf. Toward a. 4 b.)

1520 St. Papers Hen. VIII, II. 34 After ye shall have atteyned any towardly comfourte, this yere, to bring our rebellious subjectes there to summe obedience. 1644 Milton Areop. (Arb.) 59 What were there to such a towardly and pregnant soile, but wise and faithfull labourers? 1704 Swift T. Tub Concl. P 6, I have observed many a towardly word to be wholly neglected. 1825 Mrs. Carlyle in Froude Life Carlyle (1882) I. 322 Your counsellors..may be in the process of time rendered more towardly. 1884 Athenæum 15 Mar. 340 He must choose a towardly hour.

2. Promising, 'hopeful', forward; apt to learn, docile; chiefly of young persons or their dispositions.

1548 J. London Let. to Bp. Lincoln 25 Feb., in Lett. & Papers Hen. VIII, XLVIII. 90 (P.R.O.) Neuer..to calle hym nor any other cambridge manne vnto hys most towardely colledge [Christ Church, Oxford]. 1561 T. Hoby tr. Castiglione's Courtyer i. (1577) C ij b, One of the best fauoured, and towardlyest personages in the worlde, deformed and marred in his greene age. 1587 Fleming Contn. Holinshed III. 959/1 They..rode to Enfield to see the prince, a greatlie reioising..to behold so proper and towardlie an impe. 1627 Abp. Abbot Narr. in in Rushw. Hist. Coll. (1659) I. 451 He was my Pupil at Oxford, and a very towardly one. 1670 Milton Hist. Eng. v. Wks. 1738 II. 90 Then also I wish..mistaken, who write that Athelstan, jealous of his younger Brother Edwin's towardly Virtues, ..caus'd him to be drown'd in the Sea. 1712 Steele Spect. No. 263 P 1, I am the happy Father of a very towardly Son. 1863 Sat. Rev. 21 Mar. 368/2 He will be a towardly scholar under a willing teacher.

b. Of plants: Promising, forward. ? Obs.

1580 Lyly Euphues (Arb.) 451 Easterly windes blasteth towardly blossoms. 1664 Evelyn Sylva (1776) 303 Purge them of all superfluous shoots and cions, reserving only the most towardly for the future stem. 1676 Hale Contempl. II. 98 Towardly Plants, are they Death Transplanted into another Region, a Garden of Happiness and Comfort.

3. Well-disposed, dutiful, tractable.

1513 Douglas Æneis iii. viii. 70 Sen the sammyn four futtir beistis eik Bee foll vsit, full towardlie and meik, To fraw the cart, and thrill bridill and temp. 1601 R. Johnson Kingd. & Commw. (1603) 234 [A slave's] faithfulnesse and towardly disposiuon. a 1629 Hinde J. Bruen xx. (1641) 64 If hee saw them any more towardly, in duties of Religion. 1672 Eachard Hobbs' State Nat. (1705) 13 He promise you to be very towardly for the future.

b. Favourably disposed, friendly, affable. (Cf. Toward a. 4.)

15.. in Maton W. Counties (1797) I. 55 The ladi Elizabeth so towardli with the kinges honorable counselers. 1649 Daveman Law & Hon. III. iii, Good heart, it is As towardly an old thing! a 1674 Clarendon Hist. Reb. xiv. § 41 England proved not yet so towardly as he expected. 1893

Nat. Observ. 18 Feb. 340/2 The men..were very courteous, and the women very towardly.

To·wardly (see prec.), adv. Now dial. or arch. [f. TOWARD a. + -LY 2. Cf. OE. tōweardlīce, in time to come, in the future (which did not survive in ME.).] In a 'toward' or 'towardly' manner; with favourable disposition; willingly, compliantly, obligingly; docilely, tractably, submissively; with promise of good progress, promisingly: see the adj.

1481 Coventry Leet Bk. 484 Wherin ye shewed yewe yvyll benyvolent and towardly disposed. 1523 HEN. VIII in Ellis Orig. Lett. Ser. I. I. 238 Thanks unto all the lords, capitains, and other whiche..have right towardly, benivolently, and conformably served as under you in this Jorney. 1562 J. HEYWOOD Prov. & Epigr. (1867) 195 Wyll you reedes shrinke still to all windes towardly? 1597 MORLEY Introd. Mus. 55 To see my schollers go towardlie forward in their studies. 1704 PENN in Pa. Hist. Soc. Mem. IX. 342 If our friends will not behave towardly, I shall be constrained to break it. 1819 R. ANDERSON Cumbld. Ballads. 43 How towr'rdly she com heame! 1874 Daily News 12 Aug., Postmaster-General Lord John Manners hands in the Twentieth Annual Report of his office as towardly as if he had done nothing but deliver letters all his life.

Towardness (tō·w(ə)ardnĕs, tō̆·wardnĕs). Now Obs. or arch. [f. as prec. + -NESS.] The quality or condition of being 'toward'.

†1. Disposition, inclination towards or to do something; readiness, willingness. Obs.

1461 Coventry Leet Bk. 316 Trustyng .. that ye in so doyng shall thynke your true hartis and towardnesse right welle be-sette. 1530 TINDALE Answ. More xvi. Wks. (1573) 337/2 What good towardnes can we haue vnto the will of God while we hate it and be ignorauntherof? 1563 RANDOLPH in Robertson Hist. Scot. II. App. vii. (1759) 14 This queen being before advertised of his towardness, by many means, hath sought..to know my lord of Murray's mind herein. 1610 E. SKORY Extr. Hist. Hen. IV of France 2 His qualitie drewe him into the knowledge of the world, where his royall towardnesse begot him esteeme. 1692 BURNET Past. Care viii. 101 [This] may put some of them in a greater towardness to hear Reason.

2. spec. Willingness and aptness to learn; natural aptitude and good disposition; docility, tractableness; forwardness in learning or practice, 'promise'.

1509 FISHER Funeral Serm. C'tess Richmond Wks. 276 I. 292 In her tendre age she beynge endued with so grete towardnes of nature, & lyklyhode of enherytaunce. 1564 HAWARD Eutropius IX. 98 A yonge man of a wonderful towardnesse. 1601 FULBECKE 1st Pt. Parall. 24 Knighthoode is bestowed in regard of precedent merites, of noble eminent prowesse and towardnesse. 1671 F. PHILLIPS Reg. Necess. 222 That none should be admitted into any place within his House..but such as be of good towardness, likelihood, behaviour, demeanour and conversation.

†3. Condition or appearance of approaching in time, coming on or impending; imminence; likelihood, prospect. Obs.

1549 in Strype Eccl. Mem. (1721) II. 310 If there should be any towardness of a meeting..likely to take any good effect, they would certify him of it. a 1586 SIDNEY Arcadia IV. (1598) 392 O Mopsa, I pray you tell me what fashion Dametas, neuer in such a towardnesse of hanging, if thou canst not helpe mee. 1660 SHARROCK Vegetables 12 When the great frosts breake, at the first towardnesse to spring. 1721 STRYPE Eccl. Mem. II. 310 If there appeared any towardness of a good conclusion, he should be certified of it.

†4. State of advancement or forwardness; in (a) good (etc.) towardness, making good progress, getting on well. Obs.

1475 SIR J. PASTON in P. Lett. III. 122 All suche comffiorte as ye flynde or heer off the towardnesse therof. 1577 VAUTROLLIER Luther on Ep. Gal. 107 All things were in a happie course and great towardnes with you. 1579–80 NORTH Plutarch (1676) 225 All his doings, which were now so far onwards in good towardness.

Towards (tō̆·wardz, tō·ardz, tō·ardz; tăwō̆·ardz), prep. and adv. Forms: 1 towardes, 1, 6 to wards, 3-7 towardes, (5 -ids, -yds, towardes, 6 towerdys, Sc. towartis, 7 towardst), 5- towards, (7-8 tow'rds). [OE. tōweardes, f. tōweard, TOWARD a., with -es, -s of adverbial genitive: see -WARDS.

(As to varieties of pronunciation see TOWARD prep.)]

A. prep.

1. Of motion, etc.: In the direction of, on the way to: = TOWARD prep. 1.

c 888 K. ÆLFRED Boeth. xxxix. § 1 Hwy ne magon ge gebidan gecyndelices deaðes, nu he eow sæce deȝ towardes onet? c 1120 O. E. Chron. an. 1094, Se eorl inon Normandig..mid þam cynge of Frankrike ferdon to wardes Ou þær se cyng Willelm inne wæs. c 1205 LAY. 515 Brutus iherde seggen..þat Pandrasus þe king him towardes com Mid mucheleere ferde. 1442 T. BECKINGTON Corr. (Rolls) II. 190 Master John de Batone departed hens on Saturday at noon towards his country. 1538 in R. G. Marsden Sel. Pleas Crt. Admiralty (1894) I. 73 They made saile towards their owne countrey. 1552 HULOET, Towardes and toward. ..Yet marke the maner of phrase as you dyd in amonge & amongest. 1766 GOLDSM. Vic. W. x. The procession marching slowly forward towards the church. 1816 J. WILSON City of Plague 1. i. Every step I take Towards the city. 1860 TYNDALL Glac. I. viii. 59, I turned towards home.

†b. pred. after to be: On the way to: = TOWARD prep. 1 b. Obs.

1601 SHAKS. All's Well iii. ii. 71 Towards Florence is he?

†c. To (with implication of reaching): = TOWARD prep. 1 c. Obs.

1467 Coventry Leet Bk. 335 Also þat [they] sufficiently amende þe fotewey towardes Crab-tre-feld. 1585 T. WASHINGTON tr. Nicholay's Voy. I. xxii. 29 Too dispatche and sende away the knight..towardes the court, too adventise the king. 1612 SHAKS. Wint. T. iv. iii. 121, I will.. pace softly towards my Kinsmans. 1613 T. MILLES tr. Mexia's, etc. Treas. Anc. & Mod. T. 698/1 Pope Innocent ..sent varie Learned and Religious men towards Italy.

2. Of position: In the direction of; on the side next to; directed to, facing: = TOWARD prep. 2.

1423 JAS. I Kingis Q. civ, Benignely sche turnyt has hir face Towardis me. 1503 in Lett. Rich. III & Hen. VII (Rolls) I. 202 The said bishop as he stode..towardes the quere. 1555 BRADFORD in Strype Eccl. Mem. (1721) III. App. xlv. 129 To make all our Haven-Townes mor stronger towardes the Land, than they be towardes the Sea. 1612 BIBLE Ps. xxv. 15 Mine eyes are euer towards the Lord. 1662 J. DAVIES tr. Olearius' Voyage Ambassa. 58 Canon, with the mouths towards that street. 1726 LEONI Alberti's Archit. I. 99/2 Hills towards the North..encrease the heat. 1727 SWIFT Let. Eng. Tongue Wks. 1755 II. i. 186 The Northern parts lying towards the Euxine. 1884 HIRN Comp. Solit. vii. 85, I sat upon a garden seat in a sheltered nook towards the south.

†b. Beside, near; in attendance on, about; in the possession of; with: = TOWARD prep. 2 b. Obs.

† 1447 Lett. Marg. Anjou & Bp. Beckington (Camden) 94 Yes..prye you hartefy, that..ye wil have oure said secretary towards you. 1459 Rolls of Parlt. V. 367 Persones of grete myght, havyng towardes theym of their lyvereye.. such multitude of Robbers, Rioters, and mysschevous persones. 1614–15 Archdeaconry of Essex Minutes II. 109 b (MS.), The prince his landresse and a man towards the prince were by the harbenger placed to lodge in his house. 1664 MARVELL Corr. Wks. (Grosart) II. 166 Had chosen his Excellence the Earle of Carlisle..for his Ambassador Extraordinary towards him.

3. In the direction of (fig.). a. gen. = TOWARD prep. 3 a.

1634 SIR T. HERBERT Trav. 49 Their beauties are..such as preuaile in my iudgement, towards chastitie, more then Vnlike Remedy of Loue. 1692 R. WALLACE Epistolist Rom. lxxi, He that labours on towards Perfection. 1763 J. BROWN Poetry & Mus. xiv. 241 In all polished States, these Arts have a natural Tendency towards Corruption. 1849 MACAULAY Hist. Eng. ii. I. 231 The king was suspected by many of a leaning towards Rome. 1871 R. H. HUTTON Ess. v. (1888) 118 The absolute will towards right.

b. Introducing the object of action or feeling: = TOWARD prep. 3 b.

1390 GOWER Conf. II. 32, I mai wel..Excuse me of necligence Towardes love in alle wise. 1483 in Lett. Rich. III & Hen. VII (Rolls) I. 48 God will reuenge his husband. c 1495 Ibid. II. 57 To ordre that matier towardis hym as he shalbe right well contented. 1536 Cal. Anc. Rec. Dublin (1889) I. 498 Thankes off hys grett goodnes towerdys me. 1536 in Lett. Suppress. Monasteries (Camden) 99 How I shal use me self towardes thaim. 1596 SPENSER F. Q. VI. ii. 11 To blame him for such cruelty Towards a Ladie. 1682 NORRIS Hierocles 32 Friendship ought to be exercised towards all, but especially towards good men. 1713 BERKELEY Toward. No. 3 P 1 A sense of piety towards heaven. 1802–12 BENTHAM Ration. Judic. Evid. (1827) IV. 53 He has as good a pretence and (as towards the public) a justification, as heart can wish. 1885 Manch. Exam. 10 July 5/2 The sentiments of the Thibetans towards us.

†c. In favour of; favourable to: = FOR prep. 7. Obs. rare.

1472 Paston Lett. III. 52 To have thys Parlement as for one of tie burgeys of the towne of Maldon, syche a man of worchip and of wytt as wer towardys my seyd Lady. 1477 Ibid. 171 And [= If] ye come and fynde the matter no more towards you then ye dyd afortynne.

d. Compared to, in comparison with: = To prep. 18, TOWARD prep. 3 d. Now dial.

a 1568 COVERDALE Bk. Death xxv. (1579) 113 In comparison wherof..myrthe and cheere vpon earth is scarce to be esteemed as castinge counters towardes the finest coynes of Golde. 1685 TRAVESTIN Siege Neuheusel 27 They fought with such desperation and courage towards what they had done before. 1887 S. Cheshire Gloss., To'arts as, in comparison wih.

e. In expression of good wishes for (a person, or his health): = To prep. 12 a, 26 b. dial.

1766 GOLDSM. Vic. W. xxi, Drinking towards my good health. 1855 THACKERAY Newcomes xi, Here's towards you, my buck.

4. Of time or succession: = TOWARD prep. 4.

1559 BECK. Rich. III, ibid. v. 101, I goe, and toward three of houre a Clocke Looke for the Newes. 1661 LOVELL Hist. Anim. & Min. Introd., Snailes, which some count most dainty sweet and nourishing meat, and are best towards winter. 1754 SHERLOCK Disc. (1759) I. ix. 251 These Words stand towards the Close of St. John's Gospel. 1836 Backwoods of Canada 208 The skins are very thick and glossy towards winter. 1886 C. E. PASCOE Lond. of To-day xxxi. (ed. 3) 282 In Whitehall Gardens..Beaconsfield lived for a short time towards the latter part of his life.

5. 'Getting on for', verging upon, nearly as much as; tending to: = TOWARD prep. 5.

1570 FOXE A. & M. (ed. 2) 2276/2 Being iudged by the common people, more then an hundreth yeare of age, and by her own estimation well towardes a.c. 1619 HALES Gold. Rem. (1673) 84 When Gomarus had spoken towards an hour and a half. 1626 BACON Sylva § 77 Water, thicker, and more towards Ice, than Common Water. 1712 STEELE Spect. No. 437 P 2 She was gay, airy, and a little towards Liberties in her Carriage. 1777 BURKE Corr. (1844) III. 195 Where there are towards six hundred persons. 1845 J. H. NEWMAN Ess. Developm. 41 When he is towards fifty, Mr. Wesley marries.

†6. In prospect of, approaching: = TOWARD prep. 6. Obs.

1523 LD. BERNERS Froiss. I. cccxxvii. 512 He was towardes a treaty for a maryage for him with the doughter of ye kyng of Castell. 1541 St. Papers Hen. VIII, VIII. 599 As touching ony maryage that she was towardes, I harde of non. 1612 TOURNEUR Ath. Trag. II. v, What, is not thy mistresse towards a husband yet? c 1624 BP. M. SMITH Serm. (1632) 141, I did not know that thou hadst a cause towards hearing. 1661 in Verney Mem. (1907) II. 175, I here your son is towardes a good forthewen. 1688 SHADWELL Sgrt. Alostia v, Your brother has heard of this great match you are towards.

†b. Coming upon, in store for: = TOWARD prep. 6 b. Obs.

1560 DAUS tr. Sleidane's Comm. 14 b, There was muche trouble towardes him, what by the Turkes, and what by the Frenche men. 1633 BP. HALL Heard Texts, N. T. 123 Jesus..well knew what evill was towards him. 1719 YOUNG Busiris v. i, I fear some ill is tow'rds me. 1749 FIELDING Tom Jones VIII. vi, I dreamed..that I stumbled over a stool without hurting myself; which plainly showed me something good was towards me.

7. In contribution to; for making up, promoting, etc.: = TOWARD prep. 7.

1474 Coventry Leet Bk. 412 Such benivolence as his louyng subgettes there schall shewe vnto hym towardes his grete viage in-to ffrauince. 1541 in Essex Rev. XIII. 221 Item I bequeth to Brychthlyngsey Church towards lengthing of our Lady Chapell..iiii. quarters of the ship called the Trinitie. 1639 S. DU VERGER tr. Camus' Admir. Events 77 Nothing could have prevailed towards the saving of his life. 1739 LAW Serious C. viii, She pays their rent, and gives them something yearly towards their clothing. 1806 Act 46 Geo. III, c. 132 (title) To advance a certain sum..towards that purpose. 1908 Month Mar. 317 This is a contribution towards what is now denominated 'Methodology'.

8. For to . . -wards, separated by the sb. or pron., see -WARDS. Cf. To prep. 2 e, TOWARD prep. 8.

B. adv. or predicative adj.

I. Predicative, or following a sb.: cf. predicative uses of TOWARD a.

†1. In preparation, at hand, coming on, imminent: cf. TOWARD a. 2 b. Obs.

1468 SIR J. PASTON in P. Lett. II. 328 If ye undrestond that thay assawte schold be towardys. 1585 T. WASHINGTON tr. Nicholay's Voy. I. xxii. 28 There was no danger towards. 1592 SHAKS. Rom. & Jul. I. v. 124 We haue a trifling foolish Banquet towards. 1637 SUCKLING Aglaura II. i, If there be not some great storme towards, Ne'er trust me. 1652 DOROTHY OSBORNE Lett. (1888) 30 His marriage, which I hear is towards, with a daughter of Ecc.l. 1692 WARNHOUSE Relapse III. ii, Take heed my heart, for there are dangers towards.

†2. Favourable, compliant, forward, ready. Obs.

c 1525 ABP. WARHAM in Ellis Orig. Lett. Ser. III. I. 366 Seing a man grudgeth to be towardes in presenting, it is to be feared they wil make more murmur and busynes in the tyme of payment.

†3. At hand, ready, present: cf. TOWARD a. 6.

1548 UDALL, etc. Erasm. Par. John 71 b, Being redy and towardes at his call. 1564 HAWARD Eutropius VI. K vij b, Hys Sonne also, a valyauante and worthye yonge man towardes.

II. 4. In the direction of some person or thing indicated by the context (cf. TOWARD adv. 1, forwards, onwards). Obs. or arch.

1590 SPENSER F. Q. I. ii. 15 The knight.., when him he spide,..Gan fairly couch his speare, and towards ride. Ibid. II. iv. 37 A varlet running towards hastily. 1592 Arden of Feversham iii. vi, At your dags discharge Make towards. 1818 KEATS Endym. III. 494 This fire, like the eye of gordian snake, Bewitched me towards; and I soon was near A sight too fearful for the feel of fear.

†b. ? Towards some end or purpose; (as a contribution) towards something. Obs.

1473 SIR J. PASTON in P. Lett. III. 104, I pray yow sende me worde, iff I have Caster ageyn, whethyr she [my modre] wolle dwelle ther or nott, and I wyll fynde hyr a prest towardes at my charge.

†5. Onwards, on (in quot., of time): cf. TOWARD adv. 2. Obs. rare—1.

1586 J. HOOKER Hist. Irel. in Holinshed II. 158/1 The dale being spent to small purpose, and the night drawne towards, he incamped.

†To-warp, v. Obs. Forms: see WARP. [OE. tōweorpan, f. TO- 2 + weorpan to throw, WARP v. = OFris. to-, tiwerpa, OS. tewerpan (LG. tewerpan), OHG. za-, ziwerphan, -werfan, MHG. ze-, zerwerfen, Ger. zerwerfen.] trans. To throw about, throw down, overthrow, destroy; also fig.

c 888 K. ÆLFRED Boeth. xxxv. § 4 þa sceolde he sendan þunras & ligeta & windas, & toweorpan eall hira ȝeweorc mid. c 1000 Ags. Gosp. Matt. xxiv. 2 Ne bið her læfed stan uppan stane þe ne beo to-worpen. c 1000 ÆLFRIC Hom. II. 310 Menniscne hamle hit ne mihton towrippan. c 1200 ORMIN 14861 Þe sæ wass þær Dun till þe grund towrrppenn. c 1200 Trin. Coll. Hom. 161 Storemes falleð in þe sæ and to-worpeð hit.

To-waste, To-waster, To-wawe: see To-preȝ[2] To-way(l(e, -aylle, obs. ff. TOWEL.

Towch(e, Towe, obs. ff. TOUCH, TOUGH, TWO.

Towcher, obs. form of TOCHER.

‖ Towcol (tou·kŏl). [ad. Cantonese tau-kok string beans, peas in the pod, f. tau bean, pea + kok horn, pod.] The Cow-pea, Vigna (Dolichos) sinensis; in India called chowlee.

1866 Treas. Bot. s.v. Vigna, The Chinese..call the plant Tow-Cok, cook and eat the green pods as we do kidney-beans. When ripe the pods are frequently..a yard long.

Towee, var. TOWHEE, N. Amer. bird.

Towel (tou·ĕl), sb. Forms: see below. [ME. towaille, -aile, etc., a. OF. toaille (Wace 12th c.), toaile, mod.F. touaille = Pr. toalha, Cat. tovalla, Sp. toalla, Pg. toalha, It. tovaglia (whence F., in spec. sense, tavaiolle); in med.L. toacula, toailla, tovalia, toualia, etc., from the mod. langs.: f. WGer. þwahliþ* (Kluge), OHG. dwahila, -ila, cloth for washing or wiping (MHG. dwâhele, twâhele, dwêle, Ger. dial. zwehle napkin), f. OHG. dwahan, twahan (OS. thwahan, Goth. þwahan, OE. þwean to wash, þwéal (Goth. þwahl washing).]

1. A cloth, usually of linen or hemp, for wiping something dry, esp. for wiping the hands, face, or person after washing or bathing. Also formerly more widely, including a table-napkin or other cloth used at meals.

Often with prefix indicating its particular use, as bath-, dish-, face-, glass-towel.

α. 3–5 towaille, 4 touwayle, (thoayle, thoyale), 4–5 towaile, -ayle, 5 tow-, touaylle, towail, -ayl, -ayle (tavayle).

a 1300 Floris & Bl. 563 Pat oper binge towaille and bacin For to wasse his honden in. 13.. Sir Benes (A.) 3220 On a towaile ȝhe [= she] made knoote riding. 13.. SHOREHAM 1. 1387 þo hym wyþ a schete (mscr. touwayle) ihesus After soper bygette. c 1386 CHAUCER Monk's T. 755 And Phebus eek a fair towaille [v.r. towayle, touail, towale, towel] hym broughte To dryen hym with, 1395 Will of Thornhaw (Comm. Crt. London), Thoayle wt a blak lyst, borthcloth cum vna thoyale accordyngg. c 1400 MAUNDEV. (1839) xxiii. 250 Whan þei han eten, þei wypen hire hondes vpon hire skirtes, for þei vse non naperye, or towayles. c 1435 Comm. London (Camden) 128 The goode Duk off Gloucetre.. was floule mordred at Caleys with ij Towayles..putte aboute his nekke. c 1440 Promp. Parv. 498/2 Towayl (H. towayle or tavayle).. mantiergium. 1450 Merlin 225 The maiden her-self wosh his visage..and dred it full softely with a towaile. 1480 Wordr. Acc. Edw. IV (1830) 131 Towails playne vj.

β. 3 towele, 4–5 touel, 4–6 towelle, -ail, 4–7 towell, (5 toual, towale, towylle, 6 touall, towle); 4– towel.

† 1284 Toweles [see 2]. 13.. Seuyn Sag. (W.) 3877 Thai set forth water and towell, Herkenis now, how it befell: 13.. Touel [see quot. a 1300 in γ]. 1378 in Test. Karl. (1893) 118, ij lectos, ij dorchies, ij towels. 1389–8 T. USK Test. Love II. ii. (Skeat) l. 62 On his meate borde there shall been borde clothes and towelles many paire. 1409–8 Durham Acc. Rolls (Surtees) 607, liiij xiin. pannii linei eung. ..pro towales. 1456 Maldon, Essex, Crt.-Rolls (Bundle 42, No. 6), Towylles. 1542 Towle [see 2]. 1559 Lanc. Wills (Chetham Soc.) 77 The best bason and ewer and also the best towall. 15.. in Lanckaire's Let. (1871) Pref. 31 Ane touall off Alifyne. 1609 B. JONSON Sil. Wom. IV. v, I will strangle him in this towell. a 1658 CLEVELAND Mary's Spikenard 32 For a Towel he shall have My hair, such flax as nature gave. 1718 LADY M. W. MONTAGU Let. to C'tess of Mar 10 Mar., After dinner, water was brought in a gold basin, and towels of the same kind of the napkins. 1808 Med. Jrnl. XIX. 112 His body to be well rubbed by two persons with coarse towels. 1867 MARY KINGSLEY W. Africa 563 Wading across to the bank, I wring out my skirts, but what is life without a towel?

γ. 4 touell, 4–5 tuel, -ell, 5 tuayl(e, -ale, tewelle, 5–6 tewell, (8–9 Sc. and north. dial. tooel, tool).

a 1300 Cursor M. 15985 (Cott.) Wit a tuell he belted him [G. tuel, F. touel, T. twaile]. Ibid. 15299 Wit his tuell efterward Pair fete he weped clene. c 1450 Brut ccxli. 352 Þai..caste þe tewellys aboute þe Dukis nek..and þan þei wynnen her tewellis eche wayes. 1492 in Somerset Medieval Wills (1901) 323 A Mete cloth and iij tuels. 1496 Tuell, 1504 Tewell [see 2]. 1727 P. WALKER Life R. Cameron in Biog. Presbyt. (1827) I. 204 He dried his face and hands with a Tool. 1905 Eng. Dial. Dict. s. v. Westmld. Tool.

δ. 3–4 towayle, 5 tuwayle, towile, 6 towell.

a 1300 Twayle [see 3]. a 1375 Joseph Arim. 285 Penne comen two Angeles wiþ twayles white. a 1425 Twaile [see quot. a 1300 in γ]. 1507 Twell [see 2].

ε. 5 towaly, twaly, tualy.

c 1440 Promp. Parv. 498/2 Towayl, or towaly (S. twaly.. A. tualy) or tualy). mantiergium.

2. Applied to cloths for various other purposes.

a. Eccl. A cloth, either of linen for use at communion, or of silk or other rich material for covering the altar at other times; also, a communion-cloth (see quot. 1737, and quot. 1866 s. v. COMMUNION 8). Cf. F. tavaiolle. ? Obs.

† 1284 in Shropsh. Archæol. Soc. Trans. (1898) I, 358 Item ij. Toweles pro ij. altaris cum apparatu precii xij.s. iij. d. a 1300 in Hearne Collect. 18 Apr. II. 187 Þam that is this Cherche, honour with hwite belt, with vestimentis, with twayle. 1387 TREVISA Higden (Rolls) V. 11 No woman schulde handle þe towayles of þe auster. 1424 Will of Selby (Somerset Ho.), Howseling towell. 1496 Cranconthe Churchw. Acc. (Som. Rec. Soc.) 21 A tuell of dyasper. 1504 Ibid. 23, ij tewells. 1509 Ibid. 29 A twell of dyaper. 1542 in Archæologia XLVI. 217 Paid for a new dextclothe & a towle xj.d. c 1550 in Lakarke's Arta Mist. Ages II. (1859) 92 A blest towell for the high altar, of black silk. 1623 Primer in Month Oct. (1921) 340 If any be to communicate at Mass, the Servitour after the Priest hath taken the Chalice and before he purifieth it, spreadeth a towel or a white veile before them and then sayeth Confiteor Deo in their name. 1737 CHALLONER Cath. Chr. Instr. (1753) 66 Such of the people as are to communicate,..taking the Towel, hold it before their Breasts, in such Manner, that, if in communicating, it should happen this any Particle should fall, it may..be received upon the Towel.

† b. A cloth used as a part of dress, e.g. as a head-dress, a girdle, etc. Obs.

† a 1366 CHAUCER Rom. Rose 161 His heed y-writhen was, y-wis, Full grymly with a greet towayle. 1485 CAXTON Paris & V. (1868) 80 Mantellys and towellys. 1580 N. LICHEFIELD in Cartularium 1 Cong. Ac. Instr. 1. xii. 29 b, The King of Mylynde came .. to our Fleete, apparelled in a Cassocke of Crimson Damaske, lined with greene satten, hauing vpon his head a rich towell. 1613 G. SANDYS Trav. 63 Shashes are long towels of Callico wound about their heads. 1634 SIR T. HERBERT Trav. 146 The cont., ingirted with a towell of silke and gold eight or nine yards long.

3. slang. Oaken towel, also simply towel, a stick, cudgel (cf. next, 2); lead towel, a bullet.

1739 Joe Miller's Jests (1745) 73 The Farmer..rear'd his Oaken Towel, and..gave him two..Drubs on the Shoulder. 1748 SMOLLETT Rod. Rand. ii, I shall rub you down with an oaken towel. 1756 TOLDERVY Hist. 2 Orphans II. 128 Brandishing his stick [sic] cried aloud, 'this towel..should bastinado the bones of that rascal Tom Throw'. 1812 H. & J. SMITH Rej. Addr., G. Barnwell vi, Make Nunky surrender his dibs, Rub his pate with a pair of lead towels. 1825 Hist. Jn. Decastro I. 24 Old Crab..raleing his oaken towel gave the door three bangs that shook the garrets.

4. attrib. and Comb., as towel-coffer, friction, -maker, -room, -warmer; towel-gourd, a name for Luffa ægyptiaca and L. acutangula, also called sponge-gourd or washing-gourd, the fibrous inner layer of the fruit being used in washing like a towel or sponge (cf. LOOFAH); towel-horse, a wooden frame or stand on which towels are hung; towel-pattern (Wood-carving) = linen-scroll: see LINEN B. 5; towel-rack (see quot.); towel-roller, a horizontal roller on which an 'endless' towel (roller- or round-towel) is hung.

c 1440 Promp. Parv. 1. 375 Cowpin out brought of golde sa clere, One *towelle burdys arayn & drest. 1891 G. MEREDITH One of our Conq. IX, The oaken *towel-coffer. 1898 Allbutt's Syst. Med. V. 1031 Spongings..followed by dry *towel friction. 1872 OLIVER Elem. Bot. II. 176 The fibrous inner layer of the pericarp of the *Towel-Gourd..is used as sponge and gun-wadding. 1860 H. F. TOZER in Vac. Tour. 386 Hay hanging to dry on large hurdles strongly resembling a gigantic *towel-horse. (Cf. 1541 Aberdeen Reg. XVII. [Jam.), Ane towell rose of tallie wrat vas.) 1898 HUXLEY Physiogr. 67 The damp towel on which you have just wiped your wet hands does not stand long on the towel-horse before it becomes dry again. 1591 PERCIVALL Sp. Dict., Mantelero, a towel maker. 1897 KNIGHT Dict. Mech. Towel-rack*, a frame or rod on which to hang towels to dry. 1833 LOUDON Encycl. Archit. § 609 A *Towel Roller ought to be placed on the back of the kitchen-door of every cottage. c 1612 Sir Gilbert Talbot in Wilkins M. IV. v, Allow you but a *towel-room to tipple in. 1884 Health Exhib. Catal. 94/2 Hot linen closet, and *towel warmer.

Tow'el, v. [f. prec. sb.]

1. trans. To apply a towel to; to rub or dry with a towel.

1836-9 DICKENS Sk. Boz, Ladies' Societies, The children were yellow-scoured and flannelled, and towelled, till their faces shone again. 1886 D. C. MURRAY 1st Pers. Singular xix, Zeno..was towelling himself before the mirror. 1894 A. MORRISON Mean Streets 15 Solemn little faces towelled to a polish.

b. intr. (with at).

1861 DICKENS Gt. Expect. xxvi, Letting his head drop into a festoon of towel, and towelling away at his two ears. 1865 — Mut. Fr. I. vi.

2. slang. To beat, cudgel, thrash. (Cf. prec. 3.) 1706 J. DUNTON Life & Errors (1818) I. ix. 356, I would towel him myself..if I did not think him an honest man. 1824 in Spirit Pub. Jrnls. (1825) 164, I shouldn't have towelled her if she hadn't tempted me to it! 1903 SIR M. G. GRANT-DUFF Notes from a Diary I. 182 He caught him by the collar and towelled him down with a cutting whip.

3. To cover with a towel or towels.

1865 DICKENS Mut. Fr. III. iv, I mean to apron it and towel it all over the first time.

Towel, obs. form of TEWEL.

Towelling, toweling (tou'elin). [f. TOWEL sb. and 2. + -ING 1.]

1. I. Linen cloth to be made into towels; material for or of towels.

1583 Rates of Custome ho. B vj b, Diaper toweling the peece xxx.s. 1640 in Entick London (1760) II. 267 Damask for towelling and napkenning. 1862 Catal. Internat. Exhib., Brit. II. No. 3742 Sheetings, towellings, huckabacks. 1880 'OUIDA' Moth II. 19 A dozen yards of bath towelling.

b. A piece of this material, a towel. nonce-use.

1845 BROWNING Flight of Duchess xi. 15 To wash the hands of her liege In a clean ewer with a fair toweling.

II. 2. Rubbing with, or application of, a towel.

1859 DICKENS T. Two Cities II. xi, A correspondingly extra quantity of wine had preceded the Towel, towelling. 1865 — Mut. Fr. I. vi, His head was soon in a basin of water, and out of it again, and staring at her through a storm of towelling. 1921 QUILLER COUCH Shining Ferry iv, Her cheeks glowed after a vigorous towelling.

3. slang. A beating, drubbing, thrashing.

1851 MAYHEW Lond. Labour I. 421/1, I got a towelling, but it did not do much good. 1906 Blackw. Mag. Apr. 446/2 The towelling administered to a dog .. was not pleasant to behold.

Towellshell, towelshill, obs. ff. TOLSEL.

Tow-elry. nonce-wd. [f. TOWEL sb. + -RY: cf. JEWELRY.] Articles of the towel kind; towels collectively.

1885 R. F. BURTON Arab. Nts. I. 201 Then the Wazir..sent him a suit of the best of his own especial raiment, and napkins and towelry.

† Tow'en, a. Obs. [f. Tow sb.[1] + -EN[4].] Made of tow, i. e. coarse flax or hemp.

1686 in Essex Rev. (1906) XV. 173 Tenn payer of flaxen sheets, fourteen payer of Towen sheets.

† To-wend, v. Obs. [OE. towendan, f. To- 2 + wendan to turn, WEND.]

1. trans. To turn over; to overthrow, demolish; to turn upside down, disturb greatly.

c 893 K. ÆLFRED Oros. VI. x. § 1 Hi woldon towendon ealle þa ȝesetnesse & ealle þa gebodu þe Domitianus hæfde ær ȝeset. c 1000 ÆLFRIC Hom. I. 48 We ȝehyrdon..þæt Crist towyrþð þas stowa, and towendð ða ȝesetnysse ðe us Moyses tæhte. c 1200 Trin. Coll. Hom. 191 Mid þusendfeld wrenches þe deuel to-wended þe herte. c 1205 LAY. 9060 þer astalden þer fiem..þa rugges to-wenden [c 1275 þo torne..hiȝ þe rugges]. a 1225 Ancr. R. 394 A wummon þet haueð forloren hir nelde [= needle] oðer a sutare his el, he secheð hinne anonriht, & to-went euerich stræa uort he beo fiunden.

2. intr. a. To turn in different directions, disperse, separate. b. To go to pieces, break asunder; also fig.

c 1175 Lamb. Hom. 75 Þe twelue apostles..er heo to-wenden in to al þis middeleard. c 1205 LAY. 30235 Duglas þa water wes þiaten þer heo tou-wenden. c 1374 CHAUCER Compl. Mars 102 His mygthy spere as he was wont to fyght He shaketh so that almost it to-wonde Ful hevy was he to walken ouer londe. c 1380 Sir Ferumb. 2568 Ogier Denys..smot to sire Mahound þat al to pieces he to-wond & fiel down on þe ground. a 1400 Sir Gawayne (B.) 1625 + 27 He smoot þe dore vp wiþ hys foot, þat þe dore al towond.

Tower (tauəl, tour), sb.[1] Forms: α. 1–2, 5–6 torr, 3–4 tor; β. 2–4 tur, 4 ture, (6 Sc. tuire); γ. 3–8 tour, 4–7 toure, 9 Sc. toor (tūr); δ. 3–4 towr, 4–7 towre, (4 towyr, 6 touuer), 6– tower, (8–9 tow'r). [In OE. torr masc., ad. L. turr-is; in late OE. and early ME. tiir, a 1300 written tour, a OF. tor, tur (11th c.), F. tour (12th c.) = Pr. tor, Sp., Pg., It. torre :—L. turr-em (-im), acc. of turris fem. 'tower'. It is doubtful whether the ME. tor(r was a survival of the OE. form, since OF. had also tor.

(But the Sc. examples in 12 may perhaps belong to TORE sb.[1], and quot. c 1400 in α to TOR sb. 2.)]

I. 1. A building lofty in proportion to the size of its base, either isolated, or forming part of a castle, church, or other edifice, or of the walls of a town.

Often with prefixed word expressing its nature or use, as bell-tower, church-tower, gong-tower, Martello tower, sentower, watch-tower, water-tower; see the first element. Round tower: see ROUND a. 15. Tower of silence, the structure on which the Parsees expose their dead.

In the Border counties of England and Scotland, 'tower' is often the name of a solitary high fenced house, a towerhouse or peel-house ('PEEL sb.[1] 4, 6), too small to be called a castle', e.g. Gilnockie, Goldielands, Smailholm Tower.

α. c 897 K. ÆLFRED Gregory's Past. C. xi. 64 Ðin nosu is swele swelce se torr on Libano ðæm munte. c 950 Lindisf. Gosp. Matt. xxi. 33 Þæeder hiordoes seðe..dialf in ðær wintrog & getinberde torr (Lat. Gosp. stypel). [c 1470 Golagros & Gaw. 42 Ane cieste thai se, With torris and turatis, teirfull to tell. 1501 DOUGLAS Pal. Hon. III. xvii, Gilt birneist torris, quhilk like to Phebus schone.]

β. c 1120–1154 Tur [see 2]. c 1200 Trin. Coll. Hom. 143 On ure ledene tur, quod interpretatur turris. c 1250 Gen. & Ex. 661 To make a tur, wel hez & strong.

γ. c 1290 S. Eng. Leg. I. 23/406 A suyþe heiȝ tour of gold and seluer. 1297 R. GLOUC. (Rolls) 8 Pe geld lim vp.. þe toures of þe cite, þat in is warde were. a 1300 Cursor M. 2230 (Cott.) I rede we bigin a laboure And do we wel and make a toure. c 1400 MAUNDEV. (Roxb.) vi. 21 Þe toure of Babilon. Ibid. lx. 35 A faire kitchen with many kitchelles and toures. 1530 LYNDESAY Test. Papyngo 633 Adew, fair Swandoun, with thy touris hie. 1590 SPENSER F. Q. III. ix. 35 Which they far off beheld from Trojan toures.

δ. 1325 BARBOUR Bruce ix. 1. 5596 Þe towris euerilkane And vallis gert he tummyll doune. 1382 WYCLIF Gen. xi. 4 Comeþ, and make we to vs a citee and a towr, whose heiȝt fulli ateyne vnto heuene. c 1440 Promp. Parv. 498/2 Towre, turris. 1596 DRAYTON Baron. Wars. xxi. 35 Hilt a tower, and left it out to husbandmen. 1625 BACON Ess., Building (Arb.) 550 Those Towers, are not to be of the Height of the Front. 1667 MILTON P. L. XII. 44 They cast to build A Citie & Towre, whose top may reach to Heav'n. 1742 GRAY Eton 1 Ye distant spires, ye antique towers. 1750 — Elegy 9 From yonder ivy-mantled tow'r The mopeing owl does to the moon complain. 1815 J. SMITH Panorama Sc. & Art I. 131 If he squared-cut, it is called a tower. 1849 PARKER Goth. Archit. x. iii. (1874) 47 Early in the twelfth century occurred the fall of the tower of Winchester Cathedral. 1853 M. ARNOLD Scholar Gypsy III, And the eye travels down to Oxford's towers. 1910 MRS YOUNGHUSBAND Africa & Zanzibar xviii. 262 Vultures, within one hour of a body being placed in the tower of silence, tear off all flesh from the bones, then the hot tropical sun soon dries and bleaches the bones.

2. Such a structure used as a stronghold, fortress, or prison, or built primarily for purposes of defence. (In this sense the name is sometimes extended to include the whole fortress or stronghold of which a 'tower' in sense 1 was the original nucleus.)

Thus the Tower of London, in official designation His Majesty's Tower, and in English History or contextually often simply The Tower, is the entire fortress surrounding the original White Tower of William Rufus.

c 1100 O.E. Chron. an. 1097, þurh þone weall þe hi worhton on butan þone tur [so Lundenne]. c 1122 Ibid. an. 1101, Se biscop [Rannulf..ut of þam ture on Lunden nihtes oðhræst. 1154 Ibid. an. 1140, Me læs hire dure on niht of þe tur [at Oxford] mid rapes. c 1225 Ancr. R. 228 Þe tur nis neut a-ailed, ne þe castel. c 1330 R. BRUNNE Chron. (1810) 50 Edrik was hanged on þe toure, for his trispas. 1387 TREVISA Higden (Rolls) VII. 449 Men myȝte wade bytwene Temsebrugge and þe toure of Londoun. a 1400–50 Alexander 1296 Whiȝ trawynns and trebegetes þe towre to assayle. 1599 WHIGHTBESEY Chron. (Camden) I. 5 In Februarie, died Queene Elizabeth at the Towre of London. 1557–75 Litura, Oxenrr. (Bann. Cl.) 84 They war commandit to remayne in waird within the auld tuhairin my lord of Murray lugeit. 1613 Shaks. Hen. V, v. iii. 89 That forthwith, You be conuaid to th' Tower a Prisoner. 1625 Crt. & Times Chas. I (1848) I. 36 A lioness hath whelped in the Tower. 1708 Sterne Sent. Journ., Hotel at Paris, The Bastile is but another word for a tower. 1812 Scott Triermain II. xvii, She has fair Strath-Clyde and Reged wide, And Carlisle tower and town. Ibid. xvi, Carlisle town and tower. 1849 Macaulay Hist. Eng. viii. II. 357 A warrant..directing the Lieutenant of the Tower to keep them [seven Bishops] in safe custody.

b. In early religious use, often applied to heaven. a 1240 Lofsang in Cott. Hom. 207 In syon þe heie tur of heouene. a 1300 Cursor M. 418 (Cott.) He fordestend tuin creature To serue him in þai hall tuir. ‡ 3. E. E. Allit. P. A. 965 Þou may not enter with-inne hys tor.

3. fig. (Cf. 'stronghold', etc.)

13.. St. Ambrosius 793 in Horstm. Altengl. Leg. (1878) 20/2 Ambrose..him self was wal and tuur, To kepe holichirches honour. c 1374 Chaucer Boeth. iv. Met. iii. 96 (Camb. MS.) For with fame is l hydd the strenghe and vigor of men in the secre toure of hir hertes. 1483 Caxton Gold. Leg. 407/2 Thenne she began strongely to assayle the toure of hys conscience. 1560 Bible (Genev.) Ps. cxliv. 2 He is my goodnes and my fortres, my tower and my deliurer. 1605 Bacon Adv. Learn. i. v. § 11 As if there were sought in knowledge..a tower of state for a proud mind to raise itself upon. 1999 G. K. Chesterton Orthodoxy iii. 55 The whole modern world is at war with reason, and the tower already reels.

4. transf. A lofty pile or material mass.

a 1340 Hampole Psalter cl. 4 Organs þat is made as a toure of sere whistils. [c 1400 Destr. Troy 1583 A tempest hont toke on þe torres high [of wawes.] 1604 R. Grimstone] D'Acosta's Hist. Indies III. xxvii. 202 There is a place.. where are seene as it were two towers or pikes of a very high elevated rocke, rising out of the middest of the sea. 1840 Dickens Barn. Rudge iv, Stately towers of hundred Yorkshire cake. 1843 Marryat M. Violet xli, The Grand Tower, one of the wonders of the Mississippi. It is a stupendous pile of rocks, of a conical form. 1852 Thackeray Esmond I. iii, She had a tower of lace on her head, under which was a bush of black curls. (Cf. 6 b.)

5. In other transferred uses:

a. In ancient and mediæval warfare, a tall movable structure, used in storming a fortified place. Cf. summer castle.

c 1440 Promp. Parv. 498/2 Towre, made oonly of tymbyr, fala. 1483 Cath. Angli. 391/1 A Towre of a tree, fala. 1552 Huloet, Towre made of tymbre, fala. 1665 Manley Grotius's Law C. Warres 287 The Besiegers erected a great Tower of Wood, after the manner of Antiquity.

† b. The 'castle' borne on the back of an elephant. Obs.

1553 Eden Treat. Newe Ind. (Arb.) 25 Vpon the packsaddles, they haue on euery side a little house or towre. margin] The Elephants [of war.] 1701 W. Wotton Hist. Rome, Alexander ii. 489 They had 700 Elephants, all loaden with Towers. 1762 [see tower-backed in 10]. c 1820 [implied in Towered 2].

c. The gun-turret on an ironclad.

1889 Welch Text Bk. Naval Archit. xiv. 143 The plan of placing the guns in revolving towers or turrets.

6. Applied to various things having the form, figure, or appearance of a tower, or likened to one.

† a. Chess. The Castle or Rook. Obs.

1562 Rowbothum Play Cheasts A v, Of the Rooke or Towre. The Towre is named amongest the Spaniards, Portingales, and Italians, Rocho. a 1649 Drummond of Hawth. Fam. Ep. Wks. (1711) 146 For the towers or castles named rooks, these are the walled towns, which serve for a refuge for the conservation of the kingdom.

b. A very high head-dress worn by women in the reigns of William III and Anne. It was built up in the form of a tower of pasteboard, muslin, lace, and ribbons. Cf. Tour 4 b. Hist.

c 1612 Sylvester Lacryma Lacrym. 1/2 Script, from Top to Toe, Of giddie Gaudes, Top-gallant Tires and Towers. 1693 Dryden Juvenal vi. 649 With Curls on Curls, they build her Head before, And mount it with a formidable Tow'r. [Note] This dressing up the Head so high, which we call a Tow'r, was an Ancient way amongst the Romans. 1706, 1894 [implied in Towered 1, Towering vbl. sb.]. [1852 Thackeray Esmond ii. xv, My Lady of Chelsea in her highest tour, my Lady Viscountess out of black.]

c. Applied to various technical structures and contrivances, now only descriptively: see quots. and cf. shot-tower.

1662 Merrett tr. Neri's Art of Glass 243 The Leer (made by Agricola, the third furnace, to anneal and cool the wessels..) comprehends two parts, the tower and leer. Ibid. 365 Tower is like Iron on which they heat their Pontee when they seald the Glass. 1688 R. Holme Armoury iii. xx. (Rowb.) 228 The Philosophers Tower..is a kind of Tower furnace...The Maner of the 'Tower is four square. 1737–41 Chambers Cycl. s. v. Furnace. 1837 Milles Elem. Chem. (1862) III. 649 In many works the process of washing with acid is superseded by..a scrubber, consisting of a tower, the interior of which is filled with small coke resting upon perforated shelves. 1889 Athenæum 21 Feb. 253/1 A concise account of the treatment of iron ores for the blast furnace, a careful examination of the peculiar action of that vast metallurgical tower in all its modified forms.

7. Astrol. = House sb.[1] 8, Mansion sb. 5 a.

c 1374 Chaucer Compl. Mars 113 Now fleeth Venus in to cilentios toure. 1911 Ramsay in Expositor Mar. 224 The twelve zodiacal stations of the sun were called towers by the Greek astrologers.

II. 8. a. Lofty flight; soaring. (Cf. Tower v. 3.)

1486 Bk. St. Albans D iv, Ther is an Hobby. And that hawke is bone for a yong man. And theys hawkes of the toure: and ben both lurrid to be caldre and reclyamed. c 1518 Skelton Magnyf. ii. xv. 926 Torde I man, it is an hawke of the towre. 1575 Turberv. Falconrie 53 She [the hobby] is of the number of those hawkes that in Oye flieth at the towre hawke. 1667 Milton P. L. xi. 185 Nigh in her sight The Bird of Jove, stoopt from his aerie tour, Two Birds of gayest plume before him drove.

b. The vertical ascent of a wounded bird.

1890 Pall Mall G. 18 Jan. 2/3 A single goose..bravely struggles onwards, and finally, after a perfectly executed 'tower', falls dead not far from the boat. 1895 J. G. Millais Breath fr. Veldt (1899) 82 The outlined figures are intended to represent the tower and drop of a single bird.

III. 9. Phrases. a. Tower and town (also town and tower), an alliterative phrase for the inhabited places of a country or region generally. † b. Towers in the air, visionary projects, 'castles in the air' (see Castle sb. 11).

a 1300 Cursor M. 12983 (Cott.) Al þis werld, bath tur and tun. c 1420 Sir Amadace (Camden) lxxii, Theme was he lord of toure and towne. 1599 Broughton's Let. ii. 9 Your humours building towers in the ayre,..faine a sounding in your eares. 1893 See p. 1. 1900 Westw. Post's Dream viii, O'er town and tower we flew, and fields in May's fresh verdure drest. 1870 Tennyson Flower iv, Thieves..Sow'd it far and wide by every town and tower.

IV. 10. attrib. and Comb. a. Simple attrib. 'of or belonging to a or the tower', as tower-bell, -clock, -gate, -gun, -head, -pier, -room, -stair, -top, -ward, -wharf; 'that is, consists of, has, or contains a tower', as tower-distillatory, -furnace, -gateway, -house, -keep, -porch, -steple; b. objective, as tower-keeper, -transporter; tower-bearing, -rasing, -supporting, -tearing adjs.; c. instrumental, locative, etc., as tower-backed, -capped, -crested, -crowned, -encircled, -flanked, -full, -studded adjs.; d. similative, etc., as tower-high, -like, -shaped adjs.; tower-wise adv. e. Special Combs.: tower-ball, a game for children; tower-cress, the cruciferous plant Arabis Turrita; sometimes applied to Tower mustard, Turritis glabra; † tower-fellow, a fellow prisoner in the Tower; tower-fellowship, a political division of citizens in the states of ancient Greece; tower hill, a hill near or on which a tower is built; spec. (with caps.) the rising ground by the Tower of London; tower-light, a window or hole in a tower; tower-proof a., proved or tested in the arsenal at the Tower of London; also allusively; tower-ring, a finger-ring bearing an image of a tower; tower-stamp, the official stamp or mark on gold and silver articles; ball-mark; † towers treacle = Tower mustard; tower-wagon, a wagon with a structure which can be raised and lowered to serve as a platform for repairing overhead wires, etc.; † tower-window, each of the turreted lights at the head of a late Gothic or Perpendicular window; tower-work, masonry built in the form of towers. Also Tower mustard, pound, weight, -wort.

1608 Sylvester Du Bartas ii. iv. iii. Schisme 437 The Tower-back't Camel, that..on his bunch could have transported yerst Neer a whole Household. 1762 Judas Macc. iii. 16 [18] Tower-back'd Elephants. 1556 Eden Decades 189 The towrebearynge shoulders of Elephantes. 1592 R. D. Hypnerotomachia 7 b, A sound, as if the tower bell of Saint Johns College in the famous Vniuersitie of Cambridge had been rung. 1816 Byron Siege of Cor. i, Yon tower-capt Acropolis. 1895 A. J. Evans in Folk-Lore Mar. 44 As soon as the tower-clock strikes twelve. a 1835 Mrs. Hemans Adventurer n. 39 Tower-crested rocks. 1771 Gentl. Mag. Nov. 490/1 At the sight of Old-Giant Bremen's 'tower-crown'd height. 1688 R. Holme Armoury iii. xx. (Rowb.) 229 This is the form of another Tower distillatory, but four square in the foundation with a round tower in the midst. 1896 Spectator 31 Oct. 586/1 There are other tribes of tower-dwelling birds. 1730–46 Thomson Autumn 114 Nurse of art, the city reared..her tower-encircled head. 1709 Steyne Ann. Ref. I. xiv. 457 He and his Tower-fellows, hearing the bell, should pass. 1847 Grote Greece ii. xiii. III. 247 The symmories or tower-fellowships of Tenos seem to be analogous to the phratries of ancient Athens. 1799 H. Gurney Cupid & Psyche viii. (1800) 18 A vast and tower-flank'd palace stood. 1598 Sylvester Du Bartas ii. iii. Colonies 494 Th' ingenious, Tower-full, and Law-loving Soil. 1688 Tower furnace [see sense 6 c]. a 1832 Scott Eve St. John xxxii, He oped the tower-gate And he mounted the narrow stair. 1886 Willis & Clark Cambridge III. 285 Wykeham's tower-gateway at New College is in three floors. 1719 D'Urfey Pills III. 2 It seiz'd on the Tow'r Guns. 1767 Wesley Jrnl. 5 Nov., I was surprised..to hear the Tower-guns so plain at above fifty miles distance. 1539 in Archæologia XL. 437 Upon the same 'towre head a saker of brasse of Scottyshe makinge. c 1480 Warkw. Chron. (Camden) 5 To the 'Towre Hyll. 1485 Rolls of Parlt. VI. 372/2 The Gaudynas upon the Towre hill. 1849 Penny Cycl. XXV. 98/2 The chief place of execution was outside the walls [of the Tower of London] on the neighbouring Tower Hill. 1687 A. Lovell tr. Thevenot's Trav. I. 100 A little 'Tower-house, with two or three Rooms. 1797 Scotist. Acc. Scot. XIX. 60 Tower houses are met with in a ruinous condition. 1897 Windle Life in Early Brit. ix. 176 The erection of the rectangular 'tower keep, which the Norman used when he was building on a perfectly new site. 1885 McCook Tenants Old Farm 135 Easy victims to the virtuous 'tower-keeper. 1848 Rickman Archit. (ed. 5) 220 'Sound-holes'..seems not so appropriate as air-holes or 'tower-lights. 1552 Huloet, 'Towrelyke, turreus. 1625 K. Long tr. Barclay's Argenis iv. xix. 309 Elephants..brought into the Battell with their tower-like carriages. 1729 Savage Wanderer iv. 119 He sees yon Tow'r-like Ship the Waves divide. 1893 Scribner's Mag. June 718/1 The tower-like building of stone and stucco, octagonal in form, had a forbidding air. 1888 Archæol. Cantiana XIII. 26 Lanfranc's 'tower-piers, and a few feet of his crypt walls undoubtedly remain. 1886 Willis & Clark Cambridge III. 356 Access to the hall is provided through a 'tower-porch. 1673 Phil. Trans. VIII. 6072 Powder proved 'Tower-proof is a fifth part stronger than any Dutch powder. 1805 T. Lindley Voy. Brasil 252 Brasil being supplied by the mother country with British tower-proof musquets. 1838 Hood Life Shelley II. 365 Blessed amongst women..a tower-proof, fire-proof, bomb-proof blue. 1606 Sylvester Du Bartas ii. iv. i. Trophesis 401 'Twas the Breach of a 'Tower-razing Ram. 1877 W. Jones Fingerring 298 In the same collection is a Jewish 'tower' betrothal ring. Ibid., Another betrothal ring..called 'temple' or 'tower' from the figure of the sacred temple placed on the summit. 1886 Willis & Clark Cambridge III. 321 The President is to have certain 'tower-rooms. 1897 Jacob Prinsner in Rome (1903) 319 In this 'tower-shaped tomb. 1800 Weld Advertiser 27 May 3/3 A pamphlet, just published, price a good 'Tower Shilling. 1848 Thackeray Van. Fair lxiii, The Batavier steamboat left the 'Tower stairs laden with a goodly company of English fugitives. 1642 Fuller Holy & Prof. St. ii. xix. 120 He knows if he sets his mark, (the 'Tower-stamp of his credit) on any bad wares, he sets a deeper brand on his own conscience. 1845 Ct. oton Silver Wedding xii, That wariest glance would here Faith, Hope and Love, the true Tower-stamp discern. 1610 Holland Camden's Brit. (1637) 276 A new Church with..an high spire besides the 'Toure steeple. Ibid. 468, I saw the towre steeple of a small suppressed Priery. Ibid. 290 The 'tow-steeple of bankes, at Windsore. 1614 Sylvester Bethulia's Rescue iii. 125 'Tower-tearing Mars, Bellona thirsting-blood. 1840 Dickens Old C. Shop iv, One of these..climbed with her to the 'Tower-top. 1702 Lexipharmacon, 25 [Intro.] a An opportunity of witnessing the coaling of the flagship Majestic by the new Temperley 'tower transporter. 1597 Gerarde Herbal iii. xxii. § 2. 213 (heading) Towers Mustarde..'Towers Treacle groweth in the wastes part of England upon dunghills and such like places. 1911 Daily News 20 Apr. 7 A collapsible structure similar to a 'tower wagon, was blown over by the wind. c 1450 Brut 423 The persone of the Toure and this frere Randulf fillen in debate and stryfe vthynne the 'Toure ward. Ibid. 431 John Montymere, vyghelt, brake pryson oute of the Toure of London, and was take ayen vpon the 'Toure-wharf. 1593 Rites of Durham (Surtees) 43 In this wyndowes, above all, are xix little glasseneed 'towre wyndowes. 1581 A. Hall Iliad vii. 72 Yet his huge and waightie targe, Which 'towerwise so stoode aloft. 1634–5 Bereton Trav. (Chetham Soc.) 94 A little fort..built towerwise. 1663 H. Cogan tr. Pinto's Trav. xxv. (1663) 93 The top of the Platform is bordered with the same stone, cut into great 'Tower-work.

Tower (tōu·ər), sb.[2] Also 5 Sc. towar. [f. Tow v.[1] + -er [1].] One who tows or draws with a rope; esp. one who tows a boat on a river or canal.

(In quots. 1494 the sense is uncertain; cf. quot. 1494 in Tow v.[1] 1, which refers to the same transaction.)

[1494 Acc. Lat. High Trea. 1. 248 For the drawyne of viij treis fra the Sallache to the bote, and to a towar to gid thame,..vs. iiij d. Ibid., Item, gyffyne tyll a towar, for to helpe to bryng doune the carlour fra Lochlomond,..ij s.] 1611 Cotgr., Tirant, a drawer, a tower. 1795 Anderson Brit. Emb. China vi. 80 These pieces of wood..rest upon their breasts, and byleaning against them the towers increase the power of their exertions. 1883 M. H. Hayes Inst. Racing Kennels. 231 The broken ground over which these native towers have to travel. 1887 J. Ashby Sterry Lazy Minstrel (1892) 155 My tow-ers are young and my tow-ers are fair: The one is Eleven, the other Nineteen, The merriest maidens that ever were seen. 1889 J. K. Jerome Three Men in Boat ix, A couple of towers walking briskly along.

Tow·er, sb.[3] Sc. [f. Tow sb.[2] + -er [1].] A rope-maker, a roper.

15.. Aberdeen Regr. (MS.) XXVIII. (Jam.), Towar.

Tower, sb.[4]: see Tow v.[4]

Tower (tauə1, tau·ər), v. Forms: see the sb. [f. Tower sb.[1]]

I. 1. intr. To rise or extend to a great height like a tower; to rise aloft, stand high.

(In quot. c 1400 the sense of torret is very uncertain.)

[c 1400 Destr. Troy 1697 Toures full tore torret aboue, þat weren of height so hoge, as I dare fynde.] 1581 Stanyhurst Æneis i. (Arb.) 31 O wights most blessed, whose wals be thus happelye touring. 1590 Spenser F. Q. ii. xii. 30 On th' other side an high rocke toured still. 1610 Holland Camden's Brit. (1637) 581 Dudley Castle toweth up upon an hill. 1690 C. Nesse O. & N. Test. I. 268 Like pillars of smoke towering upward. 1715–20 Pope Iliad ii. 565 The king of kings, majestically tall, Tows o'er his armies, and outshines them all. 1834 Mrs. Somerville Connex. Phys. Sc. xxvii. (1849) 300 Magnificent trees tower to the height of 150 or 200 feet above the banana, the bamboo. 1863 Geo. Eliot Romola vi, Over every fastness..there towers some huge Frankish fortress. 1885–94 R. Bridges Eros & Psyche, March xxiv, She saw the evening light An shifting colour to the zenith tower.

b. fig. Usually const. above.

1776 Boswell 11 Apr., in Johnson, Does not Gray's poetry, sir, tower above the common mark? 1820 Hazlitt Lect. Persons. Lit. 12 He [Shakespeare] towered above his fellows. 1822 — Table-t. Ser. ii. iii. (1869) 66 Her voice towered above the whole confused noise of the orchestra. 1869 Trollope He knew he was Right xxviii, When she first read the letter..she towered in her passion.

2. trans. To raise or uplift to a height; to exalt.

1596 Warner Alb. Eng. xii. lxx. (1612) 295 English Poets Many, Of which are some..that tower their wits too hie. 1645 Rutherford Trial & Tri. Faith (1846) 299 The Soul is fitted up and towered higher by faith. 1872 Clark Vill. Minstr. I. 75 Where hills towered high their crowns. 1849 W. S. Mayo Kaloolah vi. (1851) 26 Gigantic trees, which towered their lofty heads to the clouds.

3. intr. a. Hawking. To mount up, as a hawk, so as to be able to swoop down on the quarry: cf. Tower sb.[1] 8. Also fig.

1593 Shaks. 2 Hen. VI, II. i. 10 My Lord Protectors Hawkes do towre so well. 1605 Macb. II. iv. 12 A Pauncon towring in her pride of place. 1616 B. Jonson Epigr. I. lxxxv, Shee doth instruct men by her gallant flight, That they to knowledge so should toure upright And never stoope, but to strike ignorance. 1898 Hl. A. Brown Nadeschda 27 Loose thy hawk and let it tower.

b. To soar aloft, as a bird.

1647 N. Bacon Disc. Govt. Eng. I. xlvii. (1739) 77 The Eagle had cast its Feathers, and could towre no more. a 1682 H. Blunt Poem added to Gerrit 14 in Disphemus (1709) Pref., So the Young Eagle that his Force would try, Faces the Sun, and tow'rs it to the Sky. 1728 Ramsay Lure 93 See, see! he like a lavrock tours. 1817–18 Cobbett Resid. U. S. (1822) 212 The pheasant does not tower, but darts through the trees. 1885–94 R. Bridges Eros & Psyche, Sept. xvi, He flasht his pens, and sweeping widely round Tower'd to air.

c. To rise vertically, as a bird when wounded.

1812 Col. Hawkes Diary (1893) I. 29 With the exception of one which towered, all my birds fell dead to the gun. 1889 [see Towering vbl. sb.].

†4. fig. To rise on high, to soar. Obs.

1597 Delonev Canaanis Calam. (1912) 422 Their mountaine minds that towred past their strength. 1641 J. Jackson True Evang. T. II. 113 S. John..towred aloft into the highest mysteries of Divinity. 1643 Sir T. Brownie Relig. Med. II. § 8, I have seen a Grammarian tower and plume himself over a single line in Horace. 1748 Johnson Rom. Hum. Wishes 103 Still to new heights his restless wishes tower.

†5. trans. To soar aloft in or into; to rise to.

1604 Drayton Owle 149 By Night I towre the Heaven, denoyd of stare. a 1649 Drummond of Hawth. Poems (1790) 283 He towers those golden bounds He did to sun bequeath. 1667 Milton P. L. VII. 441 Yet oft they quit The Dank, and rising on stiff Pennons, towre The mid Aereal Skie.

†II. 6. trans. To furnish with a tower or towers.

c 1440 [see Towering vbl. sb.]. 1449 in Charters, etc. Exlind. (1871) 71 To..wall, toure, turate, and other wais to strengthen oure foresaid Burgh. a 1548 Hall Chron., Hen. VIII 59 This Gardeyn was towred at euery corner.

Towerde, -dys, obs. ff. Toward, Towards.

Towered (tau·wəd, poet. tou·rĕd), a. [f. Tower sb.[1] and v. + -ed.]

1. Having a tower or towers; adorned or defended by towers; bearing or surmounted by a tower; raised or rising on high like a tower.

c 1400 Sege Yerus. 868 Pis toured toun is tenful to wynne. c 1430 Seven Sag. (P.) 2842 Who hys thys castel, That hys touryde and kerneide wel? a 1552 Leland Itin. II. 67 The Tourrid Steple of the Paroche Chirch. 1632 Milton L'Allegro 118 Towred Cities please us then. 1706 Hearne Collect. 19 Jan. (O.H.S.) I. 165 Cybele..is represented with a Tower'd Head. 1796 W. H. Marshall W. England II. 208 The towered height of Stourton forms a prominent feature. c 1820 S. Rogers Italy, Alps 24 The towered elephant Upheld his trunk. 1832 Tennyson Lady of Shalott I. iv, From the river winding clearly Down to tower'd Camelot. 1909 Rider Haggard Yellow God 42 The towered gateway of red brick.

†2. Immured in a tower; committed to the Tower of London. (Cf. prisoned.) Obs.

1716 M. Davies Athen. Brit. II. 409 The two that turn'd Non-jurors with the t'other five tower'd Bishops. 1750 Student (1751) II. 22 The noble Septemvirate of tower'd Prelates.

3. Of a wounded bird: That has 'towered'.

1827 Col. Hawker Diary (1893) I. 320 Besides 4 towered and lost birds.

[Toweret, 'a little tower', in mod. Dicts., deduced from towret: see Turret.]

Towering (tau·rĭŋ), vbl. sb. [f. Tower v. + -ing [1].] The action of the verb Tower in various senses: spec. † a. The building of a tower. Obs. rare—[0]. b. Rising, soaring; raising. c. See quot. 1887 and Tower sb.[1] 8 b, v. 3 c. d. Photog. See quot. 1891.

c 1440 Promp. Parv. 498/2 Towryngę, turrificacio. 1646 J. Hall Poems (1906) 224 Ambition's towerings do some gallants keep From calmer sleep. 1750 Johnson Rambler No. 72 P 5 The hearers either strain their faculties to accompany the towerings, or are left behind in envy and despair. 1887 Coues in Science X. 322 The convulsive muscular action which..results in the well-known 'towering' of hard-hit birds. 1891 Anthony's Photogr. Bull. IV. 98 How often is it that an otherwise good picture is spoiled by what we might call towering. The top of the building being much narrower than the bottom [etc.]. 1894 Yellow Bk. I. 66 Women..gave the best hours of the day to the towering of their coiffures.

Towering, ppl. a. [f. Tower v. + -ing [2].] That towers, in various senses.

1. Rising to a height; standing high; lofty.

1658 Sir T. Herbert Trav. (ed. 2) 193 A spatious Garden, succinct with a great Towring wall of mud. 1697 Dryden Virg. Past. VII. 91 The towring Ash is fairest in the Woods. c 1743 Francis tr. Hor., Sec. Poem 46 Tile cypress, when by storms impell'd,..Low bends the towering head. 1793 Statist. Acc. Scott. VII. 501 The hills are steep and towering. 1833 L. Ritchie Wand. by Loire 21 The girls..with their towering caps of the snowiest muslin. 1899 J. R. Green Lett. I. (1901) 33 My eye wanders..to the towering dome of the Radcliffe.

b. Of lofty stature; very tall.

1756 Johnson K. of Prussia Wks. IV. 532 To review this towering regiment was his daily pleasure. 1835 Lytton Rienzi I. iii, The towering Thane of the smith. 1894 Hall Caine Manxman III. xii, Kate saw him come, a towering dark figure between her and the door.

2. Rising high in flight, as a bird, etc. Also fig.

c 1598 Marlowe Faustus Tamb. II. 285 b, Yong Charles Fitz-Jeffrey, that high towring Falcon, hath..pensed the honourable life and death of worthy sir Francis Drake. 1598 Drayton Heroic. Lep. xix. 179 Under thy towring black haue couch't fight. c 1673 Roxb. Ball. (1887) VI. 271 Where towering Larks do soar on high, In consort, making Melody. 1709 Prior To C. Montague vi, Our Hopes, like tow'ring Falcons, aim At Objects in an airy height. 1765 R. Jones Fireworks IV. 128 One rocket on the top of another. When .. thus managed, they are called towering rockets. 1892 Greener Breech-Loader 228 If beaters or keepers are occupied in picking up, and can look after wounded and towering birds.

3. Rising to a height (fig.); exalted; aiming high; ambitious.

1663 Bp. Patrick Parab. Pilgr. v. (1687) 18 Others..teach me to fly aloft in towring speculations. 1702 Eng. Theophrastus 4 Nothing else than the writing of a Play can satisfie his towring Ambition. 1781 Cowper Charity 536 A bold remark, but which, if well applied, Would humble many a towering poet's pride. 1840 T. Hirlwall Greece VII. lvi. 179 A man..of towering ambition. 1894 J. Kennett Garrick iv. 59 No man of towering ability was on the stage.

4. Rising to a high pitch of violence or intensity.

1602 Shaks. Ham. v. ii. 80 The brauery of his grieue did put me into a Towring passion. 1818 Scott Rob Roy xviii, I was in a towering passion. 1848 Dickens Dombey liv, The towering fury and intense abhorrence. 1877 Black Green Past. xxxiii, He came down in a towering rage.

Hence Tow·eringly adv., in a towering manner.

1822 E. Irving Let. in Oliphant Life (1862) I. vi. 135, I should rise toweringly aloft into the regions of a very noble and sublime character. 1830 Fraser's Mag. I. 98 Tall palm trees, that on the plain stood toweringly. 1885 G. Meredith Diana of Crossways xiii, The Hercules of dogs..toweringly big.

Tow·erless, a. [f. Tower sb.[1] + -less.] Without a tower; devoid of towers.

c 1820 S. Rogers Italy, Campagna Florence 201 Towerless, and left long since, but to the last Braving assault. 1886 Stokes Irel. & Celtic Ch. xii. (1888) 238 The earliest Christian churches..were utterly towerless.

Tow·erlet. [f. as prec. + -let.] A little tower.

19.. Joanna Baillie (Ogilvie), Our guiding star Now from its towerlet streameth far.

Tow·er mu·stard. Herb. [So named, according to Britten and Holland, from its habit of growth. According to Linnæus, called Turritis (Tournefort) as being 'alta et stricta'.] Popular name of a cruciferous plant, Turritis glabra, found on banks and cliffs. Called also Towers treacle, Towerwort, and sometimes Tower Cress.

1597 Gerarde Herbal II. xxii. 212 Towers Mustarde, of some hath beene taken for a kinde of Cresses. 1731 Miller Gard. Dict., Turritis, Tower-Mustard. 1842 C. W. Johnson Farmer's Cyc. s.v. Turritis, from Pliny, in winter the foliage is so disposed on the stems as to give them a pyramidal form, and for the same reason the plants are called tower-mustard.

b. Sometimes applied to Arabis Turrita (see Tower-cress); also called Bastard Tower mustard.

1760 J. Lee Introd. Bot. App. 320 Mustard, Bastard Tower, Arabis. 1866 Treas. Bot. s. v. Mustard, Mustard, Tower ..also Arabis Turrita. 1874 Gray Man. Bot. (ed. 5) 69 A[rabis] perfoliata, Lam. (Tower Mustard).

Tower pound. Also 6–8 pound Tower. [So called from the standard pound which was kept in the Tower of London.] A pound weight of 5400 grains (= 11¼ Troy ounces), which was the legal mint pound of England prior to the adoption of the Troy pound of 5760 grains in 1526. So Tower weight, weight expressed in terms of the Tower pound.

[1343 Close Roll 17 Edw. III. m. 4 d (P.R.O.), Vne liure de pois de la Tour de Loundres.] 1469 in Archæologia XV. 166 For coynage of every lb. of Tour weght of sylver..iiiis. vid. 1526 Proclam. 5 Nov. (Pat. Roll 18 Hen. VIII. m. 2 d. P.R.O.), It is determyned..the said pounde Towre shalbe no more used nor occupied. 1545 Rates of Customs d v b, A poundes of Tower wayght wayeth of the Troy xii. ounces ii. quarter. 1622 Malynes Anc. Law-Merch. 292 There hath been vsed from the beginning (in the Mint) both Troy and Tower weight, each of them containing twelue ounces in the pound weight, sauing that the Troy weight is heauier by sixteen penie weight vpon the pound weight: by which Troy weight the merchants bought their gold and siluer abroad, and by the same did deliuer it to the Kings mint, receiuing in counterpeaze but tower weight for Troy, which was the Princes Prerogatiue. 1789 Walter Merry Remarks Coinage 7 The silver penny was about twenty-two grains and a half of Troy-weight, but called a penny-weight Tower. The shilling was twelve of these pennies, and the pound Tower was twenty of these shillings. 1821 J. Q. Adams in C. Davies Metr. Syst. (1871) 94 This [silver] penny was the two hundred and fortieth part of the tower pound. 1844 Lingard Anglo-Sax. Ch. (1858) II. App. O. 388 The Anglo-Saxon pound is believed to have been that known by the name of the Tower pound; the Norman was the Troy pound, heavier by three-quarters of an ounce than the former.

Towers, obs. form of Tours.

Tower weight: see Tower pound.

Towerwort: see Tower mustard.

Towery (tau·rĭ), a. [f. Tower sb.[1] + -y.]

1. Characterized by or having towers; adorned or defended with towers.

1612 Cotgr., Tourreils, Towerie, tower-like, begirt or incompassed with towers. 1672 Dryden and Pl. Conq. Granada III. iii. 114 The Genius of the place its Lord will meet; And bend its tow'ry forehead to your feet. 17.. Pope Imit. Spenser 54 Meandring streams, and Windsor's tow'ry pride. 1834 J. Wilson in Blackw. Mag. XXXVI. 842 Crowned with her towery diadem—Queen of the Sea.

1870 Bryant Iliad VII. I. 224 Till ye possess the towery city of Troy.

2. Rising to a lofty height; tower-like; towering; also fig. aspiring; exalted.

1731 A. Hill Adv. Poets xvi. 9 Hence, have all towery Minds, sublimely fir'd, With in-born Strength, to their own Heav'n aspir'd. 1738 H. Brooke tr. Tasso's Jerus. Del. II. Poems (1816) 376/1 One step alone 'twixt triumph and defeat, The guilty ruin and the tow'ry height. 1825 J. Wilson Poems II. 114 Long ensigns brightening on the towery mast. 1870 R. R. Coverdale Poems 59 'Neath towery trees that lowly bent.

3. Comb. towery-topped a., having a towery top; topped or crowned with towers.

1602 Carew Cornwall II. 121 A towry-topped Castle heere, wide blazeth ouer all.

Towgh, -e, tow3, towh, -he, obs. ff. Tough.

Towghe, Towgher: see Toughe, Tocher.

Towght, obs. form of Tought.

Towhee (tau·hī, tau·ī). U.S. Also 8 towee, 8–9 towhe. ['From one of its notes' (Newton).] The ground-robin or Chewink of North America, Pipilo erythrophthalmus; also towhee bird, -finch, -bunting, -goldfinch. Also any species of Pipilo.

1730 Mortimer in Phil. Trans. XXXVI. 430 The Towhe Bird. 1791 W. Bartram Carolina 171 The towee birds.. are very numerous. 1859 Bartlett Dict. Amer. (ed. 2) Chewink, the ground robin...On Long Island it is called the Towhee Goldfinch. 1893 Scribner's Mag. June 762/2 He utters his loud 'Towhee', a note so characteristic that it has become one of his names.

†To-whe·n, interrog. adv. Obs. [f. To prep. + When.] Until what time? How long?

a 1300 E. E. Psalter iv. 3 Mennes sones, towhen ofe herte vn-mekes? Whi loue ye fantom, and lighinge seke? Ibid. lxxxviii. 45 Towhen, laverd, turnes tu in ende, at laste? Als fire sal lesen pi weth faste?

Towher, obs. form of Tocher.

†To-whi·le, conj. adv. Obs. [f. To prep. + While sb., q.v. 2 c.] During the time that, while.

c 950, c 1000, c 1250, 13.. [see While sb. 2 c.] c 1330 R. Brunne Chron. Wace (Rolls) 4141 To whyle þe kyng & his oosyns In loue loken ar þer fynes.

†To-whi·les, conj. adv. Obs. Also 4 toquil(i)s, to whils. [f. prec. + -es of adverbial genitive: see Whiles, Whilst.] = prec.; whilst.

13.. Cursor M. 4269 (Cott.) Hir luue..Sco miped [Gött. kithid] it, to-quils [Gött. ay quilis] sco moght. Ibid. 6264 (Gött.) þe se on ayder side him stod As wallis to quilis þai forth sode. 1357 Lay Folks Catech. (MS. T.) 139 To whiles that his bodi lai in þe graue The saule with the godhede went until hell. a 1400 R. Brunne's Chron. Wace (Rolls) 2645 Þe while [Peiyt MS. Towhils] þer fader was on lyue For þe royalme gon þey to stryue.

To-whit, To-who, o: see Tuwhit, Tuwhoo.

†To-whi·ther, v. Obs. [ME. to-hwiðeren, f. To-[2] + hwiðeren* (?).] trans. To 'whirl in pieces' (Stratm.).

a 1225 Leg. Kath. 1964 Ha schal beon tohwiðeret Wiþ þe hweoles. Ibid. 2018 Smit se smertliche herto, þet alle þeos fowr hweoles Tohwiðerin to stucchen. a 1225 Ancr R. 362 Lolliease mediseas þe littes ikeruen of, and to-hwiðered o hweoles, & hefdes bikeruen.

Tow-hook. ? U.S. See quot.

1877 Knight Dict. Mech., Tow-hook, an artilleryman's hook, used in unpacking ammunition-chests. [Unknown in British military service.]

Tow·illee. dial. [See quot. 1758.] A local name for the Sanderling: cf. Curwillet; also, for the Ringed Plover: cf. Dullwilly.

1758 Borlase Hist. Cornw. 247 Here we have coots, sanderlings, (which, from the noise they make when flying, we call Towillees), sea-larks, sea-pies. 1804 Bewick Brit. Birds II. 1 Sanderling, Towillee, or Curwillet. 1828 Rodd Birds Cornw. 315/2 Towillee, and Turwillie, Ringed Plover.

Towing (tōu·ĭŋ), vbl. sb.[1] [f. Tow v.[1] + -ing [1].] The action of Tow v.[1]; esp. the dragging of a boat or ship by a tow-line; also, the drawing of a fine net behind a boat or other vessel for the capture of marine zoological specimens, and in pl. the proceeds of this, the specimens captured.

1494 [see Tow v.[1] 1]. 1611 [see Towage 2]. 1617 Moryson Itin. II. 168 Sir Richard Levison,..with towing, got out the Warwitte, the Defiance, the Swiftsure, the Marlime. 1725 De Foe Voy. round World (1840) 325 By the help of towing and setting as well as they could, they came to a flatter shore. 1857 C. Gubbels in Merc. Marine Mag. (1858) V. 7 They monopolize the towing in and out. 1887 Smithsonian Rep. II. 135 The surface towings he obtained are very rich in interesting forms.

b. attrib., as towing-banquette, barge, -bitts, bollard, -boom, -gear, -vessel; towing-bridle (Bridle sb. 5 a), a stout chain, cable, or iron rail secured at the ends, with a towing-hook to which the tow-line is attached; towing-lights sb. pl., white lights carried one above another by a vessel which has another or others in tow (Funk's Stand. Dict. 1895); towing-net = Tow-net; towing-path = Tow-path; towing-post: see quot.; towing-rope = Tow-rope; towing-timber = towing-post.

1795 Rep. Navig. Thames & Isis, Estimate 4 A Loop of the River cut through, a *Towing-Banquete formed, and Water deepened, 490. 1889 Welch Text Bk. Naval Archit. xii. 132 Advantage is taken of the hollow *towing bollards..and the mast..to utilise these also as uptakes. 1897 G. Greenfell in Sir H. Johnston Life (1908) I. xiii. 258

[It] had been firmly secured to the after bollards, as well as to the towing-boom forward. 1867 Smyth Sailor's Word-bk., Towing-bridle, a stout chain, with a hook at each end, for attaching a tow-rope to; also, a large towing-hook in the bight of the chain. 1857 Dufferin Lett. High Lat. viii. (ed. 3) 205, I began to be afraid that something must have gone wrong with the towing-gear. 1816 Tuckey Narr. Exped. R. Zaire i. (1818) 11 The *towing-net was now .. tolerably successful, taking up from time to time various species of mollusca. 1726 Lond. Gaz. No. 6447/7 Using for *Towing or Haleing-Paths. 1795 J. Phillips Hist. Inland Navig. Add. 100 The towing path of this canal may be used by occupiers of lands as a bridle-way. 1867 Trollope Chron. Barset I. xii. 102 A cottage which stood alone, close to the towing-path of the canal. 1867 Smyth Sailor's Word-bk., Towing-post, a substantial timber fixed through the deck of a steam-tug for making the tow-rope fast to. Also, a similar post in canal barges to keep the tow-line up clear of the path. 1898 Civil Engin. & Arch. Jrnl. I. 322/1 Whether it was feasible without a *towing-rope to get the barge through the water-way. 188a E. O'Donovan Merv Oasis I. 315 A towing rope was fastened to the top of the mast. 1834 Oxf. Univ. Mag. I. 308 The recent introduction of steam *towing-vessels.

Towing, vbl. sb.[2], a: see Tow v.[3], 4.

†Tow-iren, towyrene, obs. ff. Tew-iron.

1339 Will W. West (Comm. Crt. Lond.), Towiren. 1408 Durham Acc. Roll in Eng. Hist. Rev. XIV. 520 In portagio unius towyrene de forgeo praedicto usque Westauklanad pro emendatione ejusdem, ad.

Towist, variant of Toust Obs.

Towk(e, Towker(e: see Toque, Tuck, Tucker.

Towl, towle, towlle, obs. forms of Toll.

Tow-line (tōʷlain). [f. Tow v.[3] or sb.[4] + Line sb.[2]] A line, rope, or hawser by which anything is towed; spec. in Whaling. the whale-line.

1719 De Foe Crusoe (1840) II. ix. 204 Taking the end of a tow-line in his hand. 1725 — Voy. round World (1840) 347 The greatest difficulty was for tow-lines to draw the boats by. 1839 Marryat Phant. Ship xvii, The boats had cast off the tow-lines. 1881 Times 20 June 6/5 The tow-lines of the tugs were made fast to the barque.

Towlsell, obs. form of Tolsel.

Towm(e, var. Taum, fishing-line; obs. f. Toom.

Towmond, towmont, Sc. ff. Twelvemonth.

Town (taun), sb. Forms: 1 tuun, 1-4 tūn, (4-5 tounne), 4-5, Sc. 6- toun, (4-5 ton, tone), 5-6 toune, (5 towunne, 6 toen), 5-7 towne, 5- town, (8-9 Sc. toon (= tun)). [OE. tuun, tūn m. = OFris., OS., MLG. tūn (MDu. tuun, Du. tuin, LG. tiuun, tūn), OHG., MHG. zūn (Ger. zaun); ON. tún neut. (Norw. dial. tūn farm-yard, older Da. tūn, Sw. dial. tūn, tōn hedge, fence): —OTeut. tūnō*, -ō[n], cogn. with Celtic dūn in -dūnum, Ir. dūn, W. dīn fortified place, castle, camp. The sense in OHG. was 'fence, hedge', as in Ger. zaun; in mod.Du. and LG. it has both the senses 'fence or hedge' and 'enclosed place, garden'. In OE. the sense 'fence, hedge' does not occur, only that of 'enclosed place', as in sense 1, and its developments in senses 2 and 3, in which it was frequently used to render L. villa. The modern sense 4 is later than the Norman Conquest, and corresponds to F. ville 'town, city', as similarly developed from L. villa 'farm, country-house.']

†1. An enclosed place or piece of ground, an enclosure; a field, garden, yard, court. Obs.

c 725 Corpus Gloss. (O.E. T.) 546 Co[h]ors, tuun. a 800 Erfurt Gloss. 281 Coro, tuun. c 870 O. E. Chron. an. 867, His lic lió þær on tune. c 950 Lindisf. Gosp. Matt. xxvi. 36 Þa cuomon ðe heleend mid him in tun ðe hata gezemani [Lat. villam; Gr. χωρίον] Wycl. tonne; Tind., Genesis 1611, place; Coverd. fede; Cranmer farme place; Rheims village]. c 1000 Ags. Gosp. Mark xv. 21 Simonem cireneum cumende of þam tune [Lat. cummende of lond; Rushw. cymende of londe]; Lat. de villa; Gr. ἀπὸ ἀγροῦ; Wycl. fro the toun; Tind. oute of the felde; Coverd. from the fede; Gen., Rheims, 1611, out of the countrey]. — Luke xiv. 18 Ic bohte ænne tun [Lind., Rushw. lond ic bohte; Lat. villam emi; Gr. ἀγρὸν ἠγόρασα; Wycl. a toun; Tind., Coverd. a ferme; 1611 a piece of ground]. Ibid. xv. 15 Ða sende he hine to his tune þæt he heolde his swyn [Lind. on lond his; Lat. in villam suam; Gr. εἰς τοὺς ἀγροὺς αὐτοῦ; Wycl. in to his toun; Tind. to his ferme; Coverd. into his fedde]. — John iv. 5 Þæh þam tune [Lat. juxta praedium; Gr. πλησίον τοῦ χωρίου; Wycl. the manere, gloss or feeld, latervers. the place; Tind. the possession; Coverd. yᵉ pece of londe; Rheims the maner; 1611 the parcell of ground]. c 1000 Sax. Leechd. I. 132 Hreowyn lytlum oftost wexeþ on tune. a 1123 O. E. Chron. an. 1114, And þæt zehwæs on wudan and on tunan zecydde. 1388 Wyclif Matt. xxii. 5 But thei..wenten forth, oon in to his toun [1382 vyneerd; Lat. villam; Gr. ἀγρόν; Aug. G. tune; Tind. ferme place; Coverd. huszbandrye; 1611 farme], anothir to his marchaundise.

(Cf. also the OE. compounds tūn-cressa garden cress, tūn-mohlin, Attorlice hermenig; appel-tūn apple orchard, cyric-tūn churchyard, dēor-tūn deer-park, gærs-tūn meadow, lēc-tūn graveyard, wyrt-tūn vegetable garden.)

†b. spec. The enclosed land surrounding or belonging to a single dwelling; a farm with its farmhouse (still Sc. dial.); a manor, 'an estate with a village community in villenage upon it under a lord's jurisdiction'; the enclosed land of a village community; sometimes also = parish, when this was coextensive with a manor. Obs.

602-4 Laws Æthelbert c. 17 Gif man in mannes tun þeræt þeunes, vi scillingum þebete; se þe æfter inne, iii scillingas. 972 Charter Eadgar in Birch Cart. Sax. III. 586 þis land þara feower tuna lond gemæra. a 1100 Gerefa in Anglia (1886) IX. 259 And æcre tiððan timan þe to tune belimpð. c 1200 Vices & Virt. 77 Uppe þa chirch-laudes, oþer uppe tunes. c 1220 Bestiary 391 Fox is hire to name. Þe coc & te capun ȝe fecchedð offe in þe tun. c 1375 Sc. Leg. Saints xxvii. (Machor) 92 He gaf of heritable rycht to godis seruice al þat tun In-to fre possessione. c 1386 Wyclif Serm. Sel. Wks. I. 22 A man hadde a fermour, as keper of a toun. 1628 Coke On Litt. § 1. b By the name of a towne, Villa, a manor may passe. Ibid. § 193. 125 b, If a matter be alledged in Faverchia, it shall be intended in Law that it containeth no more Townes then one, vnlesse the party doth shew the contrary. 1785 J. Mill Diary (1889) 75 Some hill towns [= farms] had a good deal of corn on the ground to shear.

2. The house or group of houses or buildings upon this enclosed land; the farmstead or homestead on a farm or holding. Now esp. Sc.

c 890 tr. Bede's Hist. iv. xi. [xiv.] (1890) 240 Þes tun [villa] wæs forlæten.. & oðer wæs fore þæm ȝetimbred. Ibid. iii. xiv. [xvi.] 202 Aslat þa þa tunas ealle ymb þa burȝ onwæȝ. a 900 O. E. Martyrol. 9 June 92 Þa ongan se tun bernan .. þa forburnon ealle þara monna hus þa on þæm tune wæron. 1362 Langl. P. Pl. A. x. 134 Barounes of Burgeis and Bonde men of tounes [MS. U. towne]. c 1400 Plowman's Tale 11. 1043 Threshing and dyking fro town to town. 1535 Robinson tr. More's Utopia i. (1895) 57 They whyche plucked downe fermes and townes of husbandrye. c 1689 Depred. Clan Campbell (1816) 42 Taken out of Achingoul.. be Lochaber men, ten coues.. Item, be them out of that toun, 40 sheep and goats. 1814 Scott Waver. lx, Waverley learned.. from this colloquy that in Scotland a single house was called a town. 1825 — Guy M. xxiii, Two or three low thatched houses, placed with their angles to each other, with a great contempt of regularity. This was the farmstead of Charlie's Hope, or, in the language of the country, 'the town'. 1888 Bryce Amer. Commw. II. xlviii. 225 note, In Scotland (where it is pronounced 'toon') it still denotes the farmhouse and buildings.

3. A (small) group or cluster of dwellings or buildings; a village or hamlet with little or no local organization. (Often = L. vicus.) Now dial.

In var. Eng. dials., the town is spec. applied to the hamlet or cluster of houses contiguous to the church; more fully the church-town.

c 725 Corpus Gloss. (O.E.T.) 557 Conpetum, tuun, prop. a 800 Erfurt Gloss. 307 Conpetum, tuun vel prop. c 950 Lindisf. Gosp. John xxi. 8 Se þæm seðe uses of Sna Simon tuune on galilees mes[3]. c 1000 Ælfric Hom. II. 54 ȝifta wæron ȝewordene on anum tune þe is ȝecized Chana. a 1067 Charter of Eadweard in Kemble Cod. Dipl. IV. 203 A. bydeð lond on Waltham, and þe cherche of þæm tune. c 1200 Ormin 7016 Þatt tun wass nemmned Bebbleȝem. a 1300 Cursor M. 14790 (Cott.) þat es þe tun of bethleem. c 1386 Chaucer Prol. 478 A poure Person of a toun [tr. toune]. Wyd was his parisshe and houses fer ysonder..With hym ther was a Plowman was his brother. 1387 Trevisa Higden (Rolls) II. 39 In Mon [Anglesey] beeþ þre hondred townes [villae] þre score and þre, and beeþ accounted for þre candredes, þat beeþ þre hundredes. 1483 Cath. Angl. 391/1 A Towne, pagus, pognius, pagos greece, villa, villula. 1508 Dunbar Poems vii. 55 In euery cete, village, and in toune. 1526 Tindale John xi. 1 Lazarus of Bethania the toune of Mary and her sister Martha. 1596 E. Wossely Surv. Manner of Felsted, Essex 129 (MS.) The highway leading from Felsted towards the town of Leighes. 1731 T. Boston Mem. vii. (1899) 112 The circumstances of the people, all in one little town [i.e. the hamlet of Simprin], within a few paces from one end to the other. 1809 Mar. Edgeworth Absentee ix, He arrived at a village, or, as it was called, a town, which bore the name of Colambre. 1812 Brackenridge View Louisiana (1814) 119 Amongst the Americans, every assemblage of houses, no matter of how small a number, is denominated a town. 1887 Pall Mall G. 19 Aug. 11/1 Wretched villages, misnamed towns, scattered throughout Ireland. 1887 I. R. Lady's Ranche Life in Montana 12 We are only a mile from the town (eight houses and an hôtel); but only think, in this barbarous region, being only a mile from railway station, telegraph, and post-office! 1888 Bryce Amer. Commw. II. xlviii. 226 note, In parts of eastern England the chief cluster of houses in a parish is still often called 'the town'. 1888 Elworthy W. Somerset Gloss., Town, a collection of houses. ..In all parts of the district the villages are called towns when they are collectively referred to, especially by rustics.

4. Now, in general English use, commonly designating an inhabited place larger and more regularly built than a village, and having more complete and independent local government; applied not only to a 'borough', i.e. a corporate town, and a 'city', which is a town of higher rank, but also to an 'urban district', i.e. a non-corporate town having an 'urban district council' with powers of rating, paving, and sanitation more extensive than those possessed by a parish council or the administrative body (where such exists) of a village. Sometimes also applied to small inhabited places below the rank of an 'urban district', which are not distinguishable from villages otherwise, perhaps, than by having a periodical market or fair ('market town'), or by being historically 'towns'.

The distinction between a small town which is not a municipal borough, and a village, is somewhat indefinite; there are also decayed towns, even municipal boroughs, which are surpassed in population by many villages.

1154 O. E. Chron. an. 1137. § 3 (Laud MS.) Hi leiden ȝeþilde o þe tunes æure um wile..Þa þe ureecce men ne hadden nan more to ȝyuen, þa rezueden hi & brendon alle þe tunes. c 1200 Ormin 8511 Fra land to land, fra tun to tun, Fra wic to wic i tune. c 1205 Lay. 14246 Ane burh he ærerde muchele & mare ..& for swuche gomen þa tun [Lancaster] habde þas þreo nomen. a 1225 Juliana 8, & þiken him sont te tun from strete to strete. c 1275 Passion 70 in O. E. Misc. 39 As he com in-to þe bureh so rydinde þe children of þe tune [Jerusalem] comen syngynde. 1297 R. Glouc. (Rolls) 5249 Hii come, & londone, & kauntebury, & oþer tounes nome. 1375 Barbour Bruce xi. 138 Sum ligit without the townys In tentis and in palȝeownys. c 1400 Land Troy Bk. 7429 Thei dyed thikkere then men dryues gese To chepyng-toun for to selle. c 1400 Maundev. (1839) iv. 30 Joppa..is on of the oldest townes of the world. 1419 Munim. de Melrose (Bann. Cl.) 500 All þe landis Tenementis and byggynnis..in þe said Towne of Edynburghe. 1472-3 Rolls of Parlt. VI. 33/2 The Chauncelor and Scolers of the Universite in your Toune of Oxonford. 1512 Act 4 Hen. VIII, c. 7 § 2 And that in all other Cities, Boroweys, and Townes .. the Maires, Bailiffes, or hede Officers, and Wardeyns to haue like Authoritie. And wher noo Wardeyns be, then the hede Officers or Governours of the same Cities, Boroweys and Townes to appoynt certeyn persones .. to make serche. Ibid. c. 19 § 10 In Hundredes, Townes Corporate & nott corporate, parishes & all other places. 1552 Huloet, Towne beynge walled, oppidum. Ibid., Towne incorporate, municipium. 1556 W. Waterman Fardle Facions 10 Of Tounes, thei made cities, and of villages, Tounes. 1597 in Maitl. Cl. Misc. I. 89 Within the toune and citie of Glasgw. a 1600 Montgomerie Misc. Poems xlvii. 39 Constantinopll..Effir his name he calli the citie syn, Becaus he lovit it best of tounis all. 1610 Holland Camden's Brit. (1637) 497 This is the chiefe Towne of all this Shire. 1628 Coke On Litt. § 171. 115 b, If a Towne be decayed so as no houses remayne, yet it is a Towne in Lawe..It cannot bee a Towne in Law, vnlesse it hath, or in time past hath had a Church and celebration of Diuine Seruice..It appeareth by Littleton, that a Towne is the genus, and a Borough is the species, for .. every Borough is a Towne, but every Towne is not a Borough. 1649 Br. Guthrie Mem. (1702) 80 A Wonder lasts but nine Nights in a Town (as we use to say). 1765 Blackstone Comm. I. Introd. iv. 114 The word town is indeed.. now become a generical term, comprehending under it the several species of cities, boroughs, and common towns. 1809 Kendall Trav. I. ii. 12 A collection of houses joining or nearly joining each other, is the first requisite in the definition of town, though the word is taken in the loosest sense. 1861 M. Pattison Ess. (1889) I. 44 The free towns of Lübeck, Bremen, and Hamburg.

b. Without article, after prepositions and verbs, as in, out of, to town, to leave town, etc.: i. e. the particular town under consideration, or that in or near which the speaker is at the moment; the town with which one has to do, the market-town, the chief town of the district or province, the capital; in England since c 1700 spec. said of London.

There are earlier uses referring to London, but only as said by persons living there.

c 1250 Gen. & Ex. 2311 And quuan he weren ut tune went, Iosep hauedʒ hem after sent. 13.. Cursor M. 2346 (Cott.) On mun wit godds hemisnc. Was mai rekeuan lede o ton [Gött. of þe tun]. 1377 Langl. P. Pl. B. xiii. 266 Alle Londoun..ilketh wel my wafres..Þere was a carful comune whan no carte come to toune With bake bred fro stretforth. 1389 in Eng. Gilds (1870) 58 Ne be in toun [London] oþer out of toun. 1431 Ibid. 273 If he be in toune [Cambridge] and comyth not. 1450 Rolls of Parlt. V. 182/2 The kyng sent for all his Lordes..þienne beyng in Towne [London]. 1618 Bolton Florus iv. i. (1636) 266 The ambassadours of the Allobroges (at that time, as it happed, in town [Rome]) were dealt with. 1638 Junius Paint. Ancients 122 Strangers ..as soone as they come to Towne [London], enquire for him first of all. 1645 Evelyn Diary 31 Oct., I invited all the Irish and Scots in town to a feast. 1748 Commons' Jrnls. V. 545/2 That a Letter be directed to the Vice Admiral, to desire him to suffer Prince Philip, Brother to the Prince Elector, to come to Town. 1689 in Acts Parlt. Scot. (1892) XIX. 60/2 In the meanes adventure such as are in towne [Edinburgh] That they be present accordingly. 1711 Steele Spect. No. 2 P 2 Wlien he is in Town, he lives in Soho-Square. 1711 Hearne Collect. (O. H. S.) III. 127 Dr. Charlett went out of Town last [illegible] purpose that he might not be present. 1739 Chesterf. Lett. (1792) I. 122, I shall come to town next Saturday. 1770 Foote Lame Lover I. Wks. 1799 II. 60 Well known about town. 1792 Gentl. Mag. Jan. 1/2 A friend of mine, who was lately in town, saw many of them in the shop-windows. 1815 Simond Tour Gt. Brit. I. 17 At Richmond..I set out by myself for town, as London is called par excellence. 1825 T. Cossett Footman's Directy. 170 necessary to be in the know to know town. 1848 Dickens Dombey xxx, A stately relative..who was out of town. 1902 R. Hichens Londoners 27, I shall leave town at least by the first of July.

c. spec. as distinct from or contrasted with the country (Country 5).

c 1386 Chaucer Miller's T. 194 And for she was of toune [tr. tr. toune, tounne, town] he profreth meede, For some folk wol ben wonnen for richesse. 1712 Lady M. W. Montagu Let. to W. Montagu 9 Dec., You say I love the town. 1725 Pope and Ep. Mdle Blount 2 Dear, distrust Virgin, whom her mother's care Drags from the Town to wholesome Country air. 1780 Mirror No. 105 P 2, I would beg of those who migrate from the city, not to carry too much of the town with them into the country. 1784 [see Country 5]. 1909 Lloyd George in Daily News 9 Apr. 8 Land in the town seems to be let by the grain as if it was radium.

d. In M.E., and later in ballad poetry, etc., often added after the name of a town, in apposition. arch. (Cf. OE. Rome-burh, Lunden-burh, etc.)

13.. Sawyn Sag. (W.) 551 Whilom a riche burgeis was, And woned her in Rome toune. 1 Repp. Sir Patrick Spence i. in Percy Reliques (1845) 20/1 The king sits in Dumferling toune. 1 a 1700 K. John & Abbot ii. ibid. 167/2 They rode poste..to fair London toune. 1703 Rowe Ulysses Prol. 8 Her husband..Left her..to..ride in a chariot at Troy toun. 1782 Cowper John Gilpin i, A trainband captain eke was he Of famous London town. 18.. Rossetti (title) Troy Town.

5. As a collective sing. a. The community of a town in its corporate capacity; the corporation; b. The inhabitants of a town, the townspeople; c. spec. the fashionable society of London (or other leading city thought of); 'society'. arch.

*c*1330 R. Brunne Chron. (1810) 334 Þe toper day on be morn com þe Brus Roberd, þe toun wist it beforn, þorgh spies þat þei herd. *c*1450 Henry Wallace II. 19 So he desirit the toune of Air to se His cousyn, with him. 1582 Allen Martyrd. Campion (1908) 56 All the towne loved him exceedingly. a 1616 Beaumont Let. to B. Jonson 50 Wit able enough to justify the Town For three days past! 1632 Massinger & Field Fatal Dowry iv. 1, 'Tis all the town talks. 1665 Pepys Diary 21 June, I find all the town almost going out of town. 1693 Dryden Persius' Sat. i. 5 That this vast universal Fool, the Town, Shou'd cry up Labeo's Stuff, and cry me down. 1713 Swift Prompt. Y. Denny Wks. 1755 III. 1. 104 That wife piece, that's foisted upon the town for a dramatick poem! 1742 Pope Dunc. iv. 292 [He], all at once let down, Stunn'd with his giddy Learn half the town. 1849 Macaulay Hist. Eng. ii. I. 405 His Absalom and Achitophel, the greatest satire of modern times, had amazed the town, had made its way.. even into rural districts.

d. absol. At Oxford and Cambridge: The civic community or body of citizens or townsmen as distinct from members of the university; esp. in phr. town and gown (often attrib.); cf. Gown sb. 5. a 1647 Fuller in Archæologia XII. 228, I was forced..my gracer for Bachelor of Arts being denied him in town and town, to abandon the university. 1828 Sporting Mag. XXI. 428 Parties of five or six, both 'gown' and 'town,' were parading abreast. a 1845 Hood Lament Tay, Farewell to 'Town!' farewell! 'Tis quite outgrown the latter. 1853 C. Bede' Verdant Green II. iv, The battle of Town and Gown was over. 1861 Hughes Tom Brown at Ox. xi, I wish..to disclaim..all sympathy with town and gown rows. 1912-23 Kelly's Oxford Directory 2/2 In 1354 a desperate Gown and Town riot began on St. Scholastica's day, February 10th, and lasted three days, during which 40 students and 60 townsmen lost their lives.

6. U.S. A geographical division for local or state government. a. A division of a county, which may contain one or more villages or towns (in sense 4); a township; also, the inhabitants of such a division as a corporate body. (Esp. in the New England states.) b. A municipal corporation, having its own geographical boundaries (as distinct from a.), considered either in reference to its area or as a body politic.

1808 A. Wilson Poems & Lit. Prose (1876) I. 148 The people here make no distinction between town and township, and travellers frequently asked the driver.. 'What town are we now in?' when perhaps we were on the top of a miserable barren mountain. 1820 Flint Lett. 1. ii. 12 In New England..a town is very commonly described as containing two or three villages. Ibid. 13 A town..in Connecticut, and the other parts of New England, is first a district, or geographical subdivision..Secondarily, it is a body politic and corporate. Ibid. x. 113 The constitution of the towns appears to be..a mixture of those of the shire, hundred and parish. 1829 Boston Centinel 31 July (Thornton), The crops of hay in the lower towns were in all parts heavy. 1822 J. Hawley Tour [in Ohio] 33 (ibid.) The timber of these towns is beech..and black walnut. 1882 W. D. Howells in Longm. Mag. I. 42 In New England the 'town' is the township, and there are some villages in which there is no village at all. 1888 Bryce Amer. Commw. II. ii. xlviii. 226 The Town is..a rural, not an urban community. ..Its population is usually small. Ibid., note, In New England the word 'town' is the most usual one; in the west of the country 'township'. Ibid. 240 The words 'town' and 'township' signify [in Illinois, etc.] a territorial division of the county, incorporated for purposes of local government. 1890 Hosmer Anger Yesterday 129 Each Massachusetts town sent a representative to a central assembly at Boston. 1906 W. Churchill Coniston I. v, The town of Coniston..was a tract of country about ten miles by ten, the most thickly settled portion of which was the village of Coniston, consisting of twelve houses.

7. fig. and transf. (from 4). a. Something analogous to a town as being the home of many people. 1890 W. J. Gordon Foundry 75 The ship is a flying town, self-contained and independent of outside aid. 1898 Kipling in Daily News 7 Nov. 5/2 That which was a line has suddenly become a town on the water.

b. An assemblage of burrows of prairie-dogs, nests of penguins, etc.

1808 Pike Sources Mississ. II. (1810) 256 note, The Wish-toonah of the Indians, prairie dogs of some travellers.. reside on the prairies of Louisiana in towns or villages. 1812 Brackenridge Views Louisiana (1814) 58 The Prairie dog ..lives in burrows, or as they are commonly called towns. 1839 Marryat Phant. Ship xviii, These [penguins] were in myriads on some parts of the island, which, from the propinquity of their nests .. went by the name of towns. 1890 W. P. Lett in Big Game N. Amer. 470 Danger occasioned by badger-holes and prairie-dog towns.

8. Phrases. (See also 4 b.) a. To come († go) to town, to make one's appearance, arrive, come in; † to † come to stay', to become common (obs.). Cf. to come to land (Land *sb.*2 d).

Prob. the original notion was 'come to our village, come to dwell with us, come to the dwellings of men'. In later times associated with the later sense of town (4 b).

a 1000 Menologium (Gr.) 8 Se kalendus cymeð..on þam yrman dæge us to tune. c 1050 Byrhtferth's Handbor in Anglia VIII. 312/29 Lenctenmanaðe ic to tune on vii. Id. febr. c 1200 Ormin 9260 Allse bildell birrþ þeon sennd To þarrkenn & to greppenn Onnsæn hiss Lafferd þær þær he Shall cumenn skett to tune. a 1275 Prov. Ælfred 534 in O. E. Misc. 133 Elde cumiþ to tune of þe dwellinge of men'. In later times associated with the later sense of town (4 b). a 1000 Menologium (Gr.) 8 Se kalendus cymeð..on þam yrman dæge us to tune. c 1050 Byrhtferth's Handbor in Anglia VIII. 312/29 Lenctenmanaðe ic to tune on vii. Id. febr. c 1200 Ormin 9260 Allse bildell birrþ þeon sennd To þarrkenn & to greppenn Onnsæn hiss Lafferd þær þær he Shall cumenn skett to tune. a 1275 Prov. Ælfred 534 in O. E. Misc. 133 Elde cumiþ to tune of þe dwellinge of men'. In later times associated with the later sense of town (4 b). a 1300 Cursor M. 14277 'Crist', seo said, 'es cummen to ton'. c 1475 Rauf Coilzear 349 Folkis..Thankand God.. Thair Lord was gane to toun. 1600 Ovids Metamorphosis (MS.) (Gerrard), This first was court-like, now 'tis come to towne; 'Tis common growne with every country clowne. 1852 D. Jerrold St. George ii. 21 I've been quite in the way of babies tonight, young master's come to town. 1905 Daily Chron. 11 Mar. 4/6 This Thrums sketch proved to delighted Londoners that J. M. Barrie had 'come to town'.

b. Man about town (also formerly young fellow, youth, girl about town), one who is constantly seen at public and private assemblies in 'town'; one who is in the round of social functions, fashionable dissipations, etc. (cf. d. (a)).

c 1645 Howell Lett. (1650) II. 94, I was a youth about the 'Town when he undertook that expedition. 1749 Lady Luxborough Let. to Shenstone 26 Nov., Miss Jenny Hamilton, a pretty girl about town. 1766 Goldsm. Vic. W. xx, I'll show you forty very dull fellows about town that live by it [authorship] in opulence. 1769 Chesterf. Let. to Godson 6 Sept., There are now two sorts of young fellows about Town, who call themselves Bucks and Bloods. 1844 Dickens Mart. Chuz. xxvi, He was quite the man-about-town of the conversation. 1889 W. Roberts Hist. Eng. Bookselling 12 Wits, men-about-town, and fashionable notabilities.

c. Man or woman (girl) of the town: one belonging to the shady or 'fast' side of town life. a 1700 B. E. Dict. Cant. Crew, Man o' th' Town, a Lew'd Spark, or very Debauche. a 1704 T. Brown Dial. Dead Wks. 1730 II. 313, I have been a man of the town..and admitted into the family of the rakehellonians. 1766 Goldsm. Vic. W. xx, The lady was only a woman of the town. 1785 Grose Dict. Vulg. T., Man of the town, a rake, a debauchee. Ibid., Woman of the town, or, of pleasure, a prostitute. 1817-18 Cobbett Resid. U. S. (1822) 229 Never is there seen in the streets what is called in England, a girl of the town.

d. On the town: (a) in the swing of fashionable life, pleasure, or dissipation; (b) getting a living by prostitution, thieving, or the like; cf. on the streets; (c) chargeable to the parish (dial.). So to come upon the town.

1712 Steele Spect. No. 266 ¶ 2 This Creature is what they call newly come upon the Town. 1727 Gay Begg. Op. ii. iv, I han't been so long upon the Town. 1819 Metropolis I. 123 She had got with her a listening novice on town. Ibid. I. 167 have a man looking to see what is in the Gazette in three months, and on the town again, brighter than ever. 1842 Egan Capt. Macheath, J. Flashman (Farmer), Jack long was on the town, a teazer! Could turn his fists to anything. Nay, a reader, or flich a ring. 1843 R. J. Graves Syst. Clin. Med. xxvi. 333 Prostitutes who had been a long time on the town. 1855 Thackeray Newcomes x, Five-and-twenty years ago the young Earl of Kew came upon the town, which speedily rang with the feats of his Lordship.

e. Town and tower, tower and town: see Tower *sb.*1 9 a.

9. attrib. and Comb. a. Simple attrib. passing into adj. use (now usually without hyphen): Of, pertaining to, or characteristic of the town (as distinct from some other place or community, esp. the country); that is or lives in towns or the town; urban.

1468 Medulla Gram., Comedia, a town song. 1560 Daus tr. Sleidane's Comm. 160 The towne wines, whan they go to bere Masse, are fill with bookes of Latin prayers. 1594 Hooker Eccl. Pol. Pref. ii. § 3 One of the Towne-Ministers, that saw in what manner the people were bent for the reuocation of Calvine. 1673 Charms, Coffee-house (title-p.) The Symptomes of a Town-wit. 1693 J. Dunton Athenian Merc. 14 Nov., The ridiculous Folly of our Town-Sparks who make an Oath their Argument. 1702 Steele Funeral iii. 1, 44 She has of a sudden left her Drury, and sets up for the Town-Wife. 1710 Tatler No. 271 Lewdness and intemperance are not of so bad consequences in a town-rake as in a divine. 1753 World No. 3 ¶ 2 According to the town-acceptation of the term. 1794 W. Felton Carrier Pigeons (1810) II. 18 ¶ 2, 35 A neat ornamental, or town coach. 1844 Wardlaw Lect. Prov. (1869) II. 16 Town missions and country missions. 1848 Mill Pol. Econ. Pref. Rem. (1876) 9 These (agricultural communities of ancient Europe)..were mostly small town-communities. 1848 Thackeray Van. Fair v, He fought the town-boys. 1855 Macaulay Hist. Eng. xiv. III. 493 The difference.. between a town divine and a country divine. 1867 H. Latham Black & White 100 Houses which look like the town-residences of well-to-do gentry. 1887 A. Jenks in Lippincott's Mag. Aug. 295 These performances were very attractive to old graduates and town-people. 1897 Athenæum 6 Sept. Med. II. 849 It is safer to take a lower standard for the average town inhabitant.

b. attrib. in sense ' of or belonging to a town as a community or place', as town armoury, back, bell, charge, church, clock, close, dike, drummer, father, field, folk, green, herd, loan (Loan *sb.*2 2), mead, moor, mote (Moot *sb.*1 2), piper, plate (Plate sb. 17), pump, relief, seal, stocks, swineherd, wait, watch, wharf.

1596 Shaks. Tam. Shr. iii. ii. 47 An olde rusty sword ten yeare out of the 'Towne Armory. 1577 Holinshed Chron. II. 473/2 All their horsemen issued out of the 'towne backe with certayne footemen. 1483 Cely Papers (Camden) 137 To be redy in harnesse as sone as the 'towne bell yngyth. 1587 Fleming Hist. Eng. People I. 298 Its citizens mustered at the call of the town-bell at Saint Paul's. 1619 Min. Archdeaconry of Colchester K. 104 b (MS.), The some of viij d. toward a rate for 'towne charge which the Churchens of Alresford have layd out. 1645 Acts of Thurstan in Thorpe Charters 572 pat [land] ..after here bothere day into be 'tonkirke, and be mon fre.] 1888 P. Schaff Hist. Chr. Ch. VI. xxviii. 736 He preached both in the morning and in the town-church. 1779 Mirror No. 41 ¶ 2 He..had been regulating his watch by our 'town-clock. 1726 Addison Drummer i. i, I verily believe I saw him last night in the 'Town-close. 1801 Farmer's Mag. Jan. 20 The horses, cattle, sheep, and swine..are not to be suffered to go loose within 'town-dikes. 1872 C. Carson For the King i, Bauldy Dodholm, the 'town-drummer, at their head. 1891 Pall Mall G. 25 June 6/2 At the station the 'town-fathers [cf. Father sb. 10] offered her some refreshments. 1297 R. Glouc. (Rolls) 1582 ȝo wende worþ be 'toun folc. 1907 J. Halsham Lonewood Corner 33 Town-folk foundered in these drenched wood-paths. 1641 B. Riding Rec. 112 A yeoman presented for an encroachment on the 'towne-greene by building a barn to the damage of the inhabitants. 1822 Galt Provost xxxvii, Tammy Lout, the 'town-herd. 1812 W. Tennant Anster F. I. iv, Hobbling in each 'town-loan in awkward guise. 1822 Galt Provost xlvi, A considerable portion of the 'town moor. 1879 Green Read. Eng. Hist. xiv. 67 The burgesses gathered in 'town-mote when the bell swung out from St. Paul's. 1701 Lond. Gaz. No. 3790/4 A 'Town-plate of about 15l. value will be Run for at the same Place. 1810 Crabbe Borough xxi. 171 For 'town-relief the grieving man applied, And begg'd with tears, what some with scorn denied. 1594 Hooker Eccl. Pol. Pref. ii. § 5 By common consent of their whole Senate, and that under their 'Towne-Seale. 1821 Scott Kenilw. ii, To get your legs made acquainted with the 'town-stocks. 1825 — Betrothed vii, He blows like a 'town swineherd. a 1894 A. Carlyle Autobiog. (1860) 75 His band..consisted of two dancing-school fiddlers and the 'town-waits. 1560 Rolland Seuen Sag. 73 Gif I be heir now with the 'toun watche found. 1531 Lett. & Pap. Hen. VIII, V. 184 Carying of rubys out of the towne to the 'towne wharffs.

c. objective and obj. genitive, as town-builder, -taker; -destroying, -frequenting, -going, -keeping, -loving, -taking sbs. and adjs.; see also Town-planning; instrumental, etc., as town-dotted, -flanked, -girdled, -sick, -stained adjs.; locative, similative, etc., as town-bred, -cured, -imprisoned, -killed, -like, -looking, -pent, -spent, -tied, -trained adjs.; see also Town-born, Town-dweller.

1685 Bowles Theocritus' Idyllium xx. 43 in Dryden's Misc. II. 300 How nice these 'Town-bred Women are, how vain! 1869 Routledge's Ev. Boy's Ann. 396 Smart, active fellows, but thoroughly town-bred. 1905 Daily News 14 Jan. 4 Painter of sea and shore and 'town-flanked river. 1895 Athenæum 27 Apr. 530/3 The Dauphin's 'town-frequenting people. 1812 W. Tennant Anster F. iii. xxiv, Fife's 'town-girdled shire. 1838 Mary Howitt Birds & Pl., Sunshine i, 'Town-imprisoned men. 1899 Daily News 23 May 5/6 For 'town-leaping people the carthorse parade was one of the prettiest sights of the day. 1899 Q. Rev. Oct. 480 'Town-killed meat is a diminishing element. c 1000 Ælfric's Voc. in Wr.-Wülcker 127/15 Comedia, racu, 'tuniic spec. 1896 A. Dobson tr. Horace's Hypodytus ii. 73 All that has any townlike appearance relates to Ostia. 1849 J. Forbes Physic. Holiday v. (1850) 47 Waldshut is a neater and more 'town-looking place than we had yet passed through. 1649 G. Daniel Trinarch., Prince, The 'Towne-pent Rutters, willingly enlarge Their Quarters. 1840 T. A. Trollope Summ. Brittany I. 71 As enchanting a cottage..as 'town-sick mortal ever dreamed of. 1654 tr. Scudéry's Curia Pol. 5 That ancient Capitaine, which the Greekes stiled the 'Townsaker. 1849 J. Forbes Physic. Holiday i. (1850) 5 That..I may induce some of my 'town-tied friends to do as I have done.

10. Special combs.: † town-adjutant, formerly, a garrison officer, ranking as lieutenant, charged with certain routine duties; cf. Town-major; town-bound a., (a) bound or confined to town; (b) townward bound; town-box, the town chest; the public funds of a town; town-bull, a bull formerly kept in turn by the cow-keepers of a village; hence fig. of a man; town-bushel, a local standard bushel measure; cf. Bushel *sb.*1 1; † town-child, a child born in the town (where a school is founded, and thus sometimes entitled to be a free scholar); town-council, the elective deliberative and administrative body of a town: cf. Council 10; hence town-councillor, a member of a town-council; town-crier, a public crier; = Criier 2 b; town-cross, the market cross of a town; town-dab (local), the lemon-sole; town-foot, the lower end of a town or village; town-guard, (a) Sc. Hist., the military or quasi-military guard of a town; (b) the guard policing a garrison-town; also attrib.; town-head, the upper end of a town or village; † town-husband (local): see quot.; town-life, life in a town; spec. the social life of a town; town-liver, one who lives in a town; town-living, town-life; also an ecclesiastical benefice in a town (Living vbl. sb. 5); town-mouse, fig. a dweller in a town, esp. as unfamiliar with country life (in allusion to Æsop's fable); town-officer, (a) an officer (of excise) posted in a town; (b) in New England, a selectman; (c) Sc. an officer charged with keeping public order (cf. Town-major, town-guard); town-park: see Park sb. 3 a; also attrib.; town-piece [Piece sb. 13], a token issued by or current in a town; town-place (dial.): see quots.; town-plat, town-pump (U.S.), a plan of a township: cf. Plat *sb.*3 2, Plot sb. 3; town-reeve (now Hist.), the bailiff or steward of a tun; town-row, the sequence of houses in a town, or of homesteads in a parish or manor; also fig. the roll of townsmen: see quots. and cf. House-row; † town-side, the land close beside a town; town-site, the site of a town; spec. in U. S. and Canada, a tract of land set apart by legal authority to be occupied by a town, and (usually) surveyed and laid out with streets, etc.; town-skip, a jocular name for a city urchin; town-taking, the taking of a town; hence town-taking day at Hull, the anniversary of the day on which that city was secured for William of Orange; town-tallow, English, as distinct from continental tallow; †town-top, a whipping-top kept for public use: = parish-top (PARISH sb. 7); town-way, the way to the town; town-weed, a name for Dog's Mercury; †town-widow, ? a widow supported by public charity; town-woman, a woman of the town, a prostitute. See also TOWN BOOK, -CLERK, -GATE, HALL, etc.

1737 Town-Adjutant [see TOWN-MAJOR]. 1821 Brit. Mil. Libr. II. 5 v. The Town-Adjutant is an assistant to the Town-Major. 1898 A. MACMILLAN Lett. (1908) 3 Poor town-bound mechanics and shopmen. 1905 Westm. Gaz. 17 Oct. 7/1 There was a breakdown in the Town-bound trains at Balham. 1659 GAUDEN Tears Ch. ♣ ii, Upon the confiscation of them to their Town-box or Exchequer. 1597 SHAKS. 2 Hen. IV, ii. 172 A Kinswoman of my Masters...Euen such Kin, as the Parish Heyfors are to the Town-Bull! 1611 COTGR. s. v. Banniere, Tournée banniere, a cornuto, or town, bull. 1709 Brit. Apollo II. No. 55. 2/2 As dull as a Dormouse at them, but a very loun Bull abroad. 1647 FULLER Gd. Th. in Worst T. (1841) 136 As the town-hushel is the standard both to measure corn and other bushels by. 1886 Dict. Nat. Biog. VIII. 277/1 Entered at Christ's Hospital, probably as a town-child not of 'free scholar'. 1681 Acts Parlt. Scott. VIII. 411/2 Ane Act of the Town Council of the Burgh of Dumbartan in favore of the trades therof. 1775 A. BURNABY Trav. 75 note, Each township is managed by a town-council. 1851, 1863 [see COUNCIL 10]. 1874 GREEN Short Hist. iv. § 4. 128 Their merchant-gild...acted, in fact, pretty much the same part as a town-council of to-day. 1892 I. WILSON Annals of Hawick an. 1777, Walter Scott, town councillor, is degraded as such by the council...in respect of his twice breaking prison, after being convict by the bailies of a riot. 1602 SHAKS. Ham. iii. ii. 4 I had as lieue the Town-Crier had spoke my Lines. 1867 TROLLOPE Chron. Barset II. lix. 166 Her secret had been published, as it were, by the town-crier. 1836 YARRELL Brit. Fishes II. 222 [Lemon, or Smooth Dab] is taken on the Sussex coast, where it goes by the name of 'Town-Dab'. 1808 FORSYTH Beauties Scotl. I. 107 To raise, for the defence of the city [Edinburgh], a corps of no fewer than 126 men, ..which is called the town-guard. 1812 Gen. Regul. & Ord. Army 1. 1. 1.

*c*1440 Alphabet of Tales 330 Þe flammae at had burnyd all þe town-end..sesid. 1591 Reg. Privy Council Scot. IV. 625 Quha..raid away with him quite out the toun end of Sanctandreis. 1813 Scott Art. Mill. xxxi[ii], She's fast in the stocks at Barkiston town-end. 1886 S. W. Linc. Gloss. s. v., There's a pinfold at the town-end.

1421 Coventry Leet Bk. 30 Ne pat no man..lay no dong at the townsend in no placys, but without the stakes..beyond the Fer gate. 1472 Paston Lett. III. 71, I have begonne to felle asshe at the townes ende. 1621 Sanderson Serm. 1Cor. vii. 24 § 21 Our idle sturdy rogues, and vagrant townsend beggars. 1760–72 H. Brooke Fool of Qual. (1809) IV. 55 Yonder church-yard below the town's end.

Tow-net (tōʊ-net), sb. [f. Tow sb.[4] or v.[1] + Net sb.[1]] A drag-net or dredge used for the collection of natural specimens. Hence Tow-ne·t v., trans. to drag with a tow-net; intr. to use a tow-net; whence Tow·-netter, Tow·-netting vbl. sb.

1816 Tuckey Narr. Exped. R. Zaire i. (1818) 9 The tow-net was put overboard, and collected some of these animals. 1883 C. F. Holder in Harper's Mag. Jan. 186/2 Dr. Bennet ..captured a specimen in a tow-net. 1891 Herdman in Nature 23 July 274/1 While townetting during the last few days about the North Cape, we have had some large hauls of Copepoda. 1894 Q. Rev. Apr. 367 The direct evidence of tow-netting the upper layers of water with fine silk nets. 1899 Geogr. Jrnl. Feb. 153 There are two schools of tow-netters: the old-fashioned method..by which the nets are towed horizontally; and the new method, by which an open and closing net is let down as vertically as may be, and hauled in open through a given vertical area and then closed. 1902 R. Valentin in Jrnl. R. Inst. Cornw. XV. 84 No ephyræ were obtained in any of the tow-nettings made in the spring.

Town-father to -foot: see Town 9, 10.

Townful (tauˈnful). [f. Town sb.+-ful.] As many as a town contains or will contain.

1855 Motley Dutch Rep. iv. iv. (1866) 617 Had they not slaughtered unarmed human beings by townfuls, at the word of command? 1894 Westm. Gaz. 18 June 7/2 There are in the country not only junkers but big townfuls of poorly-paid working people, whose lives depended on a cheap loaf.

Tow·n-ga·te[1]. The gate of a walled town.

1433 Rolls of Parl. IV. 477/1 The kepyng of the Town Yate called the Castell Yate. 1598 Shaks. L. L. L. ii. 75 Sampson..carried the Towne-gates on his backe like a Porter. 1799 Hull Advertiser 21 Sept. 4/1 Mr. Bray.. protected the town-gate efficaciously with grape.

Town-ga·te[2]. Sc. and north. dial. Also 6–7 gait(e. [Gate sb.[2] 4.] The main street of a town or village.

1587 Durham Wills (Surtees) III. 129 Frome the particioner of the said barene notwithstanding, unto the toune-gaite. 1607 in N. Riding Rec. (1883) I. 99 Will. Kidd of Kirby Moorside presented for keeping disorder in the Towne-gate. 1817 Blackw. Mag. May 155/1 The straggled houses..with their gable-ends, backs, or corners, turned to the street or town-gate. 1867 Crim. Chronol. York Castle 207 The town-gate in Mirfield.

Town-green to -guard: see Town 9, 10.

Tow·n ha·ll. A large hall used for the transaction of the public business of a town, the holding of a court of justice, assemblies, entertainments, etc.; the great hall of the town-house or municipal building; now very commonly applied to the whole building. Also attrib.

1481–2 Churwell Church. Bks. (Roxb.) 160 Item, for pottes that ware brokyn in the towne hall. 1538 London in Lett. Suppress. Monast. (Camden) 223 [At Reading] The towne hall ys a very small howse, and stondith upon the ryver. 1691 Lond. Gaz. No. 2756/3 Colchester, Oct. 28. Yesterday my Mayor..proclaimed the Peace before the Town-Hall and Dutch Bay Hall. 1701 in Gentl. Mag. LXXXVIII. ii. (1818) 602/2 We inned here at the town-house, the town-hall being over part of it. 1837 R. N. Bain tr. Yokai's Pretty Michal xxii. 172 The clock in the town-hall tower struck eight.

Town-head, -herd: see Town 10, 9 b.

† Town-ho. Obs. Also 8 townor. (See quots.)

1791 in Coll. Mass. Hist. Soc. (1810) III. 154 The boys, as soon as they can talk, will make use of the common phrases, as townor, which is an abbreviation, signifies that they have seen the whale twice. 1851 H. Melville Whale II. 78 Town-ho, .. the ancient whale-cry upon first sighting a whale from the mast-head, still used by whalemen in hunting the famous Gallipagos terrapin.

Tow·n-house, town house.

1. A municipal building containing the public offices, court-house, and Town hall, and in some continental towns the official residence of the chief magistrate. Cf. F. hôtel de ville; Ger. stadthaus. In England now commonly called Town hall.

1530 Palsgr. 282/1 Towne house, prétoire. 1550 Bp. Hooper Serm. Jonas v. 106 Certeyne pictures in the towne house at Basyll. 1579 in W. H. Turner Sel. Rec. Oxford (1880) 403 Suche arrowes as the towne howsse nowe hathe. 1610 Holland Camden's Brit. (1637) 306 The greater part of the Towne (Buckingham) beareth North, wherein standeth the Towne-house. 1678 Lond. Gaz. No. 1287/3 The Burghers of Ghent have been commanded to bring in their Arms to the Town-house (Town Hall). 1756 tr. Keysler's Trav. (1760) III. 333 Placentia. On the area before the town-house are two bronze equestrian statues. 1765 T. Hutchinson Hist. Mass. I. iii. 361 A long declaration was read from the balcony..of the town-house. 1773 Hist. Brit. Dom. in N. Amer. III. ii. 71 The city-hall, or town-house, is a strong brick building, two stories in height. 1857 Whittier Last Walk Autumn xxi; The painted, shingly town-house where The freeman's vote for Freedom falls. 1895 Barrie Sent. Tommy[1] If you just see'd the Thrums townhouse!

b. U.S. (a) An almshouse, a workhouse. (b) A town prison (Cent. Dict. 1891).

1889 Farmer Americanisms s. v. Town, Townhouse, .. in Connecticut, an almshouse.

2. (Town house.) A house in a town; a residence in town, as distinguished from a country house.

1825 T. Hook Sayings Ser. II. Man of Many Fr. I. 284, I have no other town house to offer. 1862 H. Marryat Year in Sweden II. 293 The monks possessed a town-house in Söfde. 1886 C. E. Pascoe London of To-day xxii. (ed. 3) 211 Where now the maze of little courts and side streets extends to the Thames Embankment, there stood, centuries ago, the town-houses of the bishops, the ambassadors, and the powerful nobles. 1888 Saintsbury Marlborough x. 203 Tradition..assigns the fine Georgian house now used as the Judge's lodgings [Oxford] as having been built by the Duke for a town house.

Town-husband: see Town 10.

Townify (tauˈnifai), v. colloq. [f. Town+-(i)fy.] trans. To render town-like, or characteristic of the town. Hence Tow·nified ppl. a.

1777 Mrs. Grant Lett. fr. Mount. (1813) II. ii. 10 You have no notion how townified folks are, in all these little garrisons. 1881 R. Dewhurst in Macm. Mag. XLV. 120 This scenic grandeur will prevent it from ever getting a townified air. 1906 Academy 15 Dec. 602/2 Besides writing curious little townified poems about green fields, it builds curious little townified cottages in them.

Townjudge: see under Town sb.

Tow·nness. colloq. [f. Townv a.+-ness.] Townv quality or condition.

1881 Miss Braddon Asph. II. 153 Mrs. Turchill was so delighted with Torquay in its increased townness and shoppiness. 1901 F. W. Lawrence Heart of Empire ii. 73 There are thus two ideas of townness: one represented by the number of persons to the acre, and the other by the distance in time and space of the centre from the outer limits of the suburbs.

Townish (tauˈnisʃ), a. [f. Town sb.+-ish[1].]

† 1. Of or pertaining to a town; living, situated, or existing in a town; urban. Obs.

1412–20 Lydg. Chron. Troy i. 1339 To gape & loke, as it wer on a mase; þis townysche folk do so commonly On every þing þat falleth sodeinly. a 1542 Wyatt Sat. Y. Poins 4 A song made of the feldishe mouse: That.. Would nedes go to her townish sisters house. 1587 Turbervy Trag. T. (1837) 53 Leave off to leade thy life in lawndes, imbrace thy townish good. 1674 Jeake Arith. (1696) 74 Bakers that dwell in Cities and Towns were allowed 6s. .. which .. is still generally allowed to Townish Bakers.

2. Pertaining to or characteristic of the town or town life, esp. as distinguished from the country (in quot. 1500–20, from the court); having the manners or habits of town-dwellers.

1500–20 Dunbar Poems xlii. 39 Ȝe be to townage, be this buke, To be my ladeis presoneir. Ibid. lxxv. 247 He wes townysche, peirt, and gukit. 1530 Palsgr. 464 To bringe up an uplandyshe person in better manere or more townyssche condycions. 1600 Maides Metam. iv. in Bullen Old Pl. (1882) I. 149 As townish damzels lend the hand But send the heart to him aloofe doth stand. 1820 Blackw. Mag. VIII. 16 There is a certain townish something about the inhabitants in general.

Hence Tow·nishly adv., Tow·nishness.

1645 J. Bond Occasus Occid. 33 Another Place, Person, or Town-ship, (peradventure) have stood too Townishly upon their Privilges and Liberties. a 1899 Dr Quincey Posth. Wks. (1891) I. 229 A peculiar style of gossip, of babble, and of miniature intriguing, invests the atmosphere of little townishness.

Town-land. † a. OE. tūn-land. The land forming a tūn or manor. b. In Ireland, A division of land of varying extent; also, a territorial division, a township. c. In Scotland, The enclosed or infield land of a farm.

a. 972 in Earle Land Charters (1888) 445 Þis sindon þa lond ȝemæra þæra tun londa þe into þerscoran belimpaþ. b. 1658 Petty in Cal. S. P., Irel. (Advent.) 362 The survey of every particular townland. 1668 Fr. Act 14 & 15 Chas. II. c. 2 (iii) § 3 The..number of acres..in each town-land, village, balybo or quarter of land. 1804 Mar. Edgeworth Ennui v, Two or three cabins gathered together were sufficient to constitute a town, and the land adjoining thereto is called a town-land. 1842 S. C. Hall Ireland II. 354 The origin of town-lands..is of great antiquity. 1846 M'Culloch Acc. Brit. Empire (1854) I. 365 Townlands are sometimes attached to one parish for the assessment of the county taxes, while, with respect to tithes and other ecclesiastical contributions, they are considered as forming part of another. 1873 W. K. Sullivan in O'Curry Anc. Irish Introd. 98 The modern townland may be looked upon as the representative of all the parcels of land of whatever denomination from the Baile Biatach down, which had separate designations. 1892 Emily Lawless Grania iv. i. 166 Inishmaan possesses but two townlands, containing six quarters each, with sixteen croggeries to every quarter, and sixteen acres to every croggery. 1903 Times 17 Jan. 8/1 Ballycotsey is a townland in the county Tipperary. c. 1801 Farmer's Mag. Nov. 420 The infield, or town-land..looked to be good.

Tow·nless, a. [f. Town sb.+-less.] Having no town or towns; devoid of towns.

a 1500–50 Alexander 2288 How tidis it be [þ]at tounles þi toname is callid? 1601 Holland Pliny iv. xii. I. 80 Townlesse, and therfore obscure and of no reckoning. 1846 Ford Gatherings fr. Spain 15 This space..appears one townless level. 1884 Athenæum 1 Mar. 273/2 The inhabitants of these townless steppes live in carts; each cart containing a family.

Townlet (tauˈnlet). [f. as prec.+-let.] A tiny or diminutive town.

a 1552 Leland Itin. V. 94 Oglesfeld and Bradfeld, ij townelettes or villages, long to one parocho chirche. 1610 Holland Camden's Brit. II. 32 The coasts are well bespred with prety townlets. 1658 Phillips, Pasion, a Townlet in Northfolk, giving sirname and residence to an honourable family of this County. 1807 Southey Espriella's Lett. II. 244 One of those townlets in which every thing reminds us of the distance from a metropolis. 1890 Times 14 Oct. 4/1 [In Russia] Many townlets are changed by virtue of a local order into villages, and Jews resident in them are expelled.

Town-life, -living, etc.: see Town 9, 10.

Tow·nling. [f. Town sb.+-ling[1].]

1. A small town; a townlet.

1887 M. Betham-Edwards in Temple Bar Mag. Apr. 557 So dead-alive this townling of two or three thousand souls. 1892 E. Reeves Homeward Bound vi. 165 The rugged, bare mountains that look down on the Gulf of Salerno, and whereon nestle the townlings of Salerno and Amalfi.

2. A town-bred person. Also attrib.

1888 Doughty Arabia Deserta I. 128 Turns and terms of the herdsmen poets of the desert, which are dark or unknown in any form to the townling Syrians. Ibid. 2 He watched to see if the townling were discouraged, in viewing only their empty desert before him.

Townly (tauˈnli), a. [f. Town+-ly[1].] Pertaining to or characteristic of a town; having the manners or habits of town-dwellers; = Townish 2.

1749 Fielding Tom Jones xii. vii, I suppose she is one of your quality folks, one of your townly ladies that we saw last night in the puppet-show. 1822 Galt Sir A. Wylie xxiii, I intend to settle my townly affairs. 1895 Pall Mall G. 26 Jan. 3/2 Our country manners have grown townly.

Hence Tow·nliness.

1832 Mrs. F. Trollope Dom. Mann. Amer. xxxiii. (1839) 321 They throw off..their airs, and their 'townliness'.

Tow·n-made, a. Made or manufactured in a town; spec. in the town of the district. Also sb.

1809 Edin. Rev. XIII. 253 This is the very slang of..the lowest of our town-made novels. 1837 Dickens Sk. Boz, Dancing Acad. [He] bought a pair of the regular seven-and-sixpenny, long-quartered town-mades. 1840 Hood Kilmansegg, Marriage xxv, Town-made joys how dearly they cost. 1853 Perkins Haberdashery (ed. 8) 90 Kid is valuable in proportion to its elasticity. When this quality is united with closeness of texture, the gloves called 'Town made' are so superior to most others of our own manufacture, as to rival the French. 1862 Wynter Soc. Bees 163 Adulteration to which all town-made bread is obnoxious.

Tow·n-major. Obs. or Hist. a. The major of a town-guard, as formerly in Edinburgh. b. The chief executive officer in a garrison-town or fortress. c. Applied vaguely to the chief magistrate or administrative officer of a foreign town.

a. 1676 W. Row Contn. Blair's Autobiog. (1848) 554 Several meetings in Edinburgh were dispersed by Robert Johnston town-major. 1693 Apol. Clergy Scot. 29 Town Major of Edenburgh, living in the Parish of Leswade, Major Will. Murray. b. 1702 Milit. Dict., Town-Major, the third Officer in order in a Garrison, and next to the Deputy Governor. He ought to understand the Fortification, and has a particular Charge of the Guards, Rounds, Patrouilles, and Sentinels. 1715 Lond. Gaz. No. 5300/5 Robert Dalzell, Esq., to be Town Major thereof [of Portsmouth]. 1737 J. Chamberlayne St. Gt. Brit. ii. (ed. 33) 115 (Gibraltar) John Preston, Esq. Town-Major, Mr. Anthony Robinson, Town-Adjutant. 1856 Kaye Life Sir J. Malcolm I. iv. 62 The change was beneficial to Malcolm, who was nominated Town-Major of Fort St. George. 1876 Voyle Milit. Dict. (ed. 3) 436/1 Town-Major, an officer who regulates the duties of a garrison, such as the detail and supervision of garrison guards, the disposal of prisoners in the garrison guard-room, the roster of officers for garrison duties [etc.]. c. 1748 Earthquake of Peru i. 168 The Town-Major of Callao would not. 1784 T. Hutchins Descr. Louisiana, etc. 17 The people..sending three deputies to General O'Riley, viz. Messieurs Grandmaison town-major, La Freniere attorney-general, and De Marest. 1809 A. Henry Travels 12 After some further delay, in obtaining a passport from the town-major, I dispatched my canoes to Lachine, there to take in their lading. 1864 Burton Scot Abr. II. ii. 159 The town-major, finding them without credentials, or passports, ordered them to be carried to prison.

Hence Town-ma·jorship.

1856 Kaye Life Sir J. Malcolm I. iv. 62 New arrangements were made for the Town-Majorship of the Fort.

Tow·nman. Forms: see Town sb.

† 1. In OE. tūnman and ME. A villein; a tenant in villenage. Obs.

c 1000 Ælfric Gram. II. 344 Furseus oncneow sona ða sawle; se wæs his tun-man ær on life. c 1000 Ags. Voc. in Wr.-Wülcker 333/22 Villanus, tunman. 11.. Voc. ibid. 530/14 Villanus, tunmon. 14.. Bletr. Voc. ibid. 630/3 Villicus, townman. c 1450 Godstow Reg. 204, iii. acres lying in longefurlange vtermost toward the lond of the towne men.

2. A man who lives in a or the town: as contrasted with a countryman, or formerly with a courtier.

1399 Langl. Rich. Redeles ii. 41 So trouthe to telle as toune men said, Ffor on þat ye mankyd ȝe myssed in schore. c 1475 Rauf Coilȝear 523 Thair is mony toun man, to tuggill is full teuch. 1895 N. Munro Lost Pibroch (1902) 37 A townman would think the world slept, so great was the booming quietness. 1896 Westm. Gaz. 17 Apr. 1/3 You are calling upon the townman, the doctor, the lawyer, the shopkeeper, and the artizan, who has his own Local Government to pay for, to pay also for the police, the highways, and the sanitation of his country neighbours.

Tow·n-mee·ting. A general assembly of the inhabitants of a town; spec. in U.S. a legal meeting of the qualified voters of a 'town' for the transaction of public business, having certain powers of local government.

1636 Salem, Mass., Town Recds. 16 At a generall Court or towne meeting of Salem held the second of.. May a° 1636.

1839 Boston Town Reeds. 2 July, At the next townes meeting. 1747 SHIRLEY in Eng. Hist. Rev. Oct. (1912) 786 The principal cause of the mobbish turn of this town [Boston] is its constitution, by which the management of it is devolved upon the populace, assembled in their town meetings. 1819 JEFFERSON Autobiog. Wks. 1859 I. App. 116 The resolutions ..were probably those you mention of the town-meeting of Boston. 1876 BANCROFT Hist. U. S. I. xiii. 426 Each town-meeting was a legislative body. 1878 STUBBS Const. Hist. III. xx. 414 Those whom their townsmen had chosen in their own town-meeting.

Town-moor to -place: see TOWN 9, 10.

Townne, obs. form of TUN.

Tow'n-pla:nning, sb. The preparation and construction of plans in accordance with which the growth and extension of a town is to be regulated, so as to make use of the natural advantages of the site, and to secure the most advantageous conditions of housing and traffic, the convenient situation of public buildings, open spaces, etc. Also attrib. So Tow'n-plan sb., a ground-plan showing the positions of the streets and buildings in the proposed development of a town; Tow'n-plan v., intr. to prepare a plan for the development of a town (whence Tow'n-planned ppl. a.);

Tow'n-pla:nner.

[1904 T. C. HORSFALL Improv. Dwellings People 43 In preparing a rational town-building plan our task will be to avoid these faults. Ibid. 56 The preparation of building and town-extension plans.]

1906 (Nov. 6) Official Rep. Housing Deput. to Prime Minister 8 Notes on Speeches. [Subject heading.] Town Planning and Village Development Commission. 1907 Daily Chron. 3 May 8/4 'The Hampstead Tenants, limited', began their work of town planning in earnest yesterday, when the first sod of 'Temple Fortune Farm' (Finchley-road) was cut. 1908 Westm. Gaz. 18 Apr. 4/3 Some points of experience..to future town-planners. 1909 Act 9 Edw. VII, c. 44 (title) An Act to amend the law relating to the Housing of the Working Classes, to provide for the making of Town Planning schemes [etc.]. Ibid. § 76 This Act may be cited as the Housing, Town Planning, &c. Act, 1909. 1909 H. T. TITCOS (title) Town Planning, Past, Present, and Possible. 1909 Daily Chron. 14 Apr. 6/1 It seems incredible that any town should allow a new suburb to be made without a preliminary 'town plan'. 1909 Westm. Gaz. 16 Apr. 12/4 We must learn..the two lessons before us can hope to 'town plan' successfully. 1909 Daily Chron. 14 Sept. 3/3 The town-planned communities of the Continent. 1912 Daily News 3 Jan. 4/7 Birmingham will be able to submit to the Local Government Board for approval its first town planning scheme in a completed form. At present the city has secured permission to 'town plan' two or three sites.

Town-plat to -pump: see TOWN 9, 10.

†Tow'nred. Obs. rare. In 7 townredd, town reed. [f. TOWN sb. + -RED.] A township, a cluster of homesteads.

1603 OWEN Pembrokeshire (1892) 4 To make a Mappe for that shere alone, and then be gaue a large space to that shere, and placed everye Townredd farre of from other in distance. Ibid. 33 Theire buildinges are Englishe like, in Townredes and villages, and not in seuerall and lone houses. 1617 Cal. S. P., Dom. 153 A late proclamation from the Lord Deputy for compeling scattered houses into town reeds, and to be so planted..that two or three towns may build together upon the meares and meeting of their several town reeds. 1618 Ibid. 231 Every undertaker and native to build in town reedes.

Town-reeve to -row: see TOWN 9 b, 10.

Towns- in comb., Townsfolk: see TOWN 11.

Tow'nscape. nonce-wd. [f. TOWN sb., after landscape.] A picture or view of a town.

1880 LD. R. GOWER Figure Painters Holland 66 It is a landscape, or rather a townscape. 1889 HISSEY Tour in Phaeton 263 Some of the quaint townscapes (to invent another word) of our romantic, unspoilt English towns.

Township (tou'nſip), [OE. túnscipe, f. tún (see TOWN) + -scipe, -SHIP. Cf., for sense, landscipe, and Ger. dorfschaft. After the OE. period the word was app. disused till 15th c: see sense 2.]

†1. In OE., The inhabitants or population of a tún or village collectively; the community dwelling in and occupying a tún (TOWN sb. 1). Obs.

c 890 tr. Beda's Hist. v. xi. [x.] (1890) 416 þa wæs he swiðe eorne; sende þa word þider & hēht ðone tunscipe ealne ofslean, & þone tun forbernan [orig. mittens occidit vicanos illos omnes, omnemque illum consumpsit ignis]. 1962 Laws K. Edgar iv. c. 8 Gyðe hit þonne he han cyme, and ..mid his tunscipes gewitnysse on gemæne læse gebringe. gif he swa ne deð ær fif nihtum, cyðan hit þæs tunes men þæs hundredes ealdre. 1154 O. E. Chron. an, 1137 § 4, gif twa men oþer iii comaðe ridend to an tun, al þe tunscipe fluxen fer heom. 1155–8 in Cartr. Charter Rolls (1912) IV. 283 Homines suos liberos et quietos de..placitis et querelis et portmannesmot et tuncipesmot.

2. The inhabitants of a particular manor, parish, or division of a hundred, as a community, or in their corporate capacity. Now chiefly Hist.

1444 Rolls of Parl. V. 111/1 [To] assesse well and duly every Tounship withinne the seid Hundredes. 1494 FABYAN Chron. VII. 575 (anno 1410) With prouycion yᵉ euery townesship should kepe all poore people of yeᵗ owne dwellers, whiche myght nat labour for theyr lyyuynge. 1547 in E. Anglian May (1888) 69 Item solde Aº primo Ed. sexti Regis &c. by the Townesshippe and Churchewardens [of Beccles] so moche plate as amounteth to the Summe of xlⁱⁱ. 1593 SHAKS. 2 Hen. VI, i. iii. 27 Alas Sir, I am but a poore Pettioner of our whole Towneship. 1628 WITHER Brit. Rememb. IV. 203 When halfe the Towneship, and the Hamlets nigh dare not to revell, at some Parish, by. 1817 W. SELWYN Law Nisi Prius (ed. 4) II. 773 The court held, that all the subjects of England, of common right, might fish in the sea,..and that therefore a prescription for it as appurtenant to a particular township was void.

b. Applied to the manor, parish, etc. itself, as a territorial division. Now chiefly Hist.

1414 Rolls of Parlt. IV. 571 The maner and Townshipe of Chestreton. 1422 tr. Secreta Secret., Priv. Priv. 172 He desyrith more grete lordshuppe, othyr lyytil rente, than a township of londe othyr a grete Some of catele to charlys appertenyge. 1491 Act 7 Hen. VII, c. 16 § 1 Honours lordshippes towshippes maners londes..and all other hereditamentes. 1523 FITZHERB. Husb. § 57 That there be no maner of sycknes amonge the cattell in that townesshyp or pasture that thou byest thy catel oute of. 1537 Plumpton Corr. (Camden) 227 For the right and intrest of one spring liing within the township of Little Rolland. 1601 Rolland Court Rolls (1637) 807 Hexham..a manour or Township belonging to the Archbishops of Yorke. 1670 PETTUS Fodine Reg. 33 All which are in the Township of Skibery Coed. a 1677 HALE Prim. Orig. Man. II. x. 234 In this Book are entred the Names of the Manners or inhabited Townships, Boroughs and Cities,..the Number of Plough-Lands that each contains, and the Number of the Inhabitants upon them. 1829 SCOTT Ivanhoe xxv, A less orderly and a worse armed force, consisting of the Saxon inhabitants of the neighbouring township.

c. spec. Each of the local divisions of, or districts comprised in, a large original parish, each containing a village or small town, usually having its own church (formerly a chapel of the mother church of the original parish, whence such divisions were also known ecclesiastically as chapelries).

Township in this sense is chiefly retained in the north of England for the ancient divisions of such original parishes as Crosthwaite, Grasmere, Windermere, and Kendal, e.g. the townships of Borrowdale, Langdale, Rydal, and Ambleside; but it is applied in the Ordnance maps also to the ancient divisions of such original parishes as Ormesby St. Giles', Camberwell, which for most purposes are now distinct parishes and are usually so called.

1540 Test. Ebor. (Surtees) VI. 127 Beinge of the township of Wilton. 1662 Act 14 Chas. II, c. 12 § 21 That all and every the poore..persons within every Township or Village within the severall Counties aforesaid shall from and after the passing of this Act be maintained..and set on worke within the limits and respective Township and Village.. and that there shall be yearely chosen and appointed..twoe or more Overseers of the Poore within every of the said Townships or Villages. 1764 BURN Poor Laws 122 The head of a township or village is the constable; and there are many townships in a parish where there is no churchwarden. 1846 MCCULLOCH Acc. Brit. Empire (1854) I. 141 In the northern counties, where the parishes sometimes embrace 90 or 40 square miles, the poor laws, the due administration of which must always depend on an intimate knowledge of the situation and character of every one applying for relief, could not be properly carried into effect. To remedy this inconvenience, an act was passed in the 13th of Charles II, permitting townships and villages, though not entire parishes, severally and distinctly to maintain their own poor. Hence townships in the north of England may be regarded as divisions subordinate to parishes; and are, in practice, as distinct, limited as if they were separate parishes. 1891 J. P. EARWAKER Manch. Constables' Accts. I. Introd. 17 The two constables whose proceedings are recorded in the following pages, were appointed for the Township of Manchester alone; but, as that then embraced the whole of the town, they had entire charge of the town. 1906 S. & B. WEBB Eng. Local Govt. I. ii. 70 The great parish of Manchester, which extended over an area of quite 54 square miles, included no fewer than thirty semi-independent townships—one of them having, like the whole parish, the name of Manchester.

3. transf. Often rendering L. pagus, Gr. δῆμος (DEME), and thus applied to independent or self-governing towns or villages of ancient Greece, Italy, and other lands, and sometimes to foreign towns or villages of mediæval or modern times.

1602 FULBECKE Paradectes 57 So likewise Pagi, townships, are deuised of the Doricke word πάγαι, which signifieth a fountaine, and in the Attick dialect is πήγαι. 1682 NEVILE Plato Rediv. 74 The Swisses consist of Thirteen Soveraignties; some Cities..and some Provinces which have but a Village for their head Township. 1798 W. TAYLOR in Monthly Mag. V. 3 Now, the land of Cush (Genesis x. 7) comprehended the five subdivisions or townships of Seba, Havilah, Sabtha, Raamah, and Sabthechah. 1838 THIRLWALL Greece II. xi. 11 The incorporation of several scattered townships in one city, such as took place in Attica. 1841 ELPHINSTONE Hist. India I. 39 His internal administration is to be conducted by a chain of civil officers, consisting of lords of single townships or villages, lords of ten towns, lords of 100, and lords of 1000 towns. 1846 GROTE Greece II. viii. 587 Rescuing the Arcadian townships from their dependence on Sparta. 1872 YEATS Growth Comm. 301 An insignificant township named Calcutta. 1905 Expositor Feb. 81 A Jebusite township existed around or beside the stronghold Zion. 1908 S. A. COOK Relig. Anc. Palestine i. 8 The small townships of Palestine and Syria—the average city was a small fortified site surrounded by dwellings, sometimes with an outer wall.

4. Sc. A farm held in joint tenancy.

1813 J. HEADRICK Agric. Surv. Forfar, 561 A township is a farm occupied by two or more farmers, in common, or in separate lots, who reside in a straggling hamlet, or village. 1884 MARQ. OF LORNE in Pall Mall G. 20 May 1/2 Recommending that the State should prop the fast vanishing feudal tenure of the 'township' of the crofter. 1886 SIR K. MACKENZIE Ibid. 3 Mar. 11/2 Its Gaelic equivalent 'Baile'..designates a farm held by a number of joint tenants, but it also designates a farm held by an individual tenant..To the Gaelic language, the distinction between farm and township is unknown; and the illusions which seem to hang round this word township would be dispelled if it were realized that it merely means a farm held in joint tenancy by a greater or less number of persons. 1901 Scotsman 4 Mar. 7/2 They found..about forty men from the township of Lemreway [in Lewis] outside ready to resist.

5. U.S. and Canada. A division of a county having certain corporate powers of local administration; the same that in New England is called a town (TOWN sb. 6 a).

In the newer states, in which the divisions were laid off by government survey, a township is a division six miles square, and is so called even when still unsettled. The name is similarly used in the western provinces of Canada, from Ontario to British Columbia, and in Eastern Quebec and Prince Edward Island.

1685 PENN Further Acc. Pennsylv. 5 We do settle in the way of Townships or Villages, each of which contains 5000 Acres in square, and at least Ten Families. 1714 S. SEWALL Diary 23 Feb., This Court a large Township, of 12 miles square, is granted near Wadchuset. 1775 J. ADAMS in Fam. Lett. (1876) 120 The division of our.. counties into townships, gives every man an opportunity of showing and improving that education which he received at college or at school. 1779 Hist. Europe in Ann. Reg. 91 The settlement of Wyoming consisted of eight townships, each containing a square of five miles. 1801 Farmer's Mag. Apr. 164 Method of clearing New Land,..as practised in several parts of New Hampshire, particularly in the Township of Dartmouth. 1824 SYD. SMITH Wks. (1859) II. 45/2 All the public lands..are divided into townships of six miles square, by lines running with the cardinal points, and consequently crossing each other at right angles. 1866 J. E. H. SKINNER After the Storm I. 85 A 'township' is here a territorial division like a parish with us, and need not necessarily contain any houses. 1871 Athenæum 27 May 660 From 20 to 30 feet of pure graphite are stated to exist on the Ottawa river, in the township of Buckingham. 1888 BRYCE Amer. Commw. II. ii. 87 In most, a town or township means..generally in the United States, a small rural district, as opposed to a city. It is a community which has not received representative municipal government. 1899 CROSSKILL Prince Edward Is. (1904) 16 The parish lines are but little recognized, the more general sub-division being by lots or townships, of which there are 67 running numerically from west to east. 1912 Province of Quebec for Brit. Emigr. 13 The Eastern townships have also a well deserved reputation as a grazing country.

6. In Australia, A site laid out prospectively for a town, meanwhile often consisting of a few 'shanties' grouped around a railway station, store, hotel, post office, or the like; a village or hamlet. (Cf. the town-site (TOWN sb. 10) of U. S. and Canada.)

1802 BARRINGTON Hist. N. S. Wales x. 419 The timber of 120 acres was cut down..a township marked out, and some few huts built. 1861 MISS. MEREDITH Over the Straits II. 40 It used to seem to me a most ridiculous anomaly to call a very small village a 'township', and a much larger one a 'town'. But the former is the term applied to the lands reserved in various places for future towns. 1890 Melbourne Argus 14 June 4/4 Will you come into the township-tight? 1892 A. SUTHERLAND Elem. Geog. Brit. Col. xiii. 276 Villages, which are always called 'townships', spring up suddenly round a railway station or beside some country inn.

†7. The state or condition of a town; also, a jocular title for a town. Obs. rare.

1665 SIR T. HERBERT Trav. (1677) 193 They..have little or no civility save in Zagathai, where they associate in Township. 1780 Mirror No. 105 P 2 Such people are apt to assume in conversation the consequence, which, I think, goes beyond the just prerogative of township, and is a very unfair encroachment on the natural rights of their friends ..in the country. 1809 MALKIN Gil Blas II. ix. P 1 Olméda took like a..town. I beg its township's pardon, replied the barber.

8. By some 19th c. historical writers, adopted to designate what they consider to have been the simplest form of local or social organization in primitive Old English times.

This modern use of the term does not agree with the OE.; it appears to be founded on a confusion of OE. tún and túnscipe (sense 2), and the carrying back into early Anglo-Saxon or Teutonic times of the Mod. sense 2, b. (See W. J. Ashley The Anglo-Saxon 'Township' in Q. Jrnl. Economics (Harvard) VIII. Apr. 1894.)

1832 SIR F. PALGRAVE Eng. Commw. I. iii. 65 (marg.) Anglo-Saxon state composed of Townships.] Ascending in the analysis of the Anglo-Saxon State, the first and primary element appears to be the community, which, in England, during the Saxon period, was denominated the Town, or Township. 1853 GREEN Eng. Const. iv. 45 1867 FREEMAN Hist. Eng. I. 16 The stronger and more warlike tribes secured themselves from surprise in townships or camps,.. fortified with felled timber and a ditch. 1874 STUBBS Const. Hist. I. v. § 39 The unit of the constitutional machinery, the simplest form of social organisation, is the township, the villata or vicus. It may represent the original allotment of the smallest subdivision of the free community, or the settlement of the kindred consisting on their own account, or the estate of the great proprietor who has a tribe of dependents. 1881 GREEN Making of Eng. iv. 180. 1889 G. E. HOWARD Local Instit. Hist. U. S.. I. 18 In the early records of English history the tunscipe or township, appears as the lowest form of self government and the primary division of the state. 1910 J. W. HARPER Soc. Ideal xxi. 243 The township is older than the manor.. English feudalism destroyed the territorial organisation and reared itself on the ruins of the townships.

9. attrib. and Comb., esp. in senses 5, 6: township bridge, drain, road, a bridge, etc. made and kept up by the township; township farm = sense 4; township trustee (U.S.), a member of a committee elected to administer the affairs of a township.

1868 Rep. U. S. Commissioner Agric. (1869) 43 Harrison County, Ind.—The township trustee of Corydon has paid out to farmers, for loss of sheep by dogs..three hundred and ninety-eight dollars. 1888 Bryce Amer. Commw. II. ii. xlviii. 255 note, Any county desiring to forsake township organization may do so by a vote of the electors. 1904 Daily Chron. 19 Oct. 8/3 A simple and traditional dramatisation of some scene in early English township life. 1910 W. L. Matheson Awakening Scot. vi. 276 The type of agriculture..is still that of the township farm.

Town-side, -sitte, etc. : see Town 10.

Townsman (tau·nzmĕn). Forms: see Town. [f. town's, genitive of Town + Man *sb.*1]

†1. OE. (tûnesman). One who lives in a tûn; a villager, a villein. Obs.

962–3 Laws of Edgar iv. c. 13 And ic wille, þæt tunesmen and heora hyrdas habban þas ylcan smeagunge on minum cucum orfe and on minum þegenn, ealswa hy habbaþ on heora agenum. 1028–35 Northumbld. Priests c. 59 Sif hwilc tunesman senigne þæniġ forhele oþðe forhæbbe, gilde se landrica þone þæniġand nime senne oxan æt hammen.

2. A man who lives in a town or city; a citizen: esp. as distinguished from a countryman, a stranger, a soldier of the garrison, or other such.

1433 in Hist. Sudbury (1896) 125 A Supplicacon of the Maior and Tonsmen of Sudbury to the B. of Norwich. 1519 Coventry Leet Bk. 666 If eny florener or Townesman florestall eny Corne within the libertie of this Cetie of Couentre or it com into the market. 1577 tr. Bullinger's Decades (1592) 144 Of the countrie men as well as of the townesmen. 1615 G. Sandys Trav. 6 Here a garrison is kept; supplyed by the townesmen. 1745 De Foe's Eng. Tradesman xxvi. (1841) I. 265 She being a good honest townsman's daughter. 1749 Little Cornwall (Ashf.) Covenant Acc. (MS.). Paid to Sarah Flower by the order of the Townes men that She Laid out. 1853 H. Cox Instit. III. ix. 727 The whole body of resident trading townsmen.

b. A man of one's own or the same town; a fellow-townsman. Usually after possessive. Cf. Countryman 2.

1601 A. Dent Pathway to Heaven (1617) 28 For me thinks you go too far, you goe beyond your learning in this, that you condemne good neighbours, and good Townesmen. 1715–20 Pope Iliad xviii. 578 There, in the forum swarm a numerous train, The subject of debate, a townsman slain. 1898 Tittemall Greece II. xx. 258 A citizen of Abdera advised his townsmen to offer a solemn thanksgiving to the gods.

c. An ordinary citizen or resident of a university town as distinguished from a gownsman or member of the university; cf. Town sb. 5 d.

1768 Wilkes Corr. (1805) III. 254 Only another proof that the townsmen of Oxford have always hated the university. 1823 Lamb Elia Ser. II. Poor Relations, The distance between the gownsmen and the townsmen, as they are called ..is carried to an excess that [etc.]. 1889 Jessopp Coming of Friars vi. 273 The townsmen under great provocation had seized three of the gownsmen.

3. New England. = Selectman.

1656 in T. Dwight Trav. New Eng. (1821) I. 343 [In 1656] town's-men [for select-men] were chosen]. 1696–1715 Massachusetts Laws iv. (1723) 11 Any Action..arising between the Townsmen or Freemen of the said Town. a 1817 T. Dwight Trav. New Eng. (1821) I. 243 At this meeting the inhabitants choose, not exceeding seven men, inhabitants, able, discreet and of good conversation, to be Select-men, or Townsmen, to take care of the order, and prudential affairs of the town.

Townspeople (tau·nzpīpp'l). Also 7 townes people. [f. as prec. + People. Orig. two words; now written as one.] People or inhabitants of a town or towns; townsmen and townswomen; townsfolk. (Usually const. as pl.)

1648 Cromwell Let. 25 Nov., And without money the stubborn townes-people will not trust them for the worth of a penny. 1692 in Somerset & Dorset N. & Q. June (1905) 263 Many died as also many Townes people of y° same distemper. 1823 Marryat P. Simple xxi, We had no parole, and but little communication with the townspeople. 1849 Macaulay Hist. Eng. v. I. 573 The town's people repaired to the cliffs and gazed long and anxiously. 1872 Bagehot Physics & Pol. iv. 124 The place was crowded and a whole townspeople looking on.

b. People inhabiting the same town; fellow-townsmen. (Usually after possessive.) 1823 Examiner 761/1 They are townspeople, we believe, the native place of both being..Edinburgh. 1870 Emerson Soc. & Solit. iii. 45 Not by his friends or his townspeople or his contemporaries.

Town-stocks, Townswoman: see Town 9, 11.

Town-talk. The common talk or gossip of the people of a town; the subject or matter of such talk or gossip.

1654–5 Cromwell Speech to Parl. 22 Jan. 23 If it be not folly in Me to listen to Town-talk, such things have been proposed. 1667 Pepys Diary 26 Apr., All the town-talk is now a-days of her extravagancies. 1694 Congreve Double-Dealer iii. 1, You'll ruin me if you take such public Notice of it, it will be a Town-Talk. 1712 Swift Jrnl. to Stella 26 Mar., The news of the French desiring a cessation of arms..was but town talk. 1848 Thackeray Van. Fair lv, It was town-talk for at least three days. 1867 Aug. J. E. Wilson Vashti xii, Why should the taboo society, and make herself the town-talk?

Town-tallow to -wait: see Town 9, 10.

Town-wall. The wall of a fortified town.

c 1400 Destr. Troy 10746 The troiens in towres, & on town walles, Laidon spies specially. 1480 Coventry Leet Bk. 447 Employe hit to oder reparacions of pe seid town wall. 1548 Udall, etc. Erasm. Par. Acte iv. 36 They..by nyght let hym downe by a corde of the towne walles, in a basket. 1649 Milton Eikon. viii. Wks. (1847) 294/1 The king much incensed proclaims him traitor before the town walls. 1843 Penny Cycl. XXVII. 456/1 The town-wall of Worms.

Townward (tau·nwĕid), adv. (a.) [f. Town sb. + -ward.] Towards or in the direction of the town. (Originally to the townward.) 1434 Indenture Fotheringhey in Dugdale Monast. (1846) VI. 1414/2 A dore yn the west side..to the town-ward. 1633 T. Stafford Pac. Hib. II. xii. (1821) 362 The Irish.. beat the Spaniards from their ground to the Townward. 1808 Scott Marm. III. xxxi, He heard ..The foot-tramp of a flying steed, Come town-ward rushing on. 1846 Longf. in Life (1891) II. 52 A beautiful pile of granite.. looking townward and seaward.

b. adj. Going or directed toward the town.

1806 J. Grahame Birds Scot. 35 Follow his townward steps. 1833 L. Ritchie Wand. by Loire 284 Ditches..still remain on the townward side. 1864 Longf. in Life (1891) III. 34 Walking..along the accustomed townward walk.. I met the East Wind. 1893 Chicago Advance 27 July, Evidence of the townward drift of the people.

c. Comb.

1890 Morris Earthly Par. III. iv. 288 In a fair-hung townward-looking bower.

Tow·nwards, adv. [-wards.] = prec.

1895 P. Hemingway Out of Egypt II. 175, I stood watching a vessel in the harbour, that stared townwards with a hundred unblinking eyes. 1908 Daily Chron. 15 Feb. 7/5 A West London cycling club, recently returning..townwards, through Brentford.

Town-watch to -woman: see Town 9, 10.

Towny (tau·ni), a. and sb. colloq. Also -ey, -ie. [f. Town sb. + -y.]

A. adj. Of, pertaining to, or characteristic of the town; townish.

1837 New Monthly Mag. L. 248 His acquired habits were of the town, towny. 1857 E. M. Whitty Friends in Bohemia I. 221 Are you not weary of this towney life? 1908 Treasury Feb. 507 A house so towny and stylish, compared with our farm homesteads.

B. sb. I. A town-bred man; spec. a Londoner.

1828 P. Cunningham N. S. Wales (ed. 3) II. 223 If we could not say we had committed as many (bobberies) as these townies, they would look upon us with contempt. Ibid. 230 Many surgeons find that by putting all the old townies into double irons whenever robberies begin to prevail, a cessation soon takes place.

2. U.S. university slang. A townsman as distinct from a member of the university; cf. Townie.

1853 Yale Lit. Mag. XIX. 2 (Thornton) The genus by the German students denominated 'Philistines', by the Cantabs ignominiously called 'Snobs', and which custom here has named 'Townies'. 1880–1 Washburne Fair Harvard 54 (ibid.) One beholds the conscious 'towney' on his evening promenade.

3. A fellow-townsman or townswoman. slang.

1865 Morn. Star 18 July, She is a 'towny' (of the same town) of mine, and I want to see her safe home. 1869 Routledge's Eu. Boy's Ann. 347 Then you and me's 'townneys' it seems. 1892 Stevenson & Osbourne Wrecker xii, A townie of mine was lost down this way, in a coal-ship.

To-wond(e, pa. t. of To-wend v. Obs.

†To-worth, v. Obs. rare. [ME. to-wurðen, f. To- 2 + wurðen :—OE. weorðan to become.] intr. To come to nought; to perish.

c 1205 Lay. 20744 For betere us is on londe Mid monscipe to higen þene we þus here For hungere to-wurðen.

To-wowe, -writhe, -wry: see To- *pref.*2 1.

Tow-path (tōu·pap). [f. Tow *v.*1 + Path.] A path by the side of a canal or navigable river for use in towing; = towing-path (Towing vbl. sb. 1 b).

1846 Worcester, Tow-path, a narrow path travelled by horses in dragging boats along a canal. Bookbuin. 1882 R. Mackenzie America 305 He had begun life on the towpath as a driver of mules. 1910 Blackw. Mag. May 634/2 The towpath was knee-deep in water.

Tow-pung, ? error or misprint for tom-pung, orig. form of Punch *sb.*2, q. v., quot. 1851.

Towred, Towres, Towret, -ette, obs. forms of Toward, Tours, Turret.

Tow-rope (tōu·rōup). [f. Tow *v.*1 + Rope *sb.*1] A rope (hawser, cable, or the like) used in towing.

1743 Bulkeley & Cummins Voy. S. Seas 129 We called to them to take hold of a Towe-Rope, but they refused. 1801 Jefferson Writ. (ed. Ford) VIII. 75 You will follow the bark of liberty only by the help of a tow-rope. 1865 Dickens Mut. Fr. III. viii, The tow-rope was slackened by a turn of the stream.

Hence Tow-roping, in railway-shunting, the drawing of a vehicle by an engine on a parallel line of rails by means of a rope connecting the two.

An illegal practice. See Proposing vbl. sb. 3 for quots.

Tow-row (tau·rau·), sb. and a. [Reduplicated or extended form of Row *sb.*2; orig. dial.]

A. sb. An uproar, hubbub, noisy disturbance, din.

1877 Holderness Glass., Tow-row, a confusion, or noisy disturbance. 1886 Stevenson Kidnapped iv, A blinding flash,..and hard upon the heels of it, a great tow-row of thunder. 1894 Crockett Raiders (ed. 3) 25 Then..came a great tow-row of laughter. 1894 Max Pemberton Sea-Wolves xxii, For a long space they kept up the tow-row and the din.

†B. adj. Intoxicated (? 'drunk and disorderly'). slang. Obs.

1709 Steele & Swift Tatler No. 71 ¶ 8 He that drinks till he stares, is no more Tow-Row, but Honest.

So Tow-row v., intr. a. to make a tow-row; b. dial. (see quot. 1854). Hence Tow-rowing vbl. sb.

1840 Thackeray Barber Cox Max., Directly the tow-rowing began, off went Trumpeter like a thunder-bolt. 1854 Miss Baker Northamptn. Gloss., Tow-rowing, cleaning out dirty and disorderly places. 'I've been tow-rowing about all day among the dust'. 1899 Mrs. E. Kennard Morals Midlands xxvii. 240 The hounds were tow-rowing all round the covert.

Towrpyke, a winding stair: see Turnpike.

†Towry-low-ry. dial. (Cf. Tirra-lirra.)

1632 Brome North. Lasse I. ii, And then towry, lowry, faith, my noble Governor, and I. 1878 Cumberld. Gloss., Towry lowry, all in disorder.

Towsell, obs. form of Tolsel, tolzey.

Towser (tau·zəi), sb. Also 7 towzer, touzer, 9 touser. [f. Touse v. + -er 1; with senses c, d, e cf. thumper, whopper, etc.] One who or that which touses. a. (with capital T). A common name for a large dog, such as was used to bait bears or bulls; also transf. of a person.

1678 Otway Friendship in F. iv. 1, Fresh Game; that great Towser has startled it already. 1681 Trial S. Colledge 59 Mr. Char..it was the Pictures of the Tantivies and the Towser [Roger L'Estrange]. 1681 T. Flatman Heraclitus Ridens No. 30 (1713) I. 197 Barn. What Papers? Did he mean the Towzers, and the Gallows, and the Broom, for which he was so famous? 1682 N. N. (title) The Hen and Cry: or, a Relation of the Travels of the Devil and Towzer, Through all the Earthly Territorys, and the Infernal Region. 1684 Otway Atheist III. i, Never was seen so termagant a Towzer. 1696 tr. De Mont's Voy. Levant 257 Poor Towzer was condemn'd to be Cudgel'd to Death. 1881 A. M'Lachlan Bled. Sc. Poets II. 261 Ahint him Towser wags his tail.

†b. The five of trumps in the game of gleek. Obs.

1680 Cotton Compl. Gamester vi. (ed. 2) 65 The fifth (is called) Towser, the sixth Tumbler, which if in hand Towser is five and Tumbler six, and so double if turn'd up. 1688 R. Holme Armoury III. xvi. (Roxb.) 73/2 Towser, is the fifth of the trumps.

†c. A large ship. Obs. d. A large coarse apron. dial. e. A rough or energetic person. dial.

c 1690 Pagan Prelacy xxiii. 61 Now the Belgians, having lost..some three or four more of their biggest Towzers, made all the Sail they could to their own Coasts. d. 1865 R. Hunt Pop. Rom. W. Eng. Suppl. 11. 244 The Touser is a large apron or wrapper to come quite round and keep the undergarments clean. 1882 J. 400 Cornw. Gloss., Towser, a large coarse apron for kitchen use. e. 1901 E. Phillpotts Striking Hours 222 A wonnerful bowerly maid her was, an' a towser for work, an' 'mazin' even-tempered tu. 1901 R. M. F. Watson Closeburn xiii. 221 A certain big, uncouth, unhallowed 'towser' named Tibbie Murdoch.

Hence Tow·ser, -zer v. (nonce-wd.), trans. to worry as a dog does.

c 1680 Hickeringill Hist. Whiggism 1. Wks. 1716 I. 37 If they get a piece of a Text by the end..they do so tear it, and towze it, and towzer it..that they lose themselves.

Towst, Towsy: see Toust, Tousy.

Towster (tōu·stəi). nonce-wd. [f. Tow *v.*1 + -ster.] = Tower *sb.*2

1885 Warren & Cleveraly Wand. 'Beetle' 24 The towsters came to a halt.

†Towtaw, v. Obs. rare—1. [f. Tow *sb.*1 + Taw *v.*1] trans. To scutch (flax). Cf. Tow *v.*3

1649 Blithe Eng. Improv. Impr. (1653) 260 Kilne-drying it, then breaking and towtawing it, then hetcheling and dressing it up.

Towtch, obs. form of Touch.

Towy (tōu·i), a. [f. Tow *sb.*1 + -y.] Like or of the nature of tow.

1601 Holland Pliny XIX. i. II. 4 You shall know by the skin or rind thereof if it be loose and readie to depart from the towie substance of the stem. 1673 Grew Anat. Trunks I. ii. § 30 The Lignous and Towy Parts of all Plants are Tubulary. 1858 Sat. Rev. 21 Aug. 184/2 Painted..with bullet eyes, vermilion cheeks, towy locks, and prodigy limbs. 1888 Gard. Chron. XVI. 654/3 Its leaves ..produce a soft towy herbage.

Towylie, obs. form of Towel.

†Towyth, obs. erroneous form of Thought.

c 1430 Hymns Virg. 121 We be sorry patt we dede agayn þi wille Or with towyth or with deede.

Towze, Towzer: see Touse, Towser.

†Towze-match. Obs. rare. [? f. Touse v. 4 + Match *sb.*2 2 b.] 'Match' made of 'toused' or teased hemp or other fibrous material.

1627 Capt. Smith Seaman's Gram. ii. 13 Okum is old Ropes torne in peeces like Towze Match, or Hurds of Flax. 1630 — Trav. & Adv. v. 8 Over that a strong Searcloth, then over all a good thickenesse of Towze-match well tempered with oyle of Linseed.

Tox (tǫks), sb. Zool. [ad. Gr. τόξον Toxon 1.] A sponge-spicule having the form of a double curved rod, like a Cupid's bow; = Toxaspire.

1909 in Cent. Dict. Suppl.

†Tox, v. Obs. ? slang. Short for intoxicate. Hence †Toxed, toxt, † To·xing ppl. adjs.

1635 Heywood Phileothon. i. 3 When their more sober consciences can humble against their toxed lunacies. Ibid. iv. 29 Addicted to strong and toxing drinkes. 1637 — Dial. iv. Wks. 1874 VI. 192 Braines well toxt with wine.

Tox-1, combining form, repr. Toxi- or Toxo- 2 before a vowel. ‖ Toxemia (tǫksī·miă), also anglicized toxemy [Gr. αἷμα blood, after anæmia, etc.], a morbid condition of the blood caused by a toxin; blood-poisoning; hence Toxemic (-ī·mik) a., pertaining to or affected with toxemia. Toxalbumin (-elbiū·min), also -en, a poisonous or pathogenic albumin or protein produced by bacteria; a protein toxin; hence Toxalbumi·nic a., pertaining to or caused by a toxalbumin; so

Toxa·lbumose, a poisonous albumose.

To·xamine (-āmēin), a poisonous amine.

Toxanemia (-ănĭmĭă), anæmia caused by the action of a poison, usually a ptomaine.

1860 Mayne Expos. Lex., Toxæmia, .. a contaminated state of the blood, as in syphilis; poisoned blood: toxemy. 1882 Trans. Obstet. Soc. Lond. XXII. 283 There was a dangerous state of toxæmia. 1876 Bristowe The. & Pract. Med. (1878) 124 Which so often .. cause *toxæmic symptoms. 1899 Allbutt's Syst. Med. VIII. 418 The post-febrile insanities are divisible into two classes—the purely anæmic, and the toxæmic. 1902 Buck's Handbk. Med. Sc. V. 33 As the effects of other chemical or *toxalbumic poisons manifest themselves as a psychosis. 1890 Pall Mall G. 26 Apr. 6/3 *Toxalbumen is said to be the excretion of a bacillus of diphtheria. 1892 Pop. Sci. Monthly XLI. 633 It neutralizes the potent toxalbumin of tetanus in test-tube cultures. 1896 Allbutt's Syst. Med. I. 767 Brieger and Fränkel then described a peptoid poison which they obtained from cultures of the tetanus bacilli and named tox-albumin. 1902 R. Muir in Encycl. Brit. XXVI. 64/2 Such a powder gives a peptoid reaction, and is no doubt largely composed of albumoses, hence the name *toxalbumoses has been applied. 1897 Allbutt's Syst. Med. III. 735 Certain specimens of cheese contain a *toxamine, termed by its discoverer, Professor Vaughan, 'tyrotoxicon'. 1892 Cent. Dict., *Toxanemia, Toxanæmia. 1899 Syd. Soc. Lex., Toxæmia, Toxanemia, anæmia caused by the actions of ptomaines.

Tox-[2]: see Toxo-[1].

Toxarch (tɒ·ksaɪk). Anc. Gr. Hist. [ad. Gr. τοξαρχος 'lord of the bow', captain of the archers, f. τόξον bow + -αρχος ruler.] The title of the captain of the city-guard of mercenaries at Athens. 1828 [G. C. Lewis] tr. Böckh's Publ. Econ. Athens I. 278 The public slaves who composed the city-guard..are generally called bow-men (τοξόται), or, from the native country of the majority, Scythians... Their officers had the name of Toxarchs (τοξαρχαι).

Toxaspire (tɒ·ksăspəi·r). Zool. [irreg. (for toxospira*) f. Gr. τόξο-ν bow + σπεῖρα coil, Spire.] In sponges, a form of microsclere or flesh-spicule: see quots. Hence Toxaspi·ral a., pertaining to or of the form of a toxaspire.

1887 Sollas in Encycl. Brit. XXII. 417/2 A turn and a part of a turn of a spiral of somewhat higher pitch than that of a sigmaspire gives the *toxaspire. 1888 — in Challenger Rep. XXV. p. lxii, Toxaspira—A spiral rod in which the twist a little exceeds a single revolution. The pitch of the spiral is usually great and the spicule consequently appears bow-shaped when viewed laterally.

Toxi- (tɒksəi), combining form arbitrarily repr. Toxic or Toxin, in recent scientific words, chiefly pathological. Toxicacid (-dō·sĭmĭk) a. [Gr. δέρμα skin], pertaining to skin-disease produced by a poison: cf. toxicodermitis in Toxico-. Toxi·ferous a. = toxophorous in Toxo-[2]. Toxigenomic (-gɛnɒ·mĭk) a. [Gr. γνώμη judgement, opinion], enabling one to diagnose the action of a toxin. ‖Toxiha··mia [Gr. αἷμα blood] = toxæmia: see Tox-[1]. Toxi·infe·ctious, -infe·ctive adjs., involving or characterized by infection due to a toxin. ‖ Toxiphagus (-i·făgŭs), pl. -phagi (-fădʒəi) [Gr. -φάγος eating], one who eats poisons: cf. toxicophagous in Toxico-. ‖ Toxipho·bia [-phobia], fear of being poisoned, as a form of insanity or monomania; hence Toxipho·biac, one affected with toxiphobia. Toxiphoric (-fɒ·rĭk) a. = toxophoric: see Toxo-[2]. Toxiresin (-re·zĭn), name of a poisonous substance obtained from digitalis by the action of acids.

1899 Allbutt's Syst. Med. VIII. 587 A pilo-sebaceous folliculitis of..microbic or *toxidermic character. 1899 Syd. Soc. Lex., Toxiferous*, carrying or conveying poison. 1890 Billings Med. Dict., Toxihæmia*, Toxæmia. 1907 Jrnl. Med. Research Dec. 352 The statement of Dide, who asserts that there is a diminution in alexin in patients suffering from the toxi-infectious' forms of insanity. 1899 Allbutt's Syst. Med. III. 749 Microbic agency which sets up *toxi-infective processes. 1875 H. C. Wood Therap. (1879) 377 The *toxiphagi are asserted to be remarkably long-lived people. 1876 C. A. Cameron in Dublin Jrnl. Med. Sc. Feb. 98, I propose to apply the term *toxiphobia to a species of monomania..those labouring under which believe that persistent attempts are being made to poison them. Of the sixty-three *toxiphobiacs, only two were obviously insane. 1902 G. M. Herschell in Science 24 Oct. 665/1 The atom-groups which..Ehrlich calls the *toxiphoric side chain'. 1890 Billings Med. Dict., Toxiresin*, a product of the action of acids upon digitoxin; a powerful cardiac poison. 1899 Syd. Soc. Lex., Toxiresin.

Toxic (tɒ·ksĭk), a. (sb.) [f. med.L. toxic-us poisoned, imbued with poison, f. Toxic-um. So F. toxique 'poison' (1762 in Dict. Trévoux).]

1. Of the nature of a poison; poisonous.

1664 Evelyn Sylva 65 The toxic quality was certainly in the liquor... not in the nature of the wood; which yet he (Pliny) affirms is cur'd of that Venenous quality by driving a brazen wedge into the body of it. 1674 Blount Glossogr., Toxic, venemous, poisonous. 1876 T. Bryant Pract. Surg. I. ii. 53 Poisoning, due to the introduction *into the torrent of the circulation of toxic substances. 1899 Allbutt's Syst. Med. VII. 815 The urine is normally toxic, and incessantly takes from the blood its toxicity.

2. Caused or produced by a poison; due to poisoning.

1872 Contemp. Rev. XX. 752 Whether it be the toxic condition of the blood. 1874 Maudsley Respons. in Ment. Dis. iii. 79 The peculiar disorders of the physical and mental functions...to which he gave the name of Toxic Insanity. 1899 Allbutt's Syst. Med. VIII. 320 Toxic insanity depends on poisons either derived from without or generated within the body.

b. Of intoxication, intoxicated, tipsy. humorous.

1899 Mary Kingsley W. Afr. Stud. i. 2 A toxic state where a man can't see the holes through a ladder.

B. sb. A toxic substance, a poison.

1890 Spectator 6 Dec., M. Fouten ..pointing out..that the lymph is really a 'toxic' or poison, of terrible energy and unknown effects. 1904 Westm. Gaz. 15 June 2/2 Alkaloids and toxics, such as chloral, emit the N-rays freely.

Toxical (tɒ·ksĭkăl), a. [f. as prec. + -al: see -ical.] Of toxic nature or character.

1697 Tossell Pour'l. Beasts (1658) 199 Goats blood sod with marrow may be taken against all toxical poison. 1650 Charleton Paradoxes 65 Why the blood of a Bull is toxical and poysonous. 1855 Wharton & Stille Med. Jurisp. § 466. 376 The production of toxical effects. 1863 N. Syd. Soc. Year-bk. Med. 444 Symptoms of the toxical action of the drug. 1884 Munich. Exam. 29 Dec. 6/5 Tobacco smoke ..contains a second toxical principle called collidine.

Hence To·xically adv., poisonously; in quot., in relation to toxicology.

1887 A. M. Brown Anim. Alkal. 39 This base is toxically interesting.

Toxicant (tɒ·ksĭkănt), a. and sb. rare. [f. pr. pple. of med.L. toxicāre to poison: see -ant.] a. adj. Acting as a poison; poisonous, toxic. b. sb. A poisonous substance, a poison.

1882 Ogilvie (Annandale), Toxicant, .. a poison of a stimulating, narcotic, anæsthetic nature, especially such as seriously affects the health when habitually indulged in. Dr. Richardson. 1891 Cent. Dict., Toxicant adj. 1892 Illustr. Lond. News 13 Aug. 213/3 Coffee (that favourite vehicle of the deadlier toxicants in the East).

† To·xicate, ppl. a. Obs. Also 5 toxicat, 6 tocksicate. [f. med.L. toxicāt-us, pa. pple. of L. toxicāre to smear with poison: see next.] Charged or infected with poison; poisoned; poisonous.

*c*1470 Henryson Mor. Fab. iii. (Cock & Fox) xxx, Flatterarris..With fals mening, and mynd maist toxicate. *c*1475 Partenay 1429 The king.. With toxicat unnym replete was certain. 1582 J. Studley Seneca's Hercules Œtæus 1299 b, So yet my wits be tocksicate, although my feare be gone.

† To·xicate, v. Obs. [f. ppl. stem of med.L. toxicāre to poison (in John of Salisbury, *c*1150), f. L. toxic-um poison: see Toxicum.] trans. To poison. Hence † To·xicating vbl. sb.

1635 Heywood Hierarch. viii. 518 Which Fewer shakes him, .. And a strange Megrim toxicates his head. 1653 Chisenhale Cath. Hist. 12 Each morning to bite on Rue, which..secures her against the toxicating of that venomous Basilisk.

Toxication (tɒksĭkē·ʃən). [n. of action f. med.L. toxicāre: see prec.] Poisoning: esp. by toxic substances produced by disease-germs.

1821 Coleridge in Blackw. Mag. X. 243, I..know of no reason, why to these toxications, (especially when taken through the skin, and to the catalectic state produced by them,) we should not attribute the poor wretches' own belief of their guilt. 1860 in Mayne Expos. Lex. 1887 A. M. Brown Anim. Alkal. 127 The patients so affected have all the appearance of toxication, and by the poisonous alkaloids—that is, the vital alkaloids or leucomaines.

Toxicity (tɒksi·sĭtĭ), [f. Toxic + -ity.] Toxic or poisonous quality, esp. in relation to its degree or strength.

1881 Nature 3 Nov. 24/2 On the comparative toxicity of different metals, by M. Richet...He named the limit of toxicity the quantity of poison per litre of water, allowing a fish to live more than forty-eight hours. 1882 Pharmaceut. Jrnl. 26 Nov. 439/2 Neither would there appear to be any relation between toxicity and chemical function, for although potassium and sodium are nearly allied ... the former is—at least in respect to fish—twenty-four times more poisonous than sodium. 1898 P. Manson Trop. Diseases xvii. 283 The microbes were increased in toxicity to a definite point.

Toxico- (tɒ·ksĭkō), before a vowel toxic-, repr. Gr. τοξικόν in sense 'poison' (see Toxicum), but chiefly used as combining form of Toxic, in scientific terms, mostly pathological. ‖Toxice·mia, -e·mia [Gr. αἷμα blood] = toxæmia: see Tox-. ‖ Toxicoderma (-dō·mă), -dermati·tis, -dermi·tis [Gr. δέρμα skin: see -itis], inflammation of the skin caused by an irritant poison. Toxicogenic (-dʒɛ·nĭk) a. [-genic: cf. -gen, -genny], producing or generating poison. ‖ Toxicohæ·mia, also anglicized -hemy [Gr. αἷμα blood] = toxæmia: see Tox-. ‖ Toxicoma·nia [Mania], a morbid craving for poisons. Toxicophagous (-ɒ·făgəs) a. [Gr. -φάγος eating], addicted to eating poisonous substances; so Toxicophagy (-ɒ·fădʒĭ), the habit of eating poisonous substances. Toxicophobia (-fōbĭă) = toxiphobia: see Toxi-. Toxicotrauma·tic (-trɒ̄mæ·tĭk) a. [Gr. τραυματικός, f. τραῦμα wound], pertaining to a poisoned wound. See also Toxicodendron, Toxicology, etc.

1887 Dunglison Med. Lex., Toxicæmia*, Toxicohæmia. 1890 Billings Med. Dict., Toxicoderma* or Toxicodermatitis*...Toxicodermitis*, dermatitis caused by a poison. 1899 Syd. Soc. Lex., Toxicogenic*, ..as a toxicogenic microorganism. 1902 Buck's Handbk. Med. Sc. IV. 284 A relatively small number of bacteria are capable of making poisonous products, and to these..the term toxicogenic may be applied. 1871 Yule Marco Polo III. xxv. (1903) II. 302 note, The famous *toxicophagous Sultan Mahmúd Regara (1459–1511). 1899 Allbutt's Syst. Med. VI. 657 Oppenheim attributes the latter..to a 'toxico-traumatic cause.

‖ Toxicodendron (tɒksĭkōdĕ·ndrŏn). Bot. [mod.L. (Tournefort, 1700, in sense.), f. Gr. τοξικόν (see Toxicum) + δένδρον tree.]

a. A former genus, now reckoned as a species of Rhus or sumac (R. Toxicodendron), a N. American shrub, also called poison-ivy (see Poison sb. 5 b).

b. A synonym of Hyænanche, a S. African genus of euphorbiaceous trees or shrubs with poisonous fruit, used for killing noxious animals, whence the local names Wolvebaan (i. e. Wolf's-bane) and Hyena-poison.

1721 W. Sherard in Phil. Trans. XXXI. 147 The Poyson-Tree..'Tis a species of Toxicodendron, tho' not nam'd by Dr. Tournefort in his Institutions. 1755 Gentl. Mag. Sept. 395/1 Experiments made on staining of linen with the juice of Toxicodendron. 1758 Ellis in Phil. Trans. L. 445 He still insists on it, that these two Toxicodendrons are the same. 1801 Mason Suppl. to Johnson, Toxicodendron, a North-American plant. 1888 Nicholson's Dict. Gard. IV. 63 Toxicodendron Syn. Hyænanche.

Hence To·xicode·ndric a., Chem. applied to an acid derived from Rhus Toxicodendron and other species, subsequently found to be identical with acetic acid; To·xicode·ndrol [-ol 3], Chem. a non-volatile oil constituting the poisonous principle of Rhus Toxicodendron and other species.

1865 J. M. Maisch in Proc. Amer. Pharm. Assoc. 172 A new organic acid, for which I propose the name of Toxicodendric acid. 1896 Dunglison Dis. Skin 322 The poison is an exceedingly volatile acid,—toxicodendric acid. 1898 U. S. Dept. Agric., Bot. Bulletin No. 20. 37 The poison is in reality a non-volatile oil. In January, 1895, Dr. Frans Pfaff ..announced this discovery. The oil has since been purified and named toxicodendrol.

To·xicoid, a. [f. Gr. τοξικόν (Toxicum) + -oid.] Resembling poison.

1891 Cent. Dict. cites Dunglison. 1899 in Syd. Soc. Lex.

Toxicology (tɒksĭkɒ·lŏdʒĭ). [= F. toxicologie (1812 in Hatz.-Darm.), f. Gr. τοξικόν taken in sense 'poison' (see Toxicum) and -logy.] The science of poisons; that department of pathology or medicine which deals with the nature and effects of poisons. So To·xicolo·gical a., belonging or relating to toxicology (sometimes erron. used for toxical). Thence To·xicolo·gically adv., in relation to toxicology; Toxico·logist, a person versed in toxicology, one who studies poisons.

1839 Blackw. Mag. XLV. 59 To guess whether the *toxicological agent..was a mineral, a vegetable, or any animal poison. 1842 Brande Dict. Sc., etc. s. v. Toxicology, We have elsewhere..referred to their toxicological history. *c*1864 J. Wylde in Circ. Sc. I. 320/2 In toxicological analyses. 1882 Springmuhl in Standard 23 Mar. 2/2 It differs *toxicologically and constitutionally from pure Aconitine. 1829–32 R. Christison Treat. Poisons xiii. (ed. 2) 387 The rule laid down by almost all modern *toxicologists. 1897 Allbutt's Syst. Med. II. 876. 1779 Hooper Med. Dict., Toxicology*,..a dissertation on poisons. 1853 W. Gregory Inorg. Chem. (ed. 3) 230 The reader is referred to the works on toxicology and legal medicine.

‖ To·xicosis (tɒksĭkō·sĭs). Path. Pl. -oses (-ōsīz). [mod.L., f. as prec. + -osis.] A disease or morbid condition, produced by the action of a poison.

1857 Dunglison Med. Lex., Toxicoses, a family of diseases ..caused by the reception of poisons into the system.

‖ To·xicum. Pl. -a. [L. toxicum 'poison', orig. 'poison for arrows', ad. Gr. τοξικόν φάρμακον poison (φάρμακον) for smearing arrows (τοξικός, -όν, f. τόξα pl. arrows, transf. fr. τόξον bow). Τοξικόν = 'of or pertaining to the bow', and had originally nothing to do with poison. But the effect of using τοξικόν, toxicum as short for the Gr. phrase was to transfer the sense 'poison' from φάρμακον to toxicum, first as 'poison for arrows' and at length as 'poison' generally, = L. venēnum.] Poison: cf. Toxic sb.

1601 Holland Pliny xxix. lv. II. 355 It is generally thought, that for the venome called Toxicum, there is not a better counterpoyson than dogs blood. 1657 Physical Dict., Toxicum, a venom or poyson, where with arrows are poysoned. 1669 W. Simpson Hydrol. Chym. 78 The vital spirits stand amazed as if smitten with a thunder-clap from the sinister toxicum. 1693 tr. Blancard's Phys. Dict. (ed. 2), Toxica, poysonous Medicaments, wherewith Barbarians use to anoint their Arrows. 1704 in J. Harris Lex. Techn. I.

Toxidermic to Toxi-infective: see Toxi-.

To·xifer. Zool. [ad. mod.L. Toxifera (Gray), f. Gr. τόξα arrows (or τόξευμα arrow, dart) + L. -fer bearing.] A mollusc of the sub-order Toxifera. (Cf. Toxoglossate.)

1853 J. E. Gray in Ann. & Mag. Nat. Hist. Ser. II. XII. 177 The subulate barbed teeth are implanted by a distinct root into the substance of the tube...The stomachic and organization of the mouth are so different from that of the other Proboscidifera and Rostrifera, where the teeth are placed on a lingual ribbon and used to rasp the food...that I am inclined to form the Cones into a third sub-order, which may be called Toxifera. 1861 P. P. Carpenter in Rep. Smithsonian Instit. 1860, 193 So far as known, the teeth and proboscis are like those of other Toxifers. 1863 — in Proc. Zool. Soc. 23 June 347 Species belonging to different families of Proboscidifers and Toxifers.

Toxin (tɒ·ksĭn). Also erron. -ine. [f. Tox-[1] + -in[1].] A specific poison, usually of an albuminous nature, esp. one produced by a microbe, which causes a particular disease when present in the system of a human or animal body.

1886 E. R. Lankester Advancem. Science (1890) 168 In other cases the toxin and the vaccin seem almost certainly to be distinct. 1891 Lancet 3 Oct. 792 In a few cases..the introduction of the toxins secreted by the bacilli sufficed to set up a commencement of the process in the joints characteristic of rheumatism. 1904 Brit. Med. Jrnl. 10 Sept. 557 The union of toxin and antitoxin is dissociable. 1905 G. A. Reid Prim. Heredity ii. 21 Toxins, extremely complex chemical compounds, are defensive weapons which protect the organisms producing them from their enemies, the phagocytes of the blood and tissues.

b. attrib. and Comb.

1896 Allbutt's Syst. Med. I. 893 In order to produce an immunity all that is required is to render the body toxin-proof. 1902 Encycl. Brit. XXVI. 66/2 In the development of toxin-immunity the doses, small at first, are gradually increased. 1903 Brit. Med. Jrnl. 4 Apr. 784 No proof is afforded..of a separate toxophore group in the toxin molecule. 1904 Ibid. 10 Sept. 576 The chemical interpretation of toxin-antitoxin antagonism.

Hence ‖ Toxinæmia (-ˈmiə̯) [Gr. αἷμα blood], the presence of a toxin in the blood: cf. toxæmia (Tox-1), toxicæmia (Toxico-).

1902 Buck's Handbk. Med. Sc. I. 284 Various toxæmic conditions..and the different toxinæmias induced by the infectious diseases—diphtheria and typhoid or typhus fever.

Toxin, rare obs. spelling of Tocsin.

Toxiphagus to Toxiresin: see Toxi-.

To·xity, abbreviated form of Toxicity.

1887 A. M. Brown Anim. Alkal. 103 Previous alkaline saturation of the material did not revive its toxity. 1894 Westm. Gaz. 11 Oct. 2/1 By multiplying the intensity of the toxity of the bacillus.

‖ Toxius (ˈtɒksiə̯s). Zool. Pl. toxii (-iəi). [mod.L., f. Gr. τόξον bow.] A form of sponge-spicule: see quot.

1886 Proc. Zool. Soc. 21 Dec. 562 Sponges..Flesh-Spicules..6. Toxius. Curved in the centre, the two ends in a straight line, thus ⟨.

Toxo-[1] (ˈtɒksɒ), before a vowel tox-, combining form repr. Gr. τόξον bow, in Toxocampid, Toxodon, Toxology, Toxophilite, etc., q. v.

Toxo-[2], used as combining form of Toxin (cf. Toxi-) or instead of Toxico-, in recent scientific terms, chiefly of pathology or physiological chemistry. Toxo-infe·ctious a., involving infection by a toxin: = toxi-infectious (Toxi-). Toxope·ptone, (a) a poisonous substance, of the nature of a peptone, found in cultures of cholera bacillus (Cent. Dict. Suppl.); (b) = Peptotoxin. Toxophil (-fil) a. [Gr. -φιλος loving], having affinity for a toxin. To·xophore (-fōə), Toxphoric (-fɒ·rik), Toxophorous (-pˈfōrəs) adjs. [Gr. -φορος bearing, carrying], poison-bearing; applied to a particular group of atoms in the molecule of a toxin to which its toxic properties are due. Toxophylaxin (-filæˈksin) [Gr. φυλαξ guard, protector], Toxosozin (-sōˈzin) [Gr. σώζειν to save], names for defensive proteins or antitoxins (see quots.). Toxoprotein (-prōˈtīin), a toxic protein, or mixture of a toxin and a protein.

1907 Med. Record 17 Aug. 279 The original cause of the lack of coagulation may be *toxoinfections, or due to marked congestion. 1896 Allbutt's Syst. Med. I. 926 Schol, growing the vibrio, in eggs, obtained a *toxo-peptone. 1902 Vaughan & Novy Cellular Toxins (ed. 4) 182 The body cells must possess *toxophil side chains. By this we mean that..there are groups of atoms which may combine with bacterial toxins. 1900 Lancet 18 Aug. 528/1 The *toxophore group of the toxin molecule being much less stable than the haptophore group was much more easily destroyed. 1903 Brit. Med. Jrnl. 21 Mar. 654 The other atomic group is toxophore, namely, is the cause of the specific toxic action. 1902 Ibid. 29 Mar. 785 The toxin molecule..must possess a second group which he [Ehrlich] calls the *toxophoric group. 1904 Ibid. 10 Sept. 574 Although the toxophoric group may be similar, the haptophor is dissimilar. 1902 Encycl. Brit. XXVI. 65/2 In the molecule of toxin there are at least two chief atom groups—one, the 'haptophorous', by which the toxin molecule is attached to the cell protoplasm; and the other the '*toxophorous', which has a ferment-like action on the living molecule, producing a disturbance which results in the toxic symptoms. 1899 Syd. Soc. Lex., *Toxophylaxin, a defensive proteid produced in the body of an animal which has acquired immunity for a given infectious disease, and which has the power of rendering inert the toxic products of the pathogenic micro-organisms to which the condition was due. 1896 Allbutt's Syst. Med. I. 523 The *toxo-proteins in reality are mixtures of albuminous, proteid, or albuminoid bodies with the true toxins. 1899 Syd. Soc. Lex., *Toxosozin, a defensive proteid found in the body of a normal animal which has the power of protecting itself to a greater or less degree against micro-organisms and their products.

Toxocampid (ˈtɒksokæ·mpid), sb. and a. Entom. [ad. mod.L. Toxocampidæ, f. Toxocampa, f. Gr. τόξον bow + κάμπη caterpillar.] a. sb. A Noctuine moth of the family Toxocampidæ, typified by the genus Toxocampa, having bow-shaped marks on the fore wings, e.g. Toxocampa Pastinum, the black-neck. b. adj. Belonging to or having the characters of the family Toxocampidæ.

Toxodon (ˈtɒksōdɒn). Palæont. [mod.L. (Owen, 1837), f. Gr. τόξον bow + ὀδούς, ὀδοντ- tooth: see quot. 1849.] A genus of large extinct quadrupeds, having strongly curved molar teeth, whose remains are found in Pleistocene deposits in S. America. Hence To·xodont, adj. belonging to or having the characters of the order Toxodonta, typified by this genus; sb. a quadruped of this order.

1837 Owen in Proc. Geol. Soc. II. 542 So far as dental characters have weight, the Toxodon must be referred to the rodent order. 1839 G. Roberts Dict. Geol., Toxodon, ..a gigantic quadruped approaching, in character, to the pachydermata. 1849 Sk. Nat Hist., Mammalia III. 115 The molar teeth also were rootless, and curved, whence the name toxodon. 1859 Darwin Orig. Spec. xi. (1878) 294 Remains of Mastodon, Megatherium, Toxodon and other extinct monsters.

To·xoglossate, a. Zool. [f. mod.L. Toxoglossa (Troschel, 1848), f. Gr. τοξα arrows, darts + γλῶσσα tongue (not from τοξικόν poison): see -ate 2 2.] Having the characters of the Toxoglossa of Troschel, a group of gastropod molluscs; the same as Gray's Toxifera.

[1848 Troschel in Wiegmann & Ruthe's Handbch. d. Zoologie (ed. 3,) 1893 J. E. Gray in Ann. & Mag. Nat. Hist. Ser. ii. XI. 230 (following Troschel) Sub-order Rostriferа...Section 2. Toxoglossa, lingual membrane with two series of subulate, elongate, often barbed lateral teeth. 1891 Cent. Dict. s. v., A toxoglossate gastropod. 1913 Prof. G. C. Bourne in Lank., I am pretty sure that Troschel compared the teeth to arrows..when he described and classified 3 families as Toxoglossa...As a matter of fact all the Toxoglossa have a poison-gland, but this was a later discovery.]

Toxoid (ˈtɒksoid). [f. Tox(in (cf. Tox-1) + -oid.] A modification or transformation product of a toxin, in which the toxophoric group of atoms is lost, and which has therefore no toxic effect, but retains affinity for the antitoxin. Also attrib.

1900 Lancet 18 Aug. 528/1 Very sensitive animals such as mice and guinea-pigs might..be easily and rapidly immunised against tetanus by means of toxoids only. 1902 Brit. Med. Jrnl. 29 Mar. 785 The modified toxin consists of a molecule with a haptophore but no toxophoric group and is called 'toxoid'. 1903 Ibid. 21 Mar. 654 The toxoids may again be subdivided into three groups, according to their affinity for the antitoxin, which may obviously be either greater (normal), equal (toxoid), or less than (toxoid) that of the toxin. 1904 Ibid. 10 Sept. 577 They were however able to produce toxoid formation in this constituent.

Toxology (ˈtɒksgˈlōdʒi). nonce-wd. [f. Gr. τόξον bow + -logy.] prop. The study of the bow, i. e. archery; inquot. humorously used for 'archery'.

1843 Fraser's Mag. XXVII. 401 He is reluctant to..run the risk of exposing his well-varnished cab as a pleasing target for the poles of the loitering omnibuses, the drivers of which latter have obtained a well-earned fame for their dexterity in this..department of toxology.

Toxon[1] (ˈtɒksɒn). Zool. [a. Gr. τόξον bow.] A bow-shaped sponge spicule. Cf. Tox sb.

1894 Trnl. Marine Zool. Feb. 40 A second and slender form of spicule, bow-shaped (toxon) can also be made out.

To·xon[2]. Path. Chem. [f. Tox(in + -on, -one.] (See quotation.)

1900 Lancet 18 Aug. 528/2 Löffler's diphtheria bacillus produced substances of two kinds—toxins and toxons..The action of the toxons was different from, and weaker than, that of the toxins. 1904 Brit. Med. Jrnl. 10 Sept. 567 The diphtheria poison is not a single substance, but consists of two chief components, toxin and toxon.

Hence To·xonoid, a modification of a toxon, in which the toxic properties are lost. (Cf. Toxon.)

1904 Brit. Med. Jrnl. 10 Sept. 573 Ehrlich explained the peculiarity that the 'toxon' has acute killing properties, by the assumption of two different kinds of toxon, thus introducing the conception of a new body—the toxonoid.

Toxopeptone, Toxophil: see Toxo-[2].

Toxophilite (ɒksgˈfilə̯it). [app. f. Toxophil-us (imaginary proper name invented by Ascham, and hence title of his book (1545), intended to mean 'lover of the bow' (f. Gr. τόξον bow + φίλος lover), for which the regular Gr. formation would have been φιλότοξος: see -phil, Philo-) + -ite[1]; quasi 'a follower of Toxophilus'.] A lover or devotee of archery, an archer.

1815 J. Hawkins Poems (ed. 2) 029 Memorials of the distance to which some of the Sultans, and other distinguished Toxophilites, have shot their arrows. 1845 Thackeray Leg. Rhine viii, His Grace..gives an archery meeting once a year, and prizes for which we toxophilites muster strong. 1868 Miss Braddon Dead Sea Fr. xxi, A triumphant display of his genius as a toxophilite.

b. attrib. Of or pertaining to archers or archery.

1794 Sporting Mag. III. 206 That the Toxophilite Society shall not exceed the number of one hundred and sixty subscribing members. 1845 Thackeray Leg. Rhine viii, All his new toxophilite friends. 1848 — Van. Fair iii, To wear Lincoln Green toxophilite hats and feathers.

Hence (nonce-wds.) Toxophilitic (-iˈtik) a., pertaining or relating to archers or archery; Toxo·philitism, Toxo·philism, Toxo·phily, the practice of, or addiction to, archery.

1887 All Year Round 29 Sept. 285 The spirit of *toxophilism is essentially different from..the spirit of the age. 1857 Chamb. Jrnl. VII. 141 The *toxophilitic proficiency of William Tell. 1840 T. Hook in New Monthly Mag. LX. 151 Dressed in green, with hats, and feathers, and quivers, and all the paraphernalia of *toxophilitism. 1892 Field 16 July 103/2 Amongst the votaries of *toxophily.

Toxophore to Toxosozin: see Toxo-[2].

Toxt: see Tox v.

Toy (toi), sb. Forms: ? 4, 6-7 toye, 6- toy; Pl. 6-7 toyes, toies, 6- toys. [Toy sb. and vb. (formerly toye) have been in common use since c 1530, when both are given by Palsgr., and used by Skelton and Tindale. But a single instance of toye sb., apparently the same word, occurs in Robert of Brunne. It is difficult to conceive how such a word in use c 1300 should thus disappear for two centuries, and then should all at once burst into view with a wide sense-development. The etymology is equally problematic, and, in spite of current conjectures, must still be considered unascertained: see Note below.]

I. Abstract senses, meaning action, act, notion, feeling.

†1. Amorous sport, dallying, toying; with pl., an act or piece of amorous sport, a light caress.

[1303 R. Brunne Handl. Synne 7891 Whedyr hyt be yn a womman handlyng, Or yn any oyher lusty dyng ?...Amendedp sow, pur charyte, And makep nat a-mys pe toye [or all MSS.], pat pe fende of sou haue loye.] 1565 Cooper Thesaurus s. v. Amo; Amatorijs lenitates, Louers toyes. 1590 Spenser F. Q. II. vi. 37 A foe of folly and immodest toy. 1594 — Epithal. 365 For greatest pleasure, carelesse of your toyes, Thinks more upon her paradise of joyes, Then what ye do. 1594 Willobie Avisa xlvii. iii, These toyes in tyme will make her yielde. 1667 Milton P. L. IX. 1034 So said he, and forbore not glance or toy, Of amorous intent, well understood Of Eve. 1668 Etherredge She Would if She Could ii. ii, Her toy was such, that every touch Would make a lover madder. 1707 Ward Hud. Rediv. ii. iii. 8 (Farmer) Kisses, Love-Toys, and wo'ous Prattle.

†2. A sportive or frisky movement; a piece of fun, amusement, or entertainment; a fantastic act or practice; an antic, a trick. Obs.

a 1500 Medwall Nature I. 786 (Brandl), Though I say yt a praty boy..He maketh me laugh wyth many a toy, The vrchyn ys so mad. Ibid. 1001 He that wold lordshyp enioy And playe euer styll the old boy Me semeth he doth but make a toy. 1530 Tindale Answ. More Wks. (1572) 249/1 We heare but voyces with out signification,..& wonder at disguisings & toyes wherof we know no meanyng. c 1555 Harpsfield Divorce Hen. VIII (Camden) 291 Neither was there ever any bearwards facionedness than made more pastime and toys to the people, than this. 1561 Hollybush Hom. Apoth. 9 Somtyme croweth he like a cocke, somtyme barketh he like a dogge, and many such foolish toyes yseth he. c 1595 Perfect Bk. Kepinge Sparhawkes (1886) 6 Lest she get a toye of flinginge her head. 1616 R. C. Times' Whistle v. 1948 Are apish tricks and toies, which vse to bring Men in diriision, sportes to breed delight? 1777 Horæ Subsecc. 437 (E.D.D.) He hath taken a toy to scratch his head, when he is speaking to a gentleman.

3. A fantastic or trifling speech or piece of writing; a frivolous or mocking speech; a foolish or idle tale; a funny story or remark, a jest, joke, pun; a light or facetious composition. arch.

1542 Udall Erasm. Apoph. I. Diogenes § 79 Nothyng but a toye, in dallyng with the affinitee and similitude of woordes. 1553 T. Wilson Rhet. (1580) A iv, Sothe as seeke the greatest praise for writyng of Bookes, should doe beste.. to write foolishe toyes, for then the moste parte would best esteme them. 1577 Breton Flourish on Fancie (Grosart) 17/2 Toyes of strange deuise, With stories of olde Robin Good. 1599 Shaks. Mids. N. v. i. 3, I neuer may beleeue These antickie fables, nor these Fairy toyes. 1621 Molle Camerar. Liv. Libr. III. xx. 215 They gaue credit to all these foolish toies. 1719 D'Urfey Pills (1872) I. 126 Fye George, she cryes, these Words are but Toys.

arch. 1821 Scott Kenilw. xvi, Think of what that archknave Shakspeare says—a plague on him, his toys come into my head when I should think of other matters. 1904 R. Garnett Shakespeare 104 She hath heard A little toy of thine, a comedy ('Tis called, I think, The Taming of a Shrew).

b. † (a) A light, frivolous, or lively tune. Obs. (b) A particular turn or phrase of melody in a bird's song: see quot. 1851.

1591 Greene Art Conny Catch. III. (1592) 19 In the time of ceising betweene the seuerall Ayres and fancies hee plaied. 1641 Sanderson Serm., Ad Aulam xiii. (1660) II. 267 One would have a grave Pavane, another a nimbler Galliard, a third some striking toy or Jigg. 1851 Mayhew Lond. Labour (1861) III. 14 There are four-and-twenty changes in a linnet's song..It sings 'toys', as we call them.

†4. A foolish or idle fancy; a fantastic notion, odd conceit; a whim, crotchet, caprice. Obs.

c 1530 H. Rhodes Bk. Nurture 330 in Babees Bk. (1868) 80 Cast not thyne eyes to ye yet fro, as thou werte full of toyes. 1555 W. Wayreman Fardle Facions II. x. 225 This people [Russians] hath many monstrous toyes. 1563 B. Googe Egloys viii. (Arb.) 59 But yf a toye com in your Brayne, your mynde is altered quyght. 1591 Florio and Fruites 161 Euen as the toy takes me in the head. 1612 Rogers Naaman 98 So deadly doth this conceit and toy of his owne braine worke with him. 1668 R. L'Estrange Vit. Quev. (1708) 101 Yet when the Toy took them, they'd make now and then a Sally. 1699 — Fables II. vii. (1715) II. 5 A New Marry'd Couple had a Toy took them in their Heads, to soon as ever the Office was over, to Shrift one another before they came together.

†b. spec. A foolish or unreasoning dislike or aversion: esp. in phr. to take (a) toy (in quot. 1612 = to take fright, start, shy) at something. Obs.

a 1593 Marlowe Hero & Leander v. Wks. (Rtldg.) 504/2 (To hear this) Made the well-spoken nymph take such a toy, That down she sunk. 1612 Two Noble K. v. iv. 79 The hot horse, hot as fire, Took Toy at this. 1647 Sanderson Serm., Ad Aulam xiv. (1660) II. 277 Common friends many times ..take toy at a trifle,..and pick quarrels to desert us. 1697 J. Sergeant Solid Philos. 308 Thence they take a Toy at Metaphysics, and pretend it insuperably hard and mysterious, II. Concrete senses.

(Sense 5 is also often abstract, connecting I and II; the connexion of 10 with the other senses is doubtful.)

5. gen. A thing of little or no value or importance, a trifle; a foolish or senseless affair, a piece of nonsense; pl. trumpery, rubbish. (In mod. use regarded as fig. from next sense.)

1530 Palsgr. 281/2 Toy a tryfell, truffe, friuolle. 1538 Elyot, Abydena, trifles, things of small estimation, wanton toyes, hynges vnsemelye for meane to vse. 1587 Harrison England II. vi. (1877) I. 166 To stand upon such toies would spend much time. 1605 Shaks. Mach. II. iii. 91 From this instant, There's nothing serious in Mortalitie: All is but Toys. 1631 Gouge God's Arrows I. § 29. 44 Of Popish toyes to pacifie God. 1654 H. More Myst. Iniq., Apol. 554 If they leave not off their animosities and asperities of mind about toys and trifles. 1719 Watts Hymn, Come, holy Spirit, Heavenly Dove ii. Look, how we grovel here below, Fond of these earthly Toys. 1848 Thackeray Van. Fair ix, But a title and a coach and four are toys more precious than happiness in Vanity Fair.

6. A material object for children or others to play with (often an imitation of some familiar object); a plaything; also, something contrived for amusement rather than for practical use (esp. in phrase a mere toy). In quot. c 1586 playing toy. Now the leading sense, to which the others are referred.

a 1586 Sidney Arcadia IV. Wks. 1725 II. 771 There was never poor scholar, that having instead of his book some playing toy about him, did more suddenly cast it from him. 1598 Barckley Felic. Man (1631) 152 The rattles and toyes which children use to play with. a 1625 Fr. Hall Occas. Medit. (1851) 111 We cry for every toy, even that which may most hurt us. 1672 R. Wild Poet. Licent. 29 We all know Popes-head-Alley trades in Toyes, Our Merchants come not thither, but our Boys. 1781 Cowper Tiros 128 Men deal with life as children with their play, Who first misuse, then cast their toys away. 1881 Stevenson Virg. Puerisque, Child's Play (1905) 157 Lead soldiers, dolls, all toys, in short, are in the same category. 1893 J. A. Hodges Elem. Photogr. (1907) 14 The very low-priced sets [of photographic apparatus]..are generally mere toys.

fig. 1893 Liddon, etc. Life Pusey I. xvi. 563 He handles it with the delight that a mere mental toy inspires in most men at a certain time of life.

7. A small article of little intrinsic value, but prized as an ornament or curiosity; 'a petty commodity' (J.), a knick-knack, trinket, gewgaw; hence (often in allusion to 6) applied to anything small, flimsy, or inferior of its kind (now chiefly attrib.: see II b).

1596 Shaks. Tam. Shr. IV. iii. 67 Heere is the cap...Why 'tis a cockle or a walnut-shell, A knacke, a toy, a tricke, a bables cap. 1624 Capt. Smith Virginia I. 3 We presented him with diuers toyes, which he kindly accepted. c 1630 Hales Serm. John xviii. 36 Rem. (1673) 154 So like one another, that one of them must wear a toy in his cap, that so the spectators may distinguish them. 1711 in 10th Rep. Hist. MSS. Comm. App. v. 139 A weak town, haveing noe outward works, but a toy of a pallisade before a little part of the wall. 1712 Arbuthnot John Bull iii. 1, Ladies, hung about with toys and trinkets. 1768 Tom Thumb's Folio 1. 4 His Father was greatly disconcerted at having such a little timey Toy of a Child. 1888 Black Houseboat xi, Perched on the top of a hill was a conspicuous toy of a church.

b. Applied technically to small steel articles, as hammers, pincers, buckles, button-hooks, nails, etc. More fully 'steel toys' (? i. e. steel petty things).

1833 J. Holland Manuf. Metal II. 39 Heavy Steel Toys. By this not very appropriate description the Birmingham manufacturers refer to a class of articles...To enumerate all the 'toys' of this class would be to transcribe a large list of miscellaneous cheap and useful wares, from a joiner's hammer to a shoemaker's tack. The pincers of the last-named workman, and the edged nippers..in use for breaking up loaf-sugar, are both of them well-known specimens.

c. Thieves' slang. A watch; toy and tackle, a watch and chain. Cf. toy-getter (see 11 d).

1890 Hoskley Pottings pr. 8 a/1 (1891) 17 He was very tricky at getting a poge or a toy, but he would not touch toys because we was afraid of being turned over.

8. fig. Applied to a person: a. (from 5) slightingly or contemptuously; in quot. 1822 affectionately = pet, darling (cf. 7); b. (from 6) as being used as a plaything or for sport.

1598 Shaks. Merry W. v. v. 46 Elues, list your names: Silence, you aiery toyes. 1622 B. Jonson Devil an Ass IV. vii, I ha' sworne to ha' him by the eares; I feare the toy, w' not do me right. 1681 Dryden Span. Friar IV. iii, O, Vertue! Vertue!..That men should leave thee for that Toy, a Woman? 1822 Byron Mar. Fal. I. ii, Thou little, gilded, and degraded toy. 1822 T. Mitchell Aristoph. II. 171 Why, Xanthias, my toy, Why, what ails the poor boy! 1883 Stepniak in Contemp. Rev. Sept. 317 A Russian..being a mere toy in the hands of the commonest policeman. 1888 Stevenson Black Arrow 46 This toy..that's not fit for wounds or warfare.

9. Applied to a diminutive breed or variety of animals. a. Short for toy dog: see 11 c.

1877 Field 24 Feb. 214/2 In toys no great change has taken place, except that..pugs, Italian greyhounds, and terriers are on the decline. 1899 Pall Mall G. 3 Oct. 9/1 Ladies' toys were in strong force...Sporting dogs were not numerous. 1903 Daily Chron. 25 May 5/2 The 'chiens de luxe', or 'toys, are in a roomy and well-warmed 'pavilion' by themselves.

b. Any dwarf variety of tame pigeon.

1909 Cent. Dict. Suppl. s.v., The toys resemble the tumblers in general build and are among pigeons what bantams are among fowl.

10. Sc. A close cap or head-dress, of linen or wool, with flaps coming down to the shoulders, formerly worn by women of the lower classes in Scotland. ? Obs. Also toy-mutch (11 d). [In this sense perh. = Du. toei attire, dress: see Note below.]

(The English quots. 1611, 1612, are placed here as perh. suggesting the origin; but they may belong to 7.)

[1611 Shaks. Wint. T. IV. iv. 326 Any Silke, any Thred, any Toyes for your head? 1612 Two Noble K. I. iii, On my head no toy But was her pattern.] 1792 Ramsay Tea-t. Misc. (1762) 2 Their toys and mutches were sae clean, They glanced in our ladses' een. 1793 Statist. Acc. Scot. IX. 325 The tenants wives wore toys of linen of the coarsest kind, upon their heads, when they went to church, fairs or market. 1816 Scott Old Mort. xxxix, The face of Alison ..now presented itself, enveloped in a 'toy'. 1824 — Redgauntlet Let. iv, An elderly woman, in a grey stuff gown, with a checke apron, and a 'toy'. 1892 H. G. Graham Soc. Life Scot. in 18th C. v. vi. (1901) 181 Farmers' wives and daughters with 'toys' or head-covering of coarse linen.

III. 11. attrib. and Comb. a. attrib. That is a toy (in sense 6): applied to small models or imitations of ordinary objects used as playthings, as toy boat, cannon, dog, engine, horse, house, man, train, trumpet, woman, etc.

1836 [Miss Maitland] Lett. fr. Madras iv. (1843) 25 Cape Town is just like the Dutch toy-towns. a 1860 Ala. Smith Lond. Med. Stud. (1862) 23 A stethescope—a curious instrument, something like a sixpenny toy-trumpet with its top knocked off. 1880 Mrs. F. D. Bridges Jrnl. Lady's Travs. round World xviii. (1882) 298 One never quite gets over the impression of being amongst dolls and living in a toy-house.. in Japan. 1888 Hasluck Model Engin. Handybk. iii. (1900) 24 The most simple form of toy-engine is that illustrated below. 1897 Econ. Rev. Oct. 480 The babies had toy-animals on wheels.

b. transf. and fig. Applied to things of diminutive size, flimsy construction, or petty character, as if intended for sport or diversion rather than serious use.

1821 Scott Kenilw. xii, You go not to your gew-gaw toy-house yonder; you will sleep to-night in better security. 1855 Hr. Martineau Autobiog. I. 237 My surprise at the smallness and toy-character of Abbotsford was genuine. 1895 Miss Braddon in Westm. Gaz. 6 Nov. 1/3 A very popular writer may launch three of these toy-pinnaces in a year. 1897 Gladstone E. Crisis 5 The Concert of Europe included toy-demonstrations, which might be made under the condition that they should not pass into reality. 1909 Daily Chron. 19 Feb. 3/2 Ruritania was something more than the first toy-kingdom of our modern stage.

c. Applied to an animal, esp. a dog of a diminutive breed or variety, kept as a pet, e.g. a toy spaniel or terrier.

1863 Sat. Rev. 28 Mar. 408/1 These very large dogs are not much more useful than the very small ones which are called, with perfect aptness, toy dogs. 1872 B. Clayton Dogs 20 A Toy Terrier was exhibited which weighed only six ounces. 1889 G. Stables Dog Owners' Kennel Comp. vi. § 10. 66 There are several other kinds of Toy Terriers.. but I need only mention..the Toy Black and Tan and the Toy Blue or Slate colour.

d. Comb.: artib. (of or for toys), as toy-box, -cupboard, -fair, -land, -manufacture, -trade; objective and obj. gen., as toy-maker, -making, -turner; instrumental, similative, etc., as toy-bewitched, -like, -sized adjs.; † also toy-block, one of a set of wooden or paper-mâché blocks, usually with letters or designs, for children to play with; toy-getter (Thieves' slang), a watch-stealer; so toy-getting; † toy-headed, adj., having 'toys' or odd fancies in the head, crotchety; toy-line = toy-railway; toy-mutch, Sc. = sense 10; † toy-pate, a head full of 'toys', crotchets, or frivolities (cf. toy-headed); toy-railway, (a) a model of a railway, with its engine, train, etc.; (b) pop., a small narrow-gauge railway, often orig. constructed for the use of slate-works or the like, but subsequ. carrying tourists or other passengers; also toy-line; toy-service, a church-service at which toys are brought as an offering for sick or poor children; toy-woman, a woman who keeps a toy-shop. See also Toyman, -shop, -wort.

1794 Coleridge Relig. Musings vii, We become An anarchy of Spirits. Toy-bewitched. 1891 Cent. Dict., Toy-block, one of a set of small blocks,..forming a plaything for children. 1865 (title) Aimé Louisa's Toy Books. 1831 Carlyle Sart. Res. II. vi, He describes lying far below, embosomed among its groves and green natural bulwarks, and all diminished to a *toy*box, the fair Town. 1900 Westm. Gaz. 11 Dec. 12/2 The season for the ransacking of toy-cupboards. 1908 Westm. Gaz. 29 Oct. 1/2 The order.. that there shall be no toy-fairs in London this Christmas-tide deprives the City of..one of its sights. 1896 A. Morrison Child of the Jago 102 Dicky knew the small man for a good toy-getter. 1633 T. Adams Exp. 2 Peter ii. 1 It sticks upon the stomach of some toy-headed professors. 1908 Daily Chron. 5 Nov. 7/5 No one realises unless he penetrates into *Toy*land how much whimsical humour, how much scientific skill and craftsman's ingenuity are devoted to the invention of the playthings for the festive season. 1818 Scott Hrt. Midl. i, The gay glancing of the equipage, its diminished and toy-like appearance at a distance. 1883 Manch. Exam. 26 Nov. 5/3 The Swiss lake steamers are..too toy-like to ensure their passengers against reasonably probable risks. 1898 Jenkinson Guide N. Wales 271 Leaving the Cambrian train at Mynffordd Junction, the traveller walks up a path to the toy line, and enters one of the little carriages. 1859 Habits of Gd. Society v. (new ed.) 194 Worth all the amusements which a toy-maker could dream of. 1858 Carlyle Frederk. Gt. IX. iii. (1872) III. 87 Toy-manufactures of those simple people.

1742 Forbes Dominie Depos'd II. i, The toy-mutch maun then gae on, Nae mair bare-hair'd. 1693 Penn Maxims lx. Wks. 1726 I. 847 He never deals but in substantial Ware, and leaves the rest for the *Toy-Pates (or Shops) of the World. 1892 Baedeker Guide N. Wales (ed. 4) 165 heading, Portmadoc to Festiniog by the *'Toy' Railway. Ibid., No orthodox tourist visits Wales without taking a turn..on the 'Toy' railway. 190. Guide to Lynton, Lynmouth, etc. Introd. 19 heading, Barnstaple to Lynton by the Toy Railway. 1889 Standard 1 Feb., *'Toy Services' which are becoming very popular in some of our churches. 1895 Clive Holland Yap. Wife (ed. 11) 27 *Toy-sized cups of tea. 1757 W. Thomson K. N. Advoc. 41 Our Sons of War are to be served after our Sons of *Toy-Trade. 1893 A. N. Palmer Hist. Wrexham IV. 11, I find mentioned..one *toy-turner. 1827 Scott Diary 2 Oct., in Lockhart, An old lady, who proved a *toy woman in Edinburgh.

[Note. Eduard Müller suggested the identity of toy with Du. toei, late MDu. tôi, 16th c., 'attire, ornament, finery, dress', which suits the form, but hardly the sense (exc. ? in 10 or ?). Others have thought of Du. tuig 'harness, horse-trappings', in pl. 'sails, rigging, implements, tools; stuff, lumber, refuse, trash'; in Kilian 1599 tuygh, dial. tuych, tugh, 'arms, implements, armaments, impedimenta, ornaments', = Ger. zeug 'apparatus, tools, gear, furniture, stuff, trash, etc.', LG. tüg, tüüg, MLG. tûch, tûg. But, if the sense-development shown above is historically correct, it is difficult to see in either of these suggestions, the origin of the English word. It is indeed true that Du. speeltuig, Ger. spielzeug, and Da. legetøi, mean 'play-tool or implement, plaything, toy', and that Sidney in 1586 used 'playing toy', which might conceivably be a rendering of one of these compounds; but this would still leave the earlier English history unexplained.]

Toy, v. [Goes with Toy sb., q.v.]

1. intr. To act idly or without seriousness; to trifle, 'play', deal carelessly (with a person or thing); also † to make sport, mock (obs.).

a 1529 Skelton Bowge of Courte 290 It was no tyme with him to jape nor toye. 1530 Palsgr. 738/2, I toye, or tryfell with one, I deale mistakenly with hym, je me truffe. 1549–64 Sternhold & H. Ps. xxxv. 16 Yea abject slaves at me did toy with mocks and cheekes ful stout. 1563 Homilies II. Inform. H. Script. 1. (1859) 373 It is a shame that christian men should be so light headed, to toy as truffans do with such manner of speeches. 1596 Dering Expos. Heb. v. 4–6. Cc iij, They must haue oyle, candels.. wine and water,..trifled and toyed with all. 1653 W. Ramesey Astrol. Restored 19, I fear I do toy in recording these vain Objections. 1868 Dixon & H. Ex. xxxv. 26

c 1205 LAY. 8039 Her liggeð to-þere Ten þusend of his fleren. c 1290 St. Brendan 240 in S. Eng. Leg. I. 226 Þoure ester 3e schille holde her as 3e dude to-þere. c 1385 CHAUCER Wife's Prol. 168 Yet hadde I leuere wedde no wyf to-yere, c 1400 Gesta Nicodemus 966 Of Iudas, þat 3e presond to yere. 1483 Cath. Angl. 321/1 To yere, horno; hornus, hornotinus. a 1575 R. B. Apphus & Virg. B.j, Man, be mery to yere. 1623 WEBSTER Duchess of Malfi II. i, I have heard of none to year. 1727 GAY Begg. Op. I. ii, Betty hath brought more Goods into our Lock to-year than any five of the Gang. 1828 Craven Glass. s. v. 7o, ' We've a famous clip to year', that is, this year. 1882 TENNYSON Promises of May 1. Poems (1889) 781/2, I looksons 'ee'll hev' a fine cider-crop to-year. 1886 T. HARDY Mayor of Casterbr. I. 64 Not but what he's been shook a little to-year about this.

Toyel, obs. form of TOOL.

To-3e(i)n, to-3e(i)nes: see TO-GAINS.

Toyer (toi·rəl). [f. TOY v. + -ER 1.] One who toys; a trifler.

a 1713 W. HARRISON Passion of Sappho 5 in Nichols Coll. (1780) IV. 183 Wanton Cupid, idle toyer. 1814 L. HUNT Notes Feast Poets (1815) 52 These toyers in versification.

Toyful (toi·ful), a. Now rare or Obs. [f. TOY sb. + -FUL.] Full of sport or fun; sportive, playful; funny, amusing.

1580 SIDNEY Let. to Robert S. 18 Oct., My youtfull Books I will send..by the February. a 1631 DONNE Poetr. Soul xlvi, It quickned next a toyfull Ape. 1744 ARMSTRONG Preserv. Health II. 290 When Favonius, flush'd with love Toyful and young, in ev'ry breeze descends.

Hence Toy·fulness.

a 1829 DE QUINCEY Poeth. Wks. (1863) II. 24 The playfulness and..the toyfulness (if we may invent that word) of childhood.

Toy-getter, -headed, etc.: see TOY sb. 11 d.

Toying (toi·iŋ), vbl. sb. [f. TOY v. + -ING 1.] The action of the verb TOY; playing, sporting; trifling, idle or careless dealing (with anything), amorous dalliance.

1565-73 COOPER Thesaurus s. v. Argua, Digitorum argutia, toyinges or gestinges of the fingers: often mouyng. 1580 HOLLYBAND Treas. Tong, Rogement, wantonnesse, or toying. 1726 Adv. Capt. R. Boyle (1768) 236 After our Toying was over, she told me she was afraid of losing me. 1840 CARLYLE Heroes ii. (1872) 67 Toying and coquetting with Truth: this is the sorest sin. 1865 DICKENS Mut. Fr. I. xi, Slightly in contrast with this brief airy toying. 1911 W. W. PEYTON in Contemp. Rev. Sept. 374 Evil is in toying with imperfection.

Toying, ppl. a. [f. as prec. + -ING 2.] That toys; playful, sportive; esp. amorously sportive.

a 1566 R. EDWARDES Damon & Pythias Prol. 6 Frustrate quite of toying plaies. 1711 STEELE Spect. No. 155 ¶ 4 None of these toying Fools will do any more..to preserve her from Infamy. 1769 G. WHITE Selborne xxii. (1853) 93 When the cock has been pursuing the hen in a toying way through the boughs of a tree.

Hence Toy·ingly adv.

1731 BAILEY, Toyingly, trifingly, wantonly.

Toyish (toi·iʃ), a. Now rare. [f. TOY sb. + -ISH 1.] Having the character of a toy, or addicted to toys (in various senses of the sb.).

1. Trifling, trivial, of no importance, worthless; foolish, senseless, nonsensical.

1574 Life with Abp. Canterb. Pref. E v b, The thinges therin described being in part not all so true and in greatest part to to toyishe. 1588 CROWLEY Delth. Answ. 48 b, Your ringing of Belles, your burning of lightes in the open daylight, with..many other toyish disuses. 1653 S. FISHER Baby Baptism 7 It's a most Pedantick, toyish and boyish piece of business. 1711 in 10th Rep. Hist. MSS. Comm. App. v. 129 Mallice..is apt to make any toyish pretence to be her warrant for evil actions. 1850 C. WORDSWORTH Occas. Serm. Ser. I. 162 By it we have been secured from the hollow mockery of tedious and toyish ceremonies.

† b. Wanting in gravity of style; light, frivolous. ? Obs.

1603 G. JOHNSON Disc. Trouble. Eng. Ch. Amsterdam 135 A couple crowned: hart with a twiched beard..Immodest and toyish in a Pastors wife. 1615 MARKHAM Eng. Housew. II. i. (1668) 3 Adorn the person, altogether without toyish garnishes, or the gloss of light colours. 1676 MACE Musick's Mon. 129 Sarabands are of the Shortest Triple-Time: but are more Toyish, and Light.

2. Sportive, playful, frisky, skittish. ? Obs.

1577 HARRISON England III. vii. (1878) II. 49 The last kind of toiesh curs are named dansers, and those being of a mongrell sort also, are taught to exercised to dance in measure. c 1613 ROWLANDS Paire of Spy-Knaves 5 From merry drunk, and toyish as an Ape. 1680 O. HEYWOOD Diaries, etc. (1882) III. 306 Oh this dodging, toyish, frisking heart kills me.

† b. Amorously sportive, wanton, licentious.

1563 Homilies II. Place & Time of Prayer 1. (1859) 341 They rest in wantonness, in toyish talking, in filthy fleshliness.

† 3. Fantastic, odd, whimsical, queer. Obs.

1598 FLORIO, Humoristo, humorous, fantastical, toish. 1599 HARSNET Agst. Darell 38 Somers had counterfeyted certaine fits and toyish behaviour at M. Brakenburie. 1638 SANDERSON Serm., Ad Aulam viii. (1660) II. 258 Some peevish and obstinate, some toyish, fickle, and humorous.

4. Of the nature of, or fit for, a plaything; of a humorous or sportive character, as a writing.

1699 POMFRET Dies Novissi. Rem. (1724) 8 Adieu, ye toyish Reeds that once could please My softer lips. 1830 SCOTT Demonol. v. 163 They have many light toyish books.

5. Resembling a toy, toy-like; diminutive or flimsy; spec. like, or like that of, a ' toy ' dog.

1886 Field 23 Jan. 123/2 Richmond Puzzle, fourth prize, is at present small and toyish. 1890 Ibid. 8 Mar. 355/2 His [a Fox Terrier's] head is now toyish and effeminate.

Hence Toy·ishly adv.; Toy·ishness.

1607 MARKHAM Cavsal. II. (1617) 150 He will exercise his lesson with such wanton and apish toyishnesse. 1624 BP. MOUNTAGU Innocent. Addr. 116 See how toyishly these great Masters play with their owne fancies. 1665 GLANVILL Scepsis Sci. Addr. 23 Your Society..will discredit that toyishness of wanton fancy.

Toyl, obs. form of TOIL, TOILE, TWIL.

Toyle, toyll, obs. forms of TOIL, TOOL.

Toyless (toi·les), a. [f. TOY sb. + -LESS.] Destitute of toys; not having any toys.

1898 G. TAYLOR in Chicago Advance 13 Jan. 43/3 Telling us of the children's gifts to their toyless little down-town neighbors. 1906 Blackw. Mag. Apr. 647/2 My toyless condition was due to anatomical longings.

Toym, toyme, obs. forms of TOOM sb.[1] and a.

Toyman (toi·mæn). [f. TOY sb. + MAN *sb.*1] A man who sells toys, or who keeps a toy-shop: formerly, one who sold requisites for sports, trinkets, and fancy goods; now, one who makes or sells playthings for children (cf. TOY-SHOP 1, 2).

1707 Lond. Gaz. No. 4328/8 Ralph Ayscough, of St. James's Westminster, Toyman. 1710-11 SWIFT Jrnl. 7 Jan., I will go to the toyman's here just in Pall Mall, and he sells great hugeous batoons. 1749 FIELDING Tom Jones XII. iv. The pocket-book..had cost five and twenty shillings, having been bought of a celebrated toyman. 1758 JOHNSON Idler No. 6 ¶ 5 The toyman will not give his jewels. 1813 SHELLEY Q. Mab Notes, Poet. Wks. (1891) 41/1 The jeweller, the toyman, the actor gains fame and wealth by the exercise of his useless and ridiculous art. 1886 C. E. PASCOE Lond. of To-day xl. (ed. 3) 347 Those admirable examples of the toyman's craft—whole garrisons of miniature soldiers, artillery, cavalry, and infantry.

Toy-mutch, etc.: see TOY sb. 11.

Toyn, toyne, obs. forms of TONE sb.

‖ Toyon (toi·ən). Also tollon. [n. Mexican Sp. tollon (tolʲón), the native name.] The Californian Holly, Heteromeles (Photinia) arbutifolia, N.O. Rosaceæ.

[1848 BENTHAM Plantæ Hartwegg. 307 Photinia arbutifolia, Tyon incolarum.] 1896 BREWER, etc. Bot. California I. 188 Heteromeles arbutifolia, Toyon or Tollon. 1884 MILLER Plant-n., Tollon, or Toyon.

† Toy·ous, a. Obs. rare. [f. TOY sb. + -OUS.] a. Trifling, ornamental, unessential. b. Inclined to toy or flirt, coquettish. Hence Toy·ousness.

1581 MULCASTER Positions xxxviii. (1887) 178 Those ouerpaingle qualities for the toyousnesse thereof being misplaced in her, do cause the young woman rather to be toyed withall..then to be thought verie well of. 1592 WARNER Alb. Eng. VII. xxxvi. 157 The faire sweet wittie wench grew toyous in the end.

Toy-patte, -railway, etc.: see TOY sb. 11.

Toy-shop.

1. A shop for the sale of trinkets, knick-knacks, or small ornamental articles; a fancy shop. arch.

1693 W. FRERE Sel. Ess. xxxii. 201 Are not these..fitter for a Toy-shop, than a Wise Man's Head? 1711 ADDISON Spect. No. 10 ¶ 6 If they [women] make an Excursion to a Mercer's or a Toy-shop. 1771 Ibid. No. 499 ¶ 5 Ribbons, brocades, embroideries..sufficient to have furnished a whole street of toy-shops. 1791 BOSWELL Johnson 28 Apr. an. 1778, We stopped again at Wirgman's, the well-known toyshop..he sent for me to..help him to choose a pair of silver buckles. 1832 [see 3].

2. A shop for the sale of toys or playthings.

1818 SCOTT Hrt. Midl. vi, These booths have degenerated into mere toy-shops, where the little loiterers..are..enchanted by the rich display of hobby-horses, babies, and Dutch toys. 1838 LYTTON Nat. and well bre ix. Lionel could not find in the toyshops of the village a doll good enough. 1886 C. E. PASCOE Lond. of To-day xl. (ed. 3) 347 A toy shop, crowded with all sorts of interesting playthings.

3. attrib.

1832 DICKENS Old C. Shop xxii, Such..as was never before seen or heard of out of a toy-shop window. 1852 THACKERAY Esmond III. vii, Esmond found the antechamber crowded with milliners and toyshop women..mercers' men with hangings, and velvets, and brocades.

† Toysome (toi·səm), a. Obs. rare. [f. TOY sb. + -SOME.] Full of ' toys ', or having the character of a ' toy '; fantastic, whimsical; inclined to toy, sportive, playful; amorously sportive.

1638 FORD Fancies v. 1, I have an excellent humour to be pettish, A little toysome. 1659 HOOLE Comenius' Vis. World (1777) 178 The fool causeth laughter by his toysome actions. 1719 D'URFEY Pills (1872) III. 113 Tom was toysome, Will was sad. 1754 RICHARDSON Grandison (1783) VI. 132 As we sat at breakfast, two or three toysome things were said by my Lord (no ape was ever so fond I).

Hence Toy·someness.

1697 CREECH tr. Manilius Pref. 46 There are so many boldnesses scattered thro' his Poem, and so much of Toysomness just by them, that a man may read his Youth in his Writings.

† Toy·son, -e, obs. ff. toison: in quots. short for TOISON D'OR.

a 1595 in Kingsford Chron. Lond. (1905) 239 Other honourable personages in Ambassades, as his second Chamberlayn and Knyght of the Toyson. a 1548 HALL Chron., Hen. VIII 23 b, The lord Bresley, knight of the Toyson. 1601 R. JOHNSON Kingd. & Commw. (1603) 244 There is also the order of the Toysone, of which his maiestie is chiefe.

Toyte, toft (toit), v. Sc. and north. dial. intr. To totter, walk feebly or unsteadily.

1787 BURNS To Auld Mare xviii, We'll toyte about wi' one anither. 1821 W. ALEXANDER Johnny Gibb xliv, I've toitit about wi' you upo' this place naar fourty year noo.

† Toy·wort. Obs. [f. TOY sb. + WORT.] A local name for the herb Shepherd's purse (Capsella Bursa-pastoris), from the resemblance of the capsule to a toy purse.

1597 GERARDE Herbal II. xxiii. § 2. 215 Shepheardes purse is called..in the North part of England Toywoort, Pickepurse, and Caseweede. 1657 W. COLES Adam in Eden 71.

† Toze, tose (tōuz), v.[1] Obs. exc. dial. Forms: 3-7 tose, 4-7 toose, 6 tooze (toose), 7-8 toase, (7 toaze), 6- tooze. [ME. tosen (a 1250 in compound to-tosen); not recorded in OE.; but the later forms toase, etc. indicate an OE. tōsian*, f. verbal root tōs- :—OTeut. taiz-, whence also OE. tēsan (:—taizjan*) to TEASE (q. v. for further relations).] trans. To pull asunder; to separate or unravel the fibres of; to comb or card (wool, etc.); = TEASE v.[1] 1.

a 1250 [see To-tose, To-3 1]. 1346 Lett. Red Bk. Bristol (1900) II. 2 Item si fila deficiant in panno vel quod nimis distent quod textores appellant tosed. 1390 GOWER Conf. I. 27 And what Schep that is full of wulle Upon his back, thei toose and pulle, Whil ther is eny thing to pile. c 1400 Lanfranc's Cirurg. 41 A good quantite of tow I-tosid. c 1440 Promp. Parv. 497/2 Toson wulle or other lyke (w. tosyn or tose wull, cai.). 1530 PALSGR. 760/1, I toose wolle, or cotton, or suche lyke, je force de la laine, and je charpis de la laine. 1567 GOLDING Ovid's Met. xiv. 305 What tooaing wooll did meene. 1577 NORTHBROOKE Dicing (1843) 81 Many ..may pick wool, and sow garments, or tose okam. 1615 MARKHAM Eng. Housew. II. v. (1668) 123 Toase it every lock by lock. 1622 R. HAWKINS Voy. (1847) 155 Pecoes of a junke or rope, chopped very small,..and after tozed all as oacombe. 1665 HOOKE Microgr. 42 The Threads ..were..as it were, tos'd open like a Lock of Wool. 1725 Bradley's Fam. Dict. s. v. Mixing Colours, Wool..must be taken out and toas'd over-again; for the first Toasing was to make it receive the Colour or Die; but the second is to..make it fit for Spinning. 1881 Miss JACKSON Shropsh. Word-bk. s. v. Tay, Snip the end off the tag, an' toze it well as the grace can get among it.

b. transf. To pull, pull about. (Cf. TOUSE.)

14.. Sir Beues 1952 + 2 (MS. M) That they were in the greene wose, And I shold hem well tose. 1573 TUSSER Hush. (1878) 206 For enerie crime, What toesed eares, like baited beares!

c. fig. To separate, search out; to analyse; to elicit, ' tease out '.

c 1450 Cov. Myst. xiii. (1841) 401 The trewthe ful trewlye he wyl tose, And sewer to heyns ye belle. 1611 SHAKS. Wint. T. IV. iv. 760 For that I insinuate, or stretch of wit Toaze from thee thy Businesse. 1633 D. R[OGERS] Treat. Sacram. II. 44 Doe it more fully, toze your consciences. 1648 JEREMY Blind Guides I. 8 The spurious expositions.. upon the Scriptures in his reckless tozing of them.

Hence † Tozed, tosed ppl. a., † To·zing vbl. sb.; † To·zer, a comber or carder (of wool, etc.).

1346 Tosed [see above]. c 1440 Promp. Parv. 497/2 Tosare, of wulle or other lyke, carpirius. Tosynge, of wulle or oper thyngys, carpitura. 14.. Noble Bk. Cookery (1882) 103 Charge it with the tosed fleesshe. 1563-87 FOXE A. & M. (1596) 321/1 For euerie sacke of tosed wool, seuen marks. 1632 R. Bruce's Praxis Bled. 22 Dippe toosed Woull herein. 1648 TOMLINSON 1725 Toasing [see above].

Toze (tōuz), v.[2] Tim. sitting. Also 9 toss (erron. tosa). [Possibly the same word as prec.; but connexion of sense is not certain.

(The spelling toss seems due to a bad etymological guess (see quot. 1839) which has passed into dictionaries.)] trans. To separate tin ore from the gangue or rough ore by stirring the slimes in a kieve, and allowing the heavier particles to settle.

1758 BORLASE Nat. Hist. Cornw. 120 The coffer is then emptied the second time, the tin carried again to the kieve, there tozed, skimmed, and packed. 1839 DE LA BECHE Rep. Geol. Cornw., etc. xv. 577 Another let the tin ore fall into it (viz. the water) by degrees at the side of the kieve, where it was tozed (tossed), or stirred by the other until the vat was almost full. 1882 JAGO Cornw. Gloss., Toas, or Toze, to shake or toss the wet tin to and fro in a kieve or vat, with water, to cleanse and dress it.

Hence To·zing vbl. sb., the action of thus cleaning the ore; also in comb., as tozing-hub, the tub or kieve in which tin ore is tozed. Also To·zer: see quot. 1885; (also a Cornish surname).

1758 BORLASE Nat. Hist. Cornw. 139 The tin-ore is then sifted in a sieve purposely constructed, and if it needs must be sent to be buddled again, then returned to the kieve and worked as before with a shovel, which they call tozing the tin.] 1760 J. WILLIAMS Min. Kingd. II. 210 They are obliged to take another method to clean it, which is called tutloobing, or tozing. Ibid. 212 The tozing operation. 1839 URE Dict. Arts 1244 The rough is washed in buddles, and in tossing tubs. 1877 KNIGHT Dict. Mech. 2603/2 Tossing, or Tozing, the operation of agitating ore in a kieve; a tub in which it is rotated in water by a stirrer on a vertical axis. 1885 Black's Guide to Cornw. (ed. 13) 54 Tozer, the man who tozes, stirs, or washes the crop-tin.

Tozie, variant of TOSY.

† Tozy (tōu·zi), a. Obs. [app. f. TOZE v.[1] + -Y. But cf. TOSY.] Soft like teased wool. Hence † To·ziness, softness.

1706 PHILLIPS (ed. Kersey), Tozy, soft like Wool. 1727 BAILEY vol. II, Tozyness, softness, like tozed Wool.

absol. 1824 SCOTT St. Ronan's xx, I can tell it [a shawl] to be a real tozie. Ibid., That tozie now will keep its colour while there is a rag of it left.

† Tphrowh, int. Obs. nonce-wd. An exclamation to arrest or call attention: cf. PROO.

1575 Gamm. Gurton I. ii. A iij, And chad not cryed tphrowh, hoore, shead lept out of his Kee.

†Tprot. Obs. An expression of contempt.

13..in Pol. Songs (Camden) 223 Tprot, Scot, for thi stiff! Hang up thyn hachet and thy knyf.

†Tprw. Obs. Imitation of the sound of a horn.

*c*1430 Pilgr. Lyf Manhode II. cxv. (1869) 118 Tprw tprw, j say, tprw tprw.

Tra, Sc. variant of TRAY sb. Obs., affliction.

Traas, Traass, obs. ff. of TRACE *sb.*1, TRASS.

‖Traba·colo. Also trabaccolo. [It. trabacolo, -accolo :—med.L. trabăculum*, f. L. trab-em beam, timber (cf. tabernăculum).] An Italian ship of medium size; a small coasting vessel.

1809 CAPT. HOSTE in Naval Chron. XXII. 506 A convoy of merchant trabaccolos. 1812 Examiner 12 Oct. 648/1 Twelve sail of the enemy's trabaccoloes. 1846 RAIKES Life Sir T. Brenton 360 Accompanied by three trabaccolos for the purpose of landing the troops. [1866 HOWELLS Venet. Life vii, Small coasting vessels (trabacoli at Venice).]

Trabal (trē·băl, trē·băl), a. [ad. L. trabăl-is, f. trab-s, trab-em beam : see -AL.] †a. Pertaining to or of the nature of a beam ; trabeal. Obs. rare—0. b. Anat. Pertaining to the trabs cerebri or corpus callosum of the brain.

1656 BLOUNT Glossogr., Trabal, of, or belonging to a beame ; great or big like a beame. 1889 Buck's Handbk. Med. Sc. VIII. 517 Trabal..would merely recall the obsolete name for the callosum, trabs cerebri. 1899 Syd. Soc. Lex., Trabal, pertaining to the trabs; callosal.

‖Trabant (trăba·nt). Now chiefly Hist. Also †trabanto, travant, 7–8 traband. [a. Ger. trabant a life-guard, an armed attendant, a satellite (also in Astron.), in It. trabante, F. traban, Boh. drabanti; of Turkish (orig. Pers.) origin: see DRABANT.] In some European countries, a life-guard, an armed attendant, a satellite.

1617 MORYSON Itin. III. 238 He [the Emperor] had one hundred for his Guard, (called Trabantoes)...Ten Hascheres and twelue Trabantoes attended each day. c 1634 CRAMAN Alphonsus III. F iv b, Six trauants well arm'd. 1693 Lond. Gaz. No. 2845/2 Thus they went through several stately Rooms, having the Trabands on each side of them. 1762 tr. Busching's Syst. Geog. V. 327 The fifty halberdeers and the fifty trabands or horse-guards have been rather instituted for the splendor of the court than the military establishment. 1904 Daily Chron. 15 Dec. 1/7 It was announced that the President [of the Hungarian Chamber]..would not appear, and that the guard of 'Trabants' had been removed.

‖Trabea (trē·biă). Pl. -EæI (-ē,ī). Rom. Antiq. [Latin trabea.] A toga ornamented with horizontal purple stripes, worn as a state robe by kings, consuls, and other men of rank in ancient Rome.

1600 HOLLAND Livy I. 30 Then came Servius abroad in his roiall robe, called Trabea. 1702 ADDISON Dial. Medals iii. (1726) 160 Our modern Medals are full of Toga's and Tunica's, Trabea's and Paludamentums. a 1746 HOLDSWORTH Rem. Virgil (1768) 108 The Lituus and Trabea of Romulus and the Ancilia were kept in the Sacrarium of the Salii. 1842 W. SMITH Dict. Gr. & Rom. Antiq. s.v. Toga, Servius..mentions three kinds of trabeae; one wholly of purple, which was sacred to the gods, another of purple and white, and another of purple and saffron which belonged to augurs. The purple and white trabea was a royal robe.

Trabeal (trē·biăl), a. Arch. [irreg. f. L. trab-em beam, instead of the regular form TRABAL.] Of the nature of a horizontal beam, beam-like.

1882 SIR H. ACLAND in Mason. Mag. V. 237 (Descr. Oxford Museum) Extending laterally..are two wooden spanners to the [iron] trabeal beam before referred to as sustaining the rafters. 1866 Athenæum 18 Aug. 214/2 Trabeal forms prevail.

Trabeate (trē·biēt), a. Arch. [irreg. (for trabāte*), f. L. trab-s, trab-em beam + -ATE 2, on analogy of TRABEATED, q. v. (L. trabeātus meant 'clad in the trabea'.)] † a. Constructed with beams ; having beams or long squared stones as lintels and entablatures, instead of using the arch ; covered with a beam or entablature, as a doorway.

Trabeated architecture is opposed to arcuated, arched, or vaulted. Trabeated ceiling, a flat ceiling sustained by beams, by which it is divided into compartments, as distinguished from a vaulted ceiling.

1843 Civil Eng. & Arch. Jrnl. VI. 96/1 The happy union of the arch and the trabeated systems. 1887 (G. J.) WEGLEY Borromeo's Instr. Eccl. Fabrica V. 13 Ceiling..(either vaulted or trabiated, according to the proportion of the edifice). 1893 Sat. Rev. 21 Mar. 367/2 Strictly it was a propylæum, not an arch, for the opening was trabeated.

Trabeation (trēbĭă·ʃən). Arch. Also 6 trabiacion. [irreg. for trabiation*, f. L. trab-s, trab-em beam : see -ATION.] † a. A member resembling a horizontal beam ; an entablature. Obs. b. Construction with horizontal beams or the like, as opposed to arches or vaults ; trabeated structure.

1563 SHUTE Archit. C j b, This pillar..supported no-other ..but with one Trabiacions. 1704 J. HARRIS Lex. Techn. I, Trabeation, or Entablature,..comprehends the Architrave, Frize, and Cornice. 1831 Fraser's Mag. IV. 283 To apply to an entire cornice, or even to a whole 'trabeation' those curved forms which have hitherto been exclusively confined to mouldings and lesser details. a 1878 SIR G. G. SCOTT Lect. Archit. (1879) I. 19 Arcuation plastered over to look like trabeation.

‖Trabecula (trăbe·kiălă). Pl. -æ (-ī). Also trabe·culum (-ŭm), pl. -a (-ă) ; trabe·culus (-ŭs), pl. -i (-ai) ; and in anglicized forms trabecle (trē·bĕk'l), tra·becule (-kiul). [L. trabecula, trabiculum, dim. of trabs beam ; the forms in -um and -us are mod.L. variants.] A structure in an animal or plant resembling a small beam or bar.

spec. a. Anat. and Zool. Each of the plates of bony substance forming the cancellated tissue of a bone ; any slender band of tissue extending like a cross-bar across a cavity, as of the heart (trabecule carneæ), or through the substance of a soft organ, as the spleen or kidney ; each of two cartilaginous bars (trabeculæ cranii) in front of the pituitary body in the embryo, which coalesce and develop into part of the cranium ; each of the calcareous plates connecting the dorsal and ventral walls in echinoderms ; each of a pair of appendages on the head in front of the antennæ in certain bird-lice. b. Bot. A projection extending across the cell-cavity in the ovary of some plants, or across the cavity of the sporangium in mosses and other cryptogams.

1866 Treas. Bot., Trabecula (adj. Trabeculate), a cross-bar ; as in the teeth of many mosses. 1873 T. H. GREEN Introd. Pathol. (ed. 2) 137 This tissue, like bone, is made up of trabeculæ and medullary spaces. 1874 COUES Birds N. W. 611 Divided..by a cartilaginous trabeculum, which is thrown across from the posterior side to the anterior apex of the base of the pyramid. 1875 SIR W. TURNER in Encycl. Brit. I. 835/2 The interior of a bone..is made up of thin delicate plates or bars, or trabecles, which intersect each other at various angles, and form..the spongy or cancellated tissue. 1875 BENNETT & DYER Sachs' Bot. II. iv. 413 Both kinds of sporangia (in Isoëtes) are imperfectly segmented by threads of tissue (Trabeculæ) which cross from the ventral to the dorsal side. 1890 BILLINGS Med. Dict., Trabecula cinerea, soft commissure of the brain.

Hence Trabe·cular a., pertaining to or of the nature of a trabecula ; composed of or furnished with trabeculæ ; Trabe·cularism, trabecular condition, trabeculation ; Trabe·culate, adj., furnished with or having trabeculæ ; Trabeculation, formation of trabeculæ, trabeculated condition.

1822–34 Good's Study Med. (ed. 4) III. 164 A cystic form [of cataract] without pus,..a sil quose and a *trabecular. 1847–9 Todd's Cycl. Anat. IV. 773/2 The trabecular tissue consists of..cylindrical fibres. 1882 Cent. Dict., Trabecular*, a. in anat., a cross-reticulation, or cross-trabeculation, of any tissue. 1866 *Trabeculate [see TRABECULA]. 1876 tr. Wagner's Gen. Pathol. (ed. 6) 359 They..unite by opposite processes into networks, form *trabeculated membranes. 1898 Allbutt's Syst. Med. V. 182 Cavities..traversed by tough septa and bridles..are..described as trabeculated. 1900 Lancet 5 May 1275/2 *Trabeculation of the bladder. 1904 Jrnl. R. Microsc. Soc. Dec. 636.

†Trabo·cant, a. Obs. rare. [ad. L. trabocantē, pres. pple. of trabocanare to overflow, superabound.] Superabundant, excessive ; preponderant.

1651 HOBBES Leviat. Preface 208 The power of one might not so out-poize and be trabocant that the rest should be in danger to be blown up. 1654 — Parthenop. Pref. A j b, One could hardly discern which Scale would be trabocant and overpoising.

Trabuch (trăbu·k). Obs. or arch. Also 7 trabucche, trabuck. [a. OF. trabuc (Sp. trabuco), f. tra-, trās- (:—L. trans-, expressing displacement) + OF. buc trank (of the body), bulk, a. WGer. bûh, Ger. bauch belly.] A mediæval engine of war for throwing great stones against walls, etc. ; cf. TREBUCHET.

1610 HOLLAND Camden's Brit. I. 400 Of these Mangonells, Patraries, Trabucks..by which..they discharged volies of mighty huge stones..much might heere be said. 1614 CAMDEN Rem. 47 Our nation had the practice of most warlike, and moreouer of Mangonels, Trabusches, and Bricolles, wherewith they vsed to cast mil-stones. 1890 DOYLE White Company xv, The Norman hath a mangonel or a trabuch upon the forecastle.

Trabuschette, obs. form of TREBUCHET.

‖Tracas (tra·kas). Obs. [Fr., f. tracasser : see next.] Bustle, hurry, fuss ; embarrassment.

[1611 COTGR., Tracas, much trotting, or hurrying vp and downe ; hence also, toyle, trouble, turmoile.] 1656 BLOUNT Glossogr. [from COTGR.] Tracas, or Tracasserie. 1673 O. WALKER Educ. iv. 35 He then desired of the Emperor to be dismissed into his own Countrey, where he might dye in quiet out of the tracas and noise of the World.

‖Tracasserie (trăkasərī). [Fr., f. tracasser to bustle, worry oneself : see -ERY.] A state of disturbance or annoyance ; a turmoil, bother, fuss ; an embroilment, petty quarrel. (Chiefly in pl.)

1695 [see prec.]. 1698 PHILLIPS, Tracasserie (French), a meddling, hurying, or restless trauailing up and down. 1725 in P. M. THORNTON Stuart Dynasty (1890) App. I. 353, I am of your opinion that to avoid tracassaries one should let the different correspondences take their course. 1812 SCOTT Let. to Miss J. Baillie 19 Jan. in Lockhart, A wonderful man..acquainted with all the intrigues and tracasseries of the cabinets. 1833 T. HOOK Parson's Dau. I. vii, Adept as she was in all the tracasseries of flirtation. 1879 MRS. LYNN LINTON in Life xvii. (1901) 292 Life seems to me empty of all but tracasseries.

Trace (trēs), *sb.*1 Forms : 3– trace ; also 4–5 tras, 4–7 trase, (4 traze, Sc. trass, traiss, 4–5 trays, Sc. traise, 5 traas, trayse, (trasche), 6 Sc. trais). [a. F. trace (12th c. in Godef.) = Pr. trassa, It. traccia (Sp. traza draught, first sketch), vbl. sb. f. OF. tracier, F. tracer : see TRACE *v.*1]

†1. The way or path which anything takes ; course, road ; esp. in to take one's trace, to make one's way, take one's course, proceed. Obs.

a 1300 [see b]. 13.. K. Alis. 7759 (Bodl. MS.) Alisaunder & Candace To Chaumber token her trace. 13.. E. E. Allit. P. A. 1112 To-warde pe prone pay trone a tras. c 1425 Cast. Persev. 1923 in Macro Plays 131 Take dow, felaus ! & take 3oure trasche. c 1440 Promp. Parv. 498/2 Trace, or 3yrne a felde, trames. c 1450 St. Cuthbert (Surtees) 3394 To farne agayne he takes hir trace. c 1470 HENRYSON Mor. Fab. IX. (Wolf & Foxe) xxi, All the trace he [the Cadger] trippit on his tais. 1530 PALSGR. 282/2 Trace, a streyght way, trace. 1596 SPENSER F. Q. VI. i. 6 Now I begin To tread an endlesse trace, withouten guyde. 1678 CUDWORTH Intell. Syst. I. v. § 25. 684 The striate particles finding no fit pores or traces for their passage through it. 1768 STERNE Sent. Journ. (1778) I. 69, I wanted the traces through which my wishes might find their way to her.

†b. fig. A course of action or conduct ; way of proceeding ; 'path', 'way', 'road' ; esp. in phrases to follow, take, tread the trace. Obs.

a 1300 Cursor M. 25928 Until pe fat al to mikel has ben vnbuxs Vnto pi suet trace [Fairf. to follow pi trace]. c 1375 Cato's Mor. 374 ibid. p. 1674 (Fairf. MS.) Gode grante vsgrace To folow catouns trace In his teyching. c 1375 Sc. Leg. Saints xxvi. (Nycholas) 43 Pus he begane to godsalke, & hold firth ay in pat trace. c 1430 Hymns Virg. 35, Y took to pe world, & wente from pee, Y folewide pe feend at in his trass. c 1586 CTESS PEMBROKE Ps. CXIX. D. iii, From the lyers trace, From blasfouls wreathed way, O save me, Lord. 1591 WARNER Ann. Pan. Mon. 67 The test of the Nobilitie .. trode also the same trace. 1652 J. WRIGHT tr. Camus' Nat. Paradox VIII. 163 To reduce him into the trace of his Duty and Reason. a 1716 SOUTH Serm. (1823) III. 252 God, by a secret, unobserved trace of his providence, may cast men under a..seducing ministry.

†2. A line, file, or train of persons. Obs.

c 1385 CHAUCER L. G. W. Prol. 285, I saugh comyng of ladyes Nientene..And after hem coome of wymen swich a trass. 1598 BARRET Theor. Warres IV. i. 120 The Sergeant Maiors..base conducted these Regiments very disorderly, making a long trace, file, or lyne (as it were) of them.

†3. A series of steps in dancing ; a measure ; a dance. Obs.

c 1450 Mankind ii. 521 in Macro Plays 20, I xall make hym to dawnce a-noper trace ! c 1460 SIR R. ROS Belle Dame 190 When he thought tyme to dauunce with her a trace. 1500–20 DUNBAR Poems lxxxi. 26 Thane com the ladyis, dancing in ane trace. 1519 Interl. Four Elements (Percy Soc.) 8 Follow all ! I wyll lede a trace. 1577 [see TRACING *vbl. sb.*1 2].

†4. pl. The series or line of footprints left by an animal ; hence in sing. a footprint. Obs.

13.. Guy Warw. (A.) 4732 Of hors traces by her seye. c 1374 CHAUCER Boeth. v. Met. v. 133 (Camb. MS.) Other bestis gladen hemself to rigge in her trace or hir steppis in the Erthe with hir goyngz or with hir feet. 1484 CAXTON Fables of Æsop iv. xii, We knowe wel by thy traces that all the bestes whiche haue entryd in to thy hows came not oute agayne. 1552 HULOET, Trace or steppe, vestigium. 1575 TURBERV. Venerie 114 In Beasts of pray and ruaine as Beare and Bore &c. they are called traces. 1616 SURFL. & MARKH. Country Farme 694 There is more regard to be taken vnto her traces : for like print of the hares foot is sharpe, and fashioned like vnto the point of a knife. 1706 PHILLIPS (ed. Kersey), Trace (among Hunters), the Foot-print of wild Beasts.

fig. 1610 Crt. & Times Jas. I (1849) I. 114 One who hath left so good traces and steps wherein to walk.

†b. pl. loosely. Footsteps. Obs.

1613 W. BROWNE Brit. Past. I. iv. 204 Till at the last.. Ye bend your traces up some shady hill.

5. The track made by the passage of any person or thing, whether beaten by feet or indicated in any other way : = TRACK sb. 1. On one's trace(s, in pursuit of one ; to keep trace of, to follow the movements of, keep sight of in going.

1375 BARBOUR Bruce VI. 553 In his traiss pe hund he set. Ibid. 585 Pe hund..pat followit pe kyngis trass. c 1420 Anturs of Arth. v, The king blowe rechas, And folowed fast on pe tras. c 1489 CAXTON Sonnes of Aymon IX. 298 Men myghte well follow hym bi the trase, by cause of the blode that cam out of his body. 1556 W. TYMMES in Foxe A. & M. (1583) 2142/1 A sheepe [= ship] that passeth over the waues..; when it is gone by, the trace thereof cannot be found. 1810 SCOTT Lady of L. I. vii, Two dogs of black Saint Hubert's breed ..Rest on his rifle the stag's flying trace came. 1887 BOWEN Æneid VI. 528 On his traces aflame with murderous stroke, Pyrrhus—behind—the pursuer !

b. spec. A beaten path through a wild or unenclosed region, made by the passage of men or beasts ; a track, a trail. U.S.

1807 WILKINSON in Pike Sources Mississ. II. (1810) App. 24 We..took the large Spanish trace for the Arkansaw river. 1808 PIKE Sources Mississ. III. (1810) 134 We searched, leaving the Osage trace, which we had hitherto followed. 1817 J. BRADBURY Trav. Amer. 65 We..soon fell in with the trace from the Maha village to the monument. 1837 R. M. BIRD Nick of the Woods XXIV. II. 247 Leaving the broad buffalo-trace by which he descended the banks. 1904 W. CHURCHILL Crossing VII, They were going ahead up the trace towards his mother's.

c. In the West Indies, A grass drive, a lane.

1871 KINGSLEY At Last VII, The heat of a cane-field trace is utterly stifling. Ibid. XIII, A grass drive, as we should call it in England—a 'trace', as it is called in the West Indies—some sixty feet in width.

6. pl. Vestiges or marks remaining and indicating the former presence, existence, or action of something ; sing. a vestige, an indication.

c 1400 MAUNDEV. (1839) vi. 71 Sche mylked hem on the rede stones of marble ; so pat the traces may sit be sene in the stones alle whyte. 1814 MRS. J. WEST Alicia de Lacy

III. 2 No trace of inhabitation but the fortified castle or the sacred monastery. 1816 SCOTT Antiq. iv, My niece..saw the traces of the ditch at once. 1865 LUBBOCK Prehist. Times ii. 29 At the end of the coffin were traces of leather, doubtless the remains of boots. Mod. Of the fortifications no trace now remains.

b. A mark or impression left on the face, the mind, etc.

1809 MALKIN Gil Blas III. v. P 12 My brain full of joyous traces. 1844 A. B. WELBY Poems (1867) 45 Where beauty left so soft a trace. 1848 LYTTON Harold I. i, It was on that forehead that time had set its trace.

c. An indication of the presence of a minute amount of some constituent in a compound; a quantity so minute as to be inferred but not actually measured; esp. in Chem.; transf. a very little.

1827 FARADAY Chem. Manip. iv. (1842) 99 It burns away completely in a blast-furnace, leaving scarcely a trace of ashes. 1838 T. THOMSON Chem. Org. Bodies 278 Traces of oxalic acid can be detected. 1859 R. HUNT Guide Mus. Pract. Geol. (ed. 2) 209 Its composition is: Gold 48·67, Silver 51·93, Copper, a trace. 1875 DARWIN Insectiv. Pl. xvi. 375 The distance was a trace less. 1876 GLADSTONE in Contemp. Rev. June 22 Like a chemist who, in a testing analysis,.. if he finds something behind so minute as to refuse any quantitative estimate, calls it by the name of 'trace'.

7. fig. A non-material indication or evidence of the presence or existence of something, or of a former event or condition; a sign, mark.

1565 COWLEY Pind. Odes i. iii, With Oblivions silent stroke deface Of foregone Ills the very trace. 1596 WHISTON Th. Earth II. (1722) 186 There are Traces..of a Tradition that a Comet did appear at the very Beginning of the Deluge. 1710 POPE Windsor For. 37 The shady empire shall retain no trace Of war or blood, but in the sylvan chase. 1849 MACAULAY Hist. Eng. x. II. 661 In countries where all trace of the limited monarchy of the middle ages had long been effaced. 1890 M'COSH Div. Govt. (1874) 36 We discover everywhere in this world traces of design and wisdom. 1909 H. M. GWATKIN Early Ch. Hist. xi. 188 There is no trace of any veneration of pictures or images before the fourth century.

8. A line or figure drawn; a tracing, drawing, or sketch of an object or of a piece of work; the traced record of a self-recording instrument; in Fortif. the ground-plan of a work. (In quot. 1861 app. a tracing-instrument.)

1744 AKENSIDE Pleas. Imagination III. 362 Not the sculptur'd gold More faithful keeps the graver's lively trace. 1861 SMILES Engineers II. 76 Picked out from the heap were also found his drill,..his trace, his 6 squares,.. and his engraving tools. 1879 Cassell's Techn. Educ. I. 21 The trace of a work is the plan of its guiding or magistral line. 1895 COL. MAURICE in United Service Mag. July 430 He made out both a trace of the work including the interior retrenchment and an exact profile of the ditched parapet. 1898 Allbutt's Syst. Med. V. 847 The respiration is an important factor in the blood-pressure, and in the run of the circulation is apparent to everyone who has watched the traces of the kymograph. 1899 BLUNDER Cromwell 293 The rampart..was strong and high, and of regular trace.

9. Geom. a. The track described by a moving point, line, or surface. b. The intersection of a line or surface with a surface; spec. the intersection of a plane with one of the co-ordinate planes, or with one of the planes of projection. c. The projection of a line upon a surface (Funk's Stand. Dict. 1895).

1834-47 J. S. MACAULAY Field Fortif. (1851) 287 Let AB, Fig. 71, be the horizontal trace of a vertical plane. 1840 LARDNER Geom. i. 11 The notion of a curve upon a surface may be formed by imagining a mathematical line to move in any manner in space, leaving behind it, as it moves, a trace or track. This trace or track will be a mathematical surface. 1867 THOMSON & TAIT Nat. Phil. I. § 111 When a body rolls and spins on another body, the trace of either on the other is the curved or straight line along which it is successively touched.

†10. Her. = TRACT sb.[3] 6 (a), TRESSURE. Obs.

1486 Bk. St. Albans, Her. e vij, He berith golde a dowble trace florishyt contrari and a lyon rampyng of gowles. Ibid., He berith golde a trace triplatit of Silver.

Trace (trēs), sb.[2] Forms: see below. [ME. trays, a. OF. trair, trais, pl. of trait (12th c. in Littré) action of drawing, rope or leather strap by which a draught-beast is harnessed; = It. tratto, L. tractus draught (u-stem), f. trahère to draw. In Eng. written also trayse, trayce, trace, and treated as collect. pl. and at length (c 1400) as a sing. with a new pl. trays, traces: cf. TRUCE.]

†1. as pl. The pair of ropes, chains, or (now usually) leather straps by which the collar of a draught-animal is connected with the splinter-bar or swingletree. Obs.

Usually collective like tongs, scissors, shears, pincers, etc.; but sometimes a numerical pl. is in quots. 1458, 1481.

4–5 trais, trays, 5 trayse, treyse, trayce, 5–8 trace, 6 treas, 7 tress, traise, traits, 9 dial. traice.

13.. Sawyn Sag. (W.) 1327 He let him drawe out of the pit..With trais an two stronge hors. c 1350 Nom. Gall.-Angl. 884 Ateles, trays et valuere [glossed] Hamys, trays, taylcrope. c 1366-8 Dunbar Acc. Kolis (Surtees) 168 Pro ij paribus de trays et ij cartrapes; in trays, cartrapes, capistris, et reynes, xviij s. c 1386 CHAUCER Knt.'s T. 1283 With foune white bolas in the trays. 1412-20 LYDG. Chron. Troy i. 2200 Ryal as an hors out of pe traise at large. 1458 Nottingham Rec. III. 368 For trayse and oder ropes. 1480 Wardr. Acc. Edw. IV (1830) 123 For v pair trays garnysht. 1481-90 Howard Household. Bks. (Roxb.) 150 Paid to Iohn Wygge, Ropper, for iij. trays ij.s. ix.d. 1557 Lanc. & Chesh. Wills (1884) 61, iiij payre of treas. c 1611 CHAPMAN Iliad XXIII. 422 His reins lost, or seat, or with the tress His chariot full'd him. 1626 SURFL. & MARKH. Country Farme 16 Collars, Cart-saddles, Traits, thicke clothes, and other furniture for Horses. Ibid. 123 Be careful that their traise, cart-saddles, collars, bridles, or other parts of their geares, and harnesse, be not torne. 1725 POPE Odyss. IV. 851 Twelve young mules, a strong laborious race, New to the plough, unpractis'd in the trace. 1807 A. YOUNG Agric. Essex I. 107, 5 pair of plough chain traice.

2. as sing. Each of the individual ropes or leather straps mentioned above; in pl. = sense 1.

a. sing. 5 trays, -e, trayce, trabys, 7 traise, treas, 9 traice, 6- trace.

14.. Voc. in Wr.-Wülcker 566/26 Attractorium, a trayne, sed melius, a trays. Ibid. 617/7 Tractorium, a trays. c 1440 Promp. Parv. 492/1 Trayce, horsys ha(r)neys, tenda. c 1475 Pict. Voc. in Wr.-Wülcker 811/33 Hoc retinaculum, a trayse. 1520 LEVINS Manip. 6/44 A Trace for drawing, tracha, a. 1794 W. FELTON Carriages (1801) II. x. 134 A square, bent ring is sewed in the end [of each trace], which, with the trace, forms a loop to hitch round the splinter-bar rolls.

β. pl. 5 traces, traices, 5-6 trasys, -is, 6 trassis, 6-7 tresses, 6- traces.

1404 Durham Acc. Rolls (Surtees) 397, iiij trasys ij tryssyns rapis. 1405-6 Ibid. 400 Rec. pro lez tracez del char. 1497 Naval Acc. Hen. VII (1896) 95, iij chestes, Anfeld..ij, Traices..cxx pair. 1523 FITZHERB. Husb. § 5 If he go with a hors plowghe, than muste he haue.. his bombers or collers, holmes whyted, tresses, swyngletrees, and togwith. 1529 Act 21 Hen. VIII, c. 12 § 1 Thereof make Cables, Ropes, Halsers, Traces, Halters, and other Tackle. 1569 in Richmond Wills (Surtees) 218, vj pair trasis with girthes. 1577 B. GOOGE Heresbach's Husb. II The smaller sort be these.. Traces. 1582 Shuttleworths' Acc. (Chetham Soc.) 6 A pare of trassels v*d*. 1607 J. CARPENTER Plaine Mans Plough 192 Thirdly, the foure Traces or Tresses. 1728 POPE Iliad v. 398 His panting steeds..He fix'd with straiten'd traces to the car. 1762 WESLEY Jrnl. 30 Mar., The horses pulled till the traces broke. 1841 MISS MITFORD in L'Estrange Life (1870) III. vii. 127 About four miles from home one of the traces came undone.

3. fig. (from 1 and 2), esp. in phrases; cf. COLLAR sb. 8. † Out of trace, out of proper connexion, out of order. Into the traces, into regular work. To kick over the traces: see KICK v.[1] 1 c.

c 1518 SKELTON Magnyf. 914 All is out of harre And out of trace. 1824 W. IRVING T. Trav. I. 203 He was too fond of my genius to force it into the traces. 1843 LYTTON Last Bar. I. iii, Cut thy trace from the cloister, and take the road to the shop.

4. † a. (?) The tug or end-piece of a bell-rope. Obs. b. Angling. A length of gimp or gut of varying fineness attached to the end of the reel line. c. Organ-building. In the draw-stop action, a rod which connects the draw-stop rod with the trundle, or the trundle with the lever moving the slider; also called trace-rod. d. Bot. The fibro-vascular tissue of a stem, of which the leaf-trace is a continuation.

a. 1565 in Archæol. Æliana XVII. 126 For two traces for yt wellroops 6*d*. b. 1839 [see MINNOW 3]. 1867 F. FRANCIS Angling iv. (1880) 105 A tackle called a trace is used. 1883 Fisheries Exhib. Catal. 56 Flights and Traces, Floats for various kinds of fishing. c. 1852 SNIDEL Organ 59 The upper end of the roller..is connected, with the end of a short pole called the trace. 1876-98 STAINER & BARRETT Dict. Mus. Terms s. v. Organ, When the stop is pulled out, the arms aa draw the trace b from right to left. 1881 C. A. EDWARDS Organ 44 The arm communicates with the trace by means of a mortise and pin. d. 1875, 1877 [see leaf-trace, LEAF sb. 17]. 1884 BOWER & SCOTT De Bary's Phaner. 239 The median bundle of the trace..as it reaches the four bundles of the leaf-trace of the second node curves to one side, and unites with the lateral bundle of the next lower trace. Ibid. 257 Each leaf has three bundles of the trace, one median and two lateral.

5. attrib. and Comb.: trace-beaten a., (of a horse) marked by the hair being or friction of the traces; trace-block, the splinter-bar or draught-bar; formerly called the fore-block or fore-bar; trace-boy, a trace-horse boy; trace-buckle, a large buckle by which the trace is attached to the tug (Knight, 1877); trace-bundle, Bot.: cf. 4 d above; trace-chain, (a) a trace of a draw chain; trace; † (b) a long chain by which a team is yoked to the plough; = TEAM sb. 9; trace-fastener, one of a pair of hooks or catches by which the traces are hitched to the draught-bar (Knight, 1877); trace-galled a., (of a horse) galled by the friction of the traces; trace-harness, harness of trace-horses; trace-high adv., to the level of the traces; trace-hook, one of the hooks on the draught-bar for attaching the traces (Knight, 1877); trace-horse, a horse which draws in traces, as distinct from a shaft-horse; attrib. trace-horse boy, a boy in charge of a trace-horse; trace-iron, one of the upright iron studs round which the traces are looped; trace-loop = trace-ring; trace-mate: see quot.; trace-ring, an iron ring fastened to the end of the trace, by which it is attached to the trace-hook; trace-rod (Organ) = 4 c; trace-rope, a trace made of rope; trace-tug, a strap supporting the trace; † trace-wheel = PULLEY sb.[1] 2.

1687 Lond. Gaz. No. 2287/8 Stolen..a brown Mare above 14 hands,..*Traise-beaten on her Ribs. 1707 Ibid. No. 4295/4 A brown Gelding..trace-beaten, most on the further Side. 1900 Daily News 12 Nov. 3/4 The firemen..having attached drag ropes to the *trace blocks, proceeded to drag the carriage to Government House. 1897 Ibid. 31 Mar. 7/1 Daily wages..for *trace-boys 2*s. 6*d*. 1884 BOWER & SCOTT De Bary's Phaner. 293 The rapid longitudinal divisions of the bundle-ring always begin..in a young internode, in the position of the single, or of the median *trace bundle going to the next leaf above. 1844 STEPHENS Bk. Farm I. 628 The horse is yoked to the swing-trees by light chains, called trace-chains. 1896 Cosmopolitan XX. 398/1 The jangling of trace-chains in the quiet, darkening air, as the workmen return from the fields to the barn. 1693 Lond. Gaz. No. 783/4 One Iron Grey Nag..a little *trace Galled. 1885 Wellington Weekly News 12 Oct. (E.D.D.) Nine sets of breeching and *trace harness. 1809 SOMERVILLE & ROSS Irish R.M. ix, Horses that ranged from the cart mare, clipped *trace high, to shaggy and leggy three-year-olds. 1844 STEPHENS Bk. Farm III. 1087 In Forfarshire the *trace-horse is harnessed in a different manner. 1907 Nation 19 Oct. 79/1 Awaiting the chance of a trace-horse to give our caravan a pull. 1902 Daily Chron. 1 July 6/1 One of the horses attached to the fire engine was caught by the *trace-iron on the off side of the cattle-float. 1880 L. WALLACE Ben-Hur 208 They termed the two [horses] next the pole yoke-steeds, and those on the right and left outside *trace-mates. 1794 W. FELTON Carriages (1801) II. x. § 2. 144 The *Trace-Rings are iron rings or loops sewed in the ends of the traces, a part of which they receive, and loops round the splinter-bar. 1880 E. J. HOPKINS in Grove Dict. Mus. (1880) II. 606/1 A trace-rod, which spans the distance from the trundle to the end of the soundboard...The trundle partly revolves and moves the trace-rod. 1901 Daily News 24 Feb. 6/3 The struggling, terrified horses inextricably mixed the *trace ropes, and the position looked serious. 1794 W. FELTON Carriages (1801) II. x. § 2. 135 The *trace-tugs are loops for the trace to run through and hold by. 1519 HORMAN Vulg. 241 b, There must be made a *trace whele [tympanum] to wynd vp stone.

Trace (trēs), sb.[3] Obs. or dial. Forms: 4 trace, 5 pl. trasses, 6 Sc. trase, trais, traiss, 6 (Sc.) 7- dial. trace. [Possibly an altered form of TRESS sb., with which this largely coincides in sense; but no explanation of the alteration of form presents itself. See also the cognate TRACE v.[3]

(The different senses are cited from widely separate localities, so that they can scarcely be considered as a verbal unity, except in their apparent relation to TRESS.]

†1. A tress or plait of hair; = TRESS sb. 1. (s. w. Eng.) Obs. (but cf. TRACE v.[3]).

c 1380 Sir Ferumb. 5882 Wyþ esene graye, and browes bent, And ȝenlwe traes, & fayre y-trent. a 1400 Trevisa's Higden (Rolls) VIII. 61 þe beleve heere of þe woman trasses [MS. y. ȝelou tresses; HIGDEN trica coma mulieris flava] was i-founde hoole and sounde.

†2. A flat plait or braid of gold or silver thread, or other material, for trimming a robe, etc. Sc. Obs.

1539 Inv. Roy. Wardr. (1815) 32 Item, ane nycht gowne of gray dammes with ane waiting trais of gold. Ibid. 35 (Ibid. p. 42 has tresse of silver; & trace of gold.) 1543 Acc. L.-L. High Treas. Scot. VIII. 181 For xx tracis of gold to the cote, weyand thre unce..vli. ij s. 1548 Ibid. IX. 149, xxx elnis of trasis to eik ane gown of hirris [= hers] of blak welvote...Item, thre elnis blak welvote to eik this goun. 1549 Ibid. 334 Tua unce and ane quarter unce Parice silk to sew the pasmentis and traiss of the said coit.

3. A string of ears of Indian corn plaited together so as to be hung up. (N. America.)

1678 Phil. Trans. XII. 1066 After (the gathered) it [maize] must, except laid very thin, be presently stripped from the Husks. The common way (which they call Tracing) is to weave the Ears together in long Traces by some parts of the Husk left thereon. 1733 CHAMBERS Cycl. Supp. s.v. Tracing, These traces of [Indian] corn they hang up within doors,..and they will..keep good the whole winter.

b. A 'rope' or string of onions. dial.

1891 Hartland (Devon) Gloss., Trace, a rope of onions. [Cf. Treces de cepis in same sense, in Tabularia Portus Regis (Du Cange).] (Cf also RACE sb.[1] 9 b.)

Trace (trēs), v.[1] Forms: 4 trais(e, 4–7 trase, 4– trace. [ME. trace-n, a. OF. tracier, 12th c. (trasser, traser, traicier, etc.), F. trace-r = Sp. trazar, It. tracciare to follow by foot, to trace, indicating a pop.L. or Com. Romanic tracciare*, f. L. tractus a drawing, dragging, trailing, crawling; a train, track, course. The primary meaning of the verb was app. 'to proceed in a line, course, or track'. The early sense-development in OF. and ME. is not very clear, and some of the senses attach themselves immediately to TRACE sb.[1] in its sense of 'mark left by anything moving, footprint', itself a derivative of the vb. in its earlier senses.]

I. † 1. intr. To take one's course, make one's way; to proceed, pass, go, travel, tread. Also fig.

c 1400 Rom. Rose 6745 Vit may he bide & breed begging; Fro dore to dore he may go trace, Til he the remenaunt may purchace. † a 1400 Morte Arth. 1629 Traise to-warde Troys þe tresone to wyrke. 1503 HAWES Examp. Virt. x. viii, No man by yonde the mare trace. 1513 DOUGLAS Æneis VIII. v. 5 The prestis..Gan trasing furth. a 1518 SKELTON Magnyf. 692 As good to be occupyed as vp and downe to trace And do nothynge. 1598 Mucedorus iv. iii. 52 The wood lanes..strawed With violets, cowslips, and swete marigolds For thee to trampel and to trace vpon. 1603 H. CROSSE Vertues Commw. (1878) 23 Induce them .. to trace in the wholsome path that leadeth to the house of honour. a 1688 VILLIERS (Dk. Buckhm.) Restoration Wks. (1775) 104 Fall off again,..and every man trace to his house again. 1793 Minstrel II. 126 The forest, which she did not chuse to enter, but traced along its edge.

†2. intr. To pace or step in dancing; to tread a measure; to dance. Also trans. (rare). Obs.

c 1425 LYDG. Dance of Macabre in Bochas, etc. (1554) 200 b, Death I may not flee, On this dauncе with other for to trace. 1445 in Anglia XXVIII. 273 Orpheus harpe which trees made trace. 1509 BARCLAY Ship of Folys (1874) II. 290 To hunt to chace: to dauncе to trace: what one is he That beryth face. 1602 HEYWOOD Woman Killed Wks. 1874 II. 96 Come, Nick, take you Ioane Miniver to trace withall. 1697 DAMPIER Voy. (1729) I. 541 They traced too and fro promiscuously, often clapping their hands and singing aloud. 1808 SCOTT Marm. V. vii, The king loved well The merry dance, traced fast and light.

†3. trans. To pass along or over, tread (a path, way, street, etc.). Also fig. Obs.

c 1381 CHAUCER Parl. Foules 54 Oure present wor[ld]is yvys space Nys but a muner deth what weye we trace. 1580 SIDNEY Pr. VIII. viii, The flesh.. And what thing els of waters traceth The unworn paths. 1621 J. REYNOLDS God's Rev. agst. Murder I. I. 5 Tracing the street in a neate perfumed boote with iangling spurres. 1650 FULLER Pisgah III. xii. 343 The passage .. commonly called the dolorous way,.. traced with the blessed feet of our Saviour. 1794 BLAKE Songs Exper., Lit. Girl Found 8 Arm in arm seven days They traced the desert ways. fig. 1598 FISHER Pensil. Pr. Prol. Wks. (E. E. T. S.) I. 2 That al the persones that ententyfyely rede or here them may be styred the better to trace the way of eternall salvacion.

†4. trans. To travel or range over; to go or pass about, around, through; to tread, traverse.

1430-40 LYDG. Bochas IV. iv. (Bodl. MS. 263) ff. 314/2 Fond no ioygyng, tracing the contrees Saue in kauages, & in holwe trees. 1577 GRANGE Golden Aphrod. G j b, My harte it dothe bothe skippe and loye to see hir trace the grounde. 1594 MARLOWE & NASHE Dido I. i, But hapless I .. Do trace these Lybian deserts, all despid'd. 1598 HAKLUYT Voy. I. 235 We sayled .. with diuers other courses, trauersing and tracing the seas, by reason of sundry and manifolde contrary windes. 1632 LITHGOW Trav. IX. 412, I traced the fertile soyles of Carinthia. 1807 CRABBE Parr. Reg. I. 306 He soon arrived, he traced the village green.

II. 5. To follow the footprints or traces of; esp. to track by the footprints; also with the traces as object; hence, to pursue, to dog.

c 1440 Pallad. on Husb. Tab. 39 Ryse forto trace vnto their dwellyng. 1530 PALSGR. 760/2 It is forbydden to trace hares in snowe tyme. 1559 Mirr. Magistrates Glendower xxxi, So traste they me among the mountaynes wide. 1605 SHAKS. Mach. IV. i. 153 His Wife, his Babes, and all vnfortunate Soules That trace him in his Line. 1632 LITHGOW Trav. I. 17 Still left vnfold, seeming to bee seene For them, who trace our feete, with Argus eyne. 1677 W. HUBBARD Narrative (1865) II. 124 By the help of the Snow that fell about that Time, [they] were traced till they were overtaken. 1841 ELPHINSTONE Hist. India I. 123 Bound to find out the possessor of any stolen property within the township, or to trace him till he has passed the boundary. 1886 C. E. PASCOE London of To-day xxi. (ed. 3) 207 We might have traced Thackeray through his wanderings from street to street. Mod. Note the number of the postal order, so that it may be traced if lost.

b. fig. To follow, pursue (instructions, example, etc.).

1649 BLITHE Eng. Improv. Impr. (1653) 100 Observe my Method, and strictly trace my Instructions. 1745 Trans. F. Farquhar. Sc. Ch. III. 1 You who the Name of Jesus bear, His holy Footsteps trace.

6. fig. To follow the course, development, or history of. Also with the course, etc. as object.

1654 BRAMHALL Just Vind. v. (1661) 90 If we trace on this argument a little further, to search out how the Bishop of Rome comes to be Saint Peter's heire. 1729 BUTLER Serm. Wks. 1874 II. 168 The common virtues, and the common vices of mankind, may be traced up to benevolence, or the want of it. 1766 BLACKSTONE Comm. II. xiv. 236 The tracing the inheritance back through the male line of ancestors. 1849 MACAULAY Hist. Eng. iv. I. 503 No libel on the government had ever been traced to a Quaker. 1887 Westm. Rev. June 309 We have traced the history of Lower Canada down to the year 1839.

b. intr. For pass. To trace its origin or history; to go back in time, to date back.

1886 Field 4 Sept. 346/1 The Belvoir Senator and the Brocklesby Harbinger traced directly to the Fitzwilliam. 1889 JACOBS & LANG Æsop's Fables 53 The earliest form ..cannot trace back earlier than the third century. 1907 Daily Chron. 9 Sept. 3/2 The scare of invasion traces to the Armada of 1588.

7. trans. To make out and follow (with the eye or mind) the course or line of; to ascertain (the course or line of something).

1703 MAUNDRELL Journ. Jerus., Euphrates, etc. (1732) 2 Its Walls, which may be traced all round. 1779 Mirror No. 9 P 3, I.. amused myself with tracing in the daughters, those features which, in the mothers and grandmothers, had charmed me so often. 1818 in Tuckey Narr. Exped. R. Zaire Introd. 8 The stream of this mysterious river [the Niger] being now traced with certainty from west to east as far as Tombuctoo. 1839 MURCHISON Silur. Syst. I. xxxvii. 572 In situations where the boulders may be traced .. to their parent rocks. 1856 STANLEY Sinai & Pal. I. 19 Often their course can be traced, not by a green line, but by a track of moss here, a fringe of rushes there. 1907 Verney Mem. I. 2 The form of the ancient manor house may still be traced.

b. To make out (worn or obscure writing); to discern, decipher.

1761 GRAY Odin 22 Thrice he traced the runic rhyme. 1792 S. ROGERS Uless. Mem. I. 137 It calls me .. to trace The few fond lines that Time may soon efface. 1859 JEPHSON Brittany ii. 17 The characters may still be traced on a block of granite.

8. To discover, find out, or ascertain by investigation; to find out step by step; to search out.

1642 FULLER Holy & Prof. St. v. I. 359 God..varieth his ways of dealing with wantons, that they may be at a losse in tracing him. 1697 DRYDEN Virg. Georg. ii. 699 Happy the Man, who, studying Nature's Laws, Thro' known Effects can trace the secret Cause. 1745 Transl. & Paraphr. Sc. Ch. XXII. iv. [I ho' I bin thou can'st not see, nor trace the working of his hands. 1859 TAINE Hist. Eng. II. 306 Tracing a connection ..where in reality none exists.

b. To discover evidence of the existence or occurrence of; to find traces of.

1697 DRYDEN Æneid Ded. (1721) 350 He observes no Method in it I am trace, whatever Scaliger the Father, or Heinsius, may have seen. 1782 MISS BURNEY Cecilia VIII. ix, The earliest circumstances she could trace were kindnesses received from her. 1856 RUSKIN Mod. Paint. III. iv. § 8 There is a great deal more in your heart, of evil and good, than you ever can trace. a 1862 BUCKLE Civilis. (1871) III. v. 367 Black .. called it latent heat, because though we conceive it as an idea, we cannot trace it as a fact.

III. 9. trans. To mark, make marks upon; esp. to mark or ornament with lines, figures, or characters: cf. TRACERY.

c 1400-50 Lacednon 4914 Pe testre trased full of trones with trimballand wingis e sillioure full of Seraphens. 1523 SKELTON Garl. Laurel 395 With diamaundes and rubis there tabers were traed. 1582 D. INGRAM in Hakluyt Voy. (1589) 558 The hinge of their heads is shauen in sundry spots, and the rest of their head is traced [? tattooed]. 1832 TENNYSON Pal. Art xiii, The deep-set windows, stain'd and traced, Would seem slow-flaming crimson fires From shadow'd grots of arches interlaced. 1898 WHITTIER Palm-Tree 21 He holds a palmed leaf, a scroll in his hands, Traced with the Prophet's wise commands. 1890 Daily News 6 Jan. 5/2 Stockings and buckles were richly traced; the pocket was often a blaze of the richest embroidery.

10. To make a plan, diagram, or chart of (something existing or to be constructed); to mark out the course of (a road, etc.) on, or by means of, a plan or map; to mark or set out (the lines of a work or road) on the ground itself. Also fig. to devise (a plan of action), map out (a policy).

1374-5 1399 [implied in tracing-house, board]; see TRACING vbl. sb.[1] 5). 1599 PORTER Angry Wom. Abingd. (Percy Soc.) 60 When I had doubled my point, traste my ground. 1624 LD. KEMYSTON in Ellis Orig. Lett. Ser. 1. III. 173 What they traced out for the breaking of the match, you follow, pretending to conclude it. c 1645 HOWELL Lett. (1650) I. 66 The castle [in Milan], by which the citadel of Antwerp was traced. 1669 STAYNED Fortification 6 Tables. Whereby you may trace out any Fort by help of a Line of Equal Parts. 1696 PHILLIPS (ed. 5), To Trace, to draw upon Paper the plane of a Building or Fortification. 1834 L. RITCHIE Wand. Seine 120 Rollo's..path, like that of other conquerors, was traced in blood and ashes. 1871 BLACKIE Norm. Conq. IV. xviii. 212 The Ermine Street, notwithstanding all the centuries which have passed since it was first traced out and paved, is still distinguished from a yet older track.

11. To draw; to draw an outline or figure of; also, to put down in writing, to pen. [So OF. tracier.]

1390 GOWER Conf. III. 46 Babilla with hire Sones sevene ..With Cernes bothe square and rounde He tracethofte upon the grounde. c 1440 Promp. Parv. 499/1 Tracyn, or draw strykys, pretrahe. 1665 BOYLE Occas. Reff. v. iii. heading, Killing a Crow.., and immediately tracing the ensuing Reflection with a Pen made of one of his Quills. 1712 J. JAMES tr. Le Blond's Gardening 96 Then trace upon the Ground the Triangle CDE. 1859 GULLICK & TIMS Painting 8 The mode of commencing a picture by tracing the outline was followed by the early oil painters. 1888 BURGON Lives to Gd. Men I. i. 26 These last [annotations] were evidently traced by fingers rendered tremulous by age.

b. To copy (a drawing, plan, etc.) by following the lines of the original drawing on a transparent sheet placed upon it; to make a tracing of.

1762-72 H. WALPOLE Vertue's Anecd. Paint. (1786) V. 211 There were an hundred and four heads, taken and fed, traced off from the Cartoons. 1885 MRS. ALEXANDER At Bay III, They practiced duets together, and traced patterns.

IV. †12. In phr. trace and trauerse, trace and rase, in reference to combatants: sense uncertain: cf. RASE v.[2], RASE v.[1], and TRAVERSE v. Obs.

1470-85 MALORY Arthur VI. viii. 194 Thus they fered two houres or mo trasyng and rasyng eyther other where they myght hytte ony bare place. Ibid. VII. iv. 217 They rasshyd to gyders lyke borys tracynge, rasynge and foynynge to the mountenance of an houre. Ibid. X. xxx. 463 Thus they tracyd and trauercyd and bewe on helmes and hawberkes.. And euer sire Tristram tracyd and trauercyd and wente forward hym here and there. 1596 SPENSER F. Q. V. viii. 37 Thus long they trast, and trauerst to and fro.

Hence Traced (trēˈst) ppl. a., † (a) travelled, journeyed: with adverbial qualification (obs.); (b) outlined, drawn, written; Tracing ppl. a., that traces or draws lines.

1632 LITHGOW Trav. VII. (1906) 293 My life and liberty being deare to me, my long traced feete became more nimble in twelve score paces, then they could follow in eighteene. 1912 J. JAMES tr. Le Blond's Gardening 92 The traced Line AB. 1875 SIR T. SEATON Fret-Cutting 146 Place the edge of the tool on the traced line. 1884 Mil. Engineering (ed. 3) I. II. 21 A sapper should be stationed..to await the arrival of the tracing party. 1907 Daily Chron. 24 Jan. 8/1 The spiral..must be skated boldly,..the knee of the tracing leg rather strongly bent.

†Trace, v.[2] Obs. rare. [f. TRACE sb.[2]] trans. To attach by traces, to harness in traces.

1605 STOW Ann. 1432 They [Bayliffs of the Town] presented him with three-score and ten Teame of horse, all traced to faire new Ploughes. 1656 COWLEY Pind. Odes, Muse i, Go, the rich Chariot instantly prepare;.. Unruly Phansie with strong Judgment trace, Put in nimble-footed Wit. 1786 BURNS Inventory 20 My furr-ankin's a wordy beast, As e'er in tug or tow was trac'd.

Trace, v.[3] Obs. exc. local. Forms: 4-5 trase,

(pa. pple. trased, trast), 7- trace. [Belongs to TRACE sb.[3]; possibly an altered form of TRESS v.]

1. trans. To plait, twine, interweave, braid.

13.. Gaw. & Gr. Knt. 1739 [pe hayer stones Trased aboute hir treasour, be twenty clusteres. c 1450 HOLLAND Howlat 405 Mony schene scheld With tuscheis of trast silk tichit to the tre. 1613-16 W. BROWNE Brit. Past. II. iv. 320 A little lad.. Tracing greene rushes for a winter chayre. Ibid. 358 As oft as I .. Trace the sharpe rushes ends. 1678 [see TRACE sb.[3] 3]. 1753 CHAMBERS Cycl. Supp., Tracing,..a term used by our planters for the method of preserving the maize.. [They] trace it, that is, they leave it in the ear, and weave, or fasten together a great number of ears by the ends of the husks. 1888 ELWORTHY W. Somerset Word-bk., Trace. to plait (always) 'I can't only trace dree, but our Jim can trace zix' [plait six strands together].

2. To plait or braid the hair of the head in tresses; = TRESS v. 1.

1832 R. & J. LANDER Exped. Niger I. i. 41 Her hair was traced with such extraordinary neatness, that we expre-sed a wish to examine it more minutely. 1905 Eng. Dial. Dict. s. v. (W. Cornwall), She traces her hair every day.

Hence Traced ppl. a.; Tra'cing vbl. sb., interweaving, embroidering; braiding; also attrib.

c 1450 Trast [see sense 1]. 1549 Coc. Ld. High Treas. Scot. IX. 334 Thre score thre elnis trasing silk to the samyn coit. 1681 Scot. Proclam. 1 Mar., Silver and gold threde, silver and gold lace, fringes or tracing. 1808-25 JAMIESON s. v., A traced hat is a hat bound with gold lace.

Trace, obs. erron. form of TRICE sb. and v.

Traceable (trēˈsăbˈl), a. [f. TRACE v.[1] + -ABLE.] Capable of being traced (in various senses of the vb.).

1748 RICHARDSON Clarissa (1811) III. ix. 65 Lest we should be traceable by her direction. 1793 RENNELL in Phil. Trans. LXXXIII. 84 The gulf stream..is discharged with such velocity, through the Straits of Bahama, that its motion is traceable through the Atlantic, to the Bank of Newfoundland. 1802 PALEY Nat. Theol. xxii. (ed. 2) 423 If attraction be..a primordial property of matter, not dependent upon, or traceable to, any other material cause. 1824 W. OSBURN Mon. Hist. Egypt II. ii. 55 Fragments on which the remains of hieroglyphics were yet traceable. 1874 CARPENTER Mental Phys. I. viii. (1879) 372 In her family a very characteristic type of handwriting is traceable through five generations.

Hence Traceabi·lity, Tra'ceableness, the quality of being traceable; Tra'ceably adv., in a manner or degree that can be traced.

1847 WEBSTER, Traceableness. 1865 Tait's Mag. XXII. 97 Slightly monotonous and traceably imitative too, this young melodist yet runs his finger over the strings with a ..power that instantly make[s] him a marked man. 1875 WHITNEY Life Lang. ii. 16 There is, recognizably and traceably, a time when..many of our words came into use. 1891 Cent. Dict., Traceability. 1896 Law Times C. 436/2 The doctrine of following trust money depends upon its traceability.

Traceless (trēˈslĕs), a. [f. TRACE sb.[1] + -LESS.] Leaving no trace or track; that cannot be traced; of a surface, that shows no traces or lines.

1652 DAVENANT Gondibert II. i. xxiii, Traceless and Swift, and Changing as the Winde. 1789 WOLCOTT (P. Pindar) Subjects for Painters XXXV, On traceless copper sees imperial heads. 1889 F. L. OSWALD in Voice (N. Y.) 31 Oct., The strangest case of traceless disappearance is perhaps that of the Hungarian poet Petofi. 1892 A. MATHER Poems 68 To traceless nothingness its course has run.

Hence Tra'celessly adv., in a traceless manner; without leaving a trace.

1839 BAILEY Festus xxix. (1852) 472 May they pass quick and perish traceless! 1894 TOWNSHEND Personality Hum. & Div. (1895) Notes 234 Vanishing tracelessly to give place to its successor.

†Tra·cent. Sc. Obs. Corruption of F. treizain (f. treize thirteen), popular name in France for certain heavy douzains (silver pieces of 12 deniers tournois) or grands blancs au soleil of Louis XI.

These had been issued at 78 to the marc instead of 86, and were thus about $\frac{1}{12}$ heavier than the ordinary douzains, and passed as worth 13 deniers. (M. Dieudonné, Cabinet de Medailles, Paris, through Mr. G. F. Hill, Brit. Mus.)

1524 Acts Parlt. Scot. (1825) XII. 40/2 Forsameikle as sowsis tracentis & lancelis franche monye beand layit vt coper has passage in pis Realme.

Tracer[1] (trēˈsər).[1] [f. TRACE v.[1] + -ER.[1]] One who or that which traces.

1. One who follows the footprints or track of anything; one who tracks, investigates, or searches out; spec. one whose business is the tracing of missing persons, property, parcels, letters, etc.

1552 HULOET, Tracer, vestigiator. 1611 FLORIO, Rintracciatore, a tracer. Also a sifter out of secrets, a narrow searcher. 1627 HAKEWILL Apol. III. i. § 5. 152 Plyny..a diligent and curious tracer of the prints of Natures footsteps. 1629 H. BURTON Truth's Triumph 210 The timorous..hare.. to deceiue her pursuers or tracers, makes many doubles. 1724 MOFFET Reapers-meat (1735) 4 To be performed by Some tracer of antiquity. 1866 Intell. Observ. No. 56. 99 Some deep-thinking tracer of structural relations. 1888 Sci. Amer. 6 Oct. 217/1 Nearly all the great [rail] roads employ a corps of what are known as 'car searchers' or 'tracers'. 1902 Daily Chron. 18 June 10/7 Furniture (Hire),—Wanted immediately smart man as collector and tracer; must have good knowledge of the hire trade. 1904 Ibid. 22 Aug. 4/5 The various postal organisations of sorters, telegraphists, postmen, linemen, tracers, &c.

2. A thing used in tracing; spec. a. Anat. A slender probe used in tracing the course of a nerve or vessel. b. In U. S. railway or postal usage, An inquiry form forwarded from point to point on which the successive movements of a missing car, parcel, or article have to be recorded.

1882 Wilder & Gage Anat. Technol. 72 The tracer is apparently similar to the seeker of the English anatomists. 1899 Syd. Soc. Lex., Tracer, an instrument used in dissection for isolating nerves or vessels by insinuating. 1899 Veterin. Gaz. 17 June 7/2 The 'tracer' had chased the ore into the master-mechanic's possession.

3. gen. One who or that which traces lines or makes tracings; spec.

a. Mil. At a siege, one who traces parallels; a member of a tracing party. b. One whose work it is to trace copies of drawings or plans. c. One whose business is the tracing of patterns for embroidery. d. A tool for marking out designs or patterns; also, a chasing or engraving tool. e. A stylus for tracing on copying paper; also, the writing instrument of a pantograph or of a self-recording machine. f. A mechanical contrivance for making tracings on a larger or smaller scale. g. Tee-cutting: see quot. 1884.

[1542 Aberdeen Reg. (1844) I. 176 Item, ane traschor, ane stuffin scylyne. c 1790 Smiles Lives of Eng. Art II. 29 With a little pointed tracer or burnisher go over your strokes which you drew upon the oiled paper, and you shall have the same very neatly and exactly drawn upon the white paper. 1799 G. Smith Laboratory II. 37 Trace the out-line with a brass bodkin, or a tracer, made on purpose, of a piece of wire, of iron or brass. 1812 Shelley in Hogg Life (1858) II. 150 The tracers of a circle. 1825 J. Nicholson Oper. Mechanic 317 The frame carrying the dividing-point or tracer, is made to slide on the frame which carries the endless screw to any distance. 1844 Civil Eng. & Arch. Jrnl. VII. 187/1 A solid cone revolving on its axis, during the perpendicular descent of a tracer. 1852 Trans. Soc. Arts LVI. 134 The cutters and tracers used together should be of the same size. 1859 F. A. Griffiths Artill. Man. (1862) 250 Tracers [of a siege-battery]—1 non-commissioned officer, and 2 privates. 1898 G. B. Prescott Sp. Telephone (1879) 297 The lower diagram is what the tracer wrote when the stanza was repeated. 1884 Cassell's Fam. Mag. Feb. 168/1 There are..tracers, or hand-ploughs, to mark out the areas to be cut by grooves [in tee]. 1890 W. J. Gordon Foundry 174 At last the film of putty with which the flat plate was spread to show the tracer's progress is scored along every line. The roller is finished. 1908 Daily Chron. 12 June 9/6 Tracer for embossing [of fences]; also cutters wanted. 1911 Webster, Tracer,..any of several chasing tools for ornamenting in metal, esp. for making and finishing corners, borders, and the like.

Tracer ² (trē·sər). [f. Trace *sb.*² + -er ¹.] A trace-horse; also, a trace-horse boy.

1839 Black Hist. Brechin ix. 212 He loosed the tracer, leaped on its back..and.. went off. 1842 Berthune Sc. Fireside Stor. 134 The sudden jerk ..brought the shaft horse, who was a powerful animal, still nearer to that side of the road, while it made both him and the tracer lower their heads. 1899 J. Hodgson Edin. Poems & Sonnets 110 Boot-blackers, news-boys—the smartest we ken! An' their billies, the tracers—Dickie an' Ben.

Traceried (trē·sərid), a. [f. Tracery + -ed ².] Ornamented with or characterized by tracery.

1843 Civil Eng. & Arch. Jrnl. VI. 10* Over this traceried wall is a series of clerestory windows of large dimensions. 1849 Freeman Archit. ii. iii. 337 France was the first to produce..traceried windows. 1896 Ruskin Mod. Paint. IV. v. xvi. § 26 The narrow meadows and traceried cloisters of the Convent of the Regnosco. 1861 Bloxam Eccl. Eng. Cathedr. 19th C. ii. 51 In England we are first introduced to complete traceried Gothic in Westminster Abbey.

Tracery (trē·səri). [app. an English formation f. Trace ², or Tracer ¹: see -ery.]

†1. A place for tracing or drawing: cf. tracing-house s.v. Tracing vbl. sb. 1 5. Obs. rare—¹.

1464 Rolls of Parlt. V. 530/1 For the Mansions, Storehouses, Tracories, Voide places for framyng, longyng unto and Offices within oure Palice of Westen'.

2. Arch. The term given to the intersecting ribwork in the upper part of a Gothic window, formed by the elaboration of the mullion, and to the interlaced work of a vault, and that on walls, in panels, and in tabernacle work or screens. (In Fr. réseau, remplissage.)

In this sense, app. short for tracery work, as according to S. Wren 'they (i. e. the masons) called it'; this was perh. connected with sense 1 as work designed in the tracery or tracing-house, or executed according to tracings thence furnished; but it may have been formed directly from Tracer ¹ or from Trace vbl. ¹ senses 9–11 ¹ cf. Tracing vbl. sb. 2. Tracery-work and tracery were constantly used by Sir Christopher Wren, and taken from him by Plot and Randle Holme, under whose influence it became generally accepted as the recognized name for this work.

Bar., fan, flamboyant, geometrical, plate-, wall tracery: see these words.

1669 Wren Surv. Salisbury Cath. in Parentalia (1750) 304 The whole Church is vaulted with Chalk between Arches and Cross-springers only,..without Orbs and Tracery, excepting under the Tower, where the Springers divide, and represent a wider Sort of Tracery. Ibid., The Windows are not made too great, nor yet the Light obstructed with many Mullions and Transomes of Tracery-work. 1686 Plot Staffordsh. 360 The tracery in the Stonework of the West-window..is a curious piece of Art. 1688 R. Holme Armoury iii. 112 Tracery is the working of the top part of a Window into several forms and fashions. 1713 Wren in Parentalia (1750) 302 The two West-towers.. ought certainly to be carried to an equal Height, one Story above the Ridge of the Roof, still continuing the Gothick Manner in the Stone-work, and Tracery. 1750 S. Wren ibid. 307 Thus they made their Pillars of a Bundle of little Torus's,..these Torus's split into many small ones, and traversing one another, gave Occasion to the Tracery-work (as they called it) of which this Society were the Inventors. Ibid., A great part of the Outside-ornament of Churches consisted in the Tracery Works of disposing the Mullions of the Windows, for the better fixing in of the Glass. 1820 W. Irving Sketch Bk. II. 5 (Westm. Abb.) The sharp touches of the chisel are gone from the rich tracery of the arches. 1849 Macaulay Hist. Eng. viii. II. 277 Ancient buildings rich with the tracery of the middle ages. 1890 Parkes Gloss. Archit. 481 The tympanum..always retains the character of a flat surface or plate of stone pierced with openings. Hence this kind of tracery has been termed plate tracery by Professor Willis. a 1898 Sir G. G. Scott Lect. Archit. (1879) I. 127 The eastern chapels at Winchester, built about 1204..show suggestions of tracery. 1911 R. P. Spiers in Encycl. Brit. XXVII. 115/1 The tracery in windows is usually divided into two sections, plate tracery and rib or bar tracery. Ibid. 116/1 The walls and buttresses were all panelled with blank tracery.

3. transf. and fig. Any delicate interweaving of lines or threads, as in embroidery, carving, etc.; also, an interlacing of boughs or foliage; network, open-work.

1827 Hood Mids. Fairies lix, An elf..Whose coat..was quaintly wrought and overrun With spangled traceries. 1827 Keble Chr. Y., Monday Whitsun Week, Wild-flower wreaths from side to side Their waving tracery hang. 1841 Lever C. O'Malley lxvii, The thin tracery of the leafless twigs was finely marked.

4. attrib. and Comb., as tracery bar, glass, head (of a window), light, -window, -work (see 2 above).

1835 R. Willis Archit. Mid. Ages vi. 53 note, The vertical portions below the imposts of the small arches of the lights, are termed mullions; the bending and ramifying parts above, I have called tracery bars. Ibid. 62 Tracery windows of the lancet proportion are great favorites with the Italians. 1886 Pall Mall G. 29 Sept. 11/2 The apse has four single-light windows high up in the wall with tracery heads. 1912 Encycl. Britannica (ed. 11) 56 The task of the glass-painter was to fill tracery lights in a way that would harmonise with the glass of the main lights. This he did by making his tracery-glass white and yellow when the lower lights were yellow of that hue.

‖ Trachea (trākī·ă, often less regularly trākē·ă). Pl. -eæ. [med.L. trāchēa (Albertus Magnus, c 1255) = late L. trāchīa (Macrobius, c 400), a. Gr. τραχεῖα (fem. of τραχύς rough); short for ἀρτηρία τραχεῖα 'rough artery': see Artery 1.]

1. Anat. and Zool. a. The musculo-membranous tube extending from the larynx to the bronchi, and surrounded by gristly (or in birds often bony) rings, which conveys the air to and from the lungs in air-breathing vertebrates; the windpipe.

In early use also in full form (L.) trachēa arētēria, occas. anglicized as trache arterie or arter trache, or in one word trachearteria, and (from Gr.) trachiarterie.

c 1400 Lanfranc's Cirurg. 153 yous pat trache arterie be peersid..sitt he may be heild wip goode medicynes. 1495 Trevisa's Barth. De P. R. v. xxiv. (W. de W.) h viij/2 The waye of the brethe, that is callyd Trachearteria. 1525 tr. Vesuyche's Surgy. B ij/2 The throte bolle or trachea, yspohagus or meri. 1541 R. Copland Galyen's Terap. 2 H ij, The vicere yt is in the sharpe artere called trachea. 1543 Trahерон Vigo's Chirurg. 5 b/2 The Trachea Arteria or wesande composed of gristlye rynges. 1547 Boorde Brev. Health cxxxvi. 77 The longes, the midryffe, the arter trache, the Epigloote. 1548–77 Vicary Anat. v. (1888) 44 Trachia arteria, that is, the way of the ayre. 1653 Urquhart Rabelais iv. xviii. Trachiarteare or pipe of the lungs. 1693 tr. Blancard's Phys. Dict. (ed. 2), Aspera Arteria, or Trachea, is an Oblong Pipe, consisting of various Cartilages and Membranes. 1713 Derham Phys.-Theol. iv. vii. 147 Blowing wind into the Lungs, through the Trachea. 1808 Barclay Muscular Motions 499 Trachea..should always be pronounced with the e long, and not short, as is usually the practice. 1888 Rolleston & Jackson Anim. Life 59 The organ of voice..in Aves is developed at the junction of the trachea and bronchi, and is known as the syrinx.

attrib. 1898 T. Bryant Pract. Surg. (1879) II. 17 The cartilages and trachea rings. 1898 Allbutt's Syst. Med. V. 4 Trachea-boundary or bronchitis of the larger tubes.

b. Each of the tubes, usually opening by stigmata on the surface of the body, which constitute a special form of respiratory organ in insects and other arthropods, conveying air to the blood and tissues generally.

1826 Good Bk. Nat. (1834) II. 22 The trachea, or respiratory organs, are singularly placed at the verge of the tail. 1843 Owen Invertebr. Anim. xix. 251 The smaller Arachnidans have no trachea: exclusively. 1847 Huxley Anat. Inv. Anim. i. 59 In Arachnida, trachea may exist alone, or be accompanied by folded pulmonary sacs.

2. Bot. One of the ducts or vessels in the woody tissue of plants, formed from the coalescence of series of cells by disappearance of the partitions between them, formerly supposed to serve for the passage of air; a wood-vessel.

1794 Berkeley Siris § 32 By means of air expanded and contracted in the trachea or vessels made up of elastic fibres, the sap is propelled through the arterial tubes of a plant. 1753 Chambers Cycl. Supp. s. v., Trachea, in vegetables, are certain air-vessels. 1823 Sir H. Davy Agric. Chem. (1842) 60 The trachea contain fluid matter, which is always thin, watery, and pellucid. 1885 Goodale Physiol. Bot. § 271. 84 Ducts, or Tracheæ, are variously marked by pits. 1895 Oliver in Kerner's Nat. Hist. Plants I. 276 Formerly the idea was held that these structures (wood-cells and wood-vessels) served for the passage of air, and it was believed that they were analogous to the respiratory organs—the so-called tracheæ—of insects; therefore these wood-vessels were also called 'tracheæ', and the wood-cells 'tracheides'.

Tracheal (trē·kăl, trākī·ăl), a. [ad. med.L. trāchēālis, f. prec.: see -al.]

1. Anat. and Zool. a. Of, pertaining to, or connected with the trachea or windpipe.

Tracheal artery: †(a) = Trachea 1 a (obs.); (b) each of the small arteries, branches of the inferior thyroid, which supply the trachea.

1710 T. Fuller Pharm. Extemp. 271 The Remedy..is convey'd..into the Tracheal Ducts. 1725 Bradley's Fam. Dict. s. v. Spitting of blood, If it (the Blood) proceeds from the Oesophagum,..or from the Stomach, Lungs, Tracheal Artery, or the Breast. 1849 Lytton Caxtons II. iii, Coughing is either a tracheal, bronchial, pulmonary, or ganglionic affection. 1887 Dunglison Med. Lex., Tracheal Glands, mucous follicles on the posterior surface of the trachea. 1888 Mivart Cat 227 The tracheal cartilages.

b. Pertaining to or of the nature of the tracheæ of insects and other arthropods; connected with tracheæ, as tracheal gills; performed by means of tracheæ, as tracheal respiration. (In quot. 1899 = Tracheate a.)

1826 Kirby & Sp. Entomol. IV. xxxviii. 64 The ramifications of the tracheal tree may be seen without dissection. 1888 Rolleston & Jackson Anim. Life 505 (Insecta) Respiration is tracheal..Each stigma leads into a single tracheal stem, rarely into several. 1899 Allbutt's Syst. Med. VIII. 865 The tracheal order of the Arachnidæ.

2. Bot. Of the nature of, or composed of, tracheæ: see prec. 2.

1898 Stark Elem. Nat. Hist. II. 454 The Monocotyledonous vegetables have, besides this cellular tissue, porous and tracheal vessels. 1885 Goodale Physiol. Bot. § 85 To this class of elements it is difficult to give any satisfactory name..The name Tracheal (or Tracheary),..while it is a significant term when applied to trachea-like bodies (ducts) is a misnomer when applied to an elongated cell wholly free from annular or spiral markings.

Trachean (trē·kăn, trākī·ăn), a. (sb.) Zool. [f. Trachea + -an.] Pertaining to or of the nature of a trachea, tracheal; having tracheæ, tracheate. b. sb. A tracheate arachnid.

1825 Kirby & Sp. Entomol. III. xxviii. 21 He has also considered the Trachean and Pulmonary Arachnida as forming one class. Ibid. 24 This appears to have had great weight with Lamarck, inducing him to include in his Arachnida, not only the Tracheans and Myriapods, but even the gateroous Hexapods. 1892 Cent. Dict. s. v., Trachean respiration..trachean branchiæ.

Trachearian (trē·kiā·rē·riăn), a. (sb.) Zool. [f. mod.L. Trāchēāri-a, neut. pl. + -an.] Belonging to the order Trachearia of arachnids: see Tracheate a. b. sb. A tracheate arachnid.

1854 Bushnan in Circ. Sc. I. Org. Nat. 77 The Trachearian Arachnidans..breathe..by means of air-tubes opening upon the surface of the body, by which the air is conveyed to every part of the system.

Tracheary (trē·kiări), a. (sb.) [ad. mod.L. trāchēāri-us, neut. pl. -a: see above.]

1. Zool. = prec. b. as sb. = prec. b.

1835 Kirby Hab. & Inst. Anim. II. xix. 281 Trachearies, or those (Arachnidans) that breathe by spiracles in connection with trachea. 1872 Latham, Tracheary, adj., breathing by means of tracheæ, rather than lungs.

2. Bot. = Tracheal 2; esp. applied to tissue containing both tracheæ and tracheides.

1885 (see Tracheal 2). 1900 in B. D. Jackson Gloss. Bot. Terms.

Tracheate (trē·kiăt, -ēt), a. (sb.) Zool. [ad. mod.L. Trāchēāta, f. trāchēa: see above and -ate ².]

Furnished with or having tracheæ, as an arthropod; belonging to the group Tracheata, in some classifications comprising the insects, myriapods, arachnids, and the genus Peripatus, or spec. to the order Tracheata or Trachearia of arachnids, which breathe by tracheæ alone. In quot. 1888 ¹ = Tracheal 1 b.

b. sb. A tracheate arthropod. So Tracheated a. 1877 Woodward in Encycl. Brit. VI. 654/2 The terrestrial tracheated air-breathing Scorpionidæ. 1878 Bell Gegenbaur's Comp. Anat. 288 None of these rudiments are retained in any living Tracheate. 1888 Rolleston & Jackson Anim. Life 494 (Arthropoda) Respiration may be cutaneous..; or branchiate..; or tracheate, and carrying air to all the tissues. Ibid. 496 The majority of Arachnida are tracheate.

Tracheide (trē·kī-, trākī·yăid). Bot. Also -id. [a. Ger. trachéide, introduced 1863 by Sanio Bot. Zeitung 113 'cellulae sive fibrae lignea; tracheidcae, kurzweg Tracheidzellen oder Tracheiden': f. Trachea + -ide, -id ².]

A vascular cell, with pitted lignified wall, which serves for the conduction of water; a vascular wood-cell.

The wood of the vascular tissue of Gymnosperms and Vascular Cryptogams consists wholly of tracheides.

1875 Bennett & Dyer Sachs' Bot. 98 To the Vascular forms belong the ducts and the vascular wood-cells or Tracheides. Ibid. 99 Vessels with prosenchymatous constituents now form the immediate passage to the vascular wood-cells (Tracheides). 1885 Goodale Physiol. Bot. § 266. 82 Cells..which are closed throughout..are known as Tracheids. 1895 Oliver tr. Kerner's Nat. Hist. Plants I. 276 The walls of the wood-vessels exhibit similar thickenings to those of the wood-cells or tracheides.

Hence Tracheidal (trākī·ăidăl, trākī·idăl) a., pertaining to or of the nature of a tracheide.

1891 in Cent. Dict.

‖ Tracheitis (trākī·ăitis). Path. Also erron. tracheitis. [mod.L., f. Trachea + -itis.] Inflammation of the trachea.

[1842 Brande Dict. Sci., etc., Trachitis, inflammation of the trachea.] 1859 Semple Diphtheria 40 A simple tracheitis or even a very mild sporadic affection. 1880 M. Mackenzie Dis. Throat & Nose I. 521 The majority of cases of simple tracheitis scarcely call for any therapeutic measures. 1898 Allbutt's Syst. Med. V. 27 The tubular casts of diphtheria and of membranous tracheitis.

Trachelate (trækˈkləˑt), a. Entom. [ad. mod.L. trachēlāt-us, f. Gr. τράχηλος neck: see -ATE 2.] Having a neck, or a constriction like a neck: said of the prosternum in certain hymenopterous insects. So Trachelate (trăkˈfləˑt, -ˈfləˑt) a., trachelate (trăkˈlə), a member of the Trachelidæ.

1826 KIRBY & SP. Entomol. IV. xlvi. 328 Trachelate... When of itself it forms a neck, the prothorax being represented only by membrane. 1842 BRANDE Dict. Sci., etc., Trachelidæ, the name of a family of Coleopterous insects, comprising those which have the head supported on a kind of pedicle or neck. 1891 Cent. Dict., Trachelate...Trachellate...Trachelidan.

†Trachelipod (trăkˈlipˌɒd), sb. and a. Zool. Obs. [ad. mod.L. Trachēlipod-a, neut. pl. (Lamarck), irreg. (for * Trachēlipoda) f. Gr. τράχηλος neck + ποῦς, ποδ- foot.] a. sb. A univalve mollusc of the order Trachelipoda in Lamarck's classification, having the foot or locomotive organ attached to the neck. b. adj. Belonging to or having the characters of this order. Also † Trachelipodan (trəkˈlipˈpdăn), † Tracheli·podous adjs. Obs.

1835 KIRBY Hab. & Inst. Anim. I. ix. 276 The Trachelipods, constituting Lamarck's Third Order of Molluscans. Ibid., The carnivorous, trachelipod Molluscans. 1841 JOHNSTON in Proc. Berw. Nat. Club I. No. 9. 269 Animal shelled, trachelipod, rarely gasteropode. 1847 ANSTED Anc. World xii. 271 The absence of the whole group of Ammonites, and their replacement by a newly introduced genus of carnivorous Trachelipods, animals of lower organization. 1860 MAYNE Expos. Lex. 1285 Trachelipodous. 1891 Cent. Dict., Trachelipodan.

Trachelo- (trăkˈlō), combining form representing Gr. τράχηλος neck, occurring in modern scientific terms, chiefly of anatomy. Trachelo·acro·mial a. and sb., name of a muscle connecting the acromion or extremity of the shoulder-blade with the vertebræ of the neck. Trachelo·branchiate (-brəˑŋkiˌət) a., Zool. having branchiæ or gills on the neck, as the division Trachelobranchia of gastropod molluscs. Trachelo·bregma·tic a. [BREGMA], denoting a diameter of the head: see quot. Trachelo·clavi·cular a., denoting a small muscle occasionally connecting one of the vertebræ of the neck with the clavicle or collar-bone. Trachelo·ma·stoid a. and sb., name of a muscle of the back of the neck, connecting it with the mastoid process of the temporal bone. Trachelo·occi·pital a., connecting the neck and the occiput: applied to the muscle usually called complexus (COMPLEXUS 2). Trachelo·plasty [-PLASTY], Trachelo·rrhaphy [Gr. ῥαφή sewing], Surg., repair or suture of a laceration of the neck of the womb. Trachelosca·pular a., common to the neck and scapular region or shoulder, as the branches of the external jugular vein. Trachelotomy (trəkˈlipˈtōmi) Surg. [Gr. τομή cutting], amputation of the neck of the womb.

1891 Cent. Dict., *Trachelo-acromial. 1899 in Syd. Soc. Lex. 1891 Cent. Dict., *Trachelobranchiate. 1887 BULLOCK Caseaux' Midwif. 221 The vertical diameter, properly so called, or the *trachelo-bregmatic, traverses the head perpendicularly, passing from the most elevated point of the vertex to the anterior part of the occipital foramen. 1891 Cent. Dict., *Trachelo-clavicular. 1899 in Syd. Soc. Lex. 1840 G. V. ELLIS Anat. 136 The *trachelo-mastoid, the other muscle of prolongation to the longissimus, is situated internal to the transversalis colli. 1891 Cent. Dict., *Trachelo-occipital. 1899 in Syd. Soc. Lex. 1890 BILLINGS Med. Dict., *Trachelo*plasty, operation for closure of a laceration of the cervix uteri. 1886 Brit. Med. Jrnl. 2 Jan. 1/1 The deep laceration was repaired by *trachelorrhaphy, five stitches being used. 1891 Cent. Dict., *Trachelo-scapular. 1899 in Syd. Soc. Lex. 1890 BILLINGS Med. Dict., *Trachelotomy, amputation of the cervix uteri.

‖ Trachelochyma (trăkeˈpkimă). Bot. Also anglicized as tracheochyma. [f. TRACHEA + Gr. ἔγχυμα infusion, after PARENCHYMA.] Tracheary tissue: see TRACHEARY 2.

1848 LINDLEY Introd. Bot. (ed. 4) I. 21 Vascular tissue, or Trachenchym. 1861 BENTLEY Man. Bot. 34 Spiral vessels are sometimes called Trachea or Trachenchyma, from their resemblance to the trachea or air-tubes of insects.

Tracheo- (trăkiˈə, trəˑkiə), used as combining form of TRACHEA, in modern terms of anatomy, zoology, pathology, and surgery. ‖ Tracheobranchia (-brəˑŋkiă), pl. -ēæ, a respiratory organ in certain insect larvæ, combining the characters of a trachea and a branchia or gill. Tracheobronchial (-brɒŋkiăl) a., pertaining to the trachea and the bronchi; also as sb. a tracheobronchial muscle (in birds). ‖ Tracheobronchi·tis, 'inflammation of the trachea and bronchia' (Dunglison, 1857). Trache·ocele (-sēl) [Gr. κήλη tumour], a tumour in or upon the trachea; also loosely applied to goitre or enlargement of the thyroid gland (also called bronchocele). Tracheolaryngo·tomy [LARYNGOTOMY], incision of the trachea and larynx, laryngotracheotomy (see LARYNGO-). Tracheo-œsophageal (-ēsofəˑdʒiăl) a., pertaining or common to the trachea and the œsophagus. Trache·ophone (-fōn) [Gr. φωνή voice], sb. a member of the Tracheophonæ or Tracheophones, a group of S. American passerine birds, having the syrinx or vocal organ situated wholly or chiefly in the trachea (cf. tracheobronchial above); adj. belonging to this group; so Trache·phonine, Trache·phonous adjs. Trache·phony (-ˈfŏni), 'the sound heard over the trachea on auscultation' (Syd. Soc. Lex. 1899). Trache·oscopy [Gr. -σκοπία, f. σκοπεῖν to view], inspection or examination of the trachea, as with a laryngoscope; so Tracheoscopic a., pertaining to tracheoscopy; Trache·oscopist, one who practises tracheoscopy. See also TRACHEOTOMY, etc.

1877 HUXLEY Anat. Inv. Anim. vi. 252 The so-called *Tracheo-branchiæ...are in no sense branchiæ, but simply like the place of stigmata. 1896 NEWTON Dict. Birds 939 One pair of *tracheo-bronchial muscles, arising mostly from the Trachea and attached to one or more of the bronchial semi-rings. Ibid., Two dorsal and one ventral tracheobronchials. Ibid. 940 According to the position of the sound-producing membranes, three types of Syrinx are distinguishable:—Tracheal, Bronchial and Tracheo-Bronchial. 1828 WEBSTER, *Tracheocele, an enlargement of the thyroid gland; bronchocele or goiter. Cyc. 1880 M. MACKENZIE Dis. Throat & Nose I. 56 Tracheocele does not, as a rule, appear to be attended with much danger. 1890 BILLINGS Med. Dict., *Tracheocele, a tumor of the neck containing air and communicating with the trachea. 1909 Cent. Dict. Suppl., *Tracheolaryngotomy. 1897 Allbutt's Syst. Med. III. 365 This may lead to a *tracheo-œsophageal or broncho-œsophageal fistula. 1884 Ibis July 241 This at once removes it from the *Tracheophones, in which a tenth primary is always present. 1896 Ibis 10 Mar. 304/2 Mr. W. P. Pycraft read a paper on the 'Tracheophone Passeres', which he described as a group differing from all the remaining Passeres in the formation of the syrinx. 1888 Newton in Ingest. Brit. XXIV. Bird note. The Furnariidæ of Garrod, consisting of about 8 genera of *Tracheophonine Birds, some of whom build marvellous nests of mud spherical in form. 1896 NEWTON Dict. Birds 940 Indications of such a *tracheophonous Syrinx occur in various Cotingidæ and Pittidæ. 1857 DUNGLISON Med. Lex., *Tracheophony, Laryngophony. 1880 M. MACKENZIE Dis. Throat & Nose I. 519 A *tracheoscopic examination. 1899 Syd. Soc. Lex. *Tracheoscopist. 1880 M. MACKENZIE Dis. Throat & Nose I. 592 (title of section) *Tracheoscopy. 1904 Brit. Med. Jrnl. 10 Sept. 605 Instructions for the practice of laryngoscopy and tracheoscopy.

Tracheole (trăˑkiˌōəl). Entom. [ad. mod.L. type trăcheōla, dim. of TRACHEA: see -OLE.] A small or minute trache or branch of a trachea (in insects). Hence Trache·olar a., pertaining to a tracheole, or consisting of tracheoles.

1904 Amer. Nat. Feb. 134 The tracheæ...pass over into the tracheolar network...The term tracheoles...is used elsewhere in insect histology to designate fine tracheal branches not possessing spiral thickening.

Tracheoma (trăˑkiˌōmă). Bot. rare. [f. TRACHEA + -oma as in rhizoma, caseoma, etc.] General term for a wood-vessel (trachea), wood-cell (tracheide), or other structure of the same class.

1900 B. D. JACKSON Gloss. Bot. Terms 273/1 Tracheoma, stated by Potonié not to be the tracheal, but the hydral system of the bundle, he therefore names it Hydrome.

Tracheotomy (trăˑkiˌɒtōmi). Surg. Also erron. tracho·tomy. [f. TRACHEO- + -TOMY.] Incision of the trachea or windpipe.

1726 QUINCY Lex. Phys.-Med., Tracheotomy, the same as Bronchotomy. 1805 Med. Jrnl. XIV. 152 Bronchotomy, or (speaking more correctly) tracheotomy, was now thought of. 1898 T. Pinson in Surg. I. 75 Tracheotomy is one of these means, and deserves trial.

b. attrib., tracheotomy instrument, etc.; tracheotomy tube, a tube inserted into the opening made by tracheotomy, to facilitate breathing.

1880 M. MACKENZIE Dis. Throat & Nose I. 514 note, I returned home for my *tracheotomy instruments. 1884 Health Exh. Catal. 204/1 Bronchitis or *Tracheotomy Kettle. 1897 Allbutt's Syst. Med. IV. 822 The intubation tube is more comfortably worn than the *tracheotomy tube.

Hence Tracheotome (trăˑkiˌōtōum), a surgical instrument for performing tracheotomy; Tracheotomist, one who performs tracheotomy; Tracheotomize v., trans. to perform tracheotomy upon.

1857 DUNGLISON, *Tracheotome, an instrument of the trocar kind, for opening the trachea. 1890 in BILLINGS Med. Dict. 1891 Cent. Dict., *Tracheotomist. 1885 Science 27 Feb. 103/2 He [Leo] worked with rabbits, which were *tracheotomized and supplied with pure oxygen.

Trachiartere: see TRACHEA.

Trachinoid (trəˑkinoˌid), a. and sb. Ichth. [f. mod.L. Trachīn-us (Linnæus, 1758), name of the typical genus + -OID; f. med.L. trachīna, said in Acts of S. Francis of Paula (1416–1507) to be a local name of a fish (Du Cange).] a. adj. Resembling, allied to, or having the characters of, the Trachinidæ or weevers, a family of spiny-finned fishes. b. sb. A fish of this family.

[1772 GOLDSM. Nat. Hist. (1862) II. iii. 1 295 The Trachinus or Weever.]

Trachitis, incorrect form for TRACHEITIS.

Trachle, trauchle (trăˑχˈl, trăuˑχˈl), sb. Sc. [f. next.]

1. A fatiguing or exhausting journey or effort; exhausting struggle or toil.

1822 W. TENNANT Cdl. Beaton v. vii. 174 It's een a lang trachle frae the Kirk Wynd in Anster, to the Castle Wynd in St. Andrews. 1840 A. LAING Wayside Flowers (1878) 33 A' broken and pined Wi' trachle o' body and trouble o' mind. 1882 P. DUNCAN in Mod. Scott. Poets III. 171 Life's trachle's near a close.

2. A person who 'trachles' or gets 'trachled'.

1887 J. SERVICE Dr. Duguid xxiii. 157, I have had to ding some useless trauchle out of my gate. 1901 G. DOUGLAS House o. Green Shadows 39 I would have thocht the thowless trauchle hadna the smeddum left to interfere. [Note] Trauchle, a poor trollop who trails about.

Trachle, trauchle (trăˑχˈl, trăuˑχˈl), v. Sc. [Known from 16th c. Of obscure origin; but bearing a striking resemblance in sense to West Flemish tragelen, given by De Bo as a variant of trakelen, to go with difficulty, to walk laboriously and heavily; also trans. to drag or trail, as a canal-boat: cf. tragel or trakel a tow-path. Cf. also Du. traag, MDu. traech slow, heavy, sluggish; also Sw. dial. traggel sb., traggla v., worry, bother (Rietz).]

1. trans. To bedraggle, dishevel; to disorder, injure, or befoul by trampling. (Chiefly in pa. pple.)

1599 Compl. Scot. vii. 61 Hyr hayr...was feltit & trachlit out of ordour, hingand ouer hyr schuldirs. 1825 JAMIESON s.v., A person is said to trauchle corn or grass, when he injures it by treading on it. 1871 W. ALEXANDER Johnny Gibb i, We canna hae the beast's maet trachel't ano' their feet.

2. To tire out or fatigue greatly by long walking; to exhaust by over-exertion; fig. to distress. (Chiefly in pa. pple.)

a 1578 LINDESAY (Pitscottie) Chron. Scot. (S.T.S.) I. 274 Thay war vondrous tyrd and foirgeine and trachled grettlie in travell. 1588 J. MELVILL Diary (Wodrow Soc.) 163 That night, the Lard...keeffeirt the [Spanish] souldiours to com a-land...for the maist part young berdless men, sillie, trauchled, and houngered. 1776 C. KEITH Farmer's Ha' xxxvi, Quo' they, 'We're trachled unco sair; We've gane twal mile o' yeed and mair'. 1889 BARRIE Window in Thrums xx. 189 Ye maun trachle yersel', mother.

b. intr. for refl. To tire oneself out: to drudge.

1823 W. TENNANT Cdl. Beaton v. vii. 171 I'm a wee fowjeskit though, wi' trachlin' sae lang. 1840 A. LAING Wayside Flowers (1878) 37 Then why need ye toil on an' trachle sae sair?

Hence Tra·chled (tra·chlet), trau·chled ppl. a.; Tra·chling, trau·chling vbl. sb. and ppl. a.

1902 Blackw. Mag. Sept. 364/2 It's a trauchling game [golf] and I wish I'd never seen it. 1910 Dundee Advert. 25 Nov., A schtine...whereby a 'trauchled' working class mother could be relieved of part of her domestic toil.

Tra·chly, a. Sc. [f. prec. sb. or vb. + -Y.]

1825 JAMIESON, Trachlhi, adj. 1. Always drudging, dirty, and slovenly, Clydes. 2. Fatiguing, exhausting, ibid.

‖ Trachoma (trăkōumă). Path. [mod.L., a. Gr. τράχωμα roughness (Dioscorides), f. τραχύς rough.] An infectious disease of the eyes, characterized by roughness or granulation of the inner surface of the eyelids, often supervening upon purulent ophthalmia; also called granular lids.

Also, an affection of the larynx characterized by nodular swellings on the vocal cords (quot. 1880).

1693 tr. Blancard's Phys. Dict. (ed. 2), Trachoma, a Scab, or Asperity of the inner part of the Eye-lid. 1857 DUNGLISON Med. Lex., Trachoma...A roughness of the inner surface of the eyelids. A variety of ophthalmia, of which three kinds have been designated. 1880 M. MACKENZIE Dis. Throat & Nose I. 293 This condition has been called chorditis tuberosa or trachoma. 1904 Daily Chron. 18 Oct. 3/4 So prevalent is the disease in Egypt...that a travelling hospital...has been for some months at work in that country, confining its attention solely to trachoma.

b. attrib. Trachoma glands, a name for the lymph-follicles of the conjunctiva, which increase in number in trachoma.

1873 T. H. GREEN Introd. Pathol. (ed. 2) 142 The trachoma glands of the conjunctiva. 1890 BILLINGS Med. Dict., Brach, follicle of, conjunctival lymph-follicles, trachoma glands of Henle.

Hence Tracho·matous a., pertaining to, of the nature of, or affected with trachoma.

1891 in Cent. Dict. 1900 Brit. Med. Jrnl. 12 May Epit. Curr. Lit. 74 Trachomatous Pannus cured by interstitial Erysipelas.

Trachomedusan (trăˑkoumĕdiăˑsăn), a. and sb. Zool. [f. mod.L. Trachomedusæ, pl., f. tracho-, var. of TRACHY- + MEDUSA: see -AN.] a. adj. Belonging to the sub-order Trachomedusæ of the order Trachymedusæ of Craspedote Hydrozoa. b. sb. A hydrozoan of this sub-order.

[1888 ROLLESTON & JACKSON Anim. Life 749 The order Trachymedusæ...contains Medusæ which possess tentacles with a solid axis...There are two sub-orders, the Narcomedusæ and Trachomedusæ.] 1907 Genl. Mag. July 97/2 No other known Trachomedusan had gonads on the manubrium.

Trachotomy, bad form for TRACHEOTOMY.

Trachour, variant of TREACHER Obs., traitor.

Trachtscoot, obs. form of TREKSCHUIT.

Trachy- (trăˑki), combining form, repr. Gr. τραχύ-ς rough, in a few modern scientific terms. Trachyca·rpous a. Bot. [Gr. καρπός fruit], rough-fruited. Tra·chychroma·tic a. [Gr. χρῶμα colour], applied to certain cells in bone-marrow which take a deep stain. Trachyglo·ssate, Zool. [Gr. γλῶσσα tongue], a. belonging to the division Trachyglossa of octopod molluscs, having radular teeth upon the tongue; sb. a trachyglossate octopod. Trachymedu·san, Zool., a. belonging to the order Trachymedusæ of Craspedote Hydrozoa; sb. a hydrozoan of this order. Trachymenid (-nī·mid), Zool. [Gr. νῆμα thread], a. belonging to the family Trachynemidæ of Craspedote Hydrozoa; sb. a hydrozoan of this family. Trachynote, a fish of the extinct genus Trachynotus. ‖ Trachypho·nia, Path. [mod.L. f. Gr. φωνή voice], roughness or hoarseness of voice. Trachypteroid (trăki·ptĕroid), Ichth. [Gr. πτερόν wing, taken as = fin: see -OID], a. resembling or allied to the genus Trachypterus or family Trachypteridæ of spiny-finned fishes, including the 'king of the salmon', T. altivelis; sb. a fish of this family. Trachyspe·rmous a., Bot. [Gr. σπέρμα seed], rough-seeded.

1860 Mayne Expos. Lex., Trachycarpus, having rough fruit, ..trachycarpous. 1900 in B. D. Jackson G.ass. Bot. Terms. 1909 Cent. Dict. Suppl., *Trachychromatic. 1891 Cent. Dict., *Trachyglossate. 1890 Q. Jrnl. Microsc. xx. Feb. 511 No *Trachymedusan has been observed to pass through a hydroid phase. 1888 Rolleston & Jackson Anim. Life 751 in the family Aegaeuridæ, the Petasid sub-family Petasichthidæ, and the *Trachynemic Scyphistoma. 1848 Shuckard, Trachynotes, rough-backed creatures—the generic name of a division of fossil fishes. 1860 Mayne Expos. Lex., Trachyphonia, term for a rough voice. 1891 Cent. Dict., *Trachypteroid. Ibid., *Trachyspermous. 1900 in B. D. Jackson Gloss. Bot. Terms.

b. Min. In names of rocks, taken as combining form of Trachyte, and denoting an igneous rock or lava intermediate between trachyte and that denoted by the second element, as trachya·ndesite, trachyba·salt, trachydo·lerite, trachyrhy·olite.

1888 Cassell's Encycl. Dict., Trachybasalt, Trachydolerite. 1897 H. S. Washington Jrnl. Geol. (U.S.) May–June 351 For those intermediate effusive rocks in which the plagioclase occurring along with orthoclase is acid, the name trachyandesite, which is in use in France, will be reserved. Ibid., The intermediate potash-rich rocks..carry basic plagioclase-labradorite to anorthite—along with orthoclase, and such will be called collectively in this paper by the name of trachydolerite,..proposed by Abich as far back as 1841. 1909 Cent. Dict. Suppl., Trachyrhyolite.

Trachyte (trăk·kait, træ·kait). Geol. and Min. [a. F. trachyte (Haüy); f. Gr. τράχυς rough, or perh. τραχύτης roughness.] A group of volcanic rocks, having a characteristically rough or gritty surface. The name was given by Haüy to certain volcanic rocks from Auvergne, and at first used in a wide sense; now confined to rocks consisting mainly of sanidine (or glassy orthoclase) felspar, as distinguished from oligoclase- and quartz-trachytes, and intermediate forms: see Trachy-. b.

1821 R. Jameson Man. Min. 497 Rocks of extinct and ancient volcanoes. ..1. Trck which is of the nature of felspar, is generally porphyritic, the imbedded crystals being most frequently of the glassy kind. 1830 Lyell Princ. Geol. I. 386 These isles are formed of brown trachyte..full of crystals of glassy felspar. 1854 Murchison Siluria xviii. 425 These were, in ancient times, penetrated by granites, porphyries, trachytes, and other eruptive matters. 1876 Page Adv. Text-bk. Geol. v. 105 The trachytes are rough-grained subcrystalline varieties of felspathic lava. 1911 Encycl. Brit. XXVII. 116/2 Trachyte ..was long used in a much wider sense..in fact it included quartz-trachytes (now known as liparites and rhyolites) and oligoclase-trachytes, more properly assigned to Andesites.

b. attrib., as trachyte rock, porphyry; trachyte tuff, a tuff having the composition and structure of trachyte.

1872 C. King Mountain. Sierra Nev. ix. 188 Rounded domes of trachyte rock. 1877 Tylor in Nature 5 July 191/1 In a still larger chulpa [f. a. Peruvian burial-tower] there are hewn trachyte blocks as large as twelve feet long [etc.]. 1885 Geikie Text-bk. Geol. II. v. vii. (ed. 2) 266 Thus we have felsite-tuffs, trachyte-tuffs, basalt-tuffs, pumice-tuffs, porphyrite-tuffs, etc.

Trachytic (trăki·tik), a. [f. prec. + -IC: cf. F. trachytique.] Consisting, or of the nature, of trachyte; containing, or abounding in, trachyte.

1829 Edin. Rev. XLV. 320 Those hills consist of a trachytic formation. 1830 Lyell Princ. Geol. I. 396 Where it [felspar] is in great excess lavas are called trachytic; where augite (or pyroxene) predominates, they are called basaltic. 1833-4 J. Phillips in Encycl. Metrop. (1845) VI. 767/1 Trachytic porphyry..occurs on the Western shore of the Island of Arran. 1869 Phillips Vesuv. viii. 211 Slopes of crumbling tufaceous, pumiceous and trachytic rocks.

Trachytoid (træ·kitoid, trā·ki-), a. [f. as prec. + -OID, after F. trachytoïde.] Resembling or allied to trachyte.

1889 Geikie Text-bk. Geol. II. n. v. (ed. 2) 110 note, For this [semi-crystalline] structure the term 'mixed' has been proposed, as being a mixture of the crystalline and amorphous (glassy) structures. It has been designated by Fouqué and Michel-Lévy 'trachytoid', as being typically developed among the trachytes. Ibid. vii. 137 Two leading types of structure are recognised by these authors among the eruptive rocks. 1. Granitoid..2. Trachytoid, distinguished by a more marked contrast between the crystals of the first and second consolidation, the usual presence of an amorphous magma, and the fluxion structure.

Tracing (trēi·sing), vbl. sb.[1] [f. Trace v.[1] + -ING[1].] The action of Trace v.[1], or its result.

1. The following of traces, tracking; also †concr. pl. traces left, tracks (obs.).

1593 Act 35 & 35 Eliz. c. 10 Diuers persons..by reason of the trasinge in snow, haue killed and destroied.. the same Hares, by .x. xii. or .xvi. vpon a daye. 1697 Thornley tr. Longus' Daphnis & Chloe 116 A Wolf pursued me: where are the tracings of a Wolf? 1753 Chambers Cycl. Supp., Tracings, or Tracing..used by our miners to express the tracing up the mineral appearances on the surface of the earth to their head, and there finding a mine. 1910 M. Gaster in Encycl. Brit. XII. 401/1 in various parts of Germany and Austria a special register is kept for the tracing of the genealogy of vagrant and sedentary Gipsy families.

† 2. The treading of a measure; dancing. Obs.

1597 Grange Golden Aphrod. F iij b, It fell by course N.O. should leade this trace, bycause he knewe it beste, the tracyng of this rounde requyred in the middle thereof a conge. 1596 Davies Orchestra xiii, No..sight more plesing to behold, With all their turnes and tracings manifold. 1643 Trapp Comm. Gen. xxix. 22 Of dancing and dalliance, of tracing, and tripping on the toe, we read not.

3. Drawing, delineating, marking out; the copying of a drawing, etc., by means of a transparent sheet placed over it.

c 1440 Promp. Parv. 499/1 Tracynge, or drawynge for to make an image or other thynge (K. to make a pycture or gravynge). 1573 (title) A..treatise, wherein is..sett forthe the arte of Limming, which teacheth the order in drawing & tracing of letters, vinets, flowers, armes and imagery. 1599 James tr. Le Blond's Gardening 87 The Manner of Tracing, reduced to Twenty Practices. 1815 J. Smith Panorama Sc. & Art II. 728 Tracing against the Light. 1843 Civil Eng. & Arch. Jrnl. VI. 236/1 The slow progress of a fresco-painting, from the 'tracing' to the last touch. 1884 Mil. Engineering (ed. 3) I. II. 21 The tracing of parallels and approaches is commenced in the dusk of the evening, when sufficiently dark to conceal men from the view of the besieged.

b. concr. That which is produced by tracing or drawing; a drawing; spec. a copy made by tracing; also, the record of a self-registering instrument.

1811 Wellington in Gurw. Desp. (1838) VII. 142 Murray ..tells me that he sent after you..a tracing of a large part of Alemtejo. 1857 Ruskin Pol. Econ. Art ii. (1868) 127 Tracings from frescos and other large works are also of great value. 1884 Lond. Rev. 27 Aug. 247/2 The Psychonomy of the Hand..is illustrated by tracings from living hands of various endowments. 1866 Rogers Agric. & Prices I. xxvi. 644 A collection of such tracings will be found in the Bodleian Library. 1874 H. H. Cole Catal. Ind. Art S. Kens. Mus. 251 The centre [of the embroidered pattern] is occupied by a circular disc of beautiful floral tracing. 1899 Allbutt's Syst. Med. VIII. 373 The sphygmographic tracing [in melancholia] usually indicates a feeble systole.

† 4. A timber used in building; ? a framing timber. Obs.

1601 Deacon & Walker Answ. to Darel, Catal. D.'s Contradict. No. 50 The groundsels, the studs, the raysing pieces, the loynsties, the tracings, and all the rest of the timber belonging thereto. 1616 Nottingham Rec. (1889) IV. 348 For ouer liggers and trasinges for ye same bridge x s.

5. attrib. and Comb.: tracing-board, a board on which a plan, as of a building, is traced; tracing-braid, ? narrow braid used in an interlacing design; tracing-cloth, smooth transparent linen sized on one side, used for making tracings; tracing-house, a house in which the plans of a building are traced; tracing-instrument, an instrument for copying any outline or plan on the same or a larger or smaller scale; tracing-lace, narrow lace used in an open design; cf. tracing-braid; tracing-linen = tracing-cloth; tracing-machine = tracing-instrument (Cent. Dict. 1891); tracing-paper, (a) transparent paper for copying drawings, etc. by tracing; (b) lithographic transfer paper; tracing-picket, a picket used in siege work to mark lines and angles; tracing-pin, a peg or pin used to mark out lines on the ground in setting out work; tracing-point, (a) a point that traces or draws lines; (b) in Fretwork, a sharp tool used to mark out a design; tracing-staff: see quot.; tracing-thread, in Lace-making, a heavy thread or fillet of fine threads used to form the outline of the pattern; tracing-wheel, a toothed wheel or roulette for marking out patterns.

1399 in York Fabric Rolls (Surtees) 17 In le loge [mason's work-shop] apud Ebor, in cimiterio, lxix stanexes, j magna kevell, xcvj chisielles ferri.., ij *tracyngbordes, 1906 Daily Chron. 4 Oct. 3/4 The jacket was..elaborately braided with silk *tracing-braid. Ibid., The skirt..with a girdle, braided with tracing-braid to match the jacket. 1842-76 Gwilt Encycl. Archit. Gloss., Tracing cloth, a fine white cloth, prepared in a similar way to paper for rendering it transparent. 1873 E. Spon Workshop Receipts Ser. I. 6/2 If ink or colour does not run freely on tracing cloth, mix both with a little ox-gall. 1374-5 in Oliver Exeter Cath. (1861) 385 Cursus nove domus in Calendarhey vocate '*Traeyng hous'. 1581-2 York Fabric Rolls (Surtees) 118 For xj daies worke on the leades over the tracinge hows, etc., xos. 8d. [1859 Ibid. Gloss. 358 Tracinge-hous, the place or room used by the draughtsman.] 1897 Knight Dict. Mech., Tracing-instrument*, an instrument for copying figures on an enlarged or reduced scale. 1901 Daily News 13 Feb. 5/1 A very long robe..trimmed with gold lace, some of it what is technically called '*tracing-lace', i.e., arranged in small loops placed alternately hither and thither. 1884 Mech. Mag. 31 Jan. 56/2 An excellent method to make *tracing-paper. 1834 Penny Cycl. II. 203/2 The design is..copied on very thin transparent paper, called tracing-paper. 1862 Catal. Internat. Exh. b. II. xiii. 17 To the horizontal arm is fixed the *tracing pencil. 1870 Wessely Germ.-Engl. Dict. Abstechfahl'..*tracing-picket. 1712 J. James tr. Le Blond's Gardening 89 Tracing two Portions of a Circle, by means of a small *Tracing-Pin fixed at the End of the Cord. 1815 J. Smith Panorama Sc. & Art II. 728 Where long, straight, or parallel lines occur, the *tracing point may be guided by a ruler. 1712 J. James tr. Le Blond's Gardening 84 A *'Tracing-Staff..is a long strait Stick tipt with Iron at the lower End, having the Point triangular..; with this Tracing-Staff you strike out and design all the Figures of a Garden.

Tracing, vbl. sb.[2]: see Trace v.[3]

(Here perhaps belong quot. 1874 in prec. 3 b, and tracing-braid, -lace in sense 5 above.)

Track (træk), sb. Forms: 5–6 trak, 6 tracke, 6– track. [a. OF. trac (1440 in Hatz.-Darm.), traq, F. trac: ulterior derivation uncertain, but generally thought to be from Teutonic. Diez and Scheler would connect it with MLG. and Du. treck, trek draught, drawing, pull, line drawn, etc., f. trecken, trekken to draw, pull, tug, drag, haul (in MDu. rarely trachen): see Trace v.[2]

If this be the source, the original sense would appear to have been the line or mark made on the ground by anything hauled or dragged, whence also the mark made or path beaten by the feet of man or beast; the sense-development being parallel to that of Trace from L. tractiāre. It is noticeable that the senses of the verbs trace and track are sometimes identical; also that track and tract were often identified in pronunciation and use.]

I. 1. The mark, or series of marks, left by the passage of anything; a trail; a wheel-rut; the wake of a ship; a series of footprints; the scent followed by hounds; spec. in Geol. a series of fossilized footprints of an animal.

1470–85 Malory Arthur x. xiv. 435 Myght I fynde the trak of his hors I shold not fayle to fynde that Knyghte. c 1500 3 Kings' Sons 30 They came on the trakkys of there enmyes. c 1595 Capt. Wyatt K. Dudley's Jrnl. (Hakl. Soc.) 27 Wee discried the track of theire feet in the woodes by the impression of the sandes. 1685 Cotton tr. Montaigne (1711) I. xxxviii. 349 Like the Beasts of Chace, who put out the Track at the Entrance into their Den. 1706 Phillips (ed. Kersey), Track, a Foot-print, or Foot-step, the rut of a Coach-wheel, the run of a Ship, a Mark that remains of any thing. 1840 Dickens Barn. Rudge viii. 'The walls and roof..tapestried with the tracks of snails and slugs. 1842 Act 5 & 6 Vict. c. 79 § 17 Any stage carriage..the bearing of which on the ground shall be less than 4 ft. 6 in. from the centre of the track of the right or off wheel to the centre of the track of the left or near wheel. 1912 Return Brit. Museum 174 A large slab of tracks from the Palaeozoic rocks of the Alleghany Mts.

† b. The pacing of a horse. Obs. rare—[1].

1653 Urquhart Rabelais I. xliii, I hear the track [F. trac] and beating of the enemies horse feet.

c. Zool. The sole of the foot, esp. in birds.

1891 in Cent. Dict. 1911 in Webster.

† 2. fig. = Trace sb.[1] 6, 7. Obs.

1652–62 Heylin Cosmogr. Introd. (1674) 11/2 Of Sabteca ..I can find no track in any of the Ancient Authors. 1662 J. Davies tr. Olearius' Voy. Ambass. 219 Now there is no track to be seen of any such thing. 1678 In all this Tract, I could not the least track of Antiquity. 1692 Bentley Boyle Lect. viii. § 8 To consider the Atmosphere and the exterior Frame and Face of the Globe; if we may find any tracks and footsteps of Wisdom in the Constitution of Them. 1694 Addison Story of Calisto 9 No tracks of heaven's destructive fire remain.

3. A way made or beaten by the feet of men or animals; a path; a rough unmade road.

1643 Cromwell Let. 31 July, We..came to the bottom of a steep hill: we could not well get up but by some tracks. 1675 N. Thomas in I. Mather K. Philip's War (1862) 231 We took notice that an Indian track, newly made, wheeled about from west to South. 1791 Mrs. Radcliffe Rom. Forest i, The road was only a slight track upon the grass. 1832 Act 2 & 3 Will. IV, c. 64 Sched. O. 48 The point at which the same [road] meets the mountain track from Dowlais to Quakers Yard. 1883 W. Gardner in Science Gossip May 97 The southern corner is crossed by a mountain track running from Trefiw to Capel Curig.

fig. 1656 Cowley To Sir W. Davenant 36 Thy Fancy like a Flame its way does make, And leave bright Tracks for following Pens to take.

4. A line of travel, passage, or motion; the actual course or route followed (which need not be any beaten or visible path, or leave any traces, as the path of a ship, a bird in the air, a comet).

1570–6 Lambarde Peramb. Kent 287 This place..as also the whole track of their iourney (remaining euer after a greene pathe) the Towne dwellers were wont to shewe. 1671 Milton P. R. I. 189 The better to converse With solitude, till far from track of men. 1681 Noyle Plain Rudes. 72 Like Horses who know their Track well enough, without considering East or West, or what business they go about. 1748 Anson's Voy. II. x. 240 To give a better idea of the track which they hold in this navigation, I have..laid down the particular route..in..this chart. 1840 R. H. Dana Bef. Mast xxxiv, 131 We were just in the track of the tremendous hurricane of 1839. 1853 Kane Grinnell Exp. iii. (1856) 24 The ferry-boats and steamers came out of their track to salute us in the bay. fig. 1565 T. Stapleton Fortr. Faith 126 After the tracke of Caluins trace.

b. The course of a nerve or blood-vessel, or the like; the course of a wound.

1807–26 S. Cooper First Lines Surg. (ed. 5) 444 All the surfaces, in contact with each other, and surrounding the track of the wound, become generally so intimately connected together. 1841–71 T. R. Jones Anim. Kingd. (ed. 4) 668 The whole track of the intestinal tube, as well as the (so-called) hepatic viscus, is covered internally with vibratile cilia.

c. (?) A long narrow stretch (of light). (But both examples may belong properly to Tract *sb.*3; cf. branch II.)

1693 Congreve To Dryden in D.'s Persius 400 In their room bright Tracks of Light are seen. 1757 Gray Bard 109 In yon bright track, that fires the western skies, They melt, they vanish from my eyes.

5. fig. a. Course of action or conduct; a method of proceeding; 'way', 'path'. The beaten track, the ordinary (quasi well-worn) way.

1638 Junius Paint. Ancients 242 They..propound unto us the right way, and not one usually beaten track onely. 1658–9 in Burton's Diary (1828) IV. 54 You are in a track, and cannot go back or forwards. 1714 Lady M. W. Montagu Lett. (1887) I. 96 The world never believes it possible for people to act out of the common track. 1742 Young Nt. Th. III. 332 To..Place the Round Eternal I.. To beat and beat The beaten Track? 1785 G. A. Bellamy Apology II. 166 You see me now entered into a new track of life. 1864 Sickat Uhland's Poems 56 Would ye have me wish to wander From the tracks of daily care? 1906 Kropotkin Mem. Rev. (1908) IV. viii. 254 Austria and Hungary followed in the same track.

b. A train or sequence of events, thoughts, etc.

1681 J. Owen Spiritual Mindedness Wks. 1852 VIII. 307 A continual track of fruitless impertinent thoughts about their own concerns. 1693 Dryden Disc. Orig. & Progr. Sat. Ess. (ed. Ker) II. 29 When he is got into a track of Scripture. 1725 Watts Logic IV. i. § 2 In writing the Lives of Men, which is called Biography, some Authors follow the Track of their Years. 1793 Burke Corr. (1844) IV. 199 My pen goes in the track of my thoughts. 1827 R. Pollok Course T. x. adfin., Thus have I sung beyond thy first request, Rolling my numbers o'er the track of man, The world at dawn, at mid-day, and decline.

6. A path made or laid down for a special purpose; spec. a. (now U.S.) A continuous line of a pair of rails and the space between them, on which railway vehicles travel: commonly called in Great Britain a or the line, and in some connexions the rails. (Cf. Trackage 2.) Also, an iron path or pair of rails which a carriage in a machine or a gun-chassis traverses. Off the track, off the line or rails, derailed; also fig.

1809 Rees Cycl. VI. s. v. Canal, Surrey Iron Rail-Way... The width of each track is about 5½ feet, the waggons carry about 34 tons each...Crossing rails are used at every passing-place or point where waggons are to pass out of one track of rails into another. a 1824 [see Railway 3]. 1860 Bartlett Dict. Amer. (ed. 3), Track, the line of a railroad, or rather between the rails. 'A man walking on the track was run over and killed'. 1875 Lowell Spenser Prose Wks. 1890 IV. 277 A series of jolts and jars, proving that the language had run off the track. 1894 Times 14 July 7/2 The switchmen [in U.S.]..control the yards, the making up of the trains, and the freedom of the tracks.

b. A course prepared or laid out for racing, or the like: often in comb., as cinder-, race-, racing-, running-track.

1887 Field 20 Aug. 328/2 The six-lap grass track on which the above sports were held. 1912 Throne 7 Aug. 228/1 The..Italian sprinter Dorando..should..be seen frequently on the track at Metropolitan meetings.

7. Her. A longitudinal division of an ordinary or sub-ordinary, or in the representation of certain furs.

1868 Cussans Her. iii. 53 The Furs Vair, Countervair, Potent, and Counterpotent...They are usually represented as of four rows, heraldically termed Tracks. Ibid. iv. (1882) 67 A Bordure or other Ordinary composed of Metal and Colour alternately, is termed Company...If there be two Tracks, it is then said to be Counter-Company.

8. [from Track *v.*1] The action of tracking; the pursuit of a criminal or fugitive.

[1542–3 see Tract *sb.*2 10 b.] 1617 Carte Papers LXII. 48 The Track shalbee vndertaken within foure and twenty howres, after the goodes have bin stolne,..that the Inhabitants of that place, may have time to put the track forwardes.

9. Phrases. In one's tracks (U.S.), on the spot where one is at the moment; instantly, immediately. On the track (of), in pursuit of; also, having a trace of or clue to. To cover (up) a person's tracks, to conceal or screen his motions or measures. To keep track, to follow or grasp the course, progress, or sequence of; to keep account of; so to lose track of. To make (take) tracks (for), to make off, to make for; to go off quickly (orig. U.S.).

1835–40 Haliburton Clockm. (1862) 90 I'd a made him make tracks, I guess. 1843 R. Carlton New Purchase xvii. I. 130 The rifle was fired..and he fell dead in his tracks. 1866 Lowell Biglow P. II. Introd., Poems 1890 II. 189 In his tracks for immediately has acquired an American accent, and passes where he can for a native. 1871 Farrar With. Hist. ii. 49 Not on the false track of myths, artificially elaborated. 1878 Masque Poets 244 Whatever else he lacks, He has the art of covering up his tracks. 1883 Gilmour Mongols (1888) 251 The noise of the two crowds.. made it difficult to keep track of what was going on. 1886 Emma Marshall Tower on Cliff xii, The men are on the track. 1894 Outing (U. S.) XXIII. 387/1 Day after day passes in precisely the same manner..until one loses all track of the days of the week. 1902 Munsey's Mag. XXVI. 569/1 Theater-goers who have kept close track of the dramatic tastes of New York and London.

II. Used by confusion in senses of Tract *sb.*3 (Tract is very commonly pronounced dial. (track), and some of the senses are identical with those of track.)

†10. A feature, lineament, trait; = Tract *sb.*3 7. Sc. Obs. rare.

1513 Douglas Æneis XII. xiii. 135 And all elike wympplilit and cled thir trakis With eddris thrawin, and harls full of snakis. 1808–18 Jamieson, Track, feature, lineament.

11. An extent of land; also, a space of time, a period; also, † a sequence or succession of actions or events (obs.); cf. Tract *sb.*3 1 c, 2, 3.

1687 Burnet Trav. iii. (1750) 166 All the Way to Florence this Track of Hills continues, tho' there are several Bottoms. 1760–72 H. Brooke Fool of Qual. (1809) III. 43 Their conquest or seizure of any track of country. 1765 Museum Rust. IV. lxii. 268 Very large tracks, of two or three thousand acres. 1795 H. H. Hunter tr. St.-Pierre's Stud. Nat. (1799) I. 132 The track of land inundated was lower than the Ocean. 1835 I. Taylor Spir. Despot. iii. 91 During a much longer track of time. 1851 Jrnl. R. Agric. Soc. XII. i. 127 If a track of dry weather sets in. 1893, 1901 in Eng. Dial. Dict. (of weather). 1896 W. B. Wildman Hist. Sherborne i. 1 A track of country won for England from the West-Welsh.

†12. An attraction, enticement; = Tract *sb.*3 4. Obs. rare−1.

1673 O. Walker Educ. i. 6 Since we find great tracks and encouragements in the way of pleasure.

III. 13. attrib. and Comb., as track-chart, -cutting, -side; in sense 6 a (mainly U.S.), track-cleaner, construction, elevation, material; in 6 b, track athlete, athletics, event, -measuring, meeting, -racing sb. and adj., record; track-brake, a railway brake which acts by pressure directly against the rail; also, a device consisting of rails with curved ends, kept in position alongside the ordinary rails by springs, which by friction automatically retards a vehicle passing over them by compressing the flanges of the wheels; track-channeler, in quarrying, a groove-cutting tool mounted on a rail truck (Cent. Dict. Suppl. 1909); track-chisel, a plate-layer's hammer with a flat cutting peen (ibid.); track-clearer, a cross-bar carried immediately in front of the wheels of a locomotive or tram-car to push obstructions off the rails; also, a cow-catcher or snow-sweeper fixed in front of a locomotive; also, a wedge-shaped board fixed at the outer end of the cutter-bar of a reaping machine, which directs the swath to the cutters and leaves a clear track for the next passage of the machine; track-edge, the abrupt edge of a millstone furrow; track-harness (U.S.), light harness for trotting-races (Knight Dict. Mech. 1877); track-hound, a hound capable of following a track, a sleuth-hound; track-iron, Golf: see quot. 1908 and Iron sb. 4 e; track-layer, a man employed in laying or repairing a railway track, a plate-layer; also, a railway truck equipped with machinery for laying rails; so track-laying sb. and adj.; track-leveller, a railway truck having heavy projecting wings or shares which can be raised or lowered so as to level the ballast on a railway line as it is drawn along (Cent. Dict. Suppl. 1909); track-lifter, a wheeled frame or truck with powerful jaws for grasping the rails, and mechanism for getting a lifting purchase against the ground; used in levelling a railway line (Knight Dict. Mech. 1877); track-line, the line of a (former) track or path: see quot. 1889; track-man, a workman employed in the construction or maintenance of a railway or tramway; track-master, one who is responsible for the inspection and repair of a section of railway track (Cent. Dict. 1891); track-mile, a mile of 'track' or single line; hence track-mileage; track-rail, the rail on which the wheels run, as distinct from a guide-rail or the like; track-raiser, a jack for lifting sunken rails, a track-lifter; track-scale, a weigh-bridge for railway vehicles (Knight Dict. Mech. 1877); track-scraper, a snow-scraper attached to a railway car for clearing the line (Cent. Dict. Suppl. 1909); track-shoe, a track-brake shoe; track-sprinkler: see quot.; track-walker, a man employed to walk along and examine a certain length of railway track regularly; so track-walking; track-work, (a) the construction of a railway track or line; (b) action or use on a racing track. Also Trackway.

1888 Pall Mall G. 27 Aug. 14/1 The baseball and *track athletes graduated 34 per cent. of their number...In physical development..the crew men coming first, the base-ball players next, and track athletes last. 1890 W. Camp in Century Mag. June 204/2 The..games..generally classed under the term '*track athletics' are walking, running, jumping, bicycling, pole vaulting, throwing of weights, and tug-of-war contests. 1903 Science Abstracts VI. § B. 57 The Westinghouse-Newell *track brake...In this an electro-magnet..grips the rail with a pressure which may reach two tons. 1906 Westm. Gas. 29 Oct. 7/2 It seems to Colonel Yorke that the track brake can at its best only be regarded as a supplementary to the wheel brakes. 1900 Daily News 12 Nov. 8/5 With a view to minimising the amount of water used a large number of *track cleaners were employed [on the tramways]. 1877 Knight Dict. Mech., Track-clearer, (1) (Railway.) (a) A cow-catcher...(b) A track-sweeper to remove snow. (2) (Harvesting.) A triangular frame on the outer end of the cutter-bar of a mowing or reaping machine [etc.]. 1890 Goldfields of Victoria 227 *Track-cutting..enables parties to proceed into the jungle country, which would otherwise be unknown. 1894 Knight Dict. Mech. s. v. Furrow, The steep edge of the furrow [in a millstone] is called the *track-edge: the more inclined edge is called the feather-edge. 1888 Century Mag. May 42/2 Intending to return on the morrow with a good *track hound. 1883 Standard 16 Nov. 5/2 He..is ready with..the *track-iron [at golf]. 1908 Daily Chron. 3 Aug. 2/4 A collection of 'track' irons, round-headed with concave face, used fifty or sixty years ago to get the ball out of the cart tracks. 1877 Knight Dict. Mech., Track-layer, a carriage provided with apparatus for placing the rails in their proper positions..as the machine advances. 1888 Pall Mall G. 2 Nov. 7/2 The Provincial tracklayers by a ruse have got a locomotive across the Canadian Pacific Company's line, and are now carrying rails across and laying a new track to the north of that line. 1909 Lightkeeper June 14/2 The track-layer..is useful in making 'skid-roads', over which the heavy logs are hauled. 1884 Knight Dict. Mech. Suppl., *Track-laying machine. 1900 Engineering Mag. XIX. 797/2 Tracklaying by Machinery on the Canadian Pacific Ry. 1848 S. Rowe Peramb. Dartmoor 47 Greatly similar..are the *Tracklines, or Boundary Banks, which are invariably observed in connexion with aboriginal dwellings and sepulchral remains. 1889 Page Explor. Dartmoor iii. 43 Oftentimes low banks of earth and stone are observed among the traces of ancient settlements. These are tracklines. 1881 Chicago Times 30 Apr., *Track men are beginning now to make improvements on the road. 1893 Labour Commission Gloss., Trackmen, men who clean the groove of tramway rails with scoops, and when necessary sand or salt the track between the metals. 1902 Westm. Gas. 18 June 3/3 The engineers will ..refuse to run trains over a system not properly examined by trackmen. 1880 P. L. Sclater Jacamars & Puff-birds 75 In 1861 Mr. James M'Leannan, then *track-master of Lion-hill station on the Panama Railway, began to explore the dense tropical forests surrounding his abode. 1909 Q. Rev. Oct. 354 The actual *track-mileage of British railways is approximately 53,000 miles. 1896 Daily News 28 Dec. 5/4 One of the earliest and most notable of *tracking cyclists. 1877 Knight Dict. Mech., *Track-rail. 1902 Daily Chron. 18 Oct. 6/7 The tender for the supply of track rails and other accessories. 1908 Daily Chron. 6 May 5/2 Witness admitted that one of the magnetic *track shoes was useless. 1886 Stevenson Kidnapped i. He..lighted on a big boulder under a birch by the *trackside. 1850 Bartlett Dict. Amer. (ed. 3), Track-sprinkler, a contrivance for sprinkling railroad tracks, in order to lay the dust. 1890 Gildersleve Ess. & Stud. 127 The solitary *track-walker, who turns his lantern on every inch of the road. 1905 Westm. Gas. 14 Apr. 6/3 The usual precautions were taken..including a track-walker at every mile on the line. 1907 Daily Chron. 15 July 6/6 The total cost of the *track work from Aldgate to Bow is estimated at about £66,000, which works out at about £11,000 a mile of single track. 1909 Westm. Gas. 23 Feb. 4/2 To encourage young riders to come..and learn the use of their machines for track-work.

Track, *v.*1 [f. Track sb.; cf. F. traquer (*c*1440) f. trac.]

I. 1. trans. To follow up the track or footsteps of; to trace the course or movements of; to pursue by or as by the track left: with down, out, up, to follow up or trace until found or caught. Also fig.

1565 Calfhill Answ. Treat. Crosse 89 Ye may tracke hym by yᵉ foote. 1582 Stanyhurst Æneis II. (Arb.) 67 Soon fie, they doe track vs. Ibid. III 73 Track owt youre mootheᵗ. 1590 R. Payne Descr. Ire. (1841) 8 If you track any stolne goodes into any mans land, he must track them from him, or answer them within xl. daies. 1600 Holland Livy XXVII. xii. 636 Marcellus tracked him still, and followed him hard at heeles. 1662 J. Davies tr. Olearius' Voyr. Ambass. II. ii) b, Without which [Maps], it were impossible to track the Travellers through all those remote Countries. 1716 B. Church Hist. Philip's War (1867) II. 104 An Indian Soulder..track'd them by the blood about half a Mile. 1814 Wordsw. White Doe VII. 136 The White Doe tracked..The Lady to her dwelling-place. 1819 Scott Ivanhoe XXVIII, The misfortunes which track my footsteps like slot-hounds. 1834 Pringle Afr. Sk. viii. 298 The first point was to track the lion to his covert. 1871 R. Ellis Catullus xi. 10 Whether o'er high Alps he afoot ascending Track the long roods of a mighty Cæsar. 1874 Symonds Sk. Italy & Gr. (1898) I. xv. 315 The murderer..was at last tracked down and put to death.

b. To find out and follow (a track, course, etc.).

1681 Hickeringill Vind. Naked Truth II. 1, I am obliged to Track his Methods. 1799 Wordsw. Lucy Gray xii, Then downwards from the steep hills edge They tracked the footmarks small. 1888 Mrs. McCann Poet. Wks. 70 Through the lonely wilderness brave Howitt tracked his way.

c. intr. To follow up a track or trail.

1805 Pike Sources Mississ. (1810) 58 Not knowing how to track, we lost her. 1858 R. Pocock in Westm. Gas. 12 Sept. 8/2 Henceforth no offer of reward could induce the Indians to continue the hopeless search, and white men cannot track.

d. intr. Of the wheels of a vehicle: To run in the same track; hence of a gear-wheel, To be in alinement (with another wheel, etc.).

1826 Sporting Mag. XVIII. 390 The wheels had not tracked as they ought. 1838 [see tracking vbl. sb. below]. 1899 in Eng. Dial. Dict. v. v, The machine does not track nicely. 1898 H. Graves, etc. Cycling 70 Next inspect the frame for twists, and see that the wheels 'track'.

2. trans. To mark out, trace (a path); to indicate the path or course of; esp. to mark out (a path) by repeatedly traversing it; to mark (a way) with tracks; to trend, beat.

1589 [see tracked ppl. adj. below]. 1603 Drayton Bar.

Wars I. xxxii, When the straight Course to her Desire was tract [rimes act, lackt]. *a*1713 Ellwood Autobiog. Pref. (1765) 4 But also gain some Direction from the Path so fairly tract out. 1825 Jane Plumptre tr. Lichtenstein's S. Africa II. 76 The way was smooth and well tracked. 1869 Tozer High. Turkey I. 36 The Mendere..tracked through all its ..windings by the willow-trees on its banks.

b. To make one's way through; to traverse. To track the dancers, to go upstairs (slang); cf. quots. 1671, 1785 in 3.

1823 Scott Peveril xxx, His surprise..was increased by the rapidity and ease with which she seemed to track the dusky and decayed mazes of the dilapidated Savoy. 1898 Lytton What will he do iii. xvi, Come, my Hebe; track the dancers, that is, go up the stairs. 1871 Macduff Mem. Patmos xx. 275 When white-winged commerce is tracking... the highway of the nations.

c. To leave a track or trail of footprints upon (a floor); to make a track with (dirt or snow) carried on one's feet. U.S.

1869 Mrs. Stowe Oldtown Folks iii, 'Stand still there! 'she called to me..'and don't come in to track my floor'. 1878 — Pagiana P. i, Sweep out that snow you've tracked in.

d. To lay a track on or for (a railway); to furnish with a line of rails. Only in compounds, as to double-track, four-track, single-track. U.S.

1874 Bay State Transp. League, Bill (Boston, U.S.) 8 It will cost to single track the Massachusetts Central.. $3,000,000. It will cost to double track the same an additional $2,000,000.

3. intr. To follow a track or path; to make one's way, pass, go, travel. Now U.S. slang.

1590 Greene Never too late (1600) 1 Downe the valley gan he tracke, Bagge and buttle at his backe. 1671 [see Dancer 4]. 1676 Colie Dict., Track, to go. 1785 Grose Dict. Vulg. Tongue, to go into a high life or dancers, go up stairs (cant). 1897 Kipling Captains Courageous i, 'The West don't suit her. She just tracks around with the boy and her nerves, trying to find out what'll amuse him, I guess'.

b. Path. To make a track or path for itself; to find its way.

1903 Lancet 16 Apr. 1102/2 The effused blood had tracked down between the coats of the oesophagus into the wall of the stomach. 1905 H. D. Rolleston Dis. Liver 20 The resulting peritonitis unfortunately is rarely localized, and may then contain gas as well as pus, or track [intojpr. tract] up from perforation of an inflamed appendix.

II. Erroneously used for Tract v.[2]

† 4. trans. To put off, delay; = Tract v.[2] 2.

1524 Hen. VIII in Strype Eccl. Mem. (1721) I. App. xiii. 28 By delaies the matter was alwaies tracked, and put ever without any fruiteful determination.

Hence Tracked (also 6 tract, † trackt) ppl. a., Tra·cking vbl. sb. (also attrib.): in various senses of the vb.

1524 in Strype Eccl. Mem. (1721) I. App. xiii. 30 The delaying and tracking of this matter may do moche harme. 1589 Nashe Anat. Absurd. Wks. (Grosart) I. 32 The tract path of theyr treachrie. 1693 R. Robinson Christ all ii. (1656) 28 It's a trackt way. Prophets, Apostles..have by their walking made this way smooth and even. 1838 Arcana of Science 49 The friction arising from the unequal tracking of ordinary carriages is avoided. 1888 in Times 13 Oct. 7/6 Testing their [bloodhounds'] tracking powers. 1894 H. Nisbet Bush Girl's Rom. 49 The tracking down of escaped convicts and bushrangers. 1895 Wood-Martin Pagan Ireland 400 Devil's tracks of quartzite, which score, as the North of Ireland..are styled 'tracked-stones'. 1902 Daily Record & Mail 7 Oct. 4 Tracked pathways have long ago given place to good roads. 1904 Westm. Gaz. 30 Sept. 10/2 The double tracking of the line from coast to coast will be completed in a few years. 1908 Daily Chron. 28 Aug. 7/4 Tracking dogs are kept in readiness at certain centres.

Track, v.[2] [app. ad. Du. trekken to draw, pull, tug, drag, tow (see Trek), assimilated in form to Tract v.[1]] trans. To tow (a vessel), esp. from the bank or tow-path. Also absol. Cf. Tract v.[2] 1.

1727 Hamilton New Acc. E. Indies II. xxxiv. 21 They [vessels] come down..before the Stream of the River, but they are obliged to track them up again, with Strength of Hand, about 1000 Miles. 1769 Falconer Dict. Marine (1780), Chenilo de halaqe, a path on the side of a river, or canal, for horses to track..vessels along the stream. 1817 Chron. in Ann. Reg. 101/2 The Hug, tracks these vessels between Leith and Grangemouth. 1856 Kane Arct. Expl. I. iv. 41 They can generally find room to track their vessels along its solid margin. 1887 J. Dixon Gt. Waterfalls 165 They made their way..through miles of rapids, over which they were tracked, poled, rowed, and portaged.

b. intr. To proceed by towing. Said of a boat or of those in it.

1854 Milman Lat. Chr. iv. v. (1864) II. 304 They tracked in their boats along some of the rivers. 1882 A. E. Moule Chinese Stor. v. 74 Our boat tracked slowly against the stream. 1888 C. D. Bell Winter on Nile viii. (1889) 83 You may have to 'track' at a slow pace.

Hence Tra·cking vbl. sb. (also attrib.) and ppl. a.; also Tra·ckable a., such as to admit of tracking or towing.

1859 Darwin Ori. Nat. ix. (1876) 178 The party..was divided into two spells, each of which hauled at the tracking line alternately. 1849 E. B. Eastwick Dry Leaves 24 Boats are got up against the stream chiefly by tracking, being towed by the crew. 1853 Kane Grinnell Exp. xiii (1856) 88 Enlarging it (a crevice) into a 'trackable' canal. 1873 Routledge's Yng. Gentl. Mag. Aug. 524 The channel was too wide to permit of 'tracking', as it is called in Arctic language—that is, towing with ropes along a margin of ice.

Track-, stem of Track v.[2], in comb. (after Du. trek-) -tauw-, drag-, tow-, similarly used in trek-hoord, -lijn, -schuit, etc.), as track-barge, -line, -path, -road, -rope; see also Track-boat.

1795 Track-barge [see Track-boat]. 1856 Kane Arctic Expl. I. x. 112 Each man had..his own 'track-line. 1839 Civil Eng. & Arch. Jrnl. II. 221/1 A 'track-path to be formed upon the slope of the deep cutting at Laggon. 1828 Webster, Track-road*, a towing-path. Cyc. 1816 Tuckey Narr. Exped. R. Zaire iv. (1818) 143 With the aid of oars, and a 'track rope at times, [we] got the boats up. 1864 Carlyle Frederk. Gt. xvii. vii. 7. 589 By oar and track-rope.

Trackage[1] (tra·kędʒ). [f. Track v.[2] + -age.] The action or process of tracking or towing, or fact of being tracked; towage, haulage.

1820 Blackw. Mag. VII. 436 In the Caledonian Canal,.. much animal or steam power will be saved, in trackage. 1826 J. Adamson Sk. Inform. Railroads 39 With such prodigious powers of locomotion and trackage.

Tra·ckage[2], U.S. [f. Track sb.[1] 6 a + -age.] The tracks or lines of a railway system collectively. Also attrib. trackage charge, charge made for the use of a railway line by another company.

1884 Morning Herald (Reading, Pa.) 17 Apr., Our general agent has, therefore, advanced this trackage charge. 1888 Science 27 July 46/2 The total trackage is twelve miles, the equipment is forty cars. 1894 Times 24 July 7/6 Our railroads have about 170,000 miles of trackage and 1,000,000 of employés.

Tra·ck-boat. [f. Track- vb.-stem + Boat.] A boat which is tracked or towed; a tow-boat. (Originally Sc., rendering Du. trek-schuit.)

1632 Sc. Acts Chas. I (1890) V. 243/2 Also thair Trakboats, boats, coyrnes, shippes none or lesse..Sall not be arrested. 1795 J. Phillips Hist. Inland Navig. 320 The public opening of the..navigation from sea to sea was made by the sailing of a track-barge...In the course of the voyage..the track-boat passed along..the great aqueduct over the river Kelvin. 1808-18 Jamieson, Track-boat, a boat used on a canal. 1824 in Sidney Life R. Hill (1834) 308 Mr. Hill went to Glasgow by the track boat, embarking at Grangemouth. 1908 Westm. Gaz. 27 Oct. 6/3 The journey was made by P. and O. steamer to Alexandria (sixteen days), thence in a track boat towed by tugs or horses to Atfeh (forty-eight miles along the Mahmoudieh Canal), thence by Nile steamer 200 miles to Boulac.

Track-brake to -edge: see Track sb. 13.

Tracker[1] (tra·kəɹ). [f. Track v.[1] + -er.] One who or that which tracks; one skilled in following a track or trail. In quot. a 1632, one who follows or walks in a path (obs.).

Black tracker, an Australian native employed by the government to track criminals.

1617 Carte Papers LXII. 438 If anie knowne Trackers bee vpon the trackes, the same trackers vpon reasonable hire of the seuerall townes, shall followe the track vnto the end. a 1632 G. Herbert Country Parson xi. (1652) 51 The Country Parson, who is a diligent observer, and tracker of Gods ways. 1640 Brome Sparagus Gard. iii. iv, He..followes pretty feet and insteps like a hare tracker. 1810 Scott Lady of L. i. iv, The trackers of the deer. 1862 Melbourne Leader 5 July, The black trackers could only discover the tracks of six horsemen. 1904 Blackw. Mag. Nov. 674/2 The bloodhound is a wonderful tracker.

Tra·cker[2], [f. Track v.[2]; cf. Du. trekker.]

1. One who tracks or tows a vessel; a tower; also, a towing-vessel, a tugboat.

1791-1823 Disraeli Cur. Lit. (1859) II. 143 The severe labour of the trackers, in China, is accompanied with a song. 1809 Ann. Reg. 101/1 A Company in Leith have equipped a powerful steam-vessel, or tracker. 1864 Rawlinson Anc. Mon. II. vii. 174 As there was no room for rowers, trackers were engaged, who dragged the boat along by means of ropes. 1894 Chiming (U. S.) XXIV. 363/2 We were awakened by the loud cries of the many trackers, making ready to draw the junks through the swift waters.

2. Organ-building. A strip or rod of wood forming part of the connexion between the key and the pallet, and exerting a pulling action: cf. Sticker.

1843 Civil Eng. & Arch. Jrnl. VI. 108/1 The machinery of the organ is as very extensive, that trackers, if placed in one line, would measure more than 5 miles. 1881 W. E. Dickson Organ-Build. viii. 95 Tracker. A flat riband of pine..Trackers..are now frequently slender round rods. 1887 W. S. Pratt in Gladden Parish Problems 435 The keys and stops operate an involved net-work of trackers, slides, rollers, levers, springs, and valves.

b. attrib., as tracker-action, -wire, -work.

1904 Athenæum 12 Nov. 666/1 Our author adds that the "tracker action" is dispensed with. 1910 Times 10 Dec. 13/5 To have the organ taken down with the substitution of pneumatic action for the old 'tracker' action. 1852 Seidel Organ 64 Below the back end of the keys..the sling of a 'tracker' wire is secured. 1878 E. J. Hopkins in Grove Dict. Mus. I. 485/1 If in *tracker-work..the total alteration amounts to no more than one eighth of an inch.

Trackless (tra·kles), a. [f. Track sb. + -less.] Without a track or path; pathless; not marked by a track; untrodden.

1656 Cowley Pind. Odes, Muse ii, Where Bird..did ne're Row through the trackless Ocean of the Air. 1708 Brit. Apollo No. 53. 3/2 A trackless Labyrinth of woe. 1801 Strutt Sports & Past. Introd. § 44 The recesses of a trackless wilderness. 1878 Lucky Eng. in 18th C. II. v. 66 The soldiers were easily, bewildered in the trackless mountains.

b. Leaving no track or trace.

1695 Blackmore Pr. Arth. v. 638 Then thro' the Heavn's their trackless Flight they take. 1864 [implied in Trackless]. 1890 'Borderwood' Col. Reformer (1892) 426 His yacht..could sweep out unchallenged and trackless as the falcon. 1907 C. C. Brown China in Leg. & Story ii. 33 Its gray slabs worn by trackless feet, as the centuries went on.

c. Not running on a track or line of rails, while propelled by electric power from overhead conductors.

1909 Westm. Gaz. 22 Sept. 8/1 Leeds is now assured of a system of trackless trams. Ibid., A splendid system of tramways, both trackless and otherwise.

Hence Tra·cklessly adv., Tra·cklessness.

1849 Webster, Tracklessly, Tracklessness. 1864 Lowell Fireside Trav. 269 The cloud-shadows melted tracklessly toward the hills. 1868 Geo. Eliot Sp. Gipsy i. 83 Shall then pass away Like wind upon the waters, tracklessly.

Track-leveller to -mile: see Track sb. 13.

Track-line: see Track sb. 13, and Track-.

Track-path, -road, -rope: see Track-.

Track-rail to -scraper: see Track sb. 13.

Track-schuyt, -scoot, -scout, -skuit, anglicized forms of Trekschuit.

Track-shoe to -walking: see Track sb. 13.

Trackway (tra·kwēi). [f. Track sb. + Way.]

1. A path beaten by the feet of passers, a track; also, an ancient British roadway, a ridgeway.

1818 Kirby & Sp. Entomol. II. 98 Gould, speaking of his jet-ant (Formica fuliginosa), says that they make several main track-ways, (streets he calls them,) with smaller paths striking off from them, extending sometimes to the distance of forty feet from their nest. 1826 W. A. Miles Deverel Barrow 8 The line of hill, south of Maiden-Castle, near Dorchester, where the British trackway runs for many miles. 1848 S. Rowe Perquisit. Dorchester 45 Trackways, under which designation those roads, or causeways, which cross the moor in various directions are generally known. 1891 T. Hardy Tess xi, They were no longer on hard road, but in a trackway.

2. a. A tramway. b. A railway (Funk's Stand. Dict. 1895).

1858 Simmonds Dict. Trade, Track-way, a tram-road.

3. [f. Track-.] A towing-path.

1873 Act 36 & 37 Vict. c. 34 Preamble, Any towing path and trackway on the bank of any navigable river.

Track-work: see Track sb. 13.

Tract (trækt), sb.[1] Also 5-6 tracte. [App. abbreviated from L. tractātus Tractate; not in any other lang.]

I. † 1. Literary treatment or discussion. Obs. rare.

In some instances difficult to separate from sense 2.

[1432-50: see 2.] 1577 Hanmer Anc. Eccl. Hist. (1619) 245 It was our part to comprise in few words such things as required a severall tract. 1659 Br. Walton Consid. Considered 14 They do assert and prove the plain plenary, and that not obiter, or by the by, but ex professo, in full tracts.

2. A book or written work treating of some particular topic; a treatise; a written or printed discourse or dissertation: = Tractate sb. 1. Now rare in general sense.

Formerly often applied to what would now be called 'books'.

1432-50 tr. Higden (Rolls) II. 257 For cause that a generalle tracte [L. tractatus generalis] Trevisa, treytyis fil and general] of the iiij. principalle realmes afore seide.., dothe require a large processe. Ibid. III. 219 The philosophres that were diuines..labored and made tractes of God [L. de Deo tractaverunt] Trevisa, pei treted of God]. 1577 Hanmer Anc. Eccl. Hist. (1663) 84 This present Tract of mine is not made for any ostentation. 1614 Raleigh Hist. World II. (1634) 340 Palastina it selfe is but a Province, as I have noted in the beginning of this Tract. a 1687 Pale Prim. Orig. Man. 1. iii. 6 The scope and end of my business in this Tract. 1825 M'Culloch Pol. Econ. 1. 38 In the course of the seventeenth century, a more than usual number of tracts were published on economical subjects. 1845 — Taxation iv. iv. (1854) 182 Mr. Howlett.. has made some statements in his valuable tract on tithe.

b. Applied to a division of a book or literary work, treating of a separate subject or branch. rare.

1662 Stillingfl. Orig. Sacr. I. iii. § 3 Three books they tell us of, which Zoroast received by Revelation, or rather one book, consisting of three severall tracts, whereof the first [etc.]. 1891 J. E. H. Thomson Bks. which influenced our Lord I. x. 277 The Mishna is divided into six sections, each of these into ten tracts on an average, or sixty-one in all.

3. In later use: A short pamphlet on some religious, political, or other topic, suitable for distribution or for purposes of propaganda.

[1762 Gentl. Mag. Nov. 545/2 This little tract affords prescriptions for the soul.] 1806, 1816 [see c]. 1848 Thackeray Van. Fair lx, Whose sister, Lady Emily, wrote those sweet tracts, 'The Sailor's True Binnacle', and 'The Applewoman of Finchley Common'. 1851 Spalding Life Jeffrey (1879) I. ix. 237 The barbarians..got into their addle pates that we were emissaries of Mazzini and Co. distributing political tracts. 1866 G. Macdonald Ann. Q. Neight. xxx, Whether he only distributes tracts with condescending words. 1885 G. Meredith Diana xviii, Am I really as dull as a tract, my dear? 1911 A. R. Buckland in Encycl. Brit. XXVII. 177/2 A tract is understood to be brief and rather argumentative than educational. Mod. The British Museum library contains an immense collection of Civil War tracts.

b. Tracts for the Times: the title of a series of pamphlets on theological and ecclesiastical topics (known also as the Oxford Tracts, or simply the Tracts) started by J. H. Newman, and published at Oxford 1833–1841, on the doctrines of which the Tractarian movement was based.

The earlier of these were, in accordance with their title, brief pamphlets; but some of the latter, e.g. that of Pusey on Baptism, were extended treatises, tracts in sense 2. The aim of the series was 'to arrest the advance of Liberalism in religious thought, and to revive' what the writers held to be 'the true conception of the relation of the Church of England to the Catholic Church at large' (Chevasse's Guide). The last Tract, No. 90, by J. H. Newman, 'On Certain Passages in the XXXIX Articles', called forth a storm of reprobation; at the instance of Four Tutors, the Heads of the Oxford Colleges pronounced censure upon the author', and at the request of the Bishop of Oxford the publication of the Tracts ceased. In the sequel, many who sympathized with the teaching of the Tracts (including at length Newman himself) seceded to the Church of Rome.

1834 (title) Tracts for the Times. By Members of the University of Oxford. 1868 SIR T. COLERIDGE Mem. Keble xii. (1870) 276 It was Mr. Benson..who gave the authors and favourers of the Tracts the perfectly inoffensive name of Tractarian. 1881 FROUDE Short Stud. Ser. iv. (1883) 175 These were the views which now sympathized with the Tracts were first beginning. 1893 LIDDON, etc. Life Pusey I. xii. 277 The first Tracts are dated at the beginning of September (1833). They were generally short, several keeping within the suggested limit of four pages; they were chiefly concerned with the constitution, ordinances, and services of the Church.

c. attrib. and Comb., as (in sense 3) tract-distributing adj., distribution, -led adj., society; (in sense 3 b, with capital T) Tract divine, doctrine, man, movement, system, -writer.

1806 W. L. BOWLES Benwell Hill ii. 560 The tract-led Miss, Who trots to every Bethel club. 1816 (Quin) Grand Master viii. Augt. 18 Let them, if they perceive impiety, Transmit it to the Tract Society. 1841 S. WILBERFORCE Let. 30 Mar., in Ashwell Life I. vi. 227 You know my dread of the 'Tract' doctrine of Reserve. 1843 Chr. Lady's Mag. XX. 121 The opinions of Oxford-tract men.. upon the divine efficacy of Sacraments. Ibid. 271 The pernicious errors broached.., by the Tract-writers of Oxford. 1846 D. WILSON Exp. Lect. Col. ii. 20 note, The Tract divines add to the divine essentials required in the XIXth article a fourth. 1869 W. P. MACKAY Grace & Truth (1875) 43 Tract-distributors and pick-pockets. 1882a OLIVER, etc., in this sense the word is frequently adjectivally used; as, tract society.. tract distribution, etc. 1893 LIDDON, etc. Life Pusey I. xii. 444 It was natural for the Tract-writers to honour the Fathers of the Church.

II. †4. a. Negotiation, treating; a treaty. (Cf. TRACTATE sb. 2.) b. Trade, trafic [cf. Pg. trato dealing, trade]. Obs. rare.

1501 in Lett. Rich. III & H.n VII (Rolls) I. 123 The kings majestie had sent to him on his seal for tract of pais bytwixt his grace and H. 1502 Ibid. 147 A tracte of accorde. 1582 N. LICHEFIELD tr. Castanheda's Conq. E. Ind. i. 1. 3 They had beene in the Cayro, and understoode there much newes of Ormuse, and of theyr tract had with and into the Indies.

Tract, sb.[2] R. C. Ch. Also 4–5 tracte, 5 tratt. [ad. med.L. TRACTUS, q. v. (In Fr. trait.)] An anthem consisting of verses of Scripture, usually from the Psalms, sung instead of the Alleluia in the mass from Septuagesima till Easter Eve.

1387 TREVISA Higden (Rolls) VII. 145 When forsobe it was comen toward pe tracte [L. Cum autem ad versum tractus ventum fuisset] in whiche is songen, Salitate quoniam Dominus ipse est Deus. c 1450 in Aungier Syon (1840) 327 From septuagesym in to ester thys tracte Gaude Maria schal be songe at lectren. 1483 CAXTON Gold. Leg. 422/1 Gelasyus and Gregory added thereto collettis and sange to the lessons and gospellys graylles tracte and alleluya. 1483 Cath. Angl. 391/1 A Tracte (A. A Tratt), sistema, tractus. 1546 LANGLEY Pol. Verg. De Inuent. v. viii. 108 b, The Tract Iturnodus saieth was deuysed by Telephorus. 1624 DARCIE Birth of Heresies xviii. 74 In stead of which Alleluia is sung another song called a tract, with a loud voice, and a protracted note, in a grauie kind of Musicke. 1869 C. WALKER Ritual Reason Why 155 These were called the Tract, from being drawn out (tractus) to a mournful cadence. 1877 J. D. CHAMBERS Div. Worship 331 The Tract was usually a mournful Psalm, or part of a Psalm.

Tract (trækt), sb.[3] Also 5–7 tracte, 6 trackte, 6–7 trackt. [ad. L. tract-us (u-stem), a drawing, dragging, pulling, trailing; a train, track, course, a tract of space or time, course, progress, duration, protraction, f. ppl. stem of trahère to draw, drag. In certain senses, this word fell together with TRACE sb.[1] and TRACK sb., and was sometimes even used in the senses of these words; in others it corresponds with the cognate F. trait, OF. traict, also tract :—L. tractus.]

I. †1. The drawing out, duration, continuance, process, passing, or lapse of time; the course of time. Cf. L. tractus temporum, F. trait de temps.

1494 FABYAN Chron. III. lvi. 36 This in tracte of tyme made hym welthy. 1575 FENTON Gold. Ep. (1577) 6 As tracte of time carryeth with it a lawe of forgetfulnesse of things past. 1651 N. BACON Disc. Govern. ii. xxxv. 209 The reasons now in tract were of short continuance. 1658 ROWLAND Moufet's Theat. Ins. 946 We conclude this art..to be very ancient, and derived to us by long tract of time. 1676 HALE Contempl. i. 294 In the tract of long life a man is sure to meet with more sickness. a 1792 NORTH Exam. i. ii. § 30 (1740) 45 Which being perpetually inculcated, in the Tract of a few Years, created in the People prodigious Resentments.

† b. Protraction (of time), deferring, putting off, dilatory proceeding, delay. (Cf. TRACT v.[2] 2.)

1503–4 Act 19 Hen. VII, c. 28 Preamble, By whiche longe tracte of tyme the seid sueters..shalde be disconforted. 1523 WOLSEY in Fiddes Life xi. (1726) 76 That no tract or delay be used therein. 1600 HOLLAND Livy xxx. xvi. 751 They sought for nothing else but delaies and tract of time.

c. A space or extent of time, a period. (In later use regarded as transf. from 3.)

1494 FABYAN Chron. v. cii. 76 Theodebertus..of his..vncles was greuously warred by longe tracte of tyme. 1534 WOLSEY in Strype Eccl. Mem. (1721) I iv. 53 Considering the tract of time that is requisite. a 1548 HALL Chron., Hen. V 60 This short tyme and smal tract of my mortal life. 1615 G. SANDYS Trav. 143 A tract of three hundred sixty and foure yeares. 1799 J. ROBERTSON Agric. Perth 269 Waiting for a long tract of serene weather, which may not come. 1850 TENNYSON In Mem. xlvi. 9 A lifelong tract of time reveal'd. 1853 MAURICE Proph. & Kings iii. 43 Utterly unlike and separated by tracts of time and space. 1865 PALGRAVE Hymn, 'Thou sayest, Take up thy cross' iii, Dim tracts of time divide Those golden days from me.

2. The continuance or continued duration of some action or state; the course or continuity of a narrative, etc.; a continued series. Now rare or Obs.

1581 SIDNEY Apol. Poetrie (Arb.) 65 The whole tract of a Comedy, shoulde be full of delight. 1599 SANDYS Europæ Spec. (1632) 178 Yet tract of affliction, much misery, often over-reaching by subtility of adversaries, doth finally purge out those grosse-witted humours. 1632 LITHGOW Trav. ix. 407 They had wrot the whole tract of his abominable vices to the Emperour. 1661 FELTHAM Resolves ii. lxviii. 307, I do not remember that we read the name of either Dice or Gaming in the tract of either Scripture. 1679 Lauderdale Papers (Camden) 261 A long continued tract of violence and oppressione upon us. 1732 MACFARLANE General Collec. (1900) 310 He caused Apprehend and Execute at Crief for a train and tract of Depredations Maccabertus Strowanus. 1773 ERSKINE Inst. Laws Scotl. i. i. § 47 An uniform tract of decisions of the court of session..is.. accounted as part of our customary law. 1858 CARLYLE Frederk. Gr. iv. ii. (1872) III. 73 Perhaps a sudden tract of good fortune..would have made me too proud.

3. A stretch or extent of territory, etc.; a space or expanse of land (more rarely, of water, air, etc.); a region, district. Cf. L. tractus.

1553 EDEN Treat. Newe Ind. (Arb.) 8 The narrowe tracte of the Sea. by the coastes of Scandalie. 1610 HOLLAND Camden's Brit. (1637) 118 All the Northerne tract of Britaine. 1654 EARL MONM. tr. Bentivoglio's Warrs Flanders 73 The Ocean first washing the said two Provinces for a long tracke of ground. 1725 DE FOE Voy. round World (1840) 26 This vast tract of land. 1776 TOPLADY Hymn, 'Rock of ages' iv, When I soar through tracts unknown. 1814 CHALMERS Evid. Chr. Revel. x. 278 Those remote tracts beyond the limits of our astronomy. 1834–5 J. FERRIER Orig. in Encycl. Metrop. VI. 564/2 The first central plateau..is chiefly a granitic and porphyritic tract. 1886 STEVENSON Kidnapped 120, I spied a tract of water.. which..looked white all over.

fig. 1870 CHALMERS Astron. Disc. iii. (1852) 88 We do think that this days open a very interesting tract..of most legitimate and sober-minded speculation. 1902 F. W. H. MYERS Wordsworth viii, 60 Large tracts of it [the Excursion] have little claim to the name of poetry.

b. Nat. Hist., etc. A region or area of some natural structure, as a mineral formation, or the body of an animal or plant; most commonly one extending longitudinally (cf. 8).

spec. (a) Anat. The whole extent of an organ or system of organs, as the alimentary or digestive tract, or a continuous longitudinal structure, such as one strand or division of a nerve-cord; esp. applied to particular regions of the brain or spinal cord, as the olfactory, optic, pyramidal, etc. tracts. (b) Ornith. A feathered area of the skin of a bird (= PTERYLA), as distinguished from a featherless space.

1814 PINKERTON Petrology II. 242 This pumice..commonly lies in long tracts, in the direction of which its vesicles are sometimes lengthened. 1841–71 T. R. JONES Anim. Kingd. (ed. 4) 437 The probable existence..of distinct tracts of nervous matter in the composition of the cerebral chain of ganglia. 1867 Feather-tracts [see PTERYLA]. 1879 St. George's Hosp. Rep. IX. 127 General congestion of the alimentary tract. 1894 NEWTON Dict. Birds s. v. Pterylosis, The primal pterylæ or featured tracts are as follows:— (1) Spinal tract...(2) Ventral tract...(3) Neck-tract [etc.].

attrib. 1899 Allbutt's Syst. Med. VI. 535 The tract fibres of each side must be connected with the anterior cornua on both sides. Ibid. VII. 77 An instance in which a tract degeneration was established.

II. †4. The action of drawing or pulling (in quots. fig.); attraction. Obs. rare.

1616 B. JONSON Devil an Ass ii. ii, He'll ne'r owne mee, But I am taken! the fine tract of it Pulls mee along! 1620 J. PYNE tr. Frist. Astræa i. viii. 226 She could feele the tracts of Loue.

† 5. Drawing, or tracing (of lines). Obs. rare.

1677 GILPIN Demonol. (1867) 22 Lines and figures are better known from mathematical instruction, than by their bare tract as written in dust. 1688 R. HOLME Armoury i. 19/2 The Ordinaries are made, and formed of Lines diversly composed; And according to the divers Tracts and Forms, of those said Lines, they do receive a divers Shape and variation of Names.

III. A material line drawn: = F. trait (see TRAIT).

† 6. Her.: (a) = TRESSURE; (b) = TRACK sb. 7.

1486 Bk. St. Albans, Her. e vj b, Off tractys in armys. Afore it is sayd of borduris in armys, now it foloswith to se of tractis or lynys, and first of a sympple tract; and they be calde tractis for as mycch as the felde remaynyng of thaymys as ye seith in as with owte, & another lyne is drawyn of an other colowre..to the manner of a shelde. Ibid., He berith asure a playn tract of golde. Ibid. e vij, Thys tract is other wyle dowbull as in tharmys of the kyng of Sootteland. 1610 GUILLIM Heraldry i. v. 17 When the Field and the Circumference or Tract about the same,..be both of one metall, colour or furre, then shall you not terme it a bordure. Ibid. ii. vii. 66, I purpose to present to your view a Threefold Orle or Tract, which doth include the twofold.

† 7. A lineament, a feature; = TRAIT 4, 5. Obs.

1606 SYLVESTER Du Bartas ii. iv. 1. Trophites 1201 Th' admired Tracts of a bewitching Face. 1632 LITHGOW Trav. i. 24 Like to the heauenly tract and resemblance of our blessed Saulour. 1715 tr. C'tess D'Aunoy's Wits. 293 His Hair brown, his Tracts all regular, his Teeth fine. 1775 C. JOHNSTON Pilgrim 126 To account for some tracts in their national character.

IV. Senses approaching or coinciding with those of TRACK and TRACE.

8. Course, path, way, route; with of or possessive, the course or path traversed by a person, animal, or moving object: = TRACK sb. 3, 4. Now rare or Obs.: usually expressed by track.

(In quot. 1799, applied to a course or channel for water.)

1555 EDEN Decades 235 Vnderstanding..that if I shulde sayle by the way of the northwest wynde, I shulde by a shorter tracte coomme to India [ed.] 1616 W. FOXE Serm. 28 Like a bird in the aire, whose tract the aire closeth. 1665 SIR T. HERBERT Trav. (1677) 170 A loose and flying sand, ..accumulated into such heaps as upon any great wind the tract is lost, and passengers (too oft) overwhelmed and stifled. 1726 SHELVOCKE Voy. round World 201 In the tract of the Manila ship. 1798 CHARLOTTE SMITH Ymg. Philo. II. 279 Perceiving that in the lane was certainly the most beaten tract, I hurried along it. 1799 J. ROBERTSON Agric. Perth 302 When the tract for conveying the water has been once made with judgment, it may remain for centuries. 1823 F. COOPER Pioneers v, The tract for the sleighs was much more limited. 1843 NICHOLSON Hist. & Trad. Tales 296, I..will pursue his tract no longer. 1865 ALEX. SMITH Summ. Skye (1880) 143 In Skye one is every now and again coming on the tract of the distinguished travellers.

9. fig. Course (of action, etc.); manner of proceeding, way, path: = TRACK sb. 5. rare or Obs.

1566 PAINTER Pal. Pleas. I. Pref. 8 The other prescribeth a directe pathe to treade the tracte of this present life. 1582 LAMBARDE Eiren. iv. ii. (1588) 125 In the Commission of the Peace, they are both conuicted vnder the one tracte of speach. 1612 DRAYTON Poly-olb. Pref. A.j, A Poeme.. whose vnusual tract may perhaps seeme difficult, to the female Sex. 1632 J. FEAVIN Rem. Classi. 19 Let it suffice that I walke in the vulgar tract, and diuide sense only into originall and actuall. 1677 HALE Contempl. ii. 25 In the same path and tract which leads us to Glorifie God, which is our Duty. 1752 HUME Ess. & Treat. (1777) II. 23 Any particular thought which breaks in upon the regular tract, or chain of ideas. 1834 H. MILLER Scenes & Leg. xxvii. (1857) 304 Men..who, seeing nothing very knowing in simple honesty, exert their ingenuity in the opposite tract.

10. A mark or impression marking the course of a person, animal, or thing; a footprint, trail: = TRACK sb.[1] 4, 5: cf. TRACE sb.[1] 1. Now rare or Obs.; usually expressed by track.

a 1547 SURREY Æneid iv. 990 A blusing steere, dragging a brand of flame..By a long tract appointing us the way. 1565 JEWEL Repl. Harding (1611) 151 There appeared.. the very tracts and steps of Christs feet. 1585 HIGINS Junius Nomencl. 390/2 Orbita, the wayne, tract, or furrowe of a cart wheele. 1595 Blanchardyn v. B j b, He had not ridden long, but he perceiued the tracktes & footsteps of a horse. 1607 SHAKS. Timon i. i. 50 But files an Eagle flight ..Leauing no tract behinde. 1622 GUILLIM Heraldry viii. xiv. (ed. 2) 175 Termes of footing or treading..That of a Fallow Deere [or] Boare is termed Tract or Treading. 1709 DAMPIER Voy. III. ii. 35, I saw the Tract of an Alligator here. 1807 in Caldwell Life Sandw. (1887) II. 143 There was only one waggon tract along the lane. 1857 H. MILLER Test. Rocks xi. 435, I was struck..to see how nearly the tract of a small shore crab along the wet sand, resembled them.

† b. = TRACK sb. 8. Obs.

1542–3 Act 34 & 35 Hen. VIII, c. 26 § 47 If any goodes ..be stolen...thenne upon suite therof hadde and made, the tracte shalbe followed from Towneshipp to Towneship.

† 11. A mark remaining where something has been; an indication, vestige (lit. or fig.): = TRACE sb.[1] 6. Obs.

1583 GOLDING Calvin on Deut. clxviii. 1040 Wee shall be handled with such rigour as shall make all them to tremble which see but the tracts thereof. 1610 HOLLAND Camden's Brit. (1637) 281 Walles, which, as men may see by their tract, tooke up a mile in circuit. 1615 G. SANDYS Trav. 225 But no tract thereof (of the Labyrinth) remained in the days of Pliny. 1646 SIR T. BROWNE Pseud. Ep. I. x. 37 To obscure the diviner part, and efface all tract of its traduction. 1698 J. CREIR Musicony 57 The Ruins appear now in some places six foot high,..the Tract being quite lost in others.

† Tract, v.[1] Obs. [ad. L. tractāre to handle, transact, manage, discuss, treat, freq. of trahère to draw. Cf. F. traiter, OF. traicter, rarely tracter, to manage, TREAT (Godef.).]

1. trans. To negotiate: = TREAT v. 1 b.

1508 in Lett. Rich. III & Hen. VII (Rolls) I. 451 The [love and kindnes] that have been used in the tracting of our said marriage.

2. To deal with in speech or writing; to discuss or discourse (trans., or intr. with of): = TREAT v. 2, 2 b.

1540 St. Papers Hen. VIII, II. 149 Whiche thinge is not to be tracted, or retracted, till the Parliament. 1558 BULLOKE, Tract or treat of, tracto. 1588 A. KING tr. Canisius' Catech. 60 The sacraments..haue one verray highe place in Christiane doctrine, and are meaueilous to be tracted of. 1607 TOPSELL Fourf. Beasts (1658) 396 Of all which kinde of traps shall be severally tracted: And first of all those which do catch Mice alive. a 1637 B. JONSON tr. Horace's Art of Poetry 202 The man, who..Saw many towns and men, and could their manners tract.

3. trans. To behave towards: = TREAT v. 7.

a 1548 HALL Chron., Hen. IV 25 b, The Erle..so gently and familiarly used and tracted the vulgare people. Ibid., Rich. III 46 b, Nothinge contented that the erle of Richmonde was in his dominion so vncurteously tracted and entreated.

† Tract, v.[2] Obs. [f. L. tract-, ppl. stem of trahère to draw; cf. attract, contract, extract, etc. f. ppl. stem. In some uses associated with TRACK v.[1] and TRACK v.[1] and 2.]

I. 1. trans. To draw, pull along, haul, tow. (Superseded by TRACK v.[1])

1523 in 20th Rep. Hist. MSS. Comm. App. v. 328 All..

goods and marchandis as shalbe labored, tracted, and adventured by ony of the iuhabitants of this citie..oute of the haven and porte of the same, into ony where else. 1727 A. HAMILTON New Acc. E. Ind. I. xi. 123 To carry a great Number of Men for tracting them up against the Stream, when the Winds are against them. 1769 FALCONER Dict. Marine (1789) s.v. Tract-scout [= Du. trekschuit], It is usually tracted by a horse. 1769 [see tracting below].

2. To lengthen out, prolong, protract (time); to spend or waste in delay; to delay, put off.

1527 KNIGHT in Pocock Rec. Ref. I. xxviii. 57 The rivers not being always passable he hath of necessity tracted the time. 1529 in Froude Hist. Eng. (1856) I. iii. 192 The causes depending..may..be in such wise tracted and delayed, as your subjects suing in the same shall be put to unpaitiable charges. 1579-80 NORTH Plutarch (1595) 606 He tracted time, & gaue them leisure to prepare to encounter his force. 1647 LILLY Chr. Astrol. xliv. 303 By dallying and tracting the time them shall be trouble.

b. intr. To be drawn out or prolonged, to continue: in pres. pple. protracted, continuous.

1592 [see tracting below].

3. fig. To draw on, draw out; to induce.

1615 [see tracting below].

II. 4. To go or travel along, tread, pursue (a path): = TRACE v.[1] 3. Cf. TRACK v.[1] 3. (In quots. fig.)

1579 TWYNE Phisicke agst. Fort. II. xxxv. 212 Thinke this path is but little tracted. 1613 MARSTON Insatiate Countess I. A ij b, [Death] From whose sterne Caue none tracts a backward path.

5. To pursue or follow up by the footprints or traces; also fig.: = TRACE v.[1] 5, TRACK v.[1] 1.

1577 HOLINSHED Chron. III. Ireland 24 Hereupon, they brought him to tract the steppes of lewde demeanor. 1590 SPENSER F. Q. II. i. 12 By what meanes may I his footing tract? Ibid. vi. 39 As Shepheardes curre..Hath tracted forth some salvage beastes traile [= trail]. 1596 Ibid. vi. vii. 3 Well did he tract his steps as he did ryde. 1615 SIR E. HOBY Curry-combe To Rdr. 2 Hee that tracts a Fugitiue must take the By-path. 1654 FLECKNOE Ten Years Trav. 43 Which false rumours I tracted from the very Fountain.

6. To draw, delineate: = TRACE v.[1] 11.

1611 SPEED Hist. Gt. Brit. vi. xviii. (1623) 99 Having seen it [a wall] so tracted in an ancient Chorographicall Chart.

7. intr. ? To border upon. rare—[1].

1611 SPEED Theat. Gt. Brit. xiv. (1614) 27/1 [Of Barkshire] the South neere Kenet doth tract vpon Hampshire.

Hence † Tra·cting vbl. sb. and ppl. a.

1535 Act 27 Hen. VIII, c. 3 Without frustrate or wilfull delaye or tractyng of the tyme. 1592 WARNER Alb. Eng. VII. xxxvii. (1612) 179, I heard a tracting sound. 1615 J. SYMMONS Exo. & Char. Wisdomes (1857) 39 The names of Foxe, Hare, and Bucke, be all tracting syllables; sufficient to furnish fifteen meales with long discourse in the adventures of each. Foxe drawes in his exploits done against Cubbes..Hare brings out his encounters [etc.]. 1769 FALCONER Dict. Marine (1789), Tracting, the act of pulling any vessel..along the stream of a canal or river, by means of a rope.

Tractability (trækt̬ăbĭ·lĭtĭ). [ad. L. tractābilitās, -āt-, f. tractābilis TRACTABLE: see -BILITY, -ITY.] The quality of being tractable; manageableness, docility.

1532 ELYOT Gov. I. xxi, Tractabilitie (which is to be shortly persuaded and meued). 1609 A. WARREN Poverties Patience ii, Vaine Pensiuness, that deludes Fond Tractability with fallacies. 1778 [W. MARSHALL] Minutes Agric., Digest 41 Tractability of their tractability. 1849 LYTTON Caxtons I. iii, He, wild man,..not yet civilized into the tractabilities of home.

Tractable (trækt̬ăb'l), a. [ad. L. tractābilis, f. tractāre: see TRACT v.[1], and cf. TREATABLE.]

1. That can be easily managed; docile, compliant, manageable, governable. (Of persons and animals, or their dispositions, etc.)

1502 ARNYSSOE tr. De Imitatione II. iii. 182 To be conuersant with meke, tractable or charitable company. 1548 UDALL, etc. Erasm. Par. Mark Pref., The more noble courage and stomacke they be of, the more tractable they are. 1561 T. NORTON Calvin's Inst. I. 37 Rather with tractable willingnesse to learn, than with sharpenesse of wit. 1611 BEAUM. & FL. Kut. Burn. Pestle II. i, I'm glad the girl Is found so tractable. 1738 BERKELEY Let. 11 May, Wks. 1871 IV. 258 You have to do with people of no very easy or tractable spirit. 1832 SCOTT Woodst. II, A large wolf-dog,..as tractable as he was strong and bold. 1855 PRESCOTT Philip II, I. ii. (1857) 24 Philip..found the Aragonese legislature by no means so tractable as the Castilian.

b. Const. to with, in, or inf.; in quot. 1651, easily led or persuaded to or to do something.

1509 BR. FISHER Funeral Serm. C'tess Richmond Wks. (E.E.T.S.) I. 241 To god & to the chirche full obedyent & tractable. 1590 GREENE Never too late (1600) 82, I..found him not onely guiltie of the crime, but tractable to be reclaimed. c 1645 in Verney Mem. (1907) I. 428 She is witty & very tractable to please. 1651 BAXTER Inf. Bapt. 30 They are silly souls, and tractable to novelty.

† c. transf. of an action, etc. Obs.

c 1609 in Capt. Smith's Virginia III. xi. (1624) 89 He had oft brought the Salvages to a tractable trade. 1632 LITHGOW Trav. v. 203 Their education to this tractable expedition is admirable.

2. Of things (usually concrete): Easy to manage, deal with, handle, or work; manageable.

1555 EDEN Decades 334 This metall [gold] is a body tractable and tought. 1654 EARL MONM. tr. Bentivoglio's Warrs Flanders 57 On which side the ground was more tractable. 1726 LEONI Alberti's Archit. I. 27/1 The Nut Tree..is extremely tractable, and good for most uses. 1898 Pall Mall Mag. May 20 She had a small but exquisitely tractable voice. 1900 E. F. SCOTT Fourth Gosp. viii. 216 Elements..not wholly tractable to his method of reinterpretation.

† 3. That can be handled; palpable, tangible.

1608 WILLET Hexapla Gen. 203 These angels had palpable and tractable bodies. 1669 GALE Crt. Gentiles I. iii. iii. 45 The visible and tractable Mater [matter]. 1694 HOLDER On Time I. 16 The other Measures..are of Continued Quantity, Permanent, and Visible, and for the most part Tractable; whereas Time is always Transient,..neither to be seen, nor felt, nor reserved.

† 4. That one can 'do with' or put up with; tolerable, endurable. Obs.

1629 Tryal Chas. I. in Bullen O. Pl. (1884) III. 239 As soone As the cool winds haue fand [= fanned] the burning Sunne And made it tractable for trauaylers. 1692 RAY Disc. 237 Eternity is the very sting of Hell: take that out, and the Sinner will think it tractable enough.

Tra·ctableness. [f. prec. + -NESS.] The quality of being tractable; tractability.

1561 T. NORTON Calvin's Inst. II. 200 Vnlesse he did frame vs to that tractablenesse by his spirit. 1600 SIR W. CORNWALLIS Ess. III. D j b, The tractableness of his people might keep them in peace. 1726 LEONI Alberti's Archit. I. 27/2 None of these [trees] for Tractableness can compare with the Linden. 1860 HOLLAND Miss Gilbert V, A gentle sympathetic word would win her into tenderness and tractableness.

Tra·ctably, adv. rare—[0]. [f. as prec. + -LY [2].] In a tractable manner; manageably; with docility.

1612 CORYAT, Tentgrment, tenderly,..gentlely, tractably. 1797 BAILEY II, Tractably, after a tractable Manner. Hence in JOHNSON and later DICTS.

† Tractal, a. Obs. rare—[1]. [? irreg. (for tractual*) f. L. tractu-s (see TRACT sb.[3]) + -AL.] ? Intended to protract the time. (Cf. TRACT sb.[3] 1 b.)

1632 LITHGOW Trav. III. 82 After tractall discourses, and deepe draughts of Leatick, reason failing, sleepe ouercame his sences.

Tractarian (trækt̬ē·riăn), sb. and a. [f. TRACT sb.[1] + -arian; in 2, after trinitarian, etc.]

A. sb.

1. A writer, publisher, or distributor of tracts. nonce-uses.

1824 Man of Letters 15 May 99 The superiority of the vulgar tractarian will be acknowledged, we think, even by the tractarians themselves. 1851 Illustr. Lond. News 30 Aug. 270/2 The fanatical tract distributors of London..an itinerant distributor...The Tractarian was silent. 1900 Speaker 12 May 170/2 To revive his [James VI's] reputation as a poet or a tractarian.

2. A member of that school of High Churchmen which maintains the doctrines and practices set forth in 'Tracts for the Times' (see TRACT sb.[1] 3 b).

1839 C. BENSON Disc. Tradit. & Epiac. Pref. 3 The tractarians, that is, the authors, editors, and approvers of the Tracts for the Times, are Divines of acknowledged piety, and sincerity, and learning. Ibid. 5 The tractarians, if without offence we may so call them. 1841 BP. D. WILSON Let. in Bateman Life (1860) II. xvi. 288 Her apostasy is like a standard-bearer fainting: and all aggravated by the opposite errors of the Tractarians. 1888 C. A. LANE Notes Eng. Ch. Hist. II. vi. xxix. 253 The Tractarians were the extreme wing of the modern 'High Church' party. 1892 F. HALL in Nation (N. Y.) 25 Aug. 145/1 Lawless in formation, certainly, is Tractarian; and yet it will live in history, to the exclusion of Tractite, Tractuist, and Tractator, all of which have been proposed in its stead.

B. adj. 1. Of or belonging to the Tractarians (A. 2).

1840 I. TAYLOR Anc. Chr. (1842) II. 144 note, One of the most recent..publications of the Tractarian school. 1841 BP. D. WILSON Jrnl. 18 Nov., in Bateman Life (1860) II. xvi. 193 Having given my booksellers..orders to send me the Tractarian Controversy publications. a 1893 S. WILBERFORCE Ess. (1874) II. 262 So strong a Romeward tendency amongst the members of the Tractarian party. 1896 R. PALMER Fam. & Pers. Mem. I. xxvii. 397 The 'Tractarian' forces were shattered by the loss of their leader.

2. Distributing tracts. nonce-use.

1885 Athenæum 11 July 44 [Dr. Lansdell] was soon afterwards arrested for distributing tracts at railway stations... It is not very surprising that a policeman stopped the tractarian traveller.

Hence Tracta·rianism, the tenets or principles of the Tractarians, the Tractarian system; adherence to or maintenance of this; Tracta·rianize v., intr. to teach, maintain, or practice Tractarianism (in Tracta·rianizing vbl. sb. and ppl. a.).

1840 (title) Hints to Transcendentalists for working Infidel Designs through *Tractarianism. 1841 BP. D. WILSON in Bateman Life (1860) II. xvi. 285 If he had not been imbued for seven years—steeped—in Tractarianism. 1899 BP. STUBBS Visitation Charges (1904) 344 What is called the Oxford Movement, the movement represented by the Tracts for the Times, Tractarianism as it is still called. 1844 G. S. FABER Prim. Luth. (1844) II. 137 More than one young *Tractarianising Cleric. 1880 G. A. SIMCOX in Macm. Mag. No. 245. 399 The imputation of tractarianising clung to Wilberforce however he might try to separate himself from the Tractarians.

Tractate (trækt̬ēt), sb. Also 6 Sc. tracteit, 6–7 tractat. [ad. L. tractātus (u-stem) a handling, treatment, discussion, treatise, f. tractāre: see TRACT v.[1] Cf. Prov. tractat, Sp. tratado, It. trattato, Fr. traité; also Ger. tractat.]

1. A book or literary work treating of a particular subject; a treatise.

1474 CAXTON Chesse I This first chappitre of the first tractate sheweth [etc.]. 1549 Compl. Scot. Epist. 6 To present to 3our nobill grace ane tractetit of the fyrst laubir of my pen. 1641 MILTON Prel. Epiac. 3 Needlesse tractats stuff't with specious names. 1692 RAY Disc. 111. ii. (1732) 411 A notable Passage taken out of Plutarch's Tractate. 1877 MORLEY Crit. Misc. Ser. II. 270 It was his own sense of the value of Liberty which led to the production of the little tractate. 1883 EDERSHEIM Life Jesus (ed. 6) I. 401 In the Rabbinic tractate on the Samaritans.

† b. The subject treated of. Obs. rare—[1].

1589 NASHE Anat. Absurd. 6 When as lust is the tractate of so many leaues, and loue passions the lauish dispence of so much paper.

† c. Literary treatment, discussion (of a subject).

1586 FERNE Blas. Gentrie Ep. Ded., A matter of it selfe so honorable, namely the tractate and handling of the nobilities and armes of generositie.

† 2. Negotiation, dealing, transaction. Obs.

1618 Barneveld's Apol. P j, By reason of these fiue Regall Embassages, and tractates, it happened, that [etc.]. 1630 R. Johnson's Kingd. & Commw. 89 In Paris they dare talke of the Kings mistresses, intermeddle with all tractates of Parliaments and State.

† Tra·ctate, v. Obs. rare. [f. L. tractāre: see TRACT v.[1], -ATE [3].] trans. To handle, deal with.

1657 TOMLINSON Renon's Disp. 669 Things..only Medicinal..should be tractated by Pharmacopolists alone.

† Tractation. Obs. [ad. L. tractātiōn-em, n. of action f. tractāre: see TRACT v.[1] and -ATION.]

1. The handling or treating of a subject in discourse or writing; literary treatment, discussion.

1570 FOXE A. & M. (ed. 2) 22/2 The tractation wherof.. I do refre..to them that haue more leysure. 1628 BP. HALL Old Relig. Ep. Ded. 6 A methode, and manner of Tractation, which might be of vse to plain vnderstandings. 1654 Z. COKE Logick 192 Tractation (or Handling) is the meditation of a Theme or matter to be done by Instruments of Art.

2. An instance of this; a passage or work treating of something; a discussion or treatise.

1555 in Foxe A. & M. (1563) 974/2 He did ther intreate of the sacrament in that tractation De cœna domini. 1577 HARRISON England II. v. (1877) I. 126, I might..make a long tractation of the round table. 1669 GALE Crt. Gentiles I. x. xi. 60 What I have, in this whole tract, laid down.

2. Conduct towards or dealing with a person or thing; treatment.

1548 Act 2 & 3 Edw. VI, c. 23 § 2 Sentence for matrymonye, commanding solempnization, cohabitacion, consumacion and tractacion as becometh Man and Wyef to have. 1670 MAYNWARING Vita Sana I. 22 Irregular and unfit tractation of infants.

3. Handling, manipulation (in lit. sense). rare.

1578 BANISTER Hist. Man I. 30 The prompt tractation, and handlyng, that now appertaineth to the hand. 1650 BULWER Anthropomet. 217 They nourish it much by Art and often tractation.

4. Negotiation, dealing, treaty. rare—[1].

1600 O. E. Repl. Libel II. v. 98 Any compact, packe, conspiracy, or tractation to any such purpose. [1881 Sat. Rev. 17 Dec. 743/1 M. Gambetta thought that there might be even with Italy some sort of tractation. One of his hearers called out that this was quite a new word, and M. Gambetta ..replied that he had coined a word, because no existing word expressed the peculiar delicate arrangement, or approach to an arrangement, which he had in his head.]

5. Use (of a word) in a particular sense. (= L. tractatio, Cicero Part. Or. V. 17.) rare—[1].

1660 Author Healing in Church 26, I have thus done with the General and Theological Tractation of the words.

† Tracta·tor. Obs. [a. L. tractātor, agent-n. f. tractāre: see TRACT v.[1] and -OR 2 c.] One who treats of a subject; the writer of a tractate.

c 1658 MEDE Wks. (1672) 386 Justin Martyr, Theophilus Antiochenus, Ireneus, or it may be another small Tractator or two. 1686 W. HOPKINS tr. Ratramnus Dissert. ii. (1688) 25 Phil. Labbe numbers him among the Catholick Tractators, Radbert, Lanfranc, and Guitmund. 1725 tr. Dupin's Eccl. Hist. 17th C. I. v. 65 This Name of Treatise was given to it [sermon], because the Holy Scripture was explained in it; and it is upon that account that the Preachers were call'd Tractators.

b. spec. Any one of the writers of 'Tracts for the Times': see TRACT sb.[1] 3 b.

1842 KINGSLEY in Life (1877) I. 81 Talking of the Tractators—so you still like their tone! And so do I. 1844 R. M. BEVERLEY Ch. Eng. Examined Pref. (ed. 2) 12 The Oxford tractators..write upon this one subject, to bring Christians from the Scriptures into tradition.

Tractatorian, a. Ch. Hist. ? Obs. [f. late L. tractātōri-us (i. prec.) + -AN.] In tractatorian or tractatory letter, late L. epistola tractatoria, a letter from a synod or council of bishops, so called from L. tractātus in the sense of a conference treating of sacred subjects. See Du Cange. Also Tra·ctatory a. in same sense; sb. a tractatory letter.

1672-5 COMBER Comp. Temple (1702) 510 St. Augustine, who excommunicated Primianus the Donatist, and sent his Tractatorian letter to all his fellow Bishops to avoid him. Ibid. 513 The Tractatorian Epistle, which the Bishops sent in the Name of the Church of Ptolemais to all her sister Churches. 1725 tr. Dupin's Eccl. Hist. 17th C. I. v. 11. 69 They call'd those Tractatory Letters, by which the Metropolitans invited the Bishops of their Province to Synods. ..The Excuses of the Bishops who could not come to the Synod were wrote at the Bottom of the Letter which was sent to them, which they call'd Tractory, or Tractatory.

‖ Tractatrix (trækt̬ē·trĭks). Pl. -trices (-trĭsīz). [L. tractātrīx (Martial, in sense 1), fem. of tractātor shampooer, also one who treats of a subject: see TRACTATOR.]

1. A female shampooer. rare—[1].

1874 M. COLLINS Frances II. 117 That stout Miss Susanetta, with her shrill voice, and her hands of the tractatrix, is a strange creature.

2. Geom. = TRACTRIX.
1828 in WEBSTER; hence in later Dict.

Tractatule (trækˈtātiəl). rare. [f. TRACTATE (or L. tractātus) + -ule, dim. suffix, as in globule, granule, etc.] A small tractate or treatise.
1892 Sat. Rev. 28 May 636/2 The first [volume] contains a much more mixed multitude of tractatules. 1901 N. SMITH in Contn. Rev. Oct. 402 The carmal man cannot help sighing for a tractate—a tractatule even of the tiniest—on English verse, from the Venerable One.

Tract-boat, obs. form of TRACK-BOAT.

Tracteit, obs. Sc. form of TRACTATE.

‖ Tractellum (trækteˈləm). Biol. Pl. tracteˈlla. [mod.L., f. L. tract-, ppl. stem of trahĕre to draw, after FLAGELLUM: cf. PULSELLUM.] The anterior flagellum of an infusorian, etc., which serves to draw the body after it in swimming. Hence Tracteˈllate a. [-ATE²], furnished with a tractellum.
1880 KENT Infusoria I. 429 Among the free-swimming monoflagellate Infusoria.., where the locomotive appendage ..fulfils during natation the rôle of a tractellum. 1891 Cent. Dict., Tractellate.

† Tracˈtic. Obs. rare—¹. [irreg. f. L. tract-āre (see TRACT *v.*¹), ? after prastic?] = TRACTATE 1.
1651 N. BIGGS New Disp. § 287 In our Tractick of simple waters.

Tractiferous (trækticˈfĕrəs), a. nonce-wd. [irreg. f. TRACT *sb.*¹ + -(I)FEROUS.] Carrying tracts.
1879 Yachtsman's Holidays 52 That curious freak of nature, a tractiferous yachtsman.

Tractile (trækˈtil, -əil), a. rare. [ad. late L. tractīl-is, f. tract-, ppl. stem of trahĕre to draw: see -IL, -ILE.]
† 1. Capable of being drawn out to a thread.
1626 BACON Sylva § 839 The Consistencies of Bodies.. Fragile, Tough, Flexible, Inflexible, Tractile or to be drawne forth in length, Intractile, Porous.
2. That may be drawn, as money from a bank.
1892 STEVENSON & L. OSBOURNE Wrecker vii, Eight thousand..was liquid and easily tractile in the bank.
¶ 3. Error. used for TRACTIVE.
1839 New Monthly Mag. LVII. 539 The distinction they have drawn between the tractile capabilities of the horse and the dog.

Hence Tractility (trækticˈlĭti), the quality of being tractile; in quot. 1838, fig. capacity of being drawn out or protracted.
1713 DERHAM Phys.-Theol. v. ix. 350 Silver, whose Ductility and Tractility are very much inferior to those of Gold. 1838 B. CORNEY Controversy 9 His subject possesses tractility.

Tracting, vbl. sb.: see under TRACT *v.*²

Traction (trækˈʃən). [ad. med.L. tractiōnem (Albertus, a 1250), n. of action from trahĕre, tract-um to draw. So F. traction, Sp. tracción, Pg. tracção, It. trazione.]
1. The action of drawing or pulling; draught: opposed to pulsion or pushing, and (in Dynamics) to pressure.
Force of traction, the force exerted in or required for traction. Line of traction, the line along which this force acts. Angle of traction, the angle between the line of traction and the surface along which the body is drawn.
1656 tr. Hobbes' Elem. Philos. (1839) 343 Motion is distinguished into pulsion and traction. 1837 WHEWELL Hist. Induct. Sc. (1857) II. 32 Bodies, on which pressure and traction are exerted. 1843 Temp. Cyc. XXV. 109/2 When the angle of traction..is 15 or 16 degrees, a horse pulls with good effect...An example of the force of traction exerted by steam. 1868 DUNCAN tr. Figuier's Insect W. Introd. 25 The cockchafer..possesses a power of traction equal to more than 14 times its own weight.
b. Phys. and Path. A drawing or pulling of a part or organ (in an animal or plant) by some vital process, as the contraction of a muscle, or the tension of some adherent part.
1615 CROOKE Body of Man 544 In the traction of the first the lid is depressed; in the traction of the latter it is lifted vp. 1669 HOLDER Speech 163 The Mallets being fixed to an extensible Membrane, follows the Traction of the Muscle. 1802 PALEY Nat. Theol. xi. (ed. 2) 222 The claws do their office in keeping hold of the support..by the traction of the tendons, in consequence of the attitude which the legs and thighs take by the bird sitting down. 1875 BENNETT & DYER Sachs' Bot. 728 The layers which are less turgid and grow more slowly are exposed to a passive traction which promotes their growth. 1876 Clin. Soc. Trans. IX. 192 There was..a slight..traction of face to the right side when the patient laughed.
c. A drawing or pulling movement used in massage, etc.: in quot. 1841 applied to the use of metallic tractors (see TRACTOR 1).
1841 Fraser's Mag. XXV. 89 The effects produced by traction, or the rubbing of metallic tractors, tipped with little lumps of wax, on the parts affected by pain, are well known. 1887 D. MAGUIER Art Massage iii. (ed. 4) 51 Tractions are movements used on the articulations by pulling one part while holding the other. 1901 Westm. Gaz. 28 Nov. 10/2 Traction of the tongue—that is, moving it about in a rhythmical manner—has produced wonderful results in restoring the apparently dead (especially children) to life. Dr. Laborde, of Paris, is the discoverer of the treatment.
d. fig. Drawing, attraction, attracting power.
1649 E. REYNOLDS Hosea v. 18 Our conversion and sanctification comes from..a supernatural and omnipotent traction. a 1711 KEN Christophil Poet. Wks. 1721 I. 425 His Love in Suavities distills, Preventions, Tractions sweet, Devout Christ-hymning Heat. 1883 A. H. WELSH Eng. Lit. I. v. 384 He [Macbeth] feels the resistless traction of fate.

2. spec. The drawing of vehicles or loads along a road or track; esp. in reference to the power by which this is done, as horse, steam, electric traction.
1822 IMISON Sc. & Art I. 27 Dividing the beam..that the point of traction may be as much nearer to the stronger horse. 1826 J. ADAMSON Sk. Inform. Rail-Roads 38 Every change..has..added to our powers of traction. 1902 Daily Chron. 1 July 4/6 The three stages are horse-traction, steam traction, and electric traction.
b. transf. (a) A vehicle driven by some special power, as a motor car. nonce-use. (b) Stock Exch. Stocks connected with traction, as tramways, etc.
1896 Westm. Gaz. 13 Nov. 5/2 They attended the Court, having ridden in ten miles on the office-day traction. 1903 Daily Chron. 5 Nov. 8/7 The victory for Tamiany early in the session reflected strength in tractions and other municipal utility stocks. 1905 Ibid. 4 May 5/7 Prices worked lower. Coulers and tractions showed some strength.
3. Short for force of traction (as a measurable quantity); the amount of rolling friction (also traction of adhesion) as measuring this (quot. 1877).
1825 J. NICHOLSON Operat. Mechanic 666 If the speed be increased from six miles an hour to eight, the horses have by no means 1-4th less work to do, supposing the friction a constant quantity, and the traction consequently the same. 1838 Civil Eng. & Arch. Jrnl. I. 350/1 A dynamometer, by which the traction might be measured with considerable accuracy. 1877 KNIGHT Dict. Mech., Traction, the adhesive friction of a wheel on a rail, a rope on a pulley, etc.
4. attrib. and Comb., as traction company, installation, instrument, movement, power; traction aneurism, diverticulum (see quots.); traction-gearing, an inexact name for friction-gearing (FRICTION sb. 5); traction-load, the weight of a locomotive engine or motor car which presses the driving-wheels upon the rail or ground so as to produce the requisite adhesive friction and prevent the wheel from slipping; traction-splint (Surg.), a splint with an attachment for pulling upon the limb; traction-wheel, a driving-wheel.
1891 Cent. Dict., Traction-aneurism.* 1899 Syd. Soc. Lex., T[raction] aneurism, an aneurism most commonly seen in children, due to traction of the aorta from an incompletely atrophied ductus Botalli. 1897 Allbutt's Syst. Med. III. 364 *Traction diverticula generally occur on the anterior wall of the œsophagus. 1899 Syd. Soc. Lex., Traction[ diverticulum, a cicatrised accentuation of the œsophagus from the traction of the circum-œsophageal adhesions. 1877 KNIGHT Dict. Mech., Traction-gearing*, an arrangement for turning a wheel and its shaft by means of friction or adhesion. 1891 St. George's Hosp. Rep. IX. 501 On three eyes a *traction instrument was used. 1887 D. MAGUIER Art Massage iv. (ed. 4) 106 Executing..some *traction movements. 1908 Westm. Gaz. 13 Feb. 5/2 American machines..are geared so low as to give them a maximum of *traction power at the expense of speed. 1877 KNIGHT Dict. Mech., Traction-wheel*, a wheel employed in drawing or impelling a vehicle, as the driving-wheel of a locomotive or traction-engine.
Hence Tractional, a., of or pertaining to traction.
1877 KNIGHT Dict. Mech. s.v. Traction, The tractional surface of a driving-wheel is the face of its perimeter.

Traˈction-engine. A steam-engine used for drawing heavy loads along an ordinary road; a road-engine (commonly as distinguished from a locomotive or railway-engine).
Also a similar engine used in agricultural work, e. g. for hauling the apparatus for thrashing to the required place, and then (as a stationary engine) driving the thrashing mechanism; or as a stationary engine for hauling a gang of ploughs across a field.
1889 All Year Round No. 30. 77, I met a huge lumbering Bonassus of a locomotive..staggering..about Agar-street, Strand. It was called, I believe, a Traction Engine, and will, no doubt, be useful in its generation. 1876 ROUTLEDGE Discov. 19 The idea has been successfully realized in the traction engines lately introduced. 1903 Motor. Ann. 202 The law regulating the employment of traction engines on public roads is the Locomotives' Act, 1898.

† Traˈctioner. Obs. rare. [? f. TRACT *sb.*¹ 4, or TRACT *sb.*³] (? One to whom a small parcel of land was leased: see quot.
1626 Direct. to L.d. Deputy in S. P., Irel. CCXLIII. 304 (P.R.O.) That such of the Natives as ought to have leases of certain small Parcels of land in the said Plantations and are [known] by the name of Tractioners, may have the said Leases made unto them at reasonable and moderate rentes.

Tractise, obs. var. of TREATISE.

† Traˈctism. Obs. [f. TRACT *sb.*¹ + -ISM.] = TRACTARIANISM. So † Traˈctite = TRACTARIAN sb. (also attrib. = TRACTARIAN a.).
1834 WHATELY Lect. in Life (1866) I. 241 Bishop..spoke for four hours, and the Tractites wrote about the removing of candlesticks. 1837 Ibid. 390 He perceived with me that the Hampden persecution was the first outbreak of Tractism. 1844 Ibid. II. 75 The Tractite path. 1844 in Daily News 4 Feb. (1850), I know that many of the opponents of the Tractites and not a few of the supporters expect that a church government would establish and extend Tractism.

† Tractitian (trækti·ʃən). Obs. nonce-wd. [f. TRACT *sb.*¹, ? after politician, practician.] The writer of a tract or treatise. † Tractiˈtious a. Obs. rare—⁰ (see quot.).
1656 BLOUNT Glossogr., Tractitious, that handleth, toucheth or intreats of. 1832 Fraser's Mag. III. 483 Such scrubby and execrable treatment as the reverend Tractitian has received from this reviewer of his Principles of Dissent.

† Traˈctive, sb. Sc. Obs. [f. L. tract-āre to treat (cf. TRACT *v.*¹) + -IVE.] = TRACTATE I.
1558 Q. KENNEDY (title) Ane compendius Tractive conforme to the Scripturis of almychtie God, ressoun, and authoritie. a 1575 Diurn. Occur. (Bann. Cl.) 62 The ha'll lordis past to the tolbuith, and thair preposit ane lang tractive, callit the confessioun of our faith.

Tractive (trækˈtiv), a. [f. L. tract-, ppl. stem of trahĕre to draw, drag + -IVE.] Having the property of drawing or pulling; used for traction.
1615 CROOKE Body of Man 179 The motion of the expulsiue faculty is one, and that of the traction another. 1691 T. H[OLE] Acc. New Invent. 128 Tractive and Pulsive forces upon swimming Bodies. 1839 Civil Eng. & Arch. Jrnl. II. 122/2 The tractive power of the driving wheels is very much reduced. 1889 SMILES Stephenson 199 The kind of tractive power to be employed in working the railway. 1894 Athenæum 25 Aug. 260/1 This has necessitated much heavier engines to increase the tractive force.
† b. fig. Attractive, enticing. Obs. rare—¹.
1658 T. MERITON Love & War iv. ii, If your own Queen by tractive Operation work effect.

Traˈctless, a. Obs. or arch. rare. [f. TRACT *sb.*³ 10 + -LESS.] = THACKLESS.
1628 J. DOUGHTY Serm. Church-schismes 14 There want not infinite tractlesse mazes, wherein they can lurke vndiscerned. 1818 Hervey's Medit. 190 Ye Fish, that rove through tractless [earlier edd. trackless] paths of the sea. 1899 Westm. Gaz. 19 Dec. 4/1 In tractless wastes that stretch to Southern Pole, Her restless keel takes its unhindered way.

Tractlet (trækˈtlet). [f. TRACT *sb.*¹ + -LET.] A small tract.
1892 Review of Rev. 14 Apr. 413/2 This is a neatly-printed little tractlet. 1893 RICKETT Quickening Caliban xiii, Packets of picture-cards and tractlets. 1895 E. CHESTER in Mission. Herald (Boston, U.S.) Jan. 16 Tens of thousands of our Tamil handbills or tractlets..are scattered through the..Madura district.

† Traˈctly, adv. Obs. rare—⁰. [f. L. tract-us drawn, drawn out, protracted + -LY ².] See quot.
1552 HULOET, Tractlye or treatablye, or by space or leasure, tractim.

Tractor (trækˈtər, -ər). [Late or med.L. agent-n. from trahĕre, tract-um to draw: see -OR.]
1. pl. (in full (Perkins's) metallic tractors): Name of a device invented by Elisha Perkins, an American physician (died 1799), consisting of a pair of pointed rods of different metals, as brass and steel, which were believed to relieve rheumatic or other pain by being drawn or rubbed over the skin: see PERKINISM. Obs. exc. Hist.
1798 C. C. LANGWORTHY (title) A View of the Perkinean Electricity; or, an Inquiry into the Influence of Metallic Tractors. 1801 E. DARWIN Zoon. (ed 3) II. 63 With the supposed existence of ghosts or apparitions, witchcraft, vampyrism..and American tractors, such theories..must vanish. 1828 SOUTHEY Lett. (1856) III. 499 His prayers may cure just as well as tractors or animal magnetism. 1889 WHITTIER Pr. Wks. (1889) II. 314 Jacob Perkins, in drawing out diseases with his metallic tractors, was quite as successful as modern 'faith and mind' doctors.
2. One who or that which draws or pulls something. a. In general sense.
1826 KANE Arct. Expl. I. 149 His limbs..splendid tractors for the sledge. 1880 Daily Tel. 23 Sept., The introduction of the iron road with its steam-horse for tractor.
b. Surg. 'An obstetric forceps' (Knight Dict. Mech. 1877). c. A traction-engine; a locomotive engine of any kind used for traction of loaded wagons, artillery, etc., on ordinary roads, or for drawing gang-ploughs; also, 'the frame and steel rope by which a gang of plows is drawn across a field by a traction-engine' (Cent. Dict. Suppl.).
1901 Daily Chron. 2 Aug. 6/4 These transformers supply the overhead trolley wires, which feed special 'electrical tractors' running along the towing-path, and in these tractors the drivers sit and control operations. 1902 Ibid. 29 Oct. 3/4 The County Council has not yet sanctioned the use of the tractor, but it will come before the members for consideration at an early date. 1903 Motor. Ann. 253 Rhodesia has appealed to motor manufacturers to supply motor-wagons or tractors for use specially in hilly country.
3. Geom. (See quot.)
1867 CAYLEY Math. Papers VII. 73, I use the term tractor' to denote a line which meets any given lines. Ibid., Four given lines may be directrices (generating lines) of the same hyperboloid, viz. every tractor of any three of the four lines is a tractor of all the four lines.

Hence Tractoraˈtion, the use of metallic tractors (see 1): also allusively; Traˈctoring ppl. a., using metallic tractors; Traˈctorism = tractoration; Traˈctorist, one who uses metallic tractors; Traˈctorize v., intr. to use metallic tractors; trans. to get by tractorizing (quot. 1803 ²); to treat with metallic tractors or similar appliances (quot. 1817); whence Traˈctorizing vbl. sb. and ppl. a. (All more or less nonce-wds. and Obs.)
1803 (ed. 2) FESSENDEN (title) Terrible *Tractoration! A Poetical Petition against Galvanising Trumpery, and the Perkinistic Institution. 1821 O. W. HOLMES Med. Ess. (Pref. 1892) 9 Homœopathy has not died so rapidly as Tractoration. 1803 FESSENDEN Terrible Tractoration III. xxv, And you'll confound the *tractoring folks By Haygarth's tale. 1802-12 BENTHAM Ration. Judic. Evid. V. 189 The impostures that..have been seen acted on the spiritual and medical theatres: to exorcism, animal magnetism, and *tractorism. Ibid., The operations..of the magnetist, and *tractorist no less so, in the expulsion of non-existent di-eases. 1803 FESSENDEN (title) A Poetical Petition against *Tractorising Trumpery, and the Perkinistic Institution. Ibid. III. viii, To tractorise away our guineas. 1817 Monthly

Mag. XLIII. 293 Which cures were performed..by tractorizing them with rusty nails

Tractory (træ·któri), a. and sb. rare. [ad. L. tractōri-us of or for drawing, f. tract-, ppl. stem of trahĕre to draw: see -ORY.]

†A. adj. Serving for traction; tractive. Obs.

1684 tr. Bonet's Merc. Compit. x. 368 He shews the various uses of his Tractorie Machine which he invented.

B. sb. †1. Old name for some part of a plough: see quot. Obs.

1607 J. CARPENTER Plaine Mans Plough [xiii. 109 Now.. let vs first consider of the Soule, which is that Instrument wherewith being fastened to the Oxen, the Husbandman rippeth vp his land for the Seede] xviii. 127 (heading) The 5. part of the Soole, is the Tractorie. Ibid. xxvii. 160 The Tawe, or that yron Rope which embracing the Beame, assureth it to the Tractory.

†2. Ch. Hist. = TRACTATORY sb. Obs.

1709 J. JOHNSON Clergym. Vade M. ii. 179 If they cannot come, to write their excuse in the Tractory. 1725 [see TRACTATORY].

3. Geom. = TRACTRIX.

1820 G. PEACOCK Examples Diff. Calc. i. xxiii. 174 The mechanical tractory of a straight line upon a perfectly smooth plane is an inverted semicycloid. 1853 GLYNN Power Water 140 Mr. C. Schiele of Oldham..is the proprietor of this mill, and the curve he has adopted is one discovered by Huygens, in his investigation of the cycloid. It is one of those singular and beautiful curves called 'tractories', and in this case it is produced by drawing the centre point of a radius bar along a straight line, which is the axis of the curve. 1864 WEBSTER Tractory, Tractrix, the curve described on a plane by a heavy point attached to a string, and drawn along by moving the other end of the string.

‖ Tractrix (trænktriks). Geom. Pl. tractrices (-isīz). [mod.L. (Huygens) fem. of tractor: see TRACTOR, and cf. DIRECTRIX.] A curve such that the intercept on the tangent between its point of contact and a fixed straight line is constant; so called as being traced by the centre of gyration of a rigid rod of which one end is moved along the fixed straight line, or as being the form assumed by an inextensible string which is first laid straight upon a plane surface, and one end of it then drawn in a direction at right angles to that in which the string was laid. Also, one of a class of curves similarly traced, e.g. by movement along a fixed curve.

1727-41 CHAMBERS Cyc., Tractrix, in geometry, a curve line, called also catenaria. [Error: the tractrix is the involute of the catenary, not the catenary itself.] 1843 Penny Cycl. XXV. 109/2 Tractrix, or Tractory, the name given to a curve described by a heavy point attached to a string, the other end of which is moved along a given straight line or curve. 1858 SALMON Higher Plane Curves vii. (1879) 289 The involute of the catenary is therefore a curve such that the intercept SN. on its tangent between the point of contact and a fixed right line, is constant. Such a curve is called the tractrix. 1877 B. WILLIAMSON Inf. Calc. (ed. 2) vii. Ex. 9.

Tract-scout, obs. form of TRENCHSCUIT.

†Tra·cture. Obs. rare—[1]. [ad. med.L. tractūra (Du Cange), f. tract-, ppl. stem of trahĕre to draw: see -URE.] Drawing, attraction, enticement.

1598 MANNYNG Eccl. Trade 6 Wks. 28/V. 192 The angels being created pure, they had no lust within to incline them;.. there was no evil tracture, no tempter; how could they sin?

‖ Tractus (trænktŏs). R. C. Ch. [med.L. tractus, a spec. use of L. tractus 'drawing, drawing out', fr. trahĕre to draw; 'quia trahendo, id est tractim, canitur': see Du Cange s.v.] = TRACE sb.[2]

a 1450 MYRC Festial 64 Scho leyth downe Alleluia and oppyr songys of melody, and takepe forpe tractus, bat ben songys of mownyng, and sykyng, and longyng. 1493 Festivall (W. de W. 1515) 5 b. 1854 HULMORE Pract. Lect. Plain Song 20 Gradulals, Tractuses, Sequences, and Hymns.

Tractyse, obs. form of TREATISE.

Tradable (trē·dăbl), a. Also tradeable. [f. TRADE sb. or v. + -ABLE.] That may be dealt with in the way of trade; marketable.

1599 ESSEX Let. to Q. Eliz. 25 June, in Moryson Hist. (1617) ii. 35 Your good subjects may have for their money out of your Maiesties store, that which..may serue for their necessary defence, whereas if once they be tradable, the Rebels will giue such extreme excessiue prices, that they will neuer bee kept from them. 1702 C. MATHER Magn. Chr. i. vi. (1852) 84 One ship..which they fraighted for England with the best part of their tradable estates.

Tradal (trē·dăl), a. [irreg. f. TRADE sb. + -AL.] Of or pertaining to trade; commercial.

1872 Lond. & China Telegraph 4 Mar. 171/1 The true English jealousy with which he has always guarded the port and its tradal interests from outside enemies. 1905 A. STEAD Gt. Japan (1906) 392 Bugbears placed in the way of Japan's tradal relations with foreign countries.

Tradde, dial. form of TREADLE.

Trade (trēd), sb. Forms: 4-6 Sc., † trad, 4-7 Sc. traid, (5 tradde, 6 tradde, trawde, thrade), 7 traide, 5 Sc., 6- trade. [n. MLG. trade (trēd) fem., track (Schiller & Lubben), LG. trade (traan :-traden) track (Bremisch. Wbch.); also WFlem. tra (:-trade) walk, march, course (De Bo) :-OS. trada str. fem. footstep, track = OHG. trata, MHG. trate, trat str. fem. footstep, trace, track, way, passage, f. WGer. ablaut-series tred-, trad- to TREAD. App. introduced into Eng. in 14th c. from Hanseatic MLG., perh. orig. in nautical lang. for the 'course or track' of a ship; afterwards used in other senses of ME. trade TREAD. Cf. also Norw. and Sw. dial. trad (Rietz) in similar senses, and see THOD.

In Branch I, senses 1-4 run more or less parallel with the early senses of TREAD sb.; in sense 5 differentiation begins, and in branch II the sense-development of trade, from c 1550, turns sharply away from that of tread, which retains its close connexion with TREAD v. But in Sc., it has continued to represent both trade and tread: see under TREAD.]

I. †1. A course, way, path; with possessive or of, the course trodden by a person, or followed by a ship, etc.; = TREAD sb. 3. Common trade, a public thoroughfare. Obs.

c 1375 Sc. Leg. Saints xxxviii. (Adrian) 629 Sir adryane ..bad pame..To be richt hard..pe stere set, & dresse pame to hald pare trad In-to pe sey as pai first bad. c 1400 Sc. Trojan War ii. 1725 Dryvand thiddir..and hiddir, That pai mycht hald no certane traid. c 1425 WYNTOUN Cron. viii. x. 3266 The king..tuk pe se hamewartis his way, Hald, and pare traid fest by Orkeny. a 1547 SURREY Æneid ii. 587 A postern..there was, A common trade to passe through Priams house. 1552 HULOET, Trade, via. 1554 Admiralty Crt., Exam. 9 28 Nov., The porte of Groyne standithe and is furthe of the right course and trade towards Cadix. 1561 Ibid., Exam. 13. 1 Apr., If the said pilott had followed the trade and course of thother Hamborough shippe. 1564 Ibid., Edits 33 No. 160 They feared their shippe would strike on some greate yl in the trade that trade.

†b. fig. Cf. TREAD sb. 3 b. Obs.

1536 STARKEY Let. to Cromwell 24 July, in England (1878) p. xliii. You juge me more to be traynyd in phylosophye than in the trade of scripture. 1538 BALE God's Promises iii. The commenyng pat I to Adam made, He regardeth not, but walketh a dammable trade. 1545 ASCHAM Toxoph. (Arb.) 98, I trust that you..haue so..noted the nature of it, that you can teache me as it were by a trade or ways how to come to it. 1547 Homilies i. Serm. Gd. Works 11. (1859) 64 The right trade and pathway unto heaven. 1549 COVERDALE, etc. Erasm. Par. Eph. vi. 13 b, You shall not be lyke to the common trade of seruaunts. 1613 SHAKS. Hen. VIII, v. 1. 56 Cromwell..Stands in the gap and Trade of moe Preferments.

†2. The track or trail of a man or beast; footprints; = TREAD sb. 1, 2. Obs.

13.. Guy Warw. (Caius) 473x Than loked he aboute vnder the wode shawe? The trade of horse [Auch. hors trace] he mere sighe. a 1420 HOCCLEVE Regiment of Princes 1567 For bestes hund thy graith gait till him seid, Off oftir trade [ed. 1570 tred] sch tuk as thau no heid. 1537 St. Papers Hen. VIII, V. 97 Diuerse of his tenauntes pursewed the trade with a slot hownde. 1599 BEN JONSON Cynth. R. ii. v. 1. 50 Shepherdes curre, that..Hath tracted forth some salvage beastes trade. 1591—Tears Muses 275 The sacred springs..They trampled haue with their fowle footings trade. 1596 DALRYMPLE tr. Leslie's Hist. (S.T.S.) i. 22 The dog..seases no[t] afoor he find the trad of the fliaris.

†b. transf. The outer surface of the rim of a wheel, which makes the track or mark on the ground; the TREAD of a wheel. Obs. rare—[0].

1556 WITHALS Dict. (1568) 28 b/2 Orbita rotunditas, a whele trade. Ibid., The vtter parte of the whele, called the trade, orbis.

†3. Course, way, or manner of life; course of action; mode of procedure, method. Obs. or dial.

1456 SIR G. HAYE Law Arms (S.T.S.) 211 It war nocht lyke that thai folowit the trade of oure lord, quhilk in all his actioun was oure instructioun. c 1548 HALL Chron., Hen. VI 170 Kyng Richarde..was now brought to that trade of liuyng that [etc.]. 1549-62 STERNHOLD & H. Ps. cxix. v. 1, Instruct me Lord, in the right trade Of thy statutes diuine. 1560 BIBLE (Genev.) Prov. xxiii. 6 Teache a childe in the trade of his way, and when he is olde, he shall not departe from it. 1567 MAPLET Gr. Forest 77 The Cat.. is in lir trade and manner of liuing, very shamefast. 1571 Calfh. Canons M.S. 1. 4 to Surety to leave their wicked trade of life, and to fall to other occupation. 1633 Bp. HALL Hard Texts, N. T. 176 In respect of the trade and course of their life. 1791 STRYPE Eccl. Mem. I. iii. 393 Commonly this was the trade: the better benefice, and the cure the more, the sooner was the Parson or Vicar resident there. a 1825 FORBY Voc. E. Anglia s.v., If this is to be the trade.

†b. A way of method of attaining an end; a contrivance, expedient. Obs. rare.

1572 J. JONES Bathes of Bath To Rdr. r The arte or trade of maintaining health. Ibid. Ep. Ded. 3 But also the Chyrurgians..may fynde a most apte trade of vnderstanding comphendyd in these words. 1576 FLEMING Caius' Dogs (1880) 17 The water Spaniell,..hauing long, rough, and curled heare, not obtayned by extraordinary trades, but giuen by natures appointment.

6. A regular or habitual course of action; a practice or habit of doing something. Obs. exc. dial.

c 1586 CTESS PEMBROKE Ps. LIX. i, Save me from those Who make a trade of cursed wrong. 1603 SHAKS. Meas. for M. III. i. 148 Thy slim's not accidental, but a Trade. 1608 — Per. IV. vi. 74 Now prittie one, how long haue you beene at this trade? 1616 R. C. Times' Whistle v. 7719 Now let me discourse of drunkennes, Which..is made Eueu a common ordinary trade. 1652 J. WRIGHT tr. Camus' Nat. Paradox vi. 134 Shee had long since forgot the Trade of running away. a 1716 BLACKALL Wks. (1723) I. 194 I do not make a Trade and Custom of it. 1755 Mem No. 33. 4 But it now growing a trade in the family to send for aquamirabilis, the master..forbad his servants to fetch any. Mod. dial. He made a trade of going to their house.

†d. Used adverb. in phr. to blow trade, of the wind, to blow in a regular or habitual course, or constantly in the same direction (cf. TRADE-WIND). So, of a ship, to run trade (rare). Obs.

1592-1600 J. JANE in Hakluyt Voy. (1600) III. 849 When we were shot in betweene the high lands [in Sta. of Magellan], the wind blowing trade, without any inch of sayle, we sponned before the sea. 1670 NARBOROUGH Jrnl. in Acc. Sev. Late Voy. I. (1694) 84 Neither do I find the Winds to blow Trade; but they are veerable. 1719 DE FOE Crusoe 447 The Winds..seemed to be more steadily against us, blowing almost Trade, as we call it, from the East, and E.N.E. [in the China Sea]. 1720 — Capt. Singleton (1906) 198 The winds generally blow trade from the S. and S.S.E. from May to September. 1722 — Col. Jack (1840) 219 We ..kept our course W. by S..., running away, trade, as they call it, into the great gulf of Mexico.

†e. Practice; practical exercise, employment, or application. Obs.

1575 Recorde's Gr. Artes Pref. A v, Apt instrumentes..if a man coulde applye them to vse, and by teaching of rules, frame them to better trade. Ibid. II. Ff 3 b, To acquainte your minde the better with yē new trade of this rule. 1608 A. TODRILL in Capt. Smith's Virginia (1624) 66 The boates trimmed for trade, which..in their Iourney incountred the second Supply.

5. The practice of some occupation, business, or profession habitually carried on, esp. when practised as a means of livelihood or gain; a calling; formerly used very widely, including professions; now usually applied to a mercantile occupation and to a skilled handicraft, as distinct from a profession (PROFESSION 6 a), and spec. restricted to a skilled handicraft, as distinguished from a professional or mercantile occupation on the one hand, and from unskilled labour on the other.

In earliest use not clearly distinguishable from 3; the sense is developed by contextual additions, as trade (i. e. practice) of husbandry, of merchandise, of fishing, etc.

1546 Reg. Mag. Sig. Scot. 757/2 Except thai be in their lawfull marchandice, traudis and bissynes concerning the wynning of thair leving. 1583 STOCKER Civ. Warres Lowe C. I. 22 Againe to sette vppe, and place the accustomed trade of merchandise. 1601 SHAKS. Jul. C. I. ii. 12 Mur. But what Trade are thou? Answer me directly.. Plu. Thou art a Cobler, art thou? 1601 Act 43 Eliz. c. 2 § 1 For setting to worke all such persons..[who] use no ordinarie or daiilie trade of liet to get their liuinge by. 1638 JUNIUS Painted. Antiquitie 100 His father consulting with his kinsfolkes about the trade he should put his sonne to, thought it best to make him a statuarie. 1656 in Verney Mem. (1907) II. 92 [If the boy were] to be fitted for a merchant or other trade. 1695 A. TEILFAIR New Manphul. Nedd. (1696) 1 Mackie..who is a Mason [note Stonecutter] by Trade, devoted his first Child to the Devil, at his taking of the Mason-Word. 1711 ADDISON Spect. No. 47 ¶ 7 A Neighbour of mine, who is a Haberdasher by Trade. 1797 Gentl. Mag. Mar. 189/1 Mr. Will. Potter, of Gainsborough,..By Trade a Butcher. 1798 WORDSW. Peter Bell I. 201 A Potter, Sir, he was by trade. 1813 Sk. Character (ed. 2) I. 76 He was in trade; and, Alas! Anotherly was well aware, his being in trade was an obstacle impossible to be surmounted. 1828 SCOTT F. M. Perth xix, Old Dorothy Glover, as she was called, (for she also took name from the trade she practised). 1856 FROUDE Hist. Eng. I. i. 43 No person was allowed to open a trade..unless he had first served his appreniceship. 1860 LD. DENMAN in Law Rep. Round 5 May 83 Every trade..is a business, but every business is not a trade. To answer that description, it must be conducted by buying and selling, which the business of keeping a lunatic asylum is not.

b. Anything practised for a livelihood.

1650 BAXTER Saints' R. III. xiv. § 9 Let men see that you use not the Ministry only for a trade to live by. 1651 in Verney Mem. (1907) I. 482 The multitude of peasants in Savoye which practise the trade of banditti. 1653 MILTON Hirelings Wks. 1851 V. 372 They would not then so many of them, for want of another Trade, make a Trade of their preaching. 1659 B. HARRIS Parival's Iron Age 141 Soulders desire not an end of War; because they have no other Trade to live. 1693 J. DRYDEN Juvenal xiv. 251 A Captain is a very gainful Trade. 1746 FRANCIS tr. Horace, Epist. ii. 1. 167 Unfit for War's tumultuous Trade. 1805 KINGSLEY Heroes, i. Where learnedst thou so suddenly the trade of preaching? 1878 SIMPSON Sch. Shakes. I. 32 Her first venture in the trade which subsequently proved so profitable to her, that of buccaneering.

6. The trade: those engaged in the particular business or industry concerned or in question; spec. the publishers and booksellers; now more commonly, those engaged in the liquor trade.

1697 DRYDEN Virg. Past. IX. 44 A Member of the tuneful trade. 1791 BOSWELL Johnson 15 Apr. an. 1778 note, As Physicians are called the Faculty, the Booksellers of London are denominated the Trade. 1837 SIR F. PALGRAVE Merch. & Friar Ded. 1 The reluctance with which the 'trade' engage in any work purporting to consist of ancient documents. 1868 JOYSON Metals 6 Many thousands of tons of 'Bessemer metal'—for the 'trade' are not quite sure whether it is iron or steel. 1885 Cyclist 19 Aug. 1201/2 Interesting to Cyclists and the Trade. 1888 Liverpool Echo 14 Nov., The Morning Advertiser,..discussing the action of 'the trade' in the coming contests takes a very moderate view. 1886 C. E. PASCOE Lond. of To-day xxxix. (ed. 3) 329 Some of the publishing houses of London..are as ready to sell to the general public as to 'the trade'. 1903 Westm. Gaz. 7 Mar. 2/2 The House of Commons read a second time yesterday two Bills connected with 'the trade'. The first..was to bring home to the innkeeper his statutory liability to provide food as well as drink.

b. Any one of the corporations of craftsmen (usually seven in number) in a Scottish burgh, each of which formerly elected one or more members of the town-council.

1777 MAYNE Siller Gun I. i, Ae Simmer's morning, wi the sun The Seven Trades there Forgather'd. 1781 Set of the Burgh (of Hawick), Confirmed by Court of Session, that there presently are, and shall henceforth continue seven Incorporations within the said burgh, viz.:—Weavers, Tailors, Hammermen, Skinners, Fleshers, Shoemakers, and Baxters, each of which shall..elect two quartermasters for each trade, to continue in office for one year. 1898 W. BELL Pract. Law Scotl. s.v. Burgh, Regul., In Edinburgh and Glasgow, the convener of trades and the dean of guild are ex-officio members of council. 1860 COSMO INNES in Gordon Hist. Moray ii. (1882) 23 Do the Bailies and the 'Trades' fill the eye in their line new Church...?

II. 7. a. lit. Passage to and fro; coming and going; resort. Now dial.

1591 SYLVESTER Du Bartas i. v. 733 Some [fish] from the Sea..So both the Waters with free Trade frequenting. 1593 SHAKS. Rich. II, III. iii. 156 Ile be buryed in the Kings high-way, Some way of common Trade, where Subjects feet May howrely trample on their Soueraignes Head. 1644 DENNIS Devot. (ed. 2) 154 In Jacobs ladder, they which ascended and descended, and maintained the trade between heaven and earth. 1868 ATKINSON Cleveland Gloss. s. v., A vast o' rab this here, by the trade they make.

+ b. fig. Mutual communication, intercourse, 'commerce', dealings. Obs.

1602 SHAKS. Ham. III. ii. 346 Haue you any further Trade with vs? 1634 MASSINGER Very Woman iv. iii, Long was my travail, long my trade, to win her. a 1708 BEVERIDGE Thes. Theol. (1710) I. 163 Free trade and commerce for grace and goodness for heaven and happiness.

c. To-do, 'work', fuss, commotion; trouble, difficulty. dial.

1854 MISS BAKER Northampt. Gloss. s.v., They make such a trade wi' me when I goo to see 'em. 1895 Westm. Gaz. 21 Sept. 4/1 What there was in him to make such a trade of, as his wife did, I could not see. 1899 Leeds Merc., Supp. 3 June (E.D.D.), They'll hae plenty o' trade on afore they mak' t' business pay.

8. Passage or resort for the purpose of commerce; hence, the buying and selling or exchange of commodities for profit; commerce, traffic, trading. + To beat the trade, to carry on business (obs.). See also FREE TRADE.

1555 EDEN Decades 240 The trade of spices which was so commodious and profitable to hym. 1570 J. CAMPION in Hakluyt Voy. (1599) II. 114 A safe conduct from the great Turke, for a trade to Chio. 1604 Ho. Comm. Jrnl. I. 218/2 The Mass of the whole Trade of all the Realm is in the Hands of some Two Hundred Persons. 1611 Reg. Mag. Sig. Scot. 171/1 Cum privilegio quae de Clyde, mercature lie trafficque et trade ejusdem. 1670 R. COKE Disc. Trade x Trade is an Art of Getting, Preparing, and Exchanging things Commodious for Humane Necessities and Convenience. a 1687 PETTY Pol. Anat. (1691) 34 Ann. 1664..was the best year of Trade that hath been these many years in Ireland. a 1692 POLLEXFEN Disc. Trade (1697) 91 The Trade to Swedland and Russia Trade is of Two Years carried from its great Sums of Money Annually. 1707 HEARNE Collect. 12 Nov. (O.H.S.) II. 72 Dr. Davenant.. has writ..an Essay upon Ballance of Trade. 1818 SCOTT Hrt. Midl. ii. Contraband trade..is not usually looked upon, either by the vulgar or by their betters, in a very heinous point of view. 1835 Penny Cycl. III. 309/1 The balance of trade..is the difference between the aggregate amount of a nation's exports or imports, or the balance of the particular account of the nation's trade with another nation. 1889 Nature 19 Sept. 492/2 The struggle for the Eastern trade.

+ b. A trading expedition. Obs. rare—1.

1725 DE FOE Vey. round World (1840) 356 This new scheme of a trade round the World.

† c. A centre of trade, an emporium. Obs. rare—1.

1618 in Foster Eng. Factories Ind. (1906) I. 27 Surratt will never be a trade unles the Red Sea both supply yt and save the Gouernors.

9. With a and pl. An act of trading, a transaction, a bargain; spec. in politics, a private arrangement, a 'deal' or 'job'. Orig. U.S. slang.

1829 Massachusetts Spy 18 Mar. (Thornton), When the business was completed, there was about an even trade between Mr. A. and Farmer G. 1835-40 HALIBURTON Clockm. (1860) 347 Havin' finished that little trade, I reckon there is another small matter I want to talk over with you. 1867 LOWELL Fitz Adam's Story in Heartsease & Rue (1888) 158 Yet in a bargain he was all men's foe, Would yield no inch of vantage in a trade. 1888 HENRY Cabin Conjure. II. iii. lxiii. 458 This is a Deal, or Trade, a treaty which terminates hostilities for the time.

† 10. A fleet of trading ships under convoy. Obs.

1747 Gentl. Mag. Nov. 519/2 The signal for the trade to make the best of their way, 1748 Anson's Voy. i. ii. 75 This squadron,..and the trade under their convoy,..tided it down the Channel. 1803 NELSON in Nicolas Disp. (1845) V. 194 On my arrival at Malta I ordered the Cyclops to proceed with the Trade from thence bound into the Adriatic.

11. 'Stuff', goods, material; commodities; now dial., usually in depreciatory use: rubbish, trash; in quot. 1697, implements, equipment.

1645 T. WILSON (title) Childe's Trade; or the Beginning of the Doctrine of Christ, whereby Babes may have Milk, Children Bread Broken. 1670 NARBOROUGH Jrnl. in Acc. Sev. Late Voy. i. (1694) 27 These Herbs..for want of which fresh Trade several of my Men were falling into (the Scurvy). Ibid. 98 Green Pease-leaves and such trade. 1697 DRYDEN Virg. Georg. iii. 535 His house, and household gods, his trade of war, His bow and quiver, and his trusty cur. 1707 MORTIMER Husb. (1721) II. 127 They are sown at two Seasons of the Year; in the Spring with other like Kitchen Trade. 1777 Horse Sudis. 438 (E.D.D.), I took some trade, which I had of the doctor for my disorder. 1898 SIMMONDS Dict. Trade, Trade,..a Derbyshire mining term for refuse or rubbish from a mine. 1875 Sussex Gloss., Trade, anything to carry; such as bag, a dinner-basket, tools or shop-goods. 1889 BARMER Americanisms s.v., Medicine is also strangely named trade in Dakota.

12. Commodities for use in bartering with savages; also, native produce for barter.

1847 J. PALMER Jrnl. 127 The value of fourteen dollars in trade would buy an ordinary horse. 1883 CHESTER in Lovett Y. Chalmers vii. 239 About £50 worth of trade was distributed to the heads of families. 1884 Pall Mall Budget 25 Aug. 9/2 One of the trader boats has on board the 'trade', as we call the goods by which purchases are effected. 1897 MARY KINGSLEY W. Africa 517 Look what a lot of trade he threw away at that funeral of his wife.

13. Abbreviation of TRADE-WIND; chiefly in pl.

c 1796 T. TWINING Trvls. Amer. (1894) 14 The increasing unsteadiness of the wind denoted that we were upon the edge of the 'Trade'. 1806 PINCKARD Notes W. Ind. I. xviii. 186 The delay..served but to augment the value of the ever-constant trades. 1853 HERSCHEL Pop. Lect. Sc. iv. § 19 (1873) 137 The great and permanent system of winds known as the 'trades' and 'anti-trades'. 1857 C. GRIBBLE in Merc. Marine Mag. (1858) V. 9 From this I carried a steady Trade, all sail set. 1882 HAUGHTON Phys. Geog. iv. 288 The so-called north-east monsoon..are simply the usual Trades of the northern hemisphere. 1899 F. T. BULLEN Log Seaway 213 The 'south-east trades' being notoriously steady and reliable in the Atlantic, while the north-east trades are often entirely wanting. 1899 MARSHALL TOWNS' At School & at Sea 88 The trade slackened and became fitful.

III. 14. attrib. and Comb. a. attrib.: in sense 5, 'of or pertaining to a trade or calling', as trade-body, -caste, -company (COMPANY sb. 6), -guild, protection, skill, -work; 'caused by or arising out of one's trade', as trade disease, eczema, eruption; in sense 8, as trade advice, bill, competition, conflict, gamble, mart, partnership, product, profit, relation, reverse, rivalry, ship, site, supply, supremacy, town, use, value, wave, word; in sense 12, 'pertaining to or used for barter', as trade bag, blanket, boat, box, calico, chest, gin, glass, goods, gun, stuff; b. instrumental, objective, etc., as trade-bound, -destroying, -laden adjs.; trade-spoiler, -taxer.

1850 KEADE Colister & H. lxxxvi, Good 'trade advice was to flow from the elders. 1891 Chron. Bound. Mission. Oct. 185/1 My mackintosh served as a blanket, and my 'trade-bag as a pillow. 1892 GRIFFITH TR. Fouard's St. Peter 268 'Trades-bodies, political assemblies, and societies for mutual aid. 1897 MARY KINGSLEY W. Africa 266 My back is against the 'trade box, and behind that is the usual mound of pillows. 1891 E. WESTERMARCK Hist. Hum. Marr. (1894) 372 (In India) there is an almost endless number of 'trade-castes. 1876 R. MARTIN Bound. Kingd. vi. 1. 289 The embittered 'trade-conflicts which distinguish our era. 1899 Allbutt's Syst. Med. VIII. 569 A patient suffering from a 'trade eczema. Ibid. 914 Affections of the Skin produced by Occupations ("Trade Eruptions"). 1899 LYNCH Self-Improv. v. 122 There is much money-getting by 'trade-gamble. 1897 MARY KINGSLEY W. Africa 664, I give an ..Analysis of Sample of 'Trade-Gin. 1881 J. HAYTON New Cayenne v. 136 The rice-sage up with the 'trade-pepper is done in a canoe. 1874 GREEN Short Hist. iv. § 1. 163 A wiser instinct of government led Edward to establish 'trade-guilds in the towns. 1904 W. M. RAMSAY in Expositor July 42 The workers in bronze were one of his numerous trade-guilds. 1873 R. F. BURTON in Lady B. Life (1893) II. 20 Those who must often expose themselves..to Anglo-Ashanti 'trade-guns. 1897 MARY KINGSLEY W. Africa 239 A picturesque series of causes, fruit and 'trade laden. 1904 Speaker 9 Apr. 31/2 A 'trade-mart should be established. 1853 FAWCETT Pol. Econ. iv. vii. (1876) 626 We have to ascertain whether rates are to be regarded as a deduction from 'trade profits, or whether they are a tax imposed upon the consumers of merchandise. 1882 Chambers's Encycl., 'Trade Protection Societies are associations composed of merchants, tradesmen, and others,..for the promotion of trade, and for protecting the individual members from loss. 1899 Boston (Mass.) Jrnl. 3 Feb. 4/1 British subjects looking for friendly 'trade-relations. 1874 FORSTER Dickens XI. i. (1907) 883 'Trade reverses at Glasgow had checked the success there. 1902 Q. Rev. July 243 The bitter 'trade-rivalry with France. 1757 DYER Fleece ii. Poems (1761) 103 The 'trade-ship left his streams; the merchant shun'd His desart borders. 1872 YEATS Growth Comm. 301 A 'trade site established twenty-one years earlier. 1698 W. FRERE Art of War iii. 24 Is proper war with a 'Trade-ship, pen them but in, and stop their Course. 1662 R. MATHEW Unl. Alch. § 89. 156 That which is 'Trade-stuff is fetcht more out of the Fire-tree, then out of the Stuff of Amber. 1888 HAUGHTON Model Engin. Acrostyle. (1903) 20 Purchased ..from the usual 'trade-supplies. 1910 Encycl. Brit. VI. 789/2 Maintenance of 'trade-supremacy in the eastern Mediterranean. 1903 Speaker 26 Sept. 597/1 The two sections—the 'food-taxers' and the 'trade-taxers'—can unite in office again. 1657 OWEN Common. w. Father, etc. iii. § 3 Wks. a 1850 II. 244 According to the 'trade use of the word, whence the metaphor is taken. 1891 Daily News 15 Apr. 2/5 No doubt the highest point in the 'trade-wave has been reached and passed.

15. Special combs.: trade allowance (see quot.); trade board, a council regulating conditions of employment in certain trades; trade cumulus, the cumulus which collects in the trade-wind region in the day-time; the trade-wind cloud; trade dinner, a dinner at which representatives of a trade meet; trade dollar, a dollar issued by the U.S. A. for Asiatic trade: see DOLLAR 5; trade-edition (see quot.); trade-English, a broken English used by traders as a medium of communication with African natives, and also by natives speaking different languages; trade-fixture, a fixture put in for trade purposes (which remains the property of the tenant) (Funk's Stand. Dict. 1895); trade-hall (see quot.); † trade-language, a language used as a means of communication by people speaking different languages; trade-master, one who instructs a class in a trade or handicraft; trade name, (a) a descriptive or fancy name used to designate some proprietary article of trade; (b) the name by which an article or substance is known to the trade; (c) the name or style under which a business is carried on; trade-officer, in a penal institution: = trade-master; trade price, the price at which the wholesale dealer sells to the retailer; trade-road, a trade-route; trade-room, a room (in quot., on board ship) devoted to the storage and exchange of trade goods; trade-route, a route followed by traders or caravans, or by trading-ships; trade-sale, an auction held by and for a particular trade; trade school, a school in which handicrafts are taught; † trade-way, (a) ? beaten path; passage, thoroughfare; (b) the fairway of navigation. See also TRADECRAFT, -MARK, -UNION, -WIND.

1898 SIMMONDS Dict. Trade, 'Trade-allowance, Trade-price, a wholesale discount, allowed to dealers or retailers on articles to be sold again. 1909 Daily Chron. 26 Mar. 6/4 To-day the President of the Board of Trade will introduce the new 'Trade Boards Bill, dealing with what are known as 'sweated' trades. 1849 N. & Q. 1st Ser. I. 55/2 A custom... which now passes under the designation of a '*Trade-Edition', the meaning..being, that the copyright, instead of being the exclusive property of one person, is divided into shares and held by several. 1897 MARY KINGSLEY W. Africa 432 That peculiar language, '*trade English': it is not only used as a means of intercommunication between whites and blacks, but between natives using two distinct languages. Ibid. 434, I have a collection of trade English letters and documents, for it is a language that I regard as exceedingly charming. 1858 SIMMONDS Dict. Trade, 'Trade-hall, a meeting-hall, or sale-room in a town, for manufacturers or traders. 1662a OWEN Animadv. First Lux Wks. 1852 XIV. 148 [Latin] is the 'trade-language of religion among learned men. 1888 19th Cent. Nov. 759 In our prisons the schoolmaster and the 'trademaster take the place of the executioner. 1861 in Sebastian Digest of Cases 112 So far as the name was used as a trade name, the representatives of J. G. Loring were entitled under the Massachusetts Statute (Gen. St. c. 56) to restrain them [etc.]. 1878 SEBASTIAN Law of Trade Marks 22 In imitation of trade names ..used as such and marks on goods. 1898 Patent Office Reports XV. 134 Goods marked with a trade name (i. e. Brazilian Silver). 1900 HOPKINS Law unfair Trade 29 Proper names are not trade marks, and..there should not be such a technical distinction. 1904 A. GRIFFITHS 50 Yrs. Public Service xix. 269 Sometimes 'trade officers, such as tailor, shoemaker, or serving mistress, helped themselves to materials from store. 1822 SCOTT Nigel Introd. Epist., You shall have the 'trade price. 1866 LIVINGSTONE East Trvls. (1873) I. i. 18 Our course is, in 'wadys', from which, following the 'trade-road, we often ascend the heights. 1840 R. H. DANA Bef. Mast xiii. 28 The cargo having been entered in due form, we began trading. The 'trade-room was fitted up in the steerage. 1876 R. E. LYTTON Lett. (1906) II. xiv. 37 The 'trade-routes have been re-opened. 1847 WEBSTER, 'Trade-sale, an auction by and for the trade, especially that of the booksellers. 1861 Chambers's Encycl. I. 239/2 Trade sale. 1910 W. PARKER in Encycl. Brit. XI. 350/2 The skins are sold in the trade sale as martens, but as there are many that are of a very dark colour and the majority are almost as silky as the Russian sable, the retail trade has for generations back applied the term of sable to this fur. 1898 Engineering Mag. XVI. 133/1 The Proficiency of the 'Trade School Plumber. 1906 Westm. Gaz. 3 May 12/2 The day trade-schools provided by the Council for the training of boys and girls in certain trades after they leave the elementary schools. 1600 SURFLET Countrie Farme v. iv. 665 Let them be ditched round about..to cut off the 'trade wayes of passengers. 1623 Lincoln Ct. Rec. 58, 1 June, (A ship wrongly anchored in) the trade way.

b. Combinations with trades (pl. or for genitive trade's), as trades-combination = TRADE-UNION; trades committee, a committee which regulates conditions of employment in a trade; † trades-master, one who has mastered a trade; a master workman (in quot. 1657, as distinct from a journeyman); tradesperson, nonce-singular of tradespeople. See also TRADESFOLK, TRADESMAN, TRADESPEOPLE, TRADES-UNION, TRADESWOMAN.

1910 J. W. HARPER Soc. Ideal xxxiii. 272 'Trades-combinations and masters' unions..are stages of progress. They are not final institutions. 1862 COMBE in Morley Life xii. (1902) 43/2, I would rather live under a Dey of Algiers than a 'Trades Committee. 1612 R. FENTON Usury 56 If he be his 'trades-master, he shall not stand in so great need of Gods blessing as other honest man do. 1657 J. WATTS Dipper Sprinkled 174 Then to commence Merchant or Trades-master. 1886 E. WARD Dress Reform Problem iii. 50 A saving of trouble..both to the 'tradesperson and the wearer.

Trade (tre̅id), v. Forms: see prec. [f. prec.]

† 1. trans. To tread (a path); to traverse (the sea); fig. to go through, lead (one's life). Obs.

1548 H. HARTE (title) Godly Newe short treatyse instructyng euery parson howe they shulde trade theyr lynes in yᵉ Imytacyon of Vertu and yᵉ shewyng of vyce. 1551 RECORDE Pathw. Knowl. To Rdr., I will not cease from Trauaile the pathe so to trade, that fewer writes maie fashion them selues with such glimsiage dull light. 1556 in S. P. H. Statham Dover Charters (1902) 386 All others as trade the and trauaquythe the Narrowe Sease. 1598 SYLVESTER Du Bartas ii. iii. Colonies 723 Timber-Trees (Whereof thou buildest Ships and Houses fair To trade the Seas). 1599 NASHE Lenten Stuffe (1871) 30 But I have traded them as frequently as the middle walk in St Paules. a 1649 DRUMM. OF HAWTH. Conv. B. J. & W. J. Wks. (1711) 226 They can hardly be compared together, trading diverse paths.

† 2. intr. To tread, step, walk, go in a course.

1591 SYLVESTER Du Bartas i. i. 473 This flowry Mansion where Mankind doth trade. 1618 in Foster Eng. Factories India (1906) I. 6 To trad by two at once. 1632 LITHGOW Trav. x. 506 These once happy Iles, which long agoe my feet traded ouer. 1642 ROGERS Naaman 593 Beware of..self-wiliednesse in Gods way, but humbly trade with him in it. 1651 HOBBES Leviath. II. xxiv. 127 By the labour of trading from one place to another.

† 3. trans. To follow (a course) habitually; to practise; also, to use (something) regularly. Obs.

a 1562 G. CAVENDISH Poems, etc. (1825) II. 69 Yea, yong men all, That rageth in youthe and tradyth the courtly lyfe. 1563 FOXE A. & M. 851 That no man should speake of the sacramente, but with words, as scripture doth trade, and beare. c 1590 in Redford's Play Wit & Sc., etc. (1848) 101 To those that lerne and trade vertue. 1599-80 NORTH Plutarch (1676) 66 Being yet a young man, he devised to trade Merchandize. a 1631 DONNE Ariseas (1633) 3 The Greeke Language which then was the most traded and vulgar through the whole Universe.

† 4. To familiarize with the use, practice, or knowledge of something; to accustom or habituate to or to do something; to train (up) in or with some practice, etc.; to school, exercise. Obs.

1553 BECON Reliques of Rome (1563) 23 b, Learned schole-maisters to trade vp the Christen youthe in good letters and liberall artes. 1563 B. GOOGE Eglogs, etc. (Arb.) 70 Trade thou thy selfe, in seruyng hym above. 1570 LEVINS Manip. 8/36 To Trade, tradere, consuefacere. 1575 Recorde's Gr. Artes Pref. A v, This man..dyd trade them to all suche thinges, as eyther were profitable or honest. 1577 BRETON Toyes Idle Houres (Grosart) 1. 1 (Grosart.) to see them both in learning traded up. 1603 H. CROSSE Vertues Commw. (1878) 51 Being once taught to loath Vice, and traded in vel doing, from the cradle. 1652 GAULE Magastrom. 374 He had committed his sonne to a..sorcerer, to be brought up or traded in such arts as were interdicted by the laws.

† 5. intr. a. To have dealings; to communicate, converse, have intercourse; to treat, negotiate (with a person). Obs.

1553 BALE Pocrypon 19 b, From that dayes..I traded w^t myselfe, by all possibylytye to set forth that doctrine. 1582 N. LICHEFIELD tr. Castanheda's Comp. E. Ind. 156 He would come and speake with him and trade for a peace. 1605 SHAKS. Mach. III. v. 4 How did you dare To Trade and Trafficke with Macbeth, In Riddles and Affaires of death. 1638 BRATHWAIT Barnabees Jrnl. II. D ij, My Muse with Bacchus so long traded When I walkt, my legs denaid it. 1676 GLANVILL Seasonable Reflect. 49 Should Satan send the most malignant spirits of Hell openly and professedly to trade for him.

b. To occupy oneself, be concerned in something; to deal, have dealings in. Obs. exc. as fig. from 6 b.

1606 SHAKS. Ant. & Cl. II. v. 2 Musicke, moodyfe foode of vs that trade in Loue. 1618 BOLTON Florus III. iii. (1636) 175 The Pygmies..trading in robberies, slipt away whither they could. a 1661 FULLER Worthies, Westmin. (1662) II. 241 Hence it was that afterwards he traded so largely in experiments. 1818 SCOTT Br. Lamm. xxx[ii], In private, however, she traded more deeply in the occult sciences.

6. intr. a. To resort to a place for purposes of trade. Hence, b. to engage in or carry on trade (with a person, in a commodity).

a. 1570 J. CAMPION in Hakluyt Voy. (1599) II. 115 Englishmen did trade thither...If we should not trade thither, he should lose so much. 1575 in Tolsby ist 40 Yrs. Intere. Eng. & Russia (1875) 161 Our subiectes trawding theither. 1650 FULLER Pisgah I. x. § 8 Little of the East-Indies being then known, and less traded to. 1735 JOHNSON Lobo's Abyssinia, Voy. iii. 18 Through this [channel] pass almost all the Vessels that Trade to, or from the Red-Sea. 1796 MORSE Amer. Geog. I. 521 The people in West Jersey trade to Philadelphia. 1844 H. H. WILSON Brit. India I. 565 They traded with profit only to China.

b. 1580 J. CAMPION in Hakluyt Voy. (1599) II. 115 In those dayes that we traded in those parts. 1608 R. WIFFIN, etc. in Capt. Smith's Virginia (1624) 70 He found the Salvages more readie to fight then trade. 1660 F. BROOKE tr. Le Blanc's Trav. 5 (They [the Turkish merchants] trade there [to Aman] in Cottons. 1718 Free-thinker No. 152 P 2, I began to Trade for my self, in the Year Seventeen Hundred and Four. 1769 COOK Voy. round World II. ii. (1773) 311 Those who remained in the canoes traded with our people very fairly. 1776 Trial of Nundocomar 68/1, I used to trade in salt. 1818 SCOTT Rob Roy xxxvi, I only trade now as wholesale dealer. 1832 Photogr. Ann. II. 671 Robert Cochrane, on behalf of self and partners, Henry Brooks and Edward Gaynor Robinson, trading as Henry Brooks and Co.

c. With sinister implication: To drive a trade in († with) something which should not be bought or sold; to traffic in.

1663 BP. PATRICK Parab. Pilgr. xxii. (1687) 221 That cursed principle I named before, of trading with kindnesses, and putting them out to Usu. 1737 Gentl. Mag. Mar. 155/2 The Clergy are continually trading in Benefices, wanting to change a worse for a better. 1843 LYTTON Last Bar. I. ii, Tradest thou, too, for kisses? 1849 MACAULAY Hist. Eng. v. I. 653 The chief justice was fast accumulating a fortune out of the plunder of a higher class of Whigs. He traded largely in pardons. 1853 MAURICE Proph. & Kings viii. 133 Trading in religious arts and fears. 1878 VILLARI Machiavelli (1898) II. viii. 298 These men traded in war.

d. To trade on or upon: to make use of for one's own ends; to profit by; to take advantage of.

1884 Spectator 4 Oct. 1285/2 All parties in the State repeat, demonstrate, and trade on that unanimity. 1885 CLODD Myths & Dr. I. v. 93 They...still trade on the fears and fancies of their fellows. 1907 Verney Mem. II. 233 Trade made on his younger brother's fair fame.

† 7. trans. To frequent for purposes of trade; to trade with (a country, etc.). Obs.

1585 [see TRADED 3]. c 1591 in Lett. Lit. Men (Camden) 77 The Companie of Merchauntes tradinge Muskovia havinge bene..preiudiced by the errors. 1598 HAKLUYT Voy. I. 268 At the humble suit of the English merchants trading those countreys. 1638 SIR T. HERBERT Trav. (ed. 2) 305 Since the Portugalls traded India they have shaven their heads. 1707 [see TRADED 3].

† 8. To carry in the way of trade; to trade outward, to export for trade purposes. Obs. rare—[1].

1638 SIR R. COTTON Abstr. Rec. Tower 24 To permit all men bringing in Bullion to Trade outward the value thereof in domestickes Commodities at an abated Custome.

9. † To employ (money) in trade (obs. rare); to make (anything) the subject of trade, to trade in; to acquire or dispose of (also to trade off) by barter (U.S.); to buy and sell, to barter, to exchange.

a 1628 F. GREVIL Hum. Learn. cxxvii, Changing, corrupting, trading hope and feare Instead of Vertues. 1660 T. WATSON in Spurgeon Treas. David Ps. 1 22 The non-improvement of talents...He had not spent it, only not trading it is sentenced. 1806 T. ASHE Trav. Amer. (1808) I. vi. 112 The words buy and sell are nearly unknown [in Erie, Pennsylvania]; in business nothing is heard but the word trade. 1830 GALT Laurie T. II. i. I ain't going to trade her. 1834 MAJOR J. DOWNING Life & Lett. (Boston, 1835) 39 To see what chance I could find to trade off my ax-handles. 1852 MRS. STOWE Uncle Tom's C. xii, Trading negroes from Africa, dear reader, is no horrid I..But trading them from Kentucky—that's quite another thing! 1863 W. C. BALDWIN Afr. Hunting vi. 167 Traded half a dozen large leather sacks from the Maccatesee for beads, very cheap; they..are beautifully braided and sewn. 1904 M. HEWLETT Queen's Quair I. vi, The peasant women, and girls also, do trade their legs by standing in the lagoon and gathering the leeches that fasten upon them to suck blood.

Trade, obs. pa. t. of TREAD v.

Trade bag, -board, etc.: see TRADE sb. 14–15.

Tra·decraft. [f. TRADE sb. + CRAFT sb. in various senses.] † a. A trade-guild. b. Skill or art in connexion with a trade or calling. c. The craft or art of trading or dealing.

1820 COMBE Picturesque xxv. (1869) 370 And this same Hall their trade-craft found To be a sort of neutral ground. 1866 Macm. Mag. Oct. 432 There is tradecraft in literature as well as in painting. 1899 R. WHITEING 5 John St. xxvi, 258 It is a lesson in tradecraft..to see how the girl holds her own with the dealers.

Traded (trēˈded), ppl. a. and a. [f. TRADE v. and sb. + -ED.]

I. † 1. Of a road: Much used or trodden; often traversed; frequented; also gen. habitually used.

1570-6 LAMBARDE Peramb. Kent (1826) 6 A populous citie, and a well traded highway. 1591 in Hakluyt Voy. (1600) III. 488 Heere be many Tygers..they vse the traded wayes. a 1631 [see TRADE v. 3].

† 2. Versed, skilled, practised; experienced; conversant, familiar. Obs.

1548 GEST Pr. Masse in Dugdale Life (1840) App. 94 A great clerke and moch traded in auncient wryters. 1589 NASHE Pref. Greene's Menaphon (Arb.) 11 Sir John Cheeke, a man of men, most learnedly traded in all tongues. 1606 SHAKS. Tr. & Cr. II. ii. 64 Mine eyes and eares, Two traded Pylots 'twixt the dangerous shores Of Will, and Iudgement. 1654 H. L'ESTRANGE Chas. I (1655) 77 A gentleman peculiarly qualified for and long traded in Sea exploits.

† 3. Of a place: Frequented or resorted to for the purpose of trading. (Usu. with well, etc.) Obs.

1585 T. WASHINGTON tr. Nicholay's Voy. iv. vii. 118 b, [The] cities of great Persia, wel traded with merchandize. 1610 HOLLAND Camden's Brit. I. 450 A proper and fine borough it is, well traded and pleasantly seated. 1652-62 HEYLIN Cosmogr. II. (1682) 94 Hannover,..well built, very strongly fortified, and not meanly traded. 1656 J. CHALONER in D. King Vale Royall iv. 30 It [the Isle of Man] is traded with a Market-Towne, Castle-Towne, Douglas, Peel-Towne, and Ramsey. 1707 FUNNELL Voy. (1729) 77 The biggest and best traded city in all America.

II. 4. Having a trade (of such a kind).

1631 T. POWELL Tom All Trades (1876) 170 The favour of great traded Merchants. a 1656 HALES Gold. Rem. i. (1673) 67 To see another man meanly clad, meanly housed, meanly traded.

Trade dinner, dollar, etc.: see TRADE sb. 15.

† Trade-fa·llen, a. Obs. Fallen or broken in trade, bankrupt.

1596 SHAKS. 1 Hen. IV, IV. ii. 32 Reuolted Tapsters and Ostlers Trade-fallen. 1632 HEYWOOD 1st Pt. Fair Maid of W. i. 1 Her father Sold lyndes in Somersetshire, and being trade-fallne, Sent her to service. a 1632 T. TAYLOR God's Judgem. viii. (1642) 111 Many young Shop-keepers..through Drinking..have suddenly proved Trade-falne.

Tradeful (trēˈdfūl), a. [f. TRADE sb. + -FUL.] Full of trade; fully occupied or engaged in trading; † full of traffic; also transf. indicating busy trade.

1594 DENNIS Nepenthes xv, Ye tradefull Merchants, that with weery toyle, Do seeke most precious things to make your gain. 1598 SYLVESTER Du Bartas II. i. iv. Handie-Craftz 23 Lo, how our Merchant-vessels to and fro Freely about our tradefull waters go. 1745 WARTON Pleas. Melancch. 272 Through the naked street, Once haunt of tradefull merchants, springs the grass. 1845 STOCQUELER Handbk. Brit. India (1854) 112 Shops and offices are shut up, or their tradefull hum and bustle all but stagnated.

Tradeful-to-language: see TRADE 14, 15.

Tradeless (trēˈdlēs), a. [f. TRADE sb. + -LESS.]

1. Without a trade; unskilled in any trade.

1729 YOUNG Imperium Pelagi v. xxi, O'er generous Glebe, o'er golden Mines Her beggar'd, famish'd, Tradeless Native roves. 1910 Blackw. Mag. Mar. 408/2 The semi-educated and tradeless worker.

2. Without or destitute of trade or commerce.

1840 Tait's Mag. VII. 310 The Scotch nobility, in our tradeless days, were not sunk quite so low as the Italian nobility at present. 1897 MARY KINGSLEY W. Africa 371 The delta region is tremendously interesting...but it is tradeless. 1900 H. G. GRAHAM Soc. Life Scotl. in 18th C. VII. i. (1902) 233 Consigned to perpetual poverty in some tradeless village.

Trade-mark (trēˈdmāk), sb. [f. TRADE sb. + MARK sb.[1]] A mark (now, one secured by legal registration) used by a manufacturer or trader to distinguish his goods from similar wares of other firms; usually a distinctive device or figure, a fancy name or trade name, or the name of an individual or firm, marked or impressed on the article or upon the package, etc., in or with which it is sold.

[1871 Letters Patent to R. Matthews (in Edmunds Patent Law (1897) 885) 'To make the said hafteс called Turky hafteс for knyves, and for his marke to haue vpon the blade and hafte of the same knyfes..a halfe Moone.] 1898 MYLNE & CRAIG Reports of Cases III. 338 The Court will grant a perpetual injunction against the use, by one tradesman, of the trade marks of another. 1862 Act 25 & 26 Vict. c. 88 § 2 The Expression 'Trade Mark' shall include any..Name, Signature, Word, Letter, Device [etc.]..lawfully used by any Person to denote any Chattel, or (in Scotland) any Article of Trade [etc.]..to be an Article or Thing of the Manufacture..of such Person, or to be an Article or Thing of any peculiar or particular Description made or sold by such Person. 1880 Print. Trades Jrnl. XXXI. 26 The owl is the trade-mark of the firm.

b. fig. A distinctive mark or token.

1873 BROWNING Red Cott. Nt.-Cap 947 Trade-mark that stamps each word and deed. 1889 DOYLE Micah Clarke 211 The trade mark upon your forehead is especially hard to overlook. 1898 HOLLEY Prince II. iv. 206 Opportunists..utilised his name as the trade-mark of their parliamentary group.

c. attrib., as trade-mark name, registration.

1901 Daily Chron. 2 Dec. 7/1 A belated perambulator.. with the trade-mark name of 'The Prince of Wales'. 1909 Chem. & Druggist 20 Feb. 315/2 Invented words should be protected by trade-mark registration; by themselves they cannot be copyrighted.

Hence Tra·de-mark v., trans. to affix or imprint a trade-mark upon; Tra·de-marking vbl. sb.

1904 D. SLADEN Lovers Japan x, Bottled beer (made in Japan..and trade-marked with a big dragon). 1906 Westm. Gaz. 16 Mar. 5/2 The Bill..provided for the trade-marking of all imported beers.

Trade mart, name, etc.: see TRADE sb. 14–15.

Tradent (trēˈdĕnt). Rom. Law. rare. [ad. L. trādens, trādent-, pr. pple. of trādĕre to hand over, deliver.] The person who delivers or hands over any property to another.

1880 MUIRHEAD Gaius 580 The conditions upon which it carried the property were that the tradent was owner.

† Trade·ntine, a. Obs. nonce-wd. [f. tra- = TRANS- + L. dent-em tooth + -INE.] Lying beyond or outside the teeth. 1653 [see CIDENTINE].

Trader (trēˈdəɹ). [f. TRADE v. + -ER [1].]

1. One whose business is trade or commerce, or who is engaged in trading; a dealer or trafficker.

1588 T. WASHINGTON tr. Nicholay's Voy. IV. xxv. 140 b, Great traders, with merchandise & ready monie. 1600 E. BLOUNT tr. Conestaggio 55 The traders and handicraftsmen who had not their kinsemen there. 1779-81 JOHNSON L. P., Milton Wks. II. 133 Neither traders, nor often gentlemen, thought themselves disgraced by ignorance. 1827 W. IRVING Capt. Bonneville II. xxi. 40 One of those general gatherings of traders, trappers, and Indians. 1848 J. WILLIAMS Law Pers. Prop. II. iv. 108 No farmer, grazier, common labourer, or workman for hire, shall be deemed to be such a trader liable to become bankrupt. 1886 L. O. PIKE Year Bks. 13 § 14 Edw. III (Rolls) Introd. 83 Applicable to the servants of traders as well as to the servants of knights.

† b. A prostitute. Obs. slang.

1682 RADCLIFFE Erasmus 45 Bundellous, T'encourage She-Traders and lusty young Fellows. 1693 Humours Town 39, I mean not Common Women, that live by Fornication, publick Traders. 1760 FOOTE Minor I. Wks. 1799 I. 247 Tip him an old trader, and give him to the knight.

c. A vessel engaged in trading; a trading ship.

1712 Lond. Gaz. No. 5017/2 Ten sail of Irish Traders. 1862 Catal. Internat. Exhib. II. xii. 9 A trader for narrow rivers, with new arrangement of rudder. 1887 MRS. DALY Digging, etc. S. Australia 206 The crews in the pearling schooners and small traders are very short-handed.

† d. A tradesman's token (TOKEN sb. 10). Obs.

1775 R. TWISS Tour Irel. (1776) 82 The want of small change [in 1727] was so great, that several persons were obliged to make copper and silver tokens, called Traders, which they passed as promissory notes among their workmen, customers, and neighbours.

† 2. One who is occupied or concerned in something; a dealer. Obs.

1668 HALE Pref. Rolle's Abridgm. a j b, The constant... course..of these great Traders in Learning, to bring in their several accounts therein..into a common Stock. 1673 [R. LEIGH] Transp. Reh. 144 The nonconformists were great traders in Scripture. 1800 COLERIDGE Piccolom. I. x, That ancient trader In contraband negociations.

Trade-road to -school: see TRADE sb. 14–15.

Trades- in comb.: see TRADE sb. 15 b.

‖ Tradescantia (trēdĕskæˈntiə). Bot. [mod. L. (Ruppius 1718), f. the name of John Tradescant (the elder), a 17th c. naturalist + -IA [1]] An American genus of perennial herbs (N.O. Commelynaceæ) characterized by three-petalled blue, white, pink, or purple ephemeral flowers having six stamens clothed with jointed hairs; spiderwort.

[1629 PARKINSON Paradisus 152 Phalangium Ephemerum virginianum Joannis Tradescant...Tradescant his spiderwort. 1718 RUPPIUS Flora Jenensis 55 Tradescantia.] 1766 LEE Introd. Bot. App. (1788) 350/2 Spider-wort, Virginian, Tradescantia. 1866 Treas. Bot. 317 The filaments of the Tradescantias have jointed hairs, in which a granular movement is seen under the microscope.

Tradesfolk (trēˈdzfōuk). [f. as next + FOLK.] People in trade; tradespeople: a. Artisans; b. Shopkeepers.

1760–72 H. BROOKE Fool of Qual. (1809) III. 21 This is holiday in the afternoon among us trades-folk. 1885 W. H. WHITE M. Rutherford's Diary. iii, The wine-merchant..by no means associating with the tradesfolk who displayed their goods in the windows. 1890 POLLARD Eng. Miracle Plays Introd. 11 Philosophers, saints, mimes, jugglers, monks, nuns, bishops and tradesfolk have all to play their part.

Tradesman (trēˈdzmăn). Pl. -men. [f. trade†, gen. case of TRADE + MAN sb.†]

1. One who is skilled in and follows one of the industrial arts; an artificer, an artisan, a craftsman. Now Sc., local (esp. rural) English, and Colonial.

1597 DRAYTON Heroical Epistles, Edward IV to Shores Wife 117 The busie lawyer wrangling in his pleas,..The toyling trades-man, and the sweating Clowne. To 1600 Robin Hood & Tanner xxiii, 'Whut tradesman wer thou?' said jolly Robin. 1625 COKE in Commons Debates (Camden) 131 The Master of the Ordinance was auntiently a tradesman until 37 Henry 8, and then it was conferd on a nobleman. 1657 in Verney Mem. (1907) II. 95 [His wish to be bound] apprintice unto some very good traydesman. 1687 R. LIGON Barbadoes (1673) 110 If they be Tradesmen, as, Carpenters, Joyners, Masons, Smiths. 1738 SWIFT Pol. Conversat. 27 If Things did not break or wear out, how would Tradesmen live? 1825 JAMIESON, Tradesman, a name [in Scotland] restricted to a handicraftsman; all who keep shops being ..called Merchants. c 1880 Let. to Editor, Tradesman in Australia does not mean a shopkeeper, but the man who works at a trade, i. e. the artisan. 1899 Times 25 Jan. 10 At the end of May a deputation of provincial tradesmen (in the Scotch sense) visited London...The carpenters and joiners came to confer with the employers.

2. One who is engaged in trade or the sale of commodities; esp. a shopkeeper.

1601 DENT Pathw. Heaven 71 Counetousnesse..baneth our Gentlemen, it murtheth our Trades-men, it bewitcheth our Merchants. 1622 MALYNES Anc. Law. Merch. 92 A Trades-mans shop, and a Merchants ware-house is taken to be publicke and open at the appointed times. 1655 E. TERRY Voy. E. Ind. xxvi. 411 There are very many private men..who are Merchants, or Tradesmen that are very rich. 1695 BLACKMORE Pr. Arth. iv. 417 The Tradesman quits his Shop. 1757 LADY M. W. MONTAGU Let. to Abbé Conti 17 May, Most of the rich Tradesmen were Jews. 1766 FORDYCE Serm. Yng. Wom. (1767) I. vii. 294 The daughters of plain tradesmen and honest mechanics. 1885 Miss BRADDON Wyllard's Weird I. i. 30 This would give time for the tradesmen to get away from their shops. 1906 Daily Chron. 10 Feb. 4/7 'Tradesman', which in the north is used to denote a workman who has learned a trade, while in the south it is made to apply to a man who runs a business.

Hence Tradesmanship, the quality or calling of a tradesman; transf. tradesmen collectively. Also attrib.

1817 BENTHAM Parl. Reform (1818) 52 Say whether Tradesmanship honesty .. is not worth all such other honesties put together. 1899 Sat. Rev. 10 Dec. 700/1 Tradesmanship in all its properties may stand aghast at the revelations of the inner life of a Strand shopkeeper's family.

Tradesmanlike, a. [f. prec. + -LIKE.] Like, or like that of, a tradesman; characteristic of a tradesman; in quot. 1862, workmanlike, skilful.

1790 Bystander 344 A man of tradesmanlike appearance came and knocked at the outer door. 1862 THORNBURY Turner I. 275 Crafty tradesmanlike alterations. 1870 GLADSTONE Glean. IV. v. 254 With a tradesmanlike devotion to her peaceful industry.

Tradespeople. [f. trade's, gen. of TRADE + PEOPLE.] People engaged in trade; tradesmen, and their families and employees; shopkeepers.

1728 VANBRUGH & CIB. Provok. Husb. v. ii, Those Tradespeople are the troublesomest Creatures! no Words will satisfy them! 1749 FENTON in Waller's Wks., Observ. 60/2 No trades-people would trust her for any thing. a 1862 BUCKLE Misc. Wks. (1872) I. 159 The middle class of tradespeople were ignorant and poor.

Tradeswoman. Pl. -women. [f. as prec. + WOMAN.] A woman engaged in trade, or in a particular trade or calling; in quots. 1707, 1778, the wife of a tradesman.

1707 Reflex. upon Ridicule ii. 212 New-vamped Tradeswomen, whose Dress and Train, and Furniture and Table, create Envy. 1778 JOHNSON in Mary, in Boswell, Tradeswomen (I mean the wives of tradesmen) in the city. 1889 Sat. Rev. 23 Feb. 218/1 The gentle lady must be put off, and the shrewd and thrifty tradeswoman must be put on.

Trade-u'nion, trades-u'nion. [f. TRADE or pl. trades + UNION.] An association of the workers in any trade or in allied trades for the protection and furtherance of their interests in regard to wages, hours, and conditions of labour, and for the provision, from their common funds, of pecuniary assistance to the members during strikes, sickness, unemployment, old age, etc.

1835 WORDSW. Postscript Poet. Wks. (1910) 666 It has no direct bearing upon clubs..nor upon political or trade-unions. 1842 COBDEN in Morley Life xii. (1902) 43/2 Nothing can be got by fraternising with trade unions. They are founded upon principles of brutal tyranny and monopoly. 1887 LOWELL Democr. 17 But the trade-unions are now debating instead of conspiring. 1896 L. ABBOTT Chr. & Soc. Probl. x. 272 The phrase 'trade union' came into existence about the year 1830 and the organization itself came into existence about the same time. 1906 Westm. Gaz. 6 Mar. 2/2 A trade union is a quasi-political association, rather than an association for carrying on business.

1892 Times 18 Jan. 4/1 There is no doubt that these boys [spinners' apprentices at Haslingden] are kept in countenance by the 'Trades' Union'. 1834 ARNOLD Let. to Chev. Bunsen 20 Sept., You have heard..of the Trades' Unions, a fearful engine of mischief, ready to rise or to assassinate. 1868 ROGERS Pol. Econ. ix. (1876) 88 The purpose of a trades-union is to keep up the price of labour, and if possible to enhance it. 1878 JEVONS Prim. Pol. Econ. 67 A trades-union is a society of men belonging to any one kind of trade, who agree to act together as they are directed by their elected council, and who subscribe money to pay the expenses.

Hence Trade-, trades-u'nionism, the system, principles, or practice of trade-unions; Trade-, trades-u'nionist, a member of a trade-union; also attrib.

1875 N. Amer. Rev. CXX. 215 The theory and possibilities of 'trades-unionism. 1884 Pall Mall G. 10 Sept. 8/2 Although he was both a politician and a trade unionist, he could faithfully say trade unionism had always had his first care and attention. 1888 Voice (N.Y.) 14 Nov., China, it seems, is the cradle of trade-unionism, and boycotts are numerous. 1863 FAWCETT Pol. Econ. II. ix. (1876) 248 A social terrorism, very analogous to that by which 'Trades-Unionists so frequently maintain their organizations. 1898 Westm. Gaz. 11 Jan. 3/2 Even another self-denying ordinance must be asked of the trade-unionist parent in this good cause.

Trade-way, etc.: see TRADE sb. 14, 15.

Tra'de-wind. [f. TRADE sb. + WIND sb. App. originating in the phrase to blow trade: see TRADE sb. 3 d. Afterwards often shortened in nautical use to trade, in pl. 'the trades': see TRADE sb. 13.

The name had in its origin nothing to do with trade in the sense 'commerce', or 'passage for the purpose of trading', though the importance of those winds to navigation led 18th c. etymologists (and perhaps even navigators) so to understand the term.]

†1. Any wind that 'blows trade', i. e. in a constant course or way; a wind that blows steadily in the same direction. Obs. exc. as in 3.

Originally applied to any wind having this character. But as it became gradually known that the only winds of which this is approximately true were the Indian monsoons, and the winds now so called, on each side of the equator in the Atlantic and Pacific Oceans, the name became restricted to these, and at length to the latter (senses 2 and 3). Also fig.

1663 COWLEY Ship iv, The trade-winds, Fame, like an auspicious Gale (The great Trade-wind which ne'er does fail), Shall drive thee round the World. 1666 DRYDEN Anim. Mirab. cccIv, But now, the Cape once doubled, fear no more; A constant trade-wind will securely blow And gently lay us on the spicy shore. a 1668 DAVENANT Poems Wks. (1673) 330 A Pilot, sure of faire Trade-Winds, The Helme in all the Voyage never hands. 1706 PHILLIPS (ed. Kersey), Trade-Wind, a Wind that blows regularly at Sea, at certain Seasons of the Year, and serves to promote Trading Voyages. 1726 SHELVOCKE Voy. round World 385 Then came on the constant, or what may be call'd the trade wind on this [Pacific] coast [of America] blowing from the W.N.W. except in the night, that it comes about more Northerly. 1735 G. HADLEY in Phil. Trans. XXXIX. 61 The same Principle..extends to the Production of the West Trade-Winds without the Tropicks. 1777 COLMAN in Sheridan Dict. Vocabul. Epil. 2, I, who was late so volatile and gay, Like a tradewind must now blow all one way. 1807 CRABBE Parish Reg. (1829) 17 But like a trade-wind is the ancient dame, Mild to your wish, and every day the same.

†2. Applied to the seasonal winds of the Indian Ocean; = MONSOON 1, 2. Obs.

The winter monsoon, from October to April, coincides in direction with the trade-wind of the North Atlantic; the summer monsoon blows in the opposite direction.

[1634 SIR T. HERBERT Trav. 8 Every houre expecting these Anniversarie winds, called by the Seamen and Portugals, Monsons; the property of which wind is to blow constantly one way, sixe moneths, and the other way, the other halfe yeare.] 1650 FULLER Pisgah I. vii. § 3 Rain,..like Trade-winds on some seas, came at set seasons. 1687 A. LOVELL tr. Thevenot's Trav. III. 1 This Season wherein there is a constant Trade-Wind upon that Sea, begins commonly at the end of October. 1720 DE FOE Capt. Singleton (1906) 218 When we came in among the Spice Islands.. we had a share of the monsoons, or trade-winds. 1794 SULLIVAN View Nat. I. 206 The constant and steady wind usually called the trade wind; and in some parts of the world, the monsoon. 1840 THIRLWALL Greece VII. liv. 53 Some weeks were still to come before the trade-winds would set in from the north-east, when they would be perfectly favourable for the voyage.

3. Now spec. The wind that blows constantly towards the equator from about the thirtieth parallels, north and south; its main direction in the northern hemisphere being from the north-east, and in the southern hemisphere from the south-east. Cf. ANTI-TRADE.

The N.E. trade is termed in Hawkins' Voy. Florida c 1565 (Hakl. Soc.) 25, 46, 'the ordinary breeze' (BREEZE sb.[1] 1), the S.E. trade is termed by Linschoten 1598 general wind, 'the general wind', after Pg. vento geral.

[1699 DAMPIER Voy. II. iii. 1 Trade-Winds are such as do blow constantly from one Point, or Quarter of the Compass, and the Region of the World more peculiar to them is from about 30 d. North to 30 d. South of the Equator.] 1712 E. COOKE Voy. S. Sea 446 Getting into the Trade-Winds, our Course was afterwards uniform. 1748 Anson's Voy. II. ix. 224 We expected, upon the encouraging our offing from Lima, to fall in with the regular trade-wind. 1821 R. TURNER Arts & Sc. (ed. 18) 17 The trade-winds blow naturally from the N.E. on the north, and from the S.E. on the south of the line, throughout the whole year. 1825 MRS. SOMERVILLE Connex. Phys. Sc. xv. (ed. 2) 147 There are many proofs of the existence of the counter currents above the trade winds. 1867 DENISON Astron. without Math. 39 The heat of the torrid zone and its velocity of rotation produce the trade winds which blow constantly in the same directions in the same latitudes on the great oceans.

b. attrib., as trade-wind region; trade-wind cloud, the trade cumulus (TRADE sb. 15).

1860 MAURY Phys. Geog. Sea (Low) iv. § 255 The hottest place within the trade-wind regions is not at the equator. 1902 Daily Chron. 21 Aug. 7/1 As the darkness deepened a dull red reflection was seen in the trade-wind cloud which covered the mountain summit.

Tradey, variant of TRADY.

†Tra'diment. Obs. rare. [ad. med.L. trādimentum (1190 in Du Cange), f. L. trādĕre to hand over, deliver; or a O.F. trade-, tradiment 'treason' (Godef.).] Treachery, perfidy, treason.

1535 St. Papers Hen. VIII, II. 264 The Tholes entred by tradyment into Powers Courte. 1536 Ibid. 362 Beyng evicted, and recovered out of our possession by tradyment. 1561 T. HOBY tr. Castiglione's Courtyer II. (1577) N j b, If it be true that it is such an abominable profit and trespace to vse tradiment against a mane very enimy.

Trading (trēˈdĭŋ). vbl. sb. [f. TRADE v. + -ING 1.] The action of the verb TRADE in various senses; esp. the carrying on of trade; buying and selling; commerce, trade, traffic.

1590 [see b]. 1615 in Buccleuch MSS. (Hist. MSS. Comm.) I. 168 Either of us might assist each other in free Trading in those parts. 1645 MILTON Tetrach. Wks. 1851 IV. 220 So to serve the community of instituted trades, trading shall be permitted. 1654 Nicholas Papers (Camden) II. 82 Here will stopp all tredding by sea that way. 1799 in Picton Lpool Mun. Rec. (1886) II. 229 To prohibit the trading for slaves. 1885 Athenæum 5 Dec. 302/1 Successful trading was not at that date quite so important.

b. attrib. and Comb.; in sense 'of, pertaining to, or connected with trade', as trading course, line, origin; 'intended for trade or barter', as trading articles, cloth, goods; 'frequented for, employed in, made or done for trading', as trading centre, craft, journey, path, port, post (POST sb.[3] 2 c), ship, smack, station, tax, vessel, voyage; †trading-house, a building in which barter was carried on in the savage parts of North America; trading-place, †(a) a place of resort or passage; (b) a place frequented for trade.

1904 Archæologia Æliana XXV. II. 255 note, The ports and 'trading-centres of the Mediterranean. 1672 SIR W. TALBOT Discov. S. Ledever 26 Your best Truck is sort of course 'Trading Cloth, of which a yard and a half makes a Matchcoat. 1676 in I. Mather K. Philip's War (1862) 99 That the Indian 'Trading-houses..be suppressed. 1775 ADAIR Amer. Ind. 295 The ford of the old 'trading path, where the enemy now and then passed the river. 1590 GREENE Never too Late Q iv, Flora did checker all her 'trading place. 1719 DE FOE Crusoe (1840) II. xii. 251 To put into the first 'trading port. 1837 W. IRVING Capt. Bonneville III. xxxiv. 205 Fort Wallah-Wallah is a 'trading post of the Hudson's Bay Company. 1809 R. LANGFORD Introd. Trade 111 The voyage may be..to several ports, which is called a 'trading voyage.

Tra'ding, ppl. a. [f. as prec. + -ING 2.] That trades, in various senses of the verb; esp. engaged in trade, commercial.

1690 CHILD Disc. Trade (1698) 2 They have in their greatest councils of state and war, trading-merchants that have lived abroad in most parts of the world. 1697 DRYDEN Virg. Georg. iv. 20 Thus rob the trading citizen, lord. 1711 ADDISON Spect. No. 69 P 1 Factors in the Trading World are what Ambassadors are in the Politick World. 1790 BURKE Fr. Rev. 263 A great trading or manufacturing town. 1874 GREEN Short Hist. vi. § 3. 282 The trading and industrial classes.

Comb. 1727 [DORRINGTON] Philip Quarll Pref., Busy Worlds and Trading-Peopled Towns.

†b. That trades in or makes a trade of something (e.g. a public office or position). Obs.

1789 SIR J. HAWKINS Johnson 414 The duke of Newcastle ..gave him [Fielding] a nominal qualification of 100 l. a year, and set him up as a trading-justice, in which disreputable station he died. 1796 Grose's Dict. Vulg. T. (ed. 3), Trading Justices, Broken mechanics, discharged footmen, and other low fellows, smuggled into the commission of the peace, who subsist by fomenting disputes, granting warrants, and otherwise retailing justice. 1812 Examiner 30 Nov. 767/1 The Court treated the defendant as a systematic and trading libeller. 1829 LD. BROUGHAM Statesm. Geo. III, Canning 289 The common herd of trading politicians.

†Tra'dit, v. Obs. rare[−1]. [f. L. trādit-, ppl. stem of trādĕre to hand over, deliver, f. trans across, over + dare to give. (Cf. credit I. L. crēdit-.)] trans. To deliver, to communicate.

1657 TOMLINSON Renou's Disp. 530 The most usual preparation, is after the manner we have tradited.

†Tra'ditative, a. Obs. rare. prob. an error for TRADITIVE 1.

1657–83 EVELYN Hist. Relig. (1850) I. 165 They fancy it very difficult to conceive how this deadly spot [of sin] should adhere so pertinaciously without some traditative emanation, seeing the body does not defile the Soul.

Tradition (trădĭˈshŏn), sb. Also 4–6 -ICION. [a. O.F. tradicion, -ciction (1292 in Godef.), in 15th c. tradition, = Pr. tradition, Sp. tradicion, It. tradizione, ad. L. trāditio, -onem 'delivery, surrender, handing down, a saying handed down, instruction or doctrine delivered', as in traditio evangelica, catholica traditio (Tertullian).]

1. The action of handing over (something material) to another; delivery, transfer. (Chiefly in Law.)

1540 in R. G. Marsden Sel. Pl. Crt. Adm. (1894) I. 99 The byer..may entre and take possession of the said shipe goods..withowte any further tradicion or delyvery. 1601 W. WATSON Sparing Discov. 13 In that a Priest is made by tradition of the Chalice, Patten, and Host into his hands. 1658 BRAMHALL Consecr. Bps. xi. 223 [Then followeth.. lastly the tradition of the Bible into his hands. 1766 BLACKSTONE Comm. II. xx. 307 A deed takes effect only from this tradition or delivery. 1773 ERSKINE Inst. Law Scotl. iii. 1. § 18 Tradition, which may be defined, the delivery of the possession of a subject by the proprietor, with an intention to transfer the property of it to the receiver. 1774 Br. HALLIFAX Anatl. Rom. Laws (1796) 25 Justinian blended the distinctions, and gave to Tradition, or simple delivery, all the effects of the ancient Mancipation. 1884 Cath. Dict. (ed. 2) 626 Handing to the new priest the paten and chalice—an act commonly called the 'tradition of the instruments'.

† 2. A giving up, surrender; betrayal. Obs.

1482 Monk of Evesham (Arb.) 19 The office and seruice of owr lord thesu cryste ys tradicion and passion was solenly songe. 1611 W. SCLATER Key (1629) 103 By tradition or delivering them vp to the power of Satan. 1653 MANTON Exp. Jaimes i. 13 Wks. 1871 IV. 92 A judicial tradition and delivering them up to the power of Satan and their own vile affections.

3. Delivery, esp. oral delivery, of information or instruction. Now rare.

1500 MEDWALL Nature 60 Arystotell Whyche hath left in bokys of hys tradycyon How euery thyng by heuynly constellacyon Is brought to effecte. 1575 GASCOIGNE Making of Verse in Steele Gl., etc. (Arb.) 334 I couet rather to satisfie you particularly, than to vnderlake a generall tradition. 1605 BACON Adv. Learn. II. xvi. § 1 The expressing or transferring our Knowledge to others .. I will tearme by the general name of Tradition or Deliuerie. 1667 JER. TAYLOR Dissuas. Popery II. i. 18, 1811 I know no any way of delivering a thing, or word to another; and so every doctrine of Christianity is by Tradition. I have deliver'd unto you, saith S. Paul, that Christ died for our sins. 1868 M. PATTISON Academy. Org. vii. 227 A national institute for the preservation and tradition of useful knowledge.

† b. An ordinance or institution orally delivered.

1382 WYCLIF Col. ii. 8 Se 3e that no man disaeyue 3ou by philosofye and veyn fallace..vp the tradicion of men, vp elementis of this world, and not vp Crist. 1583 WINGET Four Scoir Thre Quest. § 63 Wks. (S.T.S.) I. 115 The Apostill St. Paull commandit in sindry places his traditionis to be keipet. 1563 STAPLETON tr. Staphylus' Apol. 153 b, They put out of S. Paule the words Traditiones, and put in his place sometime Ordinances sometime Institutions.

c. Tradition of the Creed (Ch. Hist.): oral instruction upon the Creed given to catechumens.

1888 Cassell's Encycl. Dict. s.v., Tradition of the Creed,.. the instruction formerly given on certain days to the catechumens upon the Creed at mass. The time and place varied in different Dioceses. In the Mozarabic Missal it still retains its place before the Epistle on Palm Sunday. At Rome it took place on the Wednesday in Mid-Lent.

4. The action of transmitting or 'handing down', or fact of being handed down, from one to another, or from generation to generation; transmission of statements, beliefs, rules, customs, or the like, esp. by word of mouth or by practice without writing. Chiefly in phrase by tradition.

1591 SAVILE Tacitus' Hist. (1604) 53 Old songs delivered to them, by tradition, from their fathers. 1625 N. CARPENTER Geog. Del. II. xviii. (1635) 282 Some few customes preserued by tradition, not writing. 1626 ALLESBURY Passion Serm. 3 Punishments which hang over their heads, and, by the tradition of just vengeance, from their children. 1658 PHILLIPS, Tradition,..a bequeathing any Doctrine to posterity from age to age. 1725 DE FOE Voy. round World (1840) 191 Rivetted in their minds by tradition from father to son. 1818 HALLAM Mid. Ages iv. 1 (1819) II. 1 435 The memory of Greece and Rome would have been freely preserved by tradition. 1854 MILMAN Lat. Chr. iv. iv. (1864) II. 277 Fragments..tinged with Christian allusion in their later tradition from bard to bard.

b. quasi-personified, usually as a speaker. (Cf. FAME *sb.*1 1 b, RUMOUR sb. 2 b.)

1658 BAXTER Saving Faith 87 Tradition having published it, your labour is to be a great deal the more acceptable for this Author sake. 1685 DRYDEN Painting Theatre. i. 37 Paintings..which Tradition affirm'd to be Antienter than the Foundation of Rome. 1797 HT. LEE Canterb. T., Old Woman's T. (1799) I. 333 Tradition tells us of numberless miracles performed here. 1863 MARY HOWITT F. Bremer's Greece II. xvi. 253 Wolves, so says tradition, first took gold to Delphi.

5. a. That which is thus handed down; a statement, belief, or practice transmitted (esp. orally) from generation to generation.

c 1380 WYCLIF Wks. (1880) 302 I-bounden oonly by a tradyyse or a tradyyse, but pul han hem sijlle made. 1432–50 tr. Higden (Rolls) II. 225 Matusalah..lyvynge..to the grete floode of Noe, and 1100 longer, after the newe tradicion. 1599 SHAKS. Hen. V, v. 1 76 Go, go..will you mocke at an ancient Tradition began vppon an honourable respect? 1704 NELSON Fest. & Fasts xiii. (1739) 159 The..Traditions published under his Name are rejected..as spurious. 1851 D. WILSON Preh. Ann. (1863) II. iv. iii. 234 The traditions associated with these..monuments. 1872 MORLEY Voltaire i. (1886) 4 A collection of religious tradition that had lost its virtue. 1878 SIMPSON Sch. Shakes. 1. 4 Stuckley's life has been surrounded with a complete cloud of traditions.

b. More vaguely: A long established and generally accepted custom or method of procedure, having almost the force of a law; an immemorial usage; the body (or any one) of the experiences and usages of any branch or school of art or literature, handed down by predecessors and generally followed. In quot. 1818, an embodiment of an old established custom or institution, a 'relic'.

1593 SHAKS. Rich. II, III. ii. 173 Throw away Respect, Tradition, Forme, and Ceremonious duite. 1818 LADY MORGAN Autobiog. (1859) 183 The duke is a tradition of the grands seigneurs of the country times of France, a tradition fast wearing out. 1865 R. W. DALE Jew. Temp. ix. (1877) 89 The glorious traditions of their race seemed against them. 1882 SHERMAN Amer. Lect. iv. 56 The tradition is that a President [of U.S.] may be re-elected once and once only. 1891 Leeds Mercury 2 May 6/4 A scheme.. which was contrary to Conservative traditions.

6. spec. (Theol. and Eccl.) a. Among the Jews, Any one, or the whole, of an unwritten code of regulations, etc. held to have been received from Moses, and handed down orally from generation to generation and embodied in the MISHNAH.

1382 WYCLIF S.V. Wks. III. 78 But whi breken 3e Goddis maundement, for 3oure veyn tradicion? 1382 Matt. xv. 2 Whi thi disciplis ouerpassen, or breken, the tradicions igtoos or statutis] of elder men [1534 TINDALE, the traditions of the ancyent]. 1585 ANN. SANDYS Serm. i. 11 Vnder the name of doctrine received from Moses by word of mouth, without writing, that is to say tradition, the Scribes and Pharisees were able smoothlie to carie away any thing, if Christ needled all things to the Lawe. 1623 PURCHAS Pilgrimage (1614) 170 When two Rabbins (saith their Talmud) maintaine contrary opinions, yet must not men contradict them, because both of them hath his Kabala or Tradition for the same. 1897 C. GRIMM Christ II. xiv. 205 The commands or 'traditions' of the Fathers, handed down from the days of the Great Synagogue, but ascribed with pious exaggeration to the Almighty.

b. In the Christian Church, Any one, or the whole, of a body of teachings transmitted orally from generation to generation since early times; held by Roman Catholics to comprise teaching derived from Christ and the apostles, together with that subsequently communicated to the apostles by the Holy Spirit, and to be of equal authority with Scripture. Also (as in 4) the transmission of such teaching.

1551 T. WILSON Logike (1580) 36 The Churche maie make Lawe, and appointe Traditions, whatsoeuer thei be. 1562 Articles of Religion xxxiv, Whosoever..doth openly break the traditions and ceremonies of the Church which be not repugnant to the word of God. 1667 MILTON P. L. XII. 512 The truth With superstitions and traditions taint. 1704 NELSON Fest. & Fasts v. ii. (1739) 501 It being the Tradition of the Church. 1737 CHALLONER Cath. Chr. Instr. (1773) 213 The Sunday, or the Lord's-Day, which we observe by Apostolical Tradition instead of the Sabbath. 1867 BRANDE & COX Dict. Sc., etc., Tradition, in Theology ..is commonly employed to denote any doctrine or alleged fact, delivered or handed down from and received on the faith that the first to whom it was delivered received it from an authentic source.

c. Among Mohammedans, An account of sayings and doings of Mohammed, not contained in the Koran, but transmitted at first orally, and afterwards recorded; esp. those accepted as authoritative by the Sunnites or orthodox Mohammedans, but rejected by the Shiites: = SUNNA.

1728 CHAMBERS Hist. Sunnites II. 87 The Muslemans (who intitle themselves Sonnites, that is Observers of the Tradition, and Orthodox). 1727–41 CHAMBERS Cycl. s.v. Sonna, There are also secaries among the Mahometans, called Shiites, who reject the traditions of the Sonnites. 1860 GARDNER Faiths of World, Sonnah, the Tradition of the Mohammedans, being the authentic record of the sayings and doings of the Prophet..There are six collections of the Sonnite traditions, and four of those of the Schiites.

7. attrib. and Comb., as tradition-honoured, -following, -nourished, -ridden adjs.; tradition-monger; Tradition Sunday (Ch. Hist.), a name for Palm Sunday, as the day of 'tradition of the creed' (see 3 c) in some churches.

1719 J. T. PHILIPPS tr. Thirty-four Confer. 5 Believing.. the Fables and Reveries of Tradition-mongers, your Poets and Doctors. 1888 Cassell's Encycl. Dict. s.v., Traditionsunday. 1895 Pall Mall Gaz. 4 May 1/3 To think that the tradition-bound Austria-Hungary, of all countries in Europe, should be the first to call a Pole to the post of Foreign Minister! 1901 Academy 26 Jan. 84/1 The prosy formularidden, traditi-following, golden-rule eighteenth century. 1901 Weekly Regr. 19 Apr. 485/2 The tradition-nourished intellectual life so distinctive of the Catholic Church. 1910 Westm. Gaz. 25 June 2/3 Experiments..for the warning or encouragement of a more crowded and tradition-ridden island.

Tradition, v. rare. [f. prec. sb.] trans. To transmit by tradition; to relate as a tradition.

1640 FULLER Joseph's Coat, 1 Cor. xi. 23 (1867) 43 Πορέδοκα ὑμῖν...English it as you please, 'I traditioned it unto you'. 1659 — Ch. Hist. VI. iii. 328 The following story is ..traditioned with very much credit amongst our English Catholicks. a 1661 — Worthies, Somerset. (1662) III. 20 This I may call a Charitable Curiosity, if true what is traditioned. 1892 Daily News 10 Aug., It is traditioned of Mr. Childers that he has been seen in a pea jacket.

So Traditioned (-ʃənd) a. (rare—1), having traditions of a kind specified by the prefixed word.

1850 R. SIMPSON Mem. Worth iv. 47 The Cerswick, a wild traditioned stream pours its waters into the Nith.

Traditional (trədi·ʃənăl), a. (sb.) [f. TRADITION sb. + -AL: cf. F. traditionnel, also med.L. tradītiōnālis (840) = tradītōrius TRADITORY.]

1. Belonging to, consisting in, or of the nature of tradition; handed down by or derived from tradition.

a 1600 HOOKER Eccl. Pol. vi. v. § 7 In sundry traditional writings set down by their great interpreters and scribes. 1641 MILTON Prel. Episc. Wks. 1851 III. 78 We esteem his traditionall ware, as lightly as Victor did. 1690 LOCKE Hum. Und. iv. xviii. § 10 There can be no Evidence that any traditional Revelation is of divine Original, in the Words we receive it, and in the Sense we understand it, so clear, and so certain, as those of the Principles of Reason. 1814 SCOTT Waav. lxxii, The traditional records of the respectable and ingenious Mrs. Grant of Laggan. 1911 H. M. R. MURRAY Erthe upon Erthe Introd. 23 The popular traditional version of the poem tended to become modified.

b. That is such according to tradition; asserted or related by tradition.

1856 STANLEY Sinai & Pal. v. 246 This traditional selection of Gerizim as the scene of the meeting with Melchizedek is further confirmed by all the circumstances of the narrative. 1874 SAYCE Compar. Philol. viii. 302 The heirlooms of a traditional past. 1879 S. C. BARTLETT Egypt to Pal. xxii. 455 Quarentania, the traditional region of the forty days temptation. 1908 [MISS FOWLER] Betw. Trent & Anchorme 19 A traditional 'Rose of Sharon' survives from our great-grandmother's days.

† 2. Observant of, bound by tradition. Obs. rare.

1594 SHAKS. Rich. III, III. i. 45 You are too senceless obstinate, my Lord, Too cruelly hard, and traditionall... You breake not Sanctuarie, in seizing him. 1644 MILTON Judgm. Bucer Wks. 1851 IV. 209 A perverse Age, eager in the reformation of Names and Ceremonies, but in realities as traditional and as ignorant as their forefathers.

† B. sb. A traditional belief or practice. rare—1.

1643 W. GREENHILL Axe at Root 13 We stick too much to Mosaicalls, Prelaticalls, and Traditionalls.

Hence Traditionality (-æ·lĭti), traditional quality or character; a traditional belief or principle; Traditionalize v., trans. to render traditional.

1834 New Monthly Mag. XLI. 455 We may trace a traditionality, perhaps, in the style of representing Falstaff. 1840 CARLYLE Heroes vi. (1858) 351 Many a man, doing loud work in the world, stands only on some thin traditionality, conventionality; to him indisputable, to you incredible. 1882 DAVIDSON in Longfell. XIV. 860/1 Longfellow's visit to Europe] *traditionalized his mind..and rendered him in some measure unfit to feel or express the spirit of American nature and life.

Traditionalism. [ad. F. traditionalisme, or prec. + -ISM.]

1. A system of philosophy which arose in the Roman Church c 1840, according to which all human knowledge (or, in a modified form of the system, all knowledge of religious and moral truth) is derived by traditional instruction from an original divine revelation.

[1898 LUPUS (title) La Traditionalisme et le Rationalisme examinés.] 1885 W. W. ROBERTS Pontif. Decrees Introd. 5 No sound Catholic could hold the opinions on Traditionalism taught at Louvain. 1885 Cath. Dict. 3), Traditionalism, a system of philosophy in which intellectual cognition, so far as the human mind is concerned, is reduced to belief in truth communicated by revelation from God, and received by traditional instruction through the medium of language, which was originally itself a supernatural gift. This system is also called Fideism, and is a reaction from the extreme of rationalism into an opposite extreme of antirationalism. De Bonald (d. 1840) is regarded as its author.

2. Adherence to traditional doctrine or theory; maintenance of, or submission to, the authority of tradition; excessive reverence for tradition: esp. in matters of religion.

1860 THIRLWALL Rem. (1877) I. 395 Without this, she would have fallen..under the blows, not of rationalism, but of traditionalism and superstition. 1869 Spectator 24 July 895 A conquest over the slavish legalism of the Pharisee and the timid traditionalism of the pious Jew. 1883 A. ROBERTS O. T. Revision ii. 29 Criticism and traditionalism are pitted against each other throughout the entire volume.

Traditionalist. [f. TRADITIONAL + -IST.] An adherent of traditionalism; one who upholds the authority of tradition: = TRADITIONIST 1. Also attrib.

1835 E. WHITE Life in Christ II. xvii. (1878) 188 If the Pharisaic doctrine of the oral law were the truth..there was no reason why the Incarnate Wisdom of God should not confirm the doctrine of the traditionalists. 1881 Nation (N. Y.) XXXII. 425 The high-handed procedure of the traditionalist leaders. 1881 W. R. SMITH O. Test. in Jew. Ch. xi. 326 The supercilousness with which traditionalists declare the labours of the critics to be visionary. 1906 Edin. Rev. July 208 To the traditionalist the reformer..is a profane person.

Hence Traditionali·stic a., of or belonging to traditionalists or traditionalism.

1874 tr. Ueberweg's Hist. Philos. II. 339 De Bonald (1754–1840) was the chief of the so-called 'traditionalistic' school, the leading dogma of which was the divine creation of language.

Traditionally (trədi·ʃənăli), adv. [f. as prec. + -LY 2.] In a traditional manner; by, in the way of, or according to tradition.

1646 SIR T. BROWNE Pseud. Ep. i. viii. 31 There are many things concerning the nature of simples, traditionally delivered, and to which I believe he gave no assent himself. Ibid. VII. xviii. 382 If that were true which is traditionally related by Strabo. 1764 GOLDSM. Hist. Eng. in Lett. (1772) I. 211 The common law, which was traditionally delivered to them from their ancestors. 1859 C. Barker Assoc. Princ. ii. 37 In an age..when private revenge was traditionally, if not legally, sanctioned. 1901 Athenæum 20 Aug. 198/1 The ..effigy..of the maid of Normanton who was traditionally eaten by earwigs.

Traditionary (trădĭ·ʃənărĭ), a. (sb.) [f. TRADITION + -ARY 1: cf. additionary. (In mod.L. trādītiōnārius.)]

1. = TRADITIONAL a. 1.

1661 Glanvill Vanit. Dogm. 249 Traditionary Impositions. a 1677 Hale Prim. Relig. i. (1684) 2 By Traditionary Transmission of many important Truths .. from Ancestors to their Posterity. 1748 Hartley Observ. Man. ii. iv. 396 The Corrupted Remains of some traditionary Revelation. 1802 Paley Nat. Theol. xviii. (ed. 2) 329 What can be the traditionary knowledge of a chicken hatched in an oven? 1887 Livingstone Trav. Introd. 1 Our grandfather was intimately acquainted with all the traditionary legends. 1888 Gladstone Rhet. (1869) 41 The traditionary, as opposed to the merely mythical, period.

b. = TRADITIONAL a. 1 b.

1835 Gresswell Parables I. 442, I see the vestiges of a traditionary paradise in this dream of the poets. 1840 Hoon Up the Rhine 324 Some two hundred yards distant stood the mill, in an Arabian waste, as remote from corn as the traditionary Mill of Bucclough.

c. Characterized by tradition.

1844 Lon. Houghton Palm Leaves, Burial Ground of Scutari, 'Tis well to live and lord o'er those By whom his sires were most renown'd, But his fierce heart finds best repose In this traditionary ground.

†2. Observant of tradition; = TRADITIONAL a. 2.

1613 Purchas Pilgrimage iii. x. 247 They hate the Persians, ..more then their doe the Christians: like as the Traditionary Iew doth the Textuarie, and the Papist the Protestant. 1666 Tillotson Rule Faith III. x, Himself and his Traditionary Brethren.

B. sb. One who maintains or accepts the authority of tradition; a traditionalist. rare.

1797-4 Chambers Cycl. s. v., The traditionaries are what we more usually call rabbins and rabbinists, or talmudists. ..Hillel shone among the traditionaries, and Schammai among the textuaries. 1732 Neal Hist. Puritans I. 324 (quotes Strype (see Traditioner 2), with traditionaries).

Hence Traditionarily adv. = TRADITIONALLY.

1804 Mitford Inquiry xiv. § 5 (ed. 2) 347 The antient Welsh airs, which have been transmitted traditionarily by ignorant harpers.

†Tradi·tionate, a. Obs. rare—°. [f. TRADITION sb. + -ATE 2.] Handed down by tradition, traditional. Hence †Tradi·tionately adv. (obs. rare—°), by tradition, traditionally.

1593 Nashe Christ's T. 38 Not all thy seauenty Esdreas Cabalizers, who traditionately from Moyses receiued the Lawes interpretation, could euer rightly teach thee to diuine of the crucified Messias.

Traditioner (trădĭ·ʃənəı). rare. [f. as prec. + -ER 1.] 1. = TRADITIONIST 1.

1646 J. Gregory Notes & Observ. xxv. 122 The Easterne Traditioners meane by this the continuall sadnesse and contristation of heart. 1649 W. Sclater Comm. Malachy (1650) 48 The most superstitious Traditioners that ever lived. 1711 Strype Life Abp. Parker iv. xxviii. 435 In the Church of the Traditioners there is no other Discipline than that which hath been maintained by the Antichristian Pope of Rome. 1868 Gladstone Glean. (1879) III. 58 We are all of us traditioners in a degree much greater than we think.

2. = TRADITIONIST 2.

c 1882 J. Lucas Studies Nidderdale 41 Taken..from the dictation of a female traditioner.

Traditionism (trădĭ·ʃənĭz'm). rare. [f. as prec. + -ISM.] = TRADITIONALISM 2.

1864 Webster, Traditionism, traditionalism. 1896 Record 13 Nov. 1127/2 The last reservation borders on traditionism.

Traditionist (trădĭ·ʃənĭst.) = prec. + -IST.

1. One who accepts, adheres to, or maintains the authority of, tradition. a. generally.

1666 Tillotson Rule Faith III. x, This fundamental difference about the rule of faith..is fully acknowledged by the traditionists themselves. 1706 Phillips (ed. Kersey), Traditionist, one that stands for Tradition. 1879 O. W. Holmes Poet Breakfast. xiii. (1885) 207 The traditionists ..have insisted on eliminating cause and effect from the domain of morals.

b. In Moslem history: see quots. and Traditioner 6 c.

1759 Universal Hist., Mod. II. 42 The great schism between the Sonnites, or Traditionists, that is, those of the Moslems who acknowledge the authority of the Sonna, or collection of moral traditions of the sayings and actions of Mohammed, and the Shittes, or partisans of Ali. 1847 Chikey's Sarracens 82 note, Those who consider the caliphs preceding Ali as the rightful successors of Mohammed, are called Sonnites or Traditionists. 1864 Reader 30 Apr. 549/3 The language once used by the poets of the Desert, and employed by Mohammed and the traditionists.

c. In Judaism: cf. Tradition 6 a.

1840 Milman Hist. Chr. I. 63 The great schism in the Jewish popular creed, that of the traditionists and anti-traditionists.

2. One who gives vogue to, hands on, or records a tradition; a reporter or relater of traditions.

1759 Pilkington Rem. Scrip. v. 13 We are not able to ascertain who the Masorites or Traditionists were, that settled the present Standard of the Hebrew Scriptures. 1789 Misc. in Ann. Reg. 126/1 Traditionists of grievous tidings and narrators of heart-breaking events. 1842 D'Israeli Amen. Lit. (1867) 1 Priests and poets invented, and traditionists expatiated.

So Traditionize v., intr. to deal in or give vogue to traditions; to support tradition.

1850 G. S. Faber Christ's Disc. Capernaum iv. 102 Ireneus..against the antiscripturally traditionising Gnostics.

Tradi·tionless, a. rare. [f. as prec. + -LESS.] Having no traditions.

1842 J. Wilson Chr. North I. 56 A Ruin nameless, traditionless—sole, undisputed property of Oblivion! 1907 Daily Chron. 18 June 3/1 A man whose traditions stop short at 1550 is likely to be wrong in so heartily condemning as traditionless..a nation that has gone on for another four centuries with magnificent..energy.

†Tradi·tious, a. Obs. rare. [f. TRADITION: see -OUS. Cf. seditious.] = TRADITIONAL 1.

1612 Bacon Theal. Gt. Instr. (1661) 143/2 How palpably they are carried away by traditions obscurities. 1644 Quarles Sheph. Oracles iii, Be not deluded with traditious dreames.

Traditive (trædĭtĭv), a. Now rare. [app. adj. obs. F. traditif, -ive (13th c.) traditional, f. L. trādit-us, pa. pple. of trādĕre to hand over, deliver: see -IVE.]

1. Characterized by, belonging to, or being transmitted by, tradition; traditional, traditionary.

1611 Coyga., Traditif, traditiue, or of tradition. 1638 Chillingw. Relig. Prot. I. ii. § 89. 85 If there be any Traditiue Interpretation of Scripture, produce it. 1642 Jer. Taylor Epistc. (1647) 381 None of the Fathers ever expounded this place of Lay-Elders, so that we have a traditive interpretation of it in prejudice to the pretence of our new office. 1836 Keble Serm. viii. Postscr. (1848) 395 The question lay between traditive and private interpretation. 1879 M. Pattison Milton xii. 206 That mysterious combination of traditive with original elements in diction, which Milton and Virgil, alone of poets known to us, have effected.

2. Orally delivered. rare.

1849 W. Fitzgerald tr. Whitaker's Disput. 533 Paul in this place mentions both traditive and written teaching, and that justly, considering the time.

Traditor (træ·dĭtə). Also 4 -ore, 5-8 -our. [a. L. trāditōr deliverer, giver up, betrayer, agent-n. from trādĕre: see Tradit. With traditour cf. F. traditeur (Froissart). See also Traitor.]

†1. A betrayer, traitor. Obs. in general sense.

c 1375 Sc. Leg. Saints xxii. (Lawrentius) 654 Þat man, þat wald tak, & haf vberis menis gud with Iniquite, With Iudas traitour wald be he. c 1450 Holland Cr. Mort. III. 200 Item ane pharatrum for the sacrament. Item a traditour for the passioun. 1536 in Bolton Stat. Irel. (1621) 97 Thomas fitzGerald..who..like a most false disloyal traditour, rebelled against our soveraigne lord the king. 7 1681 in Somers Tracts I. 114 These Traditors of the Gospel have deserted the Plain Paths of Righteousness. 1696 Br. Compton Charge 7 He becomes a Traditor in selling his Duty for a Morsel of Bread. a 1721 Ken Lett. Wks. (1838) 67 Y^e they might not have a Latitudinarian Traditour imposed on them, who would betray y^e baptismall faith. 1819 Metropolis I. 14 To our sex, he is a very traditore, and has..planted thorns innumerable in the female breast.

2. Ch. Hist. One of those early Christians who in the great persecution under Diocletian, in order to save their own lives, delivered up their sacred books, vessels, etc., or betrayed their fellow-Christians: cf. Tradition 2 b.

1597 Hooker Eccl. Pol. v. lxii. § 7 There were in the Church it selfe Traditors, content to deliuer vp the Bookes of God by composition, to the end their owne lines might be spared. 1634 T. Knott Charity Maintained iii. § 17 Whom they falsly affirmed to haue been ordained Bishop by those who were Traditours, or giuers vp of the Bible to the Persecutors to be burned. 1728 H. Herbert tr. Fleury's Eccl. Hist. II. 17 The Donatists pretended to prove, that Felix the Bishop of Aptonga was a traditor. 1849 W. Fitzgerald tr. Whitaker's Disput. 428 He saya ..that there was no traditor in that succession from Peter to Anastasius. attrib. 1877 J. M. Fuller in Dict. Chr. Biog. I. 886/1 Exhorting him to cleave to those who had left the traditor-church.

†3. One who hands down a tradition. Obs. rare—1.

1638 Chillingw. Relig. Prot. I. iii. § 44. 253 note, Saving the respect of the Tradition..From whatsoever Traditor it comes.

Hence †Traditor·rian a. (obs. rare—1), †Traditorous a. (obs. rare—°), implied in †Traditorously adv., traitorous, treacherous; Tra·ditorship (Ch. Hist.), the action of a traditor.

a 1734 North Exam. III. viii. § 42 (1740) 615 The good Ignorantius Sherriff..stood up and maintained the City Rights against those traditorian Court Slaves. 1596 in Pointon Hist. Irel. (1626) 30 To..rebellion against our soveraigne lord the king, intending most falsly and traditorously to take the said land of Ireland out of his possession. 1877 J. M. Fuller in Dict. Chr. Biog. I. 882/1 Not one present could claim to be free from traditorship. One had thrown the gospels into the fire, another had offered incense to the gods, a third had delivered up small papers, but kept his codices. Ibid. 882/2 The emperor..subjected the alleged traditorship of Felix to a thorough examination (A. D. 313).

†Tra·ditory, a. Obs. rare—1. [f. TRADITOR: see -ORY 2. Cf. med.L. trāditōrius, in trāditōria (sc. charta, etc.), a deed of delivery or investiture: see Du Cange.] = TRADITIONAL 1, TRADITIVE.

a 1653 G. Daniel Idyll. iv. 75 What the Ancients Speake From the first Symbole, Traditorie Truth is soe indeed.

Tradle, obs. form of Treadle.

Tradrille, variant (or error for) Trebrille.

Traduce (trădĭ·s), v. Also 6 tradduse. [ad. L. trādūcĕre to lead across, transport, transfer, deprive; also, to lead along as a spectacle, to bring into disgrace; f. trans across + dūcĕre to lead.]

†1. trans. To convey from one place to another; to transport. Obs.

1535 St. Papers Hen. VIII, VII. 610 The saide Duke of Angolesme shalbe traduced and brought hither into this Realme. 1650 Bulwer Anthropomet. 129 Matter is not traduced thorough the Body as it were by stone-gutters. a 1677 Hale Prim. Orig. Man. ii, vii. 182 We have no probable Evidence that any of their Descendents traduced the first Colonies of the American Plantations into America. 1678 Cudworth Intell. Syst. I. v. 706 Evil Demons..exagitating and disturbing the peccant humours,..partly by traducing the noxious into the principal parts.

†b. To put into another form or mode of expression, esp. into another language; to translate, render; to alter, modify, reduce. Obs. (exc. as an affectation after Fr. traduire or L. trādūcĕre, or with pun on sense 3; cf. 5).

a 1533 Ld. Berners Gold. Bk. M. Aurel. (1546) B v b, The auctoures and writers are dispraysed not of them that can traduce and compose werkes. 1552 Huloet s. v. B, That whyche they [Grecians] wryte with P. and Ph. is traduced in the Latine in B. 1574 J. Jones (title) A Briefe, Excellent and profitable Discourse of the naturall beginning of all growing and liuing things, Collected and traduced aswel forth of the best olde Wryters, as out of the new. 1674 Owen Vind. Commun. w. God Wks. 1855 II. 279 Being all of them traduced, and some of them transcribed, from the writings of the Socinians. 1824 Southey in Q. Rev. XII. 73 Milton has been traduced into French and overturned into Dutch. 1838 Blackw. Mag. XLIV. 615 Count Hypolite writes to us in flowery French, which we will traduce into our own plain English. 1890 Kingsley Alt. Locke iii, If ye canna traduce to me a page o' Virgil.

†c. To transfer from one use, sense, ownership, or employment to another. Obs.

1546 Langley Pol. Verg. De Inuent. i. xiii. 25 This parte Socrates traduced and applyed from heauenly thinges, to the vse of lyfe. 1619 Sir A. Gorges tr. Bacon's De Sapi. Vet. 83 In his description the Allegorie may bee applied and traduced to manners. 1632 Lithgow Trav. x. 441 An auncient and famous Kingdome,..not long ago traduced to the Castilian King by marriage. 1642 Br. Hall Epist. iii. 1. 218 It is traduced from that naturall sence, and used to signifie a man of some eminence in place and government.

†2. To pass on to offspring, or to posterity; to transmit, esp. by generation. Obs.

1568 H. B. tr. P. Martyr's Comm. Romans 85 b, To put vs in mynde, that originall sinne is by generation traduced from the parentes into vs. 1606 Bp. Hall Medit. x. xxxiv, Vertue is not traduced in [Wks. (1625) by] propagation, nor learning bequeathed by our will, to our heires. 1618 — Contempt., N. T. i. 1, It is not in the power of parents to traduce holinesse to their children. 1650 Bromne Pseud. Ep. vi. x. 329 This complexion..is evidently maintained by generation, and by the tincture of the skin as a spermaticall part traduced from father unto son. 1733 Neal Hist. Puritt. II. 399 The evangelical christian..composing those religious models of Invocation and Thanksgiving, which they have traduced unto us as the Liturgies of St. James, Basil, and Chrysostom.

†b. transf. To produce as offspring, or in the way of generation; to propagate. (In passive often indistinguishable from 2.) Obs.

1599 Davies Immort. Soul v. viii, For tho' from Bodies, she [Nature] can Bodies bring, Yet could she never Souls from Souls traduce. a 1641 Br. Mountagu Acts & Mon. vii. (1642) 409 There must be a supply of soules for men to be borne,..or souls must be traduced by propagation, as bodies are. a 1721 Ken Hymns Evang. Poet. Wks. 1721 I. 73 When God traduc'd by His propitious Might, Meal from Meal, Oyl from Oyl, as Light from Light.

†c. To derive, deduce, obtain from a source. (In passive often indistinguishable from 2.) Obs.

1615 J. Wright Acc. Lady Jane Grey in Phil. (1708) II. 35 Her Religion being traduc'd from the Instructions of her first Parents, and seconded by the learned Admonitions of them of the same Opinion. 1669 Gale Crt. Gentiles i. Introd. 3 Contemplations; which he..traduced, originally, ..from the sacred Oracles lodged in the Jewish Church. 1709 O. Dykes Eng. Prov. & Refg. (ed. 2) 30 A great Part of us, is certainly traduc'd from our Parents.

3. To speak evil of, esp. (now always) falsely or maliciously; to defame, malign, vilify, slander, calumniate, misrepresent; † to blame, censure.

1586-7 Reg. Privy Council Scot. IV. 141 To detract, traduce and reuiue speiche full of disprye. 1598 Marston Pasquil & Someb. in Simpson Sch. Shakes. (1878) I. 279 Do not traduce the King, hees vertuous. 1593 Abp. Bancroft Daung. Posit. iii. 1. 41 They could not endure to heare her so traduced into all hatred and disloyaltie. 1602 Marston Antonio's Rev. ii. ii, My selfe there will traduce his guilt. 1680 Otway Orphan III. i. 806 Has he supplanted me by some foul play, Traduc'd my Honour? 1697 Bentley Phal. Pref. (1699) 30 What pretense has he for traducing me here, a proud and insolent man? 1781 Cowper Expost. 42 The man that dares traduce, because he can With safety to himself, is not a man. 1825 Kirby & Sp. Entomol. (1828) I. xi. 360 This curious insect so unjustly traduced by a vulgar prejudice.

†b. In various obsolete constructions: To state or affirm slanderously (something) to be so and so; to calumniously blame for, accuse of, charge with.

c 1618 Morrison Itin. iv. v. i. (1908) 437 They are confuted, who traduce the English tounge to be like a beggers patched Cloke, which they should rather compayre to a Posey of sweetest flowers. 1630 R. Johnson's Kingd. & Commun. 88 Yet are they traduced for many defects. 1632 Sir T. Hawkins tr. Matthieu's Unhappy Prosperitie 49 Those that traduce him of pride. 1643 Baker Chrom., Edw. 59 The Papists everywhere traduced the Queen for cruelty. 1649 Milton Eikon. xvi, The removing of liturgy he traduces to be done only as a thing plausible to the people. 1672 Marvell Reh. Transp. i. 39, I cannot warrant any man who hence took occasion to traduce him of Popery.

†c. To expose (to contempt); to bring dishonour upon, dishonour, disgrace. Obs. rare.

1605 Bacon Adv. Learn. i. iii. § 3 That which is most tra-duced to contempt. 1607 Topsell Fourf. Beasts (1658) 552 Likewise in... many other places of Scripture, whereby God himself must needs be traduced, if there be no Unicorn in the world. a 1661 Holyday Juvenal 159 By their own ignoble actions they traduce, that is, disgrace their ancestors.

†4. To lead astray, mislead, seduce, betray. Obs. a 1625 [see traduced below]. 1625 J. Robinson Res. vii. Wks. 1851 I. 38 Many make their choice ambs, as... traduced by some vehement passion of anger, fear, envy, or the like. a 1660 Contemp. Hist. Irel. (Ir. Archæol. Soc.) I. 286 How those abortive statists..swarve from theire said first holy principles, traduced to the possitive opposition thereof.

†5. To falsify, misrepresent, pervert, turn into (something bad). Obs.

1643 Milton Divorce ii. xii. Wks. 1851 IV. 92 He there cites not the Law of Moses, but the licentious Glosse which traduc't the Law. a 1648 Lo. Herbert Hen. VIII (1683) 67 Who taking Texts..traduced the Sense thereof. a 1674 Clarendon Surv. Leviath. (1676) 200 [It] hath in truth traduced the whole Scheme of Christianity into Burlesque.

Hence (in various senses: see above) Traduced (trădjū'st, poet. -dĭz'sĕd) ppl. a., Tradu·cing vbl. sb. and ppl. a. (whence Tradu·cingly adv.).

1601 B. Jonson Poetaster v. iii, The malice of traducing tongues. a 1625 Fletcher & Mass. Laws of Candy iii. ii, I can forget the weakness Of the traduced Souldiers. 1645 Milton Tetrach. Introd., Wks. 1851 IV. 137 The Canon Law..punishes the naming or traducing of any person in the Pulpit. a 1721 Kex Poet. Wks. 1721 IV. 433 What they all clearly saw We only from traduc'd Sensation draw. 1721 Bailey, Traducingly, slanderously. 1904 Daily News 4 May 4/2 His picture of the young Alexander..is less coloured by traducing rumour.

Traducement (trădjū·smĕnt). [f. prec. + -ment.] The, or an, action of traducing; defamation, calumny, slander.

1597 J. King On Jonas (1618) 542 Innocent Christians, after their slanderous and false traducements, carried to their deaths. 1607 Shaks. Cor. i. ix. 22 "Twere a Concealement worse than a Theft, No less than a Traducement, To hide your doings. 1839 John Bull 19 May, Lady..would have been unjustly immolated..by atrocious traducements there propagated. 1850 Blackie Æschylus II. 140 For 'gainst the stranger calumny Flows deftly from the tongue, and sweet traducement Costs not a thought.

Traducent (trădjū·sĕnt), a. rare. [ad. L. trādūcent-em, pr. pple. of trādūcĕre to Traduce.] Traducing, slanderous. 1730-6 in Bailey (folio).

Traducer (trădjū·sər). [f. Traduce + -er 1.] One who traduces.

1. A defamer, slanderer, calumniator.

1614 Raleigh Hist. World iv. xxii. (1634) 474 Belike these traducers would continue no actions but of dead Princes. 1779 Sheridan Critic i. i, You are the greatest traducer of all other authors living. 1868 J. H. Blunt Ref. Ch. Eng. I. 57 In spite of all that was afterwards alleged by Wolsey's enemies and traducers.

†2. One who deduces or derives. Obs. rare.

1818 in Todd. 1854 Webster cites Fuller.

Traducian (trădjū·siăn, -dĭz'jĕăn), sb. and a. [ad. late L. trādūciān-us, deriv. of trādux, -ducem a layer or shoot for propagation, also in transferred sense: cf. Traduce v. 2, 2 b, and -ian. The sense connects itself with that of the vb., 'to propagate, transmit to posterity'.] a. sb. (a) One who holds that the soul of a child, like the body, is propagated by or inherited from the parents. (b) (less commonly) One who holds the doctrine of the transmission of original sin from parent to child. b. adj. Applied to such doctrine or theory.

1727-41 Chambers Cycl. Traducians, Traducianí, a name which the Pelagians anciently gave the catholics, because of their teaching that original sin was transmitted from father to children...At present some give the appellation traducianí to such as hold that the souls are transmitted to the children by the father. 1864 Webster, Traducian, a believer in Traducianism. 1880 H. R. Reynolds in Dict. Chr. Biog. II. 240 The Ethiopians maintained a vigorous traducian doctrine of the origin of human souls. 1884 W. S. Lilly in Forth. Rev. Jan. 127 The Traducian view—that the soul, like the body, is derived from the parent—has been held by theologians of much repute.

Hence Tradu·cianism, (a) the doctrine of the transmission of the soul from the parents (see a (a) above); (b) rarely, the doctrine of the hereditary transmission of original sin (see a (b) above); Tradu·cianist, a believer in traducianism in either sense; also attrib. or adj.; whence Traduciani·stic a., pertaining to traducianists or traducianism.

1848 R. I. Wilberforce Doctr. Incarnation iii. (1850) 32 This notion was called "Traducianism by the Schoolmen, the system opposed to it being termed Creationism. 1877 Shields Final Philos. 199 Tertullian and Gregory of Nyssa had gone to the other extreme of traducianism or the notion of a physical propagation of the soul from parent to child. 1893 Tablet 28 Feb. 257 It is not allowable to any loyal Catholic to hold spiritual traducianism or generationism. 1898 J. C. Robertson Hist. Chr. Ch. (1875) II. 152 Julian ..declared..that the God of the "traducianists" (as he styled those who held that sin was derived by inheritance) was not the God of the gospel. 1872 Liddon Elem. Religi. iii. 100 Augustine saw in the Traducian doctrine an element of materialism. Ibid. 102 Of modern Traducianists, Delitzsch among Protestant, and Klee among Roman Catholic writers are perhaps the greatest. 1888-3 Schaff's Encycl. Relig. Knowl. Hist. Ch. 2318 He (Tertullian) adopts the traducianistic view of hereditary sin.

†Tradu·cible, a. Obs. rare—1. [f. Traduce v. + -ible: cf. producible.] Capable of being 'traduced' or transmitted; transmissible.

a 1677 Hale (J.), Oral tradition..were incompetent without written monuments to derive to us the original laws, because they are of a complex nature, and therefore not orally traducible to so great a distance of ages.

†Tradu·ct, sb.[1] Obs. rare—1. [ad. L. trādūctus sb. (u-stem), in same sense, f. trādūcĕre to lead across.] A passage, a channel.

1535 Stewart Cron. Scot. (Rolls) III. 499 Syne on ane nycht that ilk traduct he brak, Quhair that thair enterit efter at his bak Richt mony suthsum with him that he led.

†Tradu·ct, ppl. a. and sb.[2] Obs. rare. [ad. L. trādūct-us, pa. pple. of trādūcĕre: see Traduce.] a. ppl. a. (const. as pa. pple.) Translated. b. sb. A translation.

1534 (title) Erasmus's Funus, lately traducte into the vulgare Tonge, at the Request of a certayne Gentylman. 1541 R. Copland Galyen's Terap. 2 Alj, Whiche is the cause wherfore I haue traducte out of latyn in to frenche this fourth boke. c 1645 Howell Lett. II. xlviii, Things translated..lose of their primitive vigor..unless a paraphrasticall version be permitted, and then the traduct may exceed the Original.

†Tradu·ct, v. Obs. [f. L. trādūct-, ppl. stem of trādūcĕre: see prec.] trans. To transmit, esp. by generation; to propagate: = Traduce 2, 2 b.

1613 Purchas Pilgrimage i. v. 24 Although the Soule be not traducted (as they tearme it) and by generation conferred. a 1619 Fotherby Atheom. ii. viii. § 2 (1622) 281 Our Nature, as it is now depraued in vs, and by the corrupt Conduicts of our sinfull Parents traducted vnto vs. 1657 W. Monick Coena quasi Κοινὴ xxxiii. 306 This uncleannesse is alway diffused and traducted, as legal uncleannesse also was. 1659 Gauden Hieraspistes Doment. Soul ii. xiii. § 6. 200 How this newly-created Soule is infused by God, no man knowes; nor how, if it be traducted from the Parents, both their Soules contribute to the making up a new one.

Hence †Tradu·ctor, -or, one who 'traducts'; in quot. = Traductionist.

1682 H. More Annot. Glanvill's Lux O. 21 So weak an Illustration is this of what these Traducters would have.

Traduction (trădʌ·kʃən). [a. OF. traduction (13th c. in Hatz.-Darm.), or ad. L. trādūctiōn-em 'leading across, transference, leading in triumph, public exposure'; in Christ.L. also in sense 3; also, in It. traduzzione, F. traduction 16th c., in sense of 'translation' into another lang.]

†1. Conveyance from one place to another; bringing over, transportation, transference. Obs.

†1501 (title) A remembrance for the traduction of the Prince..Kyng Henry the Sixth, doughter to the right high and right mygthy Prince the Kinge and Quene of Spayne. 1536 in Strype Eccl. Mem. (1721) I. App. lxxvi. 182 Concerning the traduction of the..Duke of Orleans into the realm of England there to be educated. 1647 Hakewell Apol. (1650) 233 [That] the soule of the Baptist, or Elias, or of one of the Prophets, was by traduction passed into our Saviours bodie. a 1677 Hale Prim. Orig. Man. ii. vii. 298 All the possibility there could be for traduction of the Britons into America from the known World, could only be by Shipping.

†b. ? Course. Obs. rare—1.

1675 Gilby Brit. Pref. 1 Some following the Natural Traduction of Rivers and Mountains.

†2. Translation into another language; concr. a translation. Obs. or arch.

a 1533 Ld. Berners Gold. Bk. M. Aurel. (1546) B v, I confesse to deserue no merytes for my traduction. 1549 Compl. Scot. To Rdr. 10 He that has the gyft of traduction, counting or teching, his facultie is..honest. 1662 Cowley Pind. Odes Pref., The verbal Traduction of him into Latin Prose. 1716 M. Davies Athen. Brit. III. 5 The Jesuit Kapin's Critical Parallels (whereof the English Traduction was so greedily bought up). 1820 Scott Nigel xxxii, While we do not perceive even in the Latin version of the Septuagint, much less in the English traduction. 1823 Byron Juan xi. xix. note, If there be any gem'man so ignorant as to require a traduction.

3. Transmission by generation to offspring or posterity; production, propagation; derivation from ancestry, descent. (Common in 17th c.; now rare or Obs.)

1593 R. Harvey Philad. 46 The vertues of men are euerlasting, yea and their bodies by traduction are immortall. 1600 O. E. Repl. Libel ii. iii, 55 Pelagius going about to ouerthrow the traduction of originall sinne in the posteritie of Adam. 1617 Hieron Wks. (1620) II. 145 A great question, diuersly disputed to and fro, touching the traduction of the soule. 1640 Bp. Reynolds Passions xxxii. 270 To have Being by Traduction, is, when the soule of the Child is derived from the soule of the Parent, by the meanes of Seed. 1652 N. Culverwell Treat. i. xi. (1661) 87 The Traduction of the Soul is inconsistent with the Immortality of it. 1872 E. White Life in Christ iii. xx. (1878) 282 From the first Adam they have received by traduction of being a nature which is animal and perishable.

†b. gen. Transmission; derivation; handing down, tradition. Obs.

1646 Sir T. Browne Pseud. Ep. i. x. 37 Another Agent, who..proceeds to obscure the diviner part, and efface all tract of its traduction. 1652 H. L'Estrange Amer. no Jewes 50 The generall conflagration of all by fire might easily be conveyed by Sems off-spring, and traduction from Adam. a 1677 Hale Prim. Orig. Man. ii. iii. 150 Arts have their successive invention and perfection and traduction from one People to another. 1727 De Foe Syst. Magic i. i. (1840) 14 His wise dictates..which for so many ages were preserved by oral traduction, and were called the precepts of Noah. 1827 G. S. Faber Orig. Expiat. Sacr. 167 That altars and sacrifices were alike independently derived, both to Judaism and to Gentilism, from the common source of primeval Patriarchism: and this traduction he justly deems agreeable to both reason and to history.

†c. transf. Something transmitted or derived.

1643 Sir T. Browne Relig. Med. ii. § 4 God..loves us but for that part which is as it were himself, and the traduction of his Holy Spirit. 1677 Gale Crt. Gentiles II. iii. 6 Corrupt traductions or broken traditions. 1794 G. Wakefield Exam. Paine's Age Reason 49 If no written memorials of the Jewish and Christian dispensations were..in existence, the present condition of the professors of these systems, as a traduction of believers in a certain system,..cannot be accounted for.

†4. (rendering L. traductio.) A rhetorical figure consisting in the repetition of a word (or its derivatives) for some particular effect. Obs. rare—1.

[1589 Puttenham Eng. Poesie iii. xix. (Arb.) 213 Then haue ye a figure of like sort, which we call Traductio, and I the translacer: which is when ye turne and translace a word into many sundry shapes as the Tailor doth his garment, and after that sort do play with him in your ditie.. Here ye see how..this word life is translaced into liue, liuing, liuely, liuelode.] 1626 Bacon Sylva § 113 The Reports, and Fuges, have an Agreement with the Figure in Rhetorick,..of Repetition, and Traduction. [1875 E. J. Payne Burke's Sel. Wks. II. 097 The word is repeated, by the figure called traductio, in a contemptuous way.]

5. The action of traducing or defaming; calumny, slander, traducement. rare.

1656 Blount Glossogr., Traduction, a conveying from one place to another, a translating; a slanding, defaming or traducing. 1793 J. Williams Life Ld. Barrymore 57 But who can restrain the dirty movements of Traduction and Illiberality? 1881 J. Nichol Death Themistocles 17, I left traduction to its perjuries. 1903 Daily News 9 Apr. 2/6 The plaintiffs had a right to have their character preserved free of traduction.

6. Logic. (after deduction, induction): Transference or transition from one classification or order of reasoning to another.

1847 Jas. Broun Let. in De Morgan Formal Logic App. 332 When, abandoning one scheme of classification, we transfer our knowledge directly to another, we use traduction and traductive syllogism...In political science, what has been predicated by historians of men classed geographically is transferred to men classed according to constitutions of government by traduction. 1855 Miss Cobbe Intuit. Mor. 76 By a process which modern logicians have happily named 'Traduction' we pass from one order of Reasoning [deductive] to the other [inductive]. 1870 Jevons Elem. Logic xxv. 212 Each conclusion applies to just such an object as each of the premises applies to. To this kind of reasoning the apt name of traduction has been given.

Hence Tradu·ctionist, one who believes in the 'traduction' of the soul (see sense 3 above).

1889 Farrar Lives Fathers I. 232 He (Tertullian) maintains the views of the Traductionists, that the souls of all mankind are derived from Adam.

Traductive (trădʌ·ktĭv), a. [f. L. trādūct- ppl. stem (see above) + -ive.]

1. Having the property of being 'traduced' or transmitted; passing on to another; hereditary; traditional; derivative. Now rare or Obs.

1657 W. Monick Coena quasi Κοινὴ xxiv. 248 The punishments as wel as privileges are traductive, as in Attainders. 1670 Maynwaring Vita Sana i. 4 Hereditary infirmities, and traductive debilities of Nature. 1741 Warburton Div. Legat. II. 355 Customs of Men..are all, whether civil or religious, traductive from one generation to another. 1842 Ordsmow Creol. Pref., He has..ventured to draw from the sources of his memory traductive events.

2. Logic. Involving 'traduction'.

1847 [see Traduction 6].

Trady (trē·dĭ), a. colloq. [f. Trade sb. + -y: cf. shady.] Pertaining to or of the nature of trade.

1899 Cycling 24 June 481/2 To my mind this worthy minister appears to be taking rather a tradey view of religion. 1901 Academy 26 Oct. 375/1 Book-Hunting... There are still possibilities in this least 'tradey' of trades.

Tradyment, variant of Tradiment Obs.

Trafalgar (trăfæ·lgăr, orig. and arch. træfălgā·r), Name of a cape on the S. coast of Spain, famed for a great victory of the British fleet over the combined fleets of France and Spain on 21 Oct. 1805, in which Admiral Nelson was killed. Hence a common element in English names of streets and the like, as Trafalgar Square, London, formerly also of stage-coaches, fabrics, etc.; also, the former name of a large size of printing type: see quots.

1825 Huberdasher's Guide 15 Trafalgar Cottons, for working muslins, &c. 1848 Thackeray Van. Fair vii, Whither ..is the light four-inside Trafalgar coach carrying us?

1840 Caslon's Printing Types, Trafalgar. 1841 Savage Dict. Printing 80 Trafalgar. 80 [lines contained in one foot]. Ibid. 803 Minion, Brevier, and Trafalgar, may be classed as irregular bodied letters, for they bear no specific regular proportion to any other size. 1888 Jacot Printers' Guide, Trafalgar, a size of type one size larger than Twoline Double Pica and one size smaller than Canon.

†Traffe. Obs. rare. [Cf. OF. treffe used in a 14th c. document at Genoa to render It. traffico (Hatz.-Darm. s.v. Traffic).] Baggage: cf. Traffic sb. 4 b.

1566 Adlington Apuleius 42 Sodenly the theeves returned home carefull and heavy, bringing no burthens with them, no not so much as traffe or baggage, save onely a maiden.

Traffic (træ·fĭk), sb. Forms: α. 6 trafficg, -ygo. β. 6 trafyoke, (Sc. trafek, -eque, -eck); 6–7 trafick, -icke, 7–9 traffic. γ. 6 traffyque, -yk(ke, -ico, (Sc. traffeck, treffik, trefique), 6–7 trafficke, -ike; 6–8 trafficque, -ique, (Sc. traffect), traffick, 6– traffic. [In use soon after 1500, in various forms, cognate with the 15–16th c.

F. trafique (1441 in Godef.), trafficque (fem.), mod.F. trafic (m.) (Amyot 1559–74); Prov. trafec, trafey; Sp. tráfico, in 16th c. trafagо; Pg. trafego, tráfico; It. traffico, also, in 15–16th c. trafico (Florio), Venetian (c 1500) traffigo. The earliest Eng. forms are traffykke and traffigo (the latter as an alien word); the ordinary forms from 1549 to c 1680, trafficque, -ique, -icke, -ike, less usually traf-, were from the French of the same period; traffick, rare before 1600, became frequent in the 17th c. and in the form traffic the prevalent one in the 18th c. Some curious Sc. forms occur in the 16th c. The F. traf(f)ic was ad. It. traffico, which occurs in Pisan documents as early as 1323 (Bonaini, Statuti inediti della città di Pisa dal XII al XIV secolo (1847) III. 457). OF. had also trafit, pl. -its (1440 in Godef. Compl.). The sb. appears to have been the noun of action from the verb, It. trafficare, Sp. trafagar, Cat. trafegar to TRAFFIC, the ultimate source and etymology of which present difficulties: see Note below.]

1. The transportation of merchandise for the purpose of trade; hence, trade between distant or distinct communities; commerce.

1506 Guylforde Pilgr. (Camden) 61 We founde also at Candy iij. other galyes, Venyysans, ladynge malueseyes, called the galeys of Traffygo. Ibid., We made sayle ayen, and so dyde the other iij. galeys of Traffigo also in our company. 1549 Thomas Hist. Italie A j b, How commodious the countrey is..to the trafficque of them that liue by merchaundise. 1568 Grafton Chron. I. 129 That passage and trafficque of Marchaunts was forboden. 1596 Spenser F. Q. vi. xi. 9 Merchaunts..wount To skim those coastes for bondmen there to buy, And by such trafficke after people to hunt. 1596 Dalrymple tr. Leslie's Hist. Scot. (S. T. S.) I. 38 A citie..to quhilke the frenche men and Spaniẹards oft beceaves of thair treffick sailed outr. 1604 E. G[imstone] D'Acosta's Hist. Indies iii. xix. 180 The greatest part of the habitation of the coast entertaines all the traffike of Spaine by sea. 1634 Sir T. Herbert Trav. 43 Vessels of Traffique and Warre. 1652 Howell Venice 83 That the Venetians shold have free and safe trafic into the Ottoman Ports. 1719 De Foe Crusoe I. 296 It was not the Way to or from any Part of the World, where the English had any Traffick. 1860 Motley Netherl. (1868) I. i. 7 Cadiz..where the ancient and modern systems of traffic were blending like the mingling of the two oceans.

†b. (with pl.) A trading voyage or expedition.

a 1548 Hall Chron., Edw. IV 241 Thether was one of their common trafficques and ventes of all their Merchaundice. 1598 Hakluyt (title) The Principal Navigations, Voiages, Traffiques and Discoueries of the English Nation.

2. In wider sense: The buying and selling or exchange of goods for profit; bargaining; trade.

1568 Grafton Chron. I. 4 The honest and simple dolings that before tyme had bene vsed..in their exchauages and trafficques. 1604 R. Cawdrey Table Alph., Traffique, bargaynyng. 1604 E. G[imstone] D'Acosta's Hist. Indies iv. iii. 210 The maner of the Indians trafficke..was to exchange, and give things for things. 1697 Evelyn Numism. i. 3 Antient Moneys..first used in Traffick. 1727 W. Mather Yng. Man's Comp. 396 Traffic is the Buying, Selling, Bargaining, or Exchanging of one Man with another. 1786 Burke W. Hastings Wks. 1813 XII. 202 Engaged in a low, clandestine traffick, prohibited by the laws of the Country. 1844 Wilson Brit. India III. 128 After a brief interval, Prome again became the seat of industry and traffic.

b. With a and pl.

1578 T. Ellis in Hakluyt Voy. (1600) III. 40 We did conclude, that they had either Artificers amongst them, or els a trafficke with some other nation. 1604 E. G[imstone] D'Acosta's Hist. Indies v. xxx. 426 Those which made it a trafficke to buy and sell slaves. 1818 Scott Hrt. Midl. xxxiii[i], She..had now, under pretence of a trifling traffic, resumed predatory habits.

c. fig.

1505 Killingworth in Lett. Rich. III & Hen. VII (Rolls) II. App. D. 381 As for K[ing] H[enry's] traffykkes they knewe theym weleynough and better than ye did. 1570 Buchanan Chameleon Wks. (1892) 46 This ouersey trafficque of marriage growing cauld. 1633 Bp. Hall Occas. Medit. (1851) 139 Surely this very traffic of faculties is that, whereby we live;..one man lends a brain; another an arm: one, a tongue: another, a hand. 1697 Dryden Virg. Georg. iv. 227 The bees have common cities of their own,..herein one law they live, And with one common stock their traffic drive. 1819 Scott Ivanhoe xli, I am stout enough to exchange buffets with any who will challenge me to such a traffic.

d. With sinister or evil connotation: Dealing or bargaining in something which should not be made the subject of trade.

1663 Bp. Patrick Parab. Pilgr. xxi. (1687) 220 Their courtesies are meer trafficque, and they always expect to gain more than they give. 1702 Eng. Theophrast. 105 They make a Traffick of Honour, and pay for it with the wind of fair Words. 1790 Burke Fr. Rev. 60 In this political traffick the leaders will be obliged to bow to the ignorance of their followers. 1828 Cobbett Pol. Reg. XXXIII. 686 It is notorious, that seats in the House of Commons are an article of traffic. 1882 Mrs. Forrester Roy & V. I. 79 You make the most shameless traffic and barter of yourselves and each other. 1903 Westm. Gaz. 31 Dec. 2/3 Fruits of 'the traffic' occupy a prominent place in to-day's Metropolitan police-court reports. Mod. The white slave traffic; a traffic in souls.

3. fig. Intercourse, communication; dealings, business. Now rare.

a 1548 Hall Chron., Edw. IV 240 The quotidiane entercourse, trafficke and commutacion, which no smal season had ben practised, frequented, & excercised. 1560 Daus tr. Sleidane's Comm. 339 b, That secreat trafficke, that thou haste with infidels. 1592 Shaks. Rom. & Jul. Prol. 12 The fearful passage of their death-mark'd love..Is now the two hours' traffic of our stage. a 1628 F. Grevil Let. to Hon. Lady V. Wks. 1870 IV. 288 Shee there vseth the trafique of wit. 1633 T. Stafford Pac. Hib. i. xv. (1821) 173 The President..returned him no Answer.., utterly refusing any further trafficque with him. 1747 De Foe Syst. Magic i. iii. (1840) 62 Perhaps they were not hardened enough at first for the carrying on such a traffick [intercourse with Satan]. 1825 Jamieson, Trafficke, intercourse, familiarity. 1893 Stevenson Catriona xxviii, Our traffic is settled.

†4. transf. Goods or merchandise in which trade is done; saleable commodities. Also pl. (quot. 1604) in same sense. Obs.

1555 Eden Decades 127 They bowght them by exchaunge of golde and other of their trafycke. 1560 in Marsden Sel. Pl. Crt. Admir. (Selden) II. 119 In which shipps there be any merchaundizes or traffick appertaining to the ennemies. 1604 E. G[imstone] D'Acosta's Hist. Indies iv. xxii. 271 The Cacao..is so much esteemed amongest the Indians (yea and among the Spaniards) that it is one of the richest and the greatest traffickes of new Spaine. c 1710 Celia Fiennes Diary (1888) 36 A Considerable Hill is kept..ye Traffique mostly hopps. 1716 Gay Trivia ii. 10 You'll see a draggled damsel, here and there From Billingsgate her fishy traffic bear. 1778 Bp. Lowth Transl. Isaiah xxiii. 18 Her traffic and her gain, shall be holy to Jehovah: It shall not be treasured, nor shall it be kept in store.

†b. Baggage. Obs. rare.

1538 Elyot, Impedimenta, is the caryage and trafyke, that goth with the hoste.

†c. A prostitute. Cf. Trader 1 b. Obs. rare.

1591 Greene Disc. Coosnage (1592) 35 These trafickes, these common trulls I meane, walke abroad.

d. Worthless stuff, rubbish, trash; also, rascally people; rabble. dial.

1828 Craven Gloss., Trafficke, lumber, trash. 'There wor a deal of oud trafficke to sell'.. Rabble, low, rascally people, the canaille. 1829 Leicestr. Gloss., Traffic, (2) lumber, rubbish. (2) Rabble, low, rascally people.

5. The passing to and fro of persons, or of vehicles or vessels, along a road, railway, canal, or other route of transport.

a 1825 Forby Voc. E. Anglia, Traffic,..passing and repassing on a high road. Ex. 'There is a great deal of traffic on the Yarmouth road.' 1832 Hr. Martineau Tale of Ireland ix, He sauntered along the pier, around which there was no busy traffic. 1886 C. E. Pascoe London of To-day xxvi. (ed. 3) 239 The traffic of omnibuses, cabs, carriages, and carts at this point is greater and more confusing than in any other part of London. 1889 Sala London up to Date 73 We have long since agreed to call street movement 'traffic'.

b. The amount of business done by a railway, etc., in the transport of passengers and goods; the account of or revenue from this.

1858 [implied in traffic-return: see 6]. 1883 Pall Mall G. 30 Nov. 5/2 It is obviously advisable that all the railways should adopt the same course, otherwise comparisons of traffic will become even more misleading than they are now. 1889 Ibid. 21 Nov. 5/2 Traffics are still decreasing, and this fact is all the more discouraging from the fact that the comparison is with decreased traffics. 1892 Westm. Gaz. 28 Sept. 9/1 Satisfaction is again expressed with this week's batch of Home Railway traffics.

c. A railway traffic-rate (Rate *sb.*1 6 b).

1899 Daily News 14 Mar. 9/1 The Grand Trunk Railway unconditionally withdrew the local traffics of January 6th, and agreed for the present to revert to former rates.

6. attrib. and Comb., as, in sense 2, traffic fellow, instinct; in 5, traffic block (Block sb. 19 a), board (Board sb. 8 b), -entrance, -privilege, -rate, return (Return sb. 9 c), -road, staff, value; instrumental, objective, and obj. genitive, as traffic-manager; traffic-choked, -congested, -furrowed, -laden, -regulating, -thronged adjs.; traffic density, the number of passengers and of tons of freight carried over any section of a railway in a given period (Webster 1911); traffic mile: see quot.; traffic-taker, a railway official whose business is to compile traffic returns.

1904 Daily Chron. 17 Feb. 7/2 *Traffic blocks are almost unknown. 1906 Westm. Gaz. 18 July 8/2 The authority which the Commission recommend to be established is a *Traffic Board. 1886 Pall Mall G. 19 Aug. 3/2 The *traffic-choked streets. 1836 T. Hardy Mayor Casterb. ix, They..entered..by the back way or *traffic-entrance. 1590 Greene Royal Exchange Dedⁿ, Wks. (Grosart) VII. 223 Merchaunts wyth theyr freendes, and *traffique fellowes. 1898 G. Meredith Odes Fr. Hist. 46 Their *traffic instincts hooded their live wits To issues. 1871 Howells Wedd. Journ. (1892) 254 The stream athwart which the ferries sped their swift *traffic-laden shuttles. 1862 Helps Organis. Daily Life 30 A skilful *traffic-manager has been suffered to be too despotic in matters of traffic. 1901 Webster (citing Harley), 'Traffic mile is a term designed to furnish an excuse for the erroneous practice of adding together two things (ton miles and passenger miles) which, being of different kinds, cannot properly be added. 1901 Academy 22 June 540/1 The sight amazes him..the effect produced when the *traffic-regulating policeman raises his hand. 1858 Simmonds Dict. Trade, 'Traffic-return, a periodical statement of the receipts for goods and passengers on a railway line. 1902 Times 19 Dec. 16/5 Canadian Pacific Railway shares opened above parity on the satisfactory traffic return.

Hence Traffic'ful a., nonce-wd., fully occupied with traffic; Traffickery, nonce-wd. [-ery], underhand dealing, intrigue; Traffic'less a., devoid of traffic.

a 1628 F. Grevil Sidney ix. (1652) 107 Her *trafficqueful, and navigable river. 1628 F. Grevil Religion Wks. (1838) III. 387 This indiscreet *trafickery with Romish wares. 1892 Black & White Jan. 124/2 Stilled and trafficless streets.

[Note. It is clear that the verb and sb. arose in the commerce of the Mediterranean, and in the language of one of the nations by or with whom this was carried on. The earliest uses yet found are trafficare and traffico in the Pisan Breve dell' ordine del mare, cited above, which show both vb. and sb. in full established use in 1325. Etymologists are generally agreed in regarding the word as Romanic, and in seeing in the first element tra- the regular It. repr. of L. trans across. Italian scholars also see in -ficare the derivative form of L. facēre to do, make; transficare would thus be parallel to transigēre to transact, or engage in transactions. But there are difficulties: see Diez, traffico, Körting, transvicare, etc. Some have suggested for the word an origin in Arabic, referring it to the verb tarafaqa, which sometimes means 'to seek profit'.]

Traffic (tra·fik), v. Inflected trafficked (-ikt), trafficking. Forms: see the sb. [ad. OF. trafiquer (1441 in Godef. Compl.), F. trafiquer (1529 in Hatz.-Darm.) = Cat. trafegar, Sp. traficar (in 16th c. trafagar), Pg. traficar, trafeguear, It. trafficare (known in 1325), trafficare (Florio). As to etymology, see Traffic sb. and Note there.]

I. Intransitive senses.

1. To carry on trade, to trade, to buy and sell; to have commercial dealings with any one; to bargain or deal for a commodity. Sometimes, To resort to a place for the purpose of trade: = Trade v. 6 a.

1542 in 10th Rep. Hist. MSS. Comm. App. v. 410 They that so would bargayn or trafique pertly or oppenly with any such merchantes. 1555 Eden Decades 317 They do not gladly permitte the Portugales to trafice in theyr kynggedome. 1585 T. Washington tr. Nicholay's Voy. iv. xi. 123 b, Vnto the ports..come to trafficke, the merchants of Cambaia. 1613 H. Spelman Relat. Virginia in Capt. Smith's Wks. (Arb.) p. cix, Powhatan..carried out English to their storehouse where their corne was, to trafficque with them. 1634 Sir T. Herbert Trav. 53 Many Carrauans..trafficquing to the Portugall[s]. 1716 Royal Proclam. 18 Oct. in Lond. Gaz. No. 5480/1 Their Factors..should..Trafick, or Adventure into or from the..East-Indies. 1769 Cook Voy. round World i. ix. (1773) 93 They trafficked with us for cocoa-nuts and other fruit. 1800 Wordsw. Brothers 293 He was..A thriving man, and trafficked on the seas.

b. In a disparaging sense, or said of dealing considered improper = Trade v. 6 c: cf. prec. 2 d.

c 1657 in Verney Mem. (1907) II. 120 [He had made more money than] any man who trafficked in that desperate commodity—rebellion. 1696 Phillips (ed. 5), Traffic,..us'd figuratively in an ill Sense, for trading in Simoniacal Contracts, and making an unlawful Gain of Spiritual things. Such a one has long Traffick'd in buying and selling his Countrey. 1823 J. H. Newman Hist. Sk. (1873) II. i. ii. 82 He observed that it was somewhat more honourable to destroy idols than to traffic in them. 1884 J. S. C. Abbott Napoleon (1855) I. iv. 80 Beautiful and dissolute females.. trafficking in their charms.

†2. fig. To have dealings or intercourse (with a person); to carry on negotiations; to be concerned, to busy or exercise oneself (in some matter). Obs.

1583 Golding Calvin on Deut. cxxi. 743 But there are meanes to trafique inuit with man. 1621 T. Taylor Comm. Titus ii. 23 (1619) 483 Who while they liue in earth, yet trafficque and haue their conuersation in heauen. 1656 Stanley Hist. Philos. v. (1701) 173/2 Hermodorus, of whom the Proverb, Hermodorus trafiquens in Words. c 1721 Mss. Tullibardine Let. 24 Jan., in 10th Rep. Hist. MSS. Comm. App. i. 126 On no pretence I trafick in any tainting politique. 1882 Jamieson, Trafeque, to hold familiar intercourse. Banffs.

b. To have dealings of an illicit or secret character; to deal, intrigue, conspire (with some one, in, for, or to do something); to practise. (Cf. 1 b.)

1587 Reg. Privy Council Scot. I. 569 Trafficquand with the Papis Nunce. a 1649 Drumm. of Hawth. Hist. Scot. (1655) 164 He also trafficked by the friends of..the Douglasses and Humes to perswade them to a Return. 1681, 1735 [see trafficking below]. 1852 Miss Yonge Cameos II. ii. 17 Jeanne discovered that he was trafficking with her enemies and tampering with her friends.

3. dial. (See 4 b.)

II. Transitive senses.

†4. To traverse or frequent for the purpose of trading; to carry on trade in (a place). Obs.

1549 Acts Privy Council (1890) II. 130 The Kynges Majestes subjectes trafeking the seas. 1561 Q. Eliz. in Hakluyt Voy. (1589) 362 Trade of marchandize with your Subiectes, and with other strangers trafficking your Realmes. 1612 W. Scultze Key (1659) 98 Rome,..the seate of the Empire, trafficqued by all Nations.

b. To pass to and fro upon, to frequent (a road, etc.); to traverse. Also intr. To pass to and fro, walk or run about. dial.

a 1825 Forby Voc. E. Anglia, Traffic, to frequent,..'The new road will soon be trafficked'. 1850 Merryweather Glimmerings 52 Some would venture to traffic them in the day, but few would risk such perilous thoroughfares by night. 1877 N. W. Linc. Gloss., Traffic, v. (2) To walk about without settled purpose. (2) To trespass upon other people's land. A correspondent writes, 'Our nurse used to scold us when children for trafficking up and down the lane'.

5. To carry on a trade in, to buy and sell; to dispose of (or † acquire) in the way of trade; to deal in; often with sinister implication; in quot. 1879, to barter away. Also fig. Now rare.

1597 Daniel Civ. Wars vi. xviii, Whil'st wee..Ryot away ..whole Prouinces;..Trafficque important Holdes, sell Fortresses. 1598 Dallington Meth. Trav. N iv b, Non paucae mercatores potestatum, I will suffer none to trafficque Offices. a 1628 F. Grevil Religion Wks. 1870 I. 272 The world doth build without, our God within; He traffics goodness, and she traffics sin. 1808 Sporting Mag. XXXII. 7 An assertion..that his Lordship had trafficked a seat for the Borough of Malton. 1879 19th Cent. No. 32. 673 The honour of the proud house of Este was being basely trafficked away. 1893 LANE-POOLE Avengeth xii. 200 The young Prince was suspected of trafficking the Imperial honour with the Marathas.

†6. To negotiate (a matter). Obs. rare.

a 1649 DRUMM. OF HAWTH. Hist. Scot. (1655) 28 He trafficked the return of King James. Ibid. 207 Whilst they traffique this Marriage, many false accusations (as Plots laid against his person) are intended one after another at the Court.

Hence Tra·fficking vbl. sb. and ppl. a.

1570 in Tolstoy 1st 40 Yrs. Intern. Eng. & Russ. (1875) 103 Kept from trafficquing. 1580 Nat. Court. Ref. Princ. Reexhibited (1787) 56 Trafficking Papists to be punished. a 1649 DRUMM. OF HAWTH. Hist. Scot. (1655) 21 The trafficking of a Marriage between Lewis the Dauphins.. with Margaret Daughter to King James. 1681 in Acts Parlt. Scotl. (1875) XII. 44/1 They..shall never tolerate priests Jesuits nor traffecking Papists to abide in this Kingdome. 1735 in Tablet 19 Mar. (1910) 446/9 Trafficking Papists, I mean such as are continually employed in making Proselytes. 1835 MARRYAT Pirate ii, Grief is worth nothing in this trafficking world unless it is paid for. 1863 FROUDE Hist. Eng. VIII. viii. 132 Thus the antagonism went on, irritating Elizabeth..into dangerous traffickings with the Bishop of Aquila and his successor. 1903 W. NEVILLE Penal Servitude xiii. 170 Any officer found guilty of passing a letter out of prison would be liable to instant dismissal, as this comes under what is called 'trafficking'—an unpardonable offence.

Trafficable (træ·fikăb'l), a. [f. TRAFFIC sb. or v. + -ABLE.]

†1. Adapted or suitable for traffic or trading. Obs. rare—1.

a 1603 T. CARTWRIGHT Confut. Rhem. N. T. (1618) 469 That being the most trafficqueable and Marchandable Citie of all Asia.

2. That may be bought or sold; marketable.

1649 BP. HALL Cases Conse. I. (1654) 4 It is..in some cases a trafficqueable commodity. 1880 A. SOMERVILLE Autobiog. 90, I required what may be called trafficable material. 1889 Sat. Rev. 19 Oct. 422/1 [They] have been taught..to regard a vote as a commodity, traffickable.

3. Fit or suitable for passage to and fro.

1890 Goldfields of Victoria 17 A good trafficable roadway. 1891 Illustr. Lond. News 17 Jan. 78/2 The streets are trafficable.

Hence Trafficabi·lity, Tra·fficableness, suitability for traffic or passage to and fro.

1899 Daily News 16 Nov. 4/5 A paper dealing with.. London's treacherous 'trafficability' was read at the opening meeting of the 14th session of the Society of Arts.

Trafficked (træ·fikt), ppl. a. [f. TRAFFIC v. (or sb.) + -ED.] † a. That has trafficked or traded abroad; experienced in traffic (obs. rare); cf. travelled, well-read, well-spoken. † b. Traversed or explored for traffic or trade (obs. rare). c. Made the subject of traffic; dealt in as merchandise. d. Used for, or beaten or worn by traffic, as a road.

1561 T. HOBY tr. Castiglione's Courtyer III. (1577) N v b, I vnderstood by merchaunt men a long time trafficked in that countrey. 1627 MAY Lucan VIII. (1631) 364 Let fortune then our sad, and ship wrack'd state Beyond the knowne, and trafficq'd world translate. 1875 LANIER Symphony 234 O trafficked hearts that break in twain. 1909 Westm. Gaz. 30 Aug. 2/1 On lightly trafficked roads.

Trafficker (træ·fikăr). [f. TRAFFIC v. + -ER 1.]

1. One who is engaged in traffic or trade; a trader, merchant, dealer.

1580 Reg. Privy Council Scot. III. 327 Divers..honest trafficquers of this countrie. 1615 tr. De Monfart's Surv. E. Indies 22 They are..great Traffickers. a 1727 NEWTON Observ. Coin (1730) 20 Traffickers in money will get above 6 per Cent by sending Gold to Spain. 1893 H. MACHRAM Charmed Sea v, The traffickers were exchanging their goods laboriously. 1863 GEO. ELIOT Romola iii, An itinerant trafficker in broken glass and rags.

2. With opprobrious force; cf. TRAFFIC sb. 2 d. a 1785 GLOVER Athenaid xiii. Poems (1810) 124/2 Let these to some fell trafficker in slaves Be sold. 1839 JAMES Louis XIV, IV. 50 These traffickers in poison seem to have been seized with a sort of madness. 1869 Echo 28 Aug., Practices familiar to many generations of hardened traffickers in votes.

2. One who carries on an underhand or improper traffic (esp. between other parties); a go-between, a negotiator; an intriguer; a schemer.

1570 in Calr. Scott. Pap. (1903) III. 384 Thome Bischop wes ye first trafficquar betuix ye bischop of Ros and ye said Johine. 1687 Royal Proclam. in Lond. Gaz. No. 2221/4 For being Papists, Jesuits, or Traffickers, for hearing, or saying of Mass. 1879 FARRAR St. Paul I. 561 Lest any should say that he too, like the mass of traffickers around him, did but seek his own gain. 1893 STEVENSON Catriona ix. 56 The whole clan of old Jacobite spies and traffickers.

†Traffile, obs. variant of TAFFEREL, TAFFRAIL.

1805 in Nicolas Disp. Nelson (1846) VII. 156 note, A Spanish two-decker..waved an English Jack from her traffile.

Trafin, -e, obs. forms of TREPHINE.

Tragacanth (træ·gǎkæn̩). Also 6 tragachant, 7 tragagant, 8 tragant, -anth; see also ADRAGANT, DRAGANT, DRAGON². [a. F. tragacante (16th c.) = It., Sp. tragacanta, ad. L. tragacantha (Pliny), a. Gr. τραγάκανθα goat's-thorn, tragacanth-shrub, f. τράγος he-goat + ἄκανθα thorn.

The gum was called in L. tragacanthum (Celsus), whence Sp., Pg. tragacanto.]

1. A 'gum' or mucilaginous substance obtained from several species of Astragalus (see 2), by natural exudation or incision, in the form of whitish strings or flakes, only partially soluble in water: see quot. 1875. Used in medicine (chiefly as a vehicle for drugs) and in the industrial arts. Also a similar substance obtained from Sterculia Tragacantha of W. Africa. a. Commonly called gum tragacanth.

1573 in Feuillerat Revels Q. Eliz. (1908) 199 Gum tragachant ii ounces. 1634 J. B[ATE] Myst. Nat. 33 With gum tragagant dissolued in faire water. 1643 STEER tr. Exp. Chymery xiv. 57 Mixe it with the whites of Egges and Gum Tragacanth. 1714 Fr. Bk. of Rates 92 Gum Tragant per 100 Weight 02 10. 1811 A. T. THOMSON Lond. Disp. II. (1818) 65 Gum tragacanth is demulcent. 1830 LINDLEY Nat. Syst. Bot. 39 The Gum Tragacanth of Sierra Leone is produced by a species of Sterculia. 1875 BENNETT & DYER Sachs' Bot. 36 Gum-tragacanth consists of the cells of the pith and medullary rays of Astragalus creticus, A. Tragacantha, and other species, transformed into mucilage.

b. Called simply tragacanth.

1601 HOLLAND Pliny XIII. xxi. I. 398 A pound of Tragacanth is worth thirteen deniers Romane. 1712 tr. Pomet's Hist. Drugs I. 181 Traganth or Tragacanth, is a white and fine Gum, made like little Worms. 1895 H. C. WOOD Therap. (1879) 577 Tragacanth is used in medicine only in the manufacture of troches and in suspending heavy powders.

†2. Any one of several low-growing spiny shrubs of the genus Astragalus (N.O. Leguminosæ), found in Persia and neighbouring regions, which yield gum tragacanth (see 1). Obs. rare.

1601 HOLLAND Pliny XIII. xxi. I. 398 The same Iland hath the bush Tragacanth growing in it. 1741 Compl. Fam.-Piece II. iii. 373 Columbines, Spireas,..Spanish Broom,.. Tragacantha.

3. attrib.

1813 MILBURN Oriental Comm. I. 120 Tragacanth gum, or as it is usually called gum dragon. 1839 J. M. GULLY Magendie's Formul. (ed. 2) 138 Tragacanth powder. 1876 HARLEY Royle's Mat. Med. 633 Tragacanth Bushes..are small, tangled, spiny bushes, resembling stunted varieties of furze. 1879 Sat. Rev. 8 Nov. 580/2 The tragacanth draught of the ancient Sophists is tolerated.

Hence Tragaca·nthin (also contr. traga·nthin), Chem., the essential constituent of tragacanth and other gums: = BASSORIN. (See also quot. 1843.)

1842 BRANDE Dict. Sc., etc. s. v. Tragacanth, An analogous kind of gum is found in other plants, and the generic name of tragacanthin is sometimes applied to it. 1843 Penny Cycl. XXV. 214/1 An artificial substance prepared by boiling starch,..called tragacantin.

Trage·comedy, obs. form of TRAGI-COMEDY.

Tragal (trē·gǎl), a. Anat. [f. TRAG-US + -AL.] Pertaining to or situated upon the tragus.

1891 in Cent. Dict. 1898 J. HUTCHISSON in Arch. Surg. IX. No. 36. 378 Those who have abundant vibrisse very commonly, I believe, have these tragal tufts of hair also.

† Tra·galism. Spanish Hist. [ad. Sp. tragalismo, f. trágala in 'Trágala, perro!' ('Swallow it, dog!', where 'it' refers to the Constitution), the refrain of a popular Constitutionalist song.] A designation for the principles of the Spanish Constitutional party of 1820 and succeeding years.

1837 Q. Rev. July 68 The bloody tragedy of Spanish Tragalism. 1837 WALTON Revol. of Spain II. xii. 325 It was wished, merely to modify the existing plan so as to render it palatable abroad while tragalism was enforced at home. [In Smart 1849 Suppl., Tragalism (entered with a reference to Q. Rev. as above, but no quot.) is explained as 'Goatishness of high feeding'. This absurd guess, based on a pseudo-etymological reference to Gr. τραγαλισμός ('the eating of dried fruits and sweetmeats', but imagined to be derived from τράγος goat) has been copied (with ingenious variations) in many recent dictionaries.]

† Trage·dias, a. Obs. rare. [f. L. tragœdia TRAGEDY + -AS; an anomalous formation for tragœdic*: cf. lt. tragedico (Florio) and TRAGEDICAL.] Befitting tragedy; tragic in style.

1782 ELIZ. BLOWER Geo. Bateman I. 205 Those ranting tragediac speeches. Ibid. III. 117.

† Trage·dial, a. Obs. rare. [f. as prec. + -AL.] Pertaining to tragedy; tragic.

a 1529 SKELTON Agst. Scottes 77 Melpomone, O Muse tragediall.

Tragedian (trǎdʒ·di̯ăn). Also 4–5 tragedyen, -ien, (tregedien), 7–8 tragœdian. [ME., prob. a. OF. tragediane (1372 in Hatz.-Darm.), later and mod.F. tragédien, f. tragédie TRAGEDY: see -AN.]

1. A dramatist who composes a tragedy or tragedies; a tragic poet or author.

c 1374 CHAUCER Troyl. iii. pr. vi. 60 (Camb. MS.) A tragedyen [v. r. tregedien] pat is to seyn a makere of ditees pat hyhten tragedies. a 1631 DONNE Poems (1633) 165 Under this curled marble..Sleepe rare Tragedian Shakespeare, sleepe secure. 1671 MILTON P. R. iv. 261 What the lofty grave Tragœdians taught In Chorus or Iambic. 1875 SCRIVENER Lect. Text N. Test. 6 The dramas of the Greek tragedian Æschylus.

2. A stage-player who performs in tragedy; a tragic actor.

1592 NASHE P. Penilesse (ed. 2) 26 b, The Tragedian that represents his person. 1602 SHAKS. Ham. II. ii. 342 What Players are they? Rosin....The Tragedians of the City. 1622 MARSTON Antonio's Rev. II. iii, I will not swell, like a Tragœdian, in forced passions of affected straines. 1693 DRYDEN Persius' Sat. v. 3 The well-lung'd Tragœdians Rage. 1711 ADDISON Spect. No. 40 ad fin., Mr. Powell..is excellently formed for a Tragedian. 1870 L'ESTRANGE Miss Mitford I. vi. 200 No man can be a perfect tragedian who is not likewise a good actor in the higher branch of comedy.

†3. fig. A person concerned in a 'tragedy' or dreadful calamity; the victim, or inflicter, of a tragic fate. Obs.

1592 WARNER Alb. Eng. IX. xlv. (1612) 214 The Tragedies and Tytles 100 of English Dukes did cease, While Thomas, Duke of Norfolke, last Tragedian did increase. 1635 R. JOHNSON Hist. Tom a Lincoln (1825) 131 The Blacke Knight stayed from his desperate resolution, and from a bloody tragedian became the recoverer of his brothers life.

Hence Trage·dianess (nonce-wd.), a female tragedian.

1822 Blackw. Mag. XII. 657 Was there to be a virtual non-imprimatur in force against our songstresses, romance-inditresses, tragedianesses, sonneteresses?

Trage·dical, a. rare. [f. Gr. τραγῳδικ-ός befitting tragedy + -AL.] Of the nature, or having the character, of tragedy; tragic.

a 1548 HALL Chron., Hen. VI 187 b, Thus you haue hearde the..tragedicall hystory of Kynge Henry the sixthe. 1891 W. S. GILBERT Rosencrantz & Guild. III, The poor author had hoped to have appalled you with his tragedical end!

‖ Tragédienne (trǎʒdie·n). [Fr., fem. of tragédien TRAGEDIAN.] A female tragedian or actor of tragedy; a tragic actress.

1851 LONGF. in Life (1891) II. 221 We..called on Jenny Lind, and on Mrs. Warner, the tragédienne. 1866 Standard 7 Mar. 2/6 On Thursday night Miss Siddons, a young tragédienne..a great-granddaughter of the Siddons..made her first appearance..in the character of Juliet.

Tragedietta (trǎdʒ̄di̯e·tǎ). [In form an It. dim. of tragedia: see -ETTA: cf. comedietta.] A slight or short tragedy; a dramatic sketch of tragic character.

1891 Pall Mall G. 19 Oct. 2/3 My 'tragedy'—it is a very little one, a one-act tragedietta. 1902 Daily Chron. 2 July 3/1 One of them..migit be called 'a tragedietta',..but, as a whole, they may be said to range from comedietta to farce.

† Trage·dious, a. Obs. [f. L. tragœdi-a TRAGEDY + -OUS.] Full of, or having the character of, tragedy; calamitous, tragic.

1494 FABYAN Chron. VII. 670 Of whom [Richard III] tedyous it is to me to wryte the tragedyous hystory. 1565 J. ALLE Hist. Expect. 25 Most frivolous vnnecessarie tumultuous and tragedious doynges. 1616 J. LANE Cont. Sgr's T. x. 34 His late vncouthe dreame was th' oracle of this tragedious scheme. 1652 WOOD Ath. Oxon. I. 95 A true and most notable history,..in much part tragedious.

Hence † Trage·diously adv., in tragic style.

1602 WARNER Alb. Eng. XVI. cvi. 414 Our Histories tragediously doe varie hard Euents. 1658 COKAINE Obstinate Lady II. ii, The sauie blade Shall be the instrument, and I receive it Tragediously here on my knees.

Tragedist (trǎe·dʒ̄dist). rare—1. [f. TRAGEDY + -IST.] A writer of tragedy: = TRAGEDIAN I.

1823 G. DARLEY in Lond. Mag. Dec. 647/2 The os magna sonans..is the first great qualification for a tragedist, and this qualification the Author of the Bride's Tragedy most undeniably possesses.

Tragedize (trǎe·dʒ̄di̯ǎiz), v. [f. TRAGEDY + -IZE: cf. harmon-ize, etc.]

1. trans. To act or perform as a tragedy; fig. to do or carry on tragically; in quot. 1593, to treat tragically, subject to a tragic fate.

1593 NASHE Christ's T. (1613) 54 Like tragicke Seneca, I should tragedize my selfe, by bleeding to death in the depth of passion. 1599 — Lenten Stuffe 47 The nurse..covering on the backeside while these things were a tragedizing. 1623 [see TRAGEDIZED]. 1734 Grub St. Jrnl. 2 May 1/3 As woeful a tragedy as ever was tragedized on the British stage. 1827 Blackw. Mag. XXI. 736 This assuredly not less tragical tragedy than any that ever was tragedized by a company of tragedians.

2. intr. To perform as a tragedian; fig. to act or speak in tragic style.

1795 TOLDERVY Hist. 2 Orphans IV. 105 If we do spend this money we can..tragedize for more. 1889 FARRAR Lives Fathers II. xiii. 14 Oh sir and Oh virtue!—for I will tragedize a little! [tr. GREG. NAZ. Ep. v, More tragico exclamabo].

3. trans. To convert into a tragedy; to dramatize in tragic form.

1811 British Press 19 Aug., The Comedy of Errors, tragedized. a 1849 H. COLERIDGE Ess. (1851) II. 177 Modern critics, aping the nicety of Athens, which forbade the tragedizing of recent history, may think [etc.].

Hence Tra·gedized ppl. a., Tra·gedizing vbl. sb.; also Tragedisa·tion, the action of tragedizing.

1623 COCKERAM, Tragedized, killed. 1796 Sporting Mag. VII. 299 The tragedization of Edward the Black Prince.

Tragedy (trǎe·dʒ̄di). Forms: 4–6 tragedye, (4–5 tregeedie, tregedie), 4–7 tragedie, 5 -idie, (trajedi), 5–6 tragedi, -ide, 6 tragœdie, (trigide, -idy), 5– tragedy. [ME. a. OF. tregedie, tragedie (14th c. in Godef.), ad. L. tragœdia, a. Gr. τραγῳδία, app. goat-song, f. τράγος goat + ᾠδή ode, song.

As to the reason of the name many theories have been offered, some even disputing the connexion with 'goat'. See L. H. Gray in Classical Quarterly VI. 60, and references there given.]

1. A play or other literary work of a serious or sorrowful character, with a fatal or disastrous conclusion: opp. to COMEDY 1 I. † a. In mediæval use: A tale or narrative poem of this character.

c 1374 CHAUCER Boeth. II. pr. ii. 23 (Camb. MS.) The cryenges of tragedyes...Tragedye is to seyn, a dite of a prosperite for a tyme put endith in wreechdyneesse. c 1374 — Troylus v. 1786 Go liet bookes goo litell my tragedye. c 1386 — Monk's Prol. 83 (Corpus) Or elles tragedys [v.rr. -ies, -ise] first wol I telle. c 1430 Lyd. Miseriecordias 65 At funeral feestys men synge tragedies With wooful direes of lamentacioun. 1531 Elyot Gov. i. x. Than shall he, in redyng tragoedies, execrate and abhorre the intolerable life of tyrantes. 1593 Churchyard (title) The Earle of Mvrtons Tragedie.

b. Applied to ancient Greek and Latin works: the original (Dorian) being lyric songs, the later (Attic and Latin) dramatic pieces.

c 1430 Lyd. Hist. Poems (Percy Soc.) 25 The tragédies divers and unkouth Of morall Senec. 1484 Caxton Curiall 11 As seyth Seneke in hys tragedyes, Age cometh to late to peple of smale howses. 1546 Langley Pol. Verg. De Invent. i. iv. 17 b. As the Aliteo were kindled with fyre, and the Goate layed on it, the Quire in honor of Bacchus, songe this Meter called a Tragedie. 1579 Lodge Def. Poetry (Shaks. Soc.) 24 Tragedies and Comedies ..wer inuented .. to no other purpose, but to yeelde prayse unto God for a happy haruest, or plentiful yeere. a 1637 B. Jonson Horace's Art of Poetry 312 Thespis is said to be the first found out The tragedy, and carried it about, Till then unknown, in carts, wherein did ride Those that did sing, and act, 1789 T. Twining Aristotle's Treat. Poetry v. § 12. 88 Now the subjects of the best Tragedies are confined to a few families —to Alcmeon, Oedipus,..and others, the sufferers, or the authors, of some terrible calamity. 1872 Symonds Gr. Poets ix. 277 His Chorus were attired like Satyrs in goat-skins, to represent the woodland comrades of the god: hence came the name of Tragedy or Goat-song.

c. Applied to a modern stage-play.

1598 Bale Three Lawes 1265 Companyons I want to begynne thys tragedye. 1597 Shake. (title) An excellent conceited Tragedie of Romeo and Iuliet. 1612 —(title) The Tragedie of Cymbeline. 1641 Milton Ch. Govt. ii. Pref., Wks. 1851 III. 146 The Apocalypse of Saint John is the majestick image of a high and stately Tragedy,...shutting up her solemn Scenes and Acts with a sevenfold Chorus of hallelujah's and harping symphonies. 1703 Farquhar Inconstant iv. iii, Cry then, handsomely; cry like a queen in a tragedy. 1775 Harris Philos. Arrangem. Wks. (1841) 316 This excellent tragedy [Macbeth]..is not only admirable as a poem, but is perhaps..one of the most moral pieces existing. 1838-9 Hallam Hist. Lit. III. iii. vii. § 90. 339 Five of his sixteen plays are tragedies, that is, are concluded in death.

2. That branch of dramatic art which treats of sorrowful or terrible events, in a serious and dignified style: opp. to Comedy † 2. (Sometimes personified.)

1412-20 Lydg. Chron. Troy II. 852 Tragidie, who so list to knowe, It begynneth in prosperite, And endeth euer in aduersite; And it also doth pe conquest rete Of riche kynges and of lordys grete. 1598 Dunbar Lament for Makaris 59 [Death] That scorpioun fell hes done infek Maister Johne Clerk, and James Affleik, Fra balat making & trigide. 1598 Meres Palladis Tamia 282 Plautus and Seneca are accounted the best for Comedy and Tragedy among the Latines. 1632 Milton Penseroso 97 Som time let Gorgeous Tragedy In Scepter'd Pall com sweeping by. 1737 W. Wilkie Epigon. Pref. 5 In Epic poetry, Tragedy, or any other of the hig'er kinds of poetical composition. 1861 Paley Æschylus, Prometh. (ed. 2) 799 note, This use is common in Homer, but rare in tragedy. 1900 W. L. Courtney Idea of Tragedy 12 Tragedy is always the clash of two powers—necessity without, freedom within.

3. fig. An unhappy or fatal event or series of events in real life; a dreadful calamity or disaster. (Cf. Comedy † 4.)

1599 Hawes Past. Pleas. xii. (Percy Soc.) 49 His chere is dolorus, As in bewaylyng a woful tragedy. 1535 Layton in Lett. Suppress. Monasteries (Camden) 76 To tell yowe all this commodie, but for blabbe a tragedie, hit were to long. 1617 Moryson Itin. i. 207 The warre of Hungarie made all those parts full of tragedies and miserie. 1657 Trapp Comm. Job i. 19 Lately at Witney.. a scurrilous blasphemous Comedy was by the full of the moon whereof it was acted, turned into a Tragedy, as ending with the deaths of six. 1871 Freeman Norm. Conq. IV. xx. 572 The turning-point of William's reign, the tragedy of the fate of Waltheof.

† b. A doleful or dreadful tale; a passionate complaint. Obs.

1565 Jewel Def. Apol. ii. xiii. (1611) 255 Iudge thou...how iust causes M. Harding had to moouе these Tragedies. 1594 Spenser Amoretti liv, I waile, and make my woes a Tragedy. 1611 Bible Transl. Prefr. 2 Herevpon they raise vp a tragedie, and wish in their heart the Temple had neuer bene buil'. 1664 H. More Myst. Iniq., Apol. 538 Some would raise sur'. Stirres and Tragedies about.

† c. With of or possessive: Sad story, unhappy fate, misery, misfortune; esp. sorrowful end, violent death. Obs.

1513 Douglas Æneis iv. Prol. 264 Sen I suld thi [Dido's] trigidy endite. a 1592 Greene Alphonsus i. Wks. (Rtldg.) 227/1 This sword..should the author be To make an end of this my tragedy. 1598-9 [E. Forde] Parismus i. (1661) 68, I fear he is destroyed by the treachery of that wicked homicide..; who is not contented with his tragedy, but also seeketh my destruction. 1617 Moryson Itin. i. 186 He ceased not to bewaile my misery, and to recount my Tragedy as if it had been the burning of Troy. 1678 Marvell Growth Popery Wks. (Grosart) IV. 412 Men sit by, like idle spectators, and sitely give money towards their own tragedy. 1738 Wesley Psalms xci. iv, Thou..shalt look on and see The Wicked's dismal Tragedy.

¶ 4. Misused for Tragedian i. Obs. rare—1.

1450 Capgrave Chron. (Rolls) 49 Sophocles and Euripides ..were cleped Tragedies. Tragedy is as mech to sey as he that writith eld stories, with ditees hevy and sorowful.

5. attrib. and Comb., as tragedy-actor, -air, -drum (Drum sb.† 3), -god, -king, -player, -queen, speech, strut, -victim, -writer; tragedy-man the chief tragic actor at a theatre.

1820 W. Tooke tr. Lucian I. 481 Lay aside your proper character and assume that of a tragedy-actor. 1897 A. Hope Phroso v, Here was a tragedy-air quite delightful. 1702 Steele Funeral iv. i. 59 He is a Tragedy-Drum to one of the Play-Houses. 1820 W. Tooke tr. Lucian I. 505 Properties necessary for the equipment of a tragedy-god. 1900 Macm. Mag. May 50/1 More like a *tragedy-king than a monarch of history. 1821 Blackw. Mag. X. 588 The vacant situation of tragedyman. 1552 Huloet, Tragedie player, tragoedus. 1848 Thackeray Pan. Pair xivi, She bowed me out of the room like a *tragedy queen. 1773 Goldsm. Stoop to Conq. v. i, A short *tragedy speech. 1792 Paine Rights of Man (ed. 4) 27 A *tragedy-victim expiring in show, and not the real prisoner of misery. 1552 Huloet, Tragedie wryter, tragicus, Sophocles. c 1790 G. Walker in Hawkins Johnson (1787) 39 Johnson is a very good scholar and poet, and, I have great hopes, will turn out a fine tragedy-writer.

Tragelaph (trædʒ′ləf). Also in L. form tragelaphus (trəge′ləfəs), pl. -i. [ad. L. tragelaph-us, a. Gr. τραγέλαφος, f. τράγος he-goat + ἔλαφος deer.]

1. (Rendering Gr. τραγέλαφος.) a. A name for some foreign species of capriform antelope or other horned beast, vaguely known to the ancients.

1398 Trevisa Barth. De P. R. xviii. ci. (Bodl. MS.) Tragelaphus is beloyed vnecorne, also and hab pat name tragelaphus of tragus pat is a gote bucke and elephos pat is an herte. ibid., Tragelaph..som hab of pe kinde of pe herte. 1607 Topsell Four-f. Beasts (1658) 93 Of the first kinde of Tragelaphus which may be called a Deer-goat. Ibid. 94 There is another kinde..like a Deer..Pliny affirmeth, that they are found about the river Phasis, in Arabia and Arachotae,..a City of India..which [beast] the Grecians call Tragelaphon, and the Germans, ein Brandhirsch...1718 Ozell Tournefort i. 178 The Tragelaphus, or Deer-Goat, expressed by Bellonius ..it wanteth a beard, and the hair thereof resembleth an Ibex-Goat..: the horns..like a Goats, but more crooked, which he never loseth. 1656 Blount Glossogr., Tragelaph (tragelaphus), the great and blackish deere called a stone-buck, deer-gont, or goat-hart. 1774 Goldsm. Nat. Hist. (1862) I. ii. v. 327 There is in the forests of Germany, a kind of stag, named by the ancients the Tragelaphus; and which the natives call the ibex, deer, or the brown deer.

b. Myth. A fabulous or fictitious beast compounded of a goat and a stag; hence allusively.

1644 Featly Levites Scourge 60 What Chimera's, Tragelaphusses, and Hippocentaurs dost thou talk of? a 1670 Hacket Abp. Williams ii. (1693) 49 Tragelaphi, Satyrs and Griffins, Cocks and Bulls. 1821 K. P. Knight Inquiry v. Mythol. § 114. 88 Among the principal of these symbols [of Diana] is the deer,..which is sometimes blended into one figure with the goat, so as to form a composite fictitious animal called a Tragelaphus. 1898 C. Thomas Faust I. p. lxiv, The ' tragelaph ' had to be disposed of!

2. Zool. Any antelope of the modern genus Tragelaphus, as the S. African boschbok, T. sylvaticus, and the W. African harnessed antelope, T. scriptus, Speke's Tragelaph, T. Spekii.

1888 Cassell's Encycl. Dict., Tragelaphus. 1908 Sir H. H. Johnston Grenfell & Congo II. xxxiii. 921 In Tragelaphs the Congo regions are well endowed. 1910 Contemp. Rev., Suppl. Nov. 12 Two of these ruffians shot over fifty of the rare antelope called Speke's tragelaph.

So Tragelaphine (trəge′ləfəin) a., belonging to the group Tragelaphinæ of antelopes, typified by the genus Tragelaphus; sb. an antelope of this group.

1891 Flower & Lydekker Mammals ix. 345 Tragelaphine Section..Included large, so-called Bovine, Antelopes now mainly characteristic of the Ethiopian region. 1900 Nature 11 Oct. 585/1 If the markings of the Tragelaphines have the significance here attached to them, they should be better developed in the species that live in the bush than in those that frequent the open. 1905 P. C. Mitchell Guide Gard. Zool. Soc. (ed. 3) 43 The Tragelaphine Group (Tragelaphinæ) contains mostly large Antelopes with spirally-twisted horns.

† Tragemato′polist. Obs. rare—0. [f. Gr. τραγημαποώλης (Hesychius) + -ist, f. τραγήματ- dried fruit or sweetmeat.] A seller of sweets.

1656 Blount Glossogr., Tragematopolist (tragematopola), he that sells comfits, carawaies and such other ware, made of sugar; a Confectioner. 1658 in Phillips.

Traget, -our, -ry: see Target, etc.

Tragi, pl. of Tragus.

Tragi- (trædʒi), combining form repr. Tragic, in a few nonce-words on the model of Tragi-comedy, as tragi-catastrophe, -farce, -farcical adj. (See also under Tragi-comedy.)

1811 Henry & Isabella I. 163 The love of tragi-catastrophe, common to vulgar minds. 1893 Sat. Rev. 1 Apr. 349/1 The pitiable tragi-farce of French politics. 1896 Daily News 17 Jan. 6/3 The fantastic tragi-farcical experiment.

Tragic (trædʒik), a. and sb. Also 6 -icke, 7-8 -ick. [ad. L. tragic-us, a. Gr. τραγικ-ός of or pertaining to tragedy, f. τράγ-ος goat: see -ic; but in sense associated with τραγῳδία Tragedy. Cf. F. tragique.]

A. adj.

1. Of, pertaining, or proper to tragedy as a branch of the drama; of the nature of tragedy; composing, or acting in, tragedy: opp. to Comic a. 1.

1563 Mirr. Mag., Collingbourne xv, Wines theyr Satyr shunne, and tragicke playes. 1590 Spenser F. Q. III. xii. 3 Yclad in costly garments fit for tragicke Stage. a 1637 B. Jonson Horace's Art Poetry 122 The comic matter will not be expressed In tragic verse. 1712 Addison Spect. No. 315 ¶ 10 The ancient Tragick writers. 1788 Fitzpatrick Pros. Sheridan's Critic, The tragic Queen to please a tasteless crowd, Has learnt to bellow, rant, and roar so loud. 1827 Buckham's Theatre Grks. (ed. 2) Pref. 6 The..Tragic and Comic metres. 1838 Thirlwall Greece III. xviii. 79 One of these exhibitions commonly followed each tragic performance, and it was always furnished by the tragic poet himself.

† b. Tragic-comedy: = Tragi-comedy. Obs.

1631 Mabbe (title) The Spanish Bawd, represented In Celestina: or, The Tragicke-Comedy of Calisto and Melibea. c 1650 Denham Old Age 66 On the world's stage, when our applause grows high For acting here life's tragic-comedy. 1653 H. More Antid. Ath. ii. viii. § 3 All might prove but a Tragick-Comedy.

c. Befitting, or having the style of, tragedy: = Tragical. 2.

1684 Winstanley Eng. Worthies, Shakes. 345 Never any expret a more lofty and Tragick height. a 1718 Rowe (J.), Bid them dress their bloody altars With every circumstance of tragick pomp. 1837 Lockhart Scott xix note, Her [Mrs. Siddons'] tragic exclamation to a footboy during a dinner...' You've brought me water, boy, I asked for beer'. 1888 A. K. Green Behind Closed Doors vi, He wasn't tragic, not a bit of it.

2. Resembling tragedy in respect of its matter; relating to or expressing fatal or dreadful events; connected with or excited by such events; sorrowful, sad, melancholy, gloomy; = Tragical a. 1.

1593 Shaks. 3 Hen. VI, v. vi. 28 My brest can better brooke thy Daggers point, Then can my eares that Tragicke History. 1667 Milton P. L. ix. 6, I now must change Those Notes to Tragic. 1728 Lady M. W. Montagu Let. to Abel Cantz 31 July, The tragic story that you are well acquainted with. 1751 Johnson Rambler No. 156 ¶ 10 That the tragick and comick affections have been moved alternately with equal force. a 1780 Harris Philol. Enquiries Wks. (1841) 430 That part and terror are the true tragic passions; that they truly bear that name, and are necessarily diffused through every fable truly tragic. 1819 Keats Isabella xxxi, Into her heart a throng Of higher occupants, a richer zest, Came tragic.

3. Resembling the action or conclusion of a tragedy; characterized by or involving 'tragedy' in real life; calamitous, disastrous, terrible, fatal. (In quot. 1876, Suffering calamity, extremely unhappy or unfortunate.)

1548 Joye Exp. Dan. viii. 129 b, Noble valeant princes.. haue there bene, which at last..haue had a miserable tragik ende. 1639 N. N. tr. Du Bosq's Compl. Woman II. 80 The Tragick effects of this levity. 1850 Carlyle Latter-d. Pamph. v. (1872) 181 In these tragic days. 1872 Yeats Growth Comm. 294 The tragic fate of many bold men. 1876 L. Stephen Eng. Th. 18th Cent. II. 372 Swift..is the most tragic figure in our literature. Beside the deep agony of his soul, all other suffering..is pale and colorless. 1907 Verney Mem. I. 98 Throughout his short life to its tragic close.

4. Comb.: (a) expressing combination of tragic with some other quality, as tragic-comical, -humorous, -ironic; (b) parasynthetic, as tragic-fated.

1839-40 W. Irving Wolfert's R., Mountjoy (1855) 47 Whenever my father looked me in the face, it was with such a tragic-comical leer. 1902 Monkshood & Gamble R. Kipling 155 Some side scene..of the great tragic-ironic. 1906 Daily Chron. 13 Mar. 3/4 The punishing, in a tragic humorous manner, of a rascally set of owners. 1908 Ibid. 29 Nov. 5/2 At the time of the tragic-fated Struensee.

B. sb. 1. a. A tragic actor: = Tragedian 2.

1587 Mirr. Mag., Ferrex i, Complayne I may with tragiques on y° stage. 1837 Thackeray Revenswing vi, ' That he is ', said Canterfield, the first tragic.

b. A tragic poet or author: = Tragedian 1.

1599 R. Ashleyr tr. Lipsius Pol. iii. 47 Then bin a great companie of Tragicks, Comicks [etc.]. a 1619 Fotherby Atheom. ii. ii. § 5 (1622) 203 Whereof two Tragicks haue giuen vs two notable instances. 1737 Savage Public Spirit 3 With lib'ral Light the Tragic chasers the Age. 1827 Buckham's Theatre Grks. (ed. 2) Pref. 5 To give the student an idea of the manner in which he is expected to read the Tragics.

2. A tragic poem or drama, a tragedy. † Obs.

c 1720 Prior Written in Meneray's Hist. France 19 The man in graver tragick known. 1771 The Link in Dodsley Coll. Poems (1782) IV. 126 Of epics and tragics.

3. fig. † Tragic fate (obs.); a tragic event, a disaster.

1689 Kirkton Hist. Ch. Scot. viii. (1817) 310 This was her miserable tragick. 1857 Clough Poems, etc. (1869) I. 113 Whatever comes of it—pain and grief, suicide and murder, all the tragics you can think of.

4. quasi-sb. The tragic: that which is tragic; the tragic side of the drama, or of life; tragic style or manner.

1872 Morley Voltaire iii. (1886) 132 Sometimes they failed in reaching the tragic, through excessive fear of passing its limits.

Tragical (trædʒikəl), a. (sb.) [f. L. tragic-us (see prec.) + -al: see -ical. In earlier use than tragic or F. tragique.]

1. Of the nature of, or resembling tragedy in respect of its matter; relating to or expressing fatal or dreadful events; = Tragic a. 2.

Cf. F. tragique, 'tragicall, tragicke,.. bloudie, deadlie, dolefull, dismall' (Cotgr.), It. tragico, 'tragicall, dismall, deadly' (Florio).

c 1489 Caxton Blanchardyn liv. 213 The vnfortunate report and tragicall tidings. 1596 Edward III, v. i. 105 So must my voice be tragicall againe, And I must sing of doleful accidents. 1641 J. Jackson True Evang. T. 1. 43 Eusebius was an eye-witnesse of these things, who tels a most tragicall story hereof. 1828 Dupp Trans. Hag, etc. 150 It represents the tragical fable of Hippolytus.

† 2. Appropriate to or befitting tragedy; having the elevated or dignified style of tragedy; serious and stately; also, affectedly elevated, grandiose, pompous; (of language) grandiloquent, rhetorical, extravagant; (of aspect or manner) grave, formidable; = Tragic i c. Obs. (exc. as involved in 1 or 3).

1548 Udall, etc. Erasm. Par. Mark xii. 78 What with their magnific and hye titles, and what with their tragicall and masking apparell, as though they had bene almost god almighties peeres. 1565 JEWEL Defr. Apol. II. xiii. (1611) 255 He.. would thinke these Tragical termes should bearre some weight. For sober men seldome vse thus to cry without some cause. 1579 LYLY Euphues (Arb.) 137, I would have tragical and stately stile shunned. 1592 SHAKS. 2 Hen. VI, III. i. 195 Why looke you still so sterne, and tragicall? 1673 Lady's Call. II. iii. § 2 Those tragical furies wherewith some women seem transported.

b. Excited with tragic feeling.

c 1592 MARLOWE Massacre Paris II. vi, Though I seem mild and calm, Think not but I am tragical within. 1887 MISS BRADDON Like & Unlike i, It will never do for Valentine to surprise us in this tragical mood.

3. = TRAGIO a. 3. Obs.

1589 PUTTENHAM Eng. Poesie I. xi. (Arb.) 41 They set forth the doleful falles of infortunate and afflicted Princes, and were called Poets Tragicall. 1590 SHAKS. Mids. N. v. i. 57 A tedious breefe Scene of yong Piramus, And his loue Thisby; very tragicall mirth. Ibid. 66, A play there is, my Lord.. And tragicall..it is: For Pyramus therein doth kill himselfe. 1629 WADSWORTH Pilgr. v. 47 They made a Tragicall-Comedy of our voyage, whereby they got much money and honour.

†B. sb. A tragical story or strain. Obs. rare.

1606 G. W[OODCOCKE] Hist. Iustine XIX. 75 Hauing heard the Tragicall of what was become of them.. they redoubled their griefes. 1621 BRATHWAIT Nat. Embassie (1877) 129 Tempus..did..sing on his Lute these woefull tragicalls.

Tragicality (trædʒikælˈiti). rare. [f. prec. + -ITY.] Tragical quality or style; tragicalness.

1843 CARLYLE Past & Pr. III. iii, An air of supreme tragicality.

Tragically (trædʒikəli), adv. [f. as prec. + -LY [2]: see -ICALLY.] In a tragical manner or style.

1. With tragic feeling or expression; †in early use, with loud or passionate complaint.

1577 VAUTROULLIER Luther on Eph. Gal. 25 Paul might.. tragically have cried out against them: O unspiritous world. a 1716 SOUTH Serm. (1727) VI. 427 Many complain and cry out very tragically of the Wretchedness of their Hearts. 1781 GIBBON Decl. & F. xviii. II. 116 He tragically lamented the cruel murder of Constans. Mod. A story very tragically told.

2. With calamitous, disastrous, or fatal issue.

1583 in Hakluyt Voy. (1600) III. 154 Our voyage..ended tragically. 1602 WARNER Alb. Eng. Epit. (1612) 384 This king that tragically raigned, being first deposed..tragically ended. 1693 DRYDEN Juvenal's Sat. Ded. (1697) 71 As his Provocations were great, he has reveng'd them tragically. 1889 Manch. Exam. 10 July 5/2 Their predictions have been only too tragically fulfilled.

†3. Grandiloquently, rhetorically. Obs. rare[−1].

1678 CUDWORTH Intell. Syst. I. iv. § 36. 548 And accordingly is it said of Numenius by him [Proclus], that τρεῖς ἀνυμνήσας θεούς, he did τραγῳδὼν καλεῖν, πάντων, ἔγγονον, ἀπόγονον, having praised the Three Gods, Tragically or Affectedly called them, the Grandfather, the Son, and the Nephew.

Tragicalness. [f. as prec. + -NESS.] Tragical quality.

1667 Decay Chr. Piety xiv. ¶ 2 As well in the tragicalness of the event, as the insolence of the undertaking. 1689 BOYLE Martyrd. Theodora vi. (1703) 38 A spectacle, whose tragicalness his revenge would make acceptable to him. 1905 A. C. BENSON Upton Lett. (1906) 208, I re-read The Light that failed for its abundant vitality and tragicalness.

Tragicize (trædʒisiz), v. rare. [f. TRAGIC + -IZE: cf. criticize.] intr. To speak or write in tragic style, to ‘do the tragic’. (Cf. TRAGEDIZE 2.)

1823-40 J. H. NEWMAN Ch. of Fathers (1842) 129, I will tragicize a bit.

Tragicly, adv. rare[−1]. [f. TRAGIC a. + -LY [2].] = TRAGICALLY.

1604 STIRLING Aurora, Elegy iii. M3, But I shall sadly sing, too tragiclly inclin'd, Some subiect sympathizing with my melancholious mind.

Tragicness. rare[−1]. [f. as prec. + -NESS.] = TRAGICALNESS.

1667 WATERHOUSE Fire Lond. 124 By the Tragicknesse of all which, in Battails fought,..I lost Hundreds of Thousands of Men.

Tragico- (trædʒiko), combining form repr. Gr. τραγικός TRAGIC; as in Tragico-heroi-comic a. (nonce-wd.) combining tragic, heroic, and comic elements. Also contracted TRAGICOM, q. v.

1756 J. WARTON Ess. Pope I. iv. 207 Bartolomeo Bocchini ..printed at Venice MDCXLI, a tragico-heroi-comic poem.

Tragi-comedy (trædʒiˌkɒmədi). Also 6 tragy-, 7 trage-, tragco-; see also COMEDY. [a. F. tragi-comédie (1545 in Hatz.-Darm.) = It. tragicomedia (Florio), ad. late L. tragicōmœdia (Lactantius a 325), syncopated from tragico-cōmœdia (Plautus); f. L. tragicus TRAGIC + cōmœdia comedy.]

1. A play (or, rarely, a story) combining the qualities of a tragedy and a comedy, or containing both tragic and comic elements; sometimes spec. a play mainly of tragic character, but with a happy ending.

1581 SIDNEY Apol. Poetrie (Arb) 65 The right sportfulnes, is [not] by .. mungrell Tragy-comedie obtained. [1603 HARSNET Pop. Impost. xxiii. 150 Our Dæmonopolia or Devill-fiction is Tragico-Comœdia, a mixture of both as Amphitryo in Plautus is.] 1640 KILLIGREW (title) The Prisoners. A Tragæ-Comedy. 1652 C. B. STAPYLTON Herodian Advt., He [Herodian] represents..the Emperors of that Age and their Courts, with Comedies, Tragedies and Tragicomedies. 1664 FLECKNOE (title) Love's Kingdom. A Pastoral Trage-Comedy. 1770 LANGHORNE Plutarch (1879) I. 178/2 When tragedy took a graver turn, something of the former drollery was still retained, as in that which we call tragi-comedy. 1849 MACAULAY Hist. Eng. v. I. 636 Shakespeare had borrowed from Whetstone the plot of the noble tragicomedy of Measure for Measure.

2. fig. An event or series of events of mixed tragic and comic character; a combination of pathetic and humorous elements in real life.

1579-80 NORTH Plutarch (1676) 619 His acts..may plainly shew, that all that was but a tragi-comedy ceremoniously ended. a 1649 DRUMM. OF HAWTH. Cypress Grove Wks. (1711) 126 Every one cometh there to act his part of this tragi-comedy, called life. 1709 STEELE Tatler No. 36 ¶ 5 What heightened the Tragi-Comedy of this Market for Annuities. 1898 LYTTON Calderon i, The Tragi-Comedy of Court Intrigue.

Hence Tra·gi-come·dian, an actor who performs in tragi-comedy; Tra·gi-comedi·tta (nonce-wd.), a slight or sketchy tragi-comedy.

c 1626 MIDDLETON Mayor of Queenborough v. 1, Comedians, tragedians, tragi-comedians. 1892 Pall Mall G. 12 May 5/1 Tragedy is a name not to be taken in vain, least of all by a poet of Mr. Swinburne's calibre. *Tragi-comedietta would have come nearer the mark.

Tragi-comic (trædʒiˌkɒmik), a. [f. TRAGI- + COMIC.] Having the character of a tragi-comedy; combining tragic with comic elements.

1683 CAVE Ecclesiastici, Athanasius 81 The Tragy-Comick Scene of Arseinus the Meletian Bishop. 1709 Tatler No. 68 ¶ 3 You have a Tragi-comick Genius. 1790 BURKE Fr. Rev. 11 In viewing this monstrous tragi-comick scene, the most opposite passions..succeed..each other..; alternate laughter and tears; alternate scorn and horror. 1891 SOUTHEY in Q. Rev. XLIV. 276 A more tragi-comic history could not be imagined. 1840 New Monthly Mag. LVIII. 524 Screaming in ecstasy at the tragicomic termination of their attempt.

So Tragi-co·mical a., of tragi-comic character (hence Tragi-comical·ity, tragi-comic quality, or an instance of this; Tragi-co·mically adv., in a tragi-comical way). Also Tragi-co·mi-opera·tic-al, -pa·storal adjs. (nonce-wds.), combining the qualities of tragi-comedy and opera (or pastoral).

1567 FENTON Trag. Disc. xiii. Argt. (1898) 238 A *tragicomiqual reaport. 1581 SIDNEY Apol. Poetrie (Arb.) 43 Some Poesies haue coupled together two or three kinds, as Tragicall and Comicall, wherupon is risen, the Tragicomicall. 1627 (title) A Tragi-Comicall History of ver Times, vnder the borrowed names of Lisander and Calista. a 1661 FULLER Worthies, Leicester. (1662) II. 129 His tragicomical life, had a pescable End. 1898 H. JAMES Europeans i, It was extremely clever, and full of a sort of tragicomical power. 1897 Q. Rev. Jan. 282 His butterfly *tragicomicalities of romance. 1733 J. BRAMSTON Man of Taste 20, I was *tragi-comically got. 1902 SWINBURNE in Q. Rev. July 25 The dissolution of a ruined household is tragicomically set before us. c 1778 PORSON (title in Daily Chron. 29 Mar. (1900) 6/7), Out of the Frying-pan into the Fire..a *tragi-comico-pastoral farce. 1798 Gent. Mag. (title) The What d'ye call it: A *Tragi-Comi-Pastoral Farce. HAWKER (title) The Wedding: A Tragi-Comi-Pastoral-Farcical Opera..The Overture, by Dr. Pepusch.

‖ Tragion, -ium. Herb. Obs. [L. tragion, Gr. τράγιον, i. τράγος he-goat.] A name given by the Greeks to some strong-smelling plant or plants; identified by 16th c. herbalists with Dictamnus albus (D. Fraxinella, Lyte 343), and Chenopodium vulvaria (Tragium Germanicum, Lyte 548).

1567 MAPLET Gr. Forest 82 Tragion saith Dioscorides, onely Crete & Ciclile bringeth forth. 1577 GRANGE Gold. Aphrod. F iij, The hearbe Dictamus, or Tragion. 1578 LYTE Dodoens III. xxi. 343 Of false Dictam..This herbe is called in Greeke τράγιον, in Latine Tragium: and is the first kind of Tragium described by Dioscorides. Some herboristes cal it Fraxinella. Ibid. v. iv. 549 We do call it in Greeke τράγιον: in Latine Tragium, that is to say, Goates herbe. And bycause you shall reade in Dioscorides of two other herbes called Tragia, to make some difference betwixt them, we do name this Tragium Germanicum: in Frenche, Blanche putain: in base Almaigne, Bocxcruyt: some call it Vulturia, by whiche name it is knowen of the Herboristes of this Countre.. I haue named it in Englishe, The ranke stinking Goate, or stinking Motherwort. 1587 GREENE Emphues Wks. (Grosart) VI. 188 The herbe Tragion being once byt with an Aspis neuer groweth. 1706 PHILLIPS (ed. Kersey), Tragium, a plumb.. whose Leaves in Autumn stink like a Goat; also the Herb white Dittany.

Tra·godra·ma. nonce-wd. [f. Gr. τραγο-, combining form of τράγος (see TRAGEDY) + DRAMA.] A drama of tragic character.

1793 [see COMODRAMA].

†Tragoˈnce. Obs. rare[−1]. [app. an altered form of dragonce, one of the 15–17th c. forms of the plant-name DRAGONS (Arum Dracunculus, now Dracunculus vulgaris); the variation of d and t being due to the confusion between dragontia, -cia, and taragontia, -cia, and the inclusion by 16th c. herbalists under Δρακοντία, Dracontia, or Dracunculus, of both Dragons (Arum Dracunculus) and Tarragon (Artemisia Dracunculus); an inclusion commemorated in the existing botanical names. See etymological note s. v. TARRAGON.] = DRAGONS (or ? TARRAGON).

1575 TURBERV. Venerie 43 She purgeth hir with the hearbe called Tragonce.

Tragopan (trægopæn). Ornith. [a. L. tragopān, Gr. τραγόπαν, name of a reputed bird in Ethiopia (perh. the bearded vulture); f. τράγος goat + Πάν Pan; in mod. Ornithology taken as the name of a genus (Cuvier, 1829).] A pheasant of the genus Ceriornis (formerly Tragopan), characterized by having a pair of erectile fleshy horns on the head; the species are found in India, China, etc.

[1623 COCKERAM III, Tragopanadus, a bird in Ethiope greater then an Eagle, hauing hornes like a Goate. 1706 PHILLIPS (ed. Kersey), Tragopanas.] 1831 GOULD Birds fr. Himalaya lxii, The genus Tragopan. 1847 CARPENTER Zool. § 431 The Tragopans seem to connect the Pheasants with the Turkeys. 1882 Athenæum 27 May 671/1 Additions made to the [Zool. Soc.] menagerie during April..: a pair of black-headed tragopans (Ceriornis melanocephala); .. a male Cabot's tragopan (Ceriornis Caboti).

‖ Tragopogon (trægoˈpɒgɒn). Bot. [a. Gr. τραγοπώγων (Theophr.), f. τράγος-s he-goat + πώγων beard.] A genus of Composite plants of which the common wild yellow-flowered English and European species, T. minor and pratensis, are known as Goat's-beard, and T. porrifolius with rose-coloured or purple flowers is cultivated for its esculent root under the name of SALSIFY.

1706 in PHILLIPS (ed Kersey). 1731 [see SALSIFY 1]. 1741 Compl. Fam.-Piece II. iii. 376 Products of the Kitchen Garden..Buglos, Borage, Tragopogon. 1830 [see SALSIFY 1].

Tragule (trægiul). Zool. [ad. mod.L. tragulus, dim. of tragus, Gr. τράγος goat.] A quadruped of the genus Tragulus, or of the family Traguliidæ of ruminants, found in India and Java, resembling small hornless deer; a chevrotain. So Tra·gulid, one of the Traguliidæ; Tra·guline a., belonging to the Traguliina; also applied to a group of goat-like antelopes including the steenbok, Nanotragus tragulus; Tra·guloid a., skin in form to the Traguliidæ; sb. a member of this group.

1878 BELL tr. Gegenbaur's Comp. Anat. 559 This third portion [of the stomach] is wanting in the Tragulidæ and Tylopoda. 1883 List Anim. Zool. Soc. 276 Family Traguliidæ. Genus Tragulus (3 species). 1891 Cent. Dict., Tragule.. Tragulinæ. ..Traguloid, a. 1891 FLOWER & LYDEKKER Mammals 307 Leptomeryx, from the Miocene of the United States, is regarded as a Traguloid. 1896 tr. Boas' Text Bk. Zool. 509 The Tragulida (Traguliidæ form a circumscribed group of small Ruminants without antlers; ..in most respects nearly allied to the Cervidæ.

‖ Tragus (trēˈgəs). Anat. Pl. tragi (trēˈdʒəi). [Late L., from tragus, a Gr. τράγος he-goat, so named on account of the bunch of hairs which it bears: see quot. 1874.] A prominence on the inner side of the external ear, in front of and partly closing the orifice, opposite to the ANTITRAGUS, and in man usually bearing a tuft of hairs; specially developed in certain bats.

1693 tr. Blancard's Phys. Dict. (ed. 2), Tragus, the extream Brim of the Ear. 1809 ABERNETHY Dis. resemb. Syphilis (1826) 127 Situated on the front of the ear, extending over the tragus. 1874 ROOSA Dis. Ear (ed. 2) 19 Rufus of Ephesus, who was the first medical lexicographer, and who lived in the age of Pliny, used the names helix, lobe, tragus, and anti-tragus, still employed to describe the different parts of the auricle. 1904 Speaker 24 Dec. 325/2 The earlet, a curious development of the tragus in insectivorous bats.

Traheen (trahēˈn). Anglo-Irish. [ad. Ir. troighthin (Dineen), troighin (O'Reilly), a little foot or sole, a soleless stocking worn without shoes; dim. of troigh, troighth- foot (pl. troightheaun); cf. Gaelic troidh foot, pl. troidhean.] See quots.

1817 LADY MORGAN France (1818) I. 125 note, Partial covering of the leg is universal among the peasantry of Ireland, at this day, under the name of ‘traheens’. 1836 W. H. MAXWELL Capt. Blake II. iii, note, Traheens are the legs of Connemara stockings, which case the limbs of the traveller, without cramping his toes.

†Trahent, sb. and a. Obs. rare. [ad. L. trahent-em, pr. pple. of trahēre to draw.]

A. sb. App. short for CONTRAHENT, contracting party, or applied to one of the claimants before they enter into a contract.

1537 CROMWELL in Merriman Life & Lett. (1902) II. 69 Euery point in the same [letter] bothe touching the title, the demeanors of the trahentes of both parties, And the seruice that may be don be eyther parte.

B. adj. Drawing, that draws.

1661 LOVELL Hist. Anim. & Min. 518 Potions,..used to evacuate humours, that doe not resist the trahent medicine.

‖ Tra·hison. rare. [F. trahison.] Treason.

1858 KINGSLEY Red King 73 Foul mishap and trahison. 1889 G. MEREDITH R. Feverel xxxix, She must see the trahison with her eyes.

†Tra·htne, v. Obs. [OE. trahtnian, f. traht text, passage, exposition.] trans. To expound.

c 1000 ÆLFRIC Hom. I. 510 Hæ;mon trahtnaðˈþis godspell. Ibid. II. 278 We woldon ġeſryn trahtnian þe ſæm lambe. a 1050 Liber Scintill. (1889) 200 Mid were æwfæstum trahtna [tracta] be hallrynysse. c 1200 ORMIN 11680 Nimeþþ gom Off þiss þaht here þis trahhtnedd.

Trahys, obs. form of TRACE sb.[2]

Trahysh, var. TRAISE v. Obs., to betray.

Traice, Traict, obs. forms of TRAIT, TREAT.

Traictise, obs. form of TREATISE.

Traid(e, obs. f. TRADE; pa. t. of TRAY v. Obs.

Traie: see TRAY. Traifoyle, obs. f. TREFOIL.

Traik (trēk), sb. Sc. Also 6 traike, 8 traike. [TRAIK sb. and v. appear together in Sc. soon after 1500. Origin uncertain; with sense 1 cf. Sw. tråk 'troublesome task, painfulness, tiresomeness', tråkig adj., tiresome, troublesome, wearisome, and the vb. mentioned under TRAIK v. It is not clear that sense 2 is the same word, but cf. the vb.]

1. A plague, pestilence; mischief, disaster; also fig. of a person, one who is a 'pest' or 'plague'.

1513 DOUGLAS Æneis III. ii. 141 Ane cruell pest and traik, ..Fell on our membris with sic infectionn, Was na remedie. Ibid. XII. xv. 59 This wench, this vengeabill pest or traike. 1739 A. NICOL Poems (1766) 20 The meikle trake come o'er their snouts. 1825 JAMIESON s. v., He that has nae gear will hae nae traik.

2. 'The flesh of sheep that have died of disease or by accident' (JAMIESON).

1802 FINDLATER Agric. Prickles xiv. 208 The sheep dying of disease are used as flesh meat, under the designation of traik. 1815 Pennecuik's Descr. Tweeddale Notes 95 The poor,..sluggish Tweeddale shepherd, fed with his dog upon traik (sheep that have died of some disease).

Hence traik'y a., weak, worn out, fatigued.

1825 JAMIESON, Traik, traichie, weak, in a declining state. 1846 in BROCKETT N. C. Gloss. (E. D. D.). 1884 J. TAIT in United Presb. Mag. 157/2 Sometimes a treaky member of the flock can be utilized as food.

Traik (trēk), v. Sc. Also 6 trake, 6–9 traick. [Goes app. with TRAIK sb., q. v.: origin uncertain, but cf. Sw. tråka to rub on, to tug, to drudge, Norw. traaka to struggle against, show disinclination to toil or work; to go with difficulty, go slowly, traakes to become tired or exhausted, traakall adj. unwilling, reluctant.]

1. intr. To decline in health, or be in declining health; to become worn out; to break down, collapse. Now rare.

1508 [see TRAIKER]. 1535 STEWART Cron. Scot. (Rolls) I. 423 Ane selkness that is into the heid, Without the soner that it get remeid,..The memberis all will rycht sone tyne and traik. 1639 R. BAILLIE Lett. 28 Sept., Many of them died; and..the most part of all who remained decayed pitifullie. 1737 RAMSAY Sc. Prov. xiv. 118 He's the gear that winna traik. 1834 CARLYLE in Froude 1st Forty Years (1882) II. xviii. 451 But for the kindness and helpfulness shown me on all hands I must have traicked.

2. To go idly about, to stroll; to wander, stray, go astray; to traik after, to come after, follow.

1818 SCOTT Hrt. Midl. xxiv, There isna a hussy..that you can bring within your doors, but there will be chields.. coming traiking after them for their destruction. 1822 JAMIESON, Traik.. To wander so as to lose one's self; chiefly applied to the young of poultry. Dumfr. Hence the..phrase, 'He's nane o' the birds that traik', he can take good care of himself. 1842 J. AITON Domest. Econ. (1857) 264 In half dozens they are tearing the thatch off the stacks, or they are 'traicking' through the corn fields, each of them destroying with its feet quite as much as a sheep would eat.

Hence Traiked, traikit (trē'kĕd, -it) ppl. a. Sc. a. wasted; worn out; b. of sheep or cattle: that has died a natural death; cf. BRAXY; Trai'king vbl. sb., strolling, wandering, 'walking out'.

1508 DUNBAR Flyting 118 Bot now, in winter, for purteth thow art traikit. 1562 in Keith Hist. Scot. (1734) App. 96 Be the tempestuous Stormis of the Wintertis past, the haile Gudis wer sa trakit, smorit and deid, that [etc.]. 1586–6 J. MELVILLE Let. in Wodrow Soc. Misc. (1844) I. 439 Mr. Andrew has been a sore traicked man since he came home. c 1598 ROLLOCK Serm. Wks. 1849 I. 437 The trakedest bodies that livis, even as gif they wer drawin throw an myre. c 1680 [F. SEMPILL] Banishm. Poverty 93, I call'd him Turk and traiked tyke. 1825 JAMIESON, Traikit... 1. Sore fatigued. 2. Wasted, brought into a declining state by being overdriven, starved, or exposed to the inclemency of the weather. 1828 J. STRUTHERS Hist. Scot. II. 625 To butcher-meat, except..drowned calves and traiked sheep..they were total strangers. 1894 CROCKETT Raiders xxxv, His night-hawk traikings and trokings, from a dozen hizzies.

Trail (trēl), sb.[1] Also 5 traille, trele, (6 treale), 5–7 trayle, 6–8 traile, 7 trayl. [Known in sense 1 from 14th c.; in other senses only from 15th c. or later. App. f. TRAIL v.[1]]

I. Something that trails or hangs trailing.

†1. The train of a robe or other garment. Obs.

13.. Cursor M. 28020 (Cott.) Yee leuedis..Thoru your trail bath wide and sale, Es not at seke to find your pride. c 1440 Promp. Parv. 499/1 Trayle, or trayne of a clothe, stirna. 1688 R. HOLME Armoury IV. xii. (Roxb.) 509/2 The traile or traine of this great mantle was layd on his left shoulder.

b. A trailing or hanging article of clothing.

1896 BARRIE Sent. Tommy x, The shrewd blasts cutting through my thin trails of clathes.

c. A long trailing or loose-hanging slender mass of hair, fibres, or the like; 'any thing drawn to length' (J.).

1844 MRS. BROWNING Portrait iii, Oval cheeks..Which a trail of golden hair Keeps from fading off to air. 1882 BLACKMORE Christowell iii, Running up to him, with her long grape-scissors in her hand, and a trail of bast around her neck.

2. A trailing ornament (carved, moulded, or embroidered) in the form of a wreath or spray of leaves or tendrils; a wreathed or foliated ornament.

[Some take this, and esp. 2 b, as belonging to TRAIL sb.[2]; prob. the two words tended to run together.]

a 1423 in Archæologia LXI. 171, ij Fiols of on sute of silver and gilt, Graven aboute wt a traille of lve leys. 1454 Test. Ebor. (Surtees) II. 173 A couered pece with a trele of roses opon ye couerynge. 1480–81 in Hope Windsor Castle (1913) 401 Ac lxii pedum de lez Trailiez et Cresies. 1533 Hampton Crt. Acc. in E. Law Hist. Hampton Crt. (1885) 352 To Robert Skynglo..moulder of Anykes-worke, for a trayle of antyk sett in the great Joull-pece in the Kynges new Hall, conteynyng 7½ yards in leyngthe, 8 inches brode, at 16d. the yard. 1551 SIR J. WILLIAMS Accompte (Abbotsf. 1836) 22 A riche cope of crymyon velvet..embrodred all ower with a traile and Fawcions of Venice golde. 1557–8 in Hope Windsor Castle (1913) 260 The armes of England and Spaine with the treales to the same. a 1618 SYLVESTER Ode to Astræa vii, That soft Sattin limme, With blew trayles enameld trimme. 1889 BOUTELL Arms & Arm. v. (1874) 78 A trail of foliage..filled the space between the angular bands.

b. A wreath or spray of (natural) leaves, etc.; a trailing tendril or branch. (Cf. I c.)

1598 DRAYTON Heroic. Eep. i. 117 A little Current..Which like a wanton Trayle creepes here and there. 1697 DRYDEN Virg. Georg. IV. 184 The late Narcissus, and the winding Trail Of Bears-foot, Myrtles green, and Ivy pale. 1725 Bradley's Fam. Diet. s. v. Strawberry, As soon as they shoot forth their Trails, you must take care to cut 'em. 1833 HT. MARTINEAU Cinnamon & P. iii, They had never entangled their feet in trails of the blue convolvulus. a 1861 T. WOOLNER Beatrice Lady, Her Shadow vii, Nigh clad in trails of tangled eglantine.

c. attrib. or as adj.

1533 Hampton Crt. Acc. in E. Law Hist. Hampton Crt. (1885) 352, 71 yardes in length and 8 inches brode, of trayle moldyd worke. 1644 EVELYN Diary 2 Apr., Next the streete side..are knotts in trayle or grasse worke. 1649 G. DANIEL Trinarch. To Rdr. 104 Speed, Cutt in sippetts, Trussell, layd about For a trayle Garnish. 1684 Lond. Gaz. No. 1944/4 A Petticoat of Musk coloured Silk,..the Flowers Trail Silver.

II. Something trailed or made by trailing.

†3. A sledge [= L. tragula]. Obs.

1570 LEVINS Manip. 198/43 A Traile, sledde, traha. 1576 in Ripon Ch. Acts (Surtees) 279 For a traylle to hym, 12*d.* 1588 Durham Wills (Surtees) II. 235, ij long beches, j traile, ij flekes, j nowt heck, 12*s.* 1600 D. SETTLE in Hakluyt Voy. III. 37 They frank or keepe certaine dogs..which they yoke together, as we do oxen & horses, to a sled or traile: and so carry their necessaries ouer the yce and snow.

4. A drag-net [= L. tragula]. Also trail-net: see 16. (Also fig.)

1711 W. KING tr. Naude's Ref. Politics v. 198 The first that made trails, and found out casting-nets to make men captives. 1807 P. GASS Jrnl. 29 The fish here are generally pike..What we caught were taken with trails or brush nets.

5. The hinder end of the stock of a gun-carriage, which rests or slides on the ground when the carriage is unlimbered. Cf. TRAIN sb.[1] 20.

1768 J. MULLER Treat. Artillery Vocab., Trail, is the end of the travelling carriage opposite to the wheels, and upon which the carriage slides, when unlimbered. 1803 WELLINGTON in Gurw. Disp. (1837) II. 565 'There is no remedy, ..excepting to lengthen considerably the trail of the carriage. 1868 Rep. to Govt. U.S. Munitions War 95 The gun is mounted on a field-carriage, with trail of the usual form.

6. Anything drawn behind as an appendage; a body or collection of things or persons, drawn along by, or following in the wake of, something or some one, or moving steadily along in a lengthened formation so as to suggest this; a train.

1621 QUARLES Argalus & P. (1678) 85 A rising Sun.. From whence ten thousand trails of gold came down In waving points. 1697 DRYDEN Virg. Georg. I. 804 Seeming Stars, shooting through the Darkness..With..long Trails of Light. 1770 LANGHORNE Plutarch (1851) I. 282/2 Dreadful thunders..mingled with long trails of lightning. 1856 MRS. BROWNING Aur. Leigh I. 86 From which long trail of chanting priests and girls. 1879 BLACK Adv. Phaeton xx, The wind was apparent in the hurrying trails of cloud.

7. A mark left where something has been trailed or has passed along; a trace, track. Also fig.

1610 GUILLIM Heraldry II. vii. (1660) 77 Upton tearmeth it in Latine, Tractus which signifieth a Trace, or Traile, because the field is seen both within and without it; and the Traile itselfe is drawn thereupon in a different colour. [See TRACT sb.[3] 6 (a).] 1727 GAY Fables I. xxiv. 12 A snail, ..with slimy trail Crawls o'er the grass. 1837 MOORE Lalla R., Pers. 6 Fear! But the trail of them is seen in them all. 1833 MARRYAT P. Simple xxix, I used to watch them [sharks] during the night watch, as their fins, above water, skimmed along, leaving a trail of light behind them. 1856 MRS. BROWNING Aur. Leigh II. 21 Brushing a green trail across the lawn With my gown in the dew. 1864 SKEAT Uhland's Poems 124 The heights were touched with May's fair golden trail. 1899 Allbutt's Syst. Med. VIII. 865 In the imperfectly washed, a trail of dirt marks the course of the burrow (of the itch insect).

b. spec. in astronomical photography, The line or trace produced by the motion of the image of a star across the plate during exposure.

1889 Anthony's Photogr. Bull. II. 185 On developing numerous stars will be found which are invisible to the naked eye. The stars will all leave trails, forming arcs of concentric circles whose center lies near the center of the plate. 1891 Ibid. IV. 83 When the plate is developed it will contain a series of lines or trails produced by the light of the star as it crossed the plate.

8. spec. The track or other indication, as scent, left by a person or animal, esp. as followed by a huntsman or hound, or by any pursuer. Also fig.

1590 COKAINE Treat. Hunting D ij b, Take your [otter] houndes to the place..and cast your traylors off vpon the trayle you thinke best. 1602 SHAKS. Ham. IV. v. 109 How chearefully on the false Traile they cry, Oh this is Counter you false Danish Dogges. 1607 TOPSELL Four-f. Beasts (1658) 120 The best manner to teach these hounds is to take a live hare, and trail her after you upon the earth;..afterward set forth your hound near the trail. 1741 Compl. Fam.-Piece II. i. 295 A sure Sign they are upon the Scent; that is, where the Fox hath passed that Night, it is called a Drag or Trail. 1805 PIKE Sources Mississ. (1810) 38, I was determined..if we came on the trail of elk, to follow them..in order to kill one. 1808 Ibid. 57 My sentinel informed us, that some Indians were coming full speed upon our trail or track. 1847 J. F. COOPER Prairie iii, Did you ever run him upon the trail of carrion? 1837 W. IRVING Capt. Bonneville (1840) XXI Vandenburgh put himself upon their trail, to trace them to their place of concealment. a 1859 MACAULAY Hist. Eng. xxiv. (1861) V. 143 The Spanish Ambassador.. followed the trail with such skill and perseverance that he discovered, if not the whole truth, yet enough [etc.]. 1888 P. LINDLEY in Times 16 Oct. 10/5 The hound..took up the stale trail over some rather trying ground without a fault.

b. Something strong-smelling trailed or drawn along the ground to produce a scent for hounds to follow: = DRAG sb. 6 b.

1763 Brit. Mag. IV. 553 They ran after a trail drawn by a man on horseback about 20 minutes before the hounds started. 1781 P. BECKFORD Hunting (1802) 85 A cat is as good a trail as any.

9. A path or track worn by the passage of persons travelling in a wild or uninhabited region; a beaten track, a rude path. (Chiefly in U.S. and Canada.)

1807 P. GASS Jrnl. 125 We proceeded down the river through dreadful narrows where the rocks were in some places breast high, and no path or trail of any kind. 1875 TEMPLE & SHELDON Hist. Northfield, Mass. 50 Indian Paths—which were narrow trails worn by the feet in marching single file—crossed the country in various directions. 1894 C. L. JOHNSTONE Canada 81 A trail, as the Canadians call the tracks which do instead of roads.

10. Geol. A name for certain mixed glacial or other deposits resting upon older formations.

(So called as app. marking the track of floating ice.)

1866 O. FISHER in Q. Jrnl. Geol. Soc. 20 June 555, I have found that cylindrical pits and pipes are generally confined to soluble beds, and that the normal form of the cavities in clays, sands, and gravels is that of troughs or furrows. They are usually filled with materials derived from some neighbouring higher ground...For the sake of a name I shall call the materials which fill these furrows the 'trail'. 1882 GEIKIE Text-bk. Geol. VI. v. ii. § 2, 908 A remarkable bed of clay, loam, and gravel ('boulder' or 'trail'). 1882 W. G. SMITH in Jrnl. Anthropol. Inst. XIII. 358 The whole of the 'Palæolithic floor' is..covered with the 'warp and trail' belonging to the last geological period of great cold. 1897 Archæol. Jrnl. Dec. 375 Where the flints are buried, in the 'head' or 'rain wash' or 'run o' th' hills' or trail, or whatever we may call the surface accumulation.

III. Action of trailing.

11. The action of dragging oneself or something along, or of creeping or crawling; also dial., a tiring walk. rare.

a 1547 SURREY Æneid II. 284 The serpents twine [=twain] with hasted traile they glide To Pallas temple. 1674 N. FAIRAX Bulk & Selv. World 120 These souls business in the wagon or vehicle of the body is..rather to ride in state than to ride post, ennobling the body by its various draughts and trails of enlivening sprightlinesses. 1876 Whitby Gloss. s. v., 'A lang trail', a tiresome journey.

12. The action of hunting by the trail; chase by the track or scent.

1669 DRYDEN Wild Gallant III. i, To come upon the spur after a trayl at four in the afternoon to destruction of cold meat and cheese. 1902 O. WISTER Virginian IX, All winter he had hidden trail, worked at ditches during summer.

13. Mil. The act of trailing a rifle, or the position of it when trailed (see TRAIL v.[1] 2).

1833 Regul. Instr. Cavalry I. 29 The barrel..may be.. examined at the trail. 1847 Infantry Man. (1854) 30 Trail Arms...Bring it down to the trail on the right side. Ibid. 40 b, The short trail must never be used. 1892 GREENER Breech-Loader 293 At the 'trail', that is, grasped in the right hand, the arm at full length, and the gun horizontal.

14. An act of drawing out, enticing, or befooling. rare—[1]. 1847 [see TRAIL v.[1] 3 b].

IV. 15. A woman who trails her dress along the ground; an untidy woman, slattern, slut. Sc.

1825 JAMIESON, Trail, a term of reproach for a dirty woman; as, 'Ye wile trail', you nasty hussy, Aberd. 1878 A. PAUL Rand. Writ. 28 It is a very old saying..that no man should marry a trail, which meant a female who trailed her dress through the gutters. 1901 TROTTER E. Galloway Sk. 102/2 Come, bring me quick, ye useless trail, The gully knife to sheer the kail.

V. 16. attrib. and Comb. (some of which may be from TRAIL v.[1]), as trail-blazer, -hunting, -maker, -robbery, -trot; trail-weary adj.; see also 2 c; trail-bar, a wooden bar for turning the trail of a gun-carriage in pointing the gun; trail-board, a carved piece in a ship: see quot.; trail-car (U.S.) = TRAILER 6 a; trail-cart (dial.): see quots. 1770–1896; trail-eye = trail-plate-eye; trail-handspike = trail-bar; trail lever, 'a trailing lever hinged to the spindle-carriage of a spinning-mule' (Cent. Dict. Supp.); trail-net, a fishing-net that is trailed or drawn along, a drag-net; trail-plank, a plank for supporting the trail of a gun-carriage; trail-plate, an iron plate attached to the trail of a gun-carriage; hence trail-plate-eye, an 'eye' or perforated piece fixed on the trail-plate, used in limbering up; trail-rope, a rope used for trailing or drawing something: (a) ?a tow-rope; (b) in a gun-carriage = PROLONGE; (c) a rope trailed on the ground to check the speed of a balloon; trail-scent = sense 8 b above (cf. TRAIN-SCENT); trail-spade, a projection at the lower end of the trail of a gun-carriage. 1828 J. M. SPEARMAN Brit. Gunner (ed. 2) 116 *Trail Bearings. (Cast Iron.) 1908 Daily Chron. 19 May 3/2 Mrs. Hobbard's journey..with a small party of *trail blazers native to the ways of Labrador. 1904 J. HARRIS Lex. Techn. I, Traile-board, in a Ship, is a carved Board on each side of her Beak, reaching from her Main Stem to the Figure, or to the Brackets. 1770-4 A. HUNTER Georg. Rev. (1804) II. 370 To bruise out the grain by sledges or *trail carts. 1861 SMILES Engineers II. 109 Sledges or trail-carts were also used for the same purpose; but the most common instrument employed was the flail. 1896 CROCKETT Grey Man xii, A trail-cart, a box with shafts like a carriage, but without wheels, mounted on a great brush of branches and twigs, which..scored the ground with a thousand ruts and scratches. 1889 Pall Mall G. 30 Mar. 6/1 Large numbers of *trail cattle, driven recklessly into Wyoming in 1881. 1890 NASMITH Mod. Cotton Spinning Mach. 206 The traverse of the locking lever prior to locking is gradually lessened as the *trail lever slide L is lowered. 1892 — Cotton Spinning viii. 99 The shoulder is pulled over the bowl carried at the end of the lever L, called the *trail' lever, which is hinged to the carriage. 1901 Wide World Mag. VIII. 156/2 A couple of the *trail-makers visited the cabin and found the partners dead. 1905 Athenæum 5 Aug. 183/2 A series of reprints or translations of the narratives of *Trailmakers', from the earliest times to the close of the eighteenth century. 1820 JODRELL, Trailnet, or Trawlnet. 1897 KNIGHT Dict. Mech., Trail-net, a net drawn or trailed behind a boat; or by two persons on opposite banks in sweeping a stream. 1859 F. A. GRIFFITHS Artill. Man. (1862) 115 One *trail plank..This plank is placed on the ground, so that the trail of a heavy carriage may rest on it. 1828 J. M. SPEARMAN Brit. Gunner (ed. 2) 17 *Trail-plate Eyes. 1901 Wide World Mag. VIII. 154/2 The territory had been remarkably free from serious crime, and *trail-robberies were unknown. 1851 MAYNE REID Scalp Hunters xxv, Mules and mustangs, picketed on long *trail-ropes. 1899 Westm. Gaz. 31 July 10/2 We opened the valve to hasten our descent before reaching it, and at 8.8 our trail-rope touched the ground. 1681 Lond. Gaz. No. 1715/3 A *Trail Scent for Hounds. 1781 P. BECKFORD Hunting (1802) 85 You say, you should like to see your young hounds run a trail-scent. 1904 Sci. Amer. 91 May 400/2 The carriage..permits of checking the recoil without the use of a strain..through a *trail-spade provided with an elastic joint. 1897 Outing (U. S.) XXIX. 439/2 From the *trail-start to the death it had been no more than a 15-minutes' run. 1895 KIPLING and Yonge Bk. 134 They fell into the quickest, choppy, *trail-trot in and out through the checkers of the moonlight. 1894 Outing (U. S.) XXIV. 398/1 The once *trail-weary emigrant, the ranchman of to-day, does the freighting..from the railroad town.

† Trail, sb.[2] Obs. Forms: 5 treylle, 5–6 trayle, traile, 6 trayll, treyle, 8 trell, 7–8 trail. [Late ME. treylle, trayle, app. a. OF. treille, traille 'a bower or arbour of vine branches sustained by trellis-work' (Littré), also trellis, lattice work grating, grill (for window, door, etc.) = Pr. treilla, trelha:—L. trichila, later also tricla, bower, arbour, summerhouse: see also TRELLIS sb.[2]

1. A latticed structure for training climbing plants upon; a trellis.

c 1460 SIR R. ROS La Belle Dame 184, I me withdrew.. And set me down alone, behynd a trayle full of leves,..With grene withies bycounded. 1530 PALSGR. Thesaurus s. v. Brachium, Brichiciza vinea, a vine hauyng longe branches vpon trayles. 1693 EVELYN De la Quint. Compl. Gard. I. 132 Muscat-Grapes..ripen not so well when raised upon high Trails. 1797 Bradley's Fam. Dict. s. v. Cucumber, "to cut the Trees and Pallisades when there is need of it, as well as the Treils and Arbours.

2. A lattice; a grating; a grill.

1485 CAXTON Paris & V. (1868) 64 Or they entred they opened a treylle whyche gaf lyght in to the pryson. c 1500 Melusine 328 He fonde a place vnto myself, wherin were closed a hondred men..that the geaunt held for hys prysoners. 1552 ELYOT, Clatro..to shutte a wyndowe, specially a lattise window: To close with lattise grates, or treyles.

† Trail, sb.[3] Obs. [Aphetic shortening of ENTRAIL, orig. entrail's.] Entrails, intestines, collectively; esp. those of certain birds, as woodcock and snipe, and fishes, as red mullet, which are cooked and eaten with the rest of the flesh.

1764 SMOLLETT Trav. xviii. (1766) I. 201 The thrush is presented with the trail, because the bird feeds on olives. They may as well eat the trail of a sheep, because it feeds on the aromatic herbs of the mountain. 1772 WESLEY Wks. (1872) X. 387 Those that are fond of his bowels may put them in again, and swallow them as they would the trail of a woodcock. 1804 FARLEY Lond. Art Cookery 40 Baste them with a little butter, and let the trail drop on the toast. 1827 J. H. H. in Hone Every-Day Bk. II. 91 Here [in France] they [larks] are always dressed with the trail, like snipes. 1846 SOYER Cookery 227 Take the flesh and trails of the woodcocks from the bones.

Trail (trēl), v.[1] Forms: 4–7 traile, trayle, 5 traylle, 5–6 traille, 6–7 trayle, 6–8 trayl, 6– trail. [Occurs soon after 1300; agreeing in form with a late OE. trægelian, tregilian, recorded only in the Prudentius Glosses (Germania n. s. XI. 398–9), glossing L. carpître 'to pluck, snatch, tear away or off', which does not so suit the ME. sense as to make its identity certain. MF. traile-n, traille, was app. the same word as ONF. traille-r to haul or tow (a boat), 14th c. in Godef., and also as MLG. treilen, trölen (1325 in Rügen, 14–15th c. in Brunswick, etc.), MFl. treylen, treilen, treelen, Fl., Du. treilen, LG. treilen, treulen, Ef'ris. treilen, trailen, all 'to haul or tug (a boat)'. Cf. also LG., Du., Fl. treil tow-line; also ONF. traille (14th c.), trele, tresle, mod.Pr. traillo, Cat. and Sp. tralla, Pg. tralha, all meaning 'tow-line' or 'rope'. It is difficult to correlate the German and the Romanic words; but it is generally supposed that all go back to a late L. or Com. Romanic tragulāre* 'to drag', f. L. tragula, meaning (inter alia) a 'dragnet', and a small traha or 'sledge', f. L. trahēre, pop.L. tragēre* (F. traire) to 'draw, drag, haul'. This would also in form give OE. trægelian.

It is somewhat remarkable that while the earliest sense of both the OF. and MLG. words was 'to tow (a boat)', this specific use does not appear in ME., while the chief ME. uses do not appear on the continent. This detracts from the satisfactoriness of the derivation, which is still the best to which the known facts point: cf. also TRAIN v.[1], which similarly takes us back to L. trahēre, tragēre* with a different suffix.)

I. Primary senses. Transitive.

1. To draw behind one; to drag along upon the ground or other surface (esp. something hanging loosely, as a long garment); also, to drag (a person) roughly, to hale; to haul.

c 1375 Sc. Leg. Saints xxvi. (Nycholas) 690 He hynt be priioure be be hare,..& traylyt hyme ful angrely Our al be Boure here & bare. a 1380 Minor Poems fr. Vernon MS. lii. 356 Pei tromppe bifore bis traiturs, and trayleh hem on bres porow-out pe Cite. c 1489 CAXTON Sonnes of Aymon xx. 449 Ye shall see many kyngh̃tes to trayle theyr bowelles thorugh the fieldes. 1530 PALSGR. 760/2 He was trayled vpon a hardell thorowe al the towne, il fust traysné sur vne herce par toute la ville. a 1533 LD. BERNERS Huon CXXX. 475 Horses rynnynge abrode trayllynge theyr brydels after them. 1623 in Foster Eng. Factories Ind. (1908) II. 231 A band of souldiers before, marching with ther coulers trayled after. 1671 MILTON Samson 1402 They shall not trail me through thir streets Like a wild Beast. 1712–14 POPE Rape Lock iii. 7 Sylphs through mines.. That long behind he trails his pompous robe? 1832 TENNYSON Lady of Shalott i. iii, Slide the heavy barges trail'd By slow horses. 1865 DICKENS Mut. Fr. i. x, The gentleman has trailed his stick after him.

b. To carry or convey by drawing or dragging, as in a vehicle or ship; sometimes said of something cumbrous figured as if dragged along; = 'drag' used dyslogistically. Also dial. to carry (dirt) on the feet into a house.

c 1435 Torr. Portugal 1316 They Reysed a gale with a sayile, The Geaunt to lond for to trayle. 1748 H. WALPOLE Lett. to Mann (1834) II. 232 The yacht is not big enough to convey all the tables and chairs and conveniences that he trails along with him. a 1787 SHENSTONE Ballad vi, A coach with acornet trail'd her to Tweed. 1863 MRS. TOOGOOD Yorks. Dial. (MS.), The childer trail a lot o' moock in t' house. 1887 BOWEN Æneid III. 325, I, when our homes lay blazing, was trailed o'er sea.

c. To draw (the body or limbs) along wearily or with difficulty in walking, etc., esp. from disablement or exhaustion. So refl. to move along slowly and painfully, drag oneself along, crawl.

1562 Child-Marriages 138 He..demaundid a tieth goose.. and she wold have gevin him bone but one that halfid, and traild the winge. 1566 BLUNDEVIL Horsmanship iv. cix. (1580) 59, The Horse will not lift that leg, but traile it vpon the ground. 1740 SOMERVILLE Hobbinol II. 404 Her wounded Parts Grov'ling she [a snake] trails along. 1863 W. C. BALDWIN Afr. Hunting ix. 413, I have no appetite, and trail my limbs after me as if they did not belong to me. 1908 SIR H. MAXWELL Guide to Holyrood 108 He trailed himself, a broken-hearted man, to Falkland Palace.

2. Mil. orig. To carry (a pike or similar weapon) in the right hand in an oblique position with the head forward and the butt nearly touching the ground; later spec. to carry (a lance or rifle) in a horizontal position in the right hand with the arm fully extended downward (as in the British army), or in an oblique position, grasping it just above the balance with the arm extended downward and slightly bent (as in the U.S. army). (Also, formerly, to carry (a pike) reversed, with the pointed head dragging along the ground, as at military funerals: see quot. 1688.) Phr. To trail a pike, to serve as a soldier (arch.).

1549 Compl. Scot. vii. 70 The eldest of them vas in harnes, traland ane halbert behynd hym. 1565 CHURCHYARD Chippes (1575) 58 b, And still I hoept, the warres wold me aduaunce So trayld the pike, and world began a nuse. 1622 FLETCHER & MASSINGER Span. Curate i. 1, How proud..should I be To trail a pike under your brave command. 1688 R. HOLME Armoury III. xix. (Roxb.) 147/2 Trayle your pike, is to take it in the right hand vnder the head and hold it close to your side. In this posture they march. There is an other way of trailing the pike, which is by takeing the butt end in the right hand holding it to the side, traileing or drawing the head after vpon the ground. In this posture they march at the funerall of a souldier. 1893 Regulations for Exercise of Riflemen 4 Trail Arms. The left hand seizes the rifle at the second pipe, the right close over the sight, and trails it on the right side at arm's length. 1895 SCOTT Talism. x, The soldiers wore the downcast..looks, with which they trail their arms at a funeral. 1833 Regul. Instr. Cavalry I. 161 The lance is 'trailed' by being carried in the right hand at the balance. 1870 LOWELL Study Wind. 92 Ben Jonson.. trailed a pike in the Low Countries. 1877 Man. Field Artillery Exerc. 62 Trail Arms. The Trail. Give the carbine a cant upwards with the right hand, seizing it close behind the back-sight, and bring it to a horizontal position at the full extent of the arm, fingers and thumb round the carbine. 1879 Martini-Henry Rifle Exerc. 13 Arms must never be trailed with fixed bayonets.

† b. Hence allusively to trail a pen, to write, to follow the occupation of a writer. Obs. nonce-use.

1682 DRYDEN Cæsar Borgia Prol. 1 The unhappy man who once has trailed a pen Lives not to please himself, but other men.

3. fig. or in fig. context, with various implications: e. g. to drag forcibly to some course of action; to draw out, lengthen out in time, protract; to utter slowly, drawl; to 'drag in' irrelevantly; to subject to dishonour, 'drag in the dust'; etc.

1604 T. WRIGHT Passions I. viii. 31 The sensitive appetite often..traileth and haleth the will to..follow her pleasures. 1648 CRASHAW Music's Duel 37 [She] Trayles her plaine Ditty in one long-spun note. 1649 EP. HALL Cases Conse. (1650) 396 As for Lyra, who is trayled in here, and cited. 1806 WORDSW. Ode Intim. Immort. v, Not in utter nakedness, But trailing clouds of glory do we come From God. 1806 G. AUSTIN Chirnomnia i. 38 The words..should not be trailed nor drawled, nor let to slip out carelessly. 1874 GREEN Short Hist. viii. § 3. 479 The policy which had so long trailed English honour at the chariot-wheels of Spain. 1891 E. & D. GERARD Sens. Plant III. iii. xii. 81 There really is no reason for trailing out the matter longer.

b. To draw as by persuasion or art; to draw on; hence colloq. 'to quiz, befool' (Farmer Slang).

a 1717 PARNELL Fairy Tale 158 Then Will, who bears the wispy fire, To trail the swains among the mire. 1748 RICHARDSON Clarissa (1811) VII. lxvii. 276, I long trailed on between hope and doubt. 1849 C. BRONTE Jane Eyre xvii, I perceived she was (what is vulgarly termed) trailing Mrs. Dent; that is, playing on her ignorance; her trail might be clever, but it was decidedly not good-natured. 1900 KERNAHAN Scoundrels & Co. xxi, To see the Ishmaelites trail a sufferer from a swelled head' is to undergo inoculation against that fell malady.

II. Intransitive senses.

(But for the doubtful OE. trægelian, these form the earliest group in Eng. and perh. ought to be branch I.)

4. (intr. for pass. of 1.) To hang down so as to drag along the ground or other surface; to be drawn loosely behind (by a person, animal, or thing in motion).

1393 R. BRUNNE Handl. Synne 3444 What sey ze men of ladyys pryde Þat gone traylyng ouer syde;..To soule helpe hyt myst do bote, Þat trayleþ lowe vndyr þe fote. c 1400 Destr. Troy 10358 Pat so worshipfull a wegh, as þe wight Troilus..Should trailie as a trayne the taile of his horse. c 1450 Merlin xiv. 211 Ther sholde ye se stedes and horse renne Maisterles, their reynes trailynge vndir fote. 1523 FITZHERB. Husb. § 141 That it [a gate] do not trayle and that the wynder it not open. 1633 P. FLETCHER Purple Isl. xii. xvi, His hanging dewlap trail'd along the golden sand. 1823 Local Act 4 Geo. IV, c. ii. § 98 If any Person..suffer any Timber..carried..upon wheel Carriages, to drag or trail upon the said Bridge or Roads. 1868–70 MORRIS Earthly Par. I. ii. 620 The sound Of silken dresses trailing o'er the ground.

b. Mil. (intr. for pass. of 2).

1677 Lond. Gas. No. 1181/2 Amsterdam, March 19. Yesterday was performed the Funerals of the late Lieutenant Admiral de Ruyter, the proceeding was thus: 1. Marched two Companies of Soldiers, their Pikes trailing.

5. To hang down or float loosely from its attachment, as dress, hair, etc.; of a plant: to grow decumbently and straggilingly to a considerable length, so as to rest upon the ground or other support, as a stem or branch of a plant; to 'creep'.

c 1412 HOCCLEVE De Reg. Princ. 466 What help schal he, Wos sleeues encombrous so syde trailie, De to his lord? 1578 LYTE Dodoens I. viii. 13 It hath..small braunches ..creping or trayling alongst the ground. 1591 SPENSER Ruines of Time ii, Her yeolow locks,..About her shoulders carelesse downe trailing. 1687 A. LOVELL tr. Thevenot's Trav. II. 94 They cover this Table with a large pinked Carpet, which on all sides trails on the ground. 1776 WITHERING Brit. Plants (1796) III. 541 In open sunny situations it (Pyrmella) grows trailing..but in woods it is upright. 1845 FORD Handbk. Spain I. 52 The Spanish horse's tail often trails to the very ground.

6. † To walk with long trailing garments (obs.); to drag one's limbs, walk slowly or wearily as if dragged along (often, following some person or thing: cf. 4); to move or go in extended order; to creep, crawl, as a serpent or other reptile.

1393 R. BRUNNE Handl. Synne 3440 (see 4). 13.. Metr. Hom. (Vernon MS.) in Herrig's Archiv LVII. 303 Ich [the devil] haue longe i-ben þi lord and mad þe traile and [?in] gen in siclatoun and in scarlet. a 1400 Str Penny 29 in Ming's Poems (Camden) 360 He may ger tham trayl syde in gude skarlet and green. 1513 DOUGLAS Æneid v. Prol. 11 Wantoun gallandis to trail in sumptuus wedis. 1608 TOPSELL Serpents (1658) 732 Like the Horned-serpent, so trails this elf on land. 1768 GOLDSM. Good-n. Man i. 1, Nothing diverts me more than one of those fine old dressy things.. trailing through a minuet at Almack's. 1864 LOWELL Fireside Trav. 106 We trailed along, at the rate of four miles an hour. 1868 KINGLAKE Crimea (1877) III. i. 83 The cavalcade which had trailed in his wake. 1909 SIR F. TREVES Other Side Lantern II. viii. (1906) 73 The camels that trailed away from the city.

b. Of inanimate things: To move along slowly; to drift, glide, or flow slowly (obs.); sometimes, to move in the wake of something as if drawn along by it: to form a trail.

1470–85 MALORY Arthur VII. xxxiv. 267 They..drewe their swerdes, and gafe grete strokes that the blood trayled to the ground. 1650 FULLER Pisgah iv. iii. 48 The water issuing thence trailed after them in all their removalls. 1754 J. LOVE Cricket i. 41 The dull Ball trails before the feeble Mace. 1822–34 Good's Study Med. (ed. 4) II. 68 Vesicular Erythema: ..surface..covered with..minute vesicles..progressively trailing into the neighbouring sound parts. 1891 LONGF. Gold. Leg. iv. Neighboring Nunnery 59 Through the momentary gloom Of shadows o'er the landscape trailing.

7. To extend in a straggling line, to straggle.

1600 HAKLUYT Voy. III. 615 Cape Roxo is a low Cape and trayling to the sea-ward. 1995 J. B. FORTE Highways Derbyshire vii. 98 The path..sometimes trails across the meadows.

b. Trail off (fig.): to 'go off' in a careless, casual, or indefinite way into something; to tail off.

1845 DICKENS Cricket iii, The soft-hearted Slowboy trailed off at this juncture into such a deplorable howl..that [etc.]. 1865—Mid. Pr. II. xvi, Twemlow..trails off into '—actly so'.

III. Secondary senses, pp. from TRAIL sb.[1] 2, 7–8.

8. trans. To decorate or cover with a trailing pattern or ornament; to adorn in the style of tracery. Const. with.

13.. E. E. Allit. P. B. 1473 Penitotes, & pynkardines, ay perles bitwene, So trayled & tryfled a traverse wer alle. 1399 LANGL. Rich. Redeless i. 47 Ypoudride with pete þer it is ouste, And trayled with troupe, and treste al aboute. *c*1440 Promp. Parv. 499/1 Traylyn, a(s) clobys, segmento,.. sirino [sirmo]. 15.. Househ. Bk. Earl Northumbld. (1770) Notes 441, iiij Coyes blew Sylk with red Orferes trayled with whitt Braunchis and Flowres. 1596 SPENSER F. Q. v. v. 2 A Camis light of purple silke ..Trayled with ribbands. 1870 ROCK Textil. Fabr. Introd. i. 76 The golden ground is trailed all over with leaf-bearing boughs.

9. To follow the trail or track of, to track.

1590 COKAINE Treat. Hunting D ij b, An otter sometimes wilbe trayled a mile or two before he come to the holt where he lyeth. 1781 P. BECKFORD Hunting (1802) 150 Seeing the hare trailed to her form. 1788 Gentl. Mag. LVIII. i. 74/2 A General Clarke..after trailing them upon several tracks, at last came up with them. 1880 HARTING Brit. Anim. Extinct i. 18 In later times the Bear was trailed with boar-hounds. 1910 Countryh. Rev. July 33 The ranchman is away..trailing horse thieves.

10. To mark out (a trail or track); to trace out. *c*1586 C'TESS PEMBROKE Ps. LIX. xiii, Abroad they range and hunt apace, Now that, now this. As famine trailes a hungry trace. 1600 HAKLUYT Voy. (1810) III. 546 By reason there met many wayes trayled by the wild beastes, I lost my way. 1891 tr. Didon's Christ I. 410 The way of the Kingdom..is a way trailed with blood.

b. To make trails or tracks in; to make one's way through; see also quot. 1828 (U.S.).

1652 BENLOWES Theaph. XIII. xxvii, The Larks, wing'd travellers, that trail the skie. 1828 WEBSTER, Trail,..In America, to tread down grass by walking through; to lay flat; as, to trail grass.

11. intr. To follow the trail or track of the game.

1741 Compl. Fam.-Place ii. 1. 306 They will come Trailing along by the River Side. 1810 Sporting Mag. XXXV. 194 Mr. Yeatman's hare beagles trailed up to a hare in Pulham Furze. 1880 SHORTHOUSE J. Inglesant ii. 41 The hounds came trailing and chanting along by the river side.

IV. 12. intr. To fish by trailing a bait from a moving boat; spec. to fish from a trailer (see TRAILER 8).

1857 R. TOMES Amer. in Japan xiii. 308 Another cluster of fishing-boats..apparently trailing for fish. 1864 THOREAU Maine W. iii. 176 My companion trailed for trout as we paddled along.

13. Billiards. (See TRAILING vbl. sb. 1 c.)

14. Cards. At casino, To play a card that is useless for gaining a point. (Perh. fig. from 6.)

1909 in Cent. Dict. Supp.

†Trail, v.[2] Obs. [a. OF. treillier to trellis, interweave, from treille TRAIL sb.[2]] trans. To provide with or train upon a trellis.

1398 TREVISA Barth. De P. R. XVII. CLXXVIII. (Bodl. MS.), Vines nedeþ to be trailed to be þe better susteyned.

T rail: see T 3 b.

†Trai·blaston. Old Law. Forms: (4 traillebastoun), 4–7 traile-baston, 4–5, 7– trailbaston (pl. 4 -bastons); also 4 traile-, traylebastoun, (4–5 troille-, troyl(e-, 6 troylebastone, 8 trailbaton); also 4 trayne-bastoun. [ME. a. AF. traille-baston, f. traille imper. of trailler, TRAIL v.[1] + OF. baston stick, cudgel, club, lit. 'one who trails or carries a club or cudgel' (cf. to trail a pike).

Cf. for the formation, F. coupe-bourse, coupe-gorge, porte-chefs, tue-chien, and Eng. cut-purse, cut-throat, pick-pocket, turnkey, kill-cow, etc.]

One of a class of violent evil-doers in the reign of Edward I, who, as brigands or hired ruffians, bludgeoned, maltreated, and robbed the king's liege, during his absence or absorption in foreign wars; also applied to their system of violence, for the suppression of which special justices were instituted in 1304–5; thence contextually applied also to the ordinances issued against them (ordinatio de trailbastons), and to the inquisitions, trials, courts, and justices (justices sur les traylbastouns, justices for or of trailbaston), appointed for their suppression. In living use from 1304 to c 1390; afterwards only a historical term, often misunderstood. Evidence of the original application of traille-baston to the offenders is chiefly supplied by Anglo-Fr. and Latin writings, difficult to epitomize here. They may be seen in full in E. Foss Judges of Eng. vol. III. 28–36 (1851), and F. M. Nichols Orig. Docmts. Illustr. Criminal Law, time of Edw. I, in Archæologia vol. XL (1866). The transference of the name of an offence to the legal process dealing with it, and even to its penalty, is a well-known phenomenon in the history of legal terms. In the 17th c. and later, many guesses were made at the origin of the name; thus the Justices of Trailbaston were fabled to be so called from their carrying the staff of justice', and by Coke, 'because they proceeded as speedily as one might draw a staff'.

1304–5 Ordinance in Camb. MS. Dd. vii. 6 lf. 6r (13..) Incipiunt Articuli Lincolnie qui dicuntur Traylebastoun. jin Brit. Mus. MS. Hargrave 336 Les Articles de Traynebastoun.]..Art. iij. De verberatoribus. De ceux qui sunt batures e font les grands bateries el pays, e qui sunt prestz e apparayllez de estre lowez de tiele chose fayre solum ceo ¦ bons les voeiz ¦ ¦ ¦ wheel of a front-driving bicycle. Also applied to parts connected with this, as trailing axle, spring; so trailing-weight, that part of the weight of a locomotive which rests upon the trailing-wheels.

1849–50 Weale Dict. Terms, Trailing springs, the springs fixed on the axle-boxes of the trailing wheels of a locomotive engine. Ibid., Trailing wheels. 1877 Knight Dict. Mech., Trailing-axle, an axle behind the driving-axle in British locomotives. 1904 Daily Chron. 2 Feb. 6/6 Two pairs of coupled driving-wheels; then a single pair of trailing-wheels placed behind the fire-box.

b. Trailing points, on a railway, points directed away from a coming train (opp. to facing points). Trailing horns in a dynamo-electric machine: see quot. 1902.

1889 G. Findlay Eng. Railway 79 Trailing points..at a distance of 220 yards from the cabin. 1902 Sloane Stand. Electr. Dict., Following Horns, in dynamo-electric machines, the projecting ends of the pole pieces towards which the outer uncovered perimeter of the armature turns. ..The leading horns are those away from which the armature rotates. . Synonym—Trailing Horns. 1909 Cent. Dict. Supp. s. v. Switch, Trailing-point switch, in railroading, ..contrasted with facing-point switch.

Hence Trailingly adv.

1589 Fleming Virg. Georg. iv. 65 Then is their sound heard heauier, and trailingly they hum. 1831 Blackw. Mag. XXX. 476 One of them..hangs trailingly along the mossy greenward. 1842 Mss. Browning Grk. Chr. Poets, etc. 59 Green vine-branches trailingly inclined.

Trailless (tre̅·lĭlĕs), a. [f. Trail *sb.*1 + -less.] Having no trails; trackless, pathless.

1884 Baillie-Grohman in Century Mag. XXIX. 195 Vast stretches of .. forest .. clothe their precipitous slopes .. in unbroken and perfectly trailless masses.

†Trail-side, a. Sc. Obs. [f. Trail *v.*1 or *sb.*1 + Side a.] That is so long as to trail.

1513 Douglas Æneis xiii. vi. 18 In robbis lang also, or traill syde gown.

†Trail wind, app. erron. for tail-wind: see Tail *sb.*1 12.

1679 Admir. Crt. Examn. 78. 23 Sept., They bore away for Jamaica with a trayl wind.

Traily (tre̅·lĭ), a. dial. and colloq. [f. Trail *sb.*1 or *v.*1 + -y.] Characterized by trailing; slovenly; lazy; languid: see Eng. Dial. Dict.

1852 Cumberld. Gloss., Traily, slovenly. 1867 [implied in Trailiness]. 1902 Westm. Gaz. 23 Jan. 3/1 A muff..with a simple pretty bunch, not the traily extreme effect of the same flowers.

†Trailye, trailʒe. Sc. Obs. Also 5 treilʒe, 5–6 treilʒe, 6 treilie. [app. a. OF. treillis, var. of treslis, trelis, treslie, tresli, 'tissu à maille', network; cf. mod.F. treillis glazed calico, also sackcloth; but the Sc. word was evidently applied to some finer fabric.] A kind of cloth. (See also Trellis *sb.*1) Also attrib.

1490 Acta Dom. Concil. (1839) xs8/1 Pat James Du..sall.. pay to David Quhitched..five stikkis of treilʒe of sindry hwis. 1495 Acc. Ld. High Treas. Scot. I. 206 Item, vj quarteris of quhit treilʒe..to be the King a harnes doublet. 1503 Ibid. II. 312 For ane maid doublat of trailʒe to him, vij s. vj d. 1507–8 Ibid. IV. 30 For ix½ elne blew trailʒe to be ane couch to the Queen. 1527 Ibid. V. 216 Blak trailʒe. 1542 Inv. Wardr. (1815) 92 Ane doublet of blak sating trailye. 1543 Acc. Ld. High Treas. Scot. VIII. 232 Fyve quarteris trailʒe to be his grace ane pair of sockis. 1566–7 Mary's mourning-order at decease of Darnley in Chalmers Mary (1818) I. 207 Of treilie buccharem v elle.

Train (trēn), *sb.*1 Forms: 4–6 trayn, 4–7 trayne, (5 treyne), 5–7 traine, 6–7 Sc. tryne, 6– train. [In origin representing two French sbs., traîne fem. (OF. also traïne, trahine) and train masc. (OF. train, also trahin), both held to be vbl. sbs. from traîner to drag, draw, etc. (see Train *v.*1) and corresponding respectively to It. traina, and to Pr. trahí, Sp. tragin (Diez), It. traino. Even in OF., train and traîne, though generally distinct, were sometimes used in the same sense. In English, with the loss of final e in pronunciation and its consequent non-significance in spelling, train and traîne were used indifferently from the 14th c., and in the 17th train became the only spelling. On this account, and esp. because senses have arisen in Eng. which have no French proto-types, it is not possible satisfactorily to distinguish two words corresponding to F. traîne and train. The order here followed is therefore tentative and practical. The F. form, when it exists, is given, and it will be seen that branch II corresponds in the main to F. traîne, and branch III to F. train. Branches I and IV contain representatives of both F. words.]

I. Nouns of action from F. traîner or Eng. Train *v.*1 in various senses. All Obs.

†1. Tarrying, delay. [App. 'a dragging out' of time: cf. Tract *sb.*3 1, 1 b. OF. traîne, train 'retard'.] In quots. 1553, for a train = for a while, for a little time. Obs.

c 1330 R. Brunne Chron. (1810) 263 For þe pes to haue, he mad so long a trayne. Ibid. 264 Þorgh Edward long trayne Gascoyn is born doun, Non defendes his chayne, but only Bayoun. 1489 Caxton Faytes of A. I. xix. 60 Men holde and kepe the in talkyng as by a long trayne fyndyng alwayes somme controuersies that nede not... But onely for to passe tyme. 1553 Respublica v. vii. 1603 Thei wilbe heare soone, byde youe theim here for a traine. Ibid. ix. 2665, I leafte people heare for a traine to holde them talke.

†2. Course or manner of running (of a horse); a course of riding [F. train 'allure']. Obs.

1581 A. Hall Iliad viii. 136 His horse he [Jupiter] beates, the ayre they climo, aloft they skimme amaine, Betweene the earth and welkin hie, they tread a lolly trayne. a 1625 Fletcher Woman's Prize i. iii, A good tough train would break thee all to pieces. 1697 Lovers Quarrel 266 in Hazl. E.P.P. II. 264 Your choice horses are wild and tough, And little they can skill of their train.

†b. A particular gait of a horse: see quots.

1565 Blundevil Horsemanship i. iii. (1580) B 3 b, Their [Turky horses'] trauelling pace is neither amble, racke, nor trot; but a certaine kinde of easie traine. 1607 Markham Caval. iv. i (1617) 5 This shuffling and brokeninceritaine pace, ..is neither amble nor trot, but a mixture of both, as taking his time keeping from trotting, and his motion of legges from ambling, and so compound this which is called a Traine or Racking.

†3. Falconry. (?) A short flight given to a hawk while being trained. [Not in F.] Obs.

1616 [see Train *sb.*3 4].

†4. Training, education. [Not in F.] Obs. rare—1.

1581 Mulcaster Positions Ep. Ded. (1887) 3 The generall traine and bringing vp of youth.

II. That which drags or trails, or is trailed.

5. An elongated part of a robe or skirt trailing behind on the ground; commonly worn by women of rank or fashion when in full dress, and by sovereigns and high officials on state occasions, and sometimes borne by a page or attendant as train-bearer. [OF. train, also traînée; mod.F. traîne.]

c 1440 Promp. Parv. 499/1 Trayle, or trayne of a clothe, stirma. a 1450 in Wr.-Wülcker 650/2 A Appenage, a lady trayne et a pendauntt of a gyrdyll. Ibid. 612/22 Stirma, i. cauda vestis feminarum, a trayne. 1457 Coventry Leet Bk. 299 Next followed our seid souereyn lady, & the Duches of Buckynghm bere here Treyne. 1577 F. de L'Isle's Leg. B vj, Would you..wishe that of her who by duetie ought euen to cary vp my trayne I should make my sister in Law? a 1600 Sh. of Precedence (E. E. T. S.) 26 A Baronesse may haue no trayne borne; But hauing a gowne with a trayne, she ought to beare it her selfe. 1617 Moryson Itin. III. 168 The ordinary Citizens Wiues haue their gownes made with long traines, which are pinned vp in the house. 1711 Addison Spect. No. 42 ¶ 1 Behold sweeping Train that follows her in all her Motions, and finds constant Employment for a Boy who stands behind her to open and spread it to Advantage. 1792–3 in Spirit Pub. Jrnls. (1799) I. 138 He trod on her crape train. 1798 Jane Austen Northang. Abb. v. ..pinned up each other's trains for the dance. 1858 Doran Crt. Fools 117 The period [time of Rich. III] when ladies in England first wore trains.

b. The tail or tail-feathers of a bird, esp. when long and trailing, as in the peacock; in Falconry, the technical name for the tail of a hawk. †Also formerly, the tail of a quadruped (obs.), or of an insect. [Not in F.]

1599 Twyne Phiticke agst. Fort. I. xlii. 44 b, Declaryng howe well that byrde [hawk] flue,..how many feathers of the trayne, and how many of the wings are remaning or lost. 1579 Spenser Sheph. Cal. May 28: His tayle he [the fox] clapt betwixt his legs twayne, Lest he should be Descried by his trayne. 1591 Shaks. 1 Hen. VI, iii. iii. 7 Let frantickie Talbot triumph for a while, And like a Peacock sweepe along his tayle, We'le pull his Plumes, and take away his Trayne. 1620 Chapman Byrdcage iii. xv. (1650) 176 The Lyon is one Colour, shaggie brested, with a certain tuft of haire in his traine. 1634 Sir T. Herbert Trav. 211 [The dodo's] traine is [is] three small plumes. 1639 T. de Gray Compl. Horseman 4 The traine [of a horse] long, not too thick, and falling to the ground. 1693 J. Clayton Acc. Virginia in Misc. Cur. (1708) III. 332 Their Turtle-Doves ..the whole Train is longer much than the Tails of our Pidgeons. 1852 R. F. Burton Falconry Valley Indus viii. 76 A splendid goshawk, ..with..a queenly train.

c. The tail of a comet; a luminous trail, such as that following a meteor. [Not in F.]

1602 Marston Antonio's Rev. I. iii, A blazing comet shot his threatning traine. 1602 Shaks. Ham. I. i. 117 (Qo. 1604) As starres with traines of fier and dewes of blood, Disasters in the sunne. 1663 J. Spencer Prodigies (1665) 22 The luminous tail or train of a Comet..seems to the eye of ignorance the emblem of a flaming sword, or firy rod. 1860 Tyndall Glac. I. ii. 17 In falling [it] leaves the light foaming mass..as a train in the air behind. 1909 Chambers Story of Comets 137 The curvature of the train [of Donati's comet, 1858].

6. poet. Applied to the current of a river, etc., also to the elongated body of a serpent. [Not in F.]

[c 1580 Press Passmore Ps. lxxxiii. xx, All that rich land, where over Nilus trifles Of his wett robe the slymy seedy train.] 1667 Milton P. L. viii. 306 Within those banks, where Rivers now Stream, and perpetual draw their humid traine. 1692 Blackmore Pr. Arth. II. 153 Pure Crystal Rivers through the Meadows flow,..Their watry Train in Snaky Windings slides. 1727–46 Thomson Summer 900 The green serpent..gathers up his train. c 1742 Gray Ignorance 4. 1808 Scott Marm. III. Introd., Like stream-let..winding slow its silver train.

†7. Something dragged along the ground to make a scent or trail; a drag; also pieces of carrion or the like laid in a line or trail for luring certain wild beasts, as wolves, foxes, etc. into a trap [so F. traînée]. Obs.

1575 Turberv. Venerie 187 Take a skynne of bacon..and when it is well broyled..dippe it and puddle it in this sawce ..and make a trayne therewith, and..if there be a foxe neare to any place where the trayne is drawne, he will followe it. 1607 Topsell Fourf. Beasts (1658) 527 The Hunters in some Countries..make a train with a Hogs liver sod, cut in pieces and anointed over with hony, and so anointing their shoes with Swines grease, draw after them a dead Cat, which will cause the beast to follow after very speedily. 1727 Bradley's Fam. Dict. s. v. Animal, For Beasts of Prey, as the Wolf, Fox, Badger, Pole-Cat,..you must make a Train; and when you come to any of the Places you have so prepared, throw four or five Bits of your Train-Carrion upon it, and of Chickens Guts for smaller Beasts.

8. The (visible) track of an animal. rare—1. [Cf. OF. traîne = trace.]

1908 N. Hebrides Mag. Jan. 19 The natives with me saw the train of a turtle on the sand. They thought to capture it, but did not succeed.

III. A suite or sequence of persons or things; a long series.

9. A number of persons following or attending on some one, usually a person of rank; a body of attendants, retainers, or followers; a retinue, suite; sometimes, the vehicles conveying the persons and baggage. [F. train, OF. traînée.]

a 1440 Sir Degrev. 1139 The Eorl and he with a trayn To the castel gan fare. 1513 Douglas Æneis xiii. viii. 48 Al the chymmys rial rownd abowt Was fyllyt with thar tryne and mekill rowt. 1535 Coverdale 1 Kings x. 2 She came to Ierusalem with a marueloes greate trayne. 1669 Lond. Gaz. No. 333/2 The Venetian Ambassador made his solemn Entry into this City, attended..by a large Train of Coaches. 1711 Steele Spect. No. 113 ¶ 2 She has ever had a Train of Admirers. 1833 Ht. Martineau Vanderput & S. i. The long train of mourners. 1875 Jowett Plato (ed. 2) I. 128 A train of listeners followed him.

b. Mil. The artillery and other apparatus for battle or siege, with the vehicles conveying them and the men in attendance, following or in readiness to follow an army. [F. train.] 1523 Lord B. Berners Froiss. I. lxxvi. 56 Syr Wyllyam Montagu..yssued out a horsbacke, and folowed couertly the hynder trayne of the scottes, who had horses so charged with bagagge, ye they might scant go any gret pace. 1643 Chas. I Treaty at Uxbridge Wks. 1662 II. 237 The said Train of Artillery to be fitted in all points ready to march. 1712 Steele Spect. No. 497 ¶ 2 A blunt honest fellow, who had a command in the train of artillery. 1810 Wellington in Gurw. Disp. (1838) V. 88 They have we collected a train of artillery at Salamanca for the siege of Ciudad Rodrigo. 1900 Daily News 11 June 4/3 The military expression..'our trains', is apt to lead to misunderstanding..where the troops..have been actually travelling by railway trains.

†c. The rear of an army or body of soldiers. Obs. rare. [F. train.]

1598 Barret Theor. Warres ii. i. 28 How to turne their faces, making front of either flanke or traine. Ibid. iii. iii. 55 The armed pikes..shall be..placed in the front and in traine of the battell.

10. fig. A set of attendant things, circumstances, or conditions; a series of consequences; in quot. 1638, something following, a sequel. Often in phr. in the train of, as a sequel to; so in its train.

1570 Satir. Poems Reform. xix. 101 That Kingdome sall come to greit ruyne Quhen that deuisisoun hes his suit and tryne. 1598 R. Baker tr. Balaze's Lett. (vol. II.) 23 For a trine to this first favour I request thee a second. 1721 Berkeley Prev. Ruin Gt. Brit. Wks. III. 202 This vice draweth after it a train of evils. 1768 Sterne Sent. Journ., Passport Paris, The idea presented itself..with this in its train. 1823 Ht. Martineau Devereux xii, Education came in the train of other good things. 1871 Smiles Charac. i. (1876) 9 There is no act, however trivial, but has its train of consequences.

11. A body of persons, animals, vehicles, etc., travelling together in order, esp. in a long line or procession; a succession of persons; fig. (chiefly poet.) a set or class of persons. [F. train.]

1489 Caxton Faytes of A. I. xxiii. 70 A large trayne of men of armes al clos togyder. 1591 Shaks. 1 Hen. VI, ii. iii. 34 Which of this Princely trayne Call ye the Warlike Talbot? 1698 Fryer Acc. E. India & P. 292 The best Hawks..fly in Trains like Wild Geese. 1746 Francis tr. Horace, Epist. ii. ii. 129 What milder Frenzy goads the rhiming Train? 1829 Scott Anne of G. vii, The caravans, or large trains of waggons, by which the internal commerce..was carried on. 1884 Gilmore Mongols 287 Camels, trains of which..may be seen making their way along the crowded streets.

12. A number of things following one another in time or order; a series or course of actions, events, etc. a. A course of action in relation to its manner or purpose; method of procedure; manner of action; way of life; course, drift, or direction of a discourse, argument, etc. Now rare or Obs. (passing into b). [F. train.]

c 1530 (title) The ordre or Trayne of warre, that a prynce or heed Captayne ought to take. 1534 More Treat. Passion Wks. 1390/2 They..corrupte some well mynded meane, before they perceyue the trayne of theyr crafte ypose. 1580 Sidney Ps. xv, He that leads of life an uncorrupted traine. a 1677 Barrow Serm. Wks. 1716 I. 39 God..by secret methods and undiscernable trains, ordereth all events. 1756 Hume Hist. Eng. (1761) II. xxviii. 134 His splendid ostentatious train of life. 1836 Random Recoll. Ho. Lords xvi. 388 You never misapprehend the train of his reasoning.

b. In general: A series, succession, sequence (of actions, events, thoughts, or phenomena); a continuous course (of action, reasoning, etc.).

c 1645 Howell Lett. (1650) I. 245 A wife is the best or worst fortune that can betide a man throughout the whole train of his life. 1690 Locke Hum. Und. ii. xiv. § 3 A train of Ideas, which constantly succeed one another in his Understanding. 1772 [see Tract *sb.*3]. 1764 Reid Inquiry v. § 5 Long and demonstrative trains of reasoning. 1769 Robertson Chas. V, i. Wks. 1813 V. 165 A long train of fortunate events. 1858 Buckle Civilis. (1871) II. viii. 582 The result of a long train of causes.

c. Proper sequence, order, or arrangement for some result; connected order; course, process: in phr. in train (formerly also in a train, and with defining adj., as in (a) good train).

1528 Gardiner in Pocock Rec. Ref. I. xlii. 82 Everything in good train and order. 1591 Savile Tacitus, Agricola 260 Our men...were now in traine of winning the field. 1690 Locke Hum. Und. III. vii. § 2 It is not enough that a Man has ideas clear and distinct...he must think in train. 1746 W. Horsley Fool (1748) II. 23 The Affairs of Europe hereby put in a happy Train. 1842 Macaulay in Life & Lett. (1889) II. 114, I am...desirous to get on with my History, which is...in a fair train. 1881 Mrs. Alexander' At Bay x, Putting matters in train for the election.

13. A line of gunpowder or other combustible substance laid so as to convey fire to a mine or charge for the purpose of exploding it. Also fig. [It. traina (Florio); F. trainée.]

a 1548 Hall Chron., Hen. VIII 218 The Frenchmen...made traynes of gunpouder from streete to streete. 1629 W. Hughes Man of War I. i. 4 A Mine was made, and Train was laid hereby for blowing up the Gospel it self. 1798 in Nicolas Nelson's Disp. (1846) VII. p. clviii, She [a ship] was set on fire by a train. 1839 Civil Eng. & Arch. Jrnl. II. 45 We were fortunate enough to witness two of these blasting operations...The order for firing the train given... In a few seconds after the ignition of the train, a rumbling sound, like that of...distant thunder was heard, and the...whole mass was lifted bodily from its base. 1850 Grote Greece II. lxi. VII. 517 He...had already laid his train...for revolt. 1855 Macaulay Hist. Eng. xxi. IV. 549 The spark had fallen: the train was ready: the explosion was immediate and terrible. After a tumultuous debate [etc.].

b. Pieces of carrion or the like laid in a line or trail for luring certain wild beasts: see sense 7.

14. An extended series of material objects or the like; a row, rank; esp. a series of things arranged in a definite order for some purpose; rarely, a continuous extent of something.

1610 Holland Camden's Brit. (1637) 343 Vpon this shore, like unto all a long traine certaine heapes in manner bankes or rampiers. 1664 Power Exp. Philos. I. 97 Being layd of a row or train. 1763 W. Roberts Nat. Hist. Florida p. vi, Our more northern colonies..form one continued train along the whole eastern-side of North-America. 1774 M. Mackenzie Maritime Surv. 9 When the Survey has been continued by a Train of stasimetric Triangles. 1863 Lyell Antiq. Man xviii. 356 Detached fragments of rock..in long parallel trains. 1878 Abney Photogr. (1881) 280 A train of prisms..set to the angle of minimum deviation.

15. A set of connected parts of mechanism which actuate one another in series; spec. (a) the set of wheels and pinions in a clock or watch which turns the hands (going train), or that which actuates the striking part (striking train); (b) a set or pair of rollers used in metal-working; a roll-train.

1797 Monthly Mag. III. 464 Thus the progressive motion is communicated to the cotton spindles in the same manner as it is to the different parts of a common time-piece—by a train of wheels. 1832 Babbage Econ. Mach. xix. (1833) 203 Motions are propagated..along a great variety of trains of mechanism. 1838 [see Going vbl. sb. 6]. 1881 [see roll-train, Roll sb.[1] 17]. 1884 F. J. Britten Watch & Clocks. 266 The remarks on the train of a barrel watch apply equally to the going train of a clock. 1885 C. G. W. Lock Workshop Receipts Ser. iv. 307/2 The parts most likely to require repair in the striking trains of clocks.

16. A number of railway carriages, vans, or trucks coupled together (usually including the locomotive by which they are drawn). [So F. train.]

Orig. train of carriages, etc.; now one of the chief uses of the simple word: cf. 22 b.

a 1824 A. Scott Ess. Rail-roads in Trans. Highland Soc. (1824) VI. 29 By continually shifting the train of waggons at the head and foot of the inclined plane, from the one railway to the other. 1825 in W. Chambers About Railways (1865) 6 (Opening of Stockton and Darlington R.) The signal being given, the engine started off with this immense train of carriages. 1830 Times 19 Sept., The Northumbrian drawing the splendid train of carriages occupied by the Duke of Wellington...The Northumbrian locomotive engine, which had drawn the train of the Duke of Wellington. 1835 Marryat Olla Podr. vi, The trains went on well. 1837 Cornhill's Railway Companion (title-p.), The Company's charges from one station to another;..time of departure and arrival of each train, etc. 1839 W. Chambers Tour in Belgium 73/1 We were speedily carried to the railway terminus, where a train of carriages was in waiting, with its locomotive engine hissing and chafing. 1855 Lynch Rivulet lxii. ii, Thus through a distant valley's length Slow seems to glide the train. 1885 Mabel Collins Prettiest Woman x, A train left Warsaw early in the morning.

b. Hence, a line of vehicles coupled together.

1883 Gresley Gloss. Coal-mining, Journey, a train or set of trams all coupled together.

†17. See quot. Obs. [Cf. F. train, 'nombre de vibrations qu'un mouvement d'horlogerie produit dans un temps déterminé' (Littré).] (Perhaps not Eng.)

1704 J. Harris Lex. Techn. I, Train, is the Number of Beats which the Watch maketh in an Hour or any other certain time.

IV. Names of other things (chiefly material) derived from prec. branches.

†18. Cookery. A dish consisting of dates, figs, raisins, and almonds strung upon a long thread and covered with batter. Obs.

c 1450 Two Cookery-bks. 97 Trayne roste. Take Dates and figges...and pen take grete reysons and blanched almondes, and prik hem thorgh with a nedel into a threde of a mannys length,..rost the treyne abought the fire in pe spete;..cast the batur on the treyne as he turneth abought the fire. 14.. Consuissum domist de la Grey ibid. 60 Le ij. cours..Halybutte. Playes fryed. Trayne Roste. 14.. MS. Douce 55 lf. 64.

†19. The carriage of a printing-press. [F. train.] (Perh. only French.) Obs.

1594 R. Ashley tr. Leys le Rey 22 He maketh the train of the presse to roule [etc.].

20. Applied to various material objects that are dragged. a. The trail of a gun-carriage: see Trail sb.[1] 5.

1765 Falconer Dict. Marine (1776) II, Crochets devetrailt, the eye-bolts, in the train of a gun-carriage, wherein are hooked the relieving tackles. 1815 [see train-tackle in 22 c].

b. A rough kind of sledge or sleigh used in Canada for transport. [Cf. F. traineau.] 1835 C. F. Hoffman Winter in Far West I. 210 At last a train (note, a rough kind of sled) and a couple of carioles drove up to the door. 1860 Bartlett Dict. Amer., Train (Fr. traineau), a peculiar kind of sleigh used for the transportation of merchandise, wood, etc., in Canada.

†c. A drag-net, a seine. [F. traîne.] Obs.

1576 Fleming tr. Caius' Dogs (1880) 14 Such Dogges as serve for fowling...The first kinde of such serve the Hawke, The seconde, the net, or traine. 1609 Bible (Douay) Hab. i. 15 He drew it in his traine [L. sagena], and gathered it into his nette.

†21. A rope for dragging a plough or harrow. local. Obs.

1798 Statist. Acc. Scot. XX. 260 The harrows are drawn side-ways by a train or side rope (like that used in a plough).

V. 22. attrib. and Comb. a. In sense 5, 'Having a train', as train-dress, -gown, -petticoat, -skirt; also train-bearer, an attendant who carries the train of a sovereign or other person; also fig.; so train-bearing adj.; train-tea, a tea-party on the occasion of a young lady's presentation at court.

1722 Lond. Gaz. No. 6084/6 Sir Robert Rich his Train-bearer sitting overagainst him. 1838 Q. Victoria Jrnl. 28 June, I..went into a robing-room, where I found my eight train-bearers: Lady Caroline Lennox [etc.]. 1871 Lowell Pope Prose Wks. 1890 IV. 56 No poet more often than he mentions the second line of the couplet a mere train-bearer to the first. 1848 Buckley Iliad 129 The train-bearing Trojan women. 1792 Trans. Soc. Arts X. 199 The principal consumption in this cloth, is in train-dresses for ladies' wearing. 1831 Carlyle Sart. Res. i. vii, Wives of quality..have train-gowns four or five ells in length; which trains there are boys to carry. 1678 Lond. Gaz. No. 1287/4 One long Train petticoat of rich flowred Silk. 1876 T. Hardy Ethelberta II. 25 A light muslin train-skirt. 1897 Spectator 16 Jan. 96/1 The 'train-tea' that celebrates the presentation at Court of an English girl in good society.

b. In sense 16, as train hand (Hand sb. 8), train journey, -line, -load, -robber, -robbery, -service, -speed, -thief, -time, -wreck, -wrecker, -wrecking; also train-boy, (a) Coal-mining: see quot. 1883; (b) (U.S. and Canada), a boy who sells newspapers, etc. on a railway train; train-dispatcher (U.S. and Canada), the officer who has charge of the running of trains on a railway; train-ferry, a ferry for conveying trains across a piece of water from one railway to another; so train-ferriage; train-mile, each mile of the aggregate distance run by all the trains on a railway in a given period, as a unit in estimating amount of traffic, working expenses, etc.; so train-mileage; train-pipe, a pipe connecting the source of power with the brakes on the cars in a continuous system of brakes on a railway train (also called brake-pipe); train-road = train-way (a); train-shed (U.S.), a roof supported by posts forming a shelter for one or more platforms at which trains stop; a roughly built or uninclosed railway station; train-sheet, a ruled sheet on which are recorded the movements of every train on a section of railway, according to information telegraphed from the various stations; train-sickness, a sickness or nausea to which some persons are subject when travelling by train; so train-sick adj.; train-signal, a method of signalling from the cars of a train to the engine by a continuous pipe (Cent. Dict. Suppl.); train-staff, (a) a staff delivered to an engine-driver as authority to travel over a single-line section of railway; (b) the staff of employees on a railway train; train-stop, an automatic apparatus, in connexion with a railway signal, for stopping a train; train-way, (a) a temporary line of rails for the conveyance of small loads, as in the course of construction of a railway; (b) a platform hinged to a wharf, with a line of rails upon which railway cars or trucks may run to and from a ferry-boat (U.S.).

1883 Gresley Gloss. Coal-mining, *Train-boy, a boy who rides upon the train, to attend to the rope attachments, etc. 1890 Opelousas (Louisiana) Democrat 19 Apr. 3/2 A boy who gets a position as train boy for our company must put up a certain amount of money as a guarantee. 1901 Westm. Gaz. 21 Feb. 10/2 Scarcely any observer has omitted to complain of the importunities of the train-boy [on American railways], with his merchandise of bananas and candies and chewing gum and dime novels. 1881 Chicago Times 14 May, John Converse is appointed assistant *train-dispatcher. 1897 Month Sept. 281 Behring Strait could be crossed by some powerful system of *train-ferriage. 1900 Monthly R. I. 41 The present route is across the lake by *train-ferry. 1894 Westm. Gaz. 3 Sept. 5/1 Many acts of heroism are reported, especially on the part of *train hands. 1908 Daily Chron. 11 Mar. 9/5 The *train-indicator, a huge framework confronting every passenger when he enters. There are eighteen clock faces, each of which tells the time at which the next train on the various lines departs. 1900 G. Swift Somerley 94 On our *train-journey home. 1882 Macon. Mag. XLV. 502 Arrival of the *train-loads of troops. 1894 T. M. Cooley in Forum (N. Y.) Sept. 17 Train-loads of perishable goods were..ruined by delays which the strike had caused. 1898 Engineering Mag. XVI. 66 Of an American railway..the superintendent..is assisted by a *trainmaster, a roadmaster or division engineer,..and a chief train dispatcher. 1864 Webster, *Train-mile. 1868 Q. Rev. Oct. 300 The working expense per train-mile is 2*s.* 6*d.* 1892 Daily News 17 Feb. 2/6 The great industrial lines have run more train-miles, and therefore done more work, during the past half-year. 1868 Q. Rev. Oct. 301 A large proportion of the *train-mileage run..is useless, being far in excess of [public] requirements. 1909 Great Central Railway Report 6 Aug. 5 The strictest economy has been exercised in train mileage. 1889 Findlay Eng. Railway 120 While the train is running a continual vacuum is maintained in the train-pipes. 1828 Webster, Train-road..in mines, a slight rail-way for small wagons. 1897 Knight Dict. Mech., Train-road, a construction railway; a slight railway for small loads. 1892 Gunter Miss Dividends (1893) 257 An institution..implicable in its pursuit of *train robbers, highwaymen, and others that raid the precious things that this business community intrust to it. 1905 Daily Chron. 17 Apr. 4/5 There are two forms of criminal activity in which the United States enjoys an unenviable distinction. One of them is lynching and the other is *train-robbery. Mod. The *train-service to London has been improved. 1878 F. S. Williams Midl. Railw. 639 The *train setters and their foremen. 1892 Pall Mall G. 22 Nov. 7/3 The great iron and glass portal..will constitute the most extensive railway *train-shed in existence [at Philadelphia, U.S.]. 1909 Daily Chron. 22 July 7/2 Anyone to whom trains give the least sensation of vertigo should sit facing [the engine]..Children who are otherwise *train-sick will travel fairly well seated thus. 1906 Westm. Gaz. 27 Sept. 4/2 Many travellers suffer from *train-sickness. 1901 Daily Chron. 1 May 8/7 In these days when *train-speeds in Great Britain are mostly stationary. 1895 Funk's Standard Dict. s. v. Staff, *Train-staff. 1901 Daily News 16 Jan. 5/1 The Isle of Sheppey Light Railway is in single track..and it will be worked on the train-staff and ticket system. 1906 Westm. Gaz. 27 Apr. 7/1 The train staff having dealt so promptly with the trouble that the only sign of fire was a little smoke. Ibid. 9 Feb. 7/2 The *train-stop at the signal-post actuated the continuous brake, and thereby..brought the vehicle to a standstill. 1892 Pall Mall G. 15 Mar. 2/1 It was *train-time, and I rose to leave him. 1881 Chicago Times 17 June, Running a car from a siding on the *train track. 1839 Civil Eng. & Arch. Jrnl. II. 46/2 The wagons when loaded..are easily pushed..down the *trainway to the face of the cliff. 1897 Knight Dict. Mech., Train-way, a hinged platform which forms a bridge leading from a wharf to the deck of a ferry-boat. 1891 Boston (Mass.) Jrnl. 26 Oct. 1/6 A *train-wrecker caught. 1885 Manch. Exam. 10 Jan. 5/1 An unsuccessful attempt at *train-wrecking.

c. In other senses: train-bolt, a bolt to which the training-tackle of a gun is hooked [Cent. Dict.]; †train-horse, a horse employed to draw artillery; train-net = sense 20 c; train-rope, train-tackle, a tackle hooked to the trail of a gun-carriage on board ship: see quot.; train-service (in sense 9 b); train-shut a., shut by a train of wheels and pinions; train-work, a mechanism consisting of a series of parts (sense 15).

1643 in 13th Rep. Hist. MSS. Comm. App. I. 131 The county complains that we have not charged the *Train horse according to the letter of the Ordinance. 1710 Lond. Gaz. No. 4682/2 Train Horses..employed in drawing forty pieces of Artillery. 1864 Glasgow Daily Herald 21 Sept., There is as much damage done with *train nets as with trawl nets. 1887 Spectator 3 Sept. 1174 Their *train-services collected and equipped for a campaign. 1632 Lithgow Trav. 1. 5 Mine Spiritals shall second, Of *train-shut sluices, of the Thespian spring, Where chatring birds, Dodonean trees do sing. 1815 Burney Falconer's Dict. Marine, Train-Tackle*,..a combination of pulleys, which is, during action, hooked to an eye-bolt, in the train of the carriage, by a ring; fastened to the deck...Its use is, to prevent the gun from running out of the port whilst loading. 1867 Smyth Sailor's Word-bk., Train-tackle. 1876 Preece & Sivewright Telegraphy 92 The Morse involves a complicated and expensive *trainwork of mechanism.

† Train, sb.[2] Obs. Forms: 4–7 trayne, 4–5 treyne, trayn, 5 north. trane, 6–7 traine, 6–8 train. [a. OF. traîne guile, deceit, ruse (12th c. in Godef.), n. of action f. OF. traïr, (Fr. trahir) to betray; cf. haine (OF. haïne), taisine, f. haïr, taisir. Cf. the phrases 'withouten train', 'false train', etc. with OF. sans traine, fausse traine, etc.

In senses 2, 3, and 4 this word appears to be associated with senses 7 and 13 b of Train sb.[1]

1. Without a or pl.: Treachery, guile, deceit, trickery.

c 1400 Destr. Troy 3789 Ulexes..falsest in his fare, and full of disseit, Vndertaker of treyne, of tallynge but litill. c 1400 Non-Cycle Myst. Plays 7/67 We schal home tell, withouten trayn, Bothe word & werk, how hit was. c 1460 Towneley Myst. x. 330 Do wa, Iosep,..'Turne home to thi spouse again, look thou deme in hir no trane, ffor she was neuer flylde. 1590 Spenser F. Q. I. vi. 41 Thou cursed Miscreant, That hast with knightlesse guile, and trecherous train, Faire knighthood fowly shamed. a 1600 Flodden F. vii. (1664) 70 Trusting his talk was void of trayne.

b. With a and pl. An act or scheme designed to deceive or entrap, a trick, stratagem, artifice, wile. c 1330 R. Brunne Chron. (1810) 205 Þe kyng of Almayn[e] ..He mad a fals trayn[e]..He sent Edward to say, help him mot he nouht. a 1350 St. Nicholas 292 in Horstm. Altengl. Leg. (1881) 15 Þan wote I wele, þou es vnwise..I trow your law be bot a trayne. 1412-20 Lydg. Chron. Troy iv. 4904 Dredynge ay pat þese ilke tweyne Be som engyn or conspired treyne To þe Grekes wolden hym be-tray. 1529 Rastell Pastyme, Brit. (1811) 223 Mortymer was, by a trayne, taken in the castell of Notyngham. 1605 Shaks. Macb. iv. iii. 118 Diuellish Macbeth, By many of these traines, hath sought to win me into his power. 1739 G. Cole Gualthieres 23 An artless Mind, Unpractis'd in the Trains of Womankind. 1767 Mickle Concub. ii. xlvi, The Nymph..With wylie Traines the Sonnes of Earth besett.

2. A trap or snare for catching wild animals; also fig. (In phrase to lay a train, associated with or merged in senses of Train sb.[1])

1390 Gower Conf. III. 241 But if a king his wille Fro lusies of his fleish restreigne, Ayein himself he makth a treigne, Into the which if that he slyde, Him were betre go besyde. c 1400 † Lydg. Assembly of Gods 773 That no maner trayne nor caltrop theryn were. 1530 Palsgr. 282/2 Trayne a trappe, aleuyne. 1622 Quarles Sion's Elegies iii. Poems (1717) 393, I seek my peace, but seek my peace in vain; For every way's a trap: each path's a train. a 1630 D. Hume Hist. Do. Douglas & Angus (1644) 30 Resting ..that there was some train laid for them, he turned about to have retired into the Castle. 1697 Dryden Æneid xi. 1056 Vain Fool and Coward,..Caught in the Train which thou thyself hast laid.

3. Something designed to lure an animal into a trap or snare; a lure, bait, decoy, enticement; also fig.

c 1400 Lydg. Reson & Sens. 698: [The tiger] ys deceyved by merours Which the hountys for socours Caste in the waye for a treyne. 14.. Voc. in Wr.-Wülcker 566/25 Attractorium, a treyne, sed melius a trays. 1548 Cranmer Catech. 97 b, Thou mayst make no trayres to bring him in to thy snare. 1602 Hist. Eng. in Harl. Misc. (Malh.) II. 464 The barbarous people..leaving their cattle abroad, as a train, to draw them [the Romans] within danger.

†4. A live bird attached to a line, or a lame and disabled bird, given as an enticement to a young hawk during its training. (Sometimes explained as the short flight which the hawk makes in trying to capture this: see Train sb.[1] 3.) Obs.

1496 Acc. L.L. H. ix & Trevisa Scot. I. 287 Giffin to the man that brocht tua quyk heronis to the King, to make trayns to halkis,..ix s. Ibid. 291 Item, for a duke to be a trane to a halk..xij d. 1575 Turbervy. Falconrie 117 When a sparow hawke is manned and reclaymed, then give her nine or ten traynes at the least, and when she killeth feede hir up alwayes. 1611 Cotgr., Tome, a traine with a lame and disarmed Heron, for the making of a young Faulcon. 1616 Surfl. & Markh. Country Farme 799 These flights are called traines, because they only traine or teach a young Hawke how to bestow her wing, and make her selfe victor ouer the prey.

†Train, sb.[2] Obs. (exc. in Train-oil). Forms: 5–6 traine, 6 treine, 6–7 trayne, traine, 6–train. [In 15–16th c. trane, a. M.LG. and LG. trân, MDu. traen, Du. traan, whence mod.Ger. tran, and Da., Sw. tran; all meaning 'oil extracted or made to exude, spec. train-oil'; app. the same word as MLG. trîn, trâne, MDu. traen, trâne, OHG. trahan, OS. trahan*, pl. trahni, OLFrank. pl. trâni (Ger. trâne) 'tear, drop', also gum or resin that exudes from trees, 'lacrymae arborum' (Kilian).] The earlier name of what is now called Train-oil.

1497 Maldon, Essex, Burgh-Deeds Bundle 72 No. 4 Possessiatus de uno barrello olei vocat. trane. 1515 Sel. Cases Star Chamb. (Selden) II. 92 The Crafte and misterie of Mercers hath vsed..ochir gresse marchandise as sopp, terre,..pik, Wax,..Trayne. 1545 Rates of Customs d.; Woll oyle called trane the tonne iiii li. 1602 Carew Cornwall 1. 33 They pack them (pilchards) orderly in hogsheads..which afterwards as they presse with great weights, to the end the traine may soke from them into a vessel placed in the ground to receyue it. 1712 A. van Leeuwenhoek in Phil. Trans. XXVII. 441 Upon several Parts of these little Membranes, there lay Fat, which..they call the Train. 1756 Acc. Bks. in Ann. Reg. 283/2 They don't drink train,..but use it in their lamps. 1802 Trans. Soc. Arts XX. 212 The cod-oil, or common train, brought from Newfoundland.

b. attrib. as train-fat, -bottle. (See Train-oil.)

1668 Act to Will. III, c. 8 § 7 Any House Stages Cock-Rooms Train-Fats or other Conveniencies for fishing there [Newfoundland]. 1707 Lond. Gaz. No. 4378/3, 23 Train-Fats burnt;..1568 Hogsheads of Train-Oil destroyed. 1797 Crantz in Encycl. Brit. (ed. 3) XIV. 620/2 Of the skins of the entrails [of the seal] they [Greenlanders] make their windows..; and they make train bottles of the maw.

Train, v.[1] Forms: 4–7 trayne, (5 treyne), 5–7 trayn, 6 (Sc.), 7 trane, 6–7 traine, 6– train. [ME. a. F. traîn-er, in OF. trainer, also trahiner (11th c. in Hatz.-Darm.); app. a deriv. of L. trahêre (in pop.L. tragêre*, whence F. traire) to draw, drag; = Pr. trahinar; cf. Sp. trajinar to convey, 'traginar to transport by pack-horses' (Minsheu), It. trainare 'to traine, to traile, to draggle or draw along the ground' (Florio).

Hatz.-Darm. suppose a sb. tragina* from tragere*, formed like ragina, ratina, fr. ragêre, ratêre, whence the vb. They do not identify this tragina* with the existing traine, which is taken as a new formation from the vb. like train, masc.]

I. 1. trans. To draw or pull along after one; to drag, haul, trail. Obs. or arch.

c 1450 Merlin xviii. 229 He hente hir be the tresses and throgh hir toward the horse trailinge..; and so he hath hir trayned and drawen. 1530 Palsgr. 383 To se the body of Hector so trayned by Achilles. 1607 Markham Caval. III. i. (1617) 9 This chase or sport we..call a Traine sent, because the sent which the Houndes hunt is trained alongst the fields. 1623 tr. Favine's Theat. Hon. vi. iv. 124 To traine the baggadge of the Christian Army there were three score thousand chariots. 1667 Milton P. L. v. 553 Behold..the Foe Approaching..; in hollow Cube Training his devilish Enginrie [cannons]. 1831 Scott Ct. Robt. iii, He cannot be so false of word as to train me to prison under false pretences.

b. intr. (for pass.) Of a garment: To hang down, esp. so as to drag or trail. Now rare.

1590 Spenser F. Q. II. iii. 27 Below her ham her weed did somewhat trayne. 1702 W. J. tr. Bruyn's Voy. Levant xxxi. 117 They let it [the tail] train down fourteen cubits to the lower End. 1780 Mrs. Piozzi Journ. France I. 184 A full black silk petticoat, sloped just to train a very little on the ground. 1827 [see Training ppl. a. 3].

†2. fig. (trans.) a. To draw out, lengthen out (in time), protract, spin out; also, to spend, pass (time, one's life); esp. to pass slowly or wearily, 'drag on'. Also intr.

c 1440 Promp. Parv. 499/1 Trayynyn, or trainyyn, or longe tryynn (..Or abydyn), moror, differo. 1539 [see Training vbl. sb. 1]. 1556 J. Heywood Spider & F. xcv. 8 To traine the time and tarie you..folii it weare. a 1560 Becon Jewel of Joy Wks. II. 5 Nether by letters nor yet by report..could we learne where you trained your life. 1652 J. Warcupp tr. Camus' Nat. Paradox x. 259 To seek a glorious Death..rather than train so obscure and discontented a Life.

b. To draw out in length, to extend; to drawl, utter slowly (a word, phrase, name). rare.

1651 Cleveland Smectymnuus 10 A Name which t'were train'd would spread a mile. 1889 G. Meredith R. Feverel xlii, He trained out the [word] old.

†c. To draw after itself, draw with it; to involve as a consequence; to bring in its train. Obs.

1579 Fenton Hist. Guicciard. (1618) 12 If those small forces trained with them so great fortunes. 1619 Sir J. Finett in Eng. & Germ. (Camden) 63 A business that is lyke to trayn vpon it a consequence of continuall trouble.

†d. To strain the sense of. Obs. rare[—1].

1550 Bale Eng. Votaries ii. 31 The scriptures he had so trayned with the rules of logycke, that by them he was able to maynteyne all falshede.

†3. To draw, lead, conduct, bring. Obs.

1549 Coverdale, etc. Erasm. Par. Jude 22 The Hebrues ..whom..God trained out of the..bondage of the Egipcians. c 1586 C'tess Pembroke Ps. cv. xii, His chosen troopes with triumph on he trained. 1642 Chas. I Declar. 12 Aug. 16 Their resort was to the people, whom upon several occasions they had trained down to Westminster.

II. 4. fig. To draw by art or inducement; to draw on; to allure, entice, decoy; to lead astray, deceive, take in. arch. (The most frequent early sense. ? Influenced by Train sb.[2])

1375 Barbour Bruce xix. 354 The lord dowglas toward thaim raid;..Thame neir his battell for till trayne. c 1400 Morte Arth. 2683 Se do bott trayne us..wyth trofelande wordes. 1412-20 Lydg. Chron. Troy iii. 1013 His mortall foon Pat..him to treyne leide out hoke & laas. 1588 T. Hughes Misfort. Arth. v. i. 88 So did his witte and feature feede that hope, Which falsely traindie me to this woefull hap. 1596 Shaks. 1 Hen. IV, ii. 2 We did traine him on. a 1694 Tillotson Serm. (1743) I. 237 Being insensibly trained on from one degree of wickedness to another. 1781 Hist. Eng. in Ann. Reg. 92/1 Being trained into a well-laid ambush. 1899 Goldw. Smith United Kingd. I. 200 He [Bruce] trained him [Comyn] to a church and stabbed him there.

†b. In good or neutral sense: To draw by persuasion; to persuade, induce, convert. Obs.

1526 in Strype Eccl. Mem. (1721) I. v. 69 The King had hopes to train the Emperor to preach doctrine of God. 1612 Brerewood Lang. & Relig. 152 They have been by little and little brought and trayned to the Greek religion.

III. 5. To treat or manipulate so as to bring to the proper or desired form; spec. in Gardening, to manage (a plant or branch) so as to cause it to grow in some desired form or direction, esp. against a wall, or upon a trellis or the like.

c 1440 Pallad. on Husb. I. 1032 And bowis ore hit trayn So longh and yare, on hem that bees may dwelle. 1688 Evelyn Diary 24 Mar., His orangeries and gardens, where the wall fruit trees are most exquisitely nail'd and train'd. 1792 Mar. Riddell Voy. Madeira 9 The vines are trained and supported by poles. 1837 Lockhart Scott I. ix. 269 A garden..the Scott delighted to train his flowers and creepers. 1852 O. W. Holmes My Aunt ii, Why will she train that winter curl In such a spring-like way? 1871 [see Trained ppl. a. 3]. 1888 Nicholson's Dict. Gard. s.v. Training, Say plums most forcibly into branches trained in an upright direction.

6. To subject to discipline and instruction for the purpose of forming the character and developing the powers of, or of making proficient in some occupation. (Also with up.) a. To instruct and discipline generally; to educate, rear, bring up.

1542 Udall Erasm. Apoph. Pref.  ij b, For teachyng and trainyng youne children. 1612 Bible Prov. xxii. 6 Traine vp a child in the way he should goe. 1727 Gay Fables I. ix, Seek you to train your fav'rite boy? Each caution, ev'ry care employ. 1877 E. R. Conder Bas. Faith iii. 103 This protracted pupilage..is admirably calculated to train and perfect his moral character.

b. To instruct and discipline in or for some particular art, profession, occupation, or practice; to exercise, practise, drill; to make proficient by such instruction and practice (see also Trained ppl. a.). Const. in, for, to.

1555 W. Watteman Fardle Facions I. vi. 106 To be trayned, and exercysed in the feicles of warre. 1577-87 Holinshed Chron. I. 3/1 Bardus..was highlie renoumed..for inuention of dities and musicke, wherein..he trained his people. 1661 in Verney Mem. (1907) II. 170 To march, trayne and exercise his company, according to the moderne discipline of warr. c 1680 Beveridge Serm. (1729) I. 39 Such advocates as had been trained up in the civil law. 1823 Scott Quentin D. xxxi, To a false tale you will not desire me to train my tongue. 1829 Mucketry Instr. 92 Handsmen..fully trained to the use of the rifle. 1869 Huxley in Sci. Opin. 21 Apr. 464/1 He was thoroughly trained in the physical and chemical science of his day.

c. To discipline and instruct (an animal) so as to make it obedient to orders, or capable of performing tricks; to prepare a race-horse for its work.

1609 Shuttleworths' Acc. (Chetham Soc.) 181 Richard Eastwood, for his paynes and his coache, to trayne the horses theirin, xxx*. 1660 F. Brooke tr. Le Blanc's Trav. 166 These Lions..are..trained in parkes to hunt others. 1777 Priestley Matt. & Spir. (1782) I. xxii. 286 Dogs..may be trained to catch hares. 1879 J. F. Clarke Self-Culture i. (1880) 33 Animals can be trained by man, but they cannot train themselves. 1894 Astley 50 Years Life I. 176 The present Robert Sherwood, who now trains at Newmarket.

d. To bring by a course of diet and exercise to the required state of physical efficiency for a race or other athletic feat.

1835-71 [see Training vbl. sb. 2 c]. 1887 Stevenson Mem. & Portr. vi. Pastoral 96 A threat of latent anger in the expression, like that of a man trained too fine and harassed with perpetual vigilance.

e. With adv. or compl. adj.: To bring into a specified condition by or as by athletic training. Train off, to throw off by training.

1879 Spectator 7 June 720 The beasts, always worn, for that terrible, incessant pulling trains them down almost visibly. 1891 Kipling Light that Failed viii. 165 You're disgraceffully out of condition,..pure tallow born of overfeeding. Train it off, Dickie.

7. intr. for pass. To undergo or follow a course of instruction and discipline; in early quots., to go through a course of military drill, to drill.

1605 Stow Ann. 1310 The other 3000 citizens..shewed on the Miles end, where they trained all that day. 1688 Wood Life 98 June (O. H. S.) II. 176, 4 hundred of muskets, pikes, etc..for the scholars to train with. 1811 Byron Hints fr. Horace 703 The youth who trains to ride, or run a race, Must bear privations. 1906 Beatrice Harraden Scholar's Daus. vii, My uncle thought I'd better train to be a doctor.

b. intr. With adv. To get into some condition by training; as train on, to improve in condition or form by training, to become more proficient; † train off, to get out of condition, lose one's vigour or skill, as by over-training; train down, to reduce one's weight with the object of getting fit for an event or feat. Also fig.

1776 E. Topham Lett. fr. Edinburgh 98 When they are young they dance extremely well; but afterwards (to speak in the language of the turf) they train off. 1810 Sporting Mag. XXXVI. 230 A third trained, that convinced the judges of boxing that Blake had trained off. 1815 Byron Let. to Moore 10 Jan., It is impossible to read what you have lately done..without seeing that you have trained on tenfold. 1866 Macleren Training 22 Under it a powerful man dwindles; and this, not from 'training down' as the phrase goes.

IV. † 8. trans. To pursue by the 'train' or trail; to trace, track. Obs.

1583 [see Training ppl. a. 2]. 1592 Greene Groat's W. Wit C 1 b, They followed and trayned the Foxe and Badger to the hole.

b. Mining. (See quots.)

1710 J. Harris Lex. Techn. II, Training a Load, in the Miner's Language, is searching for, and pursuing a Vein of Ore. 1895 Funk's Standard Dict., Train, v..5. in mining, to trace, as a lode to its head.

9. intr. † a. To walk in a person's train or retinue. Obs. rare[—1]. b. Train off: to draw off or away.

1633 P. Fletcher Hymen in Poet. Misc. 55 With her a troop of fairest wood-nymphs trains. 1825 T. Hook Sayings Ser. II. Sutherl. (Colburn) 27 James gradually trained off from the party. 1833 — Widow & Marquess ii, They [suitors] had trained off, upon finding..that Harriet's boasted fortune was visionary.

10. trans. To direct, point, or aim (a cannon or other fire-arm, or transf. a photographic camera); to bring by horizontal movement to bear (on, upon, the thing aimed at). Cf. Training vbl. sb. 4.

1841 Totten Naval Text-Bk. 417 To train a gun, to point it forward or abaft the beam. 1870 H. Meade New Zealand 236 A forty-pounder..trained on them during the conference. 1873 Brit. Q. Rev. 108 Their 'horizontal range', or the arc over which they could be trained, should be made small. 1889 G. Kennan in Century Mag. May 73/2 We set up the camera and trained it upon a part of the picturesque throng.

b. intr.

1891 Cent. Dict. s.v., To train off, to go off obliquely said of the flight of a shot.

11. trans. To convey by a railway train. rare.

1886 Pall Mall G. 14 July 14/1 Ship it [sewage] to Ireland..and let Paddy cart or train it away..to his potato patch or cornfield. 1892 Field 28 May 783/2 Ship the canoe on to the railway and train it right up the Wye valley.

b. intr. To go by train, travel by railway. Also train it (colloq.).

1888 Pall Mall G. 2 Apr. 4/2 So exhausted were the men from the effect of the previous day's ride,..that all trained from Winchester to Farnham. 1888 Harper's Mag. Nov. 954/2 From Aberdeen to Edinburgh we trained it by easy stages.

12. intr. To act sportively, romp, 'carry on'. U.S. colloq.

1889 Howells Hazard New Fort. II. viii, The girl broke into a fondly approving laugh at his drolling. 'Oh, I guess you love to train!' 1889 Farmer Americanisms, To train. New England girls use this term to denote acts of romping, or, to employ an English phrase, which seems its exact equivalent, to train is 'to carry on'.

†Train, v.[2] Obs. [f. Train sb.[2]; but prob. not always distinguished from Train v.[1]]

1. trans. To lay (a train or snare); to set (a trap). Cf. Train sb.[2] 2.

1412-20 Lydg. Chron. Troy iv. 4935 Þat iustly þei may fallen in þe diche Whiche þei han made & for vs y-treued.

2. Falconry. To entice (a hawk) by means of a live bird used as a lure. (Cf. Train sb.[2] 4.)

1575 Turbervile Falconrie 117 Let the quayle wherewithall you trayne hir haue a feather pulled out of each wing and cast off the sparowhawke to hir a farre off.

3. intr. Of a hawk: To come to the train or lure.

1579 Lyly Euphues (Arb.) 35 The fleetest fish swalloweth the delicatest bait:..the highest soaring Hauke traineth to ye lure.

Trainable (trē·năbʼl), a. [f. Train v.[1] + -able.] Capable of being trained; amenable to discipline and instruction; educable.

c 1550 (title) An Enterlude called Lusty Iuuentus, lyuely describing the frailtie of youth: of natur prone to vyce: by grace and good counsayll traynable to vertue. 1594 Carew Huarte's Exam. Wits iii. (1596) 90 Amongst horses..some there are more trainable than the rest. 1600 Holland Livy xxxix. xl. 1049 This man was by nature so trainable and pliant to all alike, that [etc.]. 1869 Daily News 20 Aug., If there were skilled labour, or even trainable labour, to carry it on. 1872 Ruskin Fors Clav. (1896) I. xxii. 442 The horse, the noblest, because trainablest, of wild creatures.

Trainage (trē·nēdʒ). rare. [f. Train v.[1] + -age: cf. F. trainage.] The action of 'training', or drawing along; haulage; conveyance by train.

1611 Cotgr., Trainage, traineage. 1817 Mann. & Cust. in Ann. Reg. 479/1 Fortunately (being the necessary conditions for good trainage) it [snow] had fallen on a ground already hardened by the frost. 1890 'R. Boldrewood' Col. Reformer (1891) 42 Men in charge of droves..pursued the old and rugged road, not caring to use the swifter, costlier trainage.

Train·band, train-band. Now Hist. [Abbrev. of trained band: see Trained ppl. a. 2.] A trained company of citizen soldiery, organized in London and other parts in the 16th, 17th, and 18th centuries. Also occas. applied to similar forces in other countries, e.g. the French arrière-ban.

1630 R. Johnson's Kingd. & Commw. 28 In a hard battell there would appeare a great deale of difference betwixt an old beaten souldier..and a man of our traine bands of London. 1642 H. L'Estrange Chas. I 59 The Country Captains of the Train-bands were..very unskilfull and rude in the use of their Armes. 1670 Cotton Espernon I. ii. 56 He commanded that in every Province, the Nobility, and Train-Bands should be ready to march. 1732 Pope Ep. Bathurst 214 To town he comes..And heads the bold Train-bands. 1849 Macaulay Hist. Eng. v. I. 593 The trainbands of Wiltshire had mustered. 1852 Hawthorne Grandfather's Chair I. iii, Whenever a trainband of Salem was mustered.

b. Herald.

1664 D. Fleming in Extr. S. P. rel. Friends II. (1911) 191 The Judges..were met..by all the Trainband horse of this county. 1674 Dean Grenville in Surtees Misc. (1858) 155 His Majestie hath a notorious Sott to his trainband captain. 1782 Cowper Gilpin x, A train-band captain eke was he Of famous London town. 1881 Besant & Rice Chapl. of Fleet I. iii, The train-band lieutenant..came swaggering to the inn.

Hence †Train·banding (Obs. nonce-wd.), raising of, or serving in, a trainband.

1711 E. Ward Vulgus Brit. VIII. 95 Watching, Warding, and Trainbanding, Tho' Customs of an ancient Standing.

‖ Traineau (trēnōʼ, ‖trēno). [F. traîneau, in Of. trahinel, trainel, deriv. of traîner: see Train v.[1]] A sledge, sleigh; esp. one drawn by one or more horses over snow or ice.

[1576 Lady Chaworth in 12th Rep. Hist. MSS. Comm. App. v. 34 She hath also great pleasure in one of those sledges which they call Traintas, and is pulled up and down the ponds in them every day.] c 1715 Burnet Own Time (1753) III. iv. 10 He was driving the Princess upon the Snow in a Traineau. 1873 Forest & Stream 11 Dec. 373/2 Our traineau, heavily loaded, follows behind.

attrib. 1779 J. Moore View Soc. Fr. (1793) I. 308 Among the winter amusements of this place [Frankfurt], traineau parties may be reckoned.

Trained (trēnd), a. [f. Train sb.[1] + -ed[2].]

1. Having a train, as a robe; having a luminous train, as a meteor (quot. 1686).

1588 in Aston's Manch. Guide (1804) 25 A traynd gowne lyned wyth chamlett. 1686 Goad Celest. Bodies II. x. 291 Tayl'd and trayn'd Meteors. 1889 'Sylvia' Lady's Guide Dressmaking 107, 2 trained petticoats. 1905 Daily Chron. 13 Nov. 8/1 The average middle-class English woman..should never be tempted to wear a trained skirt out of doors.

†2. Attended by a train or retinue. Obs. rare[−1].

1593 Nashe Christ's T. (1613) 4 He sent him not roially trained and accompanied like an Embassador.

Trained (trēnd, poet. trēˈned), ppl. a. [f. Train v.[1] + -ed[1].] In various senses corresponding to those of the verb.

†1. Drawn, trailed along, etc.; fig. attracted, allured, enticed. Obs.

1579 Spenser Sheph. Cal. Oct. 24 Whereto thou list their trayned willes entice.

2. Disciplined; made proficient by discipline. a. spec. Subjected to military discipline and instruction, drilled; esp. in trained band = Train-band (now Hist.); so †trained man, soldier,* a soldier belonging to a trainband (obs.).

1570-6 Lambarde Peramb. Kent (1596) 70 The trained companies only shall resort to the places of their appointed Rendeuous. 1594 Sir H. Cocke in Ellis Orig. Lett. Ser. II. III. 175 Havinge..taken a perfect vyewe of all the Trayned Bandes. 1612 Bible Gen. xiv. 14 Abram..armed his trained seruants. 1617 Moryson Itin. II. 105 To haue six thousand of the trained bands in readines. 1644 Prynne & Walker Fiennes' Trial App. 25 James Powell of Bristoll, one of the Trained Souldiers of that City [called below Train Soldiers]. 1707 E. Chamberlayne Pres. St. Eng. II. xvi. (ed. 22) 217 Of the standing Militia, or Trained-Bands. 1887 Hallam Const. Hist. (1876) II. ix. 133 The citizens of London mustered their trained bands on holidays.

b. gen. Disciplined, instructed, educated; made proficient by discipline and instruction.

1858 Hawthorne Fr. & It. Note-Bks. (1872) I. 27 The women..have a trained expression that supplies the place of beauty. 1899 Allbutt's Syst. Med. VII. 855 To engage a trained hospital nurse. 1910 D. G. Hogarth in Encyct. Brit. I. 248/2 An Art, whose products cannot be confounded with those of any other..by a trained eye.

3. Of a plant: Artificially caused to grow in some desired way; of a woman's figure, made slender or shaped by wearing a corset.

1766 Compl. Farmer s.v. Peach-tree, Such trees, which are of one year's growth from the budding..will soon overtake in growth those which are called trained trees. 1786 Abercrombie Gard. Assist. 31 Those ready trained, denominated trained trees. 1871 Figure Training 90 Slender and elegantly trained figures.

Trainee (trēinīʼ). [f. as prec. + -ee.] A person or animal undergoing training: correlative to trainer.

1890 Fraser's Mag. XLI. 658 The trainers first double up one of his fore legs, which they bind fast with a cord; this they pull, and thus compel the trainee to come down upon his bent knee. 1891 Temple Bar Mag. IV. 58 The trainee is rubbed down dry. 1896 Daily News 16 Dec. 6/1 Let her..ask whether she could be admitted as a lady pupil, as a trainee.

†Trai·nel, sb. Obs. Forms: 3–5 traynelle, 4 traynel(e, 6–7 trainel; 6–7 tranell, 7 trannell. [a. OF. trainel (13th c. in Godef.), a trammel or hobble for a horse, a fishing-net (14th c. in Littré).]

(In some cases a graphical confusion between trainel and tranel seems possible.)

1. Some part of a horse's harness; perh. a hobble or trammel.

1284 Acc. Exch. K. R. Bd. 97 No. 3 (P.R.O.) Pro cordis emptis..ad Traynell[is] et Loygnes factis pro eisdem [equis]. Ibid. m. 4 Pro loynes et traynellis. c 1340 Durham Acc. Rolls (Surtees) 541 In Traynelis factis pro equis domini Prioris, viij d. In j traynel emp. pro equo Bursarii, iiij d. 1467 Mann. & Household. Exp. (Roxb.) 389 Smythe the sadelere..axsethe for..a new traynele, viij, d.

2. A drag-net. Also trainel-net.

1585 Higins Junius' Nomencl. 256/2 Tragula..Traineau, a trainel or drag net. 1601 Holland Pliny XVI. viii. I. 461 Much use there is of it [cork]..for flotes to trainels or dragnets. 1620 J. Wilkinson Courts Leet 122 No man ought to fish..with such Nette or trannell as everie mesnah shall be two and a hobe inches wide. 1706 Phillips (ed. Kersey), Trainel-Net, Tramel or Trammel, a Drag-Net.

Hence †Trai·nel v. Obs., intr. to practise bird-catching with a drag-net (const. for).

1530 Palsgr. 386/1, I hoble, I trainell for larkes, je trenaille. Ibid. 750/2, I trainell for larkes, je trainelle. 1576 Marvell Mr. Smirke 37 If a man went out by night on Tranelling, or Bat-fowling.

Trainer (trēˈnəɹ). [f. Train v.[1] + -er[1].] One who or that which trains.

1. A person who (or thing that) educates or instructs; one who puts a person (or animal) through a course of training and exercise with a view to proficiency in something; an instructor; spec. † (a) one who trains or drills soldiers, a drill-sergeant (obs.); (b) one who trains persons or animals for some athletic performance, as a race; spec. one who trains race-horses. (Also with sep.)

1598 Barret Theor. Warres I. i. 6 The trayning of men..done, by such sufficient Trayners. 1659 H. More Immort. Soul III. xvii. § 5. 508 As the basest men are the trainers up of the best sort of Dogs. 1812 Sporting Mag. XXXIX. 99 Mr. Price trainer at Newmarket. 1862 Paley Æschylus, Agam. 1599 note, Imprisonment and the pangs of hunger are first-rate trainers of the mind for teaching even old age. 1892 S. Mostyn Curatica 45, I took lessons in elocution..I cannot leave this part of my story without pausing to do honour to my trainer.

b. A member of a trainband, esp. when assembled for 'training' or drill; a militiaman. (In later use U.S.) 1581-2 Churchw. Acc. E. Budleigh (ed. Brushfield) 19 Pd ..for makinge clean of the Caliuers for the trayners, xvj[d]. 18.. Mrs. Clavers' Western Clearings 28 (Bartlett) The gentler sex partake..in the excitement, by running after the trainers. 1860 Bartlett Dict. Amer., Trainers, the militia when assembled for exercise.

2. † a. One who draws or drags. Obs. b. A string used in describing a circle. rare[−1].

1648-60 Hexham, Een Slepper, a Trainer, or a Dragger. Een Slepperesse, a Traineresse or a Draggeresse. 1854 H. Miller Sch. & Schm. xxi. (1858) 459 There occurred on the..sand, around decaying tufts of the bent-grass, deeply-marked circles, as if drawn by a pair of compasses or a trainer.

3. A frame upon which plants are trained. rare[−0].

1882 in Oliver (Annandale).

4. Comb., as trainer-like adj.

1836-48 B. D. Walsh Aristoph., Knights I. iii, That's a good trainer-like remark.

Hence † Trai·neress [-ess[1]]. Obs. rare[−0].

1648-60 [see 2].

Trainful (trēˈnful). [f. Train sb.[1] + -ful.] As much or as many (goods or passengers) as fill a railway train.

1866 G. O. Trevelyan in Macm. Mag. Mar. 408 At Peschiera, the whole trainful—passengers, guards, and firemen—were forced to alight,..our luggage was opened and emptied. 1885 19th Cent. Apr. 635 A trainful of troops.

Trai·n-guard. [f. Train sb.[1], in various senses + Guard sb.] † a. A train of attendants forming a guard. † b. A body of men in charge of the train of an army. c. The guard of a railway train.

1650 Fuller Pisgah IV. v. § 32 Pharaohs daughter with her feminine train-guard. 1760 MS. Audit Office (Bodl.) 281/125, 7 d, Major Oughton and others for the Train Guard at the Battle of Culloden. 1897 Pall Mall G. 19 May 4/2 [In Denmark] The all-pervading militarism..of Germany has disappeared; the train-guard is no longer an exaggerated drill-sergeant.

Training (trēˈnin), vbl. sb. [f. Train v.[1] + -ing[1].] The action of Train v.[1], in various senses.

†1. Drawing, trailing; drawing out, protracting, etc. Obs.

c 1440 Promp. Parv. 499/2 Tranyynge, or longea-bydynge (S. tranceynge), ellacio, morra. 1539 Cromwell in Merriman Life & Lett. (1902) II. 132 The collections on that behalf & traynyng long of the matiers might helpe to conferme the said Counsaillours advises.

2. Discipline and instruction directed to the development of powers or formation of character; education, rearing, bringing up; systematic instruction and exercise in some art, profession, or occupation, with a view to proficiency in it; also, of an animal: see quots. 1697, 1874.

1548 Udall Erasm. Par. Luke v. ct b, In those thynges whiche concerne the bodye,..my trainyng of theim is somewhat with fauour and lentilnesse: but in such matiers as perteine to ye solle, it is a great wais streighter and sharper. 1600 J. Pory tr. Leo's Africa III. 148 Schooles..freely bestowed for the training vp of youth. 1697 Dryden Virg. Georg. III. 321 When once he's broken, feed him full and high..Before his Training keep him poor and low. 1757 Foote Author I. Wks. 1799 I. 338 He's now in training as a waiter at the Cocoa-tree coffee-house. 1874 Carpenter Ment. Phys. I. i. § 24 (1879) 24 The process by which a Horse is taught any unusual performance—as when in 'training' for the Circus or the Stage. 1879 J. T. Rogers in Cassell's Techn. Educ. IV. 252 It would be absurd to assign the genius of Mozart to training.

b. spec. Military drill; esp. in former use, a public meeting or muster at a stated time for drill of militia and volunteer forces; now much used for the periodical camp work of the Territorials.

1578 Nottingham Rec. IV. 179 Soldyours trayned with the Kallyver, thys Trayning beyng the 2 of October. 1581 Styward (title) The Pathway to Martial Discipline, deuided into two Bookes...The Second Booke Entreateth of sundrie proportions and training of Caleuers. 1598 Barret Theor. Warres I. i. 5 Our countrie Gentlemen and Citizens, who haue the trayning of their shires and towns. 1616 I. T. A B C of Armes A vj b, In time of Musters or Trayninges. 1748 Anson's Voy. III. viii. 375 The training of land troops to the use of their arms. 1845 S. Judd Margaret I. xv, Hash,..at the Spring training, was punished..for disorderly behaviour.

c. The process of developing the bodily vigour and endurance by systematic diet and exercise, so as to fit for some athletic feat; the condition of undergoing this process, or of the resulting physical fitness.

1835-6 Todd's Cycl. Anat. I. 510/1 By what in England is called training the bulk of the body may be..rapidly diminished. 1854 Dickens Hard T. I. ii, A professed pugilist; always in training. 1871 L. Stephen Playgr. Eur. x. (1894) 234, I was in good training.

3. Management (of a plant, etc.) esp. so as to produce the desired form or manner of a growth.

1724 (title) A Treatise concerning the Manner of Fallowing of Ground, Raising of Grass-Seeds, and Training of Linn and Hemp. 1871 (title) Figure Training. 1880 Nicholson's Dict. Gard., Training..,as used in gardening, refers to the management of trees and plants..by regulating their branches to give all a fair amount of space and exposure to light..Also..so as to prevent the sap flowing to any one branch or part..at the expense of another.

4. The action of directing or aiming a fire-arm, etc., esp. by horizontal movement.

1851 Times 23 July, The horizontal motion, or training, is effected by turning the shield itself, with the gun, crew, and platform on which they stand. 1870 Daily News 2 Feb., Where the fault lies is in bad training of the gun on to the object intended to be aimed at. 1885 Pall Mall G. 6 Jan. 2/2 Two [sights] being necessary for correct pointing at certain angles of training.

5. attrib. and Comb. (chiefly in sense 2), as training-groom, -ground, -home, -place, -stable, -time; training-bank, a bank constructed to deflect or direct a current (cf. training-wall below); training-bit, a special kind of bit used in training a vicious horse; training-college, a college for training persons for some particular profession; spec. a college for training teachers: cf. training-school below; training-day, a day devoted to training; spec. in former use, a stated or legally appointed day for the drilling of militia and volunteer forces; training-halter, a form of halter used in training horses: see quot.; training-level, a level (LEVEL sb. 1) used in training a gun; training-pendulum, a form of training-level with a pendulum; training-post, a post used in directing a current into a particular channel (cf. training-bank, -wall); training-school, a school in which pupils are trained for some special profession or occupation; spec. a school for training teachers, a normal school; training-ship, -vessel, a ship on which boys are trained for naval service; training-wall, a wall built to direct a current into the desired channel in a river, harbour, etc.

1911 United Empire July 489 Two moles and a training bank are being constructed. 1877 KNIGHT Dict. Mech., Training-bit*, a wooden gag-bit used when training vicious horses. The cheeks are of iron, and are connected by a rod ..which passes through the wooden mouth-piece, having a head upon one end and a nut on the other. 1829 [Training College* was in use in Ireland]. 1882 OGILVIE, Normal school..a school in which teachers are instructed in the principles of their profession and trained in the practice of it: a training-college. 1884 S. E. DAWSON Canada 211 A theological training-college for priests. 1901 Contemp. Rev. Mar. 362 For years the supply of teachers exceeded the demand; now it is the other way, or soon will be, and that is one of the factors in the training college problem. 1656 WOODWARD Pl. Dealer II. i, As he passed by my window the last *training-day. 1880 MRS. ROLLINS New Eng. Bygones 56 This muster, or 'training-day'..when the militia was drilled in a vacant lot of some fortunate tenant. 1906 G. SEWALL Diary 27 May, Col. Noyes invites me to his *Training Dinner. 1816 Sporting Mag. XLVIII. 172 The defendant, a *training-groom to the Duke of Dorset. 1864 BOWEN Logic xiii. 450 To make them [the sciences] only the *training-ground, and not the field for the regular employment, of their mental powers. 1871 M. LEGRAND' Camb. Freshm. xi, Newmarket Heath..is very little changed...The features of this matchless racecourse and training-ground remain pretty much the same. 1877 KNIGHT Dict. Mech., Training-halter*, a halter made in the same manner as a riding-bridle, with the exception of having short instead of long cheeks, which are provided with rings into which bit-straps may be buckled. 1905 Westm. Gaz. 3 Feb. 4/1 To avoid anything approaching institution or *training-home life. 1904 Daily Chron. 9 Feb. 3/3 In 1880 the Women's Training Home was established at Clapton and placed under the charge of Emma Booth...She was equal to the task, and well deserved the loving name of the 'Training Home mother'. 1867 SMYTH Sailor's Word-bk., Training-level*, a gravitating instrument for the same purpose as the training-pendulum. Ibid., Training-pendulum*, an improved pendulum to facilitate the accurate elevation and depression of guns on board ship. 1884 J. TAIT Mind in Matter (1892) 138 A world fitted to be the temporary abode and *training-place of spirits. 1884 Pall Mall G. 9 Dec. 12/1 Opening up a deep channel by the use of *training posts and the judicious use of dredging. [1874 Brit. & For. School Soc., Bye Laws, The school for children at Bonsecours, 25, Finsbury Place of the City of Bristol, Baker, lately one of the Traine Souldiers there.

Tra'inster. = TRAINMAN 2.

1893 Daily Graphic 25 Nov. 18 He worked as trainster on a new railway track some way out of town.

† Trai'ny. a. Obs. rare—1. [f. TRAIN *sb.*3 + -Y.] Having the quality of 'train' or train-oil.

1714 GAY Trivia II. 252 And where huge hogsheads sweat with trainy oil; Thy breathing nostril hold.

Traipse: see TRAPES.

Trais, obs. form of TRACE.

† Traise, traish, v. Obs. Forms: a. 4 trais, trayse ; pa. pple. 4 traised, traijst, traist, y-treyst, (traysted), 6 Sc. traish. β. 4 traysch, 5 trays(s)hen, traisshe, tras(s)he, trahysh ; pa. pple. 4 traysched, trayscht, etc. [f. F. traiss-, trahiss-, lengthened stem of trahir to betray: see TRAY v., and cf. BETRAISE v.] trans. To betray.

a. c 1300 Cursor M. 15497 Þou sal be traijst lauerd, to night. Ibid. 20042 Ur lauerd crist deled on rode and was traist. 13.. Guy Warw. (A.) 2517 He seyd, y-treyst we ben here. 1320-40 Chron. Eng. (Ritson) 830 Tho come the traitours..Þat heden traised Edmond. c 1330 R. BRUNNE Chron. (1810) 61 Machog, þe Scottes kyng, þat wild borgh traitourie Haf traised Edward þe kyng. c 1350 Will. Palerne 2075 Has þat vntreewe treytour traysted me noupe. a 1352 MINOT Poems vii. 150 Þat dauncе with treson was bygun, To trais þe bare with sum fals gyn. a 1375 Joseph Arim. 624, I wol þe nout trayse. 1513 DOUGLAS Æneis IX. iv. 8 Drawbriggis beyfor the settis vprasit Junct to the wallis, at thai suld nocht be trasit.

β. c 1330 R. BRUNNE Chron. Wace (Rolls) 5459 Wyst our folk we were þus traysch[p.r. traist], Hit scholde make þem alle abaysch. c 1400 Rom. Rose 3931 She hath [thee] trasshed, withoute weene. 1412-20 LYDG. Chron. Troy IV. 4562 To traissie her toun þet hild it no reprefe. c 1489 CAXTON Blanchardyn xlvi. 178 The good lady thenne hering the cursed and false traytours speke, saw wel that she was trahysched of all poynte.

Traise, obs. form of TRACE.

† Traisement. Obs. rare—1. [a. OF. traissement, f. trahir : see TRAISE and -MENT.] Betrayal, treachery.

c 1380 Sir Ferumb. 4754 Godes for-bode..þat ich assentede to such a dede, To don hym such trayseunt.

Traish, var. TRAISE Obs.; obs. f. TRASH.

Traisle, -il, obs. Sc. forms of TRESTLE.

Traison, obs. f. TREASON. Traiss, obs. Sc. f. TRACE. Traisse, obs. f. TRASH.

† Traist, sb. Sc. and north. Obs. Forms: 4–6 traiste, 5 trayste, treyst, trast, 5–7 traist. [app. a. ON. treysti*, treysti* (mod. Norw. dial. treyste strengthening, strength, firmness), related to ON. traust sb., firmness, confidence, security, safety, trust, and to ON. treysta, treysta, TRAIST v. Cf. Gothic trausti covenant. Cognate with TRUST, TREST, TRIST sbs.] Confidence, trust; assurance felt, received, or given.

c 1340 HAMPOLE Prose Tr. 18 Puttande all his traiste and his deyre in hym [Iesus]. a 1400 Relig. Pieces fr. Thornton MS. (1867) 27 Þat we habe trayste to com thedyre. c 1400 Apol. Lell. 96 Sum tyme man is holpun bi treyst þat he hab in o þing. 1456 SIR G. HAYE Law Arms (S. T. S.) 79 He wald geve lytill traist in that sauf condyt. c 1500 Lancelot 1536 To wer on them In trast of victory. 1513 JAS. IV Let. in Hall Chron., Hen. VIII (1548) 30 Bastard Heron..sieuw our warden vnder traist of dayes of metyng for iustice. 1596 DALRYMPLE tr. Leslie's Hist. Scot. i. (S.T.S.) I. 79 Thair hail traist, and al thair hope was in this opinione. 1678 SIR G. MACKENZIE Crim. Laws Scot. i. xi. § 16 (1699) 67 Where the Party Slain is under the Traist, Credit, Assurance, and power of the Slayer.

† Traist, a. (adv.) Sc. and north. Obs. Forms: 4 treist, traste, trayste, 4–5 traiste, treyst, trast, 5 treyst, 4–7 traist. [app. a. ON. treystr, pa. pple. of treysta (OTeut. traustjan*) to make firm or strong, used in the sense of ON. traustr firm, strong, safe, secure, sure, trusty.]

1. Firm, strong; secure, safe.

a 1300 Cursor M. 9883 Þis castel..a-pon þe marche it standes traist, O fede ne dredes it na freist.

2. Assured, sure, confident, full of trust.

c 1300 Cursor M. 17219 (Göt.) Þu mai be ful traist to spede. 1375 BARBOUR Bruce iii. 38 Parfor seke and trast war. c 1375 Sc. Leg. Saints xxxii. (Justin) 482 Þe feynd pane Wend he traste wes of þe man. c 1475 Rauf Coilzear 549 'Be thow traist', said the Colbzear, 'man, as I am trew, I will not haist me ane fute thar-fore be thy way'.

3. Trusty, trustworthy; faithful, true.

c 1330 R. BRUNNE Chron. (1810) 175 Sour wille is euer so gode, & sour treuth so treist. c 1330 — Chron. Wace (Rolls) 8392 Lok þat 3e be trewe & traist. 1412 in 15th Rep. Hist. MSS. Comm. App. VIII. 10 Oure traiste and wele beloft cosyng, Schir William of Douglas. c 1460 Towneley Myst. xxviii. 74, I saide if he nede be-stode to hym shuld none be trastir. c 1465 in Yarrow & Wearmouth (Surtees) 246, I beseke yowe send furth a trayst man. 1501 DOUGLAS Pal. Hon. i. xlix, Constant Lucrece, and traist Penelope. 1535 STEWART Chron. Scot. (Rolls) III. 166 Richt nobill men that war bayth traist & trew. 1620 Reg. Mag. Sig. Scot. xlv/1 Our richt traist cosyng and counsellar Thomas Erle of Kellie.

B. adv. a. Firmly, securely. b. Confidently, assuredly.

c 1470 Golagros & Gaw. 292 Trou ye full traist, My hecht sall haldin be bail or for bilis. Ibid. 415.

† Traist, v. Sc. and north. Obs. Forms: 3–4 traiste, 4 treiste, 4–5 trayst(e), 4–6 traist, trast. Pa. t. 4–5 trast. [ME. traist, -en, treyst, a. ON. (OW.Scand.) treysta, treysta (OTeut. traustjan*) to make firm, strong, or safe, to give firmness or security to, to confirm; refl. to make oneself secure, safe, or sure, with dat. or til to rely upon, trust to; f. traustr adj. strong, firm, safe, sure, trusty. Cognate with TRUST v.: see also TREST, TRIST.]

1. trans. To make secure or safe, to commit in trust; hence refl. to commit oneself with security or confidence, to trust, = sense 2.

c 1375 Cursor M. 21868 (Fairf.) In quam þat we may traiste vs in. 1456 SIR G. HAYE Law Arms (S.T.S.) 179 He wald ..nocht traist his persone in it.

2. intr. To trust, have confidence, feel assured. (Const. in, on, of, to, or inf.)

a 1300 Cursor M. 7491 He traistes al in his aun hand. a 1300 E. E. Psalter cxxiv. 1 Þat traisten in Lauerd ilk-on. 1340 HAMPOLE Pr. Conac. 1366 He may be called witty and wyse, Þat..on his lyfe here traystes noght. 1375 BARBOUR Bruce v. 531 Pe king in hym trastis. c 1375 Sc. Leg. Saints xxvi. (Mycholas) 538 Trastand thru hym to helpyn be. c 1460 Towneley Myst. xxvii. 47 Thay wold for no tokynyng, ..Trast in that trewe. 1530 LYNDESAY Test. Papyngo 331 Traistyng to chaip that faitale destanie. 1596 DALRYMPLE tr. Leslie's Hist. Scot. x. (S.T.S.) II. 385 Quhilk he mekle trasted in.

b. trans. with simple obj. (? orig. dative), or clause: To trust, have confidence in.

1375 BARBOUR Bruce VII. 179 May I trast the me to walk Till I a litill sleping tak? c 1470 HENRY Wallace i. 86 Ressawide he was and trastyt werray trew. 1473-4 Acc. Ld. High Treas. Scot. I. 49 It wes trastit the Duc of Glosister suld haue cummyn in. c 1500 Lancelot 1129, I trast that neuer more was sen No man in feild more knyghtly hyme conten.

c. To expect with confidence.

1518 in Peebles Burgh Rec. (1872) 46 The said Johne, traistng trubyll in the cuntre.

Hence †Traistful, vbl. sb., trusting, confidence.

a 1340 HAMPOLE Psalter lxx. 4 A stabile toure, til þe whilke we sall fle and be sykire in traystynge. 1456 SIR G. HAYE Law Arms (S.T.S.) 244 Thair lycht traisting in men that thai knew nocht.

Traist, pa. pple. of TRAISE v. Obs.; Sc. var. TREST, trestle.

†Trai·stful, a. Obs. [f. TRAIST sb.+-FUL. Cf. Sw. trösttful consolatory.] a. Sure, secure. b. Trustful, confident. c. Inspiring confidence, encouraging, comforting.

13.. Cursor M. 29009 (Cott.) Orisun agh for be Buxum, traistful, and priue. 1409 in Exch. Rolls Scotl. IV. cccxii, For the mare sikirness and traistful keping of..the forsaide thingis. 1533 GAU Kicht Vay (S.T.S.) 32 He is callit our finder that is to eweie chrissine man..ane traistful thing. Ibid. 45 Thir ar traistful wordis for al chrissine man.

Hence †Trai·stfully adv., surely, confidently.

c 1470 Golagros & Gaw. 197. I may refresch yow with folk, to fecht gif you nedis, With thretty thousand tald, and traistfully tight.

†Trai·stily, adv. Obs. rare. [f. TRAISTY + -LY 2.] Trustfully, with confidence.

The usual variant of traistly in Cott. MS. of Cursor M.

13.. Cursor M. 10960 (Gött.) Siben traistili [Cott. traystil] þe saand þai bade Quar-of þe angel þam bodword made. Ibid. 13422, 19950 [see TRAISTLY].

†Trai·stly, adv. Obs. [f. TRAIST a.+-LY 2.] a. With feeling of security, securely; with confidence or trust, confidently. b. Faithfully, trustily.

a 1300 Cursor M. 260 (Cott.) Traistli accontes eal we yeild. Ibid. 13422 (Gött.) Þai gun traistli [Cott. traistill] trow þa þat dai in ye hauend leau. Ibid. 19950 (Edin.) Na hope of nan he wil forbu þat wil traistlic [Cott. traistill] in him tru. a 1340 HAMPOLE Psalter lxvii. 1 The prophet traistly conaitis that he wite is at cum. 1375 BARBOUR Bruce xviii. 56 And we chal knyt wite 3ow, 3e mycht The trastlyar abyde to fycht. c 1470 Golagros & Gaw. 744 The renkis of the Round Tabill, That has traistly thame tight to governe that gait. c 1520 M. NISBET N. Test. in Scots Acts ix. 19 In Damase he dit traistlie in the name of Iesu.

†Trai·stiness. Obs. [f. TRAIST a. + -NESS.] a. Firmness, stability. b. Firm confidence, trust. c. Faithfulness, trustiness.

a 1300 Cursor M. 24054 (Cott.) Moder! traistnes of ur treuth, Do vs to reu al wit þi reuth. Ibid. 23645 (Gött.) þe gode..þir er for traistnes bilth and glad. a 1340 HAMPOLE Psalter cv. 32 þe traystynes þat he had in oher. 1456 SIR G. HAYE Law Arms (S. T. S.) 290 A gude Emperoure.. [suld] be full of traistnes and worthynes.

†Traisty, a. Obs. [f. TRAIST sb. or ? a. + -Y.] a. Secure, sure. b. Faithful, trusty.

13.. Cursor M. 59 (Gött.) For quen þu wenis traistiest to be, þu sal fra hir or scho fra þe. 1513 DOUGLAS Æneis v. x. 22 And in his traisty eir thus prevail? He rownis.

Trait (trē, trēt). Also 6 traite, ? traict. [a. F. trait, in obs. F. traict, tret, draught, stroke, touch, line = Pr. trait feature :—L. tractus drawing, draught : see TRACT *sb.*3

The pronunciation trē, after mod. French, in the 19th c. considered in England the correct one, is becoming less general; in U.S. trēt is the established one.]

†1. ? 'Shot' of any kind, missiles; orig. arrows. Obs. rare.

c 1477 CAXTON Jason 112 Shoting on them arowes & other trait [F. tirerent sur eulx saietes et oultre trait].

†2. A drawing out; protraction; = TRACT *sb.*3 1. Obs. rare.

1545 in Leadam Crt. of Requests (Selden) 169 Then..tapper [= to appear] for heryng of the matter without any further traite of tyme.

†3. That which is drawn; a line, streak, stripe. Sc. Obs. rare.

1561 Inv. Roy. Wardr. (1815) 133 Item ane claith of estate of fresit claith of gold and traitis of violet silk partit equalle with violet velvet. [Cf. below Drauchtis of violet silk partit equale with violett velvet &c.]

4. A stroke made with pen or pencil; a short line; a touch (in a picture).

1589 PUTTENHAM Eng. Poesie III. i. (Arb.) 150 The skilfull painters [chief praise] is in the good conueyance of his coulours and shadowing traits of his penzill. 1621 HOLLAND Pliny xxxv. xi. 11. 350 in these [unfinished paintings] a man may (as it were) see what traicts and lineaments remaine to bee done. 1756 J. KENNEDY Curios. Wilton Ho. (1786) 45 The Traits are most beautiful, and the Sculpture of the very best Ages. 1823 J. BADCOCK Dom. Amusem. 141 The copy..is correct to a trait.

fig. 1860 WESTCOTT Introd. Study Gosp. vi. (1881) 340 The picture which he draws can be completed by traits taken from the other Evangelists. 1863 MARY HOWITT F. Bremer's Greece I. vi. 160 Let me now sketch some traits from that grand vision.

†b. Something penned; a line, passage, or piece of writing. Obs.

1578 ABP. PARKER Corr. (Parker Soc.) 414 In reading some words thereof..ye may think he hath mine information, but before God that trait was only of himself.

5. A line or lineament of the face; a feature.

1773 Life N. Prowde 54 The ten Thousand lovely Traits, that dwelt in every Feature of her radiant Face. 1869 Med. Jrnl. XXI. 229 The latter inherits the general exterior resemblance of his father, or even his shape, characteristic traits, looks, or voice. 1881 SHELLEY Let. 15 Aug., Her face is somewhat altered. The traits have become more delicate. 1860 EMERSON Cond. Life, Behaviour Wks. (Bohn) II. 385 A man finds room in the few square inches of the face for the traits of all his ancestors.

6. A particular feature of mind or character; a distinguishing quality; a characteristic.

1752 H. WALPOLE Lett. to Mann II. C. A most sensible trait of the King. 1797 Monthly Mag. III. 494 That love of order, which is a remarkable trait in his character. 1803 NELSON in Nicolas Disp. (1846) VII. 1. cccxxi, A very excellent young man, and has all the traits for making an excellent seaman and naval officer. 1807 W. IRVING Salmag. iii. (1824) 38 Who have no national trait about them but their language. 1829 WALL in R. Hondin xviii. 258 A pleasing trait of English manners and customs. 1897 GEN. H. PORTER in Century Mag. Sept. 744/1 Sheridan now began to exhibit those traits which always made him a tower of strength.

b. Of a thing.

1864 BOWEN Logic i. (1870) 7 The Concept refers to all the things whose common or similar attributes or traits it concieves. 1865 LIVINGSTONE Zambesi xxiv. 496 This trait was confined to the cool highlands. 1869 TOZER Highl. Turkey II. 269 The character of the tales has been altered.., yet..the original traits have..been preserved. 1871 JOWETT Plato I. 254 Some lesser traits of the dialogue may be noted.

c. A 'touch' of some quality. Now rare.

1815 W. H. IRELAND Scribbleomania 56 note, A poem.. wherein are to be found many traits of exuberant genius. 1830 MOORE Byron I. 328 A trait of pathos or high feeling, in comedy, has a peculiar charm. 1835 URE Phil. Manuf. 343 Many traits of almost parental kindness on the part of the masters.

7. A stroke: †a. of skill or cunning. Double trait, a stroke of double dealing. Obs.

a 1625 in Gutch Coll. Cur. I. 187 You deal with a Nation that hath playd more double Traits..than all the World beside.

b. of wit, sarcasm, pleasantry.

1704 SWIFT T. Tub Ded., Embellished with traits of wit so poignant and so apposite. 1781 H. WALPOLE Let. to H. S. Conway 16 Sept., In Voltaire's letters are some bitter traits on the King of Prussia. 1859 TENNYSON Beckne 320 When he fell From talk of war to traits of pleasantry.

Trait, Traitee, obs. ff. TREAT v., TREATY.

Traiter, -eres(se, -ere, -eri(e, -erous: see TRAITOR, TRAITRESS, TRAITORY, TRAITOROUS.

‖ Traiteur (trete·r). [Fr. agent-n. from traiter to TREAT, to supply with food for money.] A keeper of an eating-house (in France, Italy, etc.) who supplies or sends out meals to order.

1751 SMOLLETT Per. Pic. xxxix, A party of those young sparks, at the house of a noted traiteur. 1763 — Travv. vi. (1766) I. 86 Your taylor, barber,..hatter, traiteur, and wine-merchant. 1828 [H. BEST] Italy 272 Our dinner was sent by the traiteur in a flat oblong basket. 1863 MISS BRADDON Eleanor's Vict. iv, I have a cup of coffee and a roll brought me every morning at nine from a traiteur's over the way.

Traitle, obs. form of TREAT.

Traitor (trē·tər), sb. Forms: a. 3 treitre, 5 trai-, traytre. β. 3–4 traitur, traytur, 3–7 traytour, (4–6 -oure), 3–8 traitour, 4–5 -oure, -ur(e, treitour, tretour, 4–6 Sc. trature, tratour, 5 tretowre. γ. 4 Sc. tratore, 4–5 traytore, 4–8 traytor, 5– traitor. δ. 6 traiter, 6–7 trayter. [a. OF. nom. traitre (= Prov. traire, F. traître) :—pop.L. trādi·tor for L. trādi·tor traitor, betrayer; also in acc. form OF. traitor, -ur (Roland, 11th c.), AF. -our (= It. traditore, Sp., Pg. traidor, Prov. traidor, Sard. traitore) :—L. trādi·tōrem, agent-n. f. trādĕre to deliver, hand over, f. trā- (= trans) + dare to give, put.]

1. One who betrays any person that trusts him, or any duty entrusted to him; a betrayer. In early use often, and still traditionally, applied to Judas Iscariot.

a. a 1225 Ancr. R. 104 Heo biswikeð ou, & is ower treitre. c 1230 Hali Meid. 9 Ha habbeð itrichet te as treitres. 1483 CAXTON Chas. Gt. in n. 231 To ai crysten treme thou hast ben trayture.

β, γ. a 1300 Cursor M. 11530 (Cott.) He was traitur fals in fai. c 1375 Sc. Leg. Saints vii. (Jacobus Min.) 29 Pat wekit traitore Iudas. Ibid. xii. (Mathias) 242 Þo he wyste he suld be traytore. 1377 LANGL. P. Pl. B. xix. 435 Tieres þe plowman..trauailieth & tuiyeth for a tretour also sore As for a trewe tydy man. 1382 WYCLIF Mark xiv. 44 The traitour hadde 3oumn to hem a tokene. 1548–9 (Mar.) Bk. Com. Prayer, Collect St. Matthias, In the place of the traytor Judas. 1657 TRAPP Comm. Ezra vii. 27 Said Christ, even to the very Traytour that did seek and suck his blood. 1867 M. ARNOLD St. Brandan iv, It is—Oh, where shall Brandan fly?—Thou traitor! Judas, out of hell!

δ. spec. One who is false to his allegiance to his sovereign or to the government of his country; one adjudged guilty of treason (including formerly petit treason) or of any crime so regarded. Also fig. or in extended sense.

Traitor's Gate, the river gate of the Tower of London by which traitors, and state prisoners generally, were committed to the Tower. In quot. 1678 fig.

a. 1474 CAXTON Chess II. iv. (1883) 48 Slewe the trayture Gorbaldo. 1481 — Godeffroy cxviii. 176 Yfony were vntrew & suche a trayture that wold destroye his countrey.

β, γ. c 1290 S. Eng. Leg. I. 38/146 ¶ Ey, traytours!, quath þe lupere Quen. 1297 R. GLOUC. (Rolls) 10659 In gibet hii were traitours a-ge to more vilte, & so hii setten trauail to be. a 1300 Cursor M. 11889 Aha! traiturs..i sale Hing yow bot ye mak me hale. 1375 BARBOUR Bruce iv. 19 Makinab, a fals tratour. c 1400 Destr. Troy 7899 But the triet men of Troy tratur hym cald. 1444 Rolls of Parl. V. 111/2 He to be iuged and demed as a Traitour, and suche execution to be don upon his body, as shuld be don uppon a Traitour atteint of hie Treson. 1591 SHAKS. Two Gent. iv. iv. 110 Vnlesse I proue false traitor to my selfe. 1606 — Tr. & Cr. iv. vi. 5 Turne thy false face thou traytor. 1678 Eng. Man's Calt. 31 Man enters into the world at traitors gate; born in sin, and conceived in iniquity. 1713 ADDISON Ct. Tariff p 23 He called [him] a lyar [and] a traytor. a 1771 GRAY Dante 7 If the telling may Beget the Traitour's Infamy. 1821 BYRON Mar. Fal. v. 1, He is a traitor, and betray'd the state. 1881 BESANT & RICE Chapl. of Fleet I. 49 [Did] we not hack the limbs of our traitors, and stick them upon Temple Bar? Mod. A traitor in the camp; a traitor to the cause.

δ. 1583 LD. BURLEIGH Exec. for Treason (1675) 44 [They] ought to be adjudged Traitors. 1642 in Verney Mem. (1907) I. 242 Those that told you he was a traytor.

3. attrib. or as adj. That is a traitor, traitorous.

a 1300 Cursor M. 4397 (Cott.) Ne herd yee na wight how Yon traitur juu me wald sceind. c 1450 LOVELICH Grail lii. 275 A tretour boteler That kyng Marabans sone poysoned. c 1470 HENRYSON Mor. Fab. iv. ix, This wylie tratour tod On knees fell. 1593 SHAKS. Rich. II, v. i. 102 False Mowbray..consequently like a Traitor Coward, Slue'd out his innocent soule through streames of blood. 1706 DRYDEN Pal. & Arc. ii. 568 Th' assassinating wife, the household friend, And, far the blackest there, the traitor-friend. 1726 POPE Odyss. XXII. 93 He drew his traitor-sword, And like a lion rushed against his lord. 1837 A. TENNENT Vit. Glencoe 28 Some traitor spy, Meant to betray thee with a lie. 1887 J. M. FULLER in Dict. Chr. Biog. IV. 837/2 Judas the traitor-Apostle.

4. Comb., as traitor-led adj., -like adj. and adv., traitor-wise adv.

1594 Warres Cyrus 794 Or else Libanio..should die for his so traitorlike reuolt. 1598 in Archæologia Cantiana (Camden) I. 210 Reputed by our Prince and countrye as traytorwise and disloyal. 1598 ROWLANDS Betraying Christ, etc. Gij b, Traitor-led troopes by night did apprehend him. 1721 STRYPE Eccl. Mem. III. i. 389 Heavy tidings came.. that the French had won Calais..: for, traitor-like, it was said to be sold and delivered unto them.

†Traitor, v. Obs. [f. prec. sb.] a. trans. To make (any one) a traitor. b. intr. To act as a traitor.

16.. LITHGOW (Webster, 1864), But time, it traitors me. a 1649 DRUMM. OF HAWTH. Thyrsis in Dispr. Beauty Wks. (1711) 23/2 Most woful wretch! whom shining hair and eyes Lead to love's dungeon, traitor'd by a sight. 1698 S. H. Gold. Law 5 If it be said, that the King traytor'd such, or as it related to himself only.

Traitoress, variant of TRAITRESS.

†Trai·torful, a. Obs. rare—1. = TRAITOROUS.

c 1440 York Myst. xxxii. 300 Me lathes with my liff, so liffe I no lang. My traitourtiff teene he turment my tene.

†Trai·torhead. Obs. rare—1. In a traitorhede. [f. TRAITOR sb. + -HEAD.] = next.

1303 R. BRUNNE Handl. Synne 4204 Pyr may no man so yware be..þat treytorhede ne wyl hym asayle.

Traitorhood (trē·tərhud). [f. as prec. + -HOOD.] The state or condition of a traitor; treachery.

c 1470 HARDING Chron. CXXIV. viii. (MS. Arch. Seld. B. 10, ff. 106 b), The Kynge with hoste one Roberte Mowbray Rode Who with the Kynge fought of his traitourhode. 1871 RUSKIN Fors Clav. vi. 11 No more ashamed of Traitorhood, but invoking Traitorhood, as if it covered, instead of constituting, uttermost shame.

Traitorism (trē·tərizˈm). [f. TRAITOR sb. + -ISM.] The practice or principles of a traitor.

1592 Trynd. Reign K. Stephen (1611) 3 Bk. B. Yet when fel traitorisme hath residence, There wants no words to set despight on worke. 1661 K. W. Conf. Charac., Gd. old Cause (1860) 62 The..most notorious cause of innovation and traitorisme. a 1734 NORTH Exam. II. v. (1740) 322 The Loyal Clergy of the Church of England at that time [c 1680]..are charged with Traitorism of their Principles. 1888 Times (weekly ed.) 29 June 8/2 There was no traitorism in the ranks. 1898 Columbus (Ohio) Dispatch 5 Jan. 7/2 Charges of conspiracy and traitorism were freely made.

†Trai·torize, v. Obs. rare—1. [f. as prec. + -IZE.] intr. (with it). To act as a traitor, play the traitor.

1656 S. H. Gold. Law 11 To Traytorize, Murther, and Thieve it, to bring your ends about.

Trai·torling. nonce-wd. [f. as prec. + -LING.] A petty or contemptible traitor.

a 1652 BROME Queen & Concub. III. x, There was not, But in the Queen, Petruccio, and my self, True Loyalitie in the Court. Away you Traytorling.

†Trai·torly, a. Obs. [f. as prec. + -LY 1.] Having the character of a traitor; traitorous.

a 1586 SIDNEY Arcadia III. xxvi. (1912) 506 That coward, and traytorly boy, who slewe my Uncle traytorouslie, and after rannne from me in the plaine field. 1611 SHAKS. Wint. T. IV. iv. 821 But what take we of these Traitorly-Rascals? 1641 PRYNNE Antip. 5 An unhappie, if not perfidious Traytorly advice. 1668 ROLLE Abridgm., Tit. Action sur Case (G.) pl. 8, 43 You are a Traytorly Rogue, you cheated your Father of all that ever he had.

†Trai·torly, adv. Obs. [f. as prec. + -LY 2.] Like, or in the manner of, a traitor; traitorously.

? a 1349 ? HAMPOLE Wks. (1895) I. 72 My trewest tresowre sa traytorly taken. 1387 TREVISA Higden (Rolls) III. 87 Whanne Ancius was deda, he senie traytourliche Ancius his sones an hontynge. c 1450 Chron. London (Kingsford 1905) 129 The viscount of Narbon that trayterly slew the duke of Borgoyn. 1535 STEWART Cron. Scot. (Rolls) II. 540 Sa tratourlis for to betrais 3ow all.

†Traitoro·logy. Obs. nonce-wd. [f. as prec. + -(O)LOGY, after martyrology.] A roll or register of traitors.

1647 VICARS Just Correction, etc. of Scand. Bill (title-p.) A succinct Traiteroloigie, in Answer to a lying Martyrologie.

Traitorous (trē·tərəs), a. Forms: 4 tretorous, -tourous, 4–5 traytrous, 5–6 -torouse, 5–7 traitrous, 6 traytorous, -tourous(e, traterous, -turuse, traytorys, tretrous, 6–9 trayter-, traiterous, 6– traitorous. [app. ad. OF. traitreus, -eux (c 1243 in Godef.), alteration of earlier traitos, -eus, trahiteus, conformed to traitre, TRAITOR. In Eng. having the appearance of being + -OUS.] Having the character of, or characteristic of, a traitor; treacherous; perfidious.

c 1380 Sir Ferumb. 5652 France had po be delyured weel of a ful traytrous man. c 1477 CAXTON Jason 10 They that.. gyue them vnto these traytrous meuinges may in no manere haue rest daye ne nyght. 1535 COVERDALE Isa. lix. 12 Vsinge presumptuous & traytrous ymaginacions. 1568 GRAFTON Chron. II. 338 Aduoyde ye false traytorous and vngracious people. 1581 HAMILTON in Cath. Tractates (S.T.S.) 84 Maist traturuse tratures against thair soueran the Quenis maiestie. 1683 Brit. Spec. 170 A traitorous Crew of villanous Phanaticks. 1716 ADDISON Freeholder No. 31 ¶ 10 More of His Friends have lost their Lives in this Rebellion, than of His traitorous Subjects. 1812 G. CHALMERS Dom. Econ. Gt. Brit. 40 A spirit of disaffection..followed..by popular disturbances, and traitorous insurrection, affected her quiet, and interrupted her industry. 1872 R. ELLIS Catullus v. 22 So we shall not know, nor traitorous eye shall envy.

Trai·torously, adv. Forms: see prec.: also 4 traytourese-, traytoursliche, traitoursly, 5 traytorsly, 5–6 -tourslly. [app. f. TRAITOROUS a. + -LY 2, but exemplified somewhat earlier; perhaps after OF. traitreusement, var. of traiteusement (13–14th c. in Hatz.-Darm.).] In a traitorous or treacherous manner; treacherously.

c 1330 R. BRUNNE Chron. Wace (Rolls) 14360 Conan his cosyn pere hym slew Treterously. 1387 TREVISA Higden (Rolls) I. 151 Pe firste Amazones were pe wyfes of Gothes, pat took wreteche of hire housbondes deip pat were traytoureliche i-slawe. 1398 WYCLIF Ecclus. xxxii. 19 He that doith tretourouslj, schal be scaundrid ther ynne. 1491 Act 3 Hen. VII, c. 15 Certeyn persones.. traiterously murdred John Mountaugue late Erle of Sarum. 1512 Act 4 Hen. VIII, c. 20 Preamble, John Tayler felonsly and traytourosly resetted one Archbold Armestrong. 1601 SHAKS. All's Well IV. iii. 339 You that haue so traitorously discouer'd the secrets of your army. 1647 MORYSON Itin. III. 278 The Prince of Orange..was in the yeere 1584 traiterously slaine. 1792 Anecd. W. Pitt I. vi. 152 Those who have traiterously conspired to rob him of his crown. 1867 FREEMAN Norm. Conq. I. v. 347 The very enemy with whom he had before traitorously leagued himself.

Trai·torousness. [f. as prec. + -NESS.] The quality of being traitorous; treachery.

1571 GOLDING Calvin on Ps. xxix. 2. 106 To abuse their highnesse too traytorousnesse. 1592 WYRLEY Armorie 136 Which cite yeelded was byth tretrousnes Of their Bishop. 1628 WITHER Brit. Rememb. VII. 2221 It is a kind of trait'rousnesse To give them more then due, as well as lesse. 1727 BAILEY vol. II, Traitorousness, Treasonableness, Perfidiousness. 1898 SIMPSON Sch. Shakes. I. 130 One of the arguments..was the traitorousness of the attempt.

Traitorship (trē·tərʃip). [f. TRAITOR sb. + -SHIP.] The function or action of a traitor. In quot. 1645, ? the personality of a traitor.

1645 WITHER Vox Pacif. 52 Nay, some among you are so void of reason, To buy their Traytorships. 1869 RUSKIN Crown Wild Olive iv. (1873) 181 Treachery..which ever our traitorship..cannot sully. 1893 Temple Bar Mag. XCIX. 2 A sense of traitorship to his own nature.

†Trai·tory. Obs. Forms: 4 traitre, -tere, 4–5 -terie, 4–6 -tourie, 4–7 -torie, 5–6 -tory; 4 traytrie, 4–5 -torye, 4–6 -tory, -tery(e, 5 -toury, -towrye, -tere, 5–6 -torie, 6 -tery, -terie; 4 trateriе, -tourie, 4–6 -toury(e, 5 -towry, -tory, 6 -torie; 5 treitorie; 5 treytori, 5–6 -tory. [f. TRAITOR + -Y: cf. ancestry, mastery.] The conduct or action of a traitor; treachery; treason.

1293 R. BRUNNE H端l. Synne 6248 Pou synest pan wikedly, And doust pe soule treytory. c 1330 – Chron. Wace (Rolls) 9608 Pey sede abouie pe court to spye Wher pey mypt do per traytere. 13.. K. Alis. 3983 Thou schalt beo honged and iodwawe, For thou sochs traytory wroughtest! a 1377 Leg Folke Mass Bh. App. iv. 44 Sif he for traytrie weore take. 1375 BARBOUR Bruce iv. 22 It wes fer wer pan tratoury For to betreyss sic A persoune. c 1380 WYCLIF Wks. (1880) 26 In drede of treson of traitre against god and his lawe. 1390 GOWER Conf. III. 334 The king unto his Sone tolde Of Tharse thilke traiterie. 1402 Pol. Poems (Rolls) II. 28 Guilie of traitorie to our reale. a 1450 MYNC Pastyal 13 Thre knyghtes was weren ordeyned to be Emperour of Tarsyse. a 1450 Mirour Salacioun 111 Of Judas & cosse & the traytourye. c 1485 Digby Myst. II. 400 He shall repent hys Rebellyous treytory. c 1500 KENNEDY Passion of Christ 999 Judas last, pat wrocht pe tratory. 1513 DOUGLAS Æneis (1960) 74 Imagin no tratouryе against your prince. c 1550 BALE K. Johan (Camden) 61 Never..with owt moch tratery. 1570 LEVINS Manip. 106/17 Traytorie, proditio. 1571 in Scot. Poems 16th C. (1901) II. 280 To commyt vppon tratory. 1609 SIEBNE Reg. Maj. 1. 112 Gif any man be convict of traitorie done to his overlord.

Traitoursly, obs. var. TRAITOROUSLY.

†Trai·tously, adv. Obs. Also 5 traytous-, 6 traytesous-. [after OF. trai-, traytesusement, traitouse-, trai(h)tiesement, f. traitos, traytesus (app. f. stem trait- of trait-eur + -eus, -OUS.] Traitorously.

c 1450 Brut (exdil. 126 (Douce MS.) But pe Erl Godwyne ..fably & traytously bount to pese po il brejerne. 1489 CAXTON Faytes of A. IV. viii. 249 The prysoner had other traitously or by som otherwise assayllyd when they were but thom two rogydes. 1559 Mirr. Magg., Rich. II vii, Mine vncle Richmond, right traytously arose.

Traitress (trē·tres), traitoress. Forms: 4 traitores, -eresse, (6 -eres), 4–7 traytoresse, (5 -ures, tratouresse), 5–6 traytres(se, (8 -ess), 5–7 traitresse, (6–7 -oresse), 7– traitress. [a. F. traitresse (13th c. in Godef. Compl.), fem. of traître TRAITOR: see -ESS. In form traitoress f. TRAITOR + -ESS.] A female traitor; a traitorous or treacherous woman (or being personified as a woman). Sometimes in an attenuated or playful sense.

c 1369 CHAUCER Dethe Blaunche 620 (Fairf. MS.) Fortune.. The traytoresse [v.r. traitores] fals and iul of gyle That al behoteth and no thyng halte. c 1400 Rom. Rose 7391 That false tratouresse untrewe. c 1400 Ywaine & Gaiu. 2987 That sho betrayd her lady, Als tyraytures sal sho haue hyr [= hire], Sho be brent her in this fir. a 1450 Knt. de la Tour (1906) 73 For a lytel thynge ye haue vndo yow, and haue be to me traitresse. a 1536 Collisto & Melibœa B iv b, Answere thus traytress how darst be so bold? 1601 SHAKS. All's Well I. i. 184 A Traitoresse, and a Deare. 1632 J. HAYWARD Biondi's Eromena 34 Mischievous and accursed Traitresse. 1651 tr. Dedas-Coverss' Don Pentie 276 She saw the traytoresse Fregonde. 1702 ROWE Tamerl. iv. i, Death shall free me At once from Infamy and Thee, thou Traytress. a 1766 MRS. F. SHERIDAN Nourjahad (1767) 103 The traitoresses I they shall dearly dearly, for thus abusing my indulgence. 1769 BLACKSTONE Comm. IV. xiv. 203 If she [the wife] kills such divorced husband, she is a traitress. 1824 LADY GRANVILLE Lett. (1894) I. 255 The French Government released the little traitressses. 1882 STEVENSON Stud. Men & Bks. (1905) 236 He [Knox] solemnly proclaims all reigning women to be traitoresses and rebels against God. 1884 TENNYSON Becket II. i. 50 Henry. Traitress! Rosamund. A faithful traitress to thy royal fame.

b. attrib. or as adj., rare.

1470–85 MALORY Arthur v. xxi. 67 Ye are the falsest lady of the world and the most traitresse vnto the kynges person. 1725 POPE Odyss. IV. 125 By the dire fury of a traitress wife.

Traitrous, Traits, Traitt, Traitur, obs. ff. TRAITOROUS, TRACE *sb.*², TREAT v., TRAITOR.

Traject (trəd·ʒekt), sb. [ad. L. trājectus a passing over, a place for crossing, f. trājicĕre, trālicĕre to throw across, f. trans across + jacĕre to throw. So F. trajet, traject (16th c.).]

1. A way of place of crossing over; esp. a place where boats cross a river, strait, or the like; a ferry. Less commonly, a route for crossing a tract of land.

a 1552 LELAND Itin. (1907) I. 51 The next trajectus from Kingston to the shore of Humber in Lincolnshir is about a 3 mile to a place cauilld Golflete. Yet the commumer traject is from Kingeston to Berton apon Humber. 1657 TOMLINSON tr. Lenguet' Daphnis & Chloe 39 The Bosphori; the Traiects, or the narrow Seas, swam over by Oxen. 1798 PYE Naucratia I. 57 Though his feet the traject often trace. 1810 SCOTT Let. to Morrit 9 Aug., in Lockhart, He would not again put foot in a boat till he had discovered the shortest possible traject. 1904 Sci. Amer. Supp. 5 Mar. 23553/3 As to the new Bagdad line, two different trajects were proposed.

2. The action or an act of crossing over water, land, a chasm, etc.; passage.

1774 Phil. Trans. Tour Scot. in 1772 292 Land after a traject of four miles. 1828 A. CLARKE in Life xiii. (1840) 458 After a mile's traject [we] were in Lerwick. 1852 MUNDY Our Antipodes (1857) 30 We crossed the river by a punt running on a rope. The mode of traject is very inconvenient. 1875 Wond. Phys. World I. iv. 129 The only means of traject across these crevasses. 1882 E. O'DONOVAN Merv Oasis I. 124 During the whole traject I met with no living things save an enormous black eagle.

b. The action of carrying or conveying across; transport; transference, rare.

1818 J. TAYLOR (WATSON, 1864). The traject of comets.

Traject (trəd·ʒekt), v. [f. L. trāject-, ppl. stem of trājicĕre: see prec.]

†1. trans. To pass across, to cross (a river, sea, etc.). Also intr. Obs. rare.

1624 HEYWOOD Gunaike. I. 31 She..trajecting many seas.. came at length into Egypt. Ibid. v. 231 The river Araxes, which he had late with a mighte host trajected. 1711 in 10th Rep. Hist. MSS. Comm. App. v. 132 The Prince..would have..marched up by the river to Navan,..and there have trajected. Ibid. 169 That induced General de Ginckle..to traject the Shanon.

2. To carry or convey across or over; to transport.

†a. (something material). Obs.

1635 HEYWOOD Hierarch. viii. 510 He would traject them dry-foot through the seas. 1657 – Dial. xvi. Wks. 1874 VI. 236 The ferriman, who from the rivers brim Trajected them. 1652 C. CARTWRIGHT Cert. Relig. I. 30 Him [Christ] we must mastigate, and chew by faith: traject, and convey him into our hearts as nutriment. 1684 T. BURNET Th. Earth I. 232 The notion..that the rivers of paradise were trajected out of the other hemisphere into this by subterraneous passages.

b. To transmit (light, shadow, or colour).

1657 TOMLINSON Renou's Disp. Pref., Trajecting these lines through the sieve of our Crebrosity. 1661 GLANVILL Van. Dogm. 14 The shadow of a horse trajected against a wall. 1672 NEWTON in Phil. Trans. VII. 5107 To this way of Compounding Whiteness may be referr'd that other, by Mixing light after it hath been trajected through transparently colour'd substances. 1704 – Optics (1721) 57 A Prism, by which the trajected Light might be refracted either upwards or sideways.

c. To transmit (thought, words, etc.).

a 1711 KEN Edmund Poet. Wks. 1721 II. 169 By mutual Thoughts trajected either Soul Began each other sweetly to condole. 1863 COWDEN CLARKE Shaks. Char. xiii. 324 She compared him to that dervis who possessed the power of trajecting his soul into the body of any individual that suited his purpose. 1895 MACPHERSON Ch. & Priory Monymusk ii. 57 We can account for their name..being even trajected into a longer and more distant period during which they had no existence at all.

Trajectile (trəd·ʒektil, -əil), a. and sb. rare. [ad. med.L. type trājectil-is*: see TRAJECT and -IL. As a botanical term a. F. trajectile (Littré).]

A. adj. Capable of throwing or impelling across.

1898 I. TAYLOR Home Educ. 247 A trajectile force, leaping the voids of the universe. 1860 MAURY Phys. Geog. Sea (Low) ii. § 119 Arising from this difference in the rate of rotation and the trajectile force [of a cannon].

b. Bot. (See quot.)

1900 JACKSON Gloss. Bot. Terms, Trajectile..when the connective completely separates the anther-cells.

B. sb. A body impelled through air or space. (Cf. projectile.)

1860 MAURY Phys. Geog. Sea (Low) II. § 123 It [a current] should also move in a circle of trajection, or such as would be described by a trajectile moving through the air without resistance and for a great distance.

Trajection (trəd·ʒekʃən). [ad. L. trājectiōnem a crossing over, transportation, n. of action f. trājicĕre to throw or convey across: see TRAJECT.]

1. The action of trajecting or fact of being trajected; a throwing or carrying across; passage through. †a. Passage across a river, etc. Obs.

1627 HEYWOOD Dial. xv. Wks. 1874 VI. 232 My due for thy trajection downe here hy. 1657–83 EVELYN Hist. Relig. (1850) I. 144 The specre strike the Kubicon, Cæsar hesitating that trajection. 1690 T. BURNET Th. Earth II. 88 No long passage or trajection will be requir'd from shore to shore. 1711 in 10th Rep. Hist. MSS. Comm. App. v. 133 The King observing the Frenchmen to attempt a trajection [of the Boyne] commanded his army to..face to the enemy.

†b. The passing (of anything) through a sieve or the like. Obs. rare.

1657 Physical Dict., Trajection..as cheese is strained from the whey. 1657 TOMLINSON Renou's Disp. 85 By common trajection, or by a more peculiar colation.

c. Passage or transmission through any medium, or through space.

1652 GAULE Magastrom. 254 They might in all parts behold the trajections and motions of the starres. 1662 BOYLE Cert. Physiol. Ex. (1669) 166 Such Comets as have by a Trajection through the Ether, for a long time wander'd through the Celestial or Interstellar part of the Universe. 1686 GOAD Celest. Bodies II. i. 147 The Trajections and shooting of the Stars. 1713 DERHAM Phys.-Theol. v. 365 The Trajection and Distribution of the Blood depends wholly on the Systole of the Heart. 1860 [see TRAJECTILE sb.].

d. Transmission (of light, heat, or other form of energy).

1633 T. ADAMS Exp. 2 Peter I. 19 Those upon earth that are said to have half a year night; yet are not without some trajection of light. 1661 BOYLE Spring of Air II. i. (1682) 21 Supposing light not to be made by a trajection of Atoms through Diaphanous bodies. 1704 NORRIS Ideal World II. iii. 189 Vision may be conceiv'd to consist in the passing or trajection of the rays of light, with all their refractions thro' the several coats and humours of the eye.

e. fig.

1886 A. S. WILSON Lyric Hopeless Love CXXXVII, Not happiness but purpose drives The dim trajection of our lives. 1905 Athenæum 11 Feb. 174/1 His trajection of the ignorance of primitive man on this unknown immensity is very impressive.

†2. A perception transmitted to the mind; an impression, a mental image. Obs.

1594 Zepheria 11, When I empirid..The siluer lustre of thy brow t' vnmask, Though hath my Muse hyperbolis'd trajections: Yet stands it aye deficient to such task. 1646 SIR T. BROWNE Pseud. Ep. VII. x. 357 The trajections of such an object [musk] more sharply pierce the mistry'd soul of John, then afterward did the nayls the crucifyed body of Peter.

3. Transposition; metathesis.

1612 BREREWOOD Lang. & Relig. 191 Ægypt is by them named..not without some trajection of letters, מצרים for מחרים. 1649 ROBERTS Clavis Bibl. 289 Here is a more obscure Trajection or Transposition of the phrases in this verse. 1795 MACKNIGHT Epist. (1820) III. 95 The words are placed in the end of the verse by a trajection usual in Paul's writings. 1875 JOWETT Plato I. 150 You must suppose him to make a trajection of the word..'truly'. 1895 A. E. HOUSMAN in Classical Rev. Oct. 354/1 As a Corpus Poetarum is a work of reference.., there is some disadvantage in admitting even the most certain trajections.

Trajectitious (trædʒekti·ʃəs), a. rare. [f. late L. trājectitius that is carried over (see), f. L. trāject-: see TRAJECT v. and -ITIOUS 1.] Characterized by trajection or transport over the sea; over-sea, foreign.

1656 BLOUNT Glossogr., Trajectitious, belonging to passage; As trajectitious money, is that which is carried over the sea at the peril of the Creditor. 1855 LORENZ tr. Van der Kessel's Sel. Theses (1861) xlxiv, In that kind of Exchange which is called local,..mercantile or trajectitious.

Trajectory (trədʒe·ktəri), a. and sb. [ad. med. or mod.L. trājectōri-us pertaining to trajection (cf. late L. trājectōrium a funnel, c 400), whence F. trajectoire 'casting..conveying through or over' (Cotgr. 1611); f. L. trāject-: see TRAJECT v., and -ORY. The sb. corresponds to L. trājectōria (Newton) fem., in F. trajectoire sb. (in Cotgr.).]

A. adj. 1. Physics. Of or pertaining to that which is thrown or hurled through the air or space. 1668 Phil. Trans. III. 807 To explaine that Trajectory rectilinear motion, he subjects the Comet of A. 1652 to a very rigid Calculus. 1683-9 MALLET Mun. Sci. Eng. 349 Reach the ground after describing a trajectory path.

2. Physiol. Said of a gland into which lymphatic vessels convey their fluids. ? Obs.

1747 tr. Astruc's Fevers 132 The common receptacles or trajectory glands of several lymphatic vessels.

B. sb. 1. Physics. The path of any body moving under the action of given forces; by many modern writers restricted to that of a body not known to be moving, like a planet, in a closed curve or orbit; esp. the curve described by a projectile in its flight through the air.

Hence loosely used by gun-makers for the height to which a bullet rises above the line of sight, as 'the trajectory of this rifle is one inch in one hundred yards'.

1696 WHISTON Th. Earth I. (1722) 8 [This] must change its rectilinear into a curvilinear trajectory. 1704 J. HARRIS Lex. Techn. I. Trajectory, of a Comet, is the Line which by its Motion it describes. 1726 tr. Gregory's Astron. I. 1. 73 Kepler, and several Philosophers after him, supposed the Trajectories of Comets to be right Lines. 1798 tr. Newton's Treat. Syst. World 142 If this problem was resolved, we should thence have a method of determining the trajectories of Comets to the greatest accuracy. 1795 HUTTON Math. Dict. II. 603 Trajectory, a term often used generally for the path of any body moving either in a void, or in a medium that resists its motion... Trajectory of a Comet is its path or orbit, or the line it describes in its motion. 1828 J. M. SHEARMAN Brit. Gunner (ed. 2) 395 To determine, by theory, the range of a shot, and the form of its trajectory in the air. 1843 MILL Logic VI. x. § 3 There might be others which, instead of an orbit, describe a trajectory, or a course not returning into itself. 1862 H. SPENCER First Princ. II. x. § 6 (1875) 252 It is common to assert that the trajectory of a cannon ball is a parabola.

b. transf. and fig.

1838 Brit. Critic XXIII. 1 An examination of..the somewhat eccentric trajectory of his [A. Knox's] thoughts. 1883 LOCKYER in Times 8 Dec. 10 We have..given a straight trajectory of the abnormal sunsets from the Seychelles to Brazil. 1883 Cornh. Mag. Feb. 217 That majestic spirit passes..through all the upward or downward trajectory between heaven and hell. 1889 BOYD CARPENTER Perm. Elem. Relig. Introd. 27 The trajectory of religion must rush away to the infinite beyond.

2. Geom. A curve or surface passing through a given set of points, or intersecting each of a given series of curves or surfaces according to a given law, e. g. at a constant angle.

1795 HUTTON Math. Dict. II. 603 Newton (Princip. lib. 1. prob. 22) proposes to describe a Trajectory that shall pass through five given points. 1816 tr. Lacroix's Diff. & Int. Calculus 401 A problem celebrated from the earliest infancy of the Integral Calculus—the problem of Trajectories. Its object is to determine a curve which shall intersect all curves of a given species at a given angle. 1865 B. PRICE Infin. Calc. (ed. 2) 606 If the [constant] angle between the two curves is a right angle the trajectory is said to be orthogonal.

3. A projectile, as a bullet. rare.

1861 W. H. RUSSELL in Times 29 July, As far as I could judge, the men of the regiment were stout and strong material for arresting trajectories.

Trajet (‖ trǣʒ, trædʒē). [a. F. trajet :—L. trajeci-us: see TRAJECT sb.]

1. A crossing, passage, 'run across'; = TRAJECT sb. 2.

1741 BERKELEY in Fraser Life viii. (1871) 268 You may..come to Bath, and from thence..make a short trajet to our coast. 1825 T. HOOK Sayings Ser. II. Suite'rl. I. 136 During the trajet from the Castle Inn at Marlborough. 1885 'MRS. ALEXANDER' At Bay iii, There is an earlier one ..by the Dieppe route, but you gain no time, for the trajet is longer. 1894 Field 1 Dec. 848/1 Made their trajet to Blessington town from Dublin.

2. The course or passage of a nerve or the like.

1849-52 Todd's Cycl. Anat. IV. 815/2 The trajet of the nerve is external to that of the internal jugular vein.

Tra, Trake, obs. forms of TRACK, TRAIK.

Tra-la-la (trăˈlälăˈ), int. (sb.). A vocal utterance forming a musical phrase (usually ascending) expressive of gaiety or joy; also, a cadence or flourish on a horn or similar instrument.

1823 SCOTT Quentin D. xi. Lay on the dogs, in the name of the holy St. Hubert!—Ha! ha! tra-la-la-lira-la! 1835 T. MITCHELL Aristophk. Acharn. 1099 note, If the accent is thrown on the last syllable of this word (τἀρελλά), it will approach very closely to modern imitative words of a similar kind: Tirala! Tirala! Tralalla! Tralalla! 1886 HISSEY On Box Seat 40 The cheery tra-la-la of the guard's horn.

Tralatician (trælătiˈʃăn), a. rare. [f. L. trālātīci-us (see TRALATITIOUS) + -AN.] = TRALATITIOUS 2, 3. So Tralaticiary (-iˈʃärĭ) a.

1893 W. PETERSON in Classical Rev. Mar. 130/2 That portion of my commentary which represents what I may call the 'tralatician' element,—the ἀναγινώσκομενα of textual interpretation. 1900 A. H. J. GREENIDGE in Eng. Hist. Rev. July 541 The annual and tralaticiary bill of outlawry which keeps people out of law.

†Trala·tion. Obs. rare—[1]. [ad. L. trālātiōn-em = translātiōn-em a transferring, n. of action of transferre to TRANSFER.] The use of a word in a transferred or figurative sense; metaphor.

1620 BP. HALL Hon. Mar. Clergy I. § 14 According to the broad tralation of his rude Rhemist.

Tralatition. rare—[0]. [irreg. f. next.] = prec.

1864 in WEBSTER.

Tralatitious (trælătiˈʃəs), a. Also 9 -icious. [f. L. trālātīci-us usual, customary, common, metaphorical, tropical (f. trālāt-, ppl. stem of transferre and -ITIOUS 1].]

1. Characterized by transference; esp. of words or phrases, metaphorical, figurative.

1645 TOMBES Anthropol. 5 I have planted, Apollo watered; but God gave the increase. Now these things cannot be conceived as tralatitious, for it is said, they were Ministers by whom they believed. 1650 FULLER Pisgah IV. vii. 138 Too often guilty of what may be termed tralatitious idolatry, when any thing..is loved, or honoured above, or even with God himself. 1688 R. HOLME Armoury III. 253/2 Tralatitious, or Artificiall sentences,..are Borrowed words, ..Termed also a Metaphor, Trope, Parable, or Simile. 1748 HARTLEY Observ. Man II. i. 63 A secondary and tralatitious Association. 1880 R. C. CHRISTIE E. Dolet 237, I give ... both its primary and its second or tralatitious meaning.

†2. Passed from hand to hand; common, ordinary, vulgar. Obs.

1653 WATERHOUSE Apol. Learning 4 By with-drawing those favours..which invigor'd Learning, and nourished men of deserts and worth,..and by appreciating things and persons more tralatitious and vulgar. 1656 BLOUNT Glossogr., Tralatitious, transferred or transposed: of the common sort, ordinary, vulgar.

3. Handed down from generation to generation; traditional; also, repeated by one from another, as a statement.

1795 WYTHE Decis. Virginia 6 Where an estate of inheritance is acquired not by tralatitious act, as by estoppel, dissesin [etc.]. 1900 MARGOLIOUTH in Expositor Aug. 136 The subjects..and expressions are 'tralaticious', borrowed by one generation from another, for so long a series that it is now impossible to name or locate their origination. 1912 SIR W. RAMSAY in Contemp. Rev. Mar. 339 Self-satisfied contentment with tralaticious statements, borrowed from good books or teachers..and repeated in book after book.

Hence Tralatitiously adv., metaphorically.

1657 GAULE Sap. Justif. 91 Adams sin was not tropically and tralatitiously, but even litterally and properly, ours. 1669 HOLDER Elem. Speech 8 Language..properly..is that of the Tongue..Written Language is tralatitiously so called, because it is made to represent to the Eye the same Letters and Words, which are pronounced.

Trale, Traleis, obs. ff. TRAIL, TRELLIS.

†Trali·neate, v. Obs. rare. [f. It. tralignare 'to degenerate, to digresse, to growe from kinde' (Florio), repr. a L. type tra(ns)lineāre*, f. TRA(NS)- + linea LINE sb.[2]: see -ATE [3].] intr. To go out of the direct line; to deviate.

1700 DRYDEN Wife of Bath's T. 396 If you tralineate from your father's mind, What are you else but of a bastard-kind? 1745 ELIZA HEYWOOD Female Spect. No. 16 (1748) III. 133 If sons tralineate from their father's virtues, and each successive race degenerates from the former.

Tra·lira, int. (sb.) Also redupl. trallira, tralara. A kindred vocal utterance to TRA-LA-LA, expressive of light-hearted gaiety.

1802 MR. G. LEWIS Crim. White Woman xix, Trallira! trallara! my old love, adieu! Trallira! trallara! I'll get me a new! 1819 SCOTT Ivanhoe xxxiii, Thou art one of those, who, with new French graces and Tra-li-ras, disturb the ancient English bugle notes.

Hence Tra-li-ra· v., intr. to sing tra-li-ra.

1862 S. LANIER Tournament i. 10 Heart's palfrey caracoled gayly round, Heart tra-li-ra'd merrily; But Brain sat still, with never a sound, So cynical-calm was he.

†Trall, obs. var. of THRALL v.

c1240 Chron. Vilod. 2300 He myst not passe out of pat stede He was ytrallyd in suche aray.

Trall, Trallace, Trallop, obs. ff. TRAWL, TRELLIS, TROLLOP.

†Tralu·ce, v. Obs. [ad. L. trālūcēre to shine across or through. Cf. It. tralucere (Florio).] trans. To shine through; = TRANSLUCE.

1591 SYLVESTER Du Bartas I. ii. 380 The turning Planets influence doth passe..through the glistring Tent Of the tralucing Fiery Element.

†Tralu·cency. Obs. [f. as next: see -ENCY.] = TRANSLUCENCY.

1599 R. LINCHE Anc. Fict. F3, The perspicuous and coruscant tralucencie of the sun. 1646 SIR T. BROWNE Pseud. Ep. II. i. (1650) 42 The principle and most germany affection [of Crystal] is its Tralucency. 1649 G. DANIEL Trinarch., Hen. V cxci, See the Autumnall Gossamere, well-trimm'd In Dewe, retains an odde Tralucencie.

†Tralu·cent, a. Obs. [ad. L. trālūcēnt-em, pr. pple. of trālūcēre: see TRALUCE. So It. tralucente (Florio).] = TRANSLUCENT. Hence †Tralu·cently adv. Obs.

1592 KYD Sol. & Pers. II. i, If loue of this my person,..haue percest through thy tralucent brest. 1597 DRAYTON Heroic., Idea. IV to Sheriff's Wife Notes 37 Trees, whose gum is Amber, where Flies alighting are oftentimes tralucently imprisoned. 1608 B. JONSON Masque Beauty Wks. (Rtldg.) 548/2 In the centre of the throne was a tralucent pillar, shining with several coloured lights. 1664 POWER Exp. Philos. I. 42 They all seem like Fragments of Crystal, or Alum, perfectly Tralucent.

Tram, sb.[1] Also 4-5 tramm(e, (traimm(e, traum(e), 4-9 trame. [a. F. trame, OF. traime, trème, 12th c. in Godef. Compl., (as in the late sense 1) woof of a web, also fig. cunning device or contrivance, machination, plot:—L. trāma woof. The literal sense of Fr. and L. appears in Eng. only in a technical use from mod.Fr. in 17th c.; but the fig. sense of 'machination' was adopted already in the 14th c., and app. gave rise to sense 3, which does not occur in French, but seems to belong here.]

1. Woof or weft; spec. silk thread consisting of two or more single strands loosely twisted together; used for the weft or cross threads of the best silk goods. Also tram silk.

1679 Lond. Gaz. No. 1392/4, 61. of fine black Worsted, some pounds of Raw trame. 1776-83 JUSTAMOND in Raynal's Hist. Indies III. 164 The silks of Naples, Sicily and Reggio, whether in organzin or in tram, are all ordinary silks. 1812 J. SMYTH Pract. Customs (1821) 214 Tram silk is considered in London as thrown silk, but not as organzine thrown silk. 1868 Rep. U. S. Commissioner Agric. (1869) 289 Two or three threads of raw silk twisted loosely two or four times to the inch is tram, shute, or woof. 1911 ALICE DRYDEN Church Embroidery 91 For working faces 'tram' silk should be used.

II. Chiefly north. dial. and Sc. †2. A cunning contrivance or device; a machination, plot, scheme.

13.. Gawa. & Gr. Knt. 3 Þe tulk þat þe trammes of tresoun þer wrot. 1616 J. MAITLAND Apol. W. Maitl. of Lethington in Misc. (S. H. S., 1904) 187 That plot and trame to themselfs and to manie others. 1866 J. E. BRODDER Provinc. Words Lincoln., Trams, 'gillery'.

†3. A mechanical contrivance; a machine, an engine; an implement, instrument, tool; in quot. 13.., tackle or gear of a ship. (Chiefly in pl.)

13.. E. E. Allit. P. C. 101 Þen he tron on þo tres & þay her tramme ruchen. 1375 BARBOUR Bruce XVII. 245 He gert engynis and trammys na [= make]. c 1400-50 Alexander 197 He toke trammes him with to tuse þe stones, Astrolabus algate as his arte wald, Quadrentis coruen all of qulhyte siluyre full quaynte. Ibid. 286 Þus as he tuke furth his toyllis [= tools] & his trammys schewis. Ibid. 1296 Ser Balam..Brakes him in breme with big mow of armes, With traumes [v. r. trawynn] & with tribochetis þe tild [v. r. towre] to asaile. Ibid. 1373 Quen he had tist vp þis tram [v. r. trame (i. e. a siege-tower)] & þis tild reid.

Tram (træm), sb.[2] [In sense 1, used in Sc. c 1500, and prob. earlier; app. the same word as LG. traam 'balk, beam, e. g. of a wheelbarrow or dung-sledge, tram, handle of a barrow or sledge, also a rung or step of a ladder, bar of a chair' (Brem. Wörb. 1771), EFris. trame, trâm beam of wood, rung or step of a ladder, bar of a chair, tram of a wheelbarrow; in MLG. trame, treme, MDu. trame balk or beam, rung of a ladder, etc.; WFlem. traam, trame.

The specific sense first found in Scotch is 'the tram of a barrow'. The further sense-development presents many difficulties, chiefly from the scarcity of early examples, and the fact that the various senses are from separate localities, so that they cannot be taken as showing any general development. But branch II, in which tram is a miners' term for the vehicle for carrying coal or ore (in its development from a hand-barrow, or at least a sledge, to a small 4-wheeled iron wagon) may, on the principle of pars pro toto, have arisen out of that of 'barrow-tram' in I. Branch III is more difficult, and is the crux of the word. But if it was short for something like 'tram-track', it might have arisen out of II; and if it was applied primarily to the wooden beams or 'rails' laid as wheel tracks, it might conceivably go back to the LG. sense of 'balk' or 'beam'; evidence is wanting. From II or III used attributively came tram-road (in use in 1800), and the later tram-way (in use in 1845); also tram-carriage and the modern tram-car, known in 1868 and 1873 respectively, and before 1880 shortened in popular English use to tram, branch IV, which thus by a circuitous course 'harks back' to a sense akin to branch I.

I. A shaft of a barrow or cart.

1. Each of the two shafts of a cart or wagon, a hand-barrow, or a wheelbarrow, the ends of which in a barrow form the handles. Sc.

These shafts are prolongations of the strong side-timbers of the frame or body of the structure; in a hand-barrow these are prolonged both ways, to form shafts or trams both before and behind, by which the two bearers carry the barrow; in a wheelbarrow they are prolonged in one direction to form the shafts, or trams, and in the other to form sockets for the axle of the wheel; in a cart they are prolonged in front to form the strong shafts or trams within which the horse walks, while their ends usually form short projections behind.

1500-20 DUNBAR Poems lii. 29, I wald wak war, bayth syd and bak, Weill batteret with ane barrow-tram. 1545 Acc. L. L. High Treas. Scot. III. 364 Ane pair of sled trammys to be lymmaris to ane of the saiddis falconis [guns]. a 1550 Barrow trammis, 1657 Barrow-trams [see BARROW sb.[3] 4]. 1766 State of Proc., D. Macdonald v. A. Dk. of Gordon, Pursuer's Proof 8, Light timber, such as stilings and cart trams. 1786 BURNS Inventory 31 Ae auld wheelbarrow, mair for token, Ae leg an' baith the trams are broken. 1790 SHIRREFS Poems 360 Nor is the naig the worse to draw A wee while in the trams. 1830 GALT Lawyer T. iv. viii. I. sat down on the tram of the wagon. 1833 ALISON Hist. Europe (1849) II. vii. § 79. 75 Nearly an hour was..lost, by an accident to one of the trams of the royal carriage.

b. transf. In pl. The two upright posts of a gallows; also humorously, in sing., a man's leg; particularly, a wooden leg.

a 1670 SPALDING Troub. Chas. I (1851) II. 4 Be order, the hangman brak his sword betuixt the crossis of Abirdein, and betuixt the gallowis-trams standing thair. 1808-18 JAMIESON, Trams, in a ludicrous sense, the leg or limb; as lang trams, long limbs. 1882 Ibid., Applied also to a person with long ungainly legs, Clydes. 1834 M. SCOTT Cruise Midge (1863) 48 He began to thunder at the low door with his pillar-like trams. Ibid. 206 It must have stumped along for fifty years on a leg of flesh and a tram of wood.

II. A framework, barrow, or the like, on which loads are dragged, carried, or supported.

2. Coal-mining. A quadrilateral frame or skeleton truck on which the corves were formerly carried; at first prob. carried like a hand-barrow, then dragged like a sledge, afterwards provided with low wheels on which to run; now in some colliery districts applied to the small iron truck which supplies the place of the earlier 'tram' and corve; in others to the part of the 'tub' (on wheels) to which the 'box' is bolted.

1516-27 Durham Acc. Rolls (Surtees) 293 Item, ad puteum [pit] de Hett...j resis et j cruke de ferro..ij pykes, ij trammys, et ij shulys. 1585 Wills & Inv. N. C. (Surtees) II. 112, j long wayne without wheels, ij yron ax-nailes, and ij yokes, 6s. j cowpe, ij trams, and two ax-trees 2s. 6d. 1708 J. C. Compl. Collier (1848) 39 The Wages for the Barrow-Men is..about twenty pence a Day for each Tram (that is to say) for putting so many loaden Corves, as are carried on one Sledge or Tram in one Day to the Pit Shaft. 1789 Bearne Hist., Newcastle II. 61 Trams are a kind of sledges on which the coals are brought from the places where they are hewn to the shaft. A tram has four wheels, but a sledge properly so called is drawn by a horse without wheels. 1797 Curr Coal Viewer 9 Placing the corf upon a small frame or tram..and hooking or chaining one tram to another. 1817 Farey Derbyshire III. 439 The Trams..have stout lower side pieces of wood which project at each end, and are hooped with iron which just meet together and receive the shock when the Trams overtake each other. 1839 Ure Dict. Arts 982 An improvement..is to place the basket or corve on a small four-wheeled carriage, called a tram, or to attach wheels to the corve itself. 1841 J. Holland Hist. Fossil Fuel, etc. 227 The coals..were conveyed..on trams, a narrow framework of wood mounted on four low wheels. 1851 Greenwell Coal-trade Terms Northumb. & Durh. 54 Since the substitution of tubs, the trams have been attached to them. 1857 W. W. Smyth Coal & Coal-mining 149 The northern method was to fill the coals..into a large basket (corve) of wicker..and to drag it on a small carriage, or tram,..to the crane-place on the main road. 1883 Greenly Glass. Coal Mining 257 In South Staffordshire trams constructed wholly of wrought iron or steel are much used...They have a carrying capacity of 25 cwt. 1888 Nicholson Coal Trade Glos., Tram, the term still applies to the part of a tub to which the box is bolted. 1894 Northumbld. Glosz. s. v., Trams and tubs are now made in one.

b. transf. The one or two lads in charge of a tram; also, the work performed by these.

1856 Whellan Hist. Durham 94 When a boy 'puts' or drags a load by himself he is designated a tram. 1894 Northumbld. Glosz. s.v., Sometimes tram was applied to the two lads in charge of it [the colliery tram]—called a 'tram of lads'. 'Half a tram', the work of one putter where two are engaged on a tram.

3. A quadrilateral frame or bench (like the body of a hand-barrow) supported on four legs or blocks, on which casks or the like stand, or at which an artisan works.

1818 W. Marshall Review II. 485 (E.D.D.) The cheese-tubs are placed on a small tram or bench. 1884 S. Worc. (Upton on Severn) Gloss., Trans or Tramming, a framework, or a loose arrangement, of stout parallel rails on short legs, or blocks, for supporting casks. 1894 E. Worc. Gloss., Tram, a strong square frame with four legs on which a wheelwright makes wheels; also a stand for casks.

III. A track of wood, stone, or iron; a tram-road or tramway.

4. A continuous line or track of timber beams or 'rails', or later of stone blocks or slabs, a parallel pair of which lines formed a tramway, originally in or from a mine. Hence, each of the wheel-tracks or 'rails' of a tram-road of an early type, or of a later tramway or railway.

[c 1724 North Life Ld. Keeper North (1742) 136 The Manner of the Carriage [of coals in Northumberland in 1676] is by laying Rails of Timber, from the Colliery, down to the River, exactly streight and parallel; and bulky Carts are made with four Rowlets fitting these Rails; whereby the Carriage is so easy that a Horse will draw four or five Chaldron of Coals, and is an immense Benefit to the Coal Merchants.] 1826 J. Adamson Sh. Inform. Rail-Roads 6 The upper flat part [of a rail on a railway], along which the wheel rolls, we may, from its analogy to the old wooden rails, call the tram of the rail. 1834 N. W. Cundy Inland Transit 1 The Manchester and Liverpool railroad, in my opinion, is constructed too narrow both in the trams and the space between them. 1838 Simms Public Works Gt. Brit. III. 3 He [Mr. Macneill] is laying stone blocks or trams for the wheels to roll upon. 1881 Raymond Mining Gloss., Tram..One of the rails of a tramroad or railroad. [See also quot. 1825 in 5, and Tram-line, -road, -way.]

5. A road laid with such wooden planks or rails, or with parallel rows of stone slabs or of iron plates or 'rails', for the easier passage of loaded wagons, etc., in a coal-mine or above ground; a tram-road of an early type. (See also Note below.)

[1825 Mackenzie Hist. Northumbld. I. 146 Square wooden rails laid in two right parallel lines, and firmly pegged down on wooden sleepers. The tops of the rail are planed smooth and round, and sometimes covered with plates of wrought iron.] About the year 1785 cast-iron railways were introduced as an improvement upon the tram or wooden rail-way.] 1850 Ansted Geol., etc. § 1117 The loaded waggons, or corves, are conveyed along the tram by lads called putters. 1865 Pall Mall G. 27 June 10 Have they not trams in the suburbs of half our Lancashire towns, and is there not a tram on a grand scale for the use of those long ugly Omnibus Americains which ply between Paris and Versailles?

IV. Short for tram-car or the like.

6. A passenger car on a street tramway; a tram-car.

1879 Webster Suppl., Tram, a car on a horse-railroad. Eng. 1880 Mary Fitz-Gibbon Trip to Manitoba vii. 71 To see if the trams were coming. 1883 G. H. Boughton in Harper's Mag. Apr. 702/1 It was so easy to pop into the.. tram. 1884 Ibid. Sept. 524/1 Taking the tram to Scheveningen. 1887 Punch 12 Mar. 130/2 She is left without a penny to pay for tram or bus. 1901 R. Bagot Donna Diana xiii, The discordant clanging of the gongs of electric trams fall hideously on the ear.

7. An overhead or suspended carrier travelling on a cable.

1905 Daily Chron. 23 Sept. 8/2 (Supply of meat at Aldershot) Hoisting gear bears the carcasses quickly away for dressing, and when that is done, an overhead carrying line, conveniently referred to as the 'tram', conveys them to the cooling-room.

V. 8. attrib. and Comb., as tram-bell, -boy, -carriage, -conductor, -driver, -load, -railway, -shed, -ticket, -wagon, -wheel, -whistle, -yard; -travelling adj.; tram-man, a man employed on a tramway, esp. a tram-conductor or driver; tram-rail, (a) a plate-rail: see Plate sb. 8; (b) each of the rails of a tramway. See also Tram-car, -line, etc.

1904 Daily Chron. 24 Sept. 2/1 The incessant clanging of the tram-bell [in Holland]. 1904 J. Wells Y. H. Wilson xi. 97 He..established societies for the tram-boys [in collieries]. 1868 Daily News 22 July, Asking the moderate fee of twopence for its entire journey, the tram carriage is like a rough omnibus without cushions turned inside out. 1892 Zangwill Bow Mystery 4 The tram conductors' bells were ..ringing. 1904 Daily News 24 May 12 The crowded tram-loads along this favoured highway of the West. 1892 Zangwill Bow Mystery 4 At an early meeting of discontented tram-men. 1839 Ure Dict. Arts 982 The rails are called tram-rails, or plate-rails. 1900 Westm. Gaz. 5 Sept. 6/2 The tram-rails had been patented in order to lessen friction, and accidents to cyclists are of constant occurrence in the same neighbourhood. 1894 Daily News 5 May 8/5 Of much advantage to the tram-travelling public of South London. 1855 J. R. Leifchild Cornwall Mines 150 That the ore may readily fall down to the level below them, whence it is carried in tram-waggons to the shaft. 1825 J. Nicholson Operat. Mechanic 649 Fig. 644 represents a view of a pulley or tram-wheel, calculated to move upon a plate railway. 1883 E. F. Knight Cruise Falcon (1887) 42 Above the shrill scream of the tram-whistle rises their shriller Babel. 1909 London City Mission Mag. Dec. 241/2 A stableman from an adjacent tramyard.

Note. The following quot. for tram is difficult to place. It has the appearance of belonging to sense 5; but its early date is at variance with this. No part of the road in or near the Bridgegate at Barnard Castle is now known as 'the tram', nor is there any tradition of the former existence of a tramway of any kind there. On the opposite or Yorkshire side of the Tees, the road running southward from the end of the bridge is protected from the river by a heavy stone wall locally known as 'the tram wall'; but this does not seem to answer to the words of the will.

1555 Will of Ambrose Middleton in Wills & Inv. N. C. (Surtees) II. 37 note, To the amendinge of the higheways or tram, from the weste end of Bridgegate, in Barnard Castle, xxs.)

Hence Tra'mful, as much or as many as a tram or tram-car will hold; Tramifica'tion (nonce-wd.), the construction of a tramway; Tra'mless a., (a) without shafts, as a cart (dial.); (b) having no trams or tramway facilities.

1905 Daily News 20 Sept. 6 The coal came up in little tramfuls. 1834 New Monthly Mag. XL. 372 The whole object of that tramification is the conveyance of goods—of heavy goods. 1850 A. Macgan Cromie O'Kane Poems (1851) 174 A tramless cart or a couterless plough. 1904 Daily Chron. 29 Mar. 3/6 Tramless Brixton..the Cars are to be Stopped for Two Months.

Tram, sb.[3] Mech. [Short for Trammel sb.[1]]

1. An instrument for describing ellipses; = Trammel sb.[1] 4. 1884 in Knight Dict. Mech. Suppl.

2. The condition of correct adjustment of one part to another (obtained by using the tram-staff); used in the phrases in tram, out of tram. Originally used in reference to the adjustment of millstones, thence extended to other mechanical adjustments.

1891 in Cent. Dict.; and in later Dicts.

3. attrib. and Comb., as tram-pot, the step in which the toe of a millstone spindle revolves; tram-staff, a straight-edge used by millwrights in adjusting the millstone spindle (Cent. Dict. 1891).

1884 Knight Dict. Mech. Suppl., Trampot (Milling), the seat in which the foot of the spindle is stepped.

Tram (træm), v.[1] [f. Tram sb.[2]]

1. intr. To travel by a tramway or on a tram-car (also to tram it). colloq. Also (U.S.), to drive or operate a tram-car (Cent. Dict. 1891).

1826 in Northumbld. Gloss. s.v., Liddell, why he from Durham ...But home again he'd better tram. 1896 Westm. Gaz. 9 Apr. 7/2 The Walworthian has to tram to Greenwich. 1904 E. Nesbit Phœnix & Carpet x, They can tram it home.

2. trans., Mining. To convey (coal, ore, etc.) by a tram or trams.

1874 J. H. Collins Metal Mining (1875) 11 One sees..the ore and rubbish allowed to accumulate behind the men to a height of several feet before it is trammed back to the shaft. 1887 Raymond Statist. Mines & Mining 8 Tramming. 1889 Eng. Illustr. Mag. May 572/2 To 'tram' the coal from the working face..to the sidings where the horses take the waggons. 1893 Pall Mall G. 14 Jan. 2/3 In the level below ..only one man was saved, who had been tramming to the shaft the ore which he excavated on previous days.

b. To push (a tram or wagon) to and from the shaft in a mine.

1883 Le Neve Foster in Encycl. Brit. XVI. 435/2 (Mining) This trolley (which is merely a small platform upon wheels) is pushed (trammed) to the shaft; the full kibble is hooked on to the winding-rope and drawn up, whilst an empty kibble is placed upon the trolley and trammed back along the level..where it is again loaded. Ibid., The motive power for tramming wagons along the levels of metal mines is generally supplied by men or boys.

Tram, v.[2] [f. Tram sb.[3]] trans. and intr. To use a tram or tram-staff in adjusting spindles or axles, or in measuring, aligning, or the like.

1891 in Cent. Dict. (implied in tramming); in later Dicts.

Tram, in trim tram: see Trim-Tram.

‖Trama (trā:·mă, trăm·mă). Bot. [L. trāma woof, weft, filling of a web.] The substance between the surfaces of the 'gills' of hymenomycetous fungi. Also called intralamellar substance, disepiment. Hence Tra'mal a. (Cent. Dict. 1891).

1887 Berkeley Cryptog. Bot. § 399 In Schizophyllum, the gills split in the direction of their trama. 1894 Cooke Fungi 23 In Lactarius and Russula the trama, or inner substance, is vesicular. 1895 Bennett & Dyer Sachs' Bot. 250 The substance of the lamella, called the Trama.

†Tra'mble, v. Obs. [Origin uncertain. Cf. Sw. dial. tramla, trumla to fall (Rietz).]

1. intr. To roll over and over; to tumble, fall headlong. rare—[1].

1609 Bible (Douay) Job xxx. 14 They haue broken violently vpon me, and came trambling downe to my miseries [Vulg. ad meas miserias devoluti sunt].

2. trans. To wash (tin-ore) by agitating it in a trough of water (Buddle sb.[2]) with a special shovel called a trambling shovel; to buddle; = Tozze v.[2]

1691 Phil. Trans. 1102 A man..with a Trambling shovel in his hand to cast up the Ore. Ibid. 1210 When this Buddle grows full, we take it up; here distinguishing again the Fore-head from the Middle and Tails; which are trambled over again. 1710 J. Harris Lex. Techn. II, Trambling, is the Term used in Dressing of Tin-ore, for washing it very clean in Water..with..a Trambling-shovel, and in a Frame of Boards, which they call a Buddle.

Trambooze: see Trampooze.

Tram-car (træ·m,kăr). [f. Tram sb.[2] III. + Car.] A public car or carriage running on a tramway for the conveyance of passengers; called earlier tramway car, and already in 1879 simply tram (Tram sb.[2] 6). Tram-carriage (Tram sb.[2] 8) is cited 1868.

1873 Engineer 28 Nov. 353 A trial of Grantham's steam tram car. 1876 Ibid. 26 May 400 A heavy vehicle such as an omnibus or a tram car. 1879 Trans. Soc. Engineers 195 The Italian tram cars enabled him to see nearly the whole of the city of Turin for..sixpence. 1883 F. M. Crawford Dr. Claudius xiii, The ceaseless ring of the tram-cars stopping every few steps to pick up a passenger. 1905 R. Bagot Passport iii, In a quiet and secluded position..undisturbed by the noise of the tram-cars.

attrib. 1880 Proc. Inst. Mech. Engin. 199 The flange of a tramcar wheel.

Trame, var. Tram sb.[1]

[Tramiss. Misreading of traunss, Trance.]

Tra'm-line. [f. Tram sb.[2] 5 or 6 + Line sb.[2]; cf. railway line.] A tramway; also, a tram-rail.

1886 Hare Story my Life (1900) VI. xxiv. 9 We were taken back to the tramwiys. 1895 Times 30 Jan. 11, ix, The yellow sand scattered on slippery days along the tram-lines. 1896 Times 30 Sept. 7/6 Tenders are to be sent in.. to the tramline's offices. 1905 Visct. Ridley in Daily Chron. 21 July 5/5 The Bill dealt with several new tramlines, three of which were uncontested and not very important.

Trammel (træ·měl), sb.[1] Forms: 5 tramale, -ell, -elle, (tramale, tramayl, 5–6 -ely), 5–6 tramayle, (6 Sc. tramalt), 6–7 tramell, 6–8 -el, 6–9 trammell, 7 tramaile, 6- trammel. [In sense 1, a. OF. tramail (c 1220 in Godef. Compl.), mod.F. trémail a fishing- or fowling-net, with three layers of meshes, = It. tramaglio, Sp. trasmallo, Pg. trasmalho :—late pop.L. tranaculum for tri-, trenaculum (in Salic Law, Hessels, Cod. I, xxvii. 20, tremaclem, v. rr. tremalem, tremaglio, tranaculam, trimaclem, tremagolum, tremachlum, etc.) a kind of fishing-net, generally explained as f. L. tri- three + macula mesh. In the Romanic langs. the prefix appears to have been taken as = tra-, L. trans. The history of the other senses here included is difficult: see Note below.]

1. 1. A long narrow fishing-net, set vertically with floats and sinkers; consisting of two 'walls' of large-meshed netting, between which is a net of fine mesh, loosely hung. More fully Trammel-net.

The fish enters through the large mesh on one side, drives the fine net through the large mesh on the other, and is thus trapped in a pocket or bag of the fine netting. Also sometimes applied to other kinds of fishing nets.

1363 [implied in Trammeller 1].

c 1440 Promp. Parv. 499/1 Tramayle, grete nette for fyschynge (K. tramely, H., P. tramaly), tragum. 14.. Vec. in Wr.-Wülcker 617/18 Tramellum..quoddam genus retis, ..a tramayle. 1467-8 Durham Acc. Rolls (Surtees) 92 Pro j rethe voc. Tramale, xviiij*d*. 1558 Act 1 Eliz. c. 17 § No persone..shall fishe..with any maner of Nett, Tramell (etc.), but onely with a Nett or Tramell whereof every Meshe..shalbee [etc.]. 1633 P. Fletcher Pisc. Ecl. v. xiv, Are thy lines broke? or are thy trammels tore? 1787 Best Angling

(ed. 9) 5 By fishing with trammels or flews in March or April. 1848 C. A. Johns Week at Lizard 242 The trammel is a long net, about five feet deep, with a double mesh, one large enough to allow the fish to pass through, the other much smaller. 1883 E. P. Ramsay Food Fishes N. S. Wales 33 (Fish. Exhib. Publ.) They are usually taken for market with a Trammel, or Bag-net, set across the stream, or by hook and line.

b. A fowling-net; = Trammel-net b.

1530 Palsgr. 282/2 Tramell to catche fyssbe or byrdes, trameau. 1581 Act 23 Eliz. c. 10 § 6 To tail, or any Partridges or Feasaunts by night, under the Trammell, Lowbell, Rondenette or other Engine. 1655 Moufet & Bennet Health's Impr. (1746) 173 A Partridge taken in Flight, or a Lark dared with a Hawk, is worth ten taken with Nets, Springs and Trammels. 1895 Quiller Couch Wound. Heath 80 He and his mates went out and tilled the trammel.

II. †2. A hobble to prevent a horse from straying or kicking; also, a contrivance for teaching a horse to amble, consisting of lines and straps connecting the fore and hind feet on each side, with a strap over the back to which both lines were fastened for support. Obs.

c 1550 W. Keth Tye the Mare, Tom Boy 35 (Ritson) Yett wer thou moch better In trammells to bynd her; A loock and a fetter Before and behynd her. 1591 Greene Art Conny Catch. ii. (1592) 4 Whether they haue horse-locks or no, . in the night they take him or them away, and are skilfull in the lacke, Art for picking open the tramels or lockes. 1616 Surfl. & Markh. Country Farme 133 It is called a Tramell when a Horse neere fore-legge and his neere hinder-legge..are so fastened together with leathers and cords, that he cannot put forward his fore-legge, but he must perforce hale his hinder-legge after it. 1675 Lond. Gaz. No. 1043/4 A..Nag, has all his paces, and swellings in his forelegs caused by the tramels. 1766 Compl. Farmer, Tramel, ..made sometimes of leather, but more usually of ropes, fitted to a horse's legs to regulate his motion, and teach him to amble.

3. transf. and fig. Anything that hinders or impedes free action; anything that confines, restrains, fetters, or shackles. Chiefly pl.

a 1653 G. Daniel Idyll. iii. 106 'Tis an easie Chord; ye Flax of Law Makes a soft Trammell. a 1680 Butler Rem. (1759) I. 266 To put his Wits into a kind of Tramels. 1709 Steele & Swift Tatler No. 60 ¶ 4 The Gentleman is in the true Trammels of Love. 1787 Mme. D'Arblay Diary 5 Jan., There seemed to be no opportunity..of liberating my evenings from official trammels. 1841 D'Israeli Amen. Lit. (1867) 462 The destiny of Spenser was to wear the silken trammels of noble patrons. 1889 John Bull 2 Mar. 148/3 Throughout her career she [Geo. Eliot], for the most part, refused to bind herself by conventional trammels.

4. Mech. An instrument for describing ellipses (F. compas à ellipse), consisting of a cross with two grooves at right angles, in which slide pins carrying a beam or ruler with a pencil; also applied to the beam-compass (Beam sb.[1] IV). Also pl.

So called because the motion of the beam carrying the pencil is trammelled or confined by the restriction of the pins to the grooves.

1725 W. Halfpenny Sound Building 7 Make the Tramel ..in the same Form as..in the Figure. 1780 Lundam in Phil. Trans. LXX. 378 The instrument for drawing ovals upon paper or board..is much in use among the joiners, and called by them the trammels. 1795 Hutton Math. Dict. s. v., All the engines for tracing ovals are constructed on the same principles with the Trammels: the only difference is, that in the Trammels the board is at rest, and the pencil moves upon it. 1875 Carpentry & Join. 118 We will now add one other method of striking elliptic curves, and describe..the instrument by which it is done. This is called a trammel. 1884 Cheshire Gloss. s. v., In working circular work, a staff of the radius of the circle is a trammel.

III. 5. A series of rings or links, or other device, to bear a crook at different heights over the fire; the whole being suspended from a transverse bar (the crook-tree), built in the chimney, or from a small crane or gallows, the vertical member of which turns in sockets in the jamb and lintel. Now local Eng. and U.S.

1537 Bury Wills (Camden) 130 The tramely yn the chemey, and the racke on the soler. 1630 Maldon, Essex, Documents Bundle 217. No. 22 In the little butterye, i iron hooke to hange at the eand of a tramell, ad. 1674 Ray S. & E. C. Words 77 A Trammel, an iron instrument hanging in the chimney, whereon to hang pots or kettles over the fire. 1866 Whittier Snowbound 136 The crane and pendent trammels showed. 1883 Hampshire Gloss., Trammel, a hook to hang a boiler on. [An error.] 1889 Lucy Larcom New Eng. Girlhood: 22 We..sometimes smirched our clean aprons..against the swinging crane with its sooty pot-hooks and trammels.

IV. †6. pl. The plaits, braids, or tresses of a woman's hair; in quot. 1504 with play on sense 1. (Sometimes erroneously explained as a net to confine the hair.)

1589 Greene Menaphon (Arb.) 25 She..wraps affection in the tramels of her haire. 1590 Spenser F. Q. II. ii. 15 Her golden lockes she roundly did uptye In breaded tramels, Ibid. III. ix. 20 Her golden locks, that were in trammels gay Vpbounden, did them selves adowne display And raught vnto her heeles. 1594 Greene & Lodge Looking Glasse G.'s Wks. (Rtldg.) 122/2 For women's locks are trammels of conceit, Which do entangle Love for all his wiles. 1669 A. Browne Ars Pict. 86 You may go over the hair, disposing into such forms, folds or tramels, as may become your Picture best. 1673 Jordan Lond. in Splend. 12 A long fair Hair, the tramels tyed with small Ribon of all the light Colours.

V. 7. attrib. and Comb., as †trammel-boat (? used in fishing with the trammel-net) trammel-trick [f. Trammel v.]; trammel-wheel, a mechanical device for converting rotary into reciprocal motion, consisting of a wheel with grooves crossing each other, in which slide projections attached to a connecting-rod, so that the rod makes two up-and-down motions for each revolution of the wheel; also a modification of this.

1614 T. Gentleman Wyp o Wealth (1660) 9 The Pinks for barrell Fish, and Trammel boats. 1873 Browning Red Cott. Nt.-cap 176 Be theirs to drowse Trammeled, and ours to watch the trammel-trick! 1877 Knight Dict. Mech., Trammel-wheel.

[Note. French dictionaries have trémail, tramail, only in senses 1, 1 b. And indeed the sense-connexion of branches II, III, IV with I, and with each other, is obscure; some of them may perhaps be different words. But the identification of I and II is not confirmed by English. Du Cange quotes a med.L. statute of Piacenza, in which tramaiolum (read tramaculum) is applied to a stick a cubit and a half long, ordered to be fixed to the necks of dogs to prevent them from running into vineyards or other places where they might do mischief; and he identifies this word with It. tramaglio and F. tramail, and refers to this word as known to be applied not only to a net, but to any kind of shackle or snare (pedica). Ferrari's Ital. dictionary has tramaglio only as 'a trammel or bag-net', but Florio 1611 has it 'a tramell or ensnaring'.]

†Trammel, sb.[2] Obs. In 5 tramel, -ale, -aly. [Cf. OF. tremuie, tremue, tremee (all 14th c. in Godef.), trameul, tremouille, tremuë (Cotgr.), mod.F. trémie = Pr. tremueia, Cat. tramuja, It. tramoggia, Sicil. trimoja :—L. trimodia, a three-peck measure: see Diez, Scheler. Some med.L. and Romanic forms are affected by L. trem-ère to tremble. In Eng. apparently confounded with Trammel sb.[1] The hopper of a mill.

c 1440 Promp. Parv. 246/2 Hopur, of a mylle, or a tramale (S. tramel, c 1485, tarratura, farratosphium. Ibid. 490/1 Tramaly, of a mylle, idem quod hopur; supra; et farcapsia.

Tra'mmel, v. [f. Trammel sb.[1]]

†1. trans. To bind up (a corpse). Obs.

1536 in Archæol. XVI. 23 (Funeral Q. Kath.) The Corps must be sered, trammyled, leded, and cheseted. 1546–7 in Trans. Devon. Assoc. (1921) II. App. A. 3 (Funeral K. Hen. VIII) Surely bound and trammel'd with cords of silke. c 1558 Leland's Collect. (1770) V. 308 Whoo [Q. Mary] after her Departure was..cered, and tramelled in this Manner.

2. intr. To use a trammel-net; trans. to take (fish or birds) with a trammel-net.

1828–1866 [see Trammelling vbl. sb.]. 1846 Bell's Life 9 Aug. 7/5 Four men were caught trammelling pheasants.

†3. trans. To fasten together (the legs of a horse) with trammels (Trammel sb.[1] 2); also, to put trammels on (a horse). Obs.

1607 Markham Caval. IV. ix. (1617) 45, I would haue you in any case..to tramell your horse aboue knee. 1610 — Masterp. II. clix. 468 After you haue tramelled all his foure legges. 1639 T. de Gray Compl. Horsem. 307 Tramell his fore-feet that he do not lye down.

4. fig. To entangle or fasten up as in a trammel.

1605 Shaks. Mach. I. vii. 3 If th'Assassination Could trammel vp the Consequence, and catch..Success. 1819 Keats Lamia II. 52 How to entangle, trammel up, and snare Your soul in mine. 1906 Hibbert Jrnl. Jan. 304 Mind is never either mere antecedent or mere consequent. It trammels up its before and hereafter.

5. fig. To hinder the free action of; to put restraint upon, fetter, hamper, impede, confine.

1727 Pope Let. to Gay 6 Oct., Ill and vicious Habits, of which few or no men escape the infection, who are hackney'd and tramelled in the ways of a court. 1792 A. Young Trav. France 256 We are little better than horses in a team, trammelled to follow one another. 1807 R. S. Barrett Rising Sun II. 8 Till he had trammelled himself again with debts. 1865 Swinburne Atalanta 98 Ripe grasses trammel a travelling foot. 1883 Ld. R. Gower My Remin. I. i. 12 Like many great artists, when trammelled with a commission he seemed to lose power.

6. To fasten (a piece of work on the spindle of a lathe) with a clamp. rare.

1833 J. Holland Manuf. Metal II. vi. 134 The work must be trammelled to the nose of the spindle, by a contrivance called the dog and driver, the former being a sort of clutch, screwed upon the end of the work.

†Tra'mmelet. Obs. rare. [f. Trammel sb.[1] 6 + -et.] pl. Braids, tresses: cf. Trammel sb.[1] 6.

1654 Herrick Descr. Woman 4 Like Aurora when with pearl she sets Her long discheveld rose-crowned trammelets.

Tra'mmeled, -eled (-ĕld), ppl. a. [f. Trammel sb.[1] and v. + -ed.]

1. † a. Of hair: Braided or bound up in trammels.

1609 Heywood Brit. Troy v. lxxv, Is her haire browne? ..Brown trameld lockes best grace the brightest hew.

b. (See quot.)

1753 Chambers Cycl. Supp. s. v., A horse is said to be tramelled, that has blazes or white marks upon the fore and hind foot of one side; so called from the resemblance the white foot bears to a half tramel. Cross-tramelled horse, is one that has white marks in two of his feet that stand crossways, ..as in the far fore-foot, and the near hind-foot.

2. Confined by or as by trammels; fettered, shackled.

1813 Scott Rokeby v. xxxiii, Harpool clasp'd His knees And round the trammelled ruffian clung. 1818 Lady Charleville in Lady Morgan's Autobiog. (1859) 12 If your book be cut and garbled by those vile inspectors of a trammelled press. 1821 Joanna Baillie Metr. Leg., Wallace xvi, Who from their trammel'd country broke.

Tra'mmeller, -eler. rare. [f. as prec. + -er[1]. Cf. obs. F. trameilleur a kind of boat (Godef.).]

1. ? A fisherman, or a boat, fishing with a trammel.

1363 Ministers Accts. Bundle 1208, No. 15, P.R.O. (Rye), Et de xxx. s. receptis de quadam custuma vocata Cristschar' proveniente de piscaria batellorum..de Matheo Samon pro schar' de tramelers iiii. s. Ibid., De consimili custuma ..de Roberto Bernhaud pro schars de tramelers xiii. s.

2. A fowler using a trammel-net.

1581 Act 23 Eliz. c. 10 § 6 This Act shall not..extend to Lowebellers, Tramellers or others, whiche shall unwillinglye happen to take any Partridges. 1618 Dalton Countrey Just. 285 To bind tramellers [sic] for larkes, that they shall destroy no partridges.

3. One who or that which trammels or restrains. 1864 in Webster; and in later Dicts.

Tra'mmelling, -eling, vbl. sb. [f. Trammel v. + -ing[1].] The action of the verb Trammel in various senses. Also attrib. trammelling-net = Trammel-net.

1588 Lambarde Eiren. iv. iv. 444 If any person..have taken..any Phesants or Partridges..by lowbelling or tramelling. 1616 Surfl. & Markh. Country Farme 133 To be obserued in the tramelling of Horses. 1688 R. Holme Armoury III. xxii. (Roxb.) 277/1 A Long Nett, called a Tramelling Nett..The ends are fixed on long poles. 1826 Hone Every-Day Bk. I. 952 The larks..at Dunstable..are usually taken..with trammeling nets. 1866 Daily Tel. 5 Jan. 5/2 Trawling, shrimping, trammelling..methods deprecated by those who don't happen to practise them.

Tra'mmellingly, adv. [f. prec. pple. of Trammel v. + -ly[2].] In a fettering manner.

1884 J. W. Hales Notes & Ess. Shaks. 99 The exuberant growths of fancy cling around them trammellingly.

Tra'mmel-net. [f. Trammel sb.[1] + Net sb.[1]] = Trammel sb.[1] 1. Also attrib.

1516 in Rogers Agric. & Prices III. 564. 1519 Horman Vulg. 277 b, Caste in the tramell nette ones more [Injice verveculum iterum]. 1552 Lyndesay Monarche 4771 In to thare Tramale nett thay fangit ane fyscho. 1580 Hollyband Treas. Fr. Tong, Vn Trameau..a tramell net. 1657 C. Beck Univ. Charac. L vii b, A tramel net or drag. 1787 Best Angling (ed. 2) 69 They set tramel-nets baited, and leave them for whole days and nights, into which the fish enter of their own accord. 1884 Daily News 25 Dec. 3/6 A resolution prohibiting trammel-net fishing for salmon.

b. A fowler's net; = Trammel sb.[1] 1 b.

1648 Herrick Hesper., Corinna's Tears (1869) 75 Thy wiry wiles to draw, and get the larke into the tramel net. 1669 Worlidge Syst. Agric. (1681) 252. 1768 Pennant Zool. II. 235 The larker..makes use of a trammel net twenty-seven or twenty-eight feet long and five broad. 1882 Buckland Notes & Queries. Life 221 They [larks] are taken by thousands on dull nights with trammel nets.

Tramner (trænər). [f. Tram sb.[2] or v.[1]]

1. Coal-mining, etc. A man or boy who removes the trams of coal, etc. from the workings; a putter.

1839 Ure Dict. Arts 982 Two persons called trammers are employed to transport the coals. 1898 Davies Slate Quarrying 117 The trammers..convey the slate blocks from the quarry to the dressers, and..also remove the waste. 1889 Eng. Illustr. Mag. May 572/2 Trammers are usually strong youths and prospective colliers. 1904 Act 4 Edw. VII, c. 9 § 2 Such persons if they are either in charge of working places or are holers, filliers, trammers, or brushers.

2. One who is employed on a tramway; also, a horse used to draw a tram-car.

1889 Essex News 7 Oct., The trammers are equally worthy of public sympathy with the dock labourers. 1901 Daily Chron. 28 Dec. 9/7 The horses are good trammers, active, and fresh from work, and in good condition.

Tramontane (trăm'ntĕn, trænmntē'n), a. and sb. Forms: 4 tramountayne, 7 -mountain, -montan, (6–8 -ain, 9 -aine), 6– tramontane; also in It. forms, 7–9 tramontana, 6–8 (pl.) tramontani; Lat. pl. 7 tramontanes. See also Transmontane. [ad. It. tramontana north wind, pole-star, tramontani 'those folkes that dwell beyond the mountaines' Florio (= Sp., Pg. tramontana north wind, sunset), whence also Fr. tramontane north wind, pole-star, OF. tramontan(e sb. and adj. (13th c.) north wind, tresmontaine pole-star:—L. transmontanus beyond the mountains, f. trans across, beyond + mons, mont-em mountain: cf. montân-us of or belonging to mountains.]

A. adj. 1. Dwelling or situated beyond, or pertaining to the far side of, the mountains (orig. and in reference to Italy, the Alps; in quots. 1866, 1840, referring to other mountains); hence, foreign; in quot. 1662 = occupied by a non-Italian.

1596 Nashe Saffron-Walden Wks. (Grosart) III. 131 Were their suffe by ten millions more Tramontani or Transalpine barbarous than balletry, he would haue prest it vpon Wolfe. a 1618 Raleigh in Gutch Coll. Curr. I. 73 Tramontane, as well as Vltramontane Civilians will deem it otherwise. 1662 Bargrave Pope Alex. VII (1867) 50 The Italians have ever since taken care that St. Peter's chair shall never be a tramontan chair again. 1710 Steele Tatler No. 222 ¶ 9 As for our Tramontain Lovers..A Man might as well serenade in Greenland as in our Region. 1781 Gibbon Decl. & F. xxxi. III. 245 The rustic, or even savage, aspect of those Tramontane warriors, often disguised a simple and merciful disposition. 1806 Scott Lett. to G. Ellis 3 Man, in Lockhart, To undertake your expedition to the tramontane region of Reged this season. 1820 Edin. Rev. XXXIV. 185 note, The clock in the clock-house built at Westminster in 1288..is usually considered as the earliest recorded instance of a Tramontane clock. 1840 Blackw. Mag. XLVII. 245 Our empire in India had waxed so powerful as to attract the envy of the Asiatic tramontane nations. 1884 J. S. Brewer Reign Hen. VIII, I. ix. 279 A tramontane ecclesiastic.

b. With the connotation 'uncouth, unpolished, barbarous'. Now rare.

1739 Cibber Apol. (1756) I. 233 This I have mention'd to shew not only our Tramontane Taste, but that [etc.]. 1784 Cowper Task iv. 533 Virtue is so scarce, That to suppose a scene where she presides Is tramontane, and stumbles all belief. 1756 Charlotte Smith Marchmont IV. 115 ..for a man of fashion had strange tramontane ideas. 1832 Blackw. Mag. XXXI. 102, I beg..if these can be your real sentiments, that you will keep them as private as possible. They are totally tramontane in this part of the world.

2. Of the wind: Coming across or from beyond the mountains; spec. in reference to Italy, Blowing from beyond the Alps: cf. B. 2.

1705 Addison Italy, Pavia 27 That Side of the Church.. which faces the Tramontane Wind. 1794 Sullivan View Nat. IV. 236 Where no tramontane blasts could come from masses of snow. 1869 Daily News 9 Dec., I..was exposed to a tramontane wind as bitter as an oration of Mr. Roebuck, in his most sarcastic mood. 1877 A. J. Ross Mem. A. Ewing vi. 63 A fierce tramontane wind usually blowing.

B. sb. †1. The north pole-star: originally so called in Italy and Provence, because visible beyond the Alps: cf. It. tramontana (Florio 1598), OF. tremontaine (c 1295 in Godefroy). Also fig.

1 3.. E. E. Allit. P. B. 211, I schal tele vp my trone in pe tramountayne. 1604 Edmonds Observ. Cæsar's Comm. 40 Directions, both from the loadstone of reason, and tramontane of experience to shape an easie and successfull course. 1633 Dugdale or Hawtre, Sh. to Ch. Charles, Year 9 The Tramontane which thy faire course directs, Thy Counsels shall approve by their effects.

2. In the Mediterranean and esp. in Italy, The north wind, as coming from beyond the Alps; hence generally, a cold wind from a mountain range. [Now usually in Italian form tramontana.]

1615 G. Sandys Trans. 1. 38 The boysterous Tramontana.. here (Constantinople) most violently blowing. 1662 Evelyn Sylva (1776) 316 [Florence and Rome] exposed to the nipping Tramontans (for so they call the Northern winds). 1721 Bailey, Tramontane.., the North Wind. 1773 Bevoode Sicily (1809) 1 This morning, we have gotten a fine breeze tramontane (or North wind). 1794 Sullivan View Nat. I. 292 The deadening sirrocco wind, which is immediately succeeded by a tramontana, the bise. 1887 Pall Mall G. 21 Mar. 1/6 An excessively cold tramontane blowing.

3. One who dwells beyond the mountains: orig. applied in Italy to foreigners beyond the Alps; also by these nations to the Italians; hence, a stranger, a foreigner; an outsider, barbarian.

1593 Nashe Christ's T. Wks. (Grosart) IV. 184 Let not the Italians call you dulheaded Tramontain. 1622 Bacon Essays, Vil 93 Our Holy Father the Pope likes no Tramontanes [= French] in Italy. 1656 Massinger Gr. Duke Flor. II. ii, A happiness Those tramontanes ne'er tasted. 1642 Fuller Holy & Prof. St. iv. iii. 251 Yet was it a great labour for a Tramountain to climb over the Alps to S. Peters Chair. 1903 Steele Tender Husb. Epil., Till then forgive your Writers, that can't bear You shou'd such very Tramontanes appear. 1732 Fielding Miser II. iii, Oh! child, you are quite a tramontane; I must bring you to like dear Spadille. 1821 Miss L. M. Hawkins Tales of Greece 15 See that horrible tramontane Major Brag who dined here to-day. 1885 Milman Lat. Chr. xiii. ix. VI. 18: The subtle Italians found themselves circumvented by the steady aggression of the Tramontanes.

+ Tramontation. Obs. nonce-wd. [n. of action f. It. tramontare 'to passe ouer the hils' (Florio), tramontar del sole sunset.] Setting (of the sun).

1599 R. Linche Anc. Fict. K 3, [The sun] vpon his tramontation and discent to the antipodes.

+ Tramort. St. Obs. [app. f. L. trā-, trans beyond + mors, mortem death, mortuus dead. Cf. It. tramortire to fall into a swoon.] A putrefying carcass; a corpse.

1508 Dunbar Flyting 167 Thow Lazarus, thow laithly lene tramort. 15.. — Poems xxvi. 83 Mony stynkand fowl tramort. Ibid. xi. 20 Ane vgsum, vglye tramort. 1535 Stewart Cron. Scot. (Rolls) III. 117 Bayth pynd and puir like ony peild tramort.

Tramosericeous (trəmosīrĭ·ʃəs), a. Entom. [f. mod.L. tramosericeus, f. L. trāma Tram sb.[1]: see Sericeous.] Having a satiny lustre, as the elytra of certain beetles.

1826 Kirby & Sp. Entomol. IV. xlvi. 284 Tramosericeous (Tramosericeus). The splendour of satin. Ex[ample] Chlamys Bacca, monstrosa, &c.

Tramp (træmp), sb.[1] [f. Tramp v.[1]]

1. An act of tramping; a heavy or forcible tread, a stamp; hence, an injury to the foot of a horse caused by its setting one foot on another: cf. Tread sb.

1808-18 Jamieson, Tramp.., the act of striking the foot suddenly downwards. 1844 Stephens Bk. Farm II. 307 [To horses] Tramps are dangerous, besides causing blemishes on the foot..they may cause quittor. 1859 Autobiog. Beggar Boy 46 Having my right foot severely wounded on the instep, by the tramp of a horse. 1878 Browning Poets Crotchet lxi, As the reed is crushed beneath its tramp.

2. The measured and continuous tread of a body of persons or animals; hence, the sound of heavy footfalls.

1817 Moore Lalla R., Fire-W. iv, Heard's that thou not the tramp of men Sounding from yonder fearful glen? 1856 Anyoun Bothwell II. iii, Does yet the court-yard ring with tramp Of horse and foot? 1889 Quiller Couch Splendid Spur (1895) 122 The monotonous tramp-tramp through the slush and mire of the roads. 1891 Farrar Darkn. & Dawn xlvi, The tramp of the changing sentries..might be to her the echoing footfall of death.

fig. 1870 Lowell Among my Bks. Ser. (1873) 186 To feel in her ears the dull tramp of the blood.

3. A bout of tramping or journeying on foot; a long, tiring, or toilsome walk or march; a trudge; a walking excursion (colloq.).

1786 Burns Brigs of Ayr 188 If haply Knowledge, on a random tramp, Had shor'd them wi' a glimmer of his lamp. 1822 T. Hewick Mem. 138 This [journey] may be regarded as merely one of my "tramps". 1845 J. Coulter Adv. Pacific x. 120, I continued my tramp round the easternmost part of the island. 1859 Jephson Brittany xvii. 285, I doubted whether I should be in a condition for a tramp of thirty miles. 1873 Tristram Moab ix. 170 Flocks of hundreds of camels slowly following each other in the weary tramp to Mecca. 1898 J. Hutchinson in Arch. Surg. IX. No. 34. 104 Much exhausted by a long tramp in hot weather.

b. On (the) tramp, on one's way from place to place on foot, esp. in search of employment, or wandering as a vagrant.

1760 Life & Adv. of Cat 147 An English vagrant, on the common tramp (as they express it). 1813 T. Martin Circle Mech. Arts 608 When any of them are out of employ, they set out in search of a master, with a sort of Certificate from their last place. This is called going on the tramp. 1866 Dora Greenwell Ess. (1867) 109 Some of the eight are in the army, some in the collieries, some on the tramp. 1888 'J. S. Winter' Bootle's Childr. iii, Just on tramp she seems to have been.

4. A person on the tramp; = Tramper 2; one who travels from place to place on foot, in search of employment, or as a vagrant; also, one who follows an itinerant business, as a hawker, etc.

1664 in Verney Mem. (1904) II. 204 They goo so Lick trampis, so durty, tis a sham to see them. 1790 Grose Provinc. Gloss. (ed. 2), Tramp, a tramp; a beggar. Sussex. 1808 Agric. Repos. III. 43 A certain class of wandering labourers known by the name of tramps. 1828 Craven Gloss., Tramp, a pedlar; called also a tramper, an itinerant tinker, or one who travels with any kind of wares. 1842 Sp. Sanitary Condition of Labouring Classes 257 The houses are stages for the various orders of tramps. 1850 Ramsay Remin. Ser. I. (ed. 7) 157 A wretched woman, who used to traverse the country as a beggar or tramp. 1882-3 Schaff-Herzog Encyc. Relig. Gypsies II. 1, 'Nicholas', who..roamed about in the country, and really were neither more nor less than tramps of the most indolent and impertinent description.

5. In full, ocean tramp: A cargo vessel, esp. a steamship, which does not trade regularly between fixed ports, but takes cargoes wherever obtainable and for any port.

1888 [Remembered in colloquial use]. 1886 Shipping Gaz. 9 July, We think few will deny that the 'ocean tramp' is the product of competition. 1891 M. Roberts in Murray's Mag. June 795 The pure 'tramp' is not seen to its best advantage in seas where ports are in connection with England by wire or submarine cable. 1891 [see Ocean 3 c]. 1893 Naval. Mag. Mar. 212. 1900 F. T. Bullen Men of Merchant Service iii. 21 The lowest type of tramp..is.. built so as to pass Lloyd's surveyor, but without one single item in her equipment that can be dispensed with.

b. attrib., as tramp steamer, vessel, trade.

1889 Shipping Gaz. 14 Jan., The day of building tramp steamers by means of money raised from single ship companies has passed away—for ever, we hope. 1891 Pall Mall G. 21 May 2/1 In many of our tramp boats there is need of great reform in the food supplied to our sailors. 1897 Daily News 26 Jan. 5/6 His complaint was against tramp vessels, which were often undermanned. 1902 Westm. Gaz. 5 June 4/2 Mr. R—..who is largely interested in the 'tramp' trade,..also young Mr. R—,..who is also a large tramp owner. 1903 Ibid. 2 July 12/3 The volume of tramp shipping is showing signs of the whole..Tramp business cannot exist unless accompanied by cheap and good shipbuilding.

6. a. A plate of iron worn under the hollow of the boot to protect it in digging; also the part of the spade, etc., which is pressed upon by the foot.

b. Curling. A piece of spiked iron fastened to the sole of the shoe to give a firm foot-hold on the ice.

1825 Jamieson, Tramp, a plate of iron worn by ditchers below the centre of the foot, for working on their spades. 1892 H. Duncan in Proc. Dumfries. xx. (1902) 266 Gae get you besom, tramps, an' stane, An' join the friendly strife, man. 1844 [see tramp-pick in 7]. 1891 Kerr Maggie o' the Moss 61 (E. D. D.) Wi' tramps on their feet, and besoms in han'. 1894 Northumbld. Gloss., Tramp, the part of a spade on which the foot is placed to thrust:..an iron plate worn by drainers as a guard to the boot in digging.

7. attrib. (see also 5 b) and Comb., as (in sense 4) tramp-printer, -scarer, -ward; tramp-like adj.; tramp-coll, a workhouse coll in which vagrants are lodged; tramp-cow = sense 6 a; tramp-cock, tramp-coll [Coll sb.[8]], a heap of hay compressed by treading; tramp-house, a lodging-house for tramps; tramp-master, a workhouse official charged with the control of the vagrants admitted; tramp-pick (Sc.), a narrow, pointed pick, with a tread, for breaking up stiff ground; tramp-rick, † -ruck, a rick or stack of hay compressed by treading.

1891 Daily Chron. 2 Sept. 5/6 He was taken back to the workhouse, and placed in a tramp coll. 1894 Northumbld. Gloss., Tramp-clog or tramp,..a piece of iron plate..used as a guard where the spade is trodden in digging. 1775 Ann. Reg. II. 129/2 In these cocks, I allow the hay to remain until..I judge that it will keep in pretty large tramp-cocks. 1825 Jamieson, Tramp-coll.., a number of colls or cocks of hay put into one and tramped hard, in order that the hay may be farther dried. Aberd. 1850 [C. Bronte] Burnsie Ann. 40 (E.D.D.) A 'tramp-house. 1899 Sir G. Douglas Jas. Hogg 146 In common tramp-houses, a death is..a godsend. 1904 Daily Chron. 29 Oct. 8/3 A tramp-like personage stands sentinel complacently over a terrific building. 1887 Leamington Spa Courier 30 Apr. 5/6 Persons willing to undertake the duties of *Tramp Master at the Workhouse.

1895 Daily News 5 Oct. 6/6 He maintained that..the trampmaster in Salford, had some knowledge of human nature. 1813 G. Robertson Agric. Surv. Kincardine vi. 238 The 'tramp-pick'..is a kind of lever, of iron, about four feet long, and an inch square in thickness, tapering away at the lower end, and having a small degree of curvature there..It is fitted with a foot step..on which the workman presses with his foot. 1844 Stephens Bk. Farm I. 372 An iron tramp-pick to loosen the subsoil immediately under the mould, and raise the boulder stones..The tramp..is movable, and may be placed on either side to suit the foot of the workman, where it remains firm at about 10 inches from the point, which gradually tapers. 1895 Westm. Gaz. 17 Jan. 8/1 What the..foreman thought he at once 'spotted' as a 'tramp-printer entered the office and asked to be allowed to try his hand at the case. 1790 J. Robertson Agric. Perth 220 In making tramp-ricks, they ought to be secured, by one rope over the top, in the direction of that point from which the most violent winds are expected to blow..or by two transverse ropes, which is the surest way. 1812 Sir J. Sinclair Syst. Husb. Scot. I. 306 After it [hay] has been a short time in small cocks, it ought to be put up in what are called tramp rucks. 1588 Exchequer Rolls Scot. XXI. 412 For making of 36 dawarkis of hay..and for wynning and putting of the samyn in tramp ruckis. 1905 Blackw. Mag. Dec. 817/2 The poor animal fulfils his function as a *tramp-scarer. 1906 Westm. Gaz. 14 May 12/2 [One] who, disguised as a tramp, has spent days and nights in *tramp-wards, lodging-houses, and shelters.

Hence Tramping, the habit or condition of a tramp, vagrancy (U.S.); Trampdom, the 'realm' or sphere of tramps; Trampess, a female tramp; Trampish a., like or like that of a tramp; Trampishly adv., in a trampish manner; Trampism, the practice of going on tramp.

1894 Chicago Advance 3 May, A menace, a nuisance all along the line of their *tramping. 1897 Plantation Missionary (Oberlin, Ohio) Dec. 1 The poor [may be] rescued from pauperism, trampage and crime. 1895 Century Mag. Oct. 945/1 The love of liquor brings more men and women into *trampdom. 1897 Saint Walsh Singer 95 (E.D.D.) She was a *trampess who died in John Pound's barn. 1861 Sala in Temple Bar Mag. III. 299 A *trampish woman with a tambourine. 1890 New York Sun Feb., The depot policeman was showing a trampish-looking man out of the place. 1889 Harper's Mag. Nov. 831/2 The battered folding-doors *trampishly lean against the walls. 1893 Columbus (Ohio) Dispatch 5 Sept., The plans will check idiotic processions and *trampism, and men who will not work will get out of the city. 1894 in Review of Rev. May 608/2, I make no defense of trampism nor vagabondage.

† Tramp, trampe, sb.[2] Obs. Also tremper. [ad. Fr. trempe temper of steel (15th c.), f. tremper to Temper.] Temper of iron or steel. Also fig.

1566 Painter Pal. Pleas. I. 98 b, If you doe euer make any proofe of trial to know of what trampe the arrowes of Loue be. Ibid. 166 b, The King of Boghlet..sent him an excellent harness with a sword of the self same trampe. 1581 Rich Farewe. (Shaks. Soc.) 40 With what trampe bee wee tempered withall. 1581 A. Hall Iliad x. 179 His sword.. with point of perfect trampe. 1684 T. Goddard Plato's Demon 40 Both Respect and Obedience too, will break, when bent with too much Rigor and beyond their Trempe.

Tramp (træmp), v.[1] [ME. trampe-n = Ger., LG. trampen (whence Da. trampe, Swed., Norw. trampa) to stamp :—OTeut. tramp-, and grade of tremp, tramp*, trump* to stamp, tread (whence Goth. ana-tximpan to tread or press upon, also MHG. trumpfen to run, Norw. dial. trumpa to knock or push); a nasalized form of OTeut. trep*, trap*: see Trap sb.[2]]

1. intr. To tread or walk with a firm, heavy, resonant step; to stamp.

1398 Wyclif Prov. vi. 13 He bekeneth with iyen, he trampith [1382 trampithe, Vulg. terit pede] with the foot, he spekith with the fyngur. a 1485 Promp. Parv. 499/1 (MS. S.) Trampyn [v. r. trampelyn], tero. 1570 Levins Manip. 18/40 To Trampe, strepitare. 1865 Kingsley Herew. x, They had passed down the street, trampling and gingling and caracoling. 1877 Talmage Serm. 23 Hearest thou not the trembling of the ground, as the thunders of the judgment-day are tramping on?

2. intr. To tread heavily or with force (on or upon something); to stamp (upon): = Trample v. 3. To tramp on any one's toes (fig.), to infringe or encroach on his rights or privileges; to 'come down upon' with injurious effect; to take undue advantage of.

1596 Dalrymple tr. Leslie's Hist. Scot. I. (S.T.S.) 123 Bewar that ye neuir trampe thairon [on a grave] with 3our fute. 1641 Ferguson's Sc. Prov. (1785) 30 Tramp on a snail and she'll shoot out her horns. 1776 C. Keith Farmer's Ha' xxxviii, The black cow has nae trampet yet Upo' your tates. 1839 Ure Dict. Arts 768 [The hides] are then tramped upon by a workman walking repeatedly from one end of the vat to the other. 1862 Shirley Nugæ Crit. xi. 477 It seemed in practice my right, so long as I do not trample on my neighbour's toes, to speak and think and act as I choose.

3. trans. To press or compress by treading; to tread or trample upon.

Tramp down, to crush down by heavy or vigorous treading; to suppress, to crush. Tramp under one's foot or feet, to tread or walk heavily upon; fig. to treat with contempt.

1533 Gau Richt Way (S.T.S.) 40/4 He suld tramp dwne the held of the serpent. Ibid. 104/17 As the suine trampis the precious peirl onder thair feit. 1565 T. Stapleton Fortr. Faith 86 b, The bamamele, the more ye tread it and trampe it, the sweeter it smelleth. 1581 N. Burne Disput. in Cath. Tracts(ed S.T.S.) 167 Murther of spiritual magistratis..be trainping the memorialis of al religione in gutteris. 1585 Jas. I Ess. Poesie (Arb.) 15 They see the painfull Vigneron pull the grapes: First trampling them, and after pressing now The grenest clusters gathered into heapes.

1844 Stephens Bk. Farm II. 266 A woman is appointed to tramp the straw, [and] spread it regularly over the mow that is forming. 1848 Lytton Harold I. iii, No horse tramps the seeds we have sown for Harold the Earl to reap.

b. To tread (sheets, blankets, etc.) in a tub of soapy water, as part of the process of washing. Sc. 1798 Monthly Mag. Dec. 438/1 To tramp clothes. 1807 Carr Caledonian Sk. (1809) 226 In my way from Hopetoun-house to Lisliithgow I saw the process of tramping, that is of washing. 1842 Aytoun Domest. Econ. (1857) 112 Soak them [blankets, etc.], add to the water in which the linens were washed some soap, and also some of the preparation to produce a strong lather: rub or tramp them, then rinse and dry. 1871 C. Gibbon Lass of Cockaleerie vii, On washing days, it was tucked up above the knees to 'tramp the clues'.

c. refl. Of a horse: To injure itself by setting one foot on another: cf. Tramp *sb.*1 1.

1844 Stephens Bk. Farm III. 847 The shoes usually worn by stallions are very clumsy, and ..are apt to cause him tramp himself.

d. To tramp flounders, to catch flounders by stamping on the wet sand with the bare feet until they rise. dial.

1894 Crockett Raiders (ed. 3) 33, I must..proceed to the flats and tramp flounders for our breakfast.

4. intr. To walk; esp. to walk steadily or heavily; to trudge; to travel on foot; to go on a walking expedition (colloq.). Also tramp it.

1643 in Verney Mem. (1912) I. 302 Now the cold man must tramp on foote. 1720 Humourist 51 Your Hunters of News, who tramp it half a Score Streets, to know who has got a Wife or a Place. 1818 Scott Br. Lammm. xxii, My darling boy, whom I would tramp barefooted through the world for. 1820 Clare Rural Life (1821) 54 We often meant tramping o'er to see ye. 1840 Dickens Barn. Rudge xlvii, These people, who go tramping about the country. 1862 W. J. Stewart in Macm. Mag. May 32 The miner must be prepared to tramp it to that part of the Quesnelle or Cariboo gold-fields.

b. To go about or travel as a tramp. colloq.

1891 in Cent. Dict. 1898 J. Hutchinson in Arch. Surg. IX. No. 34. 102 A man..who had tramped from Leeds in July weather, was seized by a fit on his arrival in London. 1909 Bodleian Mar. 7/1 I'd rather have tramped it than have gone in for any top-hatted occupation.

5. trans. To walk through or over with heavy or weary tread; to traverse on foot, spec. as a tramp.

a 1774 Fergusson Ode to Bee 45 Whether they tramp life's thorny way, Or 'thro' the sunny vineyard stray. a 1809 Holcroft Mem. (1816) I. 23, I and my companions were..tramping the villages to hawk our pedlary. a 1885 in J. Irving West Scott. in Hist. 217 They..tramped the Trongate in pattens and galoche. 1894 Hall Caine Manxman 10 He tramped the island in pursuit of his calling. 1898 P. Hemingway Out of Egypt i. v. 55 He determined..to tramp the streets pretending to look for something to do.

b. To drive into or out of some condition by walking vigorously or steadily. colloq.

1853 Kane Grinnell Exp. xxvii. (1856) 220 Leaving the deck, where I have been tramping the cold out of my joints, I come below. 1892 Field 14 May 732/2 You will tramp your boots and feet into order.

6. intr. To make a voyage on a tramp steamer; also trans. to run (a tramp steamer). colloq.

1899 Cutcliffe Hyne Further Adv. Capt. Kettle viii, He heartily wished himself away back on the steamer, tramping for cargo. Ibid. x, You are making a good thing for us out of tramping the 'Parakeet'.

7. The verb-stem used adxb.: cf. bang, etc.

1796 Scott William & Helen xlvii, Tramp! tramp! along the land they rode; Splash! splash! along the sea.

Hence Tramped (træmpt) ppl. a.; tramped pike, a large rick of hay compressed by tramping: cf. tramp-cock, -rick, Tramp *sb.*1 7; Tra'mping vbl. sb. and ppl. a.; tramping-card, a certificate issued to a member of a trade organization, entitling him to maintenance while tramping in search of employment; tramping-drum, in leather-dressing, a revolving chamber in which hides are saturated with oil or dubbing to make them pliable (Cent. Dict. 1891); tramping-machine: see quot. 1904; tramping-pestle, one of the hammers in this machine.

1660 in Archæologia XI. 100 Armorers Tools. Small Bickernes, Tramping Stakes, Round stakes, Welting stakes. 1791 Mrs. Radcliffe Rom. Forest vi, They were alarmed ..by the tramping of horses near the abbey. 1828 Scott F. M. Perth xii, I am to seek for a tramping and a yelling, that the same roof should cover me and a tramping princess like that. 1844 Stephens Bk. Farm III. 970 The large ricks thus formed are named tramped pikes. 1863 W. C. Baldwin Afr. Hunting v. 112, I left..on a tramping tour into the Zulu country. 1878 E. Schiller Eng. Germ. Fr. Technol. Dict., Tramping-pestle. 1893 J. McCarthy Red Diamonds I. 110 The tramping feet of the policemen. 1897 Webb Industr. Democracy (ed. 2) 153 And 'out-of-work pay', from the old-fashioned 'tramping card' to the modern 'donation' given when a member loses his employment by the temporary breakdown of machinery. 1904 Sci. Amer., Supp. 27 Feb. 23534/3 Tubbing is gradually giving way..to the 'tramping machine'..This machine is adopted from the French apparatus for fulling wool stock. It consists of two wooden hammers, which are moved alternately back and forth or up and down in a suitable receptacle, agitating the skins slowly and constantly..and developing by friction the necessary heat, thus rendering the pelts soft and pliable.

†Tramp, *v.*2 Sc. Obs. rare. Also 7 trampe. [ad. F. tremper to soak, steep (trans. and intr.), temper (iron or steel); also to be implicated (in); by metathesis from temprer*, ad. L. temperāre to temper, qualify, modify; see Temper v., Tremp. Cf. Tramp *sb.*2] trans. To steep, soak; const. in. Also intr. for pass. Also fig.

1568 Skeyne The Pest (1860) 35 Applicand the samin.. vpon the partis pectoralis, with aine lytill scarlace trampit in the decoctionis. 1590 Buchanan Admonitionn Wks. (1892) 24 Wt..hart..full of fellony toung trampit in dissait. 1597 Lowe Chirurg. (1634) 209 Let the end of the pellet or Vvula trampe in it.

Tramper (træmpəɹ). [f. Tramp *v.*1 + -er 1.] One who or that which tramps.

1. a. One who treads heavily, a stamping person. b. One who tramples or treads on clothes, etc. in water, as part of the process of washing them; see Tramp *v.*1 3 b. c. pl. Heavy boots for walking. Sc. a. 1892 Chamb. Jrnl. 11 June 372 He is a quiet neighbour —no slammer or tramper. b. 1725 T. Thomas in Portland P. VI. (Hist. MSS. Comm.) 111 [Here] we had the first sight of the Scotch 'trampers'..These trampers are the women that wash their linen cloth..by putting it into a large tub, into which one or two of them..get in, and instead of making use of hands, trample it with their bare feet. c. 1790 A. Wilson Poems & Lit. Prose (1876) II. 76 Rotten stockings, soleless trampers. 1824 J. Wilson Noct. Ambr. Wks. 1856 IV. 181 Hawick rig-and-fur stockins, and Thirlestane trampers a' studded wi' sparables.

2. A person who tramps or travels on foot, a pedestrian; spec. a tramp, a vagrant.

1760 in Earwaker Manch. Constables' Acc. (1892) III. 119 P4 Three Tramps to Scotland. 1772 R. Graves Spir. Quixote (1783) I. 119 Because Squire Fielding..pretends that Tom Jones was harboured here, we shall be pestered with all the trampers that pass the road. 1818 Scott Pirat. Shetl. xxxiii, D'ye think his honour has matching else to do than to speak wi' ilka idle tramper that comes about the town? 1825 Brockett N. C. Words, Trampers, beggars, who traverse extensive tracts of country, soliciting from door to door. 1829 E. Elliott Hill. Patriarch iii. v, Behold the tramper, with his naked toes! 1832 Boston, Linc., etc. Herald 31 July 2/1 She never named the tramper woman to me again. 1848 Dickens Old C. Shop xix, Passing numerous groups of gipsies and trampers on the road. 1908 Sat. Rev. 30 May 676/2 Tripper or tramper can get as much mountain air and walking as he wants without any Bill.

Tra'm-plate. [f. Tram *sb.*2 + Plate sb.] One of the flat or flanged iron plates used in forming early tramways (in mines or above ground), instead of the wooden or stone 'trams' previously used.

1807 Trans. Soc. Arts XXV. 87 Improved tram-plates for carriages on railroads. 1822 R. G. Cumming Hill & Tram Roads 18 We find the flat rail, or tram plate, almost entirely superseded by the edge rail. 1829 Mechanics' Mag. XII. 132 The sort of rail employed is that called the edge-rail, in contradistinction to the tram-plate. 1904 Brown Brown's Guide to the Grand Junction Railway 7 In the year 1776 Mr. Carr introduced the use of tram-plates in the Duke of Norfolk's colliery at Sheffield. These plates had an upright ledge or flange, from 2½ to 4 inches high, which served to keep the wheels of the trams or waggons on the line. 1891 Greenwell Coal-trade Terms Northumb. & Durh. 16 The tram-plates, or other iron or metal way. 1894 [see Plate sb. 8].

Trample (træmp'l), sb. [f. Trample v.] An act or the action of trampling.

1604 Meeting of Gallants at Ordinarie (Percy Soc.) 13 They ran..in the middle of the street, with such a violent Trample as if the Diuell had bene Coachman. 1641 Milton Reform. II. ad fin., Under the despightfull controule, the trample and spurne of all the other Diuelles. 1820 Clare Vill. Minstr. I. 93 Destruction's trample treads them down. 1856 R. A. Vaughan Mystics xiii. iii. (1860) II. 273 The earth shakes with the trample of a myriad hoofs. 1902 Mrs. Barnes Grundy Thames Camp 143 The elephant is preparing for his final trample [on a man].

Trample (træmp'l), v. Also 5 trampel, 6 -pell. [ME. trampel-en, trample-n, in form a frequentative of Tramp *v.*1 (see -le 3): cf. the analogous MHG., Ger., LG. trampeln.]

1. intr. To tread or walk heavily; to stamp. (In early use app. not differing in sense from Tramp *v.*1)

1382 Wyclif Prov. vi. 13 He trampiith [1388 trampith, Vulg. terit] with the foot. 14.. Beryn 1350 He trampelid fast with his feet, & al to-tare his eere. 1440 Promp. Parv. 499/1 Trampelyn (S. trampyn), tero. 1530 Palsgr. 760/2 The boyes trampell so over my head, that I can nat slepe. 1590 Spenser F. Q. I. vii. 37 His stubborne steed..Who under him did trample as the aire, And chauft that any on his backe should stire. 1600 Haslewood Voy. III. 320 Certaine others..gathered their Annanas in the Indians gardens, trampling through them without any descretion. 1891 Kipling Light that Failed x, (1900) 177 The Kenesu and the Bilgiri were trampling behind him, calling for Dick.

†b. trans. To tread, traverse; cf. Tramp *v.*1 5; also intr. with on. Obs. rare.

1595 A. Fletcher in Fair S. P. Elizs. (1845) II. 476 Walking rightly, Still trampling vertue's path. 1698 Fryer Acc. E. India & P. 128, I was the second Man [that] Trampled on the Top [of the mountain first].

†2. intr. To go or travel on foot; = Tramp *v.*1 4; also to go between, to act as an intermediary: cf. Trampler b. Obs. rare.

1624 Ger Foot out of Snare xiii. 83 [He] hath rambled and trampled many miles abroad to bring nothing home. 1631 T. Powell Tom All-Trades (1876) 135 They [civil lawyers] admit of few or no Solicitors, to trample betweene them and the Client. So that the Fee comes to them immediately and with the more advantage.

3. intr. with on, upon, over. a. lit. To tread repeatedly upon with heavy or crushing steps. Also in indirect passive.

1577 B. Googe Heresbach's Husb. II. (1586) 64 It delighteth to grow by high waies..and to be trode and trampled on. 1687 A. Lovell tr. Thevenot's Trav. II. 86 For making of Terrasses, they lay..half a foot thick of Earth, but which sinks to far less being trampled and tread upon. 1798 Monthly Mag. Dec. 438/1 The Scotch lass..kilts (tucks) her petticoats above her knees and trampless or dances upon the linen, in a tub. 1879 H. Phillips Notes Coins 10 A denarius of Julius Caesar bears an elephant trampling upon a snake.

b. fig. To trust with contempt; to violate the claims or rights of; to domineer or tyrannize over; †to encroach upon the rights of (obs.).

1646 J. Hall Horæ Vac. 93 Trample not on the imperfections of any. 1656 Earl Monm. tr. Boccalini's Advts. fr. Parnass. I. xxiii. (1674) 26 They should be trampled upon by the most barbarous Nations of the earth. 1692 tr. Sallust 152 [They] trample over your Faces magnificently, boasting their chief Pontificates. 1759 Johnson Idler No. 57 ¶ 3 Wit tramples upon rules. 1799 Nelson in Nicolas Disp. (1845) IV. 82, I am jealous of being trampled upon. 1899 Proust Cæsar viii. 79 His friends, were being trampled upon by the populace whom he despised.

4. trans. To tread heavily and (esp.) injuriously upon; to crush, break down, or destroy by heavy treading; also to trample down, under foot.

1530 Palsgr. 760/2 Se howe this way is trampelled. 1596 Mascall Cattle 71 To gather vp more cleane, and not for to trample so much vnder their feete. 1611 Bible Matt. vii. 6 Neither cast yee your pearles before swine; lest they trample them vnder their feet. 1650 Trapp Comm. Deut. xvii. 2 He can as easily blast an oak, as trample a mushrome. 1725 [see Tramper 1 b]. 1813 Scott Rokeby v. xxxiii, Trampling down the dying man. 1833 Hr. Martineau Manch. Strike i. 11 He would trample us under foot if he could. 1853 Warwick Gratius III. 209 The lands of neutrals are not to be trampled. 1878 Browning Poets Croisic xxxvii, As an ox Tramples a flower-bed in a garden.

b. fig.

1583 Babington Commandm. ii. 97 [If] our hearts were not altogether so hard trampled and beaten as they are. 1603 Holland Plutarch's Mor. 1024 To insult over Spartans, and at once to tread and trample under foot the high spirit and reputation of that city. 1675 E. Wilson Spadacrene Dunelmensis 14 Thus they trample all Learning under foot. 1793 Cowper Bill Mortality vii, Who trample over; and the day, Which God asserts His own, Dishonour. 1849 Macaulay Hist. Eng. ii. 1. 287 The party which had been vanquished, trampled down, and..annihilated.

5. trans. To put in or out by trampling or stamping; esp. to trample out (fire); in quot. 1848, to make or cause by trampling.

1573–80 Baret Alv. T 344 To tread or trample out: to wring out, exculco. 1842 Browning Cristina vii, The world's honours, in derision, Trampled out the light for ever. 1848 Thackeray Van. Fair xiii, I don't want Frederick to trample his brains in Italian frolics. 1858 Froude Hist. Eng. III. xiii. 113 The security against a spread of the conflagration was to trample it out upon the spot.

Trampled (træmp'ld), ppl. a. [f. Trample v. + -ed 1.] Beaten down or crushed by trampling; also fig. down-trodden, oppressed.

c 1440 Promp. Parv. 499/1 Trampled, tritus. 1592 Arden of Feversham iv. 1. 3 The trampled pace Wherein he wount to guide his golden car. a 1764 Lloyd tr. Henriade Poet. Wks. 1774 II. 223 The trampled Law had lost its ancient force. 1824 Tennyson Lockeley Hall 156, I was left a trampled orphan, and of all my uncle's wealth.

Trampler (træmpləɹ). [f. Trample v. + -er 1.] One who tramples, in various senses.

1580 Hollyband Treas. Fr. Tong, Trotteur, un villotier, a trotter, a tramper. 1611 Cotgr., Fouleur, a treader (of grapes, &c.), a stamper, or trampler on. 1784 Cowper Task vi. 463 Th' inflexion trampler upon Nature's law. 1826 Byron Ch. Har. III. xx, The trampler of her vineyards.

†b. ? A go-between, intermediary; an attorney. Obs. Cant.

1608 Middleton Trick to Catch Old One i. iv, [He] has been a trampler of the law, sir; and the devil has a care of his footmen. 1614 Middleton & Rowley World Tw at Tennis 784 Pity your trampler, sir, your poor solicitor. 1630 J. Taylor (Water P.) Water Cormorant Wks. III. 13/2 The trampler is in hast, O cleare the way, Takes fees with both hands cause he cannot stay.

Tra'mpling, vbl. sb. [f. Trample v. + -ing 1.] The action of the verb Trample.

c 1440 Promp. Parv. 499/1 Trampelynge, tritura. 1530 Palsgr. 282/2 Trampiynge with fete, marchage. 1577 Googe tr. Heresbach's Husb. I. 45 Your Meddowes..Let them be kept from..trampling of cattle. 1659 Evelyn De la Quint. Compt. Gard. II. 170 Bringing the Dung..(which cannot be done without much trampling on the Soil). 1828 Scott F. M. Perth iii, After some..trampling up and down stairs, Dorothy appeared. 1898 Thurlwall Greece II. xiv. 286 The universal silence was first broken by the trampling of the invaders, on the leaves with which the face of the woody mountain was thickly strewed.

Tra'mpling, ppl. a. [f. Trample v. + -ing 2.] That tramples, in various senses of the verb.

1582 Sidney Astr. & Stella lxxxiv, My Muse..Tempers her words to trampling horses feete More oft then to a chamber-melodie. 1608 Middleton Trick to Catch Old One iv. v, A just judgment ..upon usury, extortion, and trampling villany! 1697 Dryden Æneid III. 854 Trampling feet that shake the solid ground. 1839 Longf. Wreck of Hesperus xvi, The sound of the trampling surf On the rocks.

Trampolin, -ine (træmpəlin), sb. [f. It. trampoli stilts: cf. trampolare 'to go on stilts or high startops' (Florio, 1598).] A performance on stilts; also attrib. Hence Tra'mpolin(e v., intr. to walk on or as on stilts. Also Trampolino: see quot. 1912.

1798 Times 28 June 7/1 Equestrian Performances with Oranges, Forks, Skipping Ropes, Hat, Handkerchief, and a curious Equilibrium with a Hoop and Glass. Wonderful Trampolin Tricks, by Messrs. Smith [etc.]. 1833 M. Scott

Tom Cringle xi, [At the Negro Carnival] Then another tumblification of the whole party... Another trampoline. 1867 H. Kingsley Silcote of Silcoter xiii, She trampolining away to Hampstead with the children. 1912 Anne E. George Montessori Method ix. 141 One of the things invented by Séguin to develop the lower limbs...is the trampoline. This is a kind of swing, having a very wide seat.

Trampoose (træmpūˑz), v. U.S. slang. † Obs. Also trampooze, -pouse, -pouss(e. [app. a capricious extension of Tramp v.[1]: cf. vamoose, vampoose.] intr. To tramp, trudge.

1798 O'Keeffe Wild Oats ii. iii, I'm teach 'em to bring a gentleman's son trampooozing about the country. a 1818 D. Humphreys Yankee in Eng. (Bartlett), Some years ago I landed near to Dover, And seed strange sights, trampoosing England over. 1824 Blackw. Mag. XVI. 566 Mr. Moore was 'trampooz'ing' over America. 1832 J. Neal Pro. Jonathan I. 177 Trampoosing about all night. 1850 Porter Tales of South & West 44 (Bartlett) We trampoused along down the edge of the swamp.

So Trampoo'se sb. rare, a tramp, a trudge.

1840 J. F. Cooper Pathfinder viii, I was with him in one of his trampooses.

Trampsoun, -sown, obs. ff. Transom.

Tram-road (trǽmˌrōud). [f. Tram sb.[2], sense 2 or 4 (more prob. the former) + Road.] Orig., in mining districts, a road having 'trams' or beams of wood, lengths of stone, or later, iron plates or 'rails' laid in two parallel lines, to form wheel-tracks for the easier transport of minerals in 'trams' or wagons; hence, generally, a track for vehicles thus made; = Railway sb. 1; now, in parliamentary language, a special track or narrow railroad for wagons or cars, as distinguished from a tramway laid down for tram-cars on an ordinary road or street. Also attrib.

(The name tram-road has been erroneously stated to be derived from the surnames of Mr. Benjamin Outram, an engineer largely engaged in the construction of tram-roads for traffic, in some parts of the country (see quot. 1800). It is not improbable that, in some locality where tram-roads were a novelty, their name may have been popularized in folk-etymology or by pre-scientific etymologers with that of the engineer. Unfortunately, the legend was recorded as a fact by S. Smiles in his Life of George Stephenson (1857), p. 59, where it was quoted and reproduced in popular publications, and is still widely current, although its absurdity, etymologically and otherwise, was clearly pointed out in 1882 by Professor Skeat in his Dictionary of English Etymology.)

[Cf. 1793 Act 33 Geo. III, c. 96 An Act...for making...Rail Ways and Stone Roads from such Canal to several Iron Works and Mines. 1799 Commons Jrnl. LIV. 613/2 A Bill for the making of Ways or Roads, usually called Railways or Dram Roads. Ibid. 664/1.] 1800 Agreement 18 Dec. in J. Lloyd Old South Wales Iron Works (1906) 143 The Monmouthshire Canal Company shall...make a good and sufficient tramroad, according to the plans of Benjamin Outram, ...Engineer, from the Tredegar Iron Works, to join their Canal near Risca Church. 1804 Act 44 Geo. III, c. 55 (title) An Act for making and maintaining a Railway or Tramroad from the Town of Swansea, into the Parish of Oystermouth in the County of Glamorgan. 1818 (title) Observations on the Proposed Railway or Tram-road from Stockton to the Collieries, by way of Darlington. 1824 T. G. Waring Civil & Trans Roads 7 Sometimes the decided preference given to tram roads, that with the exception of about five miles...the whole are upon the tram plate principle. 1838 Civil Eng. & Arch. Jrnl. I. 328/1 Certain Improvements in the Construction of Railroads and Tramroads to facilitate the ascent and descent of Hills and inclined Planes. 1839 Ure Dict. Arts 982 The corves descend along the tram-roads. Ibid. 904 In the dip-mine a double tram-road is laid. 1843 Penny Cycl. XXV. 118/1 Sometimes a road prepared for the easy transit of trams or waggons, by the insertion, in its surface, of smooth beams of wood, blocks of stone, or plates of iron, as wheel-tracks. 1846 R. Ritchie Railways 12 Several tracks of continuous stone rails, usually termed tram roads, have been constructed. 1852 Wiggins Embanking 63 Good tram-road sleepers may be had at much less money. 1880 Disraeli Endym. lxii, Lancashire with...its tramroads and its railroads. 1881 Young Em. Man his own Mechanic § 1091 The amateur will find his scaffold-boards very handy as a temporary tramroad for his barrow to run over. 1885 Law Times Rep. LI. 583/1 The tram-road upon which the steam motor was being driven. 1901 [see Tramway 1 b].

b. fig.

1859 A. Sedgwick in Darwin's Life & Lett. (1887) II. 248 After a start in that tram-road of all solid physical truth. 1869 G. Meredith R. Feverel xxiii, The young man got on the tramroad of his passion, and went ahead.

Tramway (trǽmwēˑ). [f. Tram sb.[2] + Way: cf. Tram-road, and railroad, railway.]

1. A track of parallel rails (originally flat planks of wood, afterwards lengths of stone or plates of iron), forming wheel-tracks for vehicles; a tram-road. b. Now spec. A track with rails flush with the road surface, laid in a street or road, on which tram-cars are run, for the conveyance of passengers. (For the distinction between tramway and tram-road in parliamentary language, see quot. 1901.)

1825 E. Mackenzie Hist. Northumbld. I. 147 note, From recent experiments...it has been ascertained that upon an edge-railway one horse can work with a much greater load ...than upon a tram-way. 1830 Mechanics' Mag. XIII. 73 (title) Stone tramway in the Commercial Road...Tramway ...has been hitherto generally used to designate that description of iron railway in which flat rails or tram-plates level with the ground are employed. 1840 Penny Cycl. XX. 33/2 Stone tramways consist of wheel-tracks formed of large blocks of stone, usually granite, the surface of which is made so smooth as to offer very little resistance to the rolling of the wheels. 1846 R. Ritchie Railways 12 Tracks of continuous stone rails...In London...such tramways for short distances have long been in general use. 1854 W. H. D. Longstaffe Darlington 359 Wooden tramways still continued to be used...to almost our own day. 1861 Smiles Engineers II. 201 The adoption of tramways all round the quays. 1862 Ibid. III. 68 He [Trevithick] had the wooden tramway taken up in 1808, and a plate-way of cast iron laid down instead. 1882 Rep. to Ho. Repr. Proc. Met. U. S. 449 The ore is delivered by cars on a tramway, the descending car drawing up the empty one.

b. 1860 G. P. Train Street Railw. 3, I was surprized to find the progress made [in U.S.] in what the Americans term Street Railways, [and] the English tramways. 1863 P. Barry Dockyard Econ. 272 So early as 1801, Rennie reported upon the project of an iron rail or tramway between the east and west ends of London. 1864 Musgrave Ten Days in Fr. Parsonage I. i. 31 We still travel [more cheaply] on the French tramway. 1883 Pall Mall G. 14 Sept. 4/1 The first long electric tramway in the world will be opened to-day in county Antrim...The Portrush electric tramway. 1901 Standing Orders Ho. Lords, Priv. Bills 7 In these Orders...the term 'tramway' means a tramway laid along a street or road; the term 'tramroad' means a tramway laid elsewhere than along a street or road. 1911 Edin. Rev. July 52 Tramways pulse and jingle over the old Tournut Causeway.

2. transf. A cable or system of cables on which suspended cars travel. U.S.

1872 Raymond Statist. Mines & Mining 318 The tram-way consists of two wire cables, each of which is six-tenths of an inch in diameter, extending from the lower adit on the Stevens lode to the base of the hill...All the ore will be sent to the land surface on the mountain by the tram-way.

3. attrib. and Comb., as tramway car, company, draught (Draught sb. 1), driver, man; tramway plate, a plate-rail, = Tram-plate; tramway terms, the terms on which a municipality is legally able to acquire an existing tramway belonging to a private firm or company: see quot. 1902.

1825 Tramway plate [see Plate sb. 8]. 1872 Gentl. Mag. Sept. 359 Asphalte pavements and tramway cars are modern blessings. 1874 Ibid. Apr. 454 In the great suburban boulevards the tramway cars make locomotion alike swift, cheap, nasty, and dangerous. 1877 Gen. C. E. Gordon Let. 19 Nov. (in Pearson's Catal. (1888) 17), Camels will do well enough for tramway draughts. 1885 Pall Mall G. 22 Sept. 11/1 The concession allotted to the so-called tramway steamers [at Venice] is given for five years' time. 1894 Westm. Gaz. 6 July 6/2 He had always advocated fair play in dealing with the Tramway Companies. 1897 Daily News 7 Apr. 2/2 The tramway companies did not desire their hours and wages altered. 1901 D. B. Hall & Ld. A. Osborne Sunshine & Surf i, Down one of whose funnels, they say, two tramway cars can run abreast. 1902 A. Chamberlain in Daily Chron. 22 Dec. 8/7 Right to purchase...plant...useful for Post Office purposes on what are commonly known as 'tramway terms'—that is, at its fair market value as plant in use.

Hence Tra'mway v., trans. to furnish with a tramway; intr. to travel by a tramway or tram.

1872 Ruskin Fors Clav. iv. 24 The roads themselves beautifully public-tramwayed perhaps—and with gates set open enough for all men. 1900 N. Brit. Daily Mail 13 Feb. 4 Happy the man...who can exchange the dull prose of walking or of tramwaying for the poetry of motion...skating.

† Trana'tion. Obs. rare. [n. of action f. L. trānāre to swim across: see -tion.] A swimming or passing across, a crossing; also, a passing into another form, a transformation, metamorphosis.

1654 Gayton Pleas. Notes II. v. 52 The Metamorphosis, translation, or rather tranation of Arthur into a Crow. Ibid. III. iii. 84 In his Tranation he lookt about, and saw under him (through a Cloud) a Stately Lord upon Rosinante, no bigger than a Toad upon a Ducking-stoole. 1664 Power Exp. Philos. III. 159 The Magnetical Flowers...finding the grain...of the Stone to lye fit for their Tranation, do channel through to the opposite part of the Stone. 1719 Glanvill. Angel. Nova, Tranation. a swimming or flying over, a crossing athwart, a piercing.

Trance (trans), sb.[1] Also 4-6 transe, 4-7 traunce, 5-7 trauns, trans, 6 trawnce, 6-7 traunss. [a. F. transe fem., in OF. transe m. and f., passage, passage from life to death (St. Alexis, 12th c.), great apprehension or dread of coming evil (15th c. in Littré); verbal sb. f. F. transir to pass, depart (esp. from life), to die (12th c.), also (later) to benumb or be numbed by fear or cold, ad. L. transīre to pass over, cross, f. trans across + īre to go. (Cf. Sp. trance danger, last stage of life, Pg. trance, transe a dreadful circumstance; cf. It. transito † a passage or going over; also a trance' Florio).

Palsgrave has † Trance a sickenesse, trance', and Cotgr. has 'also, a trance or sowne; a great astonishment, amazement, or appallment', but these senses do not appear in Littré or Godef.; perh. they were Anglo-Fr.; otherwise the chief mod. sense of the Eng. word does not appear in F.]

† 1. A state of extreme apprehension or dread; a state of doubt or suspense. Obs.

c 1374 Chaucer Troylus II. 1257 (1306) Troylus...That lay, as doth bese loueres, yn a traunce By twixen hope and derk desesperance. 1390 Gower Conf. III. 321 This cherles herte is in a trauncе, As he which drad him of vengeance. 1412-20 Lydg. Chron. Troy IV. 1536 je verray custom & je pleyn vsaunce Of his loveris, hangyng in a trance. c 1477 Caxton Jason 46 b, She was in a trauncе what she shold saye to her. 1523 Ld. Berners tr. Froiss. I. cccxliii. 542 Thus these maters hanged in a trauncе. 1577 Grange Golden Aphrod. etc. P ij b, In this trauncе of troubles my trembling tongue was partly enioyned to silence.

2. An unconscious or insensible condition; a swoon, a faint; in mod. use, a state characterized by a more or less prolonged suspension of consciousness and inertness to stimulus; a cataleptic or hypnotic condition.

c 1386 Chaucer Frankl. T. 353 And longe tyme he lay forth in a trauncе. a 1533 Ld. Berners Huon lxii. 215 She fell downe in a trauncе, more lyke to be dead than alyue. 1604 Shaks. Oth. iv. 1. Stage direct., [Othello] Falls in a Trauncе. 1617 Moryson Itin. I. 249 Most of the nights he had lien in a trance. 1715-20 Pope Iliad XII. 462 Hector rose, recover'd from the trance. 1821 Byron Two Foscari I. i, Happy to escape to death By the compassionate trance, poor nature's last Resource against the tyranny of pain. 1852 H. Rogers Eclipse of Faith (1864) 296 Paulus thinks that Christ was only in a trance when he seemed to be dead. 1857 Dunglison Dict. Med. s.v. Ecstasis, In catalepsy, there is...complete suspension of the intellectual faculties. This last condition is in general described as trance. 1861 Geo. Eliot Silas M. vii, When Silas Marner was in that strange trance of his. 1899 Syd. Soc. Lex., Trance, catalepsy; ecstasy. The hypnotic state: a prolonged abnormal sleep, in which the vital functions are reduced to a very low ebb, and from which the patients cannot ordinarily be aroused.

3. An intermediate state between sleeping and waking; half-conscious or half-awake condition; a stunned or dazed state.

c 1386 Chaucer Somptn. T. 908 The lord sat still, as he were in a trauncе, And in his herte he rolled vp and down. c 1420 † Lydg. Assembly of Gods 15 And as I so lay half in a trauncе, Twene slepyng and wakyng he bad me aryse. Ibid. 2.63 All thys I saw as I lay in a trauncе. c 1530 Ld. Berners Arth. Lyt. Brytt. (1814) 245 That noble courte...is all in a trauncе, in a maner halfe a slepe. 1549 Compl. Scot. xv. 123, I dee daly in ane trance. 1656 W. Montague Accomplt. Wom. 17 [They] cannot imagine pensiveness to be any thing but such a trans, as mad men or sick persons are in. 1757 Gray Bard 13 Glos'ter stood aghast in speechless trance.

b. A state of mental abstraction from external things; absorption, exaltation, rapture, ecstasy.

1434 Misyn Mending Life xii. 228 With swetnes of gods lufe as [he] wer rauischyd in trans, meruelously wondrand. 1594 Spenser Amoretti xxxix, Whylest rapt with joy resembling heavenly madnes, Myselfe was ravisht quite as in a trance. 1598 Bacon Succ. Medit., Impostors, His...conversation towards God is full of passion, as and of transports [misspr. transions]: orig. plena excessus, et zeli, et extasis]. 1632 Lithgow Trav. I. 32 This imaginary heavenly trance. 1696 Phillips (ed. 5), Trance, an Extasy, a Ravishment or Transportation of the Mind, when the Soul is as beside himself. 1756-7 tr. Keysler's Travs. (1760) II. 238 The saint is represented lying in a trance. 1817 Moore Lalla R., Lt. of Hareem Wks. (1824) 313 As, in a kind of holy trance, She hung above those fragrant treasures.

4. attrib. and Comb., as trance-coma, -medium, -sleep, -state; trance-bound, -like adjs.

1825 J. Neal Bro. Jonathan I. 137 Waking out of a trance-like revery. 1849 H. Mayo Truths Pop. Superstit. v. 82 So are there three degrees of trance-sleep...The middle grade deserves to be called trance-coma. 1878 Emerson Misc. Papers, Fort. Reputn. Wks. (Bohn) III. 389 The trance-mediums...exasperate the common sense. 1886 H. R. Haweis Christ & Chr., Light of Age v. 120 Delphi!...the priests ...uttered what a modern spiritualist would call trance-speeches; they became...what are known as trance mediums. 1903 F. W. H. Myers Hum. Personality I. 5 The exceptional trance-history of Emmanuel Swedenborg.

Trance, transe (trons), sb.[2] Sc. Also 6-7 transse, 6-9 trans. [Known from 16th c.: origin obscure. The sense is satisfied by L. transitus, which had the concrete sense 'passage, way through', as well as the abstract 'act of passing through or over'. But L. transitus could hardly have given Sc. transs, trans without passing through French, and the concrete sense is not recorded in OF.] A passage between buildings, or across between two streets; an entry, an alley, a close; also, a passage into, within, or through a house.

1545 in Pennecuik Blue Blanket (1756) 34 Lands...lyand in the burgh of Edinburgh, upon the South-side of the high street thereof, betwixt the trans of the vennel called Hair's close, and the trans of the vennel called Borthwick's-close. 1555 Burgh Rec. Edinb. (1871) II. 214 The Frer Wynd held an alter syde of the trans of the Hie gait. a 1578 Lindesay (Pitscottie) Chron. Scot. (S.T.S.) I. 333 Quhilk was left waist of befoir, as transses and throw passages. 1632 Lithgow Trav. x. 461 Carried...to the end of a Trance or stone-Gallery. 1689 Torriano, Passaggio..a trance from one room to another. a 1670 Spalding Troub. Chas. I (1851) II. 327 [He] caused draw his horses out of their stables into the trans. 1825 J. Wilson Noct. Ambr. Wks. 1855 I. 156 He had hardly put his hat on a peg in the transe. 1835 Hogg Tales & Sk. (1837) V. 222 So proud of 'squiring Lady Jane Gordon down the stairs and along the trance. 1883 Chamb. Trnl. 210 From this single street [of Lerwick] steep lanes or trances lead up to the ridge.

fig. 1652 Rutherford Lett. (1862) I. 97 A little sight of that dark trance you must go through ere you come to glory. 1645 — Tryal & Tri. Faith Ded. (1845) 4 Time is but a short trance: we are carried quickly through it.

b. attrib. and Comb., as trance-door, -window.

1811 W. Aiton Agric. Surv. Ayrs. 114 The cattle...entered by the same door with the family; the one turning to the one hand, by the trans-door to the kitchen, and the other turning the contrary way by the heck-door to the byre or stable. 1880 J. F. S. Gordon Chron. Keith, etc. 66 Several juveniles had...attempted to escape by 'the Trance window' on to the roof of the Weigh House. 1890 J. Service Thir Notandums v. 25 At the trance door Provost Painch's fit took the body.

Trance, sb.[3] dial. Also trauce. [f. Trance v.[2]] ? A skip, a dance; applied ironically, as in 'a fine trance', to a long tedious walk or tramp, a long tiring round.

c 1746 J. Collier (Tim Bobbin) View Lanc. Dial. Wks. (1862) 40 I've had stich o' trance this Morning as eh neer had e'meh live. a 1800 Peggie Suppl. Grose, Trance, a tedious journey. Lanc. 1825 Chesire Gloss., Trance, a tedious journey. 'He led me a fine trance'.

†Trance, sb.[4] Obs. [a. Sp. trance, formerly transe danger (see Trance sb.[1]), the original word in all three quots.] Danger, peril.

1588 Parke tr. Mendoza's Hist. China 356 They were themselves in the same trance and perill [en el mismo transe y peligro], and as nigh their death. Ibid. 378 A very good warning vnto all..to flie from putting themselues into the like trance. 1612 Shelton Quix. ii. viii. (1619) 58 This thy Knight, who..finds himselfe in this dangerous trance [en este riguroso transe].

Trance (trons), v.[1] Forms: see Trance sb.[1] [In sense 1 a. Off. transir to pass away, to die: see Trance sb.[1]; in sense 2 f. Trance sb.[1]]

†1. intr. a. To 'pass away', to die. b. To swoon, faint. c. To be in extreme dread, doubt, or suspense. (In some early quotations these senses are difficult to distinguish.) Obs.

1340 Hampole Pr. Conse. 8158 [Pai salle seme, whether þai lyg or stand, Als men in transyng, ay dreadand. a 1350 Assumpt. Mary 325 in Horstm. Altengl. Leg. (1881) 116 þan scho transed þare als fast, And þe saul fra þe body past. 14.. Tundale's Vis. 41 As he yn a transynge lay, Hys swole was in a dredefull way. 1530 Palsgr. 761/2, I trawnce, I fall in a trance or swounyng, je me transis...I feare me..he wyll dye, for he trauneth Ilhes, je men doute..quil mourra, car il se transit souuent. c 1600 Burel Pilgr. in Watson Coll. II. 48 Perplexit and vexit Betwixt houp and dispair, Quhyls transing, quhyls pansing, How till eschew the snair. 1632 Lithgow Trav. i. 5, I transing flye, I fall, I housering scale.

2. trans. To throw into a trance or a similar state; + to stupefy; to entrance, enrapture. Chiefly poet.

1597-8 Bp. Hall Sat., Defiance to Envie 33 And trance herself in that sweete extasey. a 1619 Fletcher, etc. Q. Corinth ii. iii. Why, where am I? How am I trauc'd and moap'd? i' th street—Heaven bless me. 1800 Moore Anacreon xvii, Mingle in his jetty glances Power that awes, and love that trances. 1817 Shelley Rev. Islam v. xvii, I trod as one tranced in some rapturous vision. 1855 Tennyson Maud ii. iv. iii, When I was wont to meet her In the silent woody places..We stood tranced in long embraces.

fig. 1830 Tennyson Mariana ii, When thickest dark did trance the sky. 1865 J. Thomson Sunday of the River iv. iii, What Sabbath peace doth trance the air! 1876 D. Stevenson in Gd. Words 687 The world was tranced into a slumberous hush.

Hence Tra·ncing vbl. sb. and ppl. a., entrancing.

1340, 14.. [see sense 1]. 1868 Mrs. Browning Aur. Leigh v. 512 That caressing colour and trancing tone Whereby you're swept away and melted in the Sensual element. 1867 F. W. H. Myers St. Paul 52 God with sweet strength, with terror and with trancing Spake in the purple mystery of dawn. 1873 E. Brennan Witch of Nemi, etc. 146 Let darkness make complete its trancing joy.

Trance (trons), v.[2] Obs. exc. dial. Forms: 4-9 traunce, 6- trance (also dial., 9 trawnce). [Origin and history obscure: see also Trounce. (The first quot. is also doubtful in form and sense.)] intr. To move about actively or briskly; to prance or skip; in later use applied ironically to moving over the ground with effort or speed; implying more rapidity than tramp.

c 1374 Chaucer Troilus iii. 641 (690) There was no more to speken [v.r. skipen, schepe] nor to traunce [MS. Harl. 3943 taunce]. 1390 Gower Conf. II. 72 He [Achelons] torneth him into a Bole..The ground he sporneth and he tranceth, Hise large horne he avanceth. a 1656 Rolland Crt. Venus i. 192 The younkeir youir wantonnilie did trance. a 1685 Fletcher, etc. Fair Maid Inn v. i, Trunce the world over You shall never purse up so much gold as when you were in England. 1867 E. Waugh Factory Folk xxii. 195 Thea'rt noan fit to trance up an' deave o' this shap.

Tranced (transt, poet. tra·nséd), ppl. a. [f. Trance v.[1] + -ed[1].] In a trance; entranced. Also fig.

1605 Shaks. Lear v. iii. 218 There I left him tranced. a 1665 Sir K. Digby Priv. Mem. (1827) 44 A tranced angel. 1808 Scott Marmion vi. iv, Where oft Devotion's tranced glow Can such a glimpse of heaven bestow. 1854 Keats Hyperion i. 72 A tranced summer-night. 1854 Grace Greenwood Haps & Mishaps Tour Europe 62 One of his Madonnas so saintly beautiful in the tranced joy of her divine maternity.

Hence Trancedly (tra·nsédli), adv.

1832 Tennyson Arab. Nights xviii, Then stole I up, and trancedly Gazed on the Persian girl alone. 1855 W. Morris in Mackail Life (1899) I. 59 The wren sings merrily, But the lark sings trancedly. 1893 Nat. Observer 22 July 246/2 To commune trancedly with the woodland spirit.

Trancefrl (tra·nsfúl), a. rare. [f. Trance sb.[1] + -ful.] Full of trances; entrancing.

a 1883 A. Maclean in Mem. 120 That witchful, tranceful vision's fled. 1895 J. Cook in Chicago Advance 1290/1 Whip-poor-will, Let thy tranceful, tearful tune Charm the listening stars and moon.

†Tranch, v. Obs. Also 6 traunche. [a. F. tranch-er to cut: see Trench v.] trans. To carve (a sturgeon or other fish).

1513 Bk. Keruynge (W. de Worde) A j b, Traunche that sturgyon. 1688 R. Holme Armoury III. 78 Tranch that Sturgeon. 1840 H. Ainsworth Tower Lond. II. xxxix, In the old terms of his art, he leached the brawn,..tranched the sturgeon, undertranched the tunny-fish, tamed the crab, and barbed the lobster.

‖ Tranchant, a. Also 6 tranchaunt. [= F. tranchant (trɑ̃ʃɑ̃) cutting: see Trenchant.] Early form of Trenchant; also from 18th c. a loan-word from French; esp. in fig. sense: = Trenchant 2; also of colours, glaring, crude.

a 1529 Skelton Agst. Garnesche iii. 238 Your sworde ye swere, I wene, So tranchaunt and so kene. 1776 H. Walpole Let. to W. Mason 18 Feb., Modest as he is tranchant and sly as Montesquieu without being so recherché. 1822 Edin. Rev. Feb. 475 The Notes are written in a flippant, lively, tranchant and assuming style. 1832 L. Hunt Poems Pref. 22 Mind and tranchant sword, which demanded stoutness in the sheath. 1841 Thackeray and Funeral Napoleon iii, The raw tranchant colours of the new banners.

‖ Tranche. [= F. tranche (trɑ̃ʃ), f. trancher to cut: see Trench. Now only as a loan-word from French.] A cutting, a cut; a piece cut off, a slice.

c 1500 Melusine xi. 43 The said Coraine, where as great tranchis [A. 50 trenchis] or keruyng was made within the harde roche. 1893 P. Fitzgerald in Month July 337 Huge baskets, in which were huge tranches of bread.

‖ Tranché (trɑ̃ʃe), a. and sb. Also 7-8 tranche. [F. tranché, pa. pple. of trancher to cut, Trench v.]

A. adj. Her. Party per bend: see Party a. 3.

1661 Morgan Sph. Gentry II. i. 3 Joseph's Coat,..divided as Adams Shield and Checquered with Black and White, or Tranche with averse and different providences. 1704 J. Harris Lex. Techn. I, Tranche, a Word used by the French Armorists...Our English Heralds Blazon it.. per Bend Counterchanged. 1725 Coats Heraldry, Tranché, in the French way of Blazon is us'd absolutely, without any addition to denote that honourable Partition which we call Party per Bend Dexter. c 1828 Berry Encycl. Her. I. Gloss. 288 Crests Humbld. Her. xxiv. (ed. 3) 316.

B. sb. The edge of a coin milled or inscribed, to prevent clipping.

1697 Evelyn Numism. vii. 225 The Circumscription about the Tranché or Edge.

‖ Tranchefer (trɑ̃ʃfɛ̃r). Obs. or arch. rare. [F., f. tranche vb. imper. cut + fer iron.] A name given to a sword.

c 1530 Jo. Bermine Arth. Lyt. Bryt. (1814) 208 And Arthur drewe out Clarence, his good sworde;..also called traunchfer, that is for to say, cutter of yren. 1831 Scott Ct. Robt. xiii, We will go..and teach these Easterns how to judge of a knight's sword, by a single blow of my trusty Tranchefer.

Trancum, variant of Trankum Obs.

Trane, obs. form of Train.

[†Tranect. Obs. Known only in the passage quoted, and prob. only a misreading or misprint of traiect, Traject, in It. traghetto a ferry.

1596 Shaks. Merch. V. iii. iv. 53 Bring them..Vnto the Tranect, to the common Ferrie Which trades to Venice.]

Traneen (trɑ́n·n). Irish. Also tran-, traw-, thra-, thrawneen. [Anglicized spelling of Ir. traithnín, trathnan, a little stalk of grass (O'Reilly).] The crested dog's-tail grass, Cynosurus cristatus. (Often taken as the type of something of little or no value: cf. Rush sb.[2] 2).

[1808 J. White Ess. Grasses Irel. 154 (Brit. and Holl. Plant-n.) Trathnin.] 1837 S. Lover Rory O'More ii, You dare n't stand before any one with sich a thraneen as that in your fist. 1839 W. Carleton Fardorougha iii, It's a bargin,..I know a traneen. 1848 S. C. Hall Ireland II. 74 She never cared a traneen for him, soul or body, and went off with a richer man. 1884 Lays & Leg. N. Irel. 20 Sorra a thrawneen you'll get from us more. 1899 Blackw. Mag. Mar. 372 But she'd not a traneen to her fortune.

†Tra·ngam. Obs. Also 7 trangame, 7-8 -gham, -gum. [Origin obscure: the first two quots. suggest that it was a fictitious law-term. Obs. after 1719, but recalled by Scott.

In quot. 1712 misquoted by Johnson as trangram, which erroneous spelling has been followed by later dictionaries, some of which further associate it with Tangram (known only from 1805). Cf. Tranquillo.]

An odd or intricate contrivance of some kind; a knick-knack, a puzzle; a toy, trinket; a gewgaw, trumpery ornament. Applied to anything which the speaker views with contempt.

a 1658 Cleveland Engagement Slated 21 When neither Arts nor Arms can serve to fight, And wrest a Title from its Law and Might, Must Malice place the 'Trangum' and make class The Scholars? 1672 Eachard Gibbs' State Ind. 21 A Cause is a certain pack or aggregate of trangams, which being all packed up and chorded close together, they may then truly be said in Law to constitute a compleat and essential pack. 1696 Wycherley Pl. Dealer iii. 1, But go, thou Trangame, and carry back those Trangames, Which thou hast stol'n or purloin'd. 1678 Mrs. Behn Sir P. Fancy iv, iii, Get you gone, and finefy your knacks and tranghams. 1699 Oldham Sat. Jesuits iv. (1682) 85 These (pretended sacred relics) are the Fathers Implements, and Tools, Their gawdy Trangums for inveigling Fools. [1686 Goad Celest. Bodies iii. ii. 399 He, who looks upon Architecture and Fortification to be only Trangum-ics, is a Wise Man.] 1712 Arbuthnot John Bull iii. vi, Hey day, what's here? What a Devil's the meaning of all these Trangams and Gimcracks, Gentlemen? 1719 J. Roberts Spinster 349 If they should rise from the dead now, and see you dressed up in your painted trangums, and East India rags, while all the poor Spinners hung about you crying for bread and work. 1820 Scott Abbot xix, When you usher..began to inquire what Popish trangam you were wearing...This comes of carrying Popish nick-nackes about you.

†Trangdi·llio. Obs. rare. [Origin unknown: some suggest a mistake for twangdillio, f. Twang.] The twanging sound made by a musical instrument.

a 1704 T. Brown Pind. Petit. to Lds. in Counc. Wks. 1730 I. 62 Even d'Urfey himself, and such merry fellows, That put their whole trust in tunes and trangdillioes, May hang up their harps and themselves on the willows.

Trangle (tra·ngl). Heraldry. [a. obs. F. trangle (Cotgr. 161 f.), var. of tringle: see Tringle.] A diminutive of the fess; a bar or barrulet.

1725 Coats Heraldry, Trangle is the Diminutive of a Fesse, by us commonly call'd a Bar. 1894 Parker Gloss. Her., Trangles,..used by French heralds for bars and barrulets when their number is uncertain, instead of burelles.

Trank (trænk). Glove-making. Pl. 2 pd. F. tranche a cutting.] An oblong piece of kid or other skin from which a glove is to be cut out; also, a glove-shape cut from this, before being sewn.

1862 Mrs. H. Wood Mrs. Hallib. i. xxvi, The cutters cut the skins into tranks (the shape of the hand in outline) with the separate thumbs and forgits [= side-pieces of fingers]. 1894 Times 17 Aug. 9/4 Glove tranks, with or without the usual accompanying pieces. 1913 G. O. Fardon Let. to Editor, Two tranks, 2 thumbs, and 6 fourchettes are required to make a pair of gloves.

‖ Trankeh, tranky (tra·nke, -ki). Also 8-9 trankey. [a. Pers. ترنکی trānkeh, name in Persian Gulf for a pearl-diver's net, or perh. its adjectival deriv. trānkī, applied elliptically to a pearling-boat.] A small undecked vessel used in the pearl-fishery in the Persian Gulf.

1727 A. Hamilton New Acc. E. Ind. I. vii. 57 And then got Trankies (or Barks without Decks) and shipt what belonged to the English for Muskat. Ibid. 59 A sufficient Number of small Vessels, called Trankies, for their Transports. 1757 J. H. Grose Voy. E. Ind. 28 Their trankys..are a kind of uncouth vessels, of seventy to a hundred tons. 1869 Latest News 17 Oct., The wind had fallen very light, and the trankies had taken in their sails, and were being impelled along slowly by means of the sweeps.

†Tra·nkum. Obs. Also trancum. [Altered form of Trinkum, as in the reduplicated trinkum-trankum: perh. influenced by Trangum. Chiefly used by Scott.] A personal ornament; a trinket.

1819 Blackw. Mag. V. 209 I'd be troubled to put on my trancums. 1822 Scott Nigel xxi, Come, my good boy..never mind these trankums. 1824 — St. Ronan's xviii, That shawl must be had for Clara, with the other trankums of muslin and lace, and so forth. 1829 — Doom Devorgoil iii. i, I had much ado To get these trankums on.

†Tranlare·on. Obs. A word app. erroneously altered by Puttenham from translate or tralale*, or the Latin equivalents. Used in one place in the sense 'to transpose'; in another in the sense 'to repeat a word in the shape of its various derivatives or cognates': cf. Traduction 4.

In the latter sense, Day, three years earlier, had used translate, which in the sequel is used also by Puttenham himself. Collins app. took the word from Puttenham. So Tranla·cer: see quot.

[1586 A. Day Eng. Secretary II. (1625) 86 By translating of one word into diuers formes, as thus: What manhood call you this, so vnmanly o deale in those actions that especially appertaineth to a man? Here is this word manhood translated into vnmanly and to man.] 1589 Puttenham Eng. Poesie II. (Arb.) 124 (End of cancelled pages) The same letters being by me tossed and tranlaced fue hundreth times. Ibid. iii. xix. 223 Then haue ye a figure which the Latines call Traducti, and I the translacer: which is when ye turne and tranlace a word into many sundry shapes as the Tailor doth his garment, and after that sort do play with him in your dittie..Ye see how..this word life is translaced into line, liuing, liuely, liuelode: and in the latter rime this word wit is translated into weete, weene, wotte, witlesse, witty and wise: which come all from one originall. 1617 Collins Def. Ep. Ely ii. vii. 273, I cast mine eyes vpon Theodores owne texte, not as you trenlace and translate it at pleasure.

Trannel, obs. f. Treenail; var. Trainel Obs.

†Tranret, tranet. Sc. Obs. Some piece of horse harness: see quots.

1504 Acc. Ld. High Treas. Scot. II. 433 Item to Johne Lethane, sadillar, for..ane trannet, ane molet bit tane for the Quenis stabile. 1506-7 Ibid. III. 209 Item, for ane tramtranet for hors to keip thaim fra struking,..iij s.

†Tranont, -oy·nt, v. Sc. Obs. Also 5 -ount, -ownt. [Derivation unascertained.] intr. To shift one's position; esp. to do this rapidly and stealthily; to make a forced march, to steal a march upon. Hence †Tranon·nting vbl. sb.

1375 Barbour Bruce VIII. 508 Schir Amery..vth sic tranonting..thoucht he suld suppriss þe kyng. Ibid. xviii. 360 Kyng robert..Tranontit [E. -ountyt, Harl. -oynted] swa on hym ane nycht, That, be the morne that it wes day, Cummyn in-till playn feld war thai. c 1425 Wyntoun Cron. VIII. xxiv. 3777 Til Anande in tranoownityngne Þai coyme on þaim in þe dawynge. c 1450 Holland Howlate 515 Sanssnib..tranoynit with a trayne apon that trewe knycht. c 1470 Henry Wallace VIII. 1564 Apon the morn the ost, but mar awys, Tranountyt north apon a gudlye wys. 1501 Douglas Pal. Hon. II. iii, Thir ladyis..Vprais at last, commandand till tranoynyt.

Tranquil (træ·ŋkwil), a. Also 7 tranquill. [ad. L. tranquillus quiet. Cf. F. tranquille (1470 in Godefroy Compl.).] Free from agitation or disturbance; calm, serene, placid, quiet, peaceful. a. Of the mind, or affairs.

1604 Shaks. Oth. III. iii. 348 Farewell the Tranquill mindes; farewell Content. 1623 Cockeram, Tranquill, quiet, peaceable. 1755 Mrs. Delany in Life & Corr. (1861) III. 528, I thank God all is tranquil again, after many fears and alarms. 1791 Mrs. Radcliffe Rom. Forest i, Adeline appeared more tranquil than she had yet been. 1794 —

Myst. Udolpho xliii, She had sat..watching in tranquil melancholy the gradual effect of evening over the extensive prospect. 1872 Howells Weird. Tourn. (1892) 66 They sat down for the tranquiller observance of the wharf.

b. Of the sea, the weather, a landscape, etc.

1748 Anson's Voy. I. viii. 83 Relieved by approaching a warmer climate and more tranquil seas. 1807 Crabbe Library 52 The treasures of this tranquil scene. 1836 Emerson Misc., Nature Wks. (Bohn) II. 143 In the tranquil landscape, man beholds somewhat as beautiful as his own nature. 1861-75 J. H. Bennet Winter Medit. I. v. 102 The ordinary notion of the Mediterranean is that of a blue and tranquil ocean lake.

c. Of things or actions: Steady, regular, even.

1796 Kirwan Elem. Mint. (ed. 2) I. 434 Crystallized by tranquil fusion and slow refrigeration. 1827 Faraday Chem. Manip. xiii. (1842) 293 The heating power of the tranquil flame is much economised, by using a jacket. 1836 Russell Preterita I. vi. 298 How those winding roads steal with their tranquil slope from height to height.

†Tranquil·le. Obs. rare. [sb. use of F. tranquille : see prec. Cf. L. tranquillum peace, quietness.] = Tranquillity.

1412-20 Lydg. Citeven. Troy II. 1084 pis addre..awakyd Priamus, And..Made him wery to lyven in tranquille. Ibid. 1882 To trouble, allas, pe calm of his tranquille.

Tranquil·lify, v. nonce-wd. [f. L. tranquill-us + -(i)fy.] trans. = Tranquilize 1.

1683 E. Hooker Pref. Pordage's Mystic Div. 92 Whom.. the allwise, allmight and most mercifull God mai..sanctifi, tranquillifi and felicifi.

†Tranquil·llitate, v. Obs. rare—1. [f. L. tranquillitāt-em (see next), or obs. F. tranquilliter (Cotgr.) : see -ate 3 7.] trans. = Tranquilize.

1657 Tomlinson Renou's Disp. 629 Theriack complects all antidotes, which..tranquillitate diseases.

Tranquillity (trænjkwi·lĭti). Also 4-7 with y for i, l for ll, -ie, -lee, -ye, -ite for -ity; 7-9 tranquillity. [a. F. tranquillité (12th c. in Hatz.-Darm.), ad. L. tranquillitāt-em, f. tranquill-us Tranquil : see -ity.] The quality or state of being tranquil; freedom from disturbance or agitation; serenity, calmness; quietness, peacefulness. a. Of the mind or affairs.

c 1374 Chaucer Boeth. II. pr. iv. 29 (Camb. MS.) By tranquillite [v. r. -tee] of thi sowle. 1432-50 tr. Higden (Rolls) IV. 29 Lyvenge in peace and tranquillite after that tyme. 1535 Coverdale Prov. xi. 23 The iust labboure for peace and tranquylite. 1562 Bullein Pl. Pseudo-martyr 7 That Court which is, forum spirituale, considers the publique tranquility. 1651 Robbes Leviath. I. vi. 29 There is no such thing as perpetuall Tranquility of mind, while we live here. 1838 Thirlwall Greece II. xl. 40 A great step toward the restoration of tranquillity. 1866 Geo. Eliot F. Holt i, The tiny birds..hopped about in perfect tranquillity.

b. Of the weather, the elements, etc.

c 1450 tr. De Imitatione III. xxvii, Sey to..pe norpen wynde, 'blowe bot'; & pere shal be gyt tranquillite. 1545 Joye Exp. Dan. Ep. Ded. A ij, Therfore is this tranquilite of the sea for that lite tyme, as a trwce taking in the winter, called the halcions dayes. 1748 Anson's Voy. I. viii. 82 We fully expected..to have experienced the delicious tranquillity of the Pacifick Ocean. 1823 Wordsw. 'A volant Tribe of Bards', The intense tranquillity Of silent hills, and more than silent sky. a 1854 H. Reed Lect. Eng. Lit. x. (1855) 356 Bearing in its own deep tranquillity, the reflection of the tranquillity of the heavens.

Tranquillization (trænjkwĭlaizĕ·ʃən). [f. next + -ation.] The action of tranquillizing.

1797 W. Taylor in Monthly Mag. IV. 335 The conquest of Jerusalem, once accomplished, it would be natural for the Assyrian court to foster its tranquillization. 1850 Hv. Martineau Hist. Peace II. v. v. 256 How confidently did they..conclude that the tranquillization of Ireland was achieved! 1868 Bright Sp. Ireland 14 Mar. (1868) 208, I was satisfied that was not the path of tranquillization.

Tranquilize (trænjkwilaiz), v. Also 8-9 -ilize. [f. Tranquil + -ize, or ad. F. tranquilliser (15-16th c. in Hatz.-Darm.).]

1. trans. To render tranquil; to calm, soothe.

1623 Cockeram, Tranquillise, to quiet or pacifie. 1748 Thomson Cast. Indol. II. xix, Joys without a name, That, while they rapture, tranquilize the mind. 1782 Miss Burney Cecilia viii. ii, Tranquilize, I conjure you, your agitated spirits. 1835 Willis Pencillings I. iii. 22 It tranquilizes the mind as well as the body. 1836 Gentl. Mag. Sept. 323/2 He [Lord Stanley] denied that the Bill..would 'tranquilize' Ireland, as it was called. 1862 Tyndall Glac. I. xi. 78 A cigar which he lighted for the purpose tranquilized him.

2. intr. To become tranquil or quiet.

1748 Richardson (Clarissa) (1811) V. vii. 79 I'll try, as I ride in my chariot, to tranquilize. 1797 Anna Seward Lett. (1811) IV. 396 How much better for England..that he sons should tranquilize. 1814 Byron Corsair II. iv. 46 'Twas but a moment's peevish hectic past Along his cheek, and tranquillised as fast.

Hence Tranquilizing vbl. sb. and ppl. a.

1801 Southey Thalaba III. xxiii, The old Man tranquilly Up his curl'd pipe inhales The tranquillizing herb. 1850 Lynch Theo. Trinal v. 80 Then [I] beheld the tranquilizing moon-rise. 1873 Hamerton Intell. Life I. iii. (1876) 19 The tranquilizing of a sort of uneasiness.

Tranquilizer (trænjkwilaizər). [f. prec. + -er 1.] One who or that which tranquillizes.

1822-36 De Quincey Confess. (1862) 241 A tranquilliser of nervous and anomalous sensations. 1891 T. Hardy Tess I, Nightfall..came as a tranquilizer on this March day.

‖Tranquillo (tranjkwĭ·lō), adv. Mus. [It. tranquillo adj. Tranquil.] In a tranquil style or tempo; tranquilly.

1854 J. Schubert's Mus. Hand-bk. (ed. 4), Tranquillamente, Tranquillo, calmly, peacefully, tranquil. 1889 Grove Dict. Mus., Tranquillo, an Italian term, meaning 'calmly', 'quietly'. 1905 Westm. Gaz. 22 Apr. 12/1 Resting will thou Largo play, Presto or Tranquillo?

†Tranquillous, a. Obs. rare. Also 7 erron. tranquilious. [f. L. tranquill-us Tranquil + -ous.] = Tranquil.

1638 Heywood Rape Lucrece Wks. 1874 V. 169 He..that may live in tranquilious pleasures. 1656 S. Holland Zara (1719) 57 He was no foe to a tranquillous Subsistence.

Hence †Tranquillousness (Bailey, 1727, vol. II).

Tranquilly (trænjkwĭlli), adv. [f. Tranquil + -ly 2.] In a tranquil manner; calmly, quietly.

1801 [see tranquillizing]. 1841 Lane Arab. Nts. I. 73 Tranquilly to sit by a mortal enemy. 1847 C. Bronte Jane Eyre xi, The reason they rest tranquilly in their graves now. 1851 Hawthorne Snow Image, etc., Gt. Stone Face (1879) 46 More years sped swiftly and tranquilly away.

Tranquillous. rare. [f. as prec. + -ness.] Tranquil condition; = Tranquillity. 1818 in Todd.

Trans, obs. form of Trance.

Trans-, prefix. The Latin preposition trans, 'across, to or on the farther side of, beyond, over', also used in comb., (1) with verbs, and their derived sbs. and adjs., e. g. transīre to go across, transitio, transitor, transitus, transitīvus, transitōrius; transferre to bear across, transfer, translātus, translātio, translātor, translātīvus, translātīcius; (2) with adjs. derived from sbs. (more strictly with sb. + adjectival suffix), as transfluvālis beyond the river, transfluvial, transmarīnus beyond sea, transmarine, transmontānus beyond the mountains, tramontane, translimitānus beyond the boundary or frontier; esp. with adjs. in -ānus, -īnus from names of mountains, rivers, or districts, as transalpīn-us, transaustrīn-us (Auster south wind), transdānubiān-us, transpadān-us (Padus Po), transrhēnān-us (Rhēnus Rhine), transtiberīn-us, transtigrītān-us. Before initial s, the s of trans- was generally but not always dropped, as in transspicēre to look through, tran-scendēre to transcend, tran-scribēre to transcribe, tran-suēre to stitch through. In a number of verbs and their derivatives, trans- was reduced before a consonant to trā-, e. g. trādēre to hand over, tradūcēre to lead across, trājicēre or trāicēre to throw across, trājectus a crossing, trūnāre to swim across.

In mod. L. the number of these compounds was increased, and verbs formed also on sbs., as transaccidentāre to transpose the accidents, transubstantiāre to transmute the substance, transnocturē to pass the night, transvādre to change the path or course of. They are also numerous in the modern Romanic languages. Many of the English words came through French; in OF. the inherited form was in tres-, as trespasser to trespass; the later adapted form is in trans-.

In English, trans- occurs in compounds representing those already used in Latin, and in others formed analogously from L. elements; also in compounds the second element of which is an English or other non-Latin word. The chief uses are as follows:

1. With the sense 'across, through, over, to or on the other side of, beyond, outside of, from one place, person, thing, or state to another': in verbs and their derivative sbs. and adjs. representing L. compounds, or formed etymologically on Latin elements; e. g. transcolate, transcribe, transcript, transcription, transport, transportation.

2. in verbs, etc. formed on Eng. vbs., adjs., or sbs., as transboard, transearth, transfashion, tranship, trans-shape, transtime.

3. in adjs. and their derivatives, representing L. adjs., or formed analogically on L. words, as transmarine, transmural; also on English sbs. or adjs., as trans-border, -desert, -frontier, -polar. These may have the sense 'across, crossing', or 'beyond, on the other side of', or both senses, as trans-oceanic. Special groups are:

4. in adjs. with the sense 'beyond, surpassing, transcending', as transhuman, -material, -rational.

5. in adjs., scientific terms (chiefly anatomical), with the sense 'through, across' (the thing denoted by the sb. implied), as transapical, -frontal, -ocular, -uterine.

6. in substantives with the sense 'transverse', as trans-muscle, trans-stroke. (rare.)

All words belonging to these six groups are treated in their alphabetical places as main words. In the two following groups trans- combinations are formed at pleasure, and examples only are here given with illustrative quotations in chronological order

7. in geographical adjs., formed on the names of rivers, seas, mountains, territories, etc., with the sense 'situated or lying beyond or on the other side of', as trans-Adriatic, -Alleghanian, -Altaian, -Baikal, -ian, -Cantine (the river Cam), -Caspian, -Caucasian, -Danubian, -Egyptian, -Euphrat-es (-esian, -ic), -Gangetic (Ganges), -Grampian, -Indus, -Indine, -Jordan, -ic, -Juran (Mt. Jura), -Mersey, -Mississippi, -an, -Mosan (R. Meuse), -Severn, -Tiberine (also -Tevertne, lt. trastevertno), -Trentane (R. Trent), -Ural, -Volga, -Zambesian, etc. (See also Transatlantic, Trans-Pacific, Transkei, Transleithan.) Also from names of planets, Trans-Martian, -Neptunian, -Uranian, and in humorous nonce-use, as trans-bedpost.

1612 Drayton Poly-olb. viii. 400 The Clees, like louing Twinnes,..that stand Trans-Seuerned, behold fair England tow'rds the rise. a 1641 Br. Mountagu Acts & Mon. (1642) 144 Satrapes of the Transeuphratesian Countreyes. 1655 Fuller Hist. Camb. (1840) 146 Monks' College..stood on the trans-Cantine side, an anchoret in itself, severed by the river from the rest of the University. 1756 C. Lucas Ess. Waters II. 113 The transmosan territories of Liege. 1797 Camb. Univ. Calendar 18 That there cannot be a majority of transtrentane, or men born north of the Trent in the seniority. 1802 Ranken Hist. France III. i. iii. 30 Burgundy Transjurane..now fell under the superiority of Germany. 1815 J. Adams Wks. (1856) X. 168 Our trans-Alleghanian States, in patriotism,..are at least equal to any in the Union. 1817 Colebrooke in Trans. Linn. Soc. XII. 352 Between the cisgangetic and transgangetic regions. 1827 G. S. Faber Sacr. Calend. Prophecy (1844) II. 81 The transdanubian and transeuphratic conquests of Trajan. 1836 F. Mahony Rel. Father Prout, Barry (1859) 503 Of an old transatlbertine family, he claimed with the trastevertini unconditionated pedigree. 1840 Milman Hist. Chr. I. 177 On the remote border of his transjordanic territory. 1845 S. Austin Ranke's Hist. Ref. II. 445 The generals now, under the eyes of the pope, demanded..as security for payment, the Transteverine city. 1854 Milman Lat. Chr. IV. ix. (1864) II. 424 Leo revenged himself by severing the Transadriatic provinces..from the Roman patriarchate. 1861 J. G. Shepard Fall Rome i. 22 Pannonia was nearly equivalent to trans-Danubian Hungary. 1876 Blackie Lang. & Lit. Scott. Highl. 40 The quick sensibilities of trans-Grampian philologers. 1878 Gladstone Prim. Homer I. 812, 3 Homer..gives an account of the trans-Gangetic Pygmæans. 1888 Times 9 Oct. 4/1 These outsiders..will also have to settle peacefully in the Russian Transcaspian. 1898 Westm. Gaz. 14 Feb. 2/2 Glimpses of the Jordan valley and the trans-Jordan hills. 1900 Mary C. Wilson Crane Crete xiii. 305 A Campaign in trans-Himalayan lands. 1903 Sir H. H. Johnston in Times 17 Feb., A Government Department..dealing with foreign (i.e., trans-Zambesian) labour.

1892 R. Grant Hist. Physic. Astron. xii. 166 M. Valz, of Marseilles, writing to M. Arago in 1835,..made the following..remarks relative to the probable existence of a Trans-Uranian planet. Ibid. 185 On the and September, 1846, he [Mr. Adams] transmitted his further results first researches on the Trans-Uranian planet. 1899 Nature 27 Mar. 481/2 The Trans-Neptunian Planet..Observations made at Washington in 1850 of this supposed planet. 1885 Clerke Pop. Hist. Astron. 98 He [Olbers] supposed that both Ceres and Pallas were fragments of a primitive trans-Martian planet.

1864 Miss Cornwallis in Sat. Rev. XVIII. 463 Fray tell me about the trans-bedpost regions; my whole concern at present is the cis-bedpost—a very narrow domain.

8. in geographical adjs., formed as in 7, with the sense 'passing across, crossing', as in trans-African, -Algerian, -American, -Andean (-ian, -ine), -Arabian, -Asiatic, -Australian, -Balkan, -Manchurian, -Mersey, -Mongolian, -Niger, -Pyrenean, -Saharan, -Siberian, etc. Many of these occur also in sense 7.

1880 Nature 4 Mar. 424/2 The future Transalgerian Railway Company. 1884 Notes on Bks. (Longman's) 31 May 247 The Transandine exploring and surveying expedition of 1871-2. 1886 L'pool Courier 16 Jan., Assisting in opening the trans-Mersey Railway. 1896 Daily News 30 Dec. 7/1 The trans-Siberian railway, one of the greatest engineering works of the century. 1898 Chambers's Jrnl. 11 Apr. 8/2 8000 feet above sea-level, the highest point to which the Trans-Andean railway had been carried. 1901 Daily Chron. 23 Nov. 3/3 The reported adoption..of the trans-American route for the conveyance of the Australian mails. 1903 Ibid. 17 Mar. 6/6 The project of a Trans-Pyrenean railway is thoroughly practicable. 1907 Westm. Gaz. 26 Oct. 16/3 This trans-African voyage of Mr. Savage Landor. 1908 Edin. Rev. July 146 The trans-Niger railway, destined to..open up to commerce a magnificent agricultural region.

Pronunciation. In the pronunciation of trans- in combination, great diversity prevails locally and individually in cultivated speech. This diversity affects both the vowel a and the consonant s.

Historically, the a is short (æ) as in man, banns, and it is so treated in nearly all pronouncing dictionaries. This pronunciation is retained in the north and west of England, in Scotland, in the United States, and by many speakers even in London and its surrounding area. But the general tendency in the London area to substitute for short (æ) before certain consonant groups (as in chance, branch, demand, chant, pass, fast, ask) the long vowel (ā) or something intermediate between (æ) and (ā), also affects trans-; so as to make its prevalent pronunciation (trāns) in this area, and hence to extend this pronunciation among individuals or groups in other districts. This diversity of pronunciation of original short a is compendiously indicated in this dictionary by the conventional symbol (ɑ), and this is accordingly used to indicate the varying pronunciation of the vowel in the trans- combinations. Under the stress, primary or subordinate, this (ɑ) means (æ) or (ā); when unstressed, it approaches or reaches (ă) or (ā), and sinks in some common words or in colloquial utterance to (ə), e.g. in transfer vb. (trɑnsfə̃·ɹ; trænsfə̃·ɹ, trɑ̃nsfə̃·ɹ; trɑ̃nsfə̃·ɹ).

The s of trans- is regularly (s) before a breath consonant, as in transcolate, transcha·nge, transfer, transfe·r, transpi·re; also, of course, where s coalesces with initial s of the second element, as in transcend, transcribe, transude. In the South of England many use (trɑns-) in all trans- combinations, irrespective of what consonant or vowel follows. But many, even in the south, use (trɑnz-) before a liquid, or nasal, or any voiced consonant, and before a vowel, and this is more or less recognized by recent orthoepists. This is specially the case with the word transact and its derivatives, where (trɑnzæ·kt) appears to be the more prevalent pronunciation. It is to be observed also that the ordinary English school pronunciation of Latin trans, as a preposition and in combination, is (trænz) rhyming with banns, plans, and that many classical scholars retain this pronunciation in English in combinations in which the identity of the prefix with Latin trans is specially obvious, as in trans-alpine, trans-danubian, trans-atlantic, trans-Pacific, trans-Jordan, trans-Caspian, trans-Siberian. In this work (trɑns-) is given as the usual form (except in transact, etc.); but in words in which good authorities recognize (trɑnz-) as an alternative, this is indicated by adding (,-z-).

For the diverse treatment of a and s in these combinations, cf. Walker, Smart, Ogilvie (Annandale), Cassell's 'Encycl. Dict.', Webster, 'Century Dict.', Funk's 'Standard Dict.', and esp. Schröer Neuengliisches Sprach-Aussprachewörterbuch, Heidelberg, 1912, and Michaelis and Jones A Phonetic Dictionary of the English Language, Berlin, London, etc. 1913, in which the subject is treated by skilled observers.

Transaccidentation (trɑnsˌæ·ksidənte̞ˈ·ʃən, -z-). [ad. Schol. L. transaccidentātio (Duns Scotus: the attribution to P. Lombardus in Marbeck is a mistake due to confounding commentary with text); after transubstāntiātio.] A transmutation of the accidents of the bread and wine in the Eucharist, as distinguished from transubstantiation, in which the substance alone is changed.

[c 1299 Duns Scotus Sent. iv. xi. 1 Q. Transitio accidentis in accidens, magis diceretur transaccidentatio, quam transubstantiatio.] 1581 Marbeck Bk. of Notes 1101 Long after Boniface the third..did Petrus Lombardus [see above] bring vp these terms of Transmutation, and Transaccidentation. 1861 Pearson Early & Mid. Ages Eng. 443 Such fables really involve a completely different doctrine, which might be called transaccidentation, but which no church has ever yet deliberately set forth. 1874 Fiske Cosmic Philos. I. 123 note. The schoolman..asserted that the individuality of the bread (its breadiness) was exchanged for the individuality of Christ (his humano-divinity)...It was a nominal, not a phenomenal change; the latter would have been [not transaccidentation, but] transaccidentation'.

Transɹacheroˈntic, a. [Trans- 7.] Lying beyond Acheron, a fabled river of the infernal regions; cf. Trans-Stygian.

1854 Fraser's Mag. XLIX. 88 His confused and monstrous transacheronitic realm of life-after-death.

Transact (trɑnzæ·kt, trɑns-), sb. Now dial. Also 9 Sc. -ack, -ao'. [f. Transact v., or ad. L. transactum a thing completed, a transaction.] A transaction.

1659 New Lords Winding-Sheet 4 The Transacts of Colonel John Barksteed hath been taken into consideration. 1871 W. Alexander Johnny Gibb xii, We sit owre lang gin ance we begin an' clatter about our nain transacks. 1887 D. Grant Sc. Stories (1888) 69 The followin' conversation wud tak' place in the coorse o' transac'.

Transact (trɑnzæ·kt, trɑns-), v. [f. L. transact-, ppl. stem of transigēre to drive through, accomplish, f. Trans- + agēre to drive, do, act.]

1. intr. To carry through negotiations; to have dealings, do business; to treat; also, to manage or settle affairs. Now rare.

1584-5 Reg. Privy Council Scot. III. 723 Quha..transactit and agreit with Mr. Patrik Galtis..and be vertew thairof hes obtenit collaticun. 1623 Bingham Xenophon 79 The Trapezuntines..gaue the Grecians gifts of hospitalitie... They transacted likewise for the next neighbour Colchans. 1658-9 in Burton's Diary (1828) IV. 13 The last Parliament would never transact with them as Lords. We were turned out for it. 1683 Cave Ecclesiastici, Athanasius 109 They transact Synodically in separate Assemblies. 1750 Johnson Rambler No. 74 ¶ 2 That..we may secure the love of those with whom we transact. 1872 Symonds Introd. Stud. Dante 266 Dante denounced the enemies of his country in his Comedy, and refused to transact with them.

b. fig. (Usually dyslogistic.) To have to do, to compromise.

1888 Athenæum 24 Nov. 693/1 The plan..of 'transacting' with political convictions by acquiescence in, if not actually serving, governments the legitimacy of which the politician in his heart..denies. 1890 Sat. Rev. 4 Jan. 15/2 In his criticism..he seems to us a little to 'transact' with cant, or even not quite to have cleared his own mind of it. Ibid. 15 Nov. 571/1 He does not make the slightest attempt to 'transact' with naturalism or explain away the supernatural.

2. trans. To carry through, perform (an action, etc.); to manage (an affair); now exp. to carry on, conduct, do (business).

1635 Hewlin Sabbath ii. (1636) 190 Provided..that the change be so transacted, that it produce no scandall or confusion in the Church of God. 1649 Cromwell Let. 18 Nov. Whilst these things have been thus transacting [= being transacted] here. 1709 Steele Tatler No. 94 ¶ 1 In the Country wherein the Circumstances were transacted. 1751 Johnson Rambler No. 100 ¶ 1 Ignorance of what is transacting among the polite part of Mankind. 1776 Adam Smith W. N. i. ix. (1869) I. 99 A country fully stocked in proportion to all the business it had to transact. 1817 Jas. Mill Brit. India II. iv. v. 211 Affairs of no trivial importance were transacting in the Council.

3. To deal in or with; to traffic in, negotiate about; to handle, treat; to discuss. arch.

1654 Fuller Ephemeris Parl. (title-p.), Containing the severall Speeches, Cases, and Arguments of Law transacted between his Majesty and both Houses. 1712 Arbuthnot John Bull ii. iv, To have these usurers transact my debts at coffee-houses, and ale-houses; as if I were going to break up shop. 1767 S. Paterson Another Trav. I. 206 Great sums are transacted. 1848 Thackeray Van. Fair xxvi, While these delicacies were being transacted below.

†4. To carry, hand, or take over; to transfer. [Cf. med.L. transactāre = transferre (1242 in Du Cange).]

1621 Elsing Debates Ho. Lords (Camden) 71 The cause to be brought before us by habeas corpus cum causa, or the case to be transacted to the Kinge, and he to determyne yt. 1653 Manton Exp. James i. 13 God's transacting our sin upon Christ is most satisfying to the Spirit. 1889 Science 29 Nov. 371 A paper..from which the following passages are transacted.

Hence Transa·cted, ppl. a., Transa·cting vbl. sb.

1686 tr. Chardin's Trav. Persia 20 In all their Transacting together. 1752 J. Louthian Form of Process (ed. 9) App. 266 For transacted Processes and Decreets, the one Half of what they would have amounted to if extracted. 1854 J. Guthrie Life J. Arminius Pref. 2 There are other..transacted lives, which not to know..is a loss to the world. 1876 H. K. Wilson Hippocratism v. 69 There is the direct and personal transacting of a soul with the Saviour.

Transa·ct, ppl. a. rare—[1]. [ad. L. transact-us, pa. pple. of transigēre: see Transact v.] Transacted. (Const. as pa. pple.)

1854 Syd. Dobell Balder xxviii, Night by night, when ..that mysterious sorrow is transact Unseen, and there is weeping in the air.

Transaction (trɑnzæˈkʃən, trɑns-). [ad. L. transactiōn-em, n. of action f. transigēre: see prec. Cf. F. transaction (13th c. in Godef. Compl.).]

1. Roman and Civil Law. The adjustment of a dispute between parties by mutual concession; compromise; hence gen. an arrangement, an agreement, a covenant. Now Hist. exc. as in 3 c.

c 1460 Oseney Reg. 84 A stryfe..i-stered bytwene thabbot of Eynesham and N. clerke of Karsynton and thabbot of Oseney...In this maner in owr presence, be transaction, to be decidid. 1611 Cotgr., Transaction, a transaction, accord, agreement, attonement. 1615 in Buccleuch MSS. (Hist. MSS. Comm. 1899 I. 167 [The Spice Trade] is appropriated to the Hollanders as well by right of Conquest as by Transaction. 1631 Massinger Emperor East iii. iv, In this transaction, Drawn in express and formal terms, I have Given and consigned into your hands..my dear Eudocia! 1785 A. Gib Sacr. Contempl. i. 31 A covenant is a transaction between two parties.

2. The action of transacting or fact of being transacted; the carrying on or completion of an action or course of action; † the accomplishment of a result (obs.).

1655 Nicholas Papers (Camden) II. 286 His carriadge in the transaction of the peace betweene the people of these countryes and Cromwell. 1658 Phillips, Transaction, a finishing, or dispatching any businesse. 1782 Miss Burney Cecilia iii. v, After the transaction of this affair. 1844 L. Woods Ch. Govt. ii. 44 Any direction of Christ or..of his apostles respecting the transaction of business in the church.

3. That which is or has been transacted; an affair in course of settlement or already settled; a piece of business; in pl. doings, proceedings, dealings. Also fig.

1649 Clarendon Hist. Reb. i. § 18 Discoursing of the Court of France, and the transactions there. a 1656 Br. Hall Serm. 2 Pet. i. 10 Wks. 1837 V. 578 In our transactions with men, when we have an honest man's word for a bargain, we think it safe. 1726 Shelvocke Voy. round World Contents 1 Our most remarkable transactions there. 1735 Doddridge Hymn, 'O happy day, that fixed my choice' iii, 'Tis done; the great transaction's done; I am my Lord's, and He is mine. 1834 L. Ritchie Wand. by Seine 192 Every marriage, every baptism, every fête, is a public transaction. 1863 Mary Howitt F. Bremer's Greece I. i. 19 Every remarkable transaction obtained its stone-tablet on the Acropolis.

†b. A physical operation, action, or process.

1662 South Serm. (1697) I. 49 There is not the least transaction of nature and motion in the whole man. 1794 J. Hutton Philos. Light 261 Inertia is the law of action and passion by which motion is translated from one body to another..and in this transaction, the rule observed is the actual weight of the bodies.

c. Theol. In reference to the Atonement, 'transaction' has been used in senses ranging from 1 to 3. (In sense 1 chiefly in deprecation.)

1861 Asp. Thomson Aids to Faith viii, 351 There is the danger lest the Atonement degenerate into a transaction between a righteous Father on the one side, and a loving Saviour on the other, because in the human transaction from which the analogy is drawn two distinct parties are concerned. 1876 Mozley Serm. viii. (1879) 169 Now I have nothing to do here with the mystery of this transaction; the question is the morality of it—how the act of one person can alter God's regards toward another. 1901 Moberly Atonement & Personality viii. 138 They seem to make atonement a transaction, historical, final, consummated long ago:—a transaction (I do not ask at this moment between whom; but..) far anterior to, and wholly outside of, the reality of ourselves. 1901 Sanday Life Christ in rec. Res. v. ix. (1907) 249 So much at least seems to follow..that the Scriptures do recognize a mysterious something which, in our imperfect human language, may be described as a 'transaction'.

†4. The action of passing or making over a thing from one person, thing, or state to another; transference. Obs.

a 1608 Sir F. Vere Comm. 69 Her Majesty being in hand with the States to make a transaction from the old treaty to the new. 1623-28 Daniel Hist. Eng. (1621) 16 Putting on each others apparel and armes..as if they made transaction of their persons each to other. c 1645 Howell Lett. (1650) II. ii. 20 The transaction of these Provinces which the King of Spaine made as a dowry to the Archduke Albertus. 1691 Sir P. P. Blount Ess. v. 127 Did not Commerce..by a continual Motion and Transaction render it [the world] wholesome, and profitable.

†5. The action of dealing with or handling a subject; treatment. Cf. Transact v. 3. Obs. rare.

1646 Jer. Taylor Apol. Liturgy Pref. § 26 Those..Epistles and Gospels before the Communion..are Scriptures of the choicest, and most profitable transaction.

6. pl. The record of its proceedings published by a learned society. Rarely in sing. Cf. Proceeding vbl. sb. 2 c.

1665 (title) Philosophical Transactions: Giving some Accompt of the present Undertakings, Studies, and Labours of the Ingenious in many considerable Parts of the World. Ibid. I. 75 In the first papers of these Transactions. a 1680 Butler Rem. (1759) I. 14 They all..Agreed to draw up th' Instrument, And..To print it in the next Transaction. 1805 Phil. Trans. XCV. p. iii, To reconsider the papers read before them, and select..such as they should judge most proper for publication in the future Transactions. 1877 A. B. Edwards Up Nile Pref. 8 The pages of scientific journals and the transactions of learned societies.

Transactional (trɑnzæˈkʃənäl. trɑns-), a. [f. prec. + -al; cf. F. transactionnel (Littré).] Of, pertaining to, of the nature of, or involving a transaction; taking place in fact or reality.

1858 Bushnell Serm. New Life 94 A relation wholly transactional. 1894 Thinker V. 155 The transactional revelation of principles and forces which are essential and eternal.

b. Theol.: see Transaction 3 c.

1901 Moberly Atonement & Personality ix. 218 What the thought of the present day will not sum up as the 'transactional' theory of the atonement. 1901 Sanday Life Christ in rec. Res. v ix. (1907) 244 The 'transactional' theory [of the Atonement]. 1905 Speaker 4 Feb. 440/2 The Atonement understood in an entirely forensic or 'transactional' sense.

Hence Transa·ctionally adv., by means, or by way of a transaction; practically.

1865 Bushnell Vicar. Sacr. iv. i. (1868) 452 The object is to give him a lesson transactionally. 1874 — Forgiven. & Law 9 Is it true that God must be gained or tempered transactionally, that is by acts in time, in order to the letting forth of grace upon his enemies?

Transa·ctioneeˈr. nonce-wd. [f. as prec. + -eer.] One who is concerned or has to do with transactions; in quots., with the published 'transactions' of a learned society.

1700 (title) The Transactioneer, with some of his Philosophical Fancies; in two Dialogues. [A satire on Sir Hans Sloane and the Philosophical Transactions, by W. King, LL.D.] Ibid. Pref. 4, I have no personal Prejudice to the present Transactioneer or any of his Friends. 1700 J. Kay in Lett. Lit. Men (Camden) 205 The scurrilous Pamphlet entitled the Transactioneer.

Transactor (trɑnzæˈktəɹ, trɑns-). [a. L. transactor, agent-n. f. transigēre: see Transact v.] One who transacts; a negotiator or intermediary; a manager, conductor, performer, doer.

1611 Cotgr., Transacteur, a transactor, dayes-man, accorder. 1653 J. Hall Paradoxes 159 He was a great Transactour for the Essex faction. 1660 Milton Prez. Means Wks. 1851 V. 457 The transactors of our Affairs with forein Nations. 1863 Kinglake Crimea I. i. 7 Not a mere favourite of his sovereign, but the actual transactor of public business.

Transalpine (trɑnsæˈlpəin, -z-), a. (sb.) [ad. L. transalpīnus beyond or across the Alps, f. trans, Trans- + alpīnus Alpine, f. Alpes the Alps.]

1. That is situated beyond the Alps: a. Originally and usually as viewed from Rome or Italy, i. e. north of the Alps; also, dwelling in or belonging to a region beyond the Alps; also † transf. rude, uncultured (obs.). Cf. Tramontane A. 1, 1 b.

1590 Greene Orl. Fur. (1599) 16 Found in the mountaines of Transalpine France. 1656 Earl Monm. tr Boccalini's Advts. fr. Parnass. i. xxiii. (1674) 23 Trans-Alpin writers, whose brains are thought to lie in their backs. 1659 Loveiace Poems (1864) 225 Where then,..Lies our transalpine barbarous neglect? 1825 C. Butler Bk. Rom. Cath. Ch. 120 There certainly are some Transalpine territories in which the Cisalpine opinions on papal power prevail. 1837 Whewell Hist. Induct. Sc. (1857) III. 246 The first transalpine garden of this kind arose at Leyden in 1577. 1841 W. Spalding Italy & It. Isl. I. 36 The Po is the only Italian river which can be compared with those of transalpine Europe. 1854 Milman Lat. Chr. vi. i. (1864) III. 373 Synods of Transalpine prelates, as at Rheims.

b. Beyond the Alps from England, or from Europe generally; Italian.

1624 [Scott] Votiva Angelica Ded. 3 Those fiery Transalpine, and factious Transmarine English, who haue onely their bodies here, but their harts in Rome and Spaine. 1632 J. Howell in Biondi's Eromena biij, So have I seen Transalpin grafts to grow, And beare rare fruit, remov'd to Thames from Po. 1686 Blount Glossogr., Transalpine.., over or beyond the Alpes, foreign, Italian, on the further side of the mountaines. 1718 Rowe Prol. to Non-Juror 34 To your Transalpine master's rule resort, And fill an empty abdicated court. 1765 Wilkes Let. fr. Naples in Corr. & Mem. (1805) II. 200 This is my fourth letter to you since I have been transalpine.

c. Of or pertaining to the party in the Roman Church opposed to the Ultramontanes.

1794 in B. Ward Dawn Cath. Revival (1909) II. 63 The doctrine of the Deposing and Dispensing power of the Pope, ..doctrines which have for above a century been distinguished by the names of Ultramontane and Transalpine. 1826 [implied in Transalpinely].

2. (Passing) across the Alps. rare.

1654 H. L'Estrange Chas. I (1655) 104 In his Trans-Alpine expedition. 1744 in 10th Rep. Hist. MSS. Comm. App. 1 282, I hope the K. of Sard[ ] will harrass the Fr. and Sp[ ] in their transalpine march.

B. sb. A native or inhabitant of a country beyond or across the Alps: cf. 1 a and b above. rare.

1617 Morvson Itin. III. 47 Old Writers..write, that the Diuine Law came from Italy to the Transalpines. 1622 Buxton Descr. Leicester. 91 Though those Transalpine account vs Tramontani, rude and barbarous, .. yet may compare either with their olde Dante, Petrarch, or Boccace. 1634 W. Tiswhyt tr. Balzac's Lett. (vol. I) 85 Those wise Transalpines themselves.., who thinke all such to be Scythians who are not Italians.

Hence Trans|a'lpinely adv. (cf. sense 1 c);

†Trans|a'lpiner Obs. rare = Transalpine B.

1826 G. S. Faber Diffic. Romanism (1853) 195 note, I recollect the practical cislalpine argument of Aimain, from the flat judicial controlcolcrat of the two transalpinely infallible Popes, Nicolas III. and John XXII. 1599 Nashe Lenten Stuffe Wks. (Grosart) V. 238 As touching butter and cheese, the Hollanders cry By your leaue wee must goe before you, and the *Transalpiners with their lordly Parmasin..shoulder in for the vpper hand as hotly. 1687 Earl Monm. tr. Paruta's Pol. Disc. II. ix. 179 That all Transalpiners might be driven out of Italy, was a thing desired.. by all Italians.

Transame, obs. form of Transom.

†Trans|a'nimate, v. Obs. rare. [Back-formation from next: see -ate 3.] trans. To transfer the soul of (a person) from one body to another (also with the soul as obj.): = Metempsychose v. Hence †Trans|a'nimated ppl. a.

1608 Br. J. King Serm. 5 Nov. 31 The..strangest μετεμψύχωσις that euer was feigned by Poets, very incarnated, transanimated deuils. 1613 Purchas Pilgrimage IV. xviii. 976 The Devill transanimate his soule..into a dogge or other beast. 1625 — Pilgrims V. viii. § 3. 540 Being metamorphosed and transanimated from men to blockes. a 1641 Br. Montagu Acts & Mon. vii. (1642) 409 According to their beliefs, wicked men should be not transmigrated at all.

Tra·ns|anima·tion. Now rare. [ad. med.L. transanimātiōn-em (410 in Jerome Epistle 124, 4), f. Trans- + anima soul: see -tion.] Transmigration of the soul; = Metempsychosis.

1574 Eden tr. Taisner's Bk. Navig. Ded. (Arb.) p. xlvii, Yf it may be graunted..that the spirites of dead men may reuine in other (after the opinion and transanimation of Pythagras). 1604 Sylvester Hubert. Drayton's Polyolb. i. 14 This Pythagorean opinion of transanimation (I have like liberty to naturalize that word). 1727 A. Hamilton New Acc. E. Ind. II. liii. 270 They have many Sects among them, but all agree in the Transmigration of Souls.

fig. 1871 Earle Philol. Eng. Tongue vi. 241 As the pronoun passes into the still more subtle conjunction—so also do verbs graduate from particular to general use. Nor does the transanimation stop here.

Transapical (trans|æ·pikăl, -ā·pikăl), a. Bot. [f. Trans- 5 + L. apex, apic-em, Apex; see Apical.] Transverse to the apical axis (of a diatom).

1900 B. D. Jackson Gloss. Bot. Terms 273 Transapical, ..at right angles to the apical axis, passing through the centre of the pervalvar (main longitudinal) axis of a Diatom; transapical Plane, the plane at right angles to both valvar and apical planes, passing through the pervalvar and transapical axis (O. Mueller).

Trans|aqua·tic, a. rare. [f. Trans- 3: cf. Aquatic.] Situated across the water or sea; transmarine.

1834 Oxf. Univ. Mag. I. 175 A durable connection between the mother country and her transaquatic daughters.

Trans·atla·ntal, a. Anat. [f. Trans- 5 + L. atlas, atlant-em (see Atlas) + -al.] Transverse to, or crossing the atlas (vertebra).

1893 Athenæum 25 Mar. 382/2 Abnormal vertebræ of certain Ranidæ..in which the so-called 'atlas' possessed transverse processes and transatlantal nerves.

Tra·nsatla·ntic (trons|, tranz|-), a., sb. [f. Trans- + Atlantic; cf. F. transatlantique.]

1. Passing or extending across the Atlantic Ocean.

1779 Wilkes Corr. (1805) V. 212 After a long fruitless trans-atlantic voyage. 1892 Chambers' Encycl. IX. 403/2 In 1839 Mr. Samuel Cunard ..came over to England from Halifax, determined to establish..a line of transatlantic steamships. 1895 N. Amer. Rev. Nov. 514 Of the utmost importance to all transatlantic travellers.

2. Situated or resident in, or pertaining to a region beyond the Atlantic; chiefly in European use: = American.

1782 Jefferson Writ. & Corr. (1894) III. 193 To suggest a doubt..whether nature has enlisted herself as a cicer or (the auxiliary) pantaloon. 1788 Sir W. Jones in Mem., etc. (1804) 227 The sturdy transatlantic yeomanry, will neither be dragooned, nor bamboozled out of their liberty. 1807 W. Irving Salmagr. xii. (1824) 199 His hat had the true trans-Atlantic declination towards his right ear. 1812 Gen. Hist. in Ann. Reg. 161/2 The civil war kindled in those regions between the native and transatlantic Spaniards. 1891 Harper's Weekly 19 Sept. 705/1 Salem had an aristocracy. The aristocrats were proud of their transatlantic ancestries.

B. sb. (absol. use of adj.): One who or that which is across the Atlantic; a native or inhabitant of a transatlantic country; spec. an American; also short for 'transatlantic steamer'.

1826 Blackw. Mag. Aug. 325/2 The Trans-Atlantics may hope to have some future share of European civilization. 1831 Scott Jrnl. (1890) II. 402 Count Robert, who is progressing, as the Transatlantics say, at a very slow pace indeed. 1883 Contemp. Rev. Aug. 227 A bed in a sleeping-carriage or a berth in a transatlantic. 1892 Pall Mall C. 17 Aug. 2/3 Cork, Killarney, and Dublin are this year crowded with transatlantics.

Hence Trans|atla·ntically adv., in a transatlantic or American manner; in quot. 1846, across or while crossing the Atlantic; Trans|atla·ntican, Trans|atlantician (-l-|ăn) = Transatlantic B.; Trans|atla·nticism, transatlantic character, nationality, or behaviour; a transatlantic or American idiom.

1846 Blackw. Mag. Apr. 501/1 [He] might, at that moment, be 'transatlantically' regaling himself at my particular expense. 1888 Athenæum 3 Jan. 10/2 She..had what is Transatlantically called 'a good time'. 1908 Sat. Rev. 25 July 120/1 Transatlantically epigrammatic without being transatlantically smart. 1891 Harper's Mag. Apr. 791 English attentions to *transatlanticans savor either of patronage or servility. 1839 Fraser's Mag. XIX. 467 What has a *Transatlantician to do with European squabbles? 1907 Daily Chron. 16 Sept./4 Trans-Atlanticism..are those who cross between New York and Liverpool or Southampton at least once a year. 1898 Motley Corr. 6 June, The portentous aspect on the commonest occasions, which is apt to characterise transatlanticism. 1895 Pall Mall G. 17 Oct. 4/1 The phrase..is only one more trans-Atlanticism.

Trans|au·dient, a. nonce-wd. [f. Trans- + L. audient-em hearing, pr. pple. of audire to hear; after transparent.] Permitting the passage of sound; capable of being heard through.

1854 Lowell Camb. 30 Yrs. Ago Prose Wks. 1890 I. 80 Many a proprietor regretted the transaudient properties of canvas, which allowed the frugal public to share in the melody without entering the booth.

Transboard, v. rare. [f. Trans- 2 + Board v. 3.] trans. To transfer from one ship or vessel into another; to tranship.

1807 J. Barlow Columb. vi. 38 Barks after barks the captured seamen bear, Transboard and lodge thy silent victims there. 1899 Scribner's Mag. July 69/1 The boat..for this [postal] service..is equipped with spacious mail-rooms, chutes for transboarding sacks [etc.].

Trans-border, a. [f. Trans- 3 + Border sb.] Lying or living beyond a (or the) border; occupying territory outside the border.

1897 L. J. Trotter Life J. Nicholson xv. (1908) 273 Younghusband was speaking about him to a trans-border chief. 1901 19th Cent. Apr. 711 Raised in fixed proportion from the transborder and cisborder clans. 1908 Westm. Gaz. 6 May 4/1 An Afghan, pushing he what, on the North-West Frontier, is called a 'Trans-border Pathan'—i.e., one of the independent tribes dwelling between British India and the Ameer of Kabul's territory.

Transcalent (trɑ·ns|kălĕnt, trans|kă·lĕnt), a. [f. Trans- + L. calēnt-em, pr. pple. of calēre to be hot, to glow: see Calent.

Etymologically the pronunciation is trɑ·nscălent; transcă·lent comes by false analogy with transăscent and transpă·rent (in which the vowel is etymologically long.)

Having the property of freely transmitting radiant heat; pertvious to heat-rays; diathermanous.

1834 E. Turner Elem. Chem. (ed. 4) 107 Rock salt is remarkably diathermanous or transcalent. 1882 Contemp. Rev. Mar. 373 All bodies, so far at least as the heat of the sun is concerned, are more or less transcalent. 1896 Albbutt's Syst. Med. I. 269 The air rich in water vapour is less transcalent and transluscent than in drier regions.

Hence Tra·nscalency, the property of being transcalent; diathermaneity. 1864 in Webster.

Transcalescent (-kăle·sĕnt), a. rare. [f. Trans- + L. calēscent-em, pr. pple. of calēscĕre to grow hot, to glow; cf. prec., and fluorescent.] Properly, Beginning to be transcalent; but in quot. = Transcalent. So Tra·nscale·scence, the property of being transcalescent.

1850 Grove Corr. Phys. Forces (ed. 2) 42 Bodies..shew a remarkable difference between their transcalescence, or power of transmitting heat, and their transparency.. Rock-salt, the most transcalescent body known, may be covered with soot..and yet be found capable of transmitting..heat.

Transcend (transe·nd), v. Also 5-6 -send(e, (6 transsend). [ad. L. tran(s)scend-ĕre to climb over or beyond, surmount, f. Trans- + scand-ĕre to climb. So OF. transcender, -scendre (14th c.).]

†1. trans. To pass over or go beyond (a physical obstacle or limit); to climb or get over the top of (a wall, mountain, etc.). Obs.

1513 Bradshaw St. Werburge II. 1461 That we may transcende this ryuer safe and sure. 1536 Bellenden Cron. Scot. (1821) I. 251 Gif ony Pichtis transcendit this dike to be punist na les than thay had offendit aganis the majeste of Romanis. 1602 Fulwicke Pandectes 4 In harnest he (the sun) transcendeth the other line of the Æquator and so being farre remoued from vs causeth winter. 1615 G. Sandys Trav. IV. 254 Mountaines not to be transcended without much difficulty. 1695 Ld. Preston Boeth. IV. 162, I have nimble Wings which can Transcend the Polar Height.

2. To pass or extend beyond or above (a non-physical limit); to go beyond the limits of (something immaterial); to exceed.

a 1340 Hampole Psalter lx. 6 Þai ere a day þat contenys and transcendis þe warldis of all generacions. 1534 Whitinton Tullyes Offices I. (1540) 45 They without doubt transcende the due bounde of measure. 1559 Cunningham Cosmogr. Glasse 10 It transcendith the knowledge of man. 1643 Baker Chron., Hen. VI 75 He had transcended his Commission. 1662 Stillingfl., Orig. Sacr. III. § 5 Infinity transcends our capacity of apprehension. 1713 Young Last Day I. 48 'Twill raise thy wonder, but transcend thy praise. 1805 Foster Ess. IV. iii. 161 A genius almost transcending human nature. 1855 H. Spencer Princ. Psychol. II. xvii. § 81 Unable as we are to transcend consciousness. 1875 Jowett Plato (ed. 2) IV. 124 Ideas..derived from external objects as well as transcending them.

b. Theol. To be above and independent of: esp. said of the Deity in relation to the universe; see Transcendence 1 b.

1898 Illingworth Divine Immanence iii. 71 It is through this power of self-consciousness..that spirit transcends matter. Ibid. 72 The divine presence..will be the presence of a spirit, which infinitely transcends the material order, yet sustains and indwells it the while. 1907 — Doctr. Trinity x. 196 On the other hand, we may think of God as dwelling in the universe, without in any way transcending it. This means pantheism of one kind or another.

†c. intr. To go beyond, go farther. Obs. rare—1.

1629 Parkinson Paradisi (1904) 509 Hauing thus furnished you out a Kitchen Garden..let me a little transcend, and.. furnish them with some few other herbes.

3. trans. To go beyond in some respect, quality, or attribute; to rise above, surpass, excel, exceed.

c 1430 Lydg. Min. Poems (Percy Soc.) 8 In sighte transendyng alle erthely creatures. a 1529 Skelton Dethe Erle Northumberld. 144 Transcending far myne homly Muse. 1615 G. Sandys Trav. 1. 7 They imitate the Italians, but transcend them in their revenges. 1679 Penn Addr. Prot. II. i. (1692) 59 The Roman Church hath chiefly transcended other Societies in these Errors. 1708 Fouwicke Serm. Eng. Wom. (1767) I. vi. 222 Thy merits..far transcend them all. 1864 Burton Scot Abr. II. ii. 191 The Poles also..strive to transcend one another in civility. 1866 R. Ferguson Electr. (1870) 14 Electro-magnets far transcend permanent magnets in power.

†4. intr. To ascend, go up, rise; to pass upward or onward. Also fig. Obs.

1513 Bradshaw St. Werburge I. 190 Begyn we shall At the Cytee of Chester..And so transcendynge vp towarde Shrewysbury. a 1560 Rolland Crt. Venus II. 604 Bot quhen sic folk abone thair state transcend. 1596 Sir J. Davies Orchestra cxii, Shee wheeles about, and ere the dance doth end, Into her former place shee doth transcend. 1613 Heywood Silver Age III. i. Wks. 1874 III. 135 Thy flowers thou canst not spare, thy bosome lend, On which to rest wh'st Phœbus doth transcend.

†b. trans. To ascend, to mount into. Obs. rare.

1601 B. Jonson Poetaster v. ii, It will be thought a thing ridiculous..that any poet..should, with decorum, transcend Cæsars chair.

5. intr. To be transcendent; to excel. arch.

1635 Swan Spec. M. vii. § 3 (1643) 344 So one mans knowledge..transcends not seldome above the rest. a 1720 Sheffield (Dk. Buckhm.) Wks. (1753) I. 260, I see no such distinction, nor wherein Man so transcends, except in arrogance. 1819 Scott Ivanhoe xxxiii, 'Thou art a mad knave', said the Captain, 'but thy plan transcends!'

†6. trans. To cause to ascend or rise; to lift, elevate. Obs. rare.

1635 Heywood Hierarch. viii. 530 To that People thou a Law hast giv'n, Which from grosse earth transcendeth them to heav'n.

Transcendence (transe·ndĕns). [ad. med.L. transcendentia, f. L. transcendent-em Transcendent: see -ence. Cf. F. transcendance (18th c.).]

1. The action or fact of transcending, surmounting, or rising above; †ascent, elevation (obs.); excelling, surpassing; also, the condition or quality of being transcendent, surpassing eminence or excellence: = Transcendency.

1601 Shaks. All's Well iii. iii. 40 In a most weake—..And debile minister, great power, great transcendence. 1644 Digby Nat. Soul x. 67 There is a transcendence from science to science. 1678 Lively Oracles II. xix, God, in whom all those qualifications are united, and that in their utmost transcendences. 1744 Harris Three Treat. III. ii. (1765) 215 That very Transcendence is an Argument on its behalf. 1802 Anna Seward Lett. (1811) VI. 27 When we reflect that he had been excelled in every separate order of verse, justice may scruple the imputed transcendence. 1876 T. S. Egan tr. Heine's Atta Troll, etc. 43 A temple, whose transcendence Indicates the Almighty's glory. 1907 Illingworth Doctr. Trinity xi. 226 We expect to see Divine action manifested through the operation of general laws, and not through their occasional transcendence.

b. spec. Of the Deity: The attribute of being above and independent of the universe; distinguished from immanence (see Immanent 1).

1848 R. I. Wilberforce Doctr. Incarnation III. (1852) 32 That Deistic theory of Transcendence, which supposes that the qualities of matter having been bestowed upon it by its Maker, everything has been left to go on by the impulse which was originally bestowed. 1856 R. A. Vaughan Mystics (1860) I. 214 Not always..able to embrace fully and together these two conceptions of transcendence and of immanence. 1896 Chicago Advance 26 Apr. 567/2 We have been accustomed to believe that nature reveals God in his immanence, but that Christ reveals God in his transcendence. 1907 Illingworth Doctr. Trinity x. 197 Divine immanence and divine transcendence are not mutually exclusive, but essentially correlative conceptions.

†2. Elevation or extension beyond ordinary limits; exaggeration, hyperbole. Obs. rare.

1625 Bacon Ess., Adversitie (Arb.) 504 This would have done better in Poesy; where Transcendences are more allowed. 1645 Milton Tetrach. Wks. 1851 IV. 234 Why.. should they be such crabbed masorites of the Letter, as not to mollifie a transcendentalness of literal rigidity?

3. Math. The fact of being transcendental: see Transcendental 4.

1902 Encycl. Brit. XXXI. 287/2 Lindemann by a similar process proved the transcendence of $\pi$.

Transcendency (transe'ndĕnsi). [f. as prec.: see -ency.] The condition or quality of being transcendent; excess; surpassing excellency; with pl. a transcendent quality.

1615 Day Festivals xii. 341, I speake not against Lawfull Purchasing, it is that Transcendency I strike at, when Men depopulate whole Countries, to people the Land forsooth with Sheepe. 1662 Evelyn Chalcogr. Pref., Your modesty do's not permit me to run through all those Transcendencies. 1681 Glanvill Saducismus ii. (1726) 162 The Essential Sanctity and singular Transcendency of the exalted nature of God. 1857 Gladstone Oxf. Ess. 8 The transcendency of his poetical distinctions has tended to overshadow his other claims and uses. 1886 Westm. Rev. Oct. 469 Christ..never reflected on transcendency and immanency.

b. The fact of transcending: = Transcendence 1; an instance of this.

1907 J. Orr in Life of Faith 9 Jan. 26/1 Such deviations from or transcendencies of the natural order we call miracles.

Transcendent (transe'ndĕnt), a. and sb. Also -ant. [ad. L. transcendent-em, pr. pple. of transcend-ĕre to Transcend. For the spelling with -ant cf. F. transcendant (14–15th c. in Hatz.-Darm.), also ascendant, descendant.]

A. adj.

1. Surpassing or excelling others of its kind; going beyond the ordinary limits; pre-eminent; superior or supreme; extraordinary. Also, loosely, Eminently great or good; cf. 'excellent'.

1598 Florio, Trascendente, transcending, transcendent. 1611 Cotgr., Transcendant, transcendant, surmounting, surpassing, exceeding. 1671 Speed Hist. Gt. Brit. ix. ii. § 64 The Popes transcendent pleasure and power, being the strongest part of the Dukes title to the Crown. a 1637 B. Jonson Goodwife's Ale in Athenæum 1 Oct. (1904) When shall we meete agayne, and have a tast, Of that transcendant Ale we drinke of last? 1649 Milton Eikon. 2 That transcendent Apostle Saint Paul. 1725 Pope Odyss. vi. 128 Nausicaa..shone transcendent o'er the beauteous train. 1754 Richardson Grandison (1781) III. xxviii. 307 Such transcendant goodness of heart. 1807 Crabbe Part. Reg. i. 78 His own transcendant genius found the rest. 1868 Seeley Ecce Homo v. (ed. 8) 48 A person of altogether transcendant greatness. 1878 Gladstone Prim. Homer vi. § 13. 73 Apollo is less transcendent in intellect [than Athena].

†b. With above, to: greatly superior to. Obs.

1634 Rainbow Labour (1635) 35 Their clothings being by some degrees transcendant to needle worke even wrought with gold. 1634 Habington Castara (Arb.) 16 If worth be not transcendant above this title. 1678 Cudworth Intell. Syst. i. iv. § 16. 286 Julian the Emperor..acknowledged besides the Sun, another Incorporeal Deity, transcendent to it. 1713 C'tess Winchelsea Misc. Poems 202 If a fluent Vein be shown That's transcendent to our own.

†2. Of language: Elevated above ordinary language, lofty. Obs.

1631 Gouge God's Arrows iii. § 15. 212 Those other high transcendent hyperbolicall phrases of the Prophet Isay. a 1653 — Comm. Heb. i. 5 (1655) 43 In this sense this high transcendent prophesie (Isa. ix. 6) is to be taken.

†3. Of an idea or conception: Transcending comprehension; hence, obscure or abstruse. Cf. Metaphysical 1 b. Obs.

1624 Gataker Transubst. 146 These are such transcendent subtilties, if not absurdities, as any metaphysics will afford. 1635 Person Varieties i. 3 Metaphysicks.. medleth with things transcendent and supernatural. 1646 J. Maxwell Burden Conscience 34 I confesse, this Divinitie is so transcendent and Metaphysicall, that it exceeds my capacitie.

4. Philos. a. Applied by the Schoolmen to predicates which by their universal application were considered to transcend the Aristotelian categories or predicaments. See B. 1 a.

1630 Duns Scotus Rep. Par. in Sent. i. viii. v. § 13 Praedicata..quae dicuntur de Deo..sunt praedicata transcendentia .. quidquid convenit enti antequam descendat in genera [i.e. the categories] est transcendens.] 1706 Phillips (ed. Kersey), Transcendent, ..in Logick, surpassing the Predicaments. 1872 Latham Engl. Dict. s.v. Transcendental, Transcendent is used by the scholastics and moderns, as opposed to immanent—meaning transcending the categories.

b. By Kant applied to that which transcends his own list of categories (explained as a priori conceptions of the understanding, which it necessarily employs in ordering its experience, but which have no validity outside of experience); hence, transcending or altogether outside experience; not an object of possible experience; unrealizable in human experience. (Distinguished by him from Transcendental 2 b.)

1803 Edin. Rev. I. 328 Philosophy..is transcendent when ..it believes that the objects of our senses exist in a manner really known to us. 1818 Coleridge Biog. Lit. i. xii. (1870) 117 Those flights of lawless speculation, which, abandoned by all distinct consciousness, because transgressing the bounds and purposes of our intellectual faculties, are justly condemned, as transcendent. 1842 Brande Dict. Sc., etc., s.v. Transcendental, Kant..draws a distinction between the transcendental and the transcendent...The transcendent..is that which regards those principles as objectively real to which Kant assigns only a subjective or formal reality, and consequently is by him regarded as beyond the limits of human reason altogether. 1877 E. Caird Philos. Kant ii. x. 422 From the Kantian point of view both the question and the answer are transcendent, for both involve the doctrine that the world is in space,..apart from its being known as such. Ibid. xiv. 523 And this synthesis is transcendent, i.e. it is a synthesis which cannot be represented as a phenomenon, or verified in sensuous experience. 1881 R. Adamson Fichte v. 112 note, For any question or theorem which might pass beyond possible experience, Kant reserved the term transcendent.

5. Theol. Of the Deity: In His being, exalted above and distinct from the universe; having transcendence. Distinguished from Immanent 1. Originally often connoting the denial of Divine action or interference in mundane affairs.

1877 D. Patrick in Encycl. Brit. VII. 36/1 (Deism) Shaftesbury vigorously protests against the notion of a wholly transcendent God. Morgan more than once expresses a theory that would now be pronounced one of immanence. 1907 Illingworth Doctr. Trinity x. 194 To think of Him [God], in modern phrase, as transcendent, as above and beyond all relative and finite existence. Ibid. 195 It is theoretically possible..to conceive of God as simply transcendent, or simply immanent in the world. 1911 R. Mackintosh in Encycl. Brit. XXVI. 744/1 (Theism) God was apt to be thought of [in 18th c.] as purely transcendent, not immanent in the world.

6. Math. = Transcendental 4.

1902 Encycl. Brit. XXXI. 287/2 Hermite first completely proved the transcendent character of e [see E (the letter) 5 a].

B. sb. [the adj. used absol.]

1. Philos. †a. A predicate that transcends, or cannot be classed under, any of the Aristotelian categories or predicaments. Obs.

Aristotle taught (Metaph. x. 2) that being and unity were neither categories, nor fell under any one category, but could be predicated in all the categories; in Eth. Nic. he says the like of goodness. Such predicates came to be called by the Schoolmen transcendentia, 'transcendents', as transcending the limits of the categories. Their enumeration as six, Being, Thing, Something, One, True, Good (found first in a treatise attributed to Thomas Aquinas, but thought by Prantl (Gesch. der Logik III. 245) to be subsequent to Duns Scotus), was in regular use down to the time of Kant. [e.g. 1630 Duns Scotus Op. Oxon. in Sent. i. viii. iii. § 19 Transcendens quodcunque nullum habet genus sub quo continetur, sed quod ipsum sit commune ad multa inferiora. 13.. in Thomas Aquinas Opusc. xlii. ii. (1460) K viij/2 Sunt autem sex transcendentia : videlicet res, res, aliquid, unum, verum, bonum.] 1581 W. Fulke in Confer. iii. (1584) V iij b, It is a transcendent, which is in all predicaments. 1640 G. Watts tr. Bacon's Adv. Learn. iii. iv. 143 All Relative and Adventive conditions and Characters of Essences, which we have named Transcendents; as Multitude, Paucity, Identity, Diversity, Possible, Impossible, and such like. 1652 Gaule Magastrom. 207 God is a transcendent, and is not under, nor yet within, the predicament of any part of the whole order of nature. 1697 tr. Burgersdicius his Logic i. iii. 6 Transcendents, as, Being, Thing, One, True, Good, which by their Community exceed all the degrees of Categories.

b. transf. A person or thing that transcends classification.

1591 G. Fletcher Russe Commw. (Hakl. Soc.) 37 In this number the lorde Borris..is not to be reckoned, that is like a transendent,..being the emperours brother in law. 1593 G. Harvey New Letter Wks. (Grosart) I. 267 Hope is a Transcendent, and will not easily be impisoned, or impounded in any Predicament of auncient or moderne Perfection. 1608 Br. J. King Serm. 5 Nov. 23 Both were transcendents not to be placed in the classes or rankes of hitherto experienced or praised wickednesse. 1642 Fuller Holy & Prof. St. iii. xxiii. 218 Fame falls most short in those Transcendents, which are above her Predicaments; as in Solomons wisdome. 1655 Fuller Ch. Hist. vii. i. § 37 Here I must set John Dudley Earl of Warwick (as a Transcendent) in a form by himself, being a competent Lawyer (Son to a Judge), known Soldier, and able States man, and acting against the Protector, to all these his capacities.

c. According to the Kantian philosophy: That which is altogether beyond the bounds of human cognition and thought. See A. 4 b.

c 1816 Coleridge in Lit. Rem. (1838) III. 227 Omnify the disputed point into a transcendant, and you may defy the opponent to lay hold of it. 1825 — Aids Refl. (1848) I. 260 Let X signify a transcendant, that is, a cause beyond our cognitions, and not within the sphere of sensible experience. 1837–8 Sir W. Hamilton Logic xi. (1866) I. 199 The term transcendent,..he [Kant] applied to all pretended knowledge that transcended experience, and was not given in an original principle of the mind.

†2. One who or that which transcends or rises high above the ordinary rank of persons or things; a person or thing of great eminence. Obs.

1593 G. Harvey Pierce's Super. 18 Were..his lines such transcendentes, as his thoughtes..what an egregious Aretine should we shortly haue. 1612 W. Sclater Serm. 8, I am loth to make them transcendents; yet such, save, is their authoritie on earth supra variles. 1613 Purchas Pilgrimage (1614) 175 The Cabalist as a super subtile transcendent, mounteth with all his industrie..from this sensible World unto that other intellectuall. 1679 V. Alsop Melius Inquir. i. i. 73 'The command of a Superior will hallow an erroneous action', as a Transcendent in our Church speaks.

†3. That which transcends, surpasses, or excels something else, or things generally. rare.

1613 Purchas Pilgrimage i. ii. 6 A Paradise, faire, shining, delightsome..a meere transcendent, which eye hath not seene. 1658 Cocaine Trophytin iii. ii, Your matchless eyes Transcendents of the brightest lightest stars.

†b. A transcendent or pre-eminent quality. Obs.

1657–83 Evelyn Hist. Relig. (1850) I. 76 These are the transcendents and pre-eminences which this admirable heathen attributes to mankind.

†4. A 2- or 3-line capital letter such as those put at the beginning of books or chapters. Obs. rare.

1602 Willis Stenogr. A iv b, A Transcendent, is a great Character, which extendeth it selfe further then the distance betweene the lines.

†5. The transcendent: the ascendancy, the superiority; = Ascendant B. 3. Obs. rare.

1691 W. Nicholls Answ. Naked Gospel Pref. C3, His Confidence has generally the transcendent of his Sincerity, which is the common fate of all Enthusiasts.

6. Math. A transcendental expression or function; a non-algebraical function; e. g. $\log x$, $\sin x$, $a^x$. See Transcendental a. 4.

1809 Ivory in Phil. Trans. XCIX. 368 They belong to the class of elliptical transcendants. 1816 tr. Lacroix's Diff. & Int. Calculus 24 Those functions..not comprehended in the enumeration made in No. 14, are called transcendents. 1889 R. A. Roberts Int. Calculus i. 3 We might ..deduce their properties as we do in the case of the elliptic functions and the higher transcendents.

Transcendental (transe'ndĕntăl), a. (sb.) [ad. med.L. transcendentāl-is (c1365, Wyclif Materia & Forma (1902) 242), f. as prec. + -āli-, -al. Cf. F. transcendental (18th c.), obs. -el (16th c.).]

1. Of transcendent quality or nature; surpassing; excelling; exalted: = Transcendent a. 1.

(In quots. 1790–1868, more or less ironical or sarcastic.)

1701 Grew Cosm. Sacra ii. viii. 84 The Deity himself, tho' he perceiveth not Pleasure nor Pain..as we do; yet must needs have a Perfect and Transcendental Perception, both of Pleasure, and Pain, and of all other things. 1727 Bailey vol. II, Transcendental, exceeding, going beyond, surpassing. 1790 Burke Fr. Rev. 10 All these considerations ..were below the transcendental dignity of the Revolution Society. 1862 Merivale Rom. Emp. (1865) VI. xlviii. 59 His [the Emperor's] transcendental being was elevated above the restraints of all inferior existences. 1868 M. Pattison Academ. Org. 6 It related to the transcendental parts of education.

2. Philos. a. orig. in Aristotelian philosophy: Transcending or extending beyond the bounds of any single category; = Transcendent a. 4 a. By 17th c. writers often made synonymous with metaphysical.

By Wilkins used with special reference to his own classification of things and notions.

1668 Wilkins Real Char. II. i. 25 The most Universal conceptions of Things are usually stled Transcendental, Metaphysic-all. Ibid. xii. 291 The words sin, fault, trespass, transgression,..being compounded with the Transcendental Particle, Diminutive or Augmentative,..denote a Peccadillo or small fault, or an Enormity or heinous crime. Ibid. 318 Those Particles are here stiled Transcendental, which do circumstantiate words in respect of some Metaphysical notion; either by enlarging the acception of them to some more general significations, or denoting a relation to some other Predicament or Genus, under which they are not originally placed. 1676 Glanvill Ess. i. 3 So different they [body and spirit] are in all things, that they seem to have nothing but Being, and the Transcendental Attributes of that, in common. 1682 H. More Annot. Glanvil's Lux O. 177 The Current Doctrine of Metaphysicians, who define Transcendental or Metaphysical Truth to be nothing else but the relation of the Conformity of Things to the Theoretical..Intellect of God. 1710 Berkeley Princ. Hum. Knowl. § 118 Those transcendental maxims which influence all the particular sciences. 1734 Waterland Disc. Exist. First Cause ii. 51 This is that pure, simple, absolute, transcendental Necessity, which the later School-men and Metaphysicians speak of. 1751 Johnson Rambler No. 131 ¶ 2 The wish for riches; a wish..so prevalent, that it may be considered as universal and transcendental. 1807 J. Opie in Lect. Paint. ii. (1848) 270 Learn to see Nature and beauty in the abstract, and rise to general and transcendental truth, which will always be the same.

b. In the philosophy of Kant (1724–1804): Not derived from experience, but concerned with the presuppositions of experience; pertaining to the general theory of the nature of experience or knowledge, a priori; critical (see Criticism 2 c).

1798 Willich Crit. Philos. 65 The division of transcendental logic into transcendental analysis and dialectic. Ibid. 182 The transcendental is opposed to the empirical. 1802 Encycl. Brit. Suppl. II. 555 Kant..calls all knowledge, of which the object is not furnished by the senses, and which concerns the kind and origin of our ideas, transcendental knowledge. 1803 Edin. Rev. Jan. 258 Philosophy..is transcendental, when..it investigates the subjective elements, which..modify the qualities or elements of the object as perceived. 1842 Brande Dict. Sc. etc., s.v., The transcendental he [Kant] defines to be that which, though it could never be derived from experience, yet is necessarily connected with experience, and which may be shortly expressed as the intellectual form, the matter of which is supplied by sense. 1872 Mahaffy tr. Kant's Prolegomena 243 We must necessarily distinguish two sorts of idealism—transcendental and empirical. By the transcendental idealism of all phenomena, I mean the doctrine according to which we regard them all as mere representations, not as things per se. 1874 W. Wallace Hegel's Logic § 42. 75 That unity of self-consciousness,..Kant calls transcendental; ; and he meant thereby that this unity was only in our minds, and did not attach to the objects apart from our knowledge of them. 1877 E. Caird Philos. Kant ii. v. 289 Transcendental is the word by which we have learnt to distinguish à priori ideas..so far as they enable us to know objects.

c. Used of any philosophy which resembles Kant's in being based upon the recognition of an a priori element in experience.

1829 CARLYLE Misc. (1857) II. 74 The Idealist boasts that his Philosophy is Transcendental. 1842 EMERSON Transcendentalist Wks. (Bohn) II. 283 It is well known...that the Idealism of the present day acquired the name of Transcendental, from the use of that term by Immanuel Kant, of Konigsberg. 1872 MINTO Eng. Prose Lit. II. ix. 596 German transcendental philosophy. 1878 DOWDEN Stud. Lit. 49 The transcendental thinker [holds] that the mind contributes of its own stores ideas or forms of thought not derived from experience.

d. By Schelling 'transcendental philosophy' was used for the philosophy of mind as distinguished from that of nature.

1903 ADAMSON Developm. Mod. Philos. I. 265 Philosophy of nature and philosophy of mind or transcendental philosophy are therefore at once parallel and complementary.

3. In uses derived from the philosophical sense:

a. Beyond the limits of ordinary experience, extraordinary.

1831 CARLYLE Sart. Res. II. v. (1858) 87 Sometimes it is even when your anxiety becomes transcendental, that the soul first feels herself able to transcend it. 1837 — Fr. Rev. III. I. i, Very frightful it is when a Nation...becomes transcendental. 1856 EMERSON Eng. Traits Wks. (Bohn) II. 104 This mental materialism makes the value of English transcendental genius. 1863 GEO. ELIOT Romola xxxiii, Thus bust of Plato had been long used to look down on conviviality of a more transcendental sort. 1868 NETTLESHIP Ess. Browning's Poetry I. 34 Views...which, while less transcendental...are perhaps of more practical value.

b. Super-natural, superhuman, supernatural.

1826 SCOTT Woodst. xiv, The dexterity with which he threw his transcendental and fanatical notions, like a sort of veil, over the darker visions excited by remorse. 1841 MYERS Cath. Th. xvi. 265 A real vision, which may justly be termed Transcendental—wholly incapable of being explained, but yet not incapable of being believed. 1850 WHIPPLE Ess. & Rev. (ed. 3) I. 228 It [poetry] thus transcends the sphere of the senses, and is in a measure transcendental. 1858 KINGSLEY Lett. (1878) II. 67 Below all natural phenomena, we come to a transcendental—in plain English, a miraculous ground. 1903 F. W. H. MYERS Human Personality I. p. xv, Transcendental revelation, or the perception of beings regarded as on another plane of existence.

c. Vaguely, Abstract, metaphysical, a priori.

1835 I. TAYLOR Spir. Despot. v. 212 Abstract and transcendental notions of an intolerant kind. 1840 THACKERAY Paris Sk.-bk. xx. (1872) 172 Having watched the Germans with their..mysterious transcendental talk. 1847 EMERSON Repr. Men, Plato Wks. (Bohn) I. 205 If he made transcendental distinctions, he fortified himself by drawing all his illustrations from sources disdained by pretenders to polite conversers. 1851 CARLYLE Sterling I. xv, To such length can transcendental moonshine, cast by some morbidly radiating Coleridge into the chasm of a fermenting life, act magically there. 1853 MAX MÜLLER Chips (1880) I. iii. 66 The exhausting atmosphere of transcendental ideas in which they [Hindus] lived. 1896 N. Brit. Rev. XXVI. 173 Proofs...that the most abstract and apparently transcendental truths in physical science will sooner or later add their tribute to supply human wants, and alleviate human sufferings. 1875 JOWETT Plato (ed. 2) I. 77 An unmeaning and transcendental conception. 1901 Edin. Rev. Apr. 457 Hs [Mill] rejected all transcendental conceptions.

d. Applied to the movement of thought in New England of which Emerson was the principal figure: see TRANSCENDENTALISM 1 b.

1844 DICKENS Mart. Chuz. xxxiv, Two literary ladies present their compliments to the mother of the modern Gracchi...It may be another bond of union...to observe, that the two L.L.'s are Transcendental. 1887 CABOT Memoirs of Emerson I. vii. 249 [In the Boston or New England Transcendentalism] the transcendental was whatever lay beyond the stock notions and traditional beliefs to which adherence was expected because they were generally accepted by sensible persons.

4. Math. Not capable of being produced by (a finite number of) the ordinary algebraical operations of addition, multiplication, involution, or their inverse operations; expressible in terms of the variable only in the form of an infinite series.

The typical transcendental functions are $\sin x$, $e^x$, $\log x$.

1706 PHILLIPS (ed. KERSEY) Transcendental Curves,...are such Curves, as when their Nature or Property comes to be express'd by an Equation, one of the Variable or flowing Quantities there, denotes a Curve or crooked Line. 1811 HUTTON Course of Mathematics III. ix. 288 Transcendental or mechanical curves, are such as cannot be...expressed by a pure algebraical equation. Thus, $y = \log x$, $y = A \cdot \sin x$, $y = A^x$, are equations to transcendental curves. 1843 Penny Cycl. XXV. 120 The roots of equations of the fifth and higher degrees are...transcendental: there is no mode of expression except by infinite series. 1879 CAYLEY in Encycl. Brit. IX. 818/2 The so-called circular functions...the exponential function...the logarithmic function...are all of them transcendental functions. 1882 CLARKSON Ibid. XIV. 773/1 The small group of transcendental functions, consisting only of the circular functions...$\sin x$, $\cos x$, &c., $e^x$, and $\log x$. 1902 Encycl. Brit. XXXI. 287/2 There are numbers...which cannot be defined by any combination of a finite number of equations with rational integral coefficients. Such numbers are said to be transcendental.

B. sb. [the adj. used absol.] A transcendental conception, term, or quantity.

1668 WILKINS Real Char. II. i. 24 The right ordering of these Transcendentals is a business no small difficulty; because there is so little assistance or help to be had for it in the Common Systems. 1711 HICKES Two Treat. Chr. Priesth. (1847) II. 165 Generical terms come so near to the nature of transcendentals, that they are seldom capable of...exact definition. 1726 SWIFT Gulliver II. vii. 82 Ideas, entities, abstractions, and transcendentals, I could never drive the least conception into their heads. 1843 Penny Cycl. XXV. 120 The expression of the old transcendentals as recognised functions, and the writing of them accordingly, as $\log x$, $\sin x$, $\cos x$, &c.

Transcendentalism (transcen·dentăliz'm). [f. prec. + -ISM. Cf. F. transcendantalisme (Littré).]

1. Transcendental philosophy; a system of this; applied to that taught by Kant and other philosophers; also, to the idealism of Schelling.

1803 Edin. Rev. Jan. 265 The theory of transcendentalism may therefore be a better dogmatism than others. 1817 T. L. PEACOCK Melifont III. 40 He has thus discovered the difference between objective and subjective reality and this point of view is transcendentalism. 1832 CARLYLE Sterling I. viii. (1872) 46 He was thought to hold...alone in England, the key of German and other Transcendentalisms. 1866 DK. ARGYLL Reign Law ii. (ed. 4) 117 What is transcendentalism but the tendency to trace up all things to the relation in which they stand to abstract Ideas? 1878 DOWDEN Studies in Lit. 58 Transcendentalism, seeking the supernatural everywhere, loses sight of it as such.

b. The religio-philosophical teaching of the New England school of thought represented by Emerson and others: see quot. 1911.

1842 EMERSON Lect., Transcendentalist Wks. (Bohn) II. 279 What is popularly called Transcendentalism among us, is idealism. 1876 N. Amer. Rev. CXXII. 468 Boston and its immediate neighborhood...really made up the kingdom ruled by Transcendentalism. 1887 CABOT Emerson I. vii. 248 The Boston or New England Transcendentalism had, as Dr. Hedge says, no very direct connection with the transcendental philosophy of Germany, the philosophy of Kant and his successors. 1911 Encycl. Brit. XXVII. 170/2 (Transcendentalism) The most famous example of the pseudo-philosophic use of the term is for a movement of thought which was prominent in the New England states from...1830 to 1850. Its use originated in the Transcendental Club (1836) founded by Emerson, Frederic Henry Hedge, and others. The movement had several aspects: philosophical, theological, social, economic.

2. Exalted character, thought, or language; also, that which is extravagant, vague, or visionary in philosophy or language; idealism.

1831 CARLYLE Sart. Res. I. iii. (1858) 8 If through the high, silent, meditative Transcendentalism of our Friend we detected any practical tendency whatever, it was at most Political. 1837 THACKERAY Carlyle's Fr. Rev. Wks. 1900 XIII. 249 It teems with sound, hearty philosophy (besides certain transcendentalisms which we do not pretend to understand). 1858 SMILES Self-Help xi. (1860) 287 Nor did the lofty transcendentalism of his books by any means palliate the acted meanesses of his life. 1871 W. H. MILLER Cult. Pleasure Prof. (1872) 10 It is time, indeed, that the whole subject of happiness should be dragged down from the regions of transcendentalism..., and be made, if possible, to take its place in the highways and byeways of every-day life.

3. The quality or character of transcendent excellence; transcendency. rare.

1840 CARLYLE Heroes iii. (1872) 80 Dante and Shakespeare..dwell apart...In the general feeling of the world, a certain transcendentalism, a glory as of complete perfection, invests these two.

Transcendentalist (transcendentălist). [f. as prec. + -IST. Cf. mod.F. transcendantaliste (Littré).] An adherent of some form of transcendentalism. Also attrib.

1803 Edin. Rev. Jan. 267 We will admit to the transcendentalist his solitary noumenon, and its separate functions. 1829 CARLYLE Misc. (1857) II. 75 To a Transcendentalist, Matter has an existence, but only as a Phenomenon. 1840 Boston Q. Rev. 270 The men who are affected by it [the new movement] are called by their opponents, Transcendentalists. 1876 LOWELL Among my Bks. Ser. II. 32 Transcendentalist as he was by nature, so much so as to be in danger of lapsing into an oriental mysticism. 1879 R. H. HUTTON in W. Bagehot's Lit. Stud. Pref. Mem. 28 A thorough transcendentalist, by which I mean one who could never doubt that there was a real foundation of the universe distinct from the outward show of its superficial qualities, and that the substance is never exhaustively expressed in these qualities. 1882 Athenæum 17 June 767/2 Miss Peabody was prominent in the old transcendentalist movement.

Hence Transcendentalistic a., of, pertaining to, or of the nature of transcendentalism; belonging to or held by transcendentalists.

1892 Monist II. 265 If a philosophy denies the existence of transcendentalistic thought-entities or of any such things in themselves, it serves as cement to combine the disjecta membra of their world conception, it is generally declared to lead straight on to nihilism.

Transcendentality. rare. [f. as prec. + -ITY: cf. Ger. transcendentalität (D. Jenisch in Kant Briefwechsel 1902, III. 75).] Transcendental quality. (In quot. 1880 humorous.) a 1846 SALISBURY cited in WORCESTER. 1880 W. S. GILBERT Patience I. 7 There is a transcendentality of delirium—an acute accentuation of supreme ecstacy.

Transcendentalize (transcendentălaiz), v. [f. as prec. + -IZE.] trans. a. To render transcendent. b. To render transcendental; to idealize. Hence Transcendentalized ppl. a.

1846 MOZLEY Ess. (1878) I. 233 The magnanimity, generosity, ardour, and refinement of ordinary virtue were transcendentalised in him. 1866 LINDON Hampt. Lect. viii. (1875) 450 Nor is it to transcendentalize Him into an abstraction which mocks us when we attempt to grasp it as an unsubstantial phantom. 1875 Contemp. Rev. Nov. 996 How often even they are found seeking to transcendentalize their own religion, to escape from its old dogmas, and efface its ancient discipline! 1881 Contemp. Rev. Mar. 380 Some transcendentalized form of tolerance. 1883 Century Mag. XXIX. 200/2 The Venetian gondola, refined, transcendentalized.

Transcendentally, adv. [f. as prec. + -LY 2.] In a transcendental manner or degree; according to a transcendental system.

1803 Edin. Rev. Jan. 277 Of moral duty it may be said, in like manner, that transcendentally it cannot exist. [1842 MRS. BROWNING Bk. Poets Poems 1890 V. 241 Some have discovered that he [Shakspere] individualized, and some that he generalized, and some that he subtilized—almost transcendentally.] 1877 E. CAIRD Philos. Kant II. iii. 244 We hold that space and time are transcendentally ideal, i.e. that they have no objective validity...apart from the constitution of the sensibility through which they are apprehended.

¶ b. errON. = TRANSCENDENTLY.

1870 Eng. Mech. 11 Mar. 636/2 The diamond, so transcendentally beautiful.

‖ Transcendentia (transcendenʃiă), sb. pl. Obs. rare[−1]. [L., neut. pl. of transcendens TRANSCENDENT.] Transcendent traits or qualities.

1674 JOSSELYN Voy. New Eng. 89 There are certain transcendentia in every creature, which are the indelible characters of God, and which discover God.

Transcendently (transcendĕntli), adv. [f. TRANSCENDENT a. + -LY 2.] In a transcendent manner or degree; so as to transcend; surpassingly, supremely, pre-eminently.

1623 GODDE Serm. Extent God's Provid. § 1 He saith not simply, you are as good; but transcendently, more worth. 1638 SIR T. HERBERT Trav. (ed. 2) 85 His genius [is] so transcendently effulsed with pride and ambition, that he beholds his equals with disdaine and anger. 1712 ADDISON Spect. No. 543 ¶ 1 It was the work of a Being transcendently wise and powerful. 1871 MORLEY Crit. Misc., Carlyle (1904) I. 164 The transcendently firm and clear-eyed intelligence of Goethe. 1907 Verney Mem. I. 71 Reserved for some transcendently important occasion.

Transcendentness. rare. [f. as prec. + -NESS.] The quality or character of being transcendent: = TRANSCENDENCY.

1625 BP. MOUNTAGU App. Cæsar viii. 75 Why are you enraged against me, if I cannot attaine the measure of your transcendentnesse, but confesse my disability and imperfection? 1730 [see † TRANSCENDENTNESS]. 1874 PUSEY Lent. Serm. 308 [S. Paul] piles up words upon words to utter as he may, that which is unutterable; the transcendentness of the might of the grace of God to usward.

† Transcendiary. Obs. nonce-wd. [? irreg. after incendiary, f. L. transcend-ĕre to TRANSCEND: see -ARY.] A transcendent person or thing; in quot., an eminent quality.

1654 FULLER Two Serm. 60 Some grand Vices..Infected the transcendiaries of their highest atchievements.

† Transcendible, a. Obs. rare. [f. as TRANSCEND + -IBLE.] Capable of being transcended or surmounted.

1684–94 tr. Plutarch's Mor. (1874) II. 220 It appears that Romulus slew his brother, because he attempted to leap over a sacred and inaccessible place, and to render it transcendible and profane.

Transcending (transcending), ppl. a. [f. TRANSCEND v. + -ING 2.] That transcends; surpassing; supereminent; transcendent.

a 1529 [implied in TRANSCENDINGLY]. 1598 [see TRANSCENDENT A. 1]. 1641 Vind. Smectymnuus xiii. 71 A building of that transcending loftiness. 1713 DERHAM Phys.-Theol. IV. xii. 216 Man..being endowed with the transcending Faculty of Reason. 1852 MRS. JAMESON Leg. Madonna 156 An angel, might well prostrate himself as witness of the transcending miracle.

Hence Transcendingly adv., transcendently; Transcendingness, transcendence.

a 1529 SKELTON Replyc. Wks. 1862 II. 232 Excellently enformed and transcendingly sped in moche high connyng. 1730 BAILEY (folio), Transcendingness, Transcendingness, Surpassingness. 1817 A. BONAR Serm. II. xx. 443 How transcendingly glorious does he appear! 1874 PUSEY Lent. Serm. 306 'I hat the transcendingness of the power', they say, 'may be of God, and not from us'.

Transcension (trănse·nʃăn). rare. [ad. med.L. transcensiōn-em (c380 Jerome Ezech. Homil. XI. 1), n. of action from transcend-ĕre (ppl. stem transcens-) to TRANSCEND.] A passing beyond or above, transcendence.

c 1611 CHAPMAN Hymne to Venus 487 My muse, affecting first, thy fame to raise; Shall make transcension now, to others praise. 1886 American XII. 152 He laid great stress on miracles and all transcension of law.

† Transcent. Obs. rare. [f. TRANSCEND, after ascent, descent.] The act of passing over or crossing.

1621 G. SANDYS Ovid's Met. IX. ii. (1626) 177 Nor seekes the smoothest wayes: Nor by declining his transcent delayes.

† Transchange, v. Obs. [f. TRANS- 2 + CHANGE v.: cf. obs. F. transchangement (Cotgr.).] trans. To transform; to transmute.

a 1598 ROLLOCK Serm. Wks. 1849 I. 398 Be schining it could never sa transchange an creature. a 1656 FITZ-GERRAY Holy Transport. (1881) 197 O Tygers into humane shape transchang'd. 1662 J. CHANDLER Van Helmont's Oriat. To Rdr., The which colour hath transchanged thee into black darkness; thou being a white and red Virgin.

† Transchangeative, a. Obs. rare. [irreg. f. prec. + -ATIVE; cf. talkative.] Having the faculty of changing or tendency to change.

1662 J. CHANDLER Van Helmont's Oriat. 157 The objects of taste sitting immediately in some body, cannot by reason of their corporeal thickness, form a transchangeative Image. Ibid. 244 The transchangeative virtue of the Archeus.

Trans-channel, a. [TRANS- 3, 8.] (Passing) across a channel, esp. across the English or Irish Channel; crossing the Channel.

1894 Westm. Gaz. 7 June 7/1 Trans-channel cycling. 1901 Daily Chron. 6 Sept. 6/2 The Admiralty Pier [at Dover] from which the trans-Channel passenger traffic is now conducted. 1909 Westm. Gaz. 12 July 7/1 The monoplane.. would not be ready to make the actual trans-Channel flight.

Transclout, obs. form of TRENCHER.

†Trans,clout·t, v. Obs. nonce-wd. [f. TRANS- 2 + CLOUT *sb.*1 4 b.] trans. To transform or disfigure with clouts or mis-shapen clothing.

1647 WARD Simp. Cobler 25 Those women..disfigure themselves with such garbes, as not only dismantles their native lovely lustre, but transclouts them into gant bar-geese.

†Tra·ns,colate, v. Obs. rare. [f. ppl. stem of mod.L. transcolāre* (after percolāre to PERCOLATE), or obs. F. transcouler (Cotgr.) from same source + -ATE 3.] trans. To cause (liquid) to pass through a porous substance or medium; to strain, filter; = PERCOLATE v. 1. Hence †Tra·nscolating ppl. a.

1615 CROOKE Body of Man 416 The vrine is transcolated through the flesh of the kidneis. 1662 LOVELL Hist. Anim. & Min. 315 The kidnies..are to draw, seperate, and transcolate whatever is serous and aqueous in the vessels, both veines and arteries. 1684 tr. Bonet's Merc. Compit. III. 93 Fortis transcolates the juices through Sand. 1817 PETTIGREW Mem. Lettsom 111. 303 By transcolation, or by passing through the transcolating pores of all the solids.

†Trans,cola·tion. Obs. [f. as prec. + -ATION. Cf. obs. F. transcoulation (Cotgr.).] The process of transcolating; straining, filtration; = PERCOLATION a.

1634 T. JOHNSON Parey's Chirurg. IX. i. (1678) 216 That solution of Continuity..which is generated by sweating out and transcolation, [termed] Diapedesis. 1662 STILLINGFL. Orig. Sacr. III. iv. § 6 More translocation may by degrees take away that which the Chymists call the fixed salt. 1702 W. COWPER in Phil. Trans. XXIII. 1185 In Bruises when the Blood is extravasated, it goes off either by Transcolation or else causes an Abscess. 1817 [see TRANSCOLATING].

†Trans,co·lorate, v. Obs. rare. [f. TRANS- 2 + COLORATE v.] = TRANSCOLOUR. Hence †Trans-co·lorated ppl. a., transcoloured.

1823 J. BADCOCK Dom. Amusem. 43 The Transcolourated Writing.

Trans,colora·tion, -colourа·tion. Now rare or Obs. [f. TRANS- + COLORATION.] The action or process of transcolouring; change of colour.

1664 POWER Exp. Philos. I. 74 Experiments in the Extraction, Commixtion, and Transcoloration of Tinctures. *c*1790 IMISON Sch. Art II. 94 Among the most pleasing as well as surprizing phenomena of nature [are] the transcolourations produced by chemistry. 1827 Blackw. Mag. XXI. 781 True, through all transformations, and transfigurations, and transcolorations, to their original..forms, figures, and colours.

†Trans,co·lour, v. Obs. rare. [f. TRANS- 2 + COLOUR v.: cf. F. transcolorare 'to discolour or chaunge colour' (Florio).] trans. To change the colour of; to cause to change colour.

1664 POWER Exp. Philos. I. 75 By its acidity is transcoloured into English Beer. 1669 COKAINE Poems 47 Do not believe I counterfeit, who think Verses in your praise would transcolour Inke. 1837 C. LOFFT Self-formation II. 262, I was never so transcoloured.

Trans-co·ndyloid, a. Surg. [f. TRANS- 5 + CONDYLE: cf. condyloid.] Traversing or cutting across the condyles.

1888 Buck's Handbk. Med. Sc. I. 160/2 Hence this [Dr. W. Stokes'] amputation is generally known as the supracondyloid amputation, that of Carden being known as the trans-condyloid operation. 1899 Syd. Soc. Lex., Transcondyloid amputation of thigh. Carden's operation.

Trans-co·nscious, a. rare−1. [TRANS- 4.] That is beyond or outside of consciousness or cognition.

1865 MASSON Rec. Brit. Philos. ii. 96 He recognised the ideas of three supra-sensuous or trans-conscious objects—God, the Soul, and the World.

Trans-continе·ntal, a. [f. TRANS- 3 + CONTINENTAL. Cf. mod.F. transcontinental (Littré).] That extends or passes across a continent; also, of or pertaining to the farther side of a continent.

1869 J. A. POOR (title) Transcontinental Railway [from Atlantic to Pacific in U. S.]. 1876 J. A. ALLEN Amer. Bison (1877) 465 The great trans-continental emigrant route by way of the South Pass. 1883 W. J. SMITH in 19th Cent. Nov. 841 The trans-continental railway which Queensland is about to construct. 1898 Westm. Gaz. 27 Sept. 6/1 Mr. R. L. J—, the well-known Trans-Continental cyclist, arrived safely in Khiva on the 5th inst.

†Trans,co·rporate, v. Obs. rare. [f. late L. transcorporāre (c 200 Irenæus): see -ATE 3, and cf. med.L. transcorporātus (Du Cange).]

1. trans. To change into a different body or substance; to transubstantiate.

1570 FOXE A. & M. (ed. 2) 1314/1 Notwithstandyng that ye substance of bread and wyne was nowe banished out of the Sacrament, and vtterly transcorporated into the substance of Christes very body and blood: yet was not this body eleuated..nor adored..till the dayes of Pope Honorius the 3.

2. intr. To migrate from one body to another; to transmigrate. Hence †Transco·rporating ppl. a., holding the doctrine of transmigration.

Cf. TRANSINCORPORATION, and med.L. transcorporatio.

1658 SIR T. BROWNE Hydriot. iv. 34 The Pythagorians and transcorporating Philosophers, who were to be often buried, held great care of their interment.

Trans,co·rtical, a. Anat. and Path. [TRANS- 5.] Crossing the cortex of the brain; in quot., caused by a lesion involving a cross-section of the cerebral cortex.

1900 Brit. Med. Jrnl. 5 May 1104 This phenomenon the author considered analogous to the motor disturbances in the shape of aphasia which has been termed transcortical motor aphasia. 1902 Lancet 20 Apr. 1126.

Trans,crea·te, v. nonce-wd. [TRANS- 2.] trans. To create by or in the way of transmission.

1834 COLERIDGE in Lit. Rem. (1839) IV. 166 Not the qualities merely, but the root of the qualities is transcreated. How else could it be a birth,—a creation?

Tran,scri·bble, v. rare. [f. TRANS- + SCRIBBLE v., after transcribe.] trans. To transcribe carelessly or hastily. So Transcri·bbler, a careless or hasty transcriber.

1706 GRAY Let. to Wharton in W. Mason Mem. (1807) II. 37 He [Aristotle] has suffered vastly from the transcribblers, as all authors of great brevity necessarily must. 1750 COVENTRY Pompey Litt. III. xii, He..once in a quarter of a year, took the pains to transcribble a sermon out of various authors. 1821 BYRON Let. to Moore 19 Sept., Such licentiousness of Verb and Noun as may tend to 'disparage my parts of speech' by the carelessness of the transcribblers.

Transcribe (tran|skrai·b), v. Also 7 transscribe. [ad. L. transcribĕre, f. trans, TRANS- + scribĕre to write.]

1. trans. To make a copy of (something) in writing; to copy out from an original; to write (a copy). Also absol.

1552 HULOET, Transcribe, transcribo. 1611 COTGR., Transcrire, to transcribe, to write or copie out. 1641 ELSING Debates Ho. Lords (Camden) 101 He couldc not tell whether all was transcrybed by his clerke. 1655 Nicholas Papers (Camden) II. 238 The enclosed leters..which I have desired your sonne for to beter satisfaction to transcribe. 1732 BERKELEY Alciphr. VI. § 3 The primitive Christians were careful to transcribe copies of the gospels. 1837 LOCKHART Scott I. v. 134 The Writer's Apprentice receives a certain allowance in money for every page he transcribes. 1859 MACAULAY in Life & Lett. (1913) II. xii. 266 Tomorrow I shall begin to transcribe again and to polish.

b. Less exactly: To copy or reproduce the matter or statements of (a writing or book) without regard to the wording; to quote, cite. Now rare.

a 1633 AUSTIN Medit. (1635) 221 A Tradition (which I find not in Abdias, Hieron of Haldyn; nor in any of Ecclesiastical Legends that I thinke were almost all transcribed from him). 1646 SIR T. BROWNE Pseud. Ep. II. i. 50 Solinus who transcribed Plinie..hath in this point dissented from him. 1676 RAY Corr. (1848) 122 All which..makes me suspect he transcribed what he hath out of some writer, either Dutch, French, or Italian. 1726 POPE Odyss. V. Notes 285, I have sometimes used Madam Dacier as she has done others, in transcribing some of her Remarks without particularizing them. 1747 WESLEY Prim. Physick (1762) p. xviii, A few plain, easy rules. Chiefly transcribed from Dr. Cheyne. 1859 SCORESBY Cheever's Whalem. Adv. vi. (1858) 76 Which we have not room to transcribe here.

2. To write out in other characters, to transliterate; to write out (a shorthand account) in ordinary 'long-hand'; formerly also, to translate or render accurately in another language.

1639 T. CLARY (title) The Mirrour which Flatters not.. Transcrib'd into English from the French [of La Serre]...And devoted to the well-disposed Readers. 1669 tr. Begninus' Tyme, Chym. To Rdr., It becomes every man, about to transcribe, or render the Works of another in his own native Tongue, neither to add any thing of his own, nor to omit of the Author's. 1724 A. COLLINS Gr. Chr. Relig. 138 All the books..were transcribd, as is usually supposd, out of the Hebrew into the Chaldee Character. 1895 RANOUF Egypt. Gram. I The omitted vowels are conventionally transcribed by the letter e. 1897 BROWNING (title) The Agamemnon of Æschylus transcribed by Robert Browning.

b. Mus. To adapt (a composition) for a voice or instrument other than that for which it was originally written.

1891 in Cent. Dict.

†3. fig. To copy or imitate (a person, his qualities, actions, etc.); to reproduce. Obs.

1647 CRASHAW Poems 106 Thou and the lovely hopes that smile in thee Are ta'en out, and transcribed by thy great mother! 1664 EVELYN tr. Freart's Archit. Ep. Ded. 5 As many of those Illustrious Persons as by their large and magnificent Structures transcribe your Royal Example. 1709 WATTS Hymn 'My dear Redeemer' ii, Such love, and meekness so divine, I would transcribe, and make them mine. a 1729 ROGERS (J.), If we imitate their repentance as we transcribe their faults.

†4. To attribute or ascribe to another by transference. Obs.

1561 T. NORTON Calvin's Inst. IV. xiv. (1634) 634 margin, Sacraments..be meanes whereby faith groweth, yet so that no power proper unto God be transcribed from him unto them. 1610 R. ABBOTT Old Way 15 The Papists..who have transcribed the authority of Religion to mortall Men, to Doctors, and Fathers, and Councels. 1651 C. CARTWRIGHT Cert. Relig. II. 34 As he used to transcribe to the Father whatsoever divine power was in him, so the Apostle doth not improperly transferre to the Father that which was Christs most proper work.

5. Roman Law. To transfer, assign, make over to another; = L. transcribere: cf. TRANSCRIPTION 4. 1880 (see transcribed below).

Hence Transcribed (-skrai·bd) ppl. a.; Transcri·bing vbl. sb. and ppl. a.

1700 P. LORRAIN in Pepys' Diary, etc. (1879) VI. 229 The transcribing of the Appendix. 1709 STEELE Tatler No. 19 P 2 Small Quill-men and Transcribing Clerks. 1880 MUNKHEAD Caius III. § 128 A literal obligation is created by transcribed entries; and these are made in two ways,—either from thing to person, or from person to person.

Transcriber (tran|skrai·bər). [f. TRANSCRIBE + -ER 1.] One who transcribes; a copyist or copier, as distinct from an original writer.

1610 HOLLAND Camden's Brit. (1637). The carelesse negligence of transcribers. 1654 FULLER Ephemeris Pref. 3, I who have no commission to be an Author, but a Transcriber. 1791 Gentl. Mag. Jan. 21/1 The dull transcribers of printed sermons. 1841 D'ISRAELI Amen. Lit. (1867) 218 Spurious writings..ascribed by ignorant transcribers to some ancient sage.

Transcript (tran|skript), sb. (a.) Forms: a. 3–4 transcrit, (3 traunscrit), 5 transcrite, (6 tancrete). β. 5–7 transcripte, (6 -scrypt), 5– transcript. [a. OF. transcrit (AF. also transescrit, transecrit) copy of a document, etc. (1221 in Godef.) :—L. transcript-um, sb. use of pa. pples. of F. transcrire, and L. transcribĕre to TRANSCRIBE. In 15th c. assimilated to the L. form transcriptum (evidenced from c 1200, in English use). A worn-down F. form tancrit, tanscrit (13th c. in Godef.), appears to be represented in 16th c. Eng. by tancrete (Skelton): see B.]

1. A written copy; also transf. a printed reproduction of this; spec. in Law, a copy of a legal record.

a. c 1290 Beket 551 in S. Eng. Leg. I. 122 Of ower olde lawes transcrit ye me take. Ibid. 553 be king him let a traunscrit take of his custumes echon. 1454 Rolls of Parlt. V. 248/1 That a transcrite of this same Acte..be sent unto our seid Tresorer. 1522 [see B.]

b. 1467 Mem. in Yonge's Jesuit. Exp. Eng. (Roxb.) 402 Item, for a transcripte of the offyce of Gorge, ij. s. 1481 Coventry Leet Bk. 493 A transcript of which letre hereafter ensueth. 1538 FITZHERB. Just. Peas 187 The clerke of the petit bagge to certify the transcrypt of every suche offyce. 1611 SPEED Hist. Gt. Brit. IX. viii. § 54 The Archbishop and other Barons, are so cunningly named in the Popes Transcript, as if [etc.]. 1642 CHAS. I Answ. Declar. both Ho. 1 July 36 That which now remains being but a Transcript of a Transcript. 1788 GIBBON Decl. & F. xliv. (1869) III. 637 Authentic transcripts were multiplied by the pens of notaries and scribes. 1803 in Gurw. Wellington's Desp. (1837) II. 117 note, The note that I address'd to him..., a transcript of which is contained in the enclosure. 1875 SCRIVENER Lect. Text N. Test. 15 The successive transcripts between the sacred autograph and the document before us.

b. A verbal or close translation or rendering. ? nonce-use. Cf. TRANSCRIBE v. 2.

1871 BROWNING (title) Balaustion's Adventure: including a transcript from Euripides.

2. transf. and fig. A copy, imitation, reproduction; a representation, rendering, interpretation.

1646 J. GREGORY Notes & Obs. Pref. (1650) 1 The Lesser worlds or men are but the Transcripts of the Greater, as Children and Bookes the Copies of themselves. 1647 CLARENDON Hist. Reb. I. § 53 Some Transcripts of such Expressions..he spreit with amongst the People. 1657 TRAPP Comm. Job iv. 3 Let our lives be a true transcript of our Sermons. 1711 ADDISON Spect. No. 166 P 1 Words are the Transcript of those Ideas which are in the Mind of Man, and ..Writing or Printing are the Transcripts of Words. 1781 COWPER Expost. 198 They only..Received the transcript of the eternal mind. 1860 WESTCOTT Introd. Study Gosp. vii. (ed. 5) 367 The Gospel of St. Mark is essentially a transcript from life. 1869 MCLAREN Serm. Ser. ii. iii. (1873) 42 The artist that is satisfied with his transcript of his ideal will not grow any more.

B. ppl. a. Transcribed, copied.

c 1450 Godstow Reg. 102 A Transcripte charter of philippe Basset I-made to the mynchons of Godestowe. 1522 SKELTON Why not to Court 417 I shall be as he wyll Stop at law tancrete, An abstract or a concrete.

†Tran,scri·pt, v. Obs. rare. [f. L. transcript-, ppl. stem of transcribĕre to TRANSCRIBE.] trans. = TRANSCRIBE. Hence †Transcri·pting vbl. sb.

1592 G. HARVEY Pierce's Super. Wks. (Grosart) II. 123, I haue lost more labour then the transcripting of this Censure. 1609 Sir T. Smith's Commwe. Eng. To Rdr. 2 Corruption of coppies, happening..by the often transcripting. 1633 T. STAFFORD Pac. Hib. III. xiii. (1821) 625 A Letter from Sir Robert Cecill unto the Lord Deputie, and the same transcripted..unto the President.

Transcription (tran|skrip·ʃən). [ad. L. transcriptiōn-em, n. of action f. transcribĕre to transcribe, or a. F. transcription (16th c. in Godef. Compt.).]

1. The action or process of transcribing or copying. Also fig.

1598 FLORIO, Trascrittione, a transcription, a writing, or copying out. 1610 HEALEY St. Aug. Citie of God 548 The error was committed in the transcription of the copy from Ptolomies library. 1664 H. MORE Myst. Iniq. 93 By a diligent comparting of Copies upon every transcription. 1762 J. KENNEDY Compl. Syst. Astronom. Chronol. ad fin., Evidence which no transcription can corrupt. a 1848 R. W. HAMILTON Rem. & Punishm. I. (1853) 45 We might take the Decalogue and trace its transcription upon the soul of man. 1858 J. H. NEWMAN Hist. Sk. (1873) III. IV. xi. 416 Manual labour..applied to the transcription and multiplication of books..was a method of instruction.

b. Transliteration.

1869 FARRAR Fam. Speech i. (1873) 10 He succeeded in demonstrating the law of transcription, and for the first time reading these names in their proper form. Ibid. 24 The transcription into Russian letters.

2. The product of this process; a transcript; a copy.

1650 Vind. Hammond's Addr. § 88 Besides this transcription, there is but one passage..., to which he thinkes fit to make reply. 1697 Rumsby Org. Salutis Ep. Ded. (1659) 11 Most medicinal Books are usually but meer transcriptions from former Writers. 1696 Phillips (ed. 5), Transcription, a Writing copied, or transcribed. 1882–3 Schaff's Encycl. Relig. Knowl. I. 116/2 A transcription of the work, made in the beginning of the third century.

3. Mus. The arrangement, or (less properly) modification, of a composition for some voice or instrument other than that for which it was originally written; an instance of this, a transcribed piece.

1864 in Webster. 1878 E. J. Hopkins in Grove Dict. Mus. I. 21/1 Variations or adaptations like the popular 'Transcriptions' of the present day. 1889 Athenæum 26 Dec. 851/1 To the musically ear the term 'transcription' has generally an unpleasant sound, because it frequently bears reference to some uncalled-for distortion of a composer's original idea.

4. Roman Law. A transfer, assignment (of a debt or obligation); = L. transcriptio.

1677 Owen Justif. Wks. 1851 V. 170 This he [Paul] did by the transcription of both the debts of Onesimus to himself. 1880 Muirhead Gaius III. § 129 There is transcription from thing to person when, for example, I enter to your debit a sum you already owe me by reason of a purchase, a conduction, or a partnership.

Hence Transcri·ptional a., of, pertaining to, or of the nature of transcription; Transcri·ptionally adv., on transcriptional grounds.

1881 Westcott & Hort Gr.k. N. T. Introd. § 29 Transcriptional Probability is not directly concerned with the relative excellence of rival readings, but merely with the relative fitness of each for explaining the existence of the others. 1905 J. R. Harris in Expositor Sept. 166 Traces of such transcriptional errors. 1907 H. S. Cronin in Eng. Hist. Rev. Apr. 294 Both Latin versions must have had some transcriptional history. 1911 K. Lake Earlier Ep. St. Paul 419 The omission is transcriptionally slightly the more probable reading.

Transcriptitious (trɑnsˌskripti·ʃəs), a. rare. [f. L. transcript-, ppl. stem of transcribĕre to Transcribe + -itious[1]. Cf. late L. transcriptitius, -ĭtius belonging to a transfer or assignment.] Derived from or arising out of a transcription; of the nature or character of a transcript.

1658–87 H. More App. Antid. (1712) 181 That there is no such Idea of God...as we have describ'd, neither Innate, nor Acquisitious, or Transcriptitious; because it involves in it the Notion of a Spirit. 1802–12 Bentham Ration. Judic. Evid. (1827) II. 436 Presupposed evidence may be distinguished into original and transcriptitious. Ibid. III. 396 Evidence...termed transcriptitious or transcriptural.

Transcriptive (trɑnˌskri·ptiv), a. [f. as prec. + -ive; cf. descriptive, etc.]

1. Having the quality or habit of transcribing; given, devoted, or tending to transcription.

1646 Sir T. Browne Pseud. Ep. I. viii. 29 Although excellent and useful Authors, yet being either transcriptive, or following the common relations of things, their accounts are not to be swallowed at large. Ibid. 33 He is to be embraced...as a transcriptive relator. 1823 Byron Let. in Eng. Stud. (1897) XXXIII. 453, I sent to Mrs. S——a few Scenes more of the drama begun for her transcriptive leisure. 1888 Cave Inspir. O. Test. viii. 455 Transcriptive Inspiration...moves the writers to write.

2. Rom. Law. Transferring obligation: cf. Transcription 4.

1875 Poste Gaius III. § 131. 11 Transcriptive entries differ from mere entries of a person as debtor to cash.

Hence Tran|scri·ptively adv. rare, in a transcriptive manner; by way of transcription.

1646 Sir T. Browne Pseud. Ep. I. vi. 21 Authors write often dubiously...Not a few transcriptively,...meerely transcribing almost all they have written.

† Tran|scri·ptor. Obs. rare. [a. L. type transcriptor*, agent-n. from transcribĕre to Transcribe: cf. rare F. transcripteur (Littré).] = Transcriber.

1617 Moryson Itin. II. 29 The Transcriptor fifty three shillings foure pence. 1811 in 2nd Rep. Rec. Irel. 141 A Transcript of the Process..lodged with the Transcriptor and Foreign Appeyser, meerly actually to passing his Accounts for the year of his Sheriffalty.

Tran|scri·ptural, a. [f. L. transcript-us transcribed, after scriptural.] = Transcriptional.

1802–12 Bentham Ration. Judic. Evid. (1827) III. 223 Chains of written evidence in the form of transcriptural evidence. Ibid. V. 19 n. II. 278 Whether, provisionally at least, inferior evidence may not be employed...transcriptural, for instance, instead of original. 1863 Westcott in Smith's Dict. Bible II. 577/2 note, Two characteristic transcriptural errors occur in the passage.

† Tran|scrive, v. Obs. rare. [f. Trans- + Scrive v. (Cf. F. transcrire-, stem of transcrire :—L. transcribĕre.)] = Transcribe.

1665 in Maitland Cl. Misc. (1840) II. 524 For transcryveing a paper in a fine hand sent to London.

† Trans|cu·r, v. Obs. rare. [ad. L. transcurrĕre to run across. Cf. OF. transcourir (12th–15th c. in Godef.).] trans. and intr. To run across or over; to run or rove to and fro.

1548 Londesay Dreme 777 Tygris, Ganges, Ewphrates, and Nyle, Quhilk, in the est, Transcurris mony ane myle. 1626 Bacon Sylva § 720 It is caused by the Fixing of the Minde upon one Object...whereby it doth not spatiate and transcurre, as it useth.

† Trans|cu·rrence. Obs. rare. [f. as next: see -ence.] A running or passing over rapidly.

1656 Blount Glossogr., Transcurrence..., a running over, a passing over quickly. 1658 in Phillips.

Transcurrent (trɑnsˌkʌ·rənt), a. [ad. L. transcurrent-em, pr. pple. of transcurr-ĕre.]

† 1. Running or passing across, over, or through.

1608 Hieron Defence III. 56 The honoring of a consecrated creature..with an honor passant, or transcurrent, from and through it to the Creator. 1664 Power Exp. Philos. III. 169 All the Circles of the Armillary Sphære are really..inherent in the Earth, by virtue of the transcurrent Atoms.

2. Anatom. Extending or running transversely.

1826 Kirby & Sp. Entomol. IV. 249 Transcurrent...When a postifrænum is at first adnate to the sides of the postscutellum, and then diverges across the pannel to the base of the wings.

† Trans|cu·rsion. Obs. [ad. late L. transcursiōn-em, n. of action f. transcurrĕre to run across.]

1. The action of running or passing across or through; a going or moving through, transition, penetration; also, a journey or passage through a country, across the sea, etc.

1624 Wotton Archit. in Relig. (1651) 307 Such notes as I have taken in my forraigne transcursions or abodes. 1626 Bacon Sylva x. Prin., In a Living Creature..the Sense, and the Affects of any one Part of the Body, instantly make a Transcursion thorowout the whole Body. 1653 H. More Antid. Ath. II. xii. § 17 (1712) 84 To wonder at the transcursion of Comets. 1655 Fuller Ch. Hist. x. vi. § 6 The transcursion of Italians hither, and much to the discovery of the Papal corruptions. 1665 Hooke Microgr. Lxxvi. 166 To impede, for the greatest part, the transcursion of the Air.

2. fig. A running through a subject in discourse.

1641 H. L'Estrange God's Sabbath 55 Not to expatiate too farre in collaterall transcursions. 1657 Howell Londinopl. 41 Having made a short transcursion through the Government of the City of London.

3. Passage, lapse (of time).

1622 Mabbe tr. Aleman's Guzman d'Alf. II. 44 Wisedome is the Daughter of Experience, which is gotten by the transcursion of Time. Ibid. 288 Nor was transcursion of time needfull in this case.

† Trans|cu·rsive, a. obs. rare. [f. L. transcurs-, ppl. stem of transcurr-ĕre + -ive.] Characterized by running rapidly over a subject; cursory.

1599 Nashe Lenten Stuffe (1871) 8 In this transcursive reportory, without some convert glance, I may not overpass thy gallant beauty of their haven. 1614 Jackson Creed III. To Rdr. 5 b, To sift more of their arguments, then in these short transcursiue disputes I could.

† Trans|cu·rsory, a. Obs. rare. [f. as prec. + -ory[2]; cf. cursory, and late L. transcursōri-us.] = prec. Hence † Transcu·rsorily adv. Obs. rare.

1727 Eaerbury tr. Burnet's Ant. Dead (1728) I. 238, I shall therefore just take a transcursory View of his Arguments. Ibid. II. 177, I have transcursorily taken a view of the Doctor's Notions.

Transcurva·tion. [Trans- 6.] Transverse or lateral curvature (of the spine).

1882–34 Good's Study Med. (ed. 4) III. 263 This species offers us the four following varieties..y Lateralis, Tetanic transcurvation.

Transdialect (trɑnsdəi·ˈlɛkt, -z-), v. rare. [f. Trans- + Dialect.] trans. To translate from one dialect into another.

1698 C. Boyle Bentley's Dissert. (ed. 2) 52 If some Copyer, though this Ocellus's Physics would look better out of Doric, than in it, and therefore transdialected 'em. 1776 Burney Hist. Mus. I. 331 The poems under the name of Orpheus were written in the Doric dialect, but have since been transdialected, or transversed. 1830 J. Douglas Truths Relig. (1832) 361 The book of Job appears to be the original Arabic of Job and his friends transdialected and amplified by Moses.

† Transdi·gnify, v. Obs. rare. [Trans- 2.] trans. To transfer from one dignity or rank to another.

1655 J. Sergeant Schism Disarm'd 212 The Popes Universal Power must be supposed to be transdignifi'd into a private Patriarchate.

Transdiurnal (trɑnsdəiˌʌ·rnəl, -z-), a. nonce-wd. [Trans- 3.] That is beyond the confines of day.

1848 Lowell Fable for Critics 504 [Carlyle] shows you how every-day matters unite With the dim transdiurnal recesses of Time,—While Emerson in a plain, preternatural way, Makes mysteries matters of mere every day.

Transduction (trɑnsˌdʌ·kʃən). rare. [ad. L. transduction-em (usually traŭductiōnem), n. of action f. tra(ns)dūcĕre: see Traduce.] The action of leading or bringing across.

1656 Blount Glossogr., Transduction, a leading over, a removing from one place to another. a 1826 Bentham Offic. Apt. Maximized. Introd. View (1830) 19 In lieu of adduction, as the purpose requires, will be subjoined abduction, transduction,..and so forth.

‖ Transdu·ctor. Anat. [L. agent-n. from tra(ns)dūcĕre: see prec.] That which draws across: applied to a muscle of the great toe.

[1890 Billings Med. Dict., Transductor hallucis.] 1899 Syd. Soc. Lex., Transductor, syn. of Transversus pedis.

Transe, obs. form of Trance.

† Transearth (trɑnsˈɛ·ɹəθ, -z-), v. Obs. rare. [f. Trans- 2 + Earth sb. or v.] trans. To move from one soil to another; to transplant.

1628 Feltham Resolves II. [1.] xix. 60 Fruites of hotter Countries, trans-earth'd in colder Climates.

† Transeate (trɑnsˈiˌeɪt), v. Obs. rare[−1]. [erron. f. L. transe-o I pass over (as if transe-āre*) + -ate[3].] intr. To pass over or across.

1657 Tomlinson Renou's Disp. 221 The vinous parts of the wine transeating into vinegar.

Transect (trɑnsˈɛkt), v. Also 9 transsect. [f. Tran(s- + sect-, ppl. stem of L. secāre to cut; see Sect v.[2]] trans. To cut across; to divide by passing across; in Anat. to dissect transversely. Hence Transe·cted ppl. a.

1634 Sir T. Herbert Trav. 161 Who with a Sword of a hundred Cubits length, cut off at one blow ten thousand Christians heads, and transected Taurus. 1845 Dana Zoöph. (1848) 711 The concentric layers in these transected knobs. 1851 E. T. Holland Iceland in Peaks, Passes, etc. Ser. II. 1. 8 The plain of Thing-vellir..is transected by numerous longitudinal crevasses in the lava. 1888 Amer. Jrnl. Psychol. May 488 The transsected sheaths of the tubules. 1890 O. Crawfund Round Calendar in Port. 178 The river Douro that transects the northern provinces of Portugal from east to west.

So Transection (trɑnseˈkʃən) [cf. Section], the action of transecting; a transverse section.

1899 Allbutt's Syst. Med. VI. 518 Transection of the spinal cord above the lumbar enlargement depresses the knee-jerk for a time.

Transelement (trɑnsˌeˈlʌment), v. [ad. med. L. transelementāre, f. Trans- + L. element-um Element.] trans. To change or transmute the elements of. Hence Trans,e·lementing vbl. sb.

1567 Jewel Def. Apol. Ch. Eng. II. 238 For, as he saith, wee are Transelemented, or transnatured, and changed into Christe, euen so,..wee sayd, The Breade is Transelemented, or changed into Christes Body. 1583 Foxe A. & M. 1379/2 [Chrysostom] hath these same playne words, transelemented, and transformed. 1656 S. Holland Zara (1719) 33 For that he remained for a time as one transelemented. 1812–29 Coleridge in Lit. Rem. (1838) III. 94 That the body of our Lord was not transelemented or transnatured by the pleroma indwelling, we are positively assured by Scripture. 1895 Pusey Doctr. Real Presence Note Q. 186 The Divine gifts were amnesty of evils, removal of sin, transelementing of nature. 1898 Gladstone Glean. (1879) III. 264 The old monotheism was (so to speak) transelemented, and caricatured, into the gorgeous but gross and motley religion of the Greek and Italian peninsulas.

So † Trans,ele·mentate [med.L. transelementātus] ppl. a., transelemented; Trans,ele·mentate v. = transelement.

1579 Fulke Heskins' Parl. 296 The bread & wine are transelementated into the vertue of his flesh & bloud. 1583 Foxe A. & M. 1382/2 The bread (sayth [Chrysostom]) is transelementate, and transmuted into an other substaunce then it was before. 1899 W. R. Inge Chr. Mysticism vii. 257 note, The last-named [Theophylact] goes on to say that we are in the same way transelementated into Christ'.

Trans,ele·mentation. [n. of action from med.L. transelementāre: see above, and quot. 1896.] The action or process of changing the elements of something.

1550 Hoofer Serm. Jonas vi. Siij, The transelementacion and alteracion of the breade, no place of ye scripture commaundeth vs to believe. 1624 F. White Repl. Fisher 421 In Transubstantiation the matter is destroyed, and the quantitie and accidents remaine, and in Transelementation the matter remaineth, and the essentiall and accidentall formes are altered. 1654 Jer. Taylor Real Pres. xii. ¶ 5 The name of Transelementation which Theophylact did use, seems to approach nearer to signify the propriety of this mysterie, because it signifies a change even of the first elements. 1706 tr. Dupin's Eccl. Hist. 16th C. III. v. 53 If any one is offended with the new Term Transubstantiation, he will find that the Ancients used the terms Conversion, Transmutation, Transformation, Transelementation. 1895 Pusey Doctr. Real Presence Note Q. 223 Through what the transelementation of our nature from mortal to immortal takes place. 1896 R. F. Clarke in Month Feb. 207 A conversion (μεταβολή), a transmutation (μετασποιησις), a transelementation (μετασυστοιχωσις).

† Trans,e·minent, a. Obs. rare. [f. Trans- 4 + Eminent.] Eminent beyond others; pre-eminent, supereminent. So † Trans,e·minently, pre-eminence; † Trans,e·minently adv., pre-eminently.

1642 Answ. Observ. agst. King 19 What State businesses soever are fairely carried,..redound transeminently and really to the glory of the Crowne. 1660 Burney Κεφ. Ἀόρατα (1661) This is the transeminentie of the Persons, and they have the Illustrious Character of Kings. Ibid. 22 Our Soveraign Lord.., who hath Reigned in all ages, in the persons transeminent.

Transempirical (trɑnsˌempiˈrikəl), a. rare. [Trans- 4.] Pertaining to things beyond the range of experiential knowledge; metempirical.

1905 W. James in Jrnl. Philos., Psychol. etc. 20 Dec. 712 A conclusion supposed to flow from the intrinsic absurdity of transempirical objects.

Transept (trɑ·nsept). Forms: 6 transsept, 7 -scept, 8– transept. [First found in 16th c., ad. med. or mod. (Anglo-)L. transseptum*, f. Trans- + Septum, prop. sæptum hedge, fence, enclosure, f. sæpire to hedge in, fence in, enclose. (Early history and actual origin unascertained.) Hence mod.F. transept (introd. 1828). The Anglo-L. transeptum is often used by Leland, and in one instance Englished as transsept; but the word was rare before 1700.] The transverse part of a cruciform church considered apart from the nave; also, each of the two subdivisions or arms of this (the north and south transepts).

1538-42 LELAND Itin. (1907) I. 11. 131 It stode in the midle of the transeptum of the chirch. Ibid. III. 239 One Sir John Scylley a knight and his wyfe sumtyme dwellyng in that paroche [Crideton] be buried in the north part of the transeept [ed. 1711 transept] of this [church]. Ibid. 287 In Transepto Eccl. in Merid. parte. Ibid. 292 An exceding goodly Chapel in Transepto of Bishop Stillington and King. 1692 WOOD Ath. Oxon., Fasti 821 His body was buried in the south Transcept or large south Isle joyning to the Choir of St. Peter's Church in Westminster. 1782 WARTON Hist. Kidlington 8 The pediment of the southern Transept is pinnacled, not inelegantly, with a flourished Cross. 1815 J. SMITH Panorama Sc. & Art I. 130 The part running north and south is called the cross or transept. 1870 F. R. WILSON Ch. Lindisf. 79 The chancel roof,..like those of the nave and transepts, is open-timbered.

b. attrib. and Comb., as transept aisle, chapel.

1890 C. H. MOORE Gothic Archit. iii. 160 Where there are no transept aisles..there are..no vertical divisions in the façade [end of transept]. 1900 Trans. Archæological Synf. XV. 281 The vaults of the presbytery and transept-chapels.

Transeptal (transe·ptăl), a. [f. prec. + -AL.] Of, pertaining to, or of the nature of a transept. Hence Transe·ptally adv., in the manner of a transept.

1846 Ecclesiologist V. 152 A parclose..screening off the north transeptal chapel. 1856 Ibid. XVII. 88 A spacious narthex with the prescribed chapels..opening into it transeptally. 1884 Ch. Times XXII. 86 Exeter is noteworthy for its transeptal or 'paddle-box' towers. 1886 WILLIS & CLARK Cambridge III. 261 The chapel is to the west of the hall, and has a transeptal antechapel.

Trans-equatorial, a. [TRANS- 3: cf. equatorial.] Situated on the other side of the equator; also crossing the equator.

1900 Jrnl. R. Geog. Soc. Apr. 381 The Southern, Australian, or trans-equatorial land of our hemisphere.

Trans,essentiate, v. rare. [f. TRANS- 1 + ESSENTIATE v.] trans. To change from one essence or being into another. Hence Trans,essentiating vbl. sb. So Trans,essentiate ppl. a. [ESSENTIATE ppl. a.], changed into another essence. (Const. as pa. pple.)

1675 PENN Eng. Prez. Interests Consid. Wks. 1782 III. 220 Here is no transessentiating or transubstantiating of being, from people to representative. 1839-52 BAILEY Festus XXXV. 554 Curse transessentiate into blessing!

Transetorious, -tory, etc., obs. ff. TRANSITORIOUS, TRANSITORY, etc.

†Transe·xion. Obs. rare. [irreg. f. TRANS- + L. sex-nis SEX + -ION, alter connexion, etc.] Change of sex.

1646 SIR T. BROWNE Pseud. Ep. III. xvii. 147 Not only Mankinde, but many other Animals, may suffer this transexion, we will not deny, or hold it at all impossible. Ibid. 148 Surely it much impeacheth this iterated transexion of Hares, if that be true which Cardan and other Physitians affirm, that Transmutation of sex is only so in opinion.

Transfashion (transfæ·ʃən), v. [TRANS- 2.] trans. To alter or change the fashion of, to transform.

1601 DEACON & WALKER Spirits & Divels 134 He transmuted, transfashioned, transfigured, transformed, or metamorphozed himself into an angel. 1609 W. SCLATER Exep. 1 Thess. (1630) 305 To see..our people so Cameleon-like transfashioned into [etc.]. 1895 POSTE Decret. Real Presence Note Q. 233 God shall 'transfashion (μετασχηματίσει) our vile bodies, to be made like unto His glorious Body'.

Transfeature (transfī·ĭtĭă), v. [TRANS- 2.] trans. To change the features of.

1895 DORA GREENWELL Liber Hum. 33 Outward nature itself is transfigured and transfeatured to their view.

Transfeminate (transfe·minĕt), v. rare. [f. TRANS- + L. femina: cf. EFFEMINATE v.] trans. See quot. 1656. Hence Transfe·minated ppl. a.

1646 SIR T. BROWNE Pseud. Ep. III. xvii. 148 These transfeminated persons were really men at first, although succeeding years produced the manifester evidence of their virilities. 1656 BLOUNT Glossogr., Transfeminate..to turn from woman to man, or from one sex to another. 1898 G. MEREDITH Odes Fr. Hist. 39 With a breath he blew them out, to beat their wings The way of such transfeminated things.

Transfer (transfə·r), sb. [f. TRANSFER v.]

1. Law. Conveyance from one person to another of property, spec. of shares or stock.

1674 Court Bks. Roy. Afr. Co. (P.R.O.). [Form of acceptance] I do accept of —— his transfer of £—abovesaid the day and year abovewritten. 1693 Act 5 Will. & Mary c. 7. § 47 The Fee for examining..a Tickett or Tally in order to make a true Assignement or Transfer..shall..be One penny. 1694 Bank of Eng. Charter 27 July, There shall be constantly kept..a Register, or Book or Books, wherein all Assignments and Transfers shall be entered. 1797 What passed in Lond. Wks. 1755 III. 1. 189 All the Thursday morning was taken up in private transfers. 1766 BLACKSTONE Comm. II. 1. 9 The reciprocal transfer of property by sale, grant, or conveyance. 1788 JEFFERSON Writ. (1859) II. 367 Observations on the transfer of our domestic debt to foreigners. 1817 JAS. MILL Brit. India II. iv. 1. 5 The office in which are effected the transfers of the Company's stock and annuities. 1820 J. GILBART Chr. Atonem. vii. (1852) 204 The lowest case of legal transfer is that of a debt.

2. gen. The act of transferring or fact of being transferred; conveyance or removal from one place, person, etc. to another; transference; transmission.

1785 BURKE Corr. (1844) III. 23 To remonstrate against the transfer of an immense sum of public money from the national service. 1811 J. ADAMS Wks. (1856) X. 3, I wait with patience for a transfer to another scene. 1843 LYTTON Last Bar. I. iii, An amply sufficient cause for the transfer of his allegiance. 1870 JEVONS Elem. Logic iv. 32 Equivocal words have become so by a transfer of meaning. 1877 KNIGHT Dict. Mech. 1334/2 The third lithographic method is by transfer...The work is not drawn or engraved upon the stone direct, but is placed there in a completed condition from some source furnishing it. 1907 Trans. Devon Assoc. 50 The transfer of the county See to Exeter.

b. Naut. In tacking: The distance traversed at right angles to the line of advance.

1889 Cent. Dict. s.v. Advance 12, In naval tactics, the distance made by a ship under way, in the direction of her course, after the helm has been put to one side and kept there; opposed to transfer, the distance made at right angles to the original course.

3. A thing (rarely, a person) that is transferred; spec. writing, drawing, or a design, conveyed from one surface to another in lithography, photography, and the like.

1889 Trans. Royal Soc. IV. 133 Twenty-three specimens of photographs, made by Sir John Herschel, accompany this paper..copies of engravings and drawings, some reverse, or first transfers; and others second transfers or re-reversed pictures. 1894 WEBSTER, Transfer..a soldier removed from one troop, or body of troops, and placed in another. 1877 KNIGHT Dict. Mech., Transfer, an impression taken on paper, cloth, etc., and then laid upon an object and caused to adhere thereto by pressure. 1880 Pract. Trade Synf. xxxi. 38 A transfer paper is prepared..on which the transfer to be preserved is pulled. 1883 Hardwich's Photogr. Chem. 311 If a mat surface be desired, the transfer should be stripped from the glass before it is quite dry.

4. A means or place of transfer. Chiefly U.S. spec. a. U.S. Post Office. A telegraphic money-order. b. On a railway, etc.:

(a) A place at which trains or cars are transferred to a ferry for water transport; also, a ferry by which trains or cars are transported. (b) A sliding connecting tracks at a crossing or on different levels (Webster 1911). (c) A transfer-ticket (Cent. Dict.). (d) The conveyance of passengers and luggage from one railway station to another, when these are not contiguous; hence transfer-company, a company which undertakes such conveyance between stations.

c. Archery. A sheet to which all scores are transferred from the target-papers.

1909 Cent. Dict. Suppl. s.v. The transfers are the official record from which the prize-list is made up.

5. attrib. and Comb., as transfer-boat, -clerk, -company (4b), -deed, -department, -form, office, -process, rate; transfer-book, a register of transfers of property, esp. that of its shares or stock, kept by a joint-stock company; transfer-day, at the Bank of England, a day for the register of transfers of bank-stock; transfer-elevator, a crane for transferring cargo from one vessel to another; transfer-fee, that charged by a joint-stock company for registering a transfer; transfer-gilding, in ceramics, transfer of a pattern in gold, as from paper to unglazed ware; transfer-ink, ink used in lithography; transfer-jar, a jar used in the collection of gases over liquid; transfer-lathe: see quot.; transfer-lithography: see sense 3; transfer-paper, paper used in making transfers in lithography and other processes; transfer-press, in engraving, a transferring machine; transfer-printing, a process by which designs are printed on fictile and other ware (see to transfer-printed adj.); also printing by means of lithography; transfer-station (U.S.), a point at which transfer-tickets are given, and passengers transferred from one car to another (Cent. Dict. Suppl.); transfer-table (U.S.), a railway traver-table; transfer-ticket, a ticket entitling a passenger to change from a conveyance to one on another line or route without re-booking or further payment; a through ticket; transfer-work, designs made by transferring or transfer-printing.

1888 Daily News 10 Dec. 6/8 The *transfer boat Maryland was conveying a section of a train from Washington to Boston across the Haarlem River, at midnight. 1694 J. HOUGHTON Collect. Improv. Husb. & Trade V. No. 102 (13 July) The Seller goes to the Clerk of the Company..appointed to keep a Book of Alienations, called a *Transfer Book, and there he transferrs the Shares he has sold to the Buyer. 1701 Lond. Gaz. No. 3737/4 The Transfer Books of the Bank will be shut up from Monday the 4th Instant to Friday the 10th of October next, in order to a Dividend. 1745 FIELDING True Patriot No. 10 The cash, transfer books, &c. removed to the tower, from the Bank. 1834 [S. SMITH] Lett. T. Downing xxvi. (1879) 170 What the Treasury calls contingent drafts, and *transfer checks, and Treasury warrants. 1899 Westm. Gaz. 7 Sept. 7/1 It is nothing.. for a *transfer clerk to wait for forty-five minutes at the Associated office. 1909 ELIZ. L. BANKS Myst. Pras. Farrington 159 These trunks had been delivered by a responsible Transfer Company's waggon. 1771 Apb. Chron. in Ann. Reg. 202/2 He recollected it was not *transfer-day. 1884 KNIGHT Dict. Mech. Suppl., †Transfer-elevator, an elevator or crane for hoisting one cargo or vessel into another. 1832 BABBAGE Econ. Manuf. xi. (ed. 3) 78 A single copy might be printed off with *transfer ink. 1827 FARADAY Chem. Manip. xv. (1842) 322 Capped or *transfer jars are such as, being open above, have a cap cemented upon them, the latter being surmounted by a stop-cock. Ibid. xxiv. 607 Fill a transfer jar..with water..over the trough. 1877 KNIGHT Dict. Mech., Transfer-lathe*, for..reducing large designs in relief to proportions suitable for coin. 1897 Westm. Gaz. 5 Apr. 7/3 To the average man the difference between 'lithography' and transfer-lithography' matters little. 1693 Act 5 Will. & Mary c. 7. § 54 The *Transfer Office above mentioned shall be continued. 1898 SIMMONDS Dict. Trade, Transfer-paper, prepared paper used by lithographers: thin, unsized paper for taking copies of letters with a copying-press. 1878 ABNEY Photogr. (1881) 171 A piece of transfer paper (which is paper coated with gelatine subsequently rendered insoluble in water by alum or other such body is placed in water of about 60° C., and softened. 1877 KNIGHT Dict. Mech., †Transfer-press. 1865 Athenæum 25 Nov. 733/1 *Transfer-printing in pottery. 1905 Daily Chron. 24 Aug. 3/2 The single invention in porcelain decoration at our credit in the eighteenth century was transfer-printing. 1877 KNIGHT Dict. Mech. 2368/2 Jacob Perkins, of Massachusetts, the inventor of the *transfer-process. 1861 Massachusetts Stat. 199 § 2 *Transfer ticket.

Transfer (transfə·r), v. Also 5-7 -ferre, 7 -ferr. Inflected transfe·rred, etc. [a. F. transfér-er (3rd s. transfère) (14th c. in Littré), or its source, L. transfer-re, f. TRANS- + ferre to bear, carry, bring.]

1. trans. To convey or take from one place, person, etc. to another; to transmit, transport; to give or hand over from one to another.

1382 WYCLIF Ezek. xlviii. 14 Neither the first fruytis of the lond shulb be transferrid [gloss or born ouer, 1388 translatid], for thei ben halewid to the Lord. c 1425 St. Christina xxxvii. in Anglia VIII. 133/35 Pe biggynge of the abbeye was transferred to a better place. c 1430 Art of Nombrying 9 Put a clyre ber and transferre the article towarde the lift hande. 1516 in Acts Privit. Council (1879) XII. 56/2 It is thocht..that pe said governoure..suld transferre himself to uthir cuntreis. 1624 GODWIN Moses & Aaron (1642) 158 The moderne Jewes doe transferre the fault upon certaine proselyte Egyptians who came forth with them. 1655 STANLEY Hist. Philos. II. (1701) 73/1 He first transferr'd Natural Philosophy out of Ionia to Athens. 1703 MOXON Mech. Exerc. 316 Divide one of these nine equal parts into two equal parts, and transfer that distance to the other eight equal parts. 1771 GORANI Hist. Eng. II. 357 Campegio..shortly after transferred the cause before the court of Rome. 1783 BURKE Rep. Affairs Ind. Wks. XI. 42 If the court of directors should disapprove of his being transferred to Bengal. 1802 R. LANGFORD Introd. Trade 86 For transferring £5650 Reduced Stock into the Four per Cents. 1818 in Willis & Clark Cambridge (1886) I. 573 Transferring three or four of the trees to another site. 1844 LD. BROUGHAM Brit. Const. vii. (1869) 94 The people's power being transferred to the representative body. 1860 TYNDALL Glac. I. xxii. 151, I transferred my scrip to his shoulders, and led the way.

b. fig. esp. in Sematology: see quots.

1586 A. DAY Eng. Secretary (1625) 77 Metaphora, which is, when a word from the proper or right signification is transferred to another neere vnto the meaning. 1883 MURRAY Engs. Dict. Gen. Explan. p. xxi, As the primitive sense [of words] has been..transferred boldly to figurative and analogical uses.

c. intr. for refl. or pass.

1646 G. DANIEL Upon Virgil 32 Wks. 1878 I. 22 But Wee..averre Soules are not lost, or Dye, but doe transfer. 1901 Daily Chron. 24 Oct. 3/4 He transferred later to the 19th Hussars, in which regiment he served in the Soudan campaign. 1911 WEBSTER, Transfer, to change from one car, line, or the like, to another for continuing one's journey on a transfer.

2. Law. To convey or make over (title, right, or property) by deed or legal process.

1598 FLORIO, s.v. Trascriuere, To transfer or giue ouer his right to another. 1611 COTGRAVE Levrath. i. xix. 67 My right is not transferred, but remaineth till I transferre it by some other Act. 1671 Court Bks. Roy. African Co. 19 Dec. (P.R.O.), I do transfer £500 of my subscription in the new joint stock of the Royal Company to the Hon. George Lord Berkeley. 1694 J. HOUGHTON Collect. Improv. Husb. & Trade V. No. 102 [Form] 'I A. B. do hereby sell, assign, and transferr unto C. D. Ten Shares in the Joynt-Stock..with all the present and future Profits thereof'. 1771 Junius Lett. lxvii. (1797) II. 235 To this son-in-law..you meant to transfer the..property. 1828 CRUISE Digest (ed. 2) IV. 65 A grant only transfers what the grantor may lawfully give. 1898 JEVONS Prim. Pol. Econ. 14 Sometimes things can be literally handed over, like a watch or a book; sometimes they can be transferred by a written deed.

3. To convey (a drawing or design) from one surface to another, esp. (a) to a lithographic stone, to earthenware, glass, etc., by means of transfer-paper; (b) to a new back or ground, as an embroidered pattern, etc.

1839 URE Dict. Arts 1017 This [roll of flannel] is used as a burnisher, one end of it being pressed against the shoulder, and the other end being rubbed upon the paper; by which means it transfers all the engraved traces to the biscuit. 1860 Ibid. (ed. 5) III. 501 There are two distinct methods of printing in use for china and earthenware, the first transferred on the bisque..and the other is transferred on the glaze. The first is called 'press printing', and the latter 'bat printing'. 1877 KNIGHT Dict. Mech. 2611/2 In engraving, a tracing may be made in pencil and transferred to the ground by running through the plate-press. An impression from a plate or stone may also be transferred to a stone.

Hence Transferred (-fə·rd) ppl. a., conveyed from one person, place, sense, etc. to another.

1863 H. ALLON Mem. T. Shernan 279, 102 members were added in 1839 and 63 in 1840, including transferred members. 1883 MURRAY Dict. Gen. Explan. p. xxi, The word was first taken into English..in a figurative, transferred, or specialized use. 1886 J. EBSWORTH Roxb. Ball. VI. 165 As a transferred ballad, Dulcina was entered to John White and Thomas Langley, in the Registers of the Stationers' Company.

Transferable (transfə·răb'l), a. [f. prec. + -ABLE: cf. preferable, referable. See also TRANSFERRABLE.] Capable of being transferred or legally made over to another; spec. of bills, drafts, cheques, etc.: assignable in the course of business from one person to another; negotiable.

1646 Sir T. Browne Pseud. Ep. vi. iii. 286 If we..fall upon consideration with what inconurity they are transferable unto others. 1711 Steele Spect. No. 149 ¶ 8 Take him in whom what you like is not transferable to another. 1872 Act 37 & 38 Vict. c. 3 § 5 The debentures..shall be transferable by the delivery of such debentures. 1909 Westm. Gaz. 8 Mar. 2/1 The adoption of the single transferable vote system of proportional representation.

Hence Transferabi·lity, the quality of being transferable.

1776 Adam Smith W. N. iv. iii. 11, 66 Its easy and safe transferability, its use in paying foreign bills of exchange. 1875 Poste Gaius iii. Comm. (ed. 2) 432 The complete transferability of obligations was unknown to jurisprudence. 1893 Nation (N. Y.) 25 May 390/1 We shall [in political economy] regard transferability as meaning exchangeability.

Transferal: see Transferral.

Transferee (transfēri·). Also erron. -ferree. [f. Transfer v. + -ee.]

1. One to whom a transfer is made. (Chiefly in Law, as correlative to Transferor or Transferrer.)

1756 Bailey (folio) Pref., Transferee, the Person to whom any Thing is transferred. 1789-90 A. Hamilton in Debates Congress (1834) II. 2048 The transferable quality of stock..depends on the idea of complete security to the transferee. 1820 — Wks. (1886) VII. 129 A discrimination between original holders and transferees of the public debt. 1905 Times 3 Apr. 8/4 Mr. B. signed a blank transfer as transferee.

2. One who is transferred or removed; e.g. from one position or grade to another.

1892 Daily News 27 Oct. 5/5 The children removed under the law from gaols to reformatories in the past year have done fairly well; but, looking to the difficulty in inducing employers to take these transferees into their service, they urge (etc.). 1899 Edward. Rev. XVIII. 27 No disgrace was entailed upon the transferees, who were advanced with the rest of that class at the regular promotion.

Transference (transfērĕns). Also 7–9 erron. -ference. [ad. L. type transferentia* (used in med. or mod.L.; e.g. a 1541 by Paracelsus), f. transferent-em: see next and -ence.]

1. The action or process of transferring; conveyance from one place, person, or thing to another; transfer.

1760–72 H. Brooke Fool of Qual. (1809) I. 141 The transference was not difficult. 1776 Adam Smith W. N. v. ii. II. 467 The transference of stock or moveable property. 1791 Newte Tour Eng. & Scot. 127 In Argyleshire..it became common to convey land, and make other transferences of property in writing. 1847 Faraday Chem. Manip. xv. (1842) 323 Moderately-sized funnels..to assist in the transference of gas into vessels. 1839 Morn. Herald 13 June, A transference of power to the moneyed classes. 1875 Lubbock Wild Flowers i. 8 The transference of the pollen from one flower to another is..effected principally either by the wind or by insects. 1880 Swinburne Stud. Shakes. 258 A line too apt and exquisite to endure without injury the transference from its original setting. 1885 Watson & Burbury Math. Th. Electr. & Magn. I. 222 There is a transference, per unit time, of electricity I from the extremity A to the extremity of B.

2. Law. Law. The procedure by which a depending action is transferred from a person deceased to his representative.

1682 Stair Inst. Law Scot. xv. § 10. 322 The Decreet will be effectual against all singular Successors, and subsequent Tennents without a new Decreet of Transference. 1765–8 Erskine Inst. Law Scot. iv. 1. § 60 If the pursuer be dead, it is called a transference activé...Where the defender dies, it gets the name of a transference passivé. Ibid., Yet a transference cannot proceed against a debtor's apparent heir, till the annus deliberandi be expired. 1838 W. Bell Dict. Law Scot. 999 Transferences are competent to inferior judges, only when the representatives reside within their jurisdiction, and the principal cause is in dependence before them.

†Transferent (transfērĕnt), a. Obs. rare. [ad. L. transferent-em, pr. pple. of transfer-re to transfer.] Effecting transference; in reference to sense: tropical, figurative.

1614 Raleigh Hist. World iv. vi. § 7 Tropicall or transferent, which applies the diuers formes and figures of naturall bodies, to signifie the dignities, fortunes [etc.]..of their Gods, and of men. 1651 C. Cartwright Cert. Relig. 1. 46 In a Metaphorically and transferent sense.

Transferential (transfērĕnʃăl), a. [f. (mod.) L. transferent-ia Transference + -al.] Of or pertaining to transference.

1889 G. Allen in Nature 24 Jan. 290/2 So the Energy of Kinesis is seen to be a mere transferential mode from one kind of separation to another.

Transferer (transfērər). [f. Transfer v. or sb. + -er 1.] One who or that which transfers; used sometimes for Transferrer, sometimes in the technical sense of Transferor.

1807 Jyvse Sci. Dict., Pneumatics, This instrument is called the transferer. 1875 Ure Dict. Arts III. 620 (Pottery) This impression..is then laid by the transferer [ed. 1860 transferrer] upon the ware. 1884 W. H. Riehing in Harper's Mag. May 807/1 That the Bank may be sure that the transferer is the person he represents himself to be. 1906 Daily News 12 Jan. 12 Transfer of Labourers [in S. Africa]..It is provided in the sub-section that 'the transfer..shall be signed by the transferer, the transferee, and the labourer'. 1908 Daily Chron. 24 Jan. 11/7 Lifo Transferer wanted.

Transferography. [f. Transfer sb. + -(o)graphy.] (See quot.)

1846 Worcester, Transferography, the art or act of copying inscriptions from ancient tombs, tablets, etc. Williams. 1864 in Webster. Hence in later Dicts.

Transferor (transfērər, -ŏr). Also erron. -ferror. [f. Transfer v. or sb. + -or.] One who transfers or makes a transfer or conveyance of property, etc. Esp. in legal use, correlative to transferee.

1875 Poste Gaius ii. (ed. 2) § 251 After the transfer of the inheritance the transferror continues heir, the transferree being some lesser quasi heir, sometimes quasi legatee. Ibid. Comm. 202 It confers property on the transferee, and discharges the transferor of an obligation. 1876 Digby Real Prop. iv. § 5. 200 The transferee stepping for all purposes into the place of the transferor. 1882 Act 45 & 46 Vict. c. 38 § 40 The receipt..for any money..discharges the payer or transferor therefrom.

Transferotype: see Transferrotype.

Transferrable, a. Also 9 -ible. [f. Transfer v. + -able, on English analogies, as in transferring, barrable. Transferrible is a hybrid spelling between transferrable and analogical L. transferribilis*. See also Transferable.] Capable of being or fit to be transferred.

a. 1660 R. Cocx Power & Subj. 30 The offices..are alienable, communicable, and transferrable. 1714 Act 1 Geo. I, c. 21 § 19 That the said Capital or Joint Stock..shall be Assignable and Transferrable or Devisable. 1765 Blackstone Comm. I. viii. 328 A new species of property, always ready to be employed in any beneficial undertaking, by means of it's transferrable quality. 1872 O. W. Holmes Poet Breakf.-t. x, Sin was made a transferrable chattel. 1878 Abney Photogr. xxvi. (1881) 176 Transferrable prints.

β. 1832 Lond. Princ. Geol. II. 171 We believe the mean annual temperature of one zone to be transferrible to another. 1875 Poste Gaius ii. § 21 Similarly transferrible are estates in provincial lands.

Hence Transferrableness, the quality of being transferrable.

1804 W. Taylor in Ann. Rev. II. 390 In reply to the objection of the transferrableness of machinery.

Transferral (transfē·răl). erron. transferal. [f. as prec. + -al: cf. conferral.] The action or fact of transferring; transfer, transference.

1863 Cornh. Mag. VII. 388 The transferal of Greenwich mean time into sidereal, and vice versâ. 1890 E. Mulford Nation x. 169 All acquisition of territory..is by the United States alone, and the immediate transferal is to the United States. 1895 Whitney Life Lang. v. 78 The old material of language is constantly suffering extension and transferral to new uses.

Transferrer (transfē·rər). [f. as prec. + -er 1. See also Transferer, -or.] One who or that which transfers.

1753 Hanway Trav. (1762) II. i. vii. 35 These transfers are made by the personal appearance of the transferrer. 1803 W. Taylor in Ann. Rev. I. 744 Compelling him to prove only against the immediate transferrer of the bill. 1825 J. Nicholson Operat. Mechanic 470 The impression when taken off the plate is given to a girl, called a cutter, who cuts it into shapes, and hands the pattern to a woman (the transferrer), who puts them on the biscuit. 1860 H. Spencer Soc. Organism in Westm. Rev. Jan. 105 A system of vessels which continues ever after to be the transferrer of nutriment. 1862 Cantel. Internat. Exhibit. II. x. 17 This direct transferrer, invented by Mr. George Glover, is now generally used in the gradation of gas-holders for testing meters.

Transferring (transfē·riŋ), vbl. sb. [f. as prec. + -ing 1.] The action of the verb Transfer; transference.

1573 Reg. Privy Council Scot. II. 284 Thai obtenit ane decreit of transferring befoir the Lordis of Counsail and Sessioun. 1651 Hobbes Govt. & Soc. ii. § 7. 23 Words..effectuall towards the perfect transferring of his Right. 1688 Act Sederunt 26 July in Fountainhall Hist. Not. (Bann. Cl.) 882 Bills wakenings and transferrings are seen and returned, they need not bryde the course of the roll, but may be summarily called and decerned, or debated. 1766 Blackstone Comm. II. xxx. 446 If it be a transferring of goods for money, it is called a sale. 1904 J. Cumming Lithography xx. 194 [Zinc and Aluminium] Plates with a fine grain or 'tooth'..suitable for all classes of transferring and printing.

attrib. 1847 Faraday Chem. Manip. xxiv. (1842) 634 Exhaust the retort..; attach it to a graduated transferring jar.

Transferro-, transferotype. Photog. [Irreg. f. Transfer + -type.] See quot. 1890.

1889 Anthony's Photogr. Bull. II. 322 This is not more trouble than the transferrotype process; it was, in fact, my familiarity with the double transfer carbon process which first suggested to me the transferotype. 1891 Ibid. V. 241 Eastman's transferotype paper answers well for decorating the tiles. 1890 Woodbury Dict. Photogr. 701 Transferrotype, a process of transferring bromide prints to any suitable support. [Description follows.] Ibid. 702 Warm tones..may be obtained with transferrotype paper.

†Transfi·gurate, a. Obs. rare. [ad. L. transfigūrāt-us, pa. pple. of transfigūrāre: see next.] Transfigured; having its figure or form altered: spec. in Geom. (see Transfigured).

1571 Digges Pantom. iv. Hh ij b, This transfigurate body [Dodecaedron] receiueth an internall Tetraedron, whose solide angles rest in the centers of his trigonall bases. Ibid., Icosaedron within this transfigurate body may be described.

Transfigurate (transfi·gŭrĕt), v. Now rare. Pa. t. and pple. in Sc. 6 transfigurat. [f. ppl. stem of L. transfigūrāre, f. Trans- + figūra figure.] trans. = Transfigure. Hence Transfi·gurating ppl. a.

1432–50 tr. Higden (Rolls) II. 211 Thei may thro the permission of God transfigurate similitudes. a 1555 Ridley Piteous Lament. (1556) E iv, This our weake body shall be transfigurated and made lyke vnto christes glorious body. a 1560 Rolland Crt. Venus iii. 31 In ane tre scho was transfigurat. 1563 Winzet Four Scotr Thre Quest. Wks. (S.T.S.) I. 87 Quhen he transfigurat His body afoir His passioun. 1600 F. Walker Sp. Mandeville 145 They can and do so transfigurat themselues. 1819 Byron Prophh. Dante iv. 33 High heaven is there Transfused, transfigurated. 1872 Morley Crit. Misc. Ser. I. Carlyle 219 [Carlyle's] epithet..shoots like a sunbeam on to the matter, throwing a transfigurating light.

Transfiguration (transfigŭrē·ʃən). [ad. L. transfigūrātiōn-em (Pliny), n. of action from transfigūrāre (see prec.). Cf. F. transfiguration (13th c. in Hatz.-Darm.). The specific sense 2 was from its ecclesiastical use the earlier in Eng.]

1. The action of transfiguring or state of being transfigured; metamorphosis.

a 1548 Hall Chron., Hen. VI 161 Thon Cade..departed secretly in habite disguysed..but all his metamorphosis or transfiguracion, little preuailed. 1567 Maplet Gr. Forest 76 He hath so often and so diuers transfigured his colour. 1569 J. Sanford tr. Agrippa's Van. Artes 69 b, Ouide in his Transfigurations singeth in this sorte. 1607 Topsell Four-f. Beasts (1658) 361 Of the transfiguration of men into Lions, we shall say more afterward. 1650 Bulwer Anthropomet. (title-p.), Nations, fashioning and altering their Bodies from the mould intended by Nature; With Figures of those Transfigurations. 1836 Emerson Nature, Idealism Wks. (Bohn) II. 162 This transfiguration which all material objects undergo through the passion of the poet.

2. The change in the appearance of Jesus Christ on the mountain (Matt. xvii. 2; Mark ix. 2, 3).

c 1375 Sc. Leg. Saints i. (Petrus) 37 Criste..hym tuk to be hym by in his transfiguracion. 1497 Br. Alcock Mons Perfect. D iij, This noble transfiguracioun thus shewed to his dyscyples. a 1691 Boyle Greatn. Mind i. ii. Wks. 1772 V. 557 How glorious it is in heaven, we may guess by what it was at his transfiguration here on earth. 1866 Dove Logic Chr. Faith v. i. § 2. 296 In that sublime spectacle called the transfiguration.

b. Eccl. The church festival commemorating this event, observed on the 6th of August.

c 1460 Brut celv. 522 This Calixte instituted & ordeyned be Feste of Transfiguracion of our Lorde to be halowed on Seynt Sixt day in August. 1501–11 Rec. St. Mary at Hill 274 Paid for brede, ale and wyne at be fest of transfiguracion.

c. A picture or representation of this event.

1712 Blackmore Creation iii. 123 Did..Raphael's Pencil never chuse to fail? Say, are his Works Transfigurations all? 1753 Mrs. Delany in Life & Corr. (1861) III. 209, I have at last put the finishing stroke to the Transfiguration. 1838 Emerson Addr., Lit. Ethics Wks. (Bohn) II. 209 Say to the man of letters, that he cultivates pains like a Transfiguration.

Transfigurative (transfigŭrĕtiv), a. rare. [f. as Transfigurate v. + -ive.] Having the quality of transfiguring; that tends to transfigure.

1885 Fairbairn Catholicism (1899) II. iv. 76 A splendid example of the power of faith and of the creative and transfigurative force of the religious imagination.

Transfigure (transfigŭr, -fi·gər), v. [ad. L. transfigūrāre to change the shape of (f. Trans- + figūra form, shape, figure); or a. F. transfigurer (12th c. in Hatz.-Darm.).]

1. trans. To alter the figure or appearance of; to change in outward appearance; to transform.

a 1300 Cursor M. 18290 (Cott.) pai war transfigured als tite, Was neuer i-wis snau sa quite. a 1340 Hampole Psalter xc. 6 When þe fende transfigurs him in aungel of light. c 1386 Chaucer Knt.'s T. 247 Venus, if it be thy wil Yow in this gardyn thus to transfigure. 1422–50 Lydg. Chron. Troy II. 913 So crafully þei koude hem transfigure, Conformyng hem to þe chaunt[e]plure. c 1470 Henry Wallace vi. 91 Thow transfigowryt Wallace out off his weill. 1547 Bk. Homilies ii. viii b, Satan..by cautyle transfigureth hym into an angell of light. 1589 Puttenham Eng. Poesie iii. xii. (Arb.) 174 Your single wordes may be many waies transfigured to make the meetre or verse more tunable and melodious. 1607 Topsell Foure-f. Beasts (1658) 103 Wildegoats are transfigured into many similitudes. 1885 Pusey Doctr. Real Presence Note Q. 230 The Sacraments, which, by the mystery of the sacred prayer, are transfigured into Body and Blood. 1880 McCarthy Dom Tiberio III. i. xxxii. 49 The mutiny was transfigured into a revolutionary war.

b. In reference to the Transfiguration of Christ.

c 1380 Wyclif Sel. Wks. II. 57 þis gospel telliþ how þat Crist was transfigured in sixt of pree apostils. c 1400 Maundev. (1839) x. 112 In hat hille Thabor, oure lord transfigured him before seynt Peter, seynt John & seynt Iame. 1526 Tindale Mark ix. 2 And he was transfigured before them. 1911 J. A. Robinson in Encycl. Brit. XV. 381/2 They saw Jesus transfigured in a radiance of glory.

c. intr. for refl. rare.

1840 Browning Sordello ii. 214 He no genius rare Transfiguring in fire, or wave, or air, At will.

2. trans. fig. (in allusion to the Transfiguration of Christ): To elevate, glorify, idealize, spiritualize.

c 1380 Wyclif Sel. Wks. II. 58 þus men seiñ þat transfiguring is turnyng into glorious forme. 1687 Boyle Martyrd. Theodora viii. (1703) 116, I think our nations will then be raised..and our love and other affections, will be transfigured, as well as our bodies. 1841 Myers Cath. Th. iv. ii. 185 His education becomes devotion, and his morality is transfigured into Religion. 1876 E. Mellor Priests. i. 15 Temple, priest, and sacrifice were employed and transfigured into glorious spiritual significations. 1879 Farrar St. Paul (1883) 113 [Stephen's] whole being was transfigured by a consciousness which illuminated his very countenance.

†3. To transfer by a figure. (A literalism of translation.) Obs.

1382 Wyclif 1 Cor. iv. 6 This thing I haue transfigurid [Vulg. transfigurari] in to me and in to Apollo; that in vs þe lerne.

Hence Transfi·gured ppl. a. (†in Geom. (quots. 1571) applied to a solid in which plane faces are substituted for the original solid angles); Transfi·guring vbl. sb. and ppl. a.

c1380 [see 2]. 1571 Digges Pantom. iv. G6 ib, This solides inscribed Octaedrons side is triple to the medietie of his containing transfigured Tetraedrons side. Ibid. G6 ij b, A Transfigured Octaedron is a Geometricall Figure incompassed with 12 bases, whereof 8 are equall equiangle Hexagonall playnes, and the other 6 are equall squares. 1678 Cudworth Intell. Syst. I. v. 805 Bodies..luciform or lucid, like to our Saviour's then transfigured body. 1717 Garth tr. Ovid. Enchiridion. Circe 33 The dow'r desir'd is his transfigur'd friends. 1846 Trench Mirac. Introd. (1862) 93 Their transforming, transfiguring power. 1880 N. Smyth Old Faiths in New Light iii. (1882) 98 It can shine, a steady and transfiguring light of life, for the world.

Transfi·guremeut. rare. [f. prec. + -ment: cf. OF. transfigurement (14th c. in Godef.).] = Transfiguration.

1865 Reader No. 133. 57/1 By sudden transfigurement. 1878 Gilder Poet & Master 55 Then did the outer world.. Suffer a sudden strange transfigurement.

Transfinite (transfaɪnəit), a. (sb.) Math. [f. Trans- 4 + Finite.] Beyond or surpassing any finite number or magnitude: see quots. Also, as sb., a transfinite number, etc.

1902 Nature 3 Sept. 411/2 To readers unacquainted with [Cantor's] 'Mengenlehre', the introduction of transfinite numbers must appear rather startling. 1907 Hobson Funct. Real Variable 177 Corresponding to a single transfinite cardinal number there is an infinity of transfinite ordinal numbers. 1907 Athenæum 14 Sept. 307/2 The simplest conception of a transfinite number may be gathered from the following illustration. A man walks along a road at a uniform pace, and the distance he goes is divided into intervals ½ mile, ¼ mile, ⅛ mile, and so on. The number of these intervals in the first mile is infinite, but the time taken is finite. We agree to regard the mile as ending with the ωth interval. If the next mile is divided in just the same way, then the intervals regarded as belonging to the same series will be the (ω+1)th, (ω+2)th, and so on. These numbers ω, ω+1, ω+2, are called by Cantor (who was the first to use them) transfinite ordinal numbers.

Transfission (transfi·ʃən). Biol. [f. Trans- 1 or 6 + Fission 2.] The transverse splitting of a cell or organism as a mode of reproduction; transverse fission.

1891 in Cent. Dict.

† Transfi·sticate, v. Obs. (humorous nonce-wd.) [f. Trans- 1 + L. fistūcare to ram down or in (cf. Fistucate), with allusion to fist.] To strike or smash with the fist.

1600 Rowlands Lett. Humours Blood iv. 64 For though your beard do stand so fine mustated, Perhaps your nose may be transfisticated.

Transfix (transfi·ks), v. [f. L. transfix-, ppl. stem of transfigĕre, f. Trans- + figĕre to Fix. Cf. OF. transfixer (15th c. in Godef.).] trans. To pierce through with, or impale upon, a sharp-pointed instrument (also said of the instrument); to fix or fasten by piercing.

1590 Spenser F. Q. I. v. 50 The bold Semiramis, whose sides transfixt With sonnes own blade her fowle reproches spoke. 1626 Massinger Rom. Actor iii, Take A golden arrow to transfix her heart. 1797 Mrs. Radcliffe Italian xxxiii, That monk seemed as if transfixed to the spot. 1802 Paley Nat. Theol. xii. 209 The butcher-bird transfixes its prey upon the spike of a thorn, whilst it picks its bones. 1850 Mrs. Jameson Leg. Monast. Ord. (1863) 388 Being absorbed in rapturous devotion, she was transfixed, that is, received the Stigmata. 1875 Jowett Plato (ed. 2) IV. 382 He delights..to transfix the Eristic Sophist with weapons borrowed from his own armoury.

b. fig. To pierce through (esp. with pain, grief, or other emotion); also, to render motionless (with astonishment, horror, etc.).

1649 Lovelace Poems 12 To transfixed Venus stood amas'd. a 1711 Ken Hymnothéo Poet. Wks. III. 76 Sent by a breaking Heart by Guilt transfix'd. 1791 Cowper Odyss. x. 303 His heart transfixt With anguish. 1840 Dickens Barn. Rudge xix, Both of whom were so transfixed at sight of the ladies that..they..could do nothing but stare. 1863 Geo. Eliot Romola iv, [He] stood transfixed, with his long dark eyes resting on the unknown man who had addressed him.

Hence Transfixed (-fi·kst, poet. -fi·ksed) ppl. a.; spec. in Her.: see quots. c 1828 and 1894; Transfi·xing ppl. a.

1661 Blount Glossogr. (ed. 2), Transfixed..., sticked or thurst through. c 1828 Berry Encycl. Her. I. Gloss., Transfixed, pierced through, as a boar's head, &c., transfixed with a spear, &c. 1854 Kane Grinnell Exp. xlvi. 429 Then the transfixed and transfixing vessels were both eaten up together by the greedy floes. 1859 Sala Tw. Round Clock (1861) 64 Their muskets—prudently divested of the transfixing bayonets. 1894 Parker's Gloss. Her. 456 Pierced with an arrow generally means the same as transfixed.

Transfixa·tion. rare[−1]. [f. prec. + -ation, after fixation.] Used for Transfixion (sense b).

1889 Lancet 9 Feb. 293/1 Had it [the nævus] been treated by the old method of transfixation and ligature, the infant would not improbably have sunk.

Transfixion (transfi·kʃən). [f. L. type transfixiōn-em*, n. of action from transfigĕre, -fix- to Transfix: cf. L. affixiōn-, crucifixiōn-.] The action of transfixing or state of being transfixed.

1609 Bp. W. Barlow Answ. Nameless Cath. 335 Hee.. shal finde both an explicit contradiction, and a double transfixion, like that stroake of Phineas..pearcing with one speech through two at once. 1628 Bp. Hall Serm. Gal. ii. 20 Wks. 1837 V. 336 Six several times do we find that Christ shed blood: in his Circumcision, in his Agony, in his Crowning, in his Scourging, in his Affixion, in his Transfixion. 1844 Phrenol. Jrnl. Oct. 368 The head must have been embalmed, and must have been so before its transfixion.

b. Surgery. The process of piercing the limb transversely, and cutting from within outward, in amputation. (Cf. F. transfixion, Littré.)

1872 T. Bryant Pract. Surg. 1037 In cutting the posterior flap by transfixion..the Surgeon should always support it with his left hand. 1890 Billings Med. Dict., Transfixion, a piercing through, as in cutting a flap from within outward.

attrib. 1883 Daily News 19 Feb. 4/8 Perhaps [the murderers] thought transfixion knives nothing worse than an improvement on the admittedly inefficient pikeheads of '48.

Transfixture (transfi·kstiŭr). rare[−1]. [f. Transfix, after Fixture.] The condition of being transfixed or fixed to the spot with some feeling.

1886 T. Hardy Mayor Casterbr. II. xx. 278 Henchard waited—if that could be called a waiting which was transfixture.

† Transfleet, v. Obs. rare[−1]. [f. Trans- 2 + Fleet *v.*1] intr. To float or sail across.

a 1600 Floddan F. 1. (1664) 2 Before King Henry past the Seas, And ere to France he did transfleet.

Transfluent (tra·nsflɪuĕnt), a. rare. [ad. L. transfluent-em, pr. pple. of transfluĕre to flow through.] Flowing across or through; in Her. said of a stream represented as flowing through a bridge.

c 1828 Berry Encycl. Her. I. Gloss., Transfluent, an heraldic term, to express water appearing, in a coat, as if running through a bridge. 1847 Parker Gloss. Her. 309.

Transfluvial (transflū·vial), a. [ad. post-cL. transfluviāl-is, f. trans, Trans- + fluvi-us a river: see -al.] Situated or dwelling across or beyond a river: in quot. 1806 rendering Heb. עֵבֶר נָהָר ʿēḇer nāhār 'one from the other side', i. e. from beyond the Jordan or ? the Euphrates.

1806 W. Taylor in Ann. Rev. IV. 716 The term Hebrew, which signifies transfluvial,..was applied to the posterity of Abraham, because they came from beyond the Euphrates. 1868 St. Lucas Secularia (1869) 92 As the lower curve..was intersected..by the river Avon, it included the transfluvial parishes of St. Mary Redcliffe, Thomas and Temple. 18.. Lowell Orient. Apol. v, The sacred rites and laws of his transfluvial rival.

So Transflu·vian a., in same sense.

1848 Times 18 Oct. 3/5 His successors were rather kings of Candahar, with some transfluvian provinces, than kings of India in our sense. 1865 Daily Tel. 12 Apr. 3 As long as this part of the Mississippi remained to the Confederates all the produce of the transfluvian region was theirs.

Transflux (tra·nsflʊks). rare[−0]. [f. Trans- + L. flux-us flowing, flux: cf. afflux, etc.] A flowing through, across, or beyond.

1864 in Webster. Hence in later Dicts.

Transforate (tra·nsfŏrēt), v. rare. [f. ppl. stem of L. transforāre to bore or pierce through, f. Trans- + forāre to bore, pierce.] trans. To pierce or bore through, perforate; spec. (Surg.) to perforate (the skull) in craniotomy.

1797 Bailey vol. I, Transforate, to make a hole through. 1775 Ash, Transforated, Transforating..(not much used).

Transforation (transfŏrē·ʃən). [ad. late L. transforātiōn-em, f. transforāre: see prec.]

† 1. A seton; a thread or tape drawn through a fold of skin to maintain an issue. Obs.

1597 A. M. tr. Guillemeau's Fr. Chirurg. cij b/1 The Needle for the Seton, or transforation. Ibid. 39 b/2 All the which [cauteryes] haue but one onlye aperiion, or two, and is then called a transforation or Seton.

2. The action of transforating, as in craniotomy.

1890 Billings Med. Dict., Transforation,..repeated perforation of the base of the foetal skull in craniotomy.

Transform (transfō·rm), v. [ad. L. transformāre, f. Trans- + formāre to form, f. forma form. Cf. F. transformer (14th c. in Godef. Compl.), also OF. tresformer.]

1. trans. To change the form of; to change into another shape or form; to metamorphose.

c 1340 Hampole Prose Tr. 15 In transformynge of þe saule þe Godheda. 1382 Wyclif 2 Cor. iii. 18 Alle we.. ben transformyd into the same ymage. c 1400 Maundev. (Roxb.) iv. 11 Of Ypocras daughter transformed from a womman to a dragoun. 1483 Caxton Cato b vij b, This catte..is myn owne daughter the which by the pleasure and wylle of god hath ben transformed in to a catte. 1548 Udall, etc. Erasm. Par. Mark i. 5 b, That thynges of muche contrariete maye easely be transformed, and turned one into an other. 1590 Shaks. Com. Err. III. ii. 151 And I thinke, if my breast had not beene made of faith, and my heart of steele, she had transform'd me to a Curtull dog, & made me turne i' th wheele. 1660 F. Brooke tr. Le Blanc's Trav. 268 When Magicians shall have power to transform a humane body. 1813 Scott Rokeby v. xxxi, The victor sees his fairy gold, Transform'd, when won, to drossy mold. 1847 Faraday Chem. Manip. xxiv. (1842) 618 Transform several small crystals of sulphate of nickel into a large one. 1853 J. H. Newman Hist. Ch. (1873) I. i. ii. 65 To Samarcand.. we owe the art of transforming linen into paper.

b. transf. To change in character or condition; to alter in function or nature.

1556 J. Heywood Spider & F. ii. 5 My whole estate..Is here transformde from myrth to miserie. 1675 Traherne Chr. Ethics 270 Love..transformes the most virulent affections into smooth, healing, perfective pleasures. 1796 Morse Amer. Geog. I. 306 He transformed an undisciplined body of peasantry into a regular army of soldiers. 1852 H. Rogers Ecl. Faith (1853) 16 A volume, which has transformed them from savages into men, and from idolaters into Christians.

c. Math. To alter (a figure, expression, etc.) to another differing in form, but equal in quantity or value.

1743 Emerson Fluxions 22 To transform the Fluxion.., assume [etc.]. 1884 tr. Lotze's Logic 332 These equations we transform in all sorts of ways by adding on new quantities, by subtracting others, by multiplication and division of the whole. 1885 Watson & Burbury Math. Th. Electr. & Magn. I. 155 We now proceed to transform this problem.

d. Physics. To change (one form of energy) into another, as mechanical energy into electricity, or electric energy into light or heat.

1871 Maxwell Theory of Heat (1875) 92 The total energy of any body or system of bodies is a quantity which can neither be increased nor diminished by any mutual action of those bodies, though it may be transformed into any of the forms of which energy is susceptible. 1898 W. Garnett in Encycl. Brit. VIII. 208/2 All other forms of energy with which we are acquainted can be transformed into an equivalent amount of heat. 1902 J. Larmor ibid. XXVIII. 164/2 There is a certain measurable quantity associated with each type of physical action..numerically identical with a corresponding quantity belonging to the new type into which it is transformed.

e. Electr. To change a current in potential, as from high voltage to low voltage, or in type, as from alternating to continuous. Transform up, to raise the voltage while decreasing the current. Transform down, to lower the voltage while increasing the current.

1883 tr. Hospitalier Mod. Applications of Electr. (ed. 2) I. 142 All these apparatus have a common character; they receive electricity and give out electricity, which they transform according to their individual properties. 1888 S. P. Thompson Dynamo-electr. Mach. 486 At the generating station the alternating currents of low potential were to be transformed by means of an induction-coil to currents of high potential. 1897 Sloane Stand. Electr. Dict. (1902) 547 Such dynamo could transform currents up or down. 1902 S. P. Thompson Electr. & Magnet. 502 To transform continuous currents from one voltage to another it is necessary to employ a rotating apparatus, which is virtually a combination of a motor and a generator.

2. intr. To undergo a change of form or nature; to change. Now rare.

1597 Bacon Theatre God's Judgem. (1612) 68 Then did this lolly feast, to fast transforme. 1667 E. King in Phil. Trans. II. 427 The Film does onely cover the Maggot, while she is transforming into an Ant. 1717 Addison tr. Ovid, Transf. Cycnus 11 His hair transforms to down, his fingers meet In skinny films, and shape his cary feet. 1747 Gould Eng. Ants 52 The Female Aurelia's are generally the first which transform, and are those that make their Appearance in the Shape of large Flies. 1827 Hood Mids. Fairies lxxxiii, Meanwhile I bade my pitying mates transform Like grasshoppers.

Transform (tra·nsfɔrm), sb. Math. [f. prec. vb.] An expression derived from another by transformation.

1853 Sylvester in Phil. Trans. CXLIII. i. 544 Covariant, a function which stands in the same relation to the primitive function from which it is derived as any of its linear transforms do to a similarly derived transform of its primitive.

Transformable (transfō·rmăbl), a. [f. as prec. + -able.] That may be transformed; capable of transformation.

1674 Grew Mixture iii. § 1 All Principles are immutable, as we have above proved; and, therefore, not generable, formable, or transformable. 1870 H. Spencer Princ. Psychol. I. vi. § 47 (ed. 2) 117 If the psychical force known as effort were transformable into a constant quantity of physical force. 1875 Poste Gaius III. Comm. (ed. 2) 358 An obligation ..is always transformable, in the eye of the law, into the payment of a certain sum of money. 1902 J. Larmor in Encycl. Brit. XXVIII. 166/2 Constituents..transformable into each other by chemical or physical action. 1904 Daily Chron. 28 Oct. 8/5 Justice..is such a transformable quality, that it is somewhat difficult to define it.

Hence Transformabi·lity.

1875 Poste Gaius III. Comm. (ed. 2) 358 This transformability of all Objects of obligation into money payment.

Transfo·rmance. rare. [f. as prec. + -ance: cf. performance.] = Transformation.

1611 Chapman May Day II. iv, Take such a transformance, as you may be sure will keepe you from discouery. 1867 G. Gilfillan Night viii. 220 Small need of such transformance upon thee.

† Transfo·rmate, ppl. a. Obs. rare. [ad. L. transformāt-us, pa. pple. of transformāre to Transform.] = Transformed.

1571 Digges Pantom. iv. Hh iij b, Then is the superficial capacitie of the transformed Octaedrons Hexagonal playnes, equal to the whole superficies of Tetraedron transformate. Ibid. Ii j, The lesse semidiameter of the transformate Dodecaedrons trigonall bases.

Transformation (transfɔrmē·ʃən). [ad. late L. transformātiōn-em (Jerome, a 400), n. of action from transformāre to Transform. Cf. F. transformation (14th c. in Hatz.-Darm.).] The action of transforming or fact of being transformed.

1. The action of changing in form, shape, or appearance; metamorphosis.

1432–50 tr. Higden (Rolls) II. 209 Monstruous transformacions of men in to bestes be made..thro charmes of wicches. 1548 Udall Erasm. Par. Mark i. 5 b, Transformacions and naturall chaungynges of thynges. 1555 Eden Decades 43 margin, Fables much lyke Ouide his transformations. 1596 Shaks. 1 Hen. IV, I. i. 44 Vpon whose dead corpes there was such misuse, Such beastly, shamelesse transformation. 1794 Sullivan View Nat. I. 112 Matter is capable of many seeming transformations, but no real transmutations have ever been discovered. 1864 Bryce Holy Rom. Emp. xv. 260 No more than a man feels that perpetual transformation by which his body is renewed from year to year.

† b. A changed form; a person or thing transformed. Obs. rare.

1598 Shaks. Merry W. iv. v. 98 If it should come to the eare of the Court, how I have been transformed; and how my transformation hath beene washd, and cudgeld.

c. Theatr. More fully transformation scene: A mechanical disclosing scene in a pantomime; spec. the scene in which the principal performers were transformed in view of the audience into the players of the ensuing harlequinade.

1859 Punch 5 Feb. 58/2, I have supped full of gorgeous transformations on which paint, coloured foils, Dutch metal ..have been lavished. 1881 Playgoer 1 Jan., A magnificent Transformation, a charming Watteau ballet scene. 1881 G. A. Sala in Illustr. Lond. News 1 Jan. 3/2 Two Grand Transformation Scenes. 1885 W. J. Lawrence in The Theatre Dec. 329 The account of the sixth scene is worthy of quotation, smacking as it does of the modern 'Transformation'. 1885 — in Let., During the Grimaldi era the term 'transformation scene' referred to that particular juncture of the performance at which the good fairy changed the hero and heroine and their two persecutors in full view of the audience into Harlequin, Columbine, Clown and Pantaloon respectively.

2. transf. A complete change in character, condition, etc.

1581 Pettie Guazzo's Civ. Conv. ii. (1586) 81 The simple soules not perceiuing that this their transformation or rather deformation, is no more seene than a pose in a mans face. 1602 Shaks. Ham. ii. ii. 5 Something haue you heard Of Hamlets transformation; so I call it, Since not th' exterior, nor the inward man Resembles that it was. 1746–7 Hervey Medit. (1818) 59 To behold the prodigious transformation which has taken place on every individual. 1833 Alison Hist. Europe I. i. § 60. 104 The transformation of France.. from a feudal Confederacy..to a compact and absolute monarchy. 1900 R. J. Drummond Apost. Teach. & Christ's Teach. ix. 347 A regenerative transformation of humanity is practicable.

3. In scientific uses. a. Zool. Change of form in animal life, as in the successive transformations of insects, etc.; metamorphosis.

1638 Mayne Lucian (1664) 45 A Polypus I have seen, but would gladly learn its transformation from you. 1667 E. King in Phil. Trans. II. 427 The black Speck..cast out of the Maggot in her transformation. 1774 Goldsm. Nat. Hist. (1776) VIII. 7 Of the Transformations of the Caterpillar into its corresponding Butterfly or Moth. 1874 Lubbock Orig. & Mel. Ins. i. 4 Linnæus classed them among the Coleoptera, from which however they differ in their transformations.

b. Physiol. and Path. Change of form or substance in an organ, tissue, vital fluid, etc.

1834 J. Forbes Laennec's Dis. Chest (ed. 4) 587 Interstitial deposition, which..constitutes what is commonly termed transformation of the organ into a cancerous substance. 1843 J. A. Smith Product. Farming (ed. 2) 75 The excrementitious matters of one organ come in contact with another during their passage through the plant or animal, and, in consequence, suffer new transformations. 1860 Mayne Expos. Lex., Transformation, term for a morbid change in a part, consisting in the conversion of its texture into one of a different kind, as of the soft parts into bone or cartilage.

c. Math. Change of form without alteration of quantity or value; substitution of one geometrical figure for another of equal magnitude but different form, as of a prism for a cylinder, or of one algebraical expression or equation for another of the same value; formerly, also, alteration of the form of a solid figure by transmutation of the solid angles: cf. Transfigured, Transformed.

Transformation of co-ordinates, an inaccurate but accepted expression for the substitution of a new set of co-ordinates, involving a transformation of the equation of the locus. Hence, in the case in which the new co-ordinates are measured in a different plane or space, transformation is extended to the relation of correspondence between the original and resulting loci, as in projection.

1571 Digges Pantom. Epist. 8j b, A Discourse Geometricall of the fine regulare or Platonicall bodyes [with] the manifolde proportions arising by mutuall conference of these solides Inscription, Circumscription or Transformation. 1706 Phillips (ed. Kersey), Transformation of an Equation, (in Algebra) the changing of any Equation into one that is more easy. 1882 Minchin Unipl. Kinemat. 234 It will be convenient to speak of this quantity $K$ as a modulus of transformation. 1885 Watson & Burbury Math. Th. Electr. & Magn. I. 157 The method of transformation used with conjugate functions.

d. Physics. Change of form of a substance from solid to liquid, from liquid or solid to gaseous, or the reverse; Chem. change of chemical composition, as by replacement of one constituent of a compound by another.

1857 Miller Elem. Chem. (1862) III. 67 In order to effect these transformations it is necessary to displace the hydrogen of the acid.

e. Change of energy from one form into another.

1877 W. Garnett in Encycl. Brit. VII. 583/2 The subject of which natural philosophy treats is the transformation of energy, which in all its phases takes place in accordance with two great principles known respectively as the principles of the conservation and the dissipation of energy. 1878 — ibid. VIII. 207/2 If subsequently we allow an equal amount of energy to undergo various intermediate transformations, but to be finally reduced to heat. 1901 Ibid. XXIX. 138 In succeeding years [from 1840] he [Joule] published a series of valuable researches on the agency of electricity in transformations of energy.

f. Electr. Change of a current into one of different potential, or different type, or both, as by a transformer (Transformer 2). Also attrib.

1884 Electrical Rev. 26 July 64 Conditions for arranging a transformation coil, as regards its yield. 1911 Encycl. Brit. XXVII. 773/1 Transformers may be distinguished..in accordance with the type of transformation they effect.

4. An artificial head of hair worn by women.

1901 Daily News 12 Jan. 6/7 Buying toupées, or even 'transformations', as those wigs are called which entirely cover the natural hair. 1903 Westm. Gaz. 6 Aug. 3/2 Hairdressers are busy at work to make most of their returns by the producing of these transformations. 1906 Referee 9 Dec. 11/4 When he got to the exit door he discovered to his horror that he had dragged off the lady's 'transformation', and it was hanging to his sleeve-link.

5. attrib. and Comb.: transformation-dancer (Theatr.), one who dances successively in several costumes and characters; transformation-jewel, a jewel which may be worn in several ways; transformation product, Chem. a new compound formed by the decomposition or destructive distillation of a complex compound often existing in nature; transformation scene: see 1 c.

1892 Daily News 29 Jan. 7/2 She was engaged generally upon the music hall stage...Her peculiar branch was transformation dancing...She was well known as a transformation dancer. 1892 Pall Mall G. 17 Mar. 1/3 French jewellers are devoting all their inventive genius to new designs for the setting of these transformation jewels.

Hence Transforma·tional a., of or pertaining to transformation; Transforma·tionist = Transformist 2.

1888 Max Müller Nat. Relig. vi. (1889) 143 We ought to be transformationists and no longer evolutionists. 1894 Athenæum 10 Nov. 615/2 The distinction between 'combinational' and 'transformational' theories of experience.

Transformative (transfɔ·mətiv), a. [ad. med.L. transformātīvus (Albertus Mag. a 1280), f. ppl. stem of L. transformāre to Transform: see -ative. Cf. F. transformatif (neologism in Littré).] Having the faculty of transforming; fitted or tending to transform.

1671 Flavel Fount. Life x. 39 The Light of Christ is powerfully Transformative of its Subjects. 1681 — Meth. Grace xxviii. 484 All communion with God is assimilating, and transformative of the soul into his image. 1806 A. Knox (1824) I. 20 This high, heavenly, transformative Christianity. 1893 J. Pulsford Loyalty to Christ II. 47 The One Divine formative and transformative Form.

† Transforma·tor. Obs. rare⁻¹. [agent-n., in L. form, from L. transformāre to Transform.] = Transformer.

1617 Collins Def. Bp. Ely ii. x. 420 No Transformators, no such sauage Sarcophagi, as S. Cyrill bends his penne against.

Transformed (transfɔ·md), ppl. a. [f. Transform v. + -ed 1.] Changed in form or character; in Math., altered in form, but not in value. (In quot. 1413, 'misshapen').

In quot. 1571 applied to a solid figure modified by truncation of the solid angles (cf. Transfigured in same sense).

1413 Pilgr. Sowle (Caxton 1483) iv. xxiv. 70 Bernes ben brought forthe al fowle and transformyd. 1571 Digges Pantom. iv. Gg ij, A Transformed Cube is a figure geometrical enuironed with 6 equiangle Octogonall and 8 equilater triangles, the sides of bases, whose sides are all vnall. Ibid. Hh ij, A Transformed Dodecaedron. 1743 Emerson Fluxions 29 Proceed thus till the transform'd Fluxion be as simple as possible. 1841 Lane Arab. Nts. I. 65 note, It was not imagined that this brute was the lost man in a transformed state. 1885 Watson & Burbury Math. Th. Electr. & Magn. I. 157 By substituting the coordinates..and placing on corresponding elements the same charges, the transformed system will be in equilibrium. 1904 J. Oman Vis. of Author. III. iii. 190 The first Apostles, the humble, loyal, transformed ambassadors of Christ.

Transformer. [f. as prec. + -er 1.]

1. One who or that which transforms.

1601 Deacon & Walker Spirits & Divels 208 He is no creatour of substances, no transformer of natures. 1765 J. Brown Char. Jrnl. (1814) 150 Sin, horrid transformer, how hast thou changed our God! 1883 J. D. Fulton Sam Hobart 18 The steam locomotive, the material transformer of the world.

2. Electr. An apparatus which transforms continuous currents from one voltage to another, or continuous into alternating currents or vice versa. (After F. transformateur (Hospitalier, 1882).)

1883 tr. Hospitalier Mod. Applications of Electr. (ed. 2) I. 141 We designate by the term electric transformers apparatus in which electricity is no longer produced directly, but is transformed and changes its properties. 1884 Electrical Rev. 26 July 64 The present transformers, those of MM. Goulard and Gibbs, are..very similar to bobbins. 1886 G. Forbes in Electrician 26 Feb. 315 Induction coils used in this way have been called secondary generators or transformers. 1888 S. P. Thompson Dynamo-electric Mach. 484 For transforming from high pressures to low, several kinds of apparatus are known, namely:—. Induction-coils, also called for this purpose Secondary Generators, or Transformers, or Converters. 1891 Times 28 Sept. 13/6 From the transformer the currents are led to the four collecting rings of the motor, and a continuous current is taken off its commutator.

b. attrib., as transformer chamber, house, station.

1888 Scribner's Mag. Aug. 196/2 The development of a radically new and very interesting system, known as the secondary or transformer system. 1891 Pall Mall G. 12 Sept. 6/2 It furnishes the current for feeding 1,200 glow-lamps, partly fixed to a large frame in the transformer room, partly to a sort of signboard outside the hall. 1894 Westm. Gaz. 1 May 7/2 The current is conveyed to Rome on four copper cables. ..Outside the Porta Pia ..it enters a transformer-house, where its pressure is reduced from 5,000 to 2,000 volts.

Transfo·rming, vbl. sb. [f. as prec. + -ing 1.] The action of the vb. Transform; transformation.

1435 Misyn Fire of Loue 40 Qwhat is lufe bott transformynge of desire In to pe þinge lufyd? 1580 Hollyband Treas. Fr. Tongs, Transfiguration, a transforming. 1633 P. Fletcher Purple Isl. v. iv, With quick and strange transforming. 1883 J. T. Burgess in Athenæum 3 Nov. 569/1 The transforming of the south transept into the vestry.

Transfo·rming, ppl. a. [f. as prec. + -ing 2.] That transforms.

1653 Binning Serm. (1845) 10 Love is an uniting and transforming thing. 1827 Keble Chr. Y., 13th Sunday Trin. xviii, Our Saviour's face..Bent on us with transforming power. 1842 I. Williams Baptistery i. ix. (1874) 107, I gaz'd Upon the footsteps of transforming time. 1907 W. M. Ramsay in Expositor Jan. 72 The transforming hand of man was applied to it.

Hence Transfo·rmingly adv.

1865 H. Bushnell Vicar. Sacr. ii. (1868) 68 He could not so powerfully and transformingly impress the fact. 1874 Geo. Eliot Coll. Breakf. P. 77 That energy Which moves transformingly in root and branch.

Transformism (transfɔ·miz'm). [a. F. transformisme (Broca, Congrès d'anthropol. 1867, p. 401), f. transformer to Transform: see -ism.]

1. Biol. The hypothesis that existing species are the product of the gradual transformation of other forms of living beings (loosely, such transformation itself); any form of the doctrine of evolution of species.

1878 Bartley tr. Topinard's Anthrop. iii. i. 527 Direct proofs as to transformism are not wanting. 1880 Huxley Crayfish. vi. 318 We may suppose that crayfishes have resulted from the modification of some other form of living matter; this is what, to borrow a useful word from the French language, is known as..transformism. 1880 Nature 27 Jan. 307/1 Degraded plants, affording remarkable specimens of natural transformism. 1883 Tylor in Nature 3 May 8/2 These processes of development, or evolution, or transformism were long ago recognised to no small extent by ethnologists.

2. The doctrine of gradual evolution of moral and social relations: loosely, such evolution itself.

1885 Athenæum 17 Oct. 510/2 The transformist 'conference' at Paris last year was an eloquent lecture by M. Ch. Letourneau on the evolution of morals. The concluding remarks are as follows: 'In that which relates to education, I am sorry to differ entirely from the principal founder of transformism in morals, H. Spencer'. 1894 Liberal 24 Nov. 5/1 A laboratory in which the process of social transformism is carried on.

Transformist (transfɔ·rmist). [In sense 1, f. Transform v. + -ist; in sense 2, a. F. transformiste (Broca, 1867, as in prec.).]

1. One who is occupied in transforming, humorous nonce-use.

1799 J. MacGowan Dial. Devils i. 11 As for the barbers, they are a set of transformists, established wholly by my dexterity.

2. An adherent of transformism. Also attrib. or as adj.

a 1879 Pusey in Athenæum 19 July 83/1 We think the transformist theories a mere imagination. 1889 [see prec. 2.]. 1890 Pop. Sci. Monthly Dec. 257 Agassiz was a little too earnest a transformist, and believed that certain algæ could become animals.

Hence Transformi·stic a., of or pertaining to transformism or transformists.

1887 Nature 24 Feb. 389/2 In the chapter on the first appearance of man, the various transformistic theories are passed in review.

† Transformity. Obs. nonce-wd. [f. Transform, after conformity.] The state or condition of being transformed.

1622 T. Stoughton Chr. Sacr. xiii. 175 The next words are, But be ye transformed...A plaine opposition betwixt that before, and this now spoken; betwixt that conformitie to this world, and this transformitie.

† Transfou·nd, v. Obs. rare⁻¹. [f. Trans- 2 + Found v. 3; cf. L. transfundĕre to Transfuse.] trans. To recast (metal) into (some other form).

a 1649 Drumm. of Hawth. Consid. to Parl. Wks. (1711) 186 That all bells of steeples..be taken down and transfounded into pieces of ordnance.

† Tra·nsfretate, v. Obs. rare⁻¹. = Transfrete.

1653 Urquhart Rabelais ii. vi, We transfretate the Sequan at the diluculi and crepusculi.

† Transfreta·tion. Obs. [ad. late L. transfretātion-em, n. of action f. transfretāre: see next.] The action of crossing or passing over a strait, channel, or narrow sea.

1612 Davies Why Ireland, etc. (1747) 69 Since the last transfretation of King Richard the Second. a 1645 Howell Lett. iv. xxiii, She had a rough passage in her transfretation to Dover Castle. 1768 H. Walpole Hist. Doubts 90 Of this transfretation and Christening, Perkin, in his supposed confession, says not a word. 1781 S. Pegge Curr. Misc. 60 Henry 2, levied numerous subsidies..for his transfretations (to use a Monkish word) into foreign parts.

† Transfre·te, v. Obs. Also 6 -fret, 7 -freat; errors. 6 -freit, 6–7 -freight. [ad. L. transfretāre, f. Trans- + fretum a strait, channel; cf. OF. transfreter (a 1200 in Godef.).]

1. intr. To pass over a strait or narrow sea.

*c*1540 tr. Pol. Verg. Eng. Hist. (Camden) I. 85 The Emperoure Severus..desierus to procure the destruction of Albinus, transferted into Fraunce. a 1548 HALL Chron., Hen. IV 24 Declaryng also that..he wold transfret and passe the sea himselfe. 1567 DRANT Horace, Ep. vi. D j, Treasure of greater gaine Then all the chaffer that transfretes from Portugal or Spaine. 1606 WARNER Alb. Eng. XIV. xci, Hence for Ireland at the least I must transfreet. 1653 WATERHOUSE Appl. Learn. 52 The Saxon Merchants ..Arm and Transfreight, and about the year six hundred eighty nine obtain the Rule over us.

2. trans. a. To convey across a strait or sea. b. To cross (a strait or sea).

1594 †GREENE Selimus Wks. (Grosart) XIV. 266 Tawait th' arrivall of some ship That might transfreit vs safely vnto Rhodes. 1595 Locrine I. i. 108 We..transfretting the Illirian sea, Arriued on the coasts of Aquitane. 1611 BRATHWAIT Gold. Fleece, Sonn. iv. G j b, With joyfull mirth..To hone transfreted such a Sea of woes. 1653 URQUHART Rabelais I. xxxiii. 151 Have we not..travelled and toyled enough, in having transfreted past over the Hircanian sea?

Transfro·ntal, a. Anat. [TRANS- 5.] Crossing the forehead, or the frontal lobe of the brain.

1889 Buck's Handbk. Med. Sc. VIII. 152/1 The union of the subfrontal fissure, deeply with the precentral and the inferse transfrontal fissures.

Trans-fro·ntier, a. [TRANS- 3.] Lying, living, or done beyond the frontier of a country.

1877 LD. LYTTON Lett. (1906) II. xv. 481 The rudest and most unmanageable transfrontier chieftains. 1909 Daily Chron. 22 Jan. 3/4 A personal history of trans-frontier surveys and boundary demarcations.

†Transfu·de, v. Obs. rare. [irreg. f. L. transfundĕre (see TRANSFUSE), perf. tense transfudī. Cf. diffuade, effuade.] trans. a. To transmit. b. To expend lavishly.

1432–50 tr. Higden (Rolls) I. 5 Withowte the sollicitude of writers scholde transfude [L. transfunderet] to vs the memory of thynges of antiquite. Ibid. VIII. 133 So that y myghte transfude [L. transfuderim, v. r. transfederem] my patrimony to youre utilite.

†Tra·nsfuge. Obs. rare. [a. F. transfuge (14th c. in Godef. Compl.), ad. L. transfuga, f. TRANS- + fug-ĕre to flee.] A deserter; a fugitive.

1548 Privy Council Acts (1890) II. 186 Certein Frenchemen ..demanded by the French King by treaty as transfuges. 1659 SENOWICK Milit. Disc. 78 When a Souldier renounceth his colours, and becomes a transfuge, and runnes to the enemies side. [1855 LD. STANHOPE Let. to Ticknor 12 May in Misc. Ser. II. (1872) 18 The protection of deserters and transfuges is the invariable rule of every service in the world.]

So †Tra·nsfuger, in same sense; †Tra·nsfugious a., that is a deserter.

1611 SPEED Hist. Gt. Brit. IX. xxiv. (1623) 1170 Scotland, the then Refuge of Traiterous transfugers. Ibid. 1181 That transfugious Champion.

†Transfu·me, v. Obs. rare. [ad. L. transfūmā-re, f. TRANS- + fūmāre to smoke, FUME.]

1623 COCKERAM, Transfume, to smoake thorow. 1656 in BLOUNT Glossogr.

†Transfu·nd, v. Obs. rare. [ad. L. transfund-ĕre: see next.] trans. = next.

1670 H. STUBBE Plus Ultra 121 Because this Transfunding of blood hath hitherto been looked on as the primary Invention. a 1677 BARROW Serm. (1687) I. viii. 97 Speech, that most natural, proper and easie means of..conveying, and, as it were, transfunding our thoughts and our passions into each other.

Transfuse (transfiū·z), v. [f. L. transfūs-, ppl. stem of transfund-ĕre, f. trans, TRANS- + fundĕre to pour. Cf. F. transfuser (17–18th c. in Hatz.-Darm.).]

1. trans. To pour (a liquid) from one vessel or receptacle into another.

1601 HOLLAND Pliny XXXII. vi. II. 473 Ever and anon the troubled water ought to be transfused into a vessell of brasse, and clarified therein. 1664 POWER Exp. Philos. I. 4 The stings in all Bees are hollow and tubulous..so that when they prick the flesh, they do also, through that channel, transfuse the poyson into it. 1755 SMOLLETT Quix. II. iv. II. (1803) IV. 141 Transfusing the contents of the bottles into their own bellies. 1829 Chapters Phys. Sci. 189 When water or any ..fluid requires to be transfused from one vessel to another.

2. transf. and fig. To cause to 'flow' from one to another; to transmit; to diffuse into or through something; to cause to permeate; to instil.

*c*1425 St. Mary of Oignies II. iv. in Anglia VIII. 165/15 As in a lighte [He] transfused hym-selle purgh þe body of þe seke. 1594 HOOKER Eccl. Pol. I. x. § 12 A natural delight which man hath to transfuse from himselfe into others. 1605 B. JONSON Volpone III. v, Where we may so transfuse our wandering souls Out at our lips. 1618 HALES Gold. Rem. ii. (1673) 3 The sole way of transfusing the principles of Christianity into men. 1709 SACHEVERELL Serm. 15 Aug. 4 It's..Influence is transfus'd thro' several.. Channels. 1877 MISS A. B. EDWARDS Up Nile ix. 240 The sun being..at its highest and the air transfused with light. 1880 E. WHITE Cert. Relig. (1881) 77 Their testimony, and teaching, and life, transfuse that certitude into those who receive their word.

3. Med., etc. To transfer (the blood of a person or animal) into the veins of another; to inject (blood or other fluid) into the veins.

1666 Phil. Trans. 353 Take up the Carotidal Artery of the Dog or other Animal, whose Blood is to be transfused into another of the same or a different Kind. 1743 tr. Heister's Surg. 305 The Blood of one Animal is transfused into the Veins of another. 1801 Med. Jrnl. V. 565 On transfusing red blood into the temporal artery, the animal remained lively and well.

b. To treat (a person) with transfusion of blood (or of some solution).

1897 Allbutt's Syst. Med. II. 948 We transfused the patient with saline solution containing sulphates. 1905 ROLLESTON Dis. Liver 268 He was transfused three times.

Hence Transfused (-fiū·zd, poet. -fiū·zĕd) ppl. a.; Transfu·sing vbl. sb. and ppl. a.

1652 BENLOWES Theoph. v. liv, The Primum Mobile do's seem immense And doth transfused Influence Through all inferiour Orbs..dispense. 1667 Phil. Trans. II. 490 The Conception of that Transfusing design. 1782 A. MONRO Compar. Anat. (ed. 3) Introd. 10 Changing their juices by transfusing of new liquors. 1842 LOUDON Suburban Hort. 91 They receive from the atmosphere the transfused light on every side. 1903 MORLEY Gladstone I. ii. iv. 165 The transfusing alchemy of his rather sunsky crucible.

Transfuser (transfiū·zəɹ). rare. [f. prec. + -ER 1.] One who or that which transfuses.

1889 Nation (N. Y.) 17 Oct. 319/2 The transfuser of Corean thought.

Transfusible (transfiū·zĭbl), a. rare. [f. L. transfūs-, ppl. stem (see TRANSFUSE) + -IBLE: cf. fusible.] Capable of being transfused.

1661 Boyle Style Scriptures (1675) 156 Expressions .. whose Preeminency is as little transfusible into any other as the Sun's dazling Brightness..can be undetractingly Painted. 1826 MISS MITFORD Village Ser. III. 267 She could catch even the zest of a repartee, that most evanescent and least transfusible of all things.

Transfusion (transfiū·ʒən). [ad. L. transfūsiōn-em, n. of action from transfundĕre to TRANSFUSE. Cf. F. transfusion (1307 in Godef. Compl.).] The action of transfusing.

1. The action of pouring a liquid from one vessel into another; also fig. transference; transmission; translation.

1578 BANISTER Hist. Man I. 14 Nerves..pass through them [bones]..for the transfusion of sense into other partes. *c*1649 HYDE Lett. (1650) II. 14 xdvii. 61 In which languages as 'tis with liquors which by transfusion use to take wind from one vessell to another. 1700 DRYDEN Fables Pref. (1721) 24, I grant that something must be lost in all transfusion, that is, in all translations. c 1780 BURNEY in Boswell Johnson (1848) 71/2 note, He would find the transfusion into another language extremely difficult. 1835 Fraser's Mag. XII. 394 Of all poets, Theocritus is perhaps the least susceptible of transfusion. 1850 GROTE Greece II. lxviii. VIII. 595 Such persuasion had grown up gradually..; partly by insensible transfusion from others.

2. Med., etc. The process of transferring the blood of a person or animal into the veins of another; the injection of blood or other fluid into the veins.

1643 Plain English 21 As if they..should, of a sudden, receive a Transfusion of Sheeps Blood from the others. 1678 PHILLIPS s. v., Transfusion of the blood is a late Anatomical invention experimented by the Royal Society. 1802 PALEY Nat. Theol. XXV. (ed. 2) 484 The experiment of transfusion proves, that the blood of one animal will serve for another. 1877 ROBERTS Practitih. Med. (ed. 3) I. 41 In some cases transfusion of blood is demanded, in order to save life and to replace the blood which has been lost.

3. attrib. and Comb., as transfusion apparatus, plan; transfusion cell (Bot.), one of certain cells which remain thin-walled and thus permit the passage of water to the adjacent tissues; so transfusion strand, tissue.

1892 J. BOWER Lett. (1907) 25 Give me the latest information about the transfusion plan, specifying the quantities of salt [etc.]. 1875 BENNETT & DYER tr. Sachs' Bot. 466 Cells elongated in a direction transverse to the axis of the leaf.. leaving large intercellular spaces (Transfusion-Tissue of Mohl). 1897 KNOWER Dict. Bot. 262/2 Avelin's Transfusion-Apparatus. 1898 tr. Strasburger's Text-bk. Bot. I. i. 112 Special endodermal cells, directly external to the xylem strands, remain unthickened and serve as transfusion cells. Ibid. 111 Transfusion strands.

Hence Transfu·sionist, one who advocates or practises the process of transfusion of blood.

1889 Pop. Sci. Monthly Apr. 808 The early transfusionists reasoned, in the style of the Christian Scientists, that the blood is the life.

†Transfusive (transfiū·siv), a. [f. L. transfūs-, ppl. stem (see TRANSFUSE) + -IVE. In med. L. transfūsīvus (Albertus Magnus, a 1280.)] Having the quality of or a tendency to transfusion.

1677 W. HUGHES Man of Sin II. iv. 72 The Virgin Mary had a transfusive Virginity; which quenched all concupiscence in others towards her. 1850 J. HAMILTON in Christian Sabbath (1852) 132 The transfusive good humour which sent every one away with a purpose to come back. 1869 — Mem. J. D. Burns I. 11 The transfusive power of his large and exhaustless vitality.

Hence Transfu·sively adv., with transfusion.

1635 HEYWOOD Hierarch. v. 278 When he his beames transfusively shall run Through Mars his Sphere.

†Transglutition. Obs. rare—[1]. [n. of action from late L. transglutire to gulp down.] The action of swallowing; deglutition. So †Transglu·tting in same sense.

1541 R. COPLAND Guydon's Quest. Chirurg. F ij, The keye of Trachea arteria in the tyme of transglutyngye. 1650 BULWER Anthropomet. 128 There are many that drink without the moving of Transglutition.

Transgredient (transgrī·dĭent, -z-), a. rare. [ad. L. transgredient-em, pr. pple. of transgredī: see TRANSGRESS v.] Transgressing. a. Violating a law or obligation. b. Passing beyond subjective limits; objective.

1837 SYD. SMITH Wks. (1850) 608 To paint the other branches of the Church as such slippery transgredient mortals. 1904 Frnl. Philos., Psychol. & Sci. Methods 4 Aug. 426 Pragmatism..guarantees no objective or social certainty. Its standards are lacking in the essential character of a standard—transgredient reference and verifiability.

Transgress (transgre·s, -z-), sb. rare. ? Obs. [ad. L. transgress-us a passing over (u-stem), f. L. transgredī: see next. Cf. OF. transgres, 15th c. in Godef. (perh. the immediate source).] Transgression, trespass.

1578 in Scot. Poems 16th C. II. 196 There is na sanct may saif your saule Fra the transgres. 1624 HEYWOOD Gunaik. II. 73 There be many errors, excesses, and transgresses. c 1640 [SHIRLEY] Capt. Underwit v. ii, Well, sir, though your transgresse deserve no pardon, Yet I am charitable upon Condition. 1839 READE Deluge 112, I heard a Voice that spake within, And said such transgress was a sin.

Transgress (transgre·s, -z-), v. Also 6–7 trans(e)gresse. [app. a. F. transgresser (14th c. in Godef. Compl.), f. L. transgress-, ppl. stem of transgredī to step across, f. trans across + gradī to step.]

1. trans. To go beyond the bounds or limits prescribed by (a law, command, etc.); to break, violate, infringe, contravene, trespass against.

1526 Pilgr. Perf. (1531) 98 b, So they transgresse & breke the commaundement of god. 1550 CROWLEY Epigr. 757 Wyl ye transgresse my lawes? 1560 DAUS tr. Sleidane's Comm. 217 That he should suffer for transgressing them perours commaundement. 1660 Trial Regic. 126 That he that knew the Law so well should so much transgresse it. 1713 STEELE Englishman No. 50. 324 Too great an Inclination one way betrayed him to transgress the Rules of Charity. 1829 SCOTT Anne of G. xxii, Other points of etiquette were transgressed in their turn, after the repast was over. 1888 BRYCE Amer. Commw. II. xxxvii. 32 Where a statute passed by a State legislature is alleged to transgress the Constitution of the State.

b. absol., or intr. (const. against): To break a law or command; to trespass, offend, sin.

1526 TINDALE 2 John 9 Whosoever transgresseth and bydeth not in the doctrine of Christ, hath not God. 1535 COVERDALE Neh. i. 8 If ye transgresse, then wil I scatter you abrode amonge the nacions. 1599 SHAKS. Much Ado II. i. 260, I would not marry her, though she were indowed with all that Adam had left him before he transgrest. a 1699 LADY HEWITT Antidotes (1875) 15 I did not transgresse against my Mother. 1875 JOWETT Plato (ed. 2) V. 50 That the two states should unite against a third which transgressed, was a great source of security.

†c. trans. To offend against (a person); to disobey. Obs. rare.

a 1619 FLETCHER Bonduca IV. ii, I never Blasphemed 'em, uncle, nor transgrest my parents. a 1625 — Wom. Pleased III. i, You are too Royal to me; To me that have so foolishly transgress'd you.

2. trans. To go or pass beyond (any limit or bounds).

a 1619 [see transgressed below]. 1641 WILKINS Math. Magick II. vi. (1648) 197 He advises that we should not.. transgresse the bounds of nature. 1686 PLOT Staffordsh. 322 Nor have these limits of human life been less transgrest by Men..than they have by women. c 1700 DRYDEN Ovid's Metam. XV. Pythag. Philos. 669 Hard mouthed coursers..Apt to run riot, and transgress the goal. 1829 LYTTON Devereux I. i, A man never known before to transgress the very lowest of all possible walks.

†b. intr. (a) To go beyond limits; to trespass (on). (b) To digress. Obs.

1652 GERBIER Princ. 22, I shall not spend time, and transgresse on the Readers patience, concerning the making of Clay, and burning of Bricks. 1689 tr. Buchanan's De Jure Regni apud Scotos 14 Let us return from whence we have transgressed.

Hence Transgressed (-gre·st) ppl. a. (in quot. a 1619), that has gone beyond ordinary limits, excessive); Transgre·ssing vbl. sb. and ppl. a.

1535 COVERDALE Josh. xxii. 22 Yf this be a transgressynge or trespacynge agaynst the Lorde. 1579 W. WILKINSON Confut. Famthye of Lewe b ij, She shall be guiltes of the transgressing. a 1619 FOTHERBY Atheom. II. ii. § 1 (1622) 198 So large..; and transgrest in her proportion. 1651 HOBBES Govt. & Soc. xiv. § 8. 217 Any one who hath suffered the punishment of the transgressed Law. a 1812 M'LEAN Comm. Hebr. (1847) I. 329 The punishment inflicted on his transgressing seed. 1907 Blackw. Mag. Feb. 177/1 He brought suits against transgressing shipmasters.

Transgre·ssible, a. rare—[0]. [ad. late and med.-L. transgressibilis: see prec. and -IBLE.] Capable of being transgressed.

1882 in OGILVIE; and in later Dicts.

Transgression (transgre·ʃən, -z-). [app. a. F. transgression (12th c. in Hatz.-Darm.), ad. L. transgressiōn-em a going over; later, a violation, transgression, sin, n. of action from transgredī to TRANSGRESS.]

1. The action of transgressing or passing beyond the bounds of legality or right; a violation of law, duty, or command; disobedience, trespass, sin.

1426 LYDG. De Guil. Pilgr. 1337 Thyne transgressyon ye for to say A goyyng fro the ryht[e] way, Or shortly, in sentement Brekyng off a comaundement. 1432–50 tr. Higden (Rolls) V. 213 Borne in as grete innocency and withowte synne as Adam was afore the transgression. 14.. Cust. Malton in Surtees Misc. (1888) 60 Alle odyr transgrescyons þt towchys the lordes persons. 1494 FABYAN Chron. (1811) 340 Culpable in certayne artycles, towchynge transgressyon agayne the kynge. 1558 ABP. HAMILTON Catech. (1884) 27 Dedeiy synnis quhilke ar transgressionis of Gods commands. 1595 SHAKS. John I. i. 256 Heauen lay not my transgression to my charge. 1652 Hobbes Leviath. II. xxvi. 148 Punishments ordained beforehand for their transgression. 1738 De Foe Relig. Courtsh. I. ii. (1840) 67 The children shall not be punished for the father's transgression. 1824 L. Murray Eng. Gram. I. 491 The transgression of this rule makes what are called harsh or forced phrases.

b. The action of passing over or beyond. (Only as the etymological sense of the word.)

1623 Cockeram, Transgression, a passing or going ouer. 1643 Burroughes Exp. Hosea (1652) 238 Sin is called by the name of Transgression..that is going beyond their bounds, going over the hedge. 1887 Maurice Ep. St. John iii. 47, I call it transgression; that is, the passing over a boundary which was marked out for me. 1907 Illingworth Doctr. Trinity x. 190 Sin is always transgression, the overstepping of due bounds, the refusal to be limited.

2. Geol. The spread of the sea over the land along a subsiding shore-line, producing an overlap by deposition of new strata upon old.

1882 Geikie in Nature 13 July 242/2 In a section 'Upon Abrasion and Transgression', the author insists upon the paramount influence of the sea as an agent in planing down the surface of the land. 1903 Clayole in Amer. Geol. Aug. 91 The depression in southern Ohio, where the outcrop of the Corniferous limestone and the Corniferous-Hamilton is concealed by the transgression of the shale.

Hence Transgre·ssional a., of or pertaining to transgression; of the nature of a transgression.

1690-2 Lo. Rochester Let. in Burnet Own Times (1823) VI. 284 Forgive this transgressional rapture, and receive my thanks..for your kind letter.

Transgressive (transgre·siv, -z-), a. [f. L. transgress-, ppl. stem (see Transgress) + -ive. Cf. late L. transgressivus.]

1. Having the character or quality of transgressing. a. Involving transgression; sinful.

1646 Sir T. Browne Pseud. Epid. v. x. 237 Adam..from the transgressive infirmities of himselfe might have erred alone, as well as the Angels before him. 1797 Hist. in Ann. Reg. 57/1 The powers assumed..were explicitly termed unconstitutional, and transgressive of the authority lodged in them by the laws.

b. Passing beyond some limit.

1735 H. Brooke Univ. Beauty III. 30 Where the Solar Heat, and searching Air Transgressive, pierce our actuated Sphere.

†2. Music. ? Not coming in regular sequence; or ? Overlapping (cf. Conjunct B. 6). Obs.

1760 Stiles Anc. Gk. Mus. in Phil. Trans. LI. 704 Systems were there considered as differing in respect, first, to magnitude; secondly, to genus; thirdly, to the being consonant or dissonant; fourthly, to the being rational or irrational; fifthly, to the being sequent or transgressive.

3. Geol. Overlapping: cf. Transgression 2. (So Fr. transgressif (Littré).)

1854 [implied in Transgressively]. 1860 Mayne Expos. Lex., Transgressivus,..applied to a couch or bed that incomes deposited on others of different natures and different levels by rising over them, so that it is necessarily more or less inclined: transgressive.

Hence Transgre·ssively adv., in a transgressive manner; spec. in Geol. + (a) unconformably; (b) so as to overlap the formation next below it.

1847 Webster, Transgressively,..by transgressing. 1854 Murchison Siluria viii. 169 The Silurian series overlying transgressively or unconformably the edges of the subjacent sandstone. 1879 Geikie in Encycl. Brit. X. 372/2 Upraised Lower Silurian rocks, upon the upturned and denuded edges of which the Carboniferous Limestone lies transgressively.

Transgressor (transgre·sər, -z-). Also 4–7 -our, 6 -er. [a. AF. transgressour = F. transgresseur (14th c. in Hatz.-Darm.), a late L. transgressōr-em, agent-n. from transgredī to Transgress.] One who transgresses; a law-breaker; a sinner.

1377 Langl. P. Pl. B. 1. 56 And taken transgressores [v.r. transgressouris] and tyes hem faste. 1432–50 tr. Higden (Rolls) III. 263 He..did chide the transgressores of the lawes. 1463–4 Rolls of Parl. V. 502/2 To committe the transgressours..to the next Gaole. 1526 Tindale Jas. ii. 9 Ye commit synne, and are rebuked off the lawe as transgressours. — v. 11 Thou arte a transgresser off the lawe. 1638 Penit. Convt. (1657) 235 His Conscience arraigneth him..as a Transgressor. 1667 Milton P. L. xi. 164 Such title should belonge To me transgressour, who for thee ordaind A help, became thy snare. 1875 Jowett Plato (ed. 2) V. 100 Whoever shall transgress the strains by law established is a transgressor of the laws.

Transhape, variant of Trans-shape.

†Transhaw, a. or adv. Obs. rare. Meaning and origin uncertain; perh. 'exposed' to the blast, opposed to 'borrow' sheltered from the blast.

1653 D. Dudley Metallum Martis (1854) 32 How to mend their Natures, by finning or setting the finery, lesse transhaw more borrow, which are terms of art, and by altering and pitching the works. Ibid., If the work be set transhaw and tranniring from the blast, the Iron is more coldshare, lesse Fine.

Tranship (tranſi·p), less commonly transship (transſi·p), v. [f. Trans- + Ship v.]

1. trans. To transfer from one ship to another; also transf., from one railway train or other conveyance to another. Also absol.

1792 Ld. Macartney Jrnl. in Barrow Life (1807) II. 180 All the baggage and presents [were] put on board the large junks, to be transshipped into smaller ones. 1797 — Emb. to China II. 1. 4 In order to tranship them. 1802 C. Robinson Adm. Cas. III. 247 He is not bound..either to transship or to repair. 1823 Wellington Let. 26 June in Gurw. Desp. (1839) X. 165, I am afraid it will be necessary to transship the ordnance &c. into smaller vessels. 1846 Addison On Contracts v. ii. § 4 (1883) 494 If the vessel becomes disabled ..the master is bound to transship and forward the cargo, if he has the means of transhipment at hand. 1876 Callis Cutlery 181 It was the practice of German manufacturers.. to..transship them without allowing them to land. 1890 Blackw. Mag. Oct. 559/1 He didn't give them time to transship enough provisions.

2. intr. Of a passenger: To change from one ship or other conveyance to another.

1879 Atchealey Boerland 264 At East London..we transshipped into a steamship African. 1892 R. Rivers Homeward Bound 87 After going a mile or two we stopped, got out, and transhipped into another train. 1892 Daily News 18 Oct. 5/6 Passengers going by her had not to transship either at Hong Kong or Shanghai. 1895 Ramsay Paul the Trav. 283 He [Paul] had to transship in Troas.

3. Comb. in which tran·ship is app. = transhipment: as tranship-shed, a shed at a railway joint station for the transference of goods from one railway to another; tranship-train, a train running in connexion with a steamer into which the passengers tranship; tranship-van: see quot.

1903 Westm. Gaz. 14 Jan. 5/1 We have 'tranship', or road-vans, specially appointed to work on branches and at stations where there is not the heavy traffic. These take goods from a certain starting-point to be delivered at a number of roadside stations. 1903 Ibid. 21 Feb. 7/1 Inviting seven English and Scotch companies to co-operate in the matter of a tranship shed at Carlisle. 1904 Daily News 22 Oct. 9 When near the new station at Talacre the engine of a heavy tranship train jumped an obstruction..The guard of the disabled tranship hurried Chesterwards.

Hence Transhi·pping vbl. sb. (also attrib.).

1801 Sir W. Scott in C. Robinson Adm. Cas. III. 259 If he [the master] had not the means of transhipping. 1816 Tuckey Narr. Exped. R. Zaire iii. (1818) 88 The transhipping the stores..being finished. 1840 Ewld. Hall Uncle Comm. 121 The transhipping of them, either by rafts or small vessels. 1892 Nation (N. Y.) 1 Sept. 155/1 A better transhipping point.

Transhi·pment, trans-shi·pment. [f. Trans- + Shipment, or f. prec. + -ment.] The action or process of transhipping or changing from one ship or other conveyance to another.

1796 Vaughan Examination 13 Landing a ship's cargo.. with as few intermediate transhipments as possible. 1813 Wellington in Gurw. Desp. (1839) XI. 218, I am obliged to go through the details of all the orders for the transhipment. 1846 Warburton Hochelaga I. 259 The frequent locks and transhipment of the cargo must ever be a great embarrassment. 1856 Farmer's Mag. Nov. 424 The inconvenience of two transshipments, one at each end of the Erie Canal. 1885 Lo. Blackburn in Law Rep. 10 App. Cas. 419 The cost of transhipment or reshipment, as the case may be. 1899 Statesman (Calcutta) 27 Sept., There exists communication by train from Siliguri to Gyabari with one transhipment. attrib. 1892 Pall Mall G. 24 Nov. 2/1, I refer especially to the transhipment trade. 1899 Westm. Gaz. 20 Dec. 9/1 Heavy dock charges [etc.] have lost the port the bulk of the transhipment business.

Transhuman (transhiū·mən, -z-), a. rare. [f. Trans- 4 + Human; after It. trasumanar in Dante.] Beyond the human; superhuman. So Transhu·manate [It. Dante trasumanar, Florio tra(n)shumanare], Transhu·manize vbs., trans. to make transhuman; Transhumana·tion [Florio tra(n)shumanatione], amaking or becoming transhuman.

1822 Cary Dante, Purgat. I. 68 Words may not tell of that transhuman change (trasumanar significar per verba, Non si porìo). 1842 Gallenga Italy I. (1848) I. 135 Dante's contact with God was trans-humanating. 1847 Cyc. to Rome (ed. 2) 213 A transhumanation takes place. 1872 Lowell Dante Prose Wks. 1890 IV. 168 Souls..transhumanized to the divine abstraction of pure contemplation. 1885 A. J. Butler Parad. of Dante v. 70 To signify in words transhumanation were impossible. 1892 Norton Dante's Purg. v. 1 Transhumanizing cannot be signified in words.

Transience (tra·nsiĕns, -z-; tra·nſĕns, -z-). [f. as Transient: see -ence.]

1. The action or fact of soon passing away; also, the condition or state of being transient, transitoriness.

1745 Brooke An Anthem iv, Here, from time and transience won, Beauty has her charms reign'd. a 1822 Shelley Ess. & Lett. (1852) I. 184 A being..whose 'thoughts wander through eternity', disclaiming alliance with transience and decay. 1849 Tait's Mag. XVI. 8 Shadows..glide away, in transience fleet. 1875 Jowett Plato (ed. 2) III. 126 Regarding the transience of pleasure as a proof of its unreality. 1905 Westm. Gaz. 22 Apr. 12/5 Any other explanation of the transience of French Protestantism.

2. The state or quality of being 'transient' in sense 2; = Transcendence 1 b.

1888–9 Schaff's Encycl. Relig. Knowl. I. 370 [Calvinism] emphasizes at once the transience of God beyond, and the immanence of God within, the world.

Transiency (tra·nsiĕnsi, -z-; tra·nſĕnsi, -z-). [f. as prec.: see -ency.]

1. The quality or condition of being transient; brevity of existence; transitoriness.

1652 Gaule Magastrom. 96 How is it possible there should either be any..observation on the artists and art, in a transiency so imperceptible? 1805 W. Taylor in Robberds Mem. (1842) II. 98 A more eager popularity, like that of the 'Minstrel's Lay', would be symptomatic of transiency. 1811 Coleridge in Lit. Rem. (1836) I. 382 From their minuteness and transiency not calculated to stiffen or inflate the individual. 1832 Blackw. Mag. XXIX. 502 They try to perpetuate the transiency of emotions. 1905 F. Young Sands of Pleasure I. v, Vaguely conscious of the transiency and instability of material life.

2. A transient thing or being. rare.

1866 Carlyle Edw. Irving 318 Poor sickly transiencies that we are, coveting we know not what! 1882 Palgrave Vis. Eng. 200 On the trivial-est transiencies fix'd, or plucking for fruit Dead-sea Apples and ashes of sin, more brute than the brute.

Transient (tra·nsiĕnt, -z- ; tra·nſĕnt, -z-), a. (sb.) Also 7 erron. transeant, -scient; 7–9 (chiefly in sense 2) transient. [f. L. transiens (in oblique cases transeunt-, whence the form transeunt), pr. pple. of L. transīre, L. trans across + ire to go.]

1. Passing by or away with time; not durable or permanent; temporary, transitory; esp. passing away quickly or soon, brief, momentary, fleeting.

1607 Schol. Disc. agst. Antichr. i. i. 17 Whose parts are transeunt and aereall, and presently vanishing. 1612 Sturtevant Metallica v. 56 Instruments and means are said to be Transient, when in respect of their vse, they serue but once. 1659 Pearson Creed (1839) 380 It containeth two distinct parts; one transient, the other permanent. 1662 J. Davies tr. Mandelslo's Trav. 261 They are transient showers soon over. 1713 Berkeley Guardian No. 70 ¶ 8 The transient enjoyments of this life. 1813 Sir H. Davy Agric. Chem. (1814) 282 This manure is transient in its effects, and does not last for more than a single crop. 1873 Hamerton Intell. Life iv. v. (1879) 166 The few and transient hours that we can call our own.

2. Passing out or operating beyond itself; transitive; opposed to immanent. (Often spelt transeunt for distinction from sense 1.)

1613 Purchas Pilgrimage I. i. 4 The workes of God, which are either inward and immanent, or outward and transient. 1623 Gill Sacra. Philos. I. 98 You may observe a difference of actions, of which some are immanent, or indwelling in the doer..: some againe are transeunt, or passing from the doer upon that which is done. a 1677 Hale Prim. Orig. Man 35 Those two great transient or transeunt acts or works, the works of Creation and Providence. 1836–7 Sir W. Hamilton Metaph. (1870) II. xxv. 118 An act of the mind going out of itself, in other words, a transeunt act. 1847 De Quincey Milton v. Chalmers & Landor Wks. XII. 17 In metaphysical language, the moral of an epos or a drama should be immanent, not transient. 1890 Athenæum 8 Nov. 631/1 Voluntarily reactive redintegration with its two stages, immanent and transeunt action.

3. Passing or flowing through; passing from one thing or person to another. Now rare.

1619 Denison Heav. Bang. 341 If the worship at our receiuing did determine in the Sacrament, or were transient by it to God. 1644 [H. Parker] Jus Pop. 57 They lurke between scriptures and reason, and remain in kind of transcient posture. 1671 Grew Anat. Plants i. (1682) 7 A Filtre to the transient Sap. a 1703 Burkitt On N. T. 1 Thess. ii. (1818) 16 Hereditary, and..transient from one generation to another. 1847 Tennyson Princess v. 37 Always we stole, and transient in a trice From what was left of faded woman-slough To sheathing splendours..issued in the sun.

4. Passing through a place without staying in it, or staying only for a short time; in quot. 1731 of birds, migratory; spec. (U.S. colloq.) applied to a guest at a hotel, etc. (often ellipt. as sb.: see B. 2).

1685 Baxter Paraphr. N. T., Heb x (1702) Introd., Whether this Mark was Bishop of Alexandria, or only a transient Evangelist there a while, is an Historical Controversie. 1713 Swift Cadenus & Vanessa 768 Love, hitherto a transient guest, Ne'er held possession of his breast. 1731 Sir J. Clerk in Jrnl. W. Stoakley (Surtees Soc.) 1 There are many transient fowls that come into Britain at certain seasons. 1740 W. Douglass Disc. Curr. Brit. Plant. Amer. 3 The Author is not a transient Person, who from Humour or Caprice..may expose the Province. 1788 Massachusetts Spy 11 Dec. 3/2 A transient jockey came to the house of Mr. Jonathan Hubbey, and agreed to purchase a horse of him. 1822 Montgomery Hymn, 'This stone to Thee in faith we lay' v, But will, indeed, Jehovah deign Here to abide, no transient guest?

5. Mus. Introduced in passing, as a note, chord, etc. not belonging to the harmony, or to the key, of the passage; passing.

1801 in Busby Dict. Mus. 1838 G. F. Graham Mus. Comp. 20/2 Passing notes, changing notes, transient notes, etc. 1878 T. Taylor in Grove Dict. Mus. I. 75/1 A so-called 'auxiliary note' (sometimes 'transient' or 'changing' note).

B. sb.

1. A transient thing or being; something passing or transitory, not permanent.

1652 Sparke Prim. Devot. (1663) 279 If we (meanwhile) but rise from graves of sin And transients (which the most are buried in). 1662 Glanvill Lux Orient. 81 A kind of stop or arrest, by the benefit of which the Soul might have a glance of the fugitive Transient. a 1674 Traherne Poet. Wks. (1903) 18. 1880 Boyd Recr. Country Parson ii. 27 These gray transients have changed to shiving skeletons.

2. U.S. colloq. A person who passes through a place, or stays in it only for a short time; spec. a 'transient guest' at a hotel or boarding-house.

1880 Mrs. Rollins New Eng. Bygones (1883) 84 My grandmother held these transients in low esteem. 1893 Kate Sanborn S. California 20 On an open, sunny site, and..frequented by 'transients' and business men of moderate means. 1894 Outing (U.S.) XXIV. 260/1 Summer residents, transients, and all, had turned out early.

Tra·nsiently (see prec.), adv. [f. prec. + -ly 2.] In a transient manner; in passing through; briefly, momentarily; hastily.

1641 R. Younge Counterpoison 398. I have transiently found (in making up the Index) some literall mistakes, points misplaced, &c. 1649 J. H. Motion to Parl. Adv. Learn. 25 Some ends which I have transiently..glanced at. 1684 Baxter Parish Congreg. 20 They might occasionally Communicate in our Parishes transiently. 1748 Richardson Clarissa VI. xlvi. 69, I thought, transiently thought, that the tea..had an odd taste. 1826 Scott Woodst. iii. A smile passed transiently over his clouded brow. 1900 Speaker 29 Dec. 336/2 Not only transiently, but permanently declining.

Tra·nsientness. [f. as prec. + -NESS.] The quality or state of being transient; transience.

1667 Decay Chr. Piety x. PT As they resemble the wind in fury . . , so they might do also in transientness. 1698 NORRIS Pract. Disc. IV. 368 The Pleasure of this Life is .. in regard of its Transientness, like the Pleasure of a Dream. 1907 Edin. Rev. July 177 Suzanne.. could not believe in the transientness of (Gibbon's affections).

Transiera·t: see TRANSIRE v. Obs.

Transi·liac, a. Anat. [f. TRANS- 5 + L. ilium: cf. ILIAC.] Lying across the ilium; extending transversely from one iliac bone to the other.

1891 in Cent. Dict.

Transilience (transi·liĕns). rare. [f. as next: see -ENCE.] A leaping from one thing to another, an abrupt transition: spec. in Min. abrupt transition of one mineral or rock into another.

1657 REEVE God's Plea 204 Man may haue.. his diffluences, ,edundances.. and transilliences of speech. 1811 PINKERTON Petrology II. 169 Rocks of black trap, surmounted by porphyry of the same base, the transilience being clear and palpable. 1830 HERSCHEL Stud. Nat. Phil. 330 Transferred by contact, or by sudden and violent transilience of the interval of separation.. under the form of sparks and flashes.

So † Transi·liency [see -ENCY], the quality of being transilient; less correctly = prec. Obs. rare—1.

1661 GLANVILL Van. Dogm. xii. 114 By an unadvised transiliency leaping from the effect to its remotest cause.

Transilient (transi·liĕnt), a. [ad. L. tran(s)-silient-em, pr. pple. of tran(s)sĭlire to leap across, skip over, omit, f. trans across + salire to leap.] Leaping or passing from one thing or condition to another; in Min. said of one rock substance passing abruptly into another.

Transilient fibres, nerve-fibres passing from one convolution of the brain to another not immediately adjacent (Syd. Soc. Lex. 1899).

1811 PINKERTON Petrology I. p. v, The Transilient Rocks, an interesting series, in which one substance .. passes into another, as granite into porphyry, trap into wacken. Ibid. 550 British rocks are often anomalous, or transilient, and can scarcely be reduced to precise denominations.

† Transili·tion. Obs. rare—1. [ad. late L. transilitiōn-em (Augustine), n. of action f. transilire: see prec.] The action of leaping over or 'skipping'; omission of intermediate numbers.

1582 T. WATSON Centurie of Loue lxxx, Founded by transition or ouer skipping of number by rule and order, as from 1 to 3, 5, 7, and 9. Ibid. [see TRANSPOSITION 2].

Transilluminate (transi,lilū·minēt), v. [f. TRANS- + ILLUMINATE v.] trans. To cause to pass through; spec. in Med. to throw a strong light through (an organ or part) to discover the presence or cause of disease. So Transillumination, the action or process of transilluminating.

1899 Lancet 1 Mar. 580/2 It [a tooth] was transluicent by electric transillumination, showing that the pulp was living. 1900 Ibid. 25 Aug. 617/1 If in a darkened room the electric lamp used for transilluminating the frontal sinus was placed against the thyroid cartilage. 1901 Ibid. 11 May 1328/2 Transillumination is often used to find out if the antrum is diseased. 1912 KEITH Human Body i. 20 It may have occurred, however, to the onlooker that, since we can transillumiate the human body [i.e. with Röntgen-rays], it is no longer necessary to dissect it.

Trans-impre·ssion. rare—1. [TRANS- 1.] An impression transferred or taken over (from something).

1812-29 COLERIDGE in Lit. Rem. (1838) III, 152 The very words, 'conception', 'comprehension', and all in all languages that answer to them, suppose this trans-impression from the outward.

Transi,incorpora·tion. [TRANS- 1.] Passage from one body to another; transmigration of the soul.

1810 W. TAYLOR in Monthly Mag. XXX. 47 The doctrine of the trans-incorporation of souls, or of their migration through successive human bodies, was taught.. by a Jewish rabbi. 1843 ROBERTSON Rem. W. Pulpit II. iv. 95 Its contents are full of curious information, more particularly those on the transincorporation of souls.

Transi·nsular, a. [f. TRANS- 3 + L. insula island: cf. insular.]

1. Crossing or going across an, or the, island.

1895 Buffalo Current Hist (N.Y.) V. 404 When the colony [Newfoundland] would have to work its transinsular railway system. 1900 Engineering Mag. XIX. 684 Any trans-insular railroad project is chimerical.

2. Anat. Applied to a fissure of the brain that crosses the insula or island of Reil, and divides it into a cephalic and a caudal region.

1889 Buck's Handbk. Med. Sc. VIII. 160/1 Normal, human subfissures are .. the transinsular and others crossing the surface of the insula.

‖ Transire (trans,ṣiə·rĭ), sb. Law. [L. transīre to go across, pass over, f. trans across + īre to go.] A warrant issued by the custom-house, permitting the passage of merchandise.

1599 NASHE Lenten Stuffe (1871) 70 They would grant him his coquet, or Transire. 1656 in Hist. Sc. Burgh Rec. Soc. 30 Receiving moneys for writeing bills, cocquettis, and transires. 1662 Order Ho. Com. as to Customs (1663) 9 A Transire or Let-passe from Port to Port in England. 1750 Act 23 Geo. II, c. 29 § 2 No officer of his Majesty's customs shall sign or grant any coquet, sufferance, transire, let-pass, warrant, or certificate .. for exporting .. such bar iron. 1888 Act 51 & 52 Vict. c. 24 § 5 (4) Any port .. at which her transire is to be obtained.

† Transire (trans,əi·rə), v. Obs. rare. Also 6 transier. [irreg. f. L. transīre (see prec.), the inf. form being taken instead of the ppl. stem transit- (TRANSIT p.).] intr. To go or pass across; in quot. 1665, ? to lie transversely.

1592 WYRLEY Armorie 121 Pretended iorney if they onward hould, Transiered they were, as it was to me tould. 1665 D. DUDLEY Metallum Martis (1854) 31 If the work be set transhaw and transiring from the blast.

Trans,i·schiac (-i·skiek), a. Anat. [f. TRANS- 5 + L. ischiac-us, f. ischi-um: see ISCHIUM, and -AC.] Extending transversely from one ischial bone to the other.

1891 in Cent. Dict. 1899 in Syd. Soc. Lex.

Trans-i·sthmian, a. [f. TRANS- 3 + ISTHMUS: cf. isthmian.] Crossing or extending across an isthmus, esp. the Isthmus of Panama.

1888 GROVER CLEVELAND Ann. Message to Congress U. S. A. Dec., Our interests in any transisthmian route which may be opened. 1902 Q. Rev. Oct. 674 The Key to any possible trans-isthmian canal.

Transit (tra·nsit, -z-), sb. Also 5 tranqyte, 5-7 transite. [ad. L. transit-us (-ū stem), verbal sb. from transīre to cross, f. trans across + īre to go. So It. transito, whence Fr. transit (17th c.).]

1. The action or fact of passing across or through; passage or journey from one place or point to another. Often in phrase in transit, L. in transitu.

c 1440 Gesta Rom. ii. 12 (Add. MS.) Above oure hede there is a transite of men (Harl. passage and goyng of peple). 1716 M. DAVIES Athen. Brit. II. 271 Henry..of Huntington.., who writ ten Books Historiæ Anglorum, from the Transit and Introit of the Saxons hither, to the Year 1153. 1766 W. DIGBY in Jesse Selwyn & Contemp. (1843) II. 12, I lay at Gloucester in my transit. 1833 RITCHIE Wanderings 27 Sometimes.. the transit from Nantes to Orleans takes two months! 1841 CATLIN N. Amer. Ind. xlvi. II. 87, I.. made a transit across the prairies. 1853 KANE Grinnell Exp. vii. (1856) 50 Of the voyages to Lancaster Sound.. the transit of the middle ice is the essential feature. 1877 BLACK Green Past. xxxii, In our rapid transit from place to place.

† b. concr. A way for passing, a passage.

c 1440 Promp. Parv. 499/2 Tranqyte, where menn walke, transitorium.

c. The passage or carriage of persons or goods from one place to another.

1800 COLQUHOUN Comm. Thames viii. 259 Property .. stationary on the Quays or in transit on the River. 1855 MACAULAY Hist. Eng. xiii. III. 254 While he governed, no prohibition.. impeded the transit of commodities from any part of the island to any other. 1866 ROGERS Agric. & Prices I. xx. 504 The cost of carriage. Occasionally.. this is charged in the value given, the transit being.. undertaken frequently by common carriers. 1879 YEATS Nat. Hist. Comm. 62 The means of transit are so bad, that much good corn is left to rot upon the ground.

d. transf. A place at which a river may be crossed; a crossing. rare.

1852 GROTE Greece II. lxix. IX. 39 A..flourishing town, a centre of commerce enriched by the important ford or transit of the river Euphrates close to it.

2. fig. (in various senses.) A passing across; a transition or change; esp. the passage from this life to the next by death.

1687 W. MORICE Coena quasi Koivh, Diat. v. 237 There can be no such transite from one kinde of action to another. 1765 H. WALPOLE Mirandola iii. (1798) 50 To pray for her happy transit to a better life. 1810 KNOX & JEBB Corr. II. 19 The transit from autumn to winter. 1843 SCOTT Quentin D. vi, Speak a word of comfort to him ere he make his transit. 1879 HOLLAND Gold Ph. xx. 182 Old men.. whose work of life is .. done, and who may in peace.. sit down and wait their mysterious transit. 1897 EARLE Philol. Eng. Tongue § 270 This verb made an early transit to the weak form.

3. Astrol. The passage of a planet across some special point or region of the zodiac.

[1621 BURTON Anat. Mel. I. ii. 1 iv, If ♄, by his revolution, or transitus, shall offend any of those radicall promissors in his geniture.] 1671 SALMON Syn. Med. I. xxix. 61 In Directions and Transits three things are to be considered; first the Significator, secondly the Promissor; thirdly the sign and house in which they happen. 1819 J. WILSON Dict. Astrol. s.v., The transits of the ☽ are said to cause all the daily passing events of a man's life, as she transits the ☌, ✱, □, ☍, or △ of any particular house.

4. Astron. a. The passage of an inferior planet (Mercury or Venus) across the sun's disk, or of a satellite or its shadow across the disk of a planet; formerly also applied to an occultation of a star or planet by the moon, or of a star by a planet.

1669 FLAMSTEAD in Phil. Trans. IV. 1110 Let me desire those, who have fit.. Instruments, to observe this Transit. 1704 J. HARRIS Lex. Techn. I, Transit, in Astronomy, signifies the passing of any Planet just by or under any Fixt Star; or of the Moon in particular, covering or moving close by any other Planet. 1769 M. CUTLER in Life, etc. (1888) I. 20 The 3d of this month happened the Transit of Venus over the sun's disk. 1769 COOK Voy. r. World i. xiii. (1773) 137 On Thursday the 1st of June, the Saturday following being the day of the Transit, I dispatched Mr. Gore in the long-boat to Imao. 1829 Chapters Phys. Sc. 398 The transits of Mercury and Venus are really eclipses of the sun. 1868 LOCKYER Guillemin's Heavens III. ii. 1. (ed. 3) 478 The value of the Sun's distance at present received has been deduced from the transits of Venus in 1761 and 1769. 1910 Whitaker's Almanack 88 Only Satellite IV [of Jupiter] will be visible at 2.30 a.m. February 24—Satellite II. being in transit, Satellite III. occulted, and Satellite I. eclipsed.

transf. 1859 in Merc. Marine Mag. (1860) VII. 65 The Shoal first seen was in transit with Embleton Island, bearing N.E. ¾ E.

b. The passage of a star or other celestial body across the meridian at its culmination.

1812 WOODHOUSE Astron. viii. 48 Two successive transits of a star over the meridian. 1834 MRS. SOMERVILLE Connex. Phys. Sc. vii. 62 While observing transits of the fixed stars across the meridian at Cayenne.

c. Short for transit-circle, -compass, -instrument, or -theodolite: see 5. colloq.

1843 Penny Cycl. XXV. 122/1 Transit, or Transit Instrument. Ibid. 122/2 Such an account of the transit as will enable any one to use it with tolerable success. 1879 NEWCOMB & HOLDEN Astron. 74 The meridian transit instrument, or briefly the 'transit'. 1897 Edin. Rev. July 65 The institution, furnished only with a transit when he took it in charge.

5. attrib. and Comb., usually in relation to the conveyance of goods and passengers, as transit-company, -depot, -road, -room, -time, -traffic, -way; also transit-circle, an astronomical instrument consisting of a telescope carrying a large graduated circle, by which the right ascension and declination of a star may be determined by observation of it in transit (sense 4 b); a meridian-circle; transit-clock, a clock used in conjunction with a transit-instrument; transit-compass, an instrument, resembling the theodolite, used in surveying for the measurement of horizontal angles; transit-duty, a duty paid on goods passing through a country; transit-instrument, an astronomical telescope mounted on a fixed east-and-west axis, by which the time of the passage of a celestial body across the meridian may be determined; usually applied to one without a circle (cf. transit-circle); transit-pass, a warrant to pass through a country without payment of duty; transit-theodolite = transit-compass; transit-trade, trade arising out of the passage of foreign goods through a country.

1843 Penny Cycl. XXV. 133/1 A *transit circle may be made to answer both purposes. 1897 Edin. Rev. July 68 In 1851 a new transit circle, of great optical power and enormous mechanical stability, supplied Greenwich's masterpiece of 1812. 1843 Penny Cycl. XXV. 130/1 To have a second clock called a journeyman, which strikes loudly and speaks as it were for the *transit clock. 1845 R. Brown in Mem. II. (1866) 28 We got into one of the *Transit Company's vans. 1887 MOLONEY Forestry W. Afr. 248 The Public Works Department of each Colony offers a ready *transit-depot for such contributions. 1776 ADAM SMITH W. N. v. ii. II. 51 In some small states duties are imposed upon goods carried across the territory .. from one foreign country to another. These are in some countries called *transit-duties. 1829 State Papers in Ann. Reg. 697/2 The transit duties on the goods thus imported or exported. 1812 WOODHOUSE Astron. vi. 32 It may be used as a *transit instrument; that is, the presence of a star on the meridian may be ascertained by it. 1889 Pall Mall Gaz. 2 Sept. 7/3 Less.. than it cost foreigners to bring it to Pakhoi under *transit-pass. 1862 J. NICHOL in Mem. (1865) 37 As regular as the *transit-room clock. 1862 Catal. Internat. Exhib. II. xiii. 3 A first-rate 6-inch *transit theodolite, .. with vertical and horizontal circles. 1802 Edin. Rev. III. 243 Those.. nations whose wealth has been promoted by the *transit trade. 1852 CONYBEARE & H. St. Paul (1862) II. xxiii. 329 The Valley of the Nile was the channel of an active transit-trade in spices, dyes, jewels, and perfumes. 1908 Geographical Journ. May 532 Jerusalem had no natural command of the *transit-traffic. 1904 Q. Rev. Oct. 341 The trade-winds..contribute greatly to the salubrity and comfort of this *transit-way.

Transit (tra·nsit, -z-), v. [f. L. transit-, ppl. stem of transīre: see prec. Cf. L. transitāre, freq. of transīre (instanced in pr. ppl. transitāns Cic.).] In earlier use stressed transite.]

1. intr. To pass through or over; to pass away.

c 1440 Gesta Rom. xx. 415 The poorer is the worlde; and right as by the porter so by the worlde we may transite. 1595 CHAPMAN Ovid's Banq. Sense (1639) II As Intellects themselves transite to each intelligible quillite. 1775 JOHN COLLINS (Alex. Bickerdyke) Mem. Trans. (ed. 2) 68, I then transided to the gentleman himself. 1797-1803 FOSTER in Life & Corr. (1846) I. 173 The comets of the mind; they transit off. 1803 Ibid. 196, I have transited into another person. 1852 N. L. WALKER Life in Spirit xiii. (1882) 222 One or two transit off from our Divinity Halls annually.

2. trans. To pass across or through (something); to traverse, cross. Also fig.

1674 JEAKE Arith. (1696) 249, I have..transited Decimals and Astronomicals, and shall now apply myself to overlook Logarithmes. 1890 Pall Mall Gaz. 10 May/1 Another line which would transit Germany, Russia, ..Afghanistan, and India.

3. Astrol. To pass across (a sign, 'house', or special point, of the zodiac). Also absol. or intr.

1647 LILLY Chr. Astrol. lxvii. 409 When the unfortunate Anaeta transits the degree ascending. 1686 GOAD Celest. Bodies III. ii. 403 Feavers..do annoy us, when the Heavenly Bodies Transit, or take up Station in such Parts of the Zodiack. 1819 J. WILSON Dict. Astrol. s.v. Transits, If the lord of the 8th..transit the cusp of the horoscope, it threatens death.

4. Astron. To pass across (the disk of a celestial body, the meridian of a place, or the field of view of a telescope). Also absol. or intr.

In quot. 1686 of the moon, to occult (a star or planet).

1686 GOAD Celest. Bodies I. xii. 49 The ☽ transiting ♀ that Night raised the Tides. 1755 B. MARTIN Mag. Arts & Sc. I. 45 In the Years 1753, 1761, 1799, in the Month of April, he [Mercury] will transit the Sun's Disk. 1833 HERSCHEL Astron. viii. 256 Rendering the planet invisible, unless..where it transits the sun's disc. and appears on it as a black spot. 1870 Proctor Other Worlds viii. (ed. 2) 184 The markings seen on the third satellite, when transiting Jupiter's disc. 1878 Lockyer Stargazing 354 The value of the divisions of the micrometer screw having been previously determined by allowing an equatorial star to transit.

Transitable (trɑnsi·tăb'l), a. rare. [f. as prec. + -ABLE.] Capable of being passed across or over; affording means of transit.

1843 Blackw. Mag. LIV. 660 The river Chagre..is the nearest transitable point to Panama. 1866 Ruskin in Spielmann Life (1900) 50 If you think it at all curable or transit-able, I'll advance her 20 pounds without interest. 1897 Jrnl. R. Geog. Soc. July 63 The efforts..made to open a transitable road to [the valley of the Rio Grande de Terraba] from the north..have proved futile.

‖ Transitarium. Obs. rare. [mod.L., f. TRANSIT sb. 4 a; cf. planetarium.] An apparatus for illustrating the transit of a planet.

1762 Brit. Mag. II. 668 Earl Ferrers..presented to the [Royal] Society..a transitarium invented by his lordship for giving an ocular demonstration of the principles relating to the theory of that planet [Venus].

† Transitation. Obs. rare. [n. of action f. L. transitāre: see TRANSIT v. and -ATION.] The action of passing; passage. (In quots. humorous.)

1600–9 Rowlands Knave of Clubs 37 As on the way I itinerated, A Rurall person I Obuiated, Interogating times Transitation. 1605 Verstegan Dec. Intell. vii. 205.

Tra·nsiter. rare. [f. TRANSIT sb. or v. + -ER 1.] Name for a form of the apparatus usually called a 'recording micrometer', and attached to the eye-end of a transit telescope.

1902 Science (U.S.) 1 May 693/2 The actual arrangement in use at the Philadelphia Observatory, called for brevity a 'transiter'...The transiter seemed to furnish all the necessary facilities of motion and of recording, and..permitted elimination of all errors excepting that of bisection.

Transition (trɑnsi·zən, -si·ʃən, -zi·ʃən). [ad. L. transitiōn-em, n. of action f. transīre, transit- (see TRANSIT v.). Cf. F. transition (13–14th c. in Hatz.-Darm.).

(The first and prevailing pronunciation, contrary to the general analogy of words in -tion, is app. due (as suggested by Walker) to a desire to avoid the collocation of the two similar (voiceless) sibilants s and ʃ.)

1. A passing or passage from one condition, action, or (rarely) place, to another; change.

1551 Gardiner Explication, Of Transubstantiation 123 In the mysterie of Christes person, there is no transition of the deitie into the humanite, or humanite into the deitie. 1622 G. Sandys Ovid's Met. vi. (1640) 109 The wast sky painted with a mightie Bowe: Where, though a thousand seuerall colours shine, No eye their close transition can define. 1751 Johnson Rambler No. 172 P 7 A quick transition from poverty to abundance can seldom be made with safety. 1851 Hawthorne Ho. Sev. Gables xvii, Transition being so facile, what can be any man's inducement to tarry in one spot? 1862 Sir H. Holland Ess. i. 1 We are living in an age of transition. 1899 Spencer Christology of Jesus v. 186 Death was..only a stage of transition to a higher form of life.

2. Passage in thought, speech, or writing from one subject to another.

1592 tr. Junius on Rev. vii. 1 This first verse is a transition. 1674 Milton P. L. (1688) viii. 1 Heard thus a sleep Pass'd..Then with transition sweet new Speech resumes. 1724 Watts Logic iv. ii. vii. § 3 Acquaint yourself with all the proper..forms of transition from one part of a discourse to another. 1798 Engelkewith Pract. Rhetoric (1821) I. 115 The transition of attention from one subject to another. 1875 Jowett Plato (ed. 2) V. 15 The Timaeus..one of his [Plato's] most finished works, is full of abrupt transitions.

3. Mus. † a. The passing from one note to another by means of a passing-note (obs.). b. The passing from one key to another, modulation; spec. a passing or brief modulation; also, modulation into a remote key.

1667 C. Simpson Compend. Mus. 88 A Note is somtimes broken to make a Transition by degrees to some other Concord. These Transitions or Breakings are commonly express'd in Quavers or Crochets. 1677 Stainer Harmony xii. § 150 A Modulation is the rapid passing through any key, without remaining sufficiently long in it to establish a modulation. 1889 Prout Harmony x. (ed. 3) 101 Some writers use the term 'Transition', when the modulation is to a remote or unrelated key.

4. The passage from an earlier to a later stage of development or formation. a. Geol. Formerly spec. applied attrib. to certain early stratified rocks believed to contain the oldest remains of living organisms; now classified as Silurian: see quot. 1813.

1813 Bakewell Introd. Geol. (1815) 9 The lowest of the secondary rocks have..been called by the German geologists transition rocks, from the supposition that they were formed when the world was passing from an uninhabitable to a habitable state. 1815 W. Phillips Outl. Min. & Geol. (1818) 116 To primitive rocks succeeds another class, which Werner denominates Transition rocks. 1823 Buckland Relig. Diluv. 117 It lies in a bed of transition limestone. 1834–5 J. Phillips Geol. in Encycl. Metrop. VI. 593/2 On the East side of the transition ranges of the Wrekin and Wenlock Edge lies the coalfield of Coalbrook Dale. 1839 Murchison Silur. Syst. i. xxxiv. 452 It also presents certain beds of transition between the limestone and the Old Red Sandstone. 1855 J. Phillips Man. Geol. 104 The two parts connected by a transition band (upper caradoc). 1885 Geikie Text-bk. Geol. vi. ii. § 1. 658 Murchison was the first to discover that the so-called 'Transition Rocks' or 'Grauwacke' of early geological literature were capable of subdivision into distinct formations..he gave them the name of Silurian.

b. Arch. Change from an earlier style to a later; a style of intermediate or mixed character.

1835 R. Willis Archit. Mid. Ages i. 9 These may be called Imitation Specimens, to distinguish them from regular Transitions. 1842–76 Gwilt Archit. Gloss., Transition, a term used to denote the passing from one period of a style to another, exhibiting features peculiar to both, some of which have not quite been given up, and some of which were beginning to be introduced. 1874 Parker Goth. Archit. ii. 39 The remainder of the eleventh century may be considered as a period of transition.

c. Philol. The historical passage of language from one well-defined stage to another; e. g. from Old English or Anglo-Saxon to Middle English; or from Middle English to Modern English; hence applied to the interval occupied by this, and to the intermediate or transitional stage or form of the language during this interval.

1873–4 Sweet Hist. Eng. Sounds 160 We have..two periods of transition, one in which mann and mann exist side by side, and another in which final e is beginning to drop...The former, commonly called Semi-Saxon..., is characterized by many far-reaching changes. I propose..to call the first the Transition period par excellence, distinguishing the two, when necessary, as first and second Transition, the more important one being generally called simply Transition or Transition-English. Ibid. 38 In the Transition period.. we are confronted by [a] curious and apparently inexplicable phenomenon. 1878 Murray Eng. Lang. in Encycl. Brit. VIII. 391/2 Transition Old English, or 'Semi-Saxon' 1120 to 1200...Transition Middle English 1200 to 1485...Many writers apply the Transition Old English down to 1250. Ibid. 397/2 The change of the language during the second period of Transition. Ibid. 402 Chronological Chart [has] Old English Transition 1123–1200. Middle English Transition, 1400–1485.

5. attrib., as transition form, species, stage, state, etc.: see also 4 a and c. Often equivalent to TRANSITIONAL.

1805–17 R. Jameson Char. Min. (ed. 3) 126 All the crystals that lie between two principal crystals, and form the transition of one into the other, constitute what is called a transition-state. 1826 Kirby & Sp. Entomol. (1828) III. xxix. 161 Groups..connected by certain transition species. 1843 R. J. Graves Syst. Clin. Med. xxvii. 343 The most obstinate form [of the disease] generally selects such transition spots or intermediate tissues. 1853 J. Smith Treat. Mus. 33 Transition or passing notes. 1856 Froude Hist. Eng. I. ii. 86 Wolsey..holding a middle place between an English statesman and a catholic of the old order, was essentially a transition minister. 1865 Tylor Early Hist. Man. vii. 188 A very good example of this interesting transition work. 1884 J. Tait Mind in Matter (1892) 50 The transition-stages set forth by revolutionists.

Transitional (trɑnsi·zənăl, -si·ʃ-, -zi·ʃ-), a. (sb.) [f. prec. + -AL.] Of or pertaining to transition; characterized by or involving transition; intermediate.

1818 Coleridge in Lit. Rem. (1838) III. 262 The Jewish Rabbis..represented the Millennium as the preparative and transitional state to perfect spiritualization. 1859 Darwin Orig. Spec. vi. (1860) 172 By this theory innumerable transitional forms must have existed. 1867 A. J. Ellis E. E. Pronunc. i. i. 30 Shakspere and Milton are transitional between Spenser and Dryden. 1867 Freeman Norm. Conq. I. i. 3 At a transitional period in the world's development. 1872 Parker Goth. Archit. x. 118 The arches are transitional, two being round and two pointed.

b. Transitional case in grammar, a case in some languages expressing motion toward.

1890 A. S. Gatschet Gram. Klamath Lang. 484 Transitional case in -na...This locative case-suffix...corresponds to our to, toward, into, in.

B. ellipt. as sb. (in quot. for transitional cell: cf. quot. 1904 s. v. Mononuclear).

1904 Brit. Med. Jrnl. 10 Sept. 583 They [mononuclear white blood cells] become transformed in the blood (according to Ehrlich) into the transitionals.

Hence Transitionally adv., Transitionalness.

1874 Ruskin Fors Clav. xlvi. 164 This plate of mine, melted down, after being transitionally serviceable to the burglar, will enter again into the same functions among the silver of the world. 1896 Scot. Leader 1 Jan. 7 A deep sense of the transitionalness of conclusions which were once thought to be for all time.

Transitionary (trɑnsi·zənări, -si·ʃ-, -zi·ʃ-), a. [f. as prec. + -ARY 1.] = TRANSITIONAL.

1685 H. More Paralip. Prophet. xxi. 181 This third Introductory Vision is a kind of Transitionary Introduction to the Second Book-Prophecy. 1827 Examiner 692/2 The rapid, elastic, transitionary style of this actor. 1858 Buckle Civilis. (1864) I. viii. 472 The transitionary state which France began to enter. 1900 Literature 14 July 28/1 The Induction..is essentially of a transitionary character.

Transitionist. rare—1. [f. as prec. + -IST.] One who supports transition; in quot. attrib.

1895 E. G. K. Browne Tractarian Movem. (1861) 438 The advanced guard of the Transitionist party.

† Transitious, a. Obs. rare—0. [f. TRANSITION + -OUS.] Transitional. Hence † Transitiously adv. (obs. rare—1), transitionally, by transitions.

1652 Urquhart Jewel Wks. (1834) 492 Speeches extending a matter..auxetically, digressively, transitiously.

Transitival (trɑnsitə·văl, -z-), a. Gram. rare. [f. TRANSITIVE + -AL: cf. adjectival, gentival, etc.] = TRANSITIVE 2.

1871 Earle Philol. Eng. T. § 270 This was a new and quite different verb, and should have had the transitival use.

Transitive (trɑ·nsitiv, -z-), a. (sb.) [ad. late L. transitivus (Priscian), f. transit- (see TRANSIT) + -ivus, -IVE; in F. transitif (16th c.). With sense 1 cf. OF. transitif transient (13th c. in Godef.).]

† 1. Passing or liable to pass into another condition, changeable, changeful; passing away, transient, transitory. Obs. rare.

1560 Rolland Crt. Venus i. 67 Thair wanlist weid..Sa gay it was,..Sa wariant to sicht and transitiue. 1625 Brathwait Five Senses 296 What availes it thee now to enjoy the transitive honours of this life? 1845 [implies in TRANSITIVENESS].

2. Gram. Of verbs and their construction: Expressing an action which passes over to an object; taking a direct object to complete the sense.

1571 [implied in TRANSITIVELY 2]. 1590 Stockwood Rules Constr. 64 A verbe transitiue..is such..as passeth ouer his significati-on into some other thing, as when I say, 'I loue God'. 1673 O. Walker Educ. 153 Others are transient, when the Agent and Patient are divers, and are expressed by Verbs transitives, as striking, heating [etc.]. 1845 Stoddart Gram. in Encycl. Metrop. (1847) I. 48/1 Verbs transitive and intransitive are, in other words, active and neuter; for the verb active is considered as passing over from the agent to the object, whilst the neuter is considered as not passing over.

b. as sb. A transitive verb.

1612 Brinsley Lud. Lit. 129 That other rule for the Accustiue after the Verbe, is of Transitiues, whose action passeth into another.

3. Philos. Passing out of itself; passing over to or affecting something else; operating beyond itself; = TRANSIENT 2. (Opposed to immanent.)

1613 Purchas Pilgrimage i. i. 5 For all the proprieties of God are infinite, as they are immanent in himselfe, yet in their transitiue and forren effectes are stinted and limited to the model and state of the creature. 1628 Bacon Sylva § 70 Cold is Active and Transitive into Bodies Adjacent, as well as Heat. 1785 Reid Intell. Powers ii. xiv. (1803) I. 306 Logicians distinguish two kinds of operations of the mind; the first limit produces no effect without the mind, the last does. The first they call immanent; the second transitive. 1893 Fairbairn Christ in Mod. Theol. ii. ii. 411 It is of the essence of both to be transitive. Love regards an object whose good it desires; righteousness is the conduct which fulfils the desire of love.

4. Characterized by or involving transition, in various senses: that has something passing through it (obs.); that itself passes through stages; that forms a transition (real, or in thought) between two stages, positions, or conditions; that is in an intermediate stage or position; transitional; intermediate; transformational. Now rare or Obs.

1660 Jer. Taylor Duct. Dubit. ii. ii. rule vi. § 7 An image that is understood to be an image can never be made an idol; or if it can it must be by having relationship of God pass'd thorough it to God;..by being the analogical, the improper, the transitive, the relative (or what shall I call it) object of Divine worship. 1811 Pinkerton Petrology I. 73 This transitive granstein occurs in the Harz. 1836 I. Taylor Phys. The. Another Life xii. (1847) 166 The preparations that are made by any of the transitive species of animals..for their approaching metamorphosis. 1854 P. Bakewell Geol. 5 The lower portion, resting on the crystalline rocks, being called the transitive series. 1860 Morfoure Espor. Lex., Transitivus, applied by Werner to rocks or soils that present..the vestiges of organised bodies;..as forming the transition of soils from the first class (those of the third, with which they are nearly related): transitive. 1865 Giotto Plato I. xvii. 494 The transitive process, above described, represents the successive stages by which every adult mind has been gradually built up from infancy.

5. Of the application of words: Transferred. rare. † Obs.

1810 D. Stewart Philos. Ess. ii. i. i. 226 The greater part of the transitive or derivative applications of words depend on casual and unaccountable caprices of the feelings or of the fancy.

6. Math. In the theory of groups: see quots.

1890 Cent. Dict. s.v. Group, A group is called doubly, triply, or n times transitive if any set of 2, 3, n indices can be brought to any places. 1902 Encycl. Brit. XXIX. 121/2 If it is possible to find an operation S of the group such that O.S is any assigned one of the set of objects, the group is called transitive in respect of this set of objects. When this is not possible, the group is called intransitive in respect of the set.

Transitively (trɑ·nsitivli, -z-), adv. [f. prec. + -LY 2.] In a transitive manner; in the way of transition. a. Gram. In a transitive sense or construction; with a direct object.

1571 Golding Calvin on Ps. vii. 7. 20 The word might also be taken transityvely for too settle or stablish David in his ryght. a 1638 Mede Wks. (1672) 676 To construe the words transitively. 1737 Waterland Doctr. Eucharist v. 115 Βιόωγεν is taken transitively in this very Case by the Apostle. Mod. Many verbs in English can be used both transitively and intransitively.

b. (See senses 3 and 4 of TRANSITIVE.)

1656 Jeanes Fulness Christ 32 The divine properties are communicated to the humanity, not transitively, but intransitively. 1660 Jer. Taylor Duct. Dubit. ii. ii. rule vi. § 4 Vasquez..thinks it lawful to give Divine wor-hip relatively or transitively to a man. 1822 T. Taylor Apuleius 310 It will always perceive intellectually, without transition, or transitively. 1895 Pusey Doctr. Real Presence Note Q. 257 The bread still remains in its own substance; yet so that the whole proposition should be understood, not as actually, but transitively, 'This is my Body', i.e. passes into the body, or from this becomes the body.

Tra·nsitiveness. [f. as prec. + -NESS.] The quality or state of being transitive; in quot., transitoriness.

1848 J. H. Newman Ess. Developm. 72 A belief in the transitiveness of worldly goods.

Transiti·vity. [f. late L. transitīv-us Transitive + -ity.] = prec.: see Transitive 6.

1891 Cent. Dict., Transitivity, the character of being transitive, as a group.

Transitorily (trɑ·nsitŏrilĭ, -z-), adv. [f. Transitory + -ly 2.] In a transitory manner; in passing through; temporarily, briefly, transiently.

1612 Cotgr., Casuellement, ..vncertainly, transitorily. 1612 Donne Lett. (1651) 92, I make account to be in London, transitorily, about the end of August. 1762 Kames Elem. Crit. III. xix. 24 The mind is transitorily amused with the new object. 1847 Illustr. Lond. News 10 July 29/1 A flash of lightning now and then illuminated the entire panorama, but too transitorily to catch any of its features. 1899 Cagney tr. Jaksch's Clin. Path. 3 vii. (ed. 4) 394 In acute lead-poisoning ..large quantities of albumen are often transitorily present in the urine.

Tra·nsitoriness. [f. as prec. + -ness.] The quality or condition of being transitory.

1590 Nashe Pasquil's Apol. 1 D ij, In respect of the transitorinesse of worldly kingdoms. 1670 Clarendon Contempl. Ps. Tracts (1727) 685 The vanity of this world, of the unsteadiness and transitoriness of all things in it. 1756 Johnson Let. 15 Apr. in Boswell, The uncertainty of fortune,.. the transitoriness of beauty. 1852 Lewis Observ. & Reason. in Pol. I. 221 Written memorials are distinguished by permanence and solidity, as contrasted with the fugacity and transitoriness of oral tradition. 1899 Inge Chr. Mysticism I. 23 We may regard the spiritual world as endless duration opposed to transitoriness.

†Transito·rious, a. Obs. [f. late L. transitōri-us (see next) + -ous.] = Transitory.

1492 Ryman Poems lxxxv. 1 in Archiv Stud. neu. Spr. LXXXIX. 255 This worlde is mutabilite That transitorious is. 1502 Atkynson tr. De Imitatione i. 1. 154 Corruptible ryches, transetorious honours. 1550 Bale Image Both Ch. D vj b, Departynge from thys transitorynous lyfe. a 1598 Rollock Wks. (Wodrow Soc.) II. 4 The creatures of God in themselves are but transitorious shadows.

Transito·ry, (trɑ·nsitori, -z-), a. (sb.) Also 4-5 transitore, 4-7 -itorie, 5 -etorie, -itoire, (transitorie), 5-6 transetory, -ytory (e, -itorye, 6 Sc. -itoir. and. F. transitoire (12th c. in Godef. Compl.), ad. post-Aug.L. transitōrius having or allowing a passage through, in Chr.L. transient, passing, f. transit-: see Transit v. and -ory 2.]

1. Having the quality of passing away; not lasting; fleeting, momentary, brief; transient.

c 1374 Chaucer Troylus III. 778 (827) Now yf he wot pat Ioye is transitorie [v.r. trancitorie]. c 1375 Sc. Leg. Saintis ii. (Paulus) 219 Pat efuire þis lyfe transitore Euire-lestand lyfe is me before. 1481 Caxton Myrr. I. iv. 13 This world is not but a vayn thinge and transitoire. 1543-4 Act 35 Hen. VIII, c. 1 § 6 This Realme, after the Kinges transitorie lief,..shoulde be destitute of a lawfull governour. a 1633 Austin Medit. (1635) 279 So they are as transitorie as a Shepheards Tent. Ibid. 280 Like Things of that transitory nature, they begin to weare away. 1654 H. L'Estrange Chas. I (1655) 3 That adventure..gave him also a transitory view of that excellent Lady. a 1712 Swift Wonderful Prophecy (heading), This vain and transitory world will shortly be brought to its final dissolution. 1889 Kingsley Misc. (1860) II. 75 All the Continental Nations look upon our present peace as but transitory, momentary.

†2. Having a passage-way, allowing passage through. Obs. rare.

1613 Godwin Rom. Antiq. (1625) 9 It had the name of Forum Transitorium, the transitorie Forum, because there was Transitus, id est, a way or passage through it into three seuerall market places.

b. Of the nature of a passage or transition; transitional. rare.

1592 tr. Junius on Rev. xix. 1 This chapter hath..two parts, one transitory or of passage unto the things that follow. 1906 Rep. Vice-reg. Comm. Poor Law Ref. Ireland I. 31 The transitory period between the old and new systems.

3. Law. Transitory actions, an action in which the venue might be laid in any county.

1665 Ever Tryals per Pais x. 133 The Jurors of one County may finde any transitory thing done in another County. 1702 Termes de la Ley 419 An Action of Trespass for Battery, is transitory, and not local. 1768 Blackstone Comm. III. xxiii. 384 Actions transitory follow the person of the defendant, territorial suits must be discussed in the territorial tribunal. 1848 Wharton Law Lex. 390/1 Personal actions are for the most part transitory, i.e., their cause of action may be supposed to take place anywhere.

†4. (app.) Trifling, of little moment. Obs.

1672 Dryden Assignation II. ii, You may scape with the loss of a Leg, or an Arm, or some such transitory Limb. 1673 — Amboyna II. i, Remember, no transitory sum, three hundred quadruples in your own country gold.

B. sb. †1. A transitory or fleeting thing. (Chiefly in pl.) Obs.

1649 Roberts Clavis Bibl. 367 A comfortable transitory enjoyment of transitories. 1654 Whitlock Zootomia 15 He that too closely imbraceth Transitories, is much the worse for them. 1665 Glanvill Scepsis Sci. 50 This fleeting Transitory our Life.

†2. a. The transverse limb of the cross-staff (Cross-staff 2). b. A transit-instrument. Obs.

(In sense a, Bourne has also transversatory and transversary.)

1574 Bourne Regiment for Sea vi. (1577) 28 To take the height of the Sunne, to knowe the Altitude of the Pole above the Horizon, doo this..Put the Transitorie [ed. 1580, lf. 29 Transuasatorie; ed. 1631, lf. 29 Transuersary] vpon the long staffe, then sette the end of the long staffe close at the corner of your eye [etc.]. 1596 — Treas. Tryt. I. iv. 27 Concernyng the making of a Crosse staffe..you shal make an other short staff, called a Transuastorie, of two foote long, and in the very mydde of it you shall make a square hole.] Ibid. x. 18 b, If that the distance be further then the Transitorie wyl take, and the wal too shorte; then remoue the Pinites or wynges of the Transitorie to the markes, like vnches from both the endes of the Transitorie. 1752 Phil. Trans. XLVII. xxii. 159, I had several times seen Venus on the meridian with a three-foot transitory.

‖ Transitu (trɑ·nsitiū), in L. phr. in transitu: see ‖ 1. 19; also as adj. in transitu business, etc.

1858 Homans Cycl. Comm. 452/1 The large increase of transitu business between the principal southern ports and the markets of Europe. Ibid. 453/1 Parties who operate in transitu cotton.

†Tra·nsiture. Obs. rare. [f. L. type transitūra*: see Transit and -ure.] Passing; passage.

1578 Banister Hist. Man v. 27 It yeeldeth ample scope.. to the transiture of meate and drinke. Ibid. 20 Two Processes..with larger holes for the transiture [printed -turie] of the Veyne, and Arterie vnto the Skull.

†Tra·nsive, a. Obs. rare. [f. transe, Trance *sb.*1 + -ive.] Of the nature of a trance; of or pertaining to a trance.

1609 Armin Maids of More-Cl. (1880) 103 My mother's fast asleepe, and I awake, am in a transiue maze. 1609 — Ital. Taylor (1880) 149 These transiue apparitions dealt, As madmen in their fits.

†Transjection. Obs. rare—°. [n. of action f. L. transiciēre, the uncontracted form of trāiciēre: see Traject.] = Trajection.

1656 Blount Glossogr., Transjection, a casting over, or thorow, an overthrowing.

Transkei (trɑnsˌkeiˈ), sb. (a.) [f. Trans- 7 + Kei, a river of S. Africa.] A territory situated across the river Kei, which falls into the Indian Ocean, c 28° 20′ E., and was from 1847 to 1877 the boundary between Kafirland or Caffraria and Cape Colony, of which the Transkei territory now forms a part. Also attrib. or as adj. Hence Trans,kei·an a.

1879 Whitaker's Almanack 251/1 The area [of Cape Colony], including Tasutoland and Transkei, 222,308 square miles. Ibid. 259/2 The Transkeian territories stretch from the Kei to Natal. 1898 Ibid. 515 (Cape Colony) The Transkei territories. Ibid., (Principal events) Incorporation of all the Transkeian territories, except part of Pondoland, with the Colony, completed 1885; annexation of Pondoland 1894. 1899 Daily News 20 Oct. 7/1 The Pondos and the other Transkei tribes are not absolutely to be relied on. 1911 J. Lennox Missions S. Afr. 8 A question of a much more difficult nature has exercised the Kafrarian and Transkeian Churches.

Trans,la·de, v. [Trans- 2.] trans. To transfer the lading of one ship or carriage to another. Hence Transla·ding vbl. sb.

1887 Daily News 17 Mar. 5/3 A question of transit and the terminal charges for lading, unlading, and translading.

Translatable (trɑnsˌlēiˈtăbl), a. [f. Translate + -able.] Capable of being translated.

1745 H. Walpole Corr. (1846) II. 15, I..without having recourse to the Countess's translatable periods, am pleased with his company. 1830 Mackintosh Eth. Philos. Wks. 1846 I. 88 Modes of expression scarcely translatable into the only technical language in which that mind is wont to think. 1870 Emerson Soc. & Solit. viii. 164 What is really best in any book is translatable.

Hence Translatabi·lity, Transla·tableness.

1869 Ludlow Fleeing to Turkish 115 To carry on his cogitations for him, with their accustomed wondrous translatability by the imagination. 1882a Athenæum 4 Mar. 278/1 We own to a certain scepticism as to La Fontaine's translatableness. 1911 Munro Fundamentals 31 The Translatability of Scripture.

†Trans,late, a. and sb. Obs. Also 7 -at. [ad. L. translāt-us, -a, -um, pa. pple.: see next.]

A. adj. Translated (see next); in quot. 1589, transferred in meaning, metaphorical.

1589 Rider Bibl. Schol. Direct. for Rdr., First I place the proper Latine word vnder the figure of 1: then the figuratiue or translate vnder the figure of 2.

B. sb. Something translated; a translation. [Cf. L. translātum sb., OF. translat 13th c.]

1585-6 Earl Leycester Corr. (Camden) 46, I sent to the register of the states for the act..., the translate whereof I send your honour hearein. 1619 Carleton in Eng. & Germ. (Camden) 85 Divers letters .. I have made transcripts of some, and translats of others. 1655 Cityn. Med. & Chyrurg. Addr., Table, A Translate of the Eleventh Chapter. 1668 Lond. Gaz. No. 254/4 The prohibitions made against the vending or reading any of the late Translates of the New Testament into French. 1803 Collins in Gurwood Wellington's Desp. (1837) III. 133 note, I..enclose a copy and translate of a note I..received from the Berai Rajah.

Translate (trɑnsˌlēiˈt), v. Also 4 (Sc.), 6 translat, 5-6 traunslate, 6 Sc. transliait. Pa. t. and pple. translated; also 4-6 translate, (pa. pple.) translat. [Prob. first used in translat(e pa. pple., ad. L. translāt-us, pa. pple. of transferre to Transfer. The pa. pple. soon became transiat-ed, and translate the verb stem (see -ate suffix 3). But the verb may also immediately repr. F. translater (12th c. in Godef.). Cf. also med.L. translātāre (11th c. in Du Cange).]

I. 1. trans. To bear, convey, or remove from one person, place or condition to another; to transfer, transport; spec. to remove a bishop from one see to another, or a bishop's seat from one place to another, and, in Scotland, a minister from one pastoral charge to another; also, to remove the dead body or remains of a saint, or, by extension, a hero or great man, from one place to another.

a 1300 Cursor M. 9162 (Cott.) Helias was in þat siquare, Translated in a golden chiare. Ibid. 9220 Pe Iuues now er put o state And þair kingrik translate. c 1330 R. Brunne Chron. (1810) 208 Pis is be name I ther; Pat we saw of nam, Pat translate S. Gilbert in be hous of Sempyngham. c 1380 Wyclif Sel. Wks. II. 318 We witen þat we ben translatid fro deþ to lyf. 1433 Lydg. St. Fremund 829 The Byschop.. Translatyd hym to Dunstaple. 1434-50 tr. Higden (Rolls) II. 77 The seete of the metropolitan of alle Wales, whiche was translate afterwarde to Meneuia. 1517 Torkington Pilgr. (1884) 49 Hys body was translat to Rome. 1529 S. Fish Supplic. Beggars (Arb.) 13 Then shall not youre.. power, crowne, dignitie..be translated from you. 1579 Lyly Euphues (Arb.) 41 Plante and translate the crabbe tree, where..it please you, and it wyll neuer beare sweete apple. 1613 Purchas Pilgrimage (1614) 106 He translated the highest seat both of spiritual and Temporall Regiment to Jerusalem. 1625 in Willis & Clark Cambridge (1886) II. 445 He translated y⁸ Vestrie. 1652 N. Bacon Disc. Govt. Eng. II. xxviii. (1739) 131 This Headship was translated to the King. 1663 Wood Life (O. H. S.) I. 472 After he had taken in another class of his scholars, he translated himself to the house of Arthur Tylliard an apothecary. c 1683 Burner Orig. Mem. in Tour Thro' (1900) I. Suppl. 80 Berkeley, translate at first bishop of Worcester, and soon after..translated to Winchester. 1794 J. Hutton Philos. Light, etc. 47 Heat is translated among bodies in a certain manner, and electricity in another. 1862 Pall Mall G. 21 Apr. 4/1 A discussion has arisen on the question whether the Charterhouse School ought or ought not to be translated into the country. 1869 Freeman Norm. Conq. III. xv. § 5. 518 The body of Harold, first buried under the cairn by Hastings, was afterwards translated to his own minster at Waltham. 1904 R. Small Hist. U. P. Congregat. I. 503 In 1829..the Synod at his own request, and without a vote, refused to translate.

b. To carry or convey to heaven without death; also, in later use, said of the death of the righteous.

1388 Wyclif Heb. xi. 5 Bi feiþ Enok is translaid, that he schulde not se deeþ; and he was not foundun, for he translaide hym. 1387 Trevisa Higden (Rolls) II. 213 And so schulde þe body..be translated and chaunged in þe blisse of heuene wiþ oute deeþe and deeþ. 1535 Coverdale Wisd. iv. 10 He pleased God, and was loued: so he lyued amonge synners, he translated him. 1702 Lond. Gaz. No. 3809/1 That after a long and happy Enjoyment of this your Earthly Crown, you may be translated to one Immortal. 1798 Coleridge Fears in Solitude 121 As if the wretch, Who fell in battle..Passed off to Heaven, translated and not killed. 1848 Mrs. Jameson Sacr. & Leg. Art (1850) 331 She was ninety years of age when the Lord translated her. 1901 Dixon Hist. Church of Acad. 3 Here, and here alone, the Hyperboreans land is an Elysium to which mortals are translated without dying.

c. Med. To remove the seat of (a disease) from one person, or part of the body, to another. Now rare or Obs.

1732 Arbuthnot Aliments etc. 166 To translate the Morbifick Matter upon the Extremities of the Body. 1754 J. Bartlet Farriery (ed. 2) 105 The humours frequently settle, or are translated to the lungs, and other bowels. 1769 E. Bancroft Guiana 394 The patient is either relieved, or the disease translated into the extremities. 1828 Southey in Q. Rev. XXXIV. 330 He could..cure a carbuncle..by making upon it the sign of a cross, and translate swellings from his pupil's arm to his own.

d. Physics. To move (a body) from one point or place to another without rotation: cf. Translation 1 f.

II. 2. To turn from one language into another; 'to change into another language retaining the sense' (J.); to render; also, to express in other words, to paraphrase. (The chief current sense.)

a 1300 Cursor M. 232 Þis ilk bok it es translate In to Inglis tong to rede. c 1350 Will. Palerne 167 For he of frensche þis layre tale ferst dede translate. c 1385 Chaucer L. G. W. 329 (Ballade) Thow hast translated the romaunt of the rose. 1477 Earl Rivers (Caxton) Dictes 2 It was translated out of latyn in to frenshe. 1589 Puttenham Eng. Poesie I. xxxi. (Arb.) 75 Doctour Pheer one that.. excellently well translated into English verse Heroicall certaine bookes of Virgils Æneidos. 1689-90 Temple Ess. Poetry Wks. 1731 I. 241 The first Change of Poetry was made by translating it into Prose. 1693 Dryden Disc. Orig. & Progr. Satire Ess. (ed. Kerr) II. 92 'Tis only for a poet to translate a poem. 1776 Johnson in Boswell, Poetry..cannot be translated; and, therefore, it is the poets that preserve languages. 1850 Whipple Ess. & Rev. (ed. 3) I. 300 If the phrase, retaining the ideal, were translated into the phrase, actualizing the real, much ambiguity might be avoided. 1874 Green Short Hist. vii. § 1. 342 Retiring to Hamburg Tyndale translated the Gospels and Epistles.

b. absol. To practise translation; to make a version from one language or form of words into another; also intr. for pass., of a language, speech, or writing: To bear or admit of translation.

c 1440 Pallad. on Husb. I. 735 Yet as myn auctor spak so wold I speke Sith I translate, and loote ram from hym breke. 1576 Fleming Panopl. Epist. 253 If you translate out of the Latine speach, into the Greeke. 1690 Locke Hum. Und. III. iv. § 9 This is to translate, and not to define, when we change two words of the same signification one for another. 1731 Fielding Author's Farce II. v, The rogue had a trick of translating out of the shops as well as the languages. 1821 Southey Omniana II. 30 Claudian throughout would translate better than any of the ancients. 1827 — Lett. (1856) IV. 64 The Welsh, I suspect, is not a language which translates well. 1831 Macaulay Ess., Johnson (1887) 194 Sometimes Johnson translated aloud.

†c. To use in a metaphorical or transferred sense: see translated, quot. 1553, and cf. Translate a., Translation 4. Obs.

3. fig. To interpret, explain; to expound the significance of (conduct, gestures, etc.); also, to express (one thing) in terms of another.

1598 Shaks. Merry W. I. iii. 54 He hath studied her will; and translated her will: out of honesty, into English. 1602 — Ham. iv. i. 3 There's matters in these sighes... These profound heaves You must translate. 1890 Mrs. Jameson Leg. Monast. Ord. (1863) 55 The emblem has been translated into a fact, or rather into a miracle. 1892 Westcott Gospel of Life 58 Right Doctrine is an inexhaustible spring of strength if it be translated into Right Life. 1903 Westm. Gaz. 26 Mar. 1/2 The delightful Norwegian master who...translates the nature of Norway...into music.

III. 4. To change in form, appearance, or substance; to transmute; to transform, alter; spec. in industrial use: of a tailor, to renovate, turn, or cut down (a garment); of a cobbler, to make new boots from the remains of (old ones).

c 1386 Chaucer Clerk's T. 229 Vanche the peple hire knew for hire fairnesse Whan she translated [v.r. transmewed, transformed] was in swich richesse. 1423 Jas. I King's Q. viii, How that ethe estate As fortune lyckth, thame will oft translate. 1487-8 Rec. St. Mary at Hill 138 For a man werkyng iij dayes & di. in the house...in translayng of the steyer and in mendyng of wyndowes. 1536 Bellenden Cron. Scot. (1821) II. 72 Quhare he translatit the tempill of Apollo in ane abbay of his ordour. 1543-4 Act 35 Hen. VIII, c. 8 No man...shall cute nyther translate...any burnetles kilderkyns or firkyns. 1575-7 Fenton Gold. Epist. (1582) 160 To translate an ancient garment, and reduce him to the present fashion. 1590 Shaks. Mids. N. iii. 1. 122 Bless thee Bottom, bless thee! thou art translated. 1621 Burton Anat. Mel. I. ii. 1. ii. (1628) 40 Nabuchadnezar was really translated into a beast. 1718 J. Fox Wanderer 14, I was waiting in Expectation of my own Change, and wondering...what Sort of Being I should be translated to. 1893 Q. Rev. Oct. 129 A place near Monmouth-street, where 'they translate old shoes into new ones'. 1905 Preece & Sivewright Telegr. vii. 104 Varley introduced repeaters at Amsterdam to translate the English double-current system of working into the Continental single-current system.

5. To re-transmit (a telegraphic message) by means of an automatic repeater.

1885 [implied in Translating station].

6. To transport with the strength of some feeling; to enrapture, entrance. arch.

1649 St. T. Browne Relig. Med. I. § 49 That elegant Apostle, which seemed to have a glimpse of Heaven, was translated out of himself to behold it. 1849 Longf. Evang. I. iv. 104 Their souls, with devotion translated, Rose on the arbour of prayer. 1899 Dixon in Mackail Life of Morris I. 115 There was no train...I was made aware of this by a fearful cry in my ears, and saw Morris 'translated'.

Hence Translated (in quot. 1553, metaphorical: cf. Translate a.), Translating ppl. adjs.

1553 T. Wilson Rhet. (1580) 174 When thei maie hane most apt wordes at hand, yet wil thei of a purpose vse translated words. 1632 Sherwood Eng. & Fr. Dict. To Rdr., First the Proper [interpretation]; then, the Translated and Metaphorical. 1687 T. Brown Saints in Uproar Wks. 1730 I. 82 See these translating gentlemen translated to the quarter of lunaticks. 1727 Pope Macer 21 In a translated Suit, then tries the Town, With borrow'd Pins, and Patches not her own. 1729 Swift Direct. Serv. iv. Wks. (1869) 569 Your wages...spent in translated vestments. 1868 Gladstone You. Mundi ix. (1870) 364 Any deceased or translated hero. 1904 R. Small Hist. U. P. Congreg. I. 552 The court came to adjudicate upon a translating call to Mr. Jaffray from Dairy.

Translating (trɑnsˌlēˈtiŋ), vbl. sb. [f. Translate v. + -ing 1.] The action of the vb. Translate; translation, in various senses.

c 1450 Fortescue Abs. & Lim. Mon. xi. (1885) 237 With owt translatynge peroff to any oper vse. 1474 Churchw. Acc. St. Mich., Cornhill (Camden), Payde for translatyng of the meyres pue. 1535 in Archæologia IX. 246 For translating of a gowne of blacke velluette. 1601 R. Johnson Kingd. & Commw. (1603) 63 The translating of the Imperiall seate, from Rome to Constantinople. 1683 Burnet tr. More's Utopia Pref. 1 The refining, polishing a Language, ...the translating of Books into it. 1904 Q. Rev. July 7 Translating is a large industry, as any English reviewer of the last ten years can testify.

b. attrib., as translating-right, -trade; translating-relay (Telegr.); see Relay sb. 4; translating-roller, -screw (Mech.), a screw which moves a part of a mechanism in relation to the other parts; translating-station (Telegr.), a station at which an automatic repeater is introduced.

1905 Preece & Sivewright Telegr. xii. 235 *Translating relays are required for the intercommunication between stations. 1911 Webster, Translating-roller (Ordnance) a double-threaded screw for drawing a breech-block longitudinally from its place in the breech. 1891 Cent. Dict., Translating-screw,...spec., in breech-loading ordnance, a screw for moving in or out the wedge in the fermeture. 1895 Patent Office Specif. No. 314 The instruments are used in pairs at the translating station. 1894 Sala London up to Date 263 The 'Cobbler's Last', that well-known organ of the boot and shoe 'translating' trade.

Translation (trɑnsˌlēˈʃən). [a. OF. translation (12th c. in Godef. Compl.), or ad. L. translātiōn-em a transporting, translation, n. of action f. translāt-, ppl. stem of transferre to Transfer.] The action of translating (or its result).

I. 1. Transference; removal or conveyance from one person, place, or condition to another.

spec. The removal of a bishop from one see to another; in the Church of Scotland, the removal of a minister from one charge to another; also, the removal of the body or relics of a saint to another place of interment.

a 1350 St. Stephen 212 in Horstm. Altengl. Leg. (1881) 30 Of bat ilk translacion Es named sayntt Steuyn inuencioun. c 1380 Wyclif Sel. Wks. II. 318 þis translacion is better þan worldly translacion of þe pope. 1447 Bokenham Seynys (Roxb.) 30 O! summe relykys to make a translacyoun. 1473-4 Rec. Lady High Trans. Scot I. 52 The translacione of the parliament fra Sanctandros to Edinburgh. 1485 Caxton Sil. Wonefr. 13 Her bones were brought to thabbay of Shrewsbury, whiche translacion is halowed the 19 day of September. 1597 Hooker Eccl. Pol. v. iv. § 8 Ascension into heauen, is a plaine local translation of Christ according to his manhood. 1612 Bekerwood Lang. & Relig. 2 The translation of the imperiall seat to Constantinople. 1635 Swan Spec. M. (1670) 48 A fifth (effect of Earthquakes) is the translation of Mountains &c. unto some other places. 1647 N. Bacon Disc. Govt. Eng. I. xi. (1739) 22 After the Translation of the Sea from Thetford to Norwich. 1649 Clarendon Hist. Reb. I. § 188 The necessary forms for the Translation [of Laud from London to Canterbury]. 1777 J. Adams Wks. (1854) IX. 470 The rapid translation of property from hand to hand. 1869 Freeman Norm. Conq. III. xii. § 2 34 That the Feast of the Translation of Saint Eadward should be kept...on the eve of the day of Saint Calixtus. 1910 in Halsbury Laws of Eng. XI. 400 note, The fees paid by the late Archbishop Magee on his translation to York amounted to £573 6s.

b. fig. of non-material things.

Translation of a feast (Eccl.), its transference from the usual date to another, to avoid its clashing with another (movable) feast of superior rank.

c 1530 T. Cox Rowlet (1818) 82 Translacion of the fust is, whan he hat confesseth his faut, sayeth that he dyd it, moued by the indignacion of the malycyouse dede of an other. 1552 Abp. Hamilton Catech. (1884) 8 The translation of the sabbaoth day to the sonday. 1667 Hobbes Wks. I. 151 Imputation: by which there is a kinde of translation or putting ouer of the beleeuers sinne vnto Christ, and of Christs righteousnesse to the beleeuer. 1682-6 J. Scott Chr. Life (1704) I. 1. 1. 1

iv. § 8, I have frequently doubted whether it [the Elm-tree] be a pure Indigene or Translatitious. 1692 WASHINGTON tr. Milton's Def. Pop. vii, A delegated translatitious Majesty we allow, but that Majesty does chiefly and primarily reside in him, you can no more prove, than you can, that Power and Authority does.

2. Transferred in meaning; metaphorical; tralatitious.

1637 J. WILLIAMS Holy Table 77 The translatitious and borrowed...appellation of that holy utensill. 1673 O. WALKER Educ. ii. 1. 228 It appears sometimes under a Metaphor, or some other translatitious expression.

Hence † Translati·tiously adv., traditionally, by custom derived from others.

1666 J. FRASER Polichron. (S.H.S.) 2 Translatitiously both in England and Low Countries of Scotland, we, by an inveterat custome derived from thence, doe say as yet Anderson, Jameson, Watson, Williamson, etc.

Translative (trans|lē·tiv, tra·ns|lātiv), a. [ad. L. translātīv-us pertaining to transfer or translation (see TRANSLATE and -IVE); cf. F. translatif (14th c.) in legal use.] Involving or of the nature of translation (in various senses).

† 1. Involving transference of meaning; metaphorical, tropical. Obs.

1589 PUTTENHAM Eng. Poesie II. iii. (Arb.) 81 If our feete Poeticall want these qualities it can not be said a foote in sence translative as here. Ibid. iii. xviii. 197 Properly.. Allegoria is when we do speake in sence translative and wrested from the owne signification.

2. Involving transference from one place to another; in Physics, of the nature of onward movement without rotation or reciprocation.

a 1662 Sir T. Browne Wks. (1835) IV. 329 We may improve their fruits without translative conjunction, that is, by insition of the scion upon his own mother. 1740 STACK in Phil. Trans. XLI. 418 It is allowed, that the translative Velocities of its Points cannot be in an inverted Ratio to the Roots of the Distances. 1875 HUXLEY & MARTIN Elem. Biol. (1877) 27 Watch the Brownian movements; note that they are simply oscillatory—not translative. 1883 Nature 25 Mar. 450 1 A screw's motion, which is partly translative along and partly rotative round a polar axis.

3. Tending or serving to translate or render; relating to translation, translational.

1748 RICHARDSON Clarissa (1811) VIII. xi. 62 As the translative impulse (pardon a new word..) came upon me. 1819 G. S. FABER Dispensations (1823) II. 31 The sense of the Greek translative Diatheke is thus determined by the sense of the Hebrew original Berith. 1882 W. SHARP Rossetti iv. 311 Renderings specially admirable for translative excellence and inherent poetic merit.

4. Law. Expressing or constituting transference of property, etc.

1875 POSTE Gaius II. Comm. (ed. 2) 172 Mancipation..might be used as a formality..of contract either translative or obligative.

5. Gram. (See quot. 1905.)

1896 Edin. Rev. Jan. 84 The student [of Finnish] must remember the nominative, partitive,..prolative, translative, esive..and instructive [cases]. 1905 JESPERSEN Hist. Eng. Lang. 9 Translative, indicating the state into which anyone or anything passes.

Translator (trans|lē·tə). Also 4–6 -oure, 4–8 -our, 5 -ore, 6–7 -er. [a. OF. translator, -tour, F. -eur (12th c. in Godef. Compl.), or L. translātōr, agent-n. of transferre: see TRANSLATE and -OR.] One who (rarely, that which) translates.

1. One who translates or renders from one language into another; the author of a translation.

13.. in Horstm. Altengl. Leg. (1878) 25/101 Of al translatours in to latyn He was fouur enditour fyn. *c*1380 WYCLIF Sel. Wks. III. 96 Which word be Hebrw translatoure, Aquyla interpretid, and be Lord confirmede'. 1413 Pilgr. Soule (Caxton) v. xiv. (1859) 82 The symple and vnsuffisaunt translator of this litel book. 1509 BARCLAY Ship of Fools (1570) 260 Go Bookes...By thy submission excuse thy Translatour [prime honour]. a 1682 BUTLER Rem. (1759) II. 405 A Translater dyes an Author, like an old Stuff, into a new Colour. 1778 WARTON Hist. Eng. Poetry II. Notes 19 Lapus de Castellione, a Florentine civilian, and a great translator from Greek into Latin, about the year 1350. 1837 LOCKHART Scott II. iv. 121 Mr. Cary, the translator of Dante.

b. One who renders a painting by engraving, or the like: cf. TRANSLATION 2 b.

1885 Gentl. Mag. XLIII. 657/1 Mr. C. Blair Leighton.. lithographer..was one of the earliest translators of water and oil pictures by the chromatic process. 1888 W. P. FRITH Autobiog. III. vii. 159 The delightful art of Thomas [Landseer, the engraver], so thoroughly in sympathy with his brother [Edwin, the painter], places the producer in the front rank of the company of translators. 1897 Daily News 5 Feb. 8/6 Line engraving and mezzotint—both of them used largely in the service of the 'translators'.

2. One who transforms, changes, or alters; spec. a cobbler who renovates old shoes.

1594 Merry Knack to Hazl. Dodsley VI. 566 As long as Jeffrey the translater is Mayor of the town. 1638 BRATHWAIT Barnabees Jrnl. A vj, That paltry Patcher is a bald Translater. a 1658 CLEVELAND Gen. Poems (1677) 23 I'm no Translator, have no vein To turn a Woman young again. 1693 Humours Town 77 The Jolly Translator, of Shoes, I mean, not Authors. 1700 T. BROWN Amusem. Ser. & Com. 130 The Cobler is Affronted, if you don't call him Mr. Translator. 1851 MAYHEW Lond. Labour I. 198/2 I'm a 'translator' by trade. 1886 Daily News 15 Oct. 3/6 'Translators', who cunningly metamorphose..old leather almost into new goods.

b. transf. pl. A 'translated' pair of shoes. slang.

1851 MAYHEW Lond. Labour I. 51/2 To wear a pair of second-hand ones [boots], or 'translators' (as they are called), is felt as a bitter degradation.

c. (See quot.)

1884 KNIGHT Dict. Mech. Supp., Translator, ..an instrument whereby one form of energy is converted into another. For instance, the power of a prime motor, say a steam engine, is translated by means of a magneto-electric engine into electricity. 1891 in Cent. Dict.

† 3. One who transfers or transports. Obs.

1545 JOYE Exp. Dan. v. I v b, The changer and translator of kyngedoms and tymes. 1630 BRATHWAIT Eng. Gentlem. (1641) 53 That translator of the Median Empire to the Persians, victorious Cyrus. a 1633 JONSON Mutiis. (1638) 94 Constantine the Emperor (whom they make a great Translator of Bones) would not let them rest in their Graves.

4. An automatic repeater in long-distance telegraphy. Cf. TRANSLATION 6.

1855 Patent Office Specif. No. 314 The use of translators in connection with submarine cables. 1876 PREECE & SIVEWRIGHT Telegr. iv. § 111 A distance is at last reached where direct working is impossible, and where it becomes necessary..to introduce mechanical repeaters or translators at some intermediate station to bring into play fresh currents.

5. attrib. and Comb.

1885 Pall Mall G. 29 Jan. 4/2 The extraordinary merit of their translator-engravers. 1887 Ibid. 28 Sept. 2/2 [He] has fallen into the clutches of a 'translator-traitor' if ever there was one, who has not only corrected no blunder, but added an enormous mass of mistranslations and misprints. 1891 Ibid. 8 Dec. 3/1 A little spurt of undignified and vindictive petulance, a new form of translator-trenchery.

Hence translatorship, the function of a translator (in quot. 1786 humorously with possessive as a title).

1786 COWPER Let. to Lady Hesketh 11 Feb., You must return it [specimen of Homer]..to my translatorship. 1835 Fraser's Mag. XII. 53 An aspirant for the honours of translatorship.

Translatory (trans|lē·tərі, tra·ns|lātəri), a. [f. prec.: see -ORY 2.]

† 1. Characterized by transferring from one to another. Obs. rare.

1792 SWIFT Art Polit. Lying † 6 Wks. 1755 III. 1. 117 He divides Political Lyes into several species..The translatory is a lye, that transfers the merit of a man's good action to another who is [etc.]

2. Of or pertaining to physical translation; = TRANSLATIONAL 1.

1849 NOAD Electricity (ed. 3) 267 The negative tension of an insulated metal is sensibly augmented by giving a translatory motion to the gas which attacks its surface. 1860 TYNDALL Glac. II. xxix. 403 Owing to the quicker translatory movement. 1881 — Floating Matter of Air ii. 60 The Bacteria lost their translatory power, fell to the bottom, and left the liquid..clear.

Translatress (trans|lē·trés). [f. TRANSLATOR + -ESS.] A female translator.

1638 CHILLINGW. Relig. Prot. I. ii. § 91. 85 Which Card. Perron and his Translatresse so often translate false. 1759 DILLWYN Poems 76 By the French translatress Madam Dacier. 1865 Pall Mall Gazette 4 Feb., The celebrated French translatress of Darwin's work on the 'Origin of Species'.

Trans|la·trix. [fem., in L. form, of TRANSLATOR: see -TRIX.] = prec.

1892 Nation (N. Y.) 28 Aug. 133/2 The translatrix knows how to work well enough to do this. 1902 Speaker 1 Dec. 19/1 Is it the translatrix or Gregorovius himself who is guilty of [the mistake]?

† Trans|lava·tion. Obs. rare—[1]. [f. TRANS- 1 + L. lavātiōnem, n. of action fr. lavāre to wash, LAVE *v.*1] The action of 'laving' or ladling from one vessel to another.

1601 HOLLAND Pliny xxxiv. xviii. II. 519 This translavation ought so long to be continued out of one vessell into another, untill such time as it have done casting any residence downward.

Translay (trans|lē·), v. nonce-wd. [TRANS- 2.] trans. To transfer and lay in a new position.

1849 CLOUGH Easter Day 14 If not where Joseph laid Him first, why then Where other men Translaid Him after, in some humbler clay.

Translei·than (trans|lei·pən), a. [f. TRANS- 7 + Leitha, name of a river.] Beyond the Leitha, a tributary of the Danube, which forms for a short distance the boundary between Hungary and the archduchy of Austria; hence, Magyar or Hungarian, as distinguished from the cis-Leithan provinces of the Austro-Hungarian empire. So Transleithanian a.

1870 GLADSTONE Gleanings IV. v. 201 [Hungary] has attracted to herself the Transylvanian Slav population of the South. 1900 Westm. Gaz. 3 Jan. 1/3 A sort of tacit understanding that permeates almost all classes of Transleithanian society.

Trans|le·tter·ing. nonce-wd. [f. TRANS- 2 + LETTER v. + -ING 1.] = TRANSLITERATION.

1802 W. TAYLOR in Monthly Mag. XIII. 12 It may seem strange to fix on a root, which his system of transletteering would press by shiv.

Trans|limita·tion. rare. [f. TRANS- 1 + L. limitātiōn-em fixing of a limit, f. limit-em boundary, limit. Cf. Sp. translimitacion.] The sending of troops across the frontier of a foreign state, for the preservation of order, etc.

1845 W. H. KELLY tr. L. Blanc's Hist. Ten Y. v. iv. II. 445 All he [Mendizabal] had made up his mind to sanction was the system of translimitation, intended solely to deprive Don Carlos of the succours transmitted to him by the northern powers.

Translitera·te (trans|li·tərēt), v. [f. TRANS- 1 + L. littera letter, written symbol + -ATE 3.] trans. To replace (letters or characters of one language) by those of another used to represent the same sounds; to write (a word, etc.) in the characters of another alphabet. Hence Transli·terated ppl. a.

1861 MAX MÜLLER in Sat. Rev. 9 Mar. 247/1 Not only proper names, but the technical terms also of the Buddhist creed, had to be preserved in Chinese. They were not to be translated, but to be transliterated. But how was this to be effected with a language which, like Chinese, has no phonetic alphabet? 1861 G. MOORE Lost Tribes 158, I transliterate the words into modern Hebrew letters. 1871 EARLE Philol. Eng. Tongue § 190 To master this alphabet and transliterate passages of English into it. 1884 American VII. 378 The transliterated pages and the Devanagari can be kept in sight at the same time.

Transliteration (trans,litērē·ʃən). [f. as prec. + -ATION.] The action or process of transliterating; the rendering of the letters or characters of one alphabet in those of another; concr. a word or writing thus rendered.

1861 MAX MÜLLER in Sat. Rev. 9 Mar. 247/1 Even the Chinese were after a time unable to read—i.e., to pronounce—these random trans-literations. 1861 G. MOORE Lost Tribes 257 The transliteration into Hebrew presents a clear sense. 1862 RAWLINSON Anc. Mon. I. viii. 215 Too obscure or too illegible for transliteration. 1900 MARGOLIOUTH in Expositor Jan. 50 Till the most recent times no scientific method of transliteration had been invented.

Transliterator (trans|li·tərēitər). [f. as prec. + -OR.] One who transliterates.

1869 ELLIS E. E. Pron. i. iii. § 4. 191 Sanscrit transliterators. 1895 Athenæum 26 Oct. 575/3 Is it the last new idea of the Indian Government transliterator to put a dot under the t of Fathpūr, but not under the h?

Translocalization (trans,lōukəlāiz·ē·ʃən). rare—[1]. [f. TRANS- 2 + LOCALIZATION.] Translocation, displacement; in quot., in reference to time.

1888 Amer. Jrnl. Psychol. May 538 Patients..sometimes cannot repeat the same pseudo-experience twice alike, translocalizations in time being especially common.

Translocate (trə·ns,lōkēt), v. rare. [f. TRANS- + LOCATE. Probably suggested by next, which was used much earlier.] trans. To remove from one place to another; to displace, dislocate.

a 1829 BENTHAM Leg. Wks. 1843 VIII. 392/2 Add, upon the model of transfer, and translate, translocate. 1887 Amer. Nat. Oct. 944 The ribs have been translocated from the original position..to the neuropaphyses. 1899 Syd. Soc. Lex., Translocate, the same as Dislocate.

b. Vetg. Physiol. To subject to translocation.

1911 in WEBSTER.

Translocation (trans|lōkē·ʃən). [f. TRANS- + LOCATION.] Removal from one place to another; displacement; dislocation; † transmigration.

1624 F. WHITE Repl. Fisher 424 Translocation of Christs bodie. 1625 N. CARPENTER Geog. Del. II. x. (1635) 274 A seperation was made by translocation of the parts of the Earth. 1665 SIR T. HERBERT Trav. (1677) 116 All defending the immortality of the Soul, and the translocation from one into another after death. 1677 CARY Chronol. II. i. i. xx. 159 There is..a casual translocation of the Numbers. a 1798 WOODWARD Catal. Eng. Fossils (1729) ii. a. margin, There happen'd certain Translocations at the Deluge. c 1814 COLERIDGE in Lit. Rem. (1838) III. 80 Translocation is not destruction. 1876 GLADSTONE Homeric Synchr. 79 A Revolution involving such extensive change, and such translocation of races. 1877 FOSTER Phys. I. ii. § 2 (1878) 79 The muscular contraction itself is essentially a translocation of molecules.

b. Vetg. Physiol.: see quots.

1900 B. D. JACKSON Gloss. Bot. Terms, Translocation.. the transference of reserve material from one part to another. 1911 WEBSTER, Translocation,..transfer of food materials or products of metabolism from one part to another by osmosis.

† Trans|lu·ce, v. Obs. rare. [ad. L. translūcēre to shine through, f. TRANS- + lūcēre to shine: cf. TRALUCE v.] trans. To shine through.

1609 J. DAVIES Holy Roode (Grosart) 26/1 Let loy translucе thy Beauties blandishment.

Translucence (trans|lū·sěns). [f. as next: see -ENCE.]

1. The action or fact of shining through.

1826 COLERIDGE Two Round 27 The soul's translucence thro' her crystal shrine. 1839 Leth. of Mrs. Gillman (1898) 754 What appeared to you a translucence of the love of the good, the true, and the beautiful from within me. 1868 FARRAR Silence & V. i. (1879) 18 Nature, which is but the visible translucence of a divine agency working upon material things. 1875 MASSON Wordsw., etc. 123 All the secrets of the earth's interior..are revealed in continuous translucence.

2. Transparency to light; = TRANSLUCENCY.

1755 JOHNSON, Transparency, clearness; diaphaneity; translucence; power of transmitting light. 1847–9 Todd's Cyclop. Anat. IV. 246/2 The epithelium beyond is of excessive delicacy and translucence. 1899 Allbutt's Syst. Med. VIII. 592 Having a wax-like translucence.

fig. 1859 I. TAYLOR Logic in Theol. 271, I admire the translucence of his character, and its strength.

Translucency (trans|lū·sěnsі). [f. next: see -ENCY; cf. TRALUCENCY.] The quality or condition of being translucent; partial transparency: see quot. 1842. Also fig.

1650 J. TAYLOR (Water P.) Whore Wks. II. 111/1 So one glance or glimpse of the translucencie of your eyes sundazeling curiosacy. 1646 SIR T. BROWNE Pseud. Ep. II. i. 52 Ice..its atoms are not concreted into continuity, which doth diminish its translucency. 1831 FARADAY Exp. Res. xlvi. 339 Different degrees of colour or translucency. 1842 BRANDE Dict. Sc., etc., Translucency, semitransparency.

The term is chiefly used in descriptive mineralogy as applied to minerals which admit of a passage of the rays of light, but through which objects cannot be definitely distinguished. 1879 Calderwood Mind & Br. 61 A chamber filled with a clear watery fluid, essential for the translucency of the external portion of the eye.

Translucent (trans,lūːsĕnt), a. [f. L. translūcēnt-em, pres. pple. of translūcēre to shine through: see Translucent, and cf. Traluucent.]

†1. That shines through; emitting penetrating rays. b. In quot. a 1652, thoroughly illuminated or luminous. Obs. rare.

1595 Fitz-Geffray Sir F. Drake (1881) 97 The sunne, That latelie bright translucent splendour shed. a 1652 A. Wilson Jas. I (1653) 61 She had a translucent passage in the night, through the City of London, by multitudes of Torches. 1791 J. Learmont Poems 359 The Sun translucent from on high With locks of waving gold salutes the sky.

2. Through which light passes: = Transparent. 1607 Topsell. Four-f. Beasts (1658) 153 The eye of man is translucent, and containeth in it a horny substance. 1634 Milton Comus 861 Sabrina fair,..sitting Under the glassie, cool, translucent wave. 1725 Pope Odyss. I. 180 Replenish'd from the cool, translucent springs. 1847 Lewes Hist. Philos. (1867) I. 326 Water, air, and other bodies which are translucent. fig. 1891 Swinburne Stud. Pr. & Poetry, Jrnl. Sir W. Scott (1894) 23 The translucent treachery of such an impious imposture.

b. Now, more distinctively: Allowing the passage of light, yet diffusing it so as not to render bodies lying beyond clearly visible; semi-transparent.

1784 Cowper Tiroc. 120 A pane of thin translucent horn. 1846 Grove Corr. Phys. Forces 29 The glass ceases to be transparent, though remaining translucent. 1851 Woodward Mollusca 1. 66 The shell of the argonaut is thin and translucent. 1905 in Westm. Gas. 17 Mar. 12/1 The windows of this classroom were once transparent, they are now translucent, and if not cleaned very soon will be opaque.

fig. 1843 Carlyle Past & Pr. II. ii. The old centuries melt from opaque to partially translucent, transparent here and there.

Hence Trans,lu·cently adv., in a translucent manner or state; so as to be seen through.

1832 Lytton Eugene A. I. i. So translucently pure and soft was her complexion. 1897 Allbutt's Syst. Med. III. 82 The skin..is translucently pale and shines like a mirror.

Translucid (trans,lūːsid), a. [ad. L. translūcid-us translucent: see prec. and -id. Cf. F. translucide (16th c.).] = Translucent 2, and now 2 b.

1626 Bacon Sylva § 872 Which is most easily seen in the Eyes, because they are Translucide. 1651 Life Father Sarpi (1676) 18 How Illusion by Art makes barks of Trees and Shells and Roots translucid. 1878 Miss J. Young Ceram. Art (1879) 51 Porcelain is translucid, and therein differs from pottery, which is opaque.

†b. = Translucent 1. Obs. rare—[1].

1727 [implied in Translucidness].

Hence Trans,lu·cidness n. rare.

1727 Bailey vol. II, Translucidness..the Quality of shining through, or permitting Light to shine through.

Translucidity (trans,lūːsi·dĭti). [ad. F. translucidité (16th c. in Hatz.-Darm.): see prec. and -ity.] The quality or condition of being translucid; translucency.

1694 Motteux Rabelais v. 254 The Flickermise flying through the translucidity of the corner'd Gate. 1798 Mitchell tr. Karsten's Min. Lesbean Mus. 367 The internal Lustre and the Translucidity are observable. 1855 tr. Labarte's Arts Mid. Ages xiv. 413 Owing to its translucidity.

Translunary (trɑ·nsˌlɪ̈nərĭ), a. [f. Trans- 3 + L. lūna moon, after lunary.] Lying beyond or above the moon: the opposite of sublunary; chiefly fig., etherial, insubstantial, visionary. So Translu·nar a. (in some recent Dicts.).

1627 Drayton Agincourt, etc., To H. Reynolds 206 Neat Marlow bathed in the Thespian springs Had in him those brave translunary things. 1846 Beddoes Let. Oct., Poems (1851) p. lviii, All my sublimest speculations this summer have been botanical; and my translunary ones..a thought or two for a didactic 'Boem'..on myology. 1892 Century Mag. June 183/2 A strayed visitor from some translunary sphere. 1901 Agnes M. Clerke Astrophysics (1903) 2 The long-divorced sublunary and translunary worlds.

Trans,ma·ke, v. [f. Trans- 2 + Make v., rendering Gr. μεταποιέω.] trans. To make into something different, to refashion. Hence Transma·king vbl. sb.

1844 Dublin Rev. Mar. 92 They [the sacramental symbols] are as it were transmade, made into a new thing, or, in the apt language of the Catholic dogma, transubstantiated. 1874 Pusey Lent. Serm. 315 Those..whom man could not have changed even by punishing, but the Word transmade, forming and fashioning them after its own will. 1909 D. Stone Doctr. Eucharist I. 72 transl. St. Gregory of Nyssa] That body by the indwelling of God the Word was transmade (μετεποιήθη) to the dignity of Godhead.

†Trans,marinal, a. Obs. rare—[1]. [f. as next + -al.] = Transmarine.

1614 Jackson Creed III. xiii. § 12. 137 Hart out of his transmarinall Catechisme, would gladly have maintained it.

Transmarine (trɑnsˌmərīːn, -z-), a. (sb.) [ad. L. transmarinus, f. trans across + mare sea, after Marine. Cf. F. transmarin (12th c. in Godef.).]

1. That is beyond the sea; born, existing, situated, or found on the other side of the sea; over-sea.

1583 Melbancke Philotimus A a j b, An aliaunt, or a transmarine stranger. 1610 T. Higgons Serm. at Pauls Cross 3 Mar. (1611) 45 It was borne in transmarine and forraine parts. 1671 F. Phillips Reg. Necess. 329 Purchasers of Transmarine Wares and Commodities. 1700 Tyrrell Hist. Eng. II. 723 Normandy, and the King's other Transmarine Dominions. 1807 G. Chalmers Caledonia I. i. vi 193 Contemporary authors..speak of the Scots, as a transmarine people. 1878 N. Amer. Rev. CXXVII. 189 If it [India] were the sole transmarine appendage to the crown.

2. Crossing or extending across the sea.

1860 Gosse Rom. Nat. Hist. 84 Species [of birds] which are known to make long transmarine migrations. 1908 Sci. Amer. 15 Feb. 106/1 The remarkable transmarine railroad which is under construction from the mainland of Florida to Key West. 1908 F. Harrison in Trans. Rep. Hist. Soc. Ser. III. III. 38 Pitt made all European questions subordinate to his transmarine, world-wide ambitions and schemes.

†B. sb. One born or dwelling beyond the sea; a native or inhabitant of a transmarine country.

1595 Warner Alb. Eng. xi. lxv. (1602) 280 Perhaps, impossible..My loss should equall his, or I a trans-Marine be wrought. 1633 Heywood Eng. Trav. II. ii, I am, quoth he, A Trans-marine by birth.

†Trans,ma·ritime, a. Obs. rare—[1]. [Trans- 3.] = Transmarine.

1610 Br. Carleton Jurisd. 74 Transmaritim judgments ought not to be admitted.

Trans,mate·rial, a. rare—[1]. [Trans- 4.] Beyond or transcending the material.

1903 19th Cent. Apr. 639 He ends by representing it [the subliminal self] as a hyperphysical spirit, whose origin is beyond matter, and whose functions are transmaterial.

Trans,materia·tion, rare—[1]. [f. Trans- I + L. materiāliēs-em: see Materiation.] Change of the matter of which a thing consists.

1866 Harper Peace thro. Truth Ser. I. 159 If it be altered it must be either substantially, and that by Transubstantiation, or transformation, or transmateriation, or it must be accidentally.

†Transmeˌate, v. Obs. rare—[0]. [f. ppl. stem of rare L. transmeāre to pass across (Pliny), f. trans + meāre to go, pass.] trans. To pass through or across. So †Transmeˌable a. [L. transmeābilis], that may be crossed, passable, †Transmeˌant a. [L. transmeānt-em pr. pple.], passing through.

1656 Blount Glossogr., Transmeable, to be, or that may be passed over. Ibid., Transmeate, to passe or go beyond. 1657 Physical Dict., Transmea[n]t, that passeth through the pores of the body, as from the bottom of a sieve. 1727 Bailey vol. II, Transmeable..Transmeable.

†Transmeation (trɑnsˌmiːēˈʃən). Obs. rare. [n. of action from L. transmeāre: see prec. and -ation.] A passing across or over.

1630 Lord Banians 52 They did hold, that there was a passage of soules of one creature into another, that this transmeation was of the soules of men into beasts, and of beasts into men. 1658 Phillips, Transmeation, a passing through, or beyond.

Transmedian (trɑnsˌmēˈdĭən), a. (sb.) Anat. and Zool. [f. Trans-+ L. medius middle: cf. Median.] Passing or situated across the median line of the body; applied to certain muscles in brachiopods. Also as sb. a transmedian muscle. Also Transˌmeˈdial a.

1876 T. Davidson in Encycl. Brit. IV. 193/1 Of the shell are valvular muscles..one pair are transmedians, each member passing across the middle of the reverse side of the shell. Ibid., Transmedial or sliding muscles. 1881 Cassell's Nat. Hist. V. 261 The fifth pair of transmedians controls the movements from side to side of the beak or unbomal regions of the shell.

Transmental (trɑnsˌmentăl), a. (sb.) rare. [f. Trans- 3 + L. mens, ment-em mind: cf. mental.] Existing beyond the mind; independent of or apart from human thought or perception; as sb., a transmental existence or reality.

1907 Jrnl. Philos., Psychol. & Sci. Methods 17 Jan. 45 Should the reply be that some sort of transmental is implied, I would gladly recant, even though Professor James should still insist that the nature of that transmental is irrelevant to all human interests, even the most intellectual.

Transmentation (trɑnsˌmentăˈʃən). rare. [f. Trans- I + L. mens, ment- mind + -ation; rendering Gr. μετάνοια afterthought, repentance. Cf. mentation and mod. 16th c. L. transmentātio (Goclenius in Du Cange).] Change of mind or thinking; mental conversion.

1647 Trapp Comm. 2 Cor. vii. 9 That ye sorrowed to repentance Gr. To a transmentation, to a thorough change both of the minde and manners. 1657 Reeve God's Plea 63 Where there is μετάνοια, a new brayning, or a transmentation. 1835 J. Harris Gt. Teacher (1837) 181 Repentance, transmentation, a change of mind, was the indispensable condition of enrolment.

†Transˌmeriˈdian, a. (sb.) Obs. rare. [f. Trans- 7 + L. meridiān-us Meridian.] Beyond the or a meridian. In quot. absol. as sb., the region beyond the meridian in the Atlantic which separates the New from the Old World; the Western Hemisphere.

1500–20 Dunbar Poems lxvi. 63 It micht have cuming in schiortar quhyll Fra Calzecot and the new-fund Yle, The parts of transmeridiane; Quhilk to considder is ane pane.

Transmeridional (trɑnsˌmēriˈdiənăl, -z-), a. [f. Trans- 3 + Meridional a. 4.] Crossing or traversing the meridian lines; running east and west.

1883 A. Winchell World-Life II. iii. (1889) 355 How the Mediterranean and Indian Ocean shores came to have general transmeridional trends. 1892 Chambers' Encycl. X. 505/2 The Caribbean Sea and the Mediterranean—those great transmeridional depressions.

Transmew, transmue (trɑnsˌmiūː), v. Obs. or arch. Also 4–5 -muwe, -mewe, 5 -mywe. [a. F. transmue-r (13th c. in Hatz.-Darm.), semi-learned form :—L. transmūtāre to change, Transmute, f. Trans- + mūtāre to change: see Mew *v.*1] trans. = Transmute I.

c 1374 Chaucer Troylus IV. 439 (467) Thow most me first transmuwen [v.r. transmute] in a ston. Ibid. 802 (830) Ioies ..Pat nor transmuwed ben in cruel woo. c 1400 Lydg. Reson & Sens. 4323 She to A larke was transmewed. 1512 Helyas in Thoms Prose Rom. (1828) III. 81 His v. brethren and his sister, which were transmued in to swannes. 1590 Spenser F. Q. I. vii. 35 Men into stones therewith he could transmew, And stones to dust, and dust to nought at all. a 1643 W. Cartwright Ordinary v. iv. in Hazl. Dodsley XII. 208, I, Robert Moth..do transmue my name to Geffery. 1748 Thomson Cast. Indol. II. xlii, As if transmew'd to stone. 1820 Scott Monast. xviii, To cast my riding slough, and to transmew myself into some civil form.

†b. intr. for pass. = Transmute I c. Obs.

c 1400 Rom. Rose 2526 In siker wise thou hir salewe, Wherwith thi colour wole transmewe. c 1400 Lydg. Reson & Sens. 303 Dame nature..Alle erthely thing repaireth newe ..Eche thinge..Which she seth fayle and transmywe. a 1456 ‒ Bonnet Doubleness 44 Fortune's wheel..Whos cours standeth ever in doubt for to transmew.

†Transˌmigrable, a. Obs. rare—[1]. [f. L. transmigrāre to Transmigr-ate + -able.] Capable of transmigration.

1689 G. Harvey Curing Dis. by Expect. xvi. 120 Vegetables..whose fragrant scent is transmigrable with their humidity.

Transmigrant (trɑnsˌmiːgrănt, -z-), a. and sb. [f. L. transmigrānt-, ppl. stem of transmigrāre: see next.]

A. adj. That transmigrates. rare.

1654 Gayton Pleas. Notes III. iii. 82 Such an Agonie and maw-Convulsion, that he thought his soule had been transmigrant and Errant from his Body. 1888 Athenæum 24 Nov. 693/2 They proceed to tell a secular story of transmigrant souls.

B. sb. †1. orig. One who transmigrates or leaves his own land and dwells in another: including the two notions of 'emigrant' and 'immigrant'.

1622 Bacon Holy War Wks. 1879 I, 529/1 There are other bands of society, and implicit confederations. That of colonies, or transmigrants, towards their mother nation.

2. In recent use: A person passing through a country or place on his way from the country from which he is an emigrant to that in which he will be an immigrant. Used spec. in reference to the Aliens Act of 1905: see quot.

1894 Willis in Rep. Bd. of Trade recent Immigr. fr. E. Europe 10 The immigrants of [Russian and Poli-h] nationality formed..in 1891, 64 per cent. of all aliens (not being seamen and not known to be transmigrants) shown..to have come here from Hamburg. 1905 Form of Return under Aliens Act, A. Immigration Ports. Aliens Act, 1905. Transmigrants. That is, alien passengers (other than first-class passengers), who have in their possession prepaid through tickets, and in respect of whom security has been given that they will proceed to places outside the United Kingdom. 1910 Daily News 28 Nov. 4/2 Practically no aliens now arrive in this country for the purpose of settling here; they are nearly all transmigrants proceeding via England from the Continent to America.

b. Also said of migratory birds.

3. A soul which transmigrates.

1888 in Ogilvie (Annandale).

†Trans,migrate, ppl. a. Obs. rare—[1]. [ad. late L. transmigrāt-us (Isidore), pa. pple. of transmigrāre: see next.] Transferred, transported; cf. next, I b. (Const. as pa. pple.)

1430–40 Lydg. Bochas VIII. xx. (MS. Bodl. 263) 393/2 Iherusalem was whilom transmygrat, Ther trewe Prophetis for thei hadde in despiht.

Transmigrate (trɑnsˌmiːgrēˈt, trɑnsˌmēˈgrēˈt, -z-), v. [f. L. transmigrāt-, ppl. stem of (very rare) transmigrāre, f. trans, Trans- + migrāre to Migrate. Cf. mod.F. transmigrer (16th c. in Godef.).]

1. intr. To remove or pass from one place to another; esp. of persons, or a tribe; to move from one place of abode to another, to migrate.

1611 Cotgr. Crudities 91 The Longobardes being exceedingly multiplied in their owne country, transmigrated into a bordering Island. 1646 Sir T. Browne Pseud. Ep. VI. x, This complexion..is evidently maintained by generation,..the Delives which transmigrate, comit it not without commixture. 1723 Pres. St. Russia II. 66 They are transmigrating from one place to another. a 1797 H. Walpole George II (1847) I. ix. 269 The well affected clans might be induced to transmigrate to those settlements. 1898 Westm. Gaz. 1 Apr. 3/1 He found a wider space on the other side, so he transmigrated and slumbered in peace.

b. trans. in causal sense: To transfer, transport. (In quots. only in passive.)

1430–40 [see prec.]. 1635 Heywood Hierarch. VII. Notes 463 Excellent Spirits..are rather transmigrated from the earth, to reigne with the Powers above. 1745 Eliza Heywood Female Spect. No. 11 (1748) II. 216 To try the experiment, Whether, by transferring the blood of one animal into another, the nature of the creature would be transmigrated also.

2. intr. spec. Of the soul: To pass after death into another body.

1606 Shaks. Ant. & Cl. II. vii. 51 What manner o thing is your Crocodile?..It lues by that which nourisheth it, and the Elements once out of it, it Transmigrates. 1616 B. JONSON Epigr. cxxxiii. 139 Their spirits transmigrated to a cat. c 1645 HOWELL Lett. (1650) II. 43 I think my soul would transmigrat into some tree, when she bids this body farewell. 1697 COLLIER Ess. Mor. Subj. ii. (1709) 174 Methinks I should be loath to Transmigrate into a Child, or lie in a Cradle, with those few Things I have in my Head. 1883 GILMOUR Mongols 201 Do not souls do not transmigrate, where do they come from at birth, whither do they go at death?

b. trans. (causal). To cause to pass: cf. 1 b.

c 1559 R. HALL Life Sp. Fisher iii. (1655) 32 Luther's Soul was transmigrated into Henry the eighth. 1681 RYCAUT tr. Gracian's Critick 119 The Souls of evil livers, whom God.. had transmigrated into the Bodies of these irrational Creatures. 1876 A. B. GROSART in Wordsworth's Pr. Wks. I. Pref. 33 A monkey with a man's soul somehow transmigrated into it.

c. transf. and fig.

1646 E. G. in M. L[uelyn] Men-Miracles, etc. A v, While the grosse Bodies of the Poets die, Their Souls doe onely shift. (And Poesie Transmigrates, not by chance, or lucke. a 1711 KEN Hymnotheo Poet. Wks. 1721 III. 186 Desire.. To Love transmigrates when it dies. 1834 HT. MARTINEAU Moral iv. 144 The genius of society has before transmigrated through forms as horrid and disgusting as these. 1890 LYNCH Theo. Trin. v. 86 Philosophies die or transmigrate.

Hence Transmigrated, Transmigrating ppl. adjs.

1682 T. FLATMAN Heraclitus Ridens No. 55 (1713) II. 98 Whether our Whigs..are not transmigrated Lice, who thrive and increase most in Houses and among poor People? 1693 DRYDEN Persius' Sat. vi. 22 Who, in a drunken Dream beheld his Soul The Fifth within the Transmigrating roul. 1728 POPE Dunc. III. 49 Who knows how long, thy transmigrating soul Might rest in Bœotian to Boœtian roll! 1754 FOOTE Knights I. Wks. 1799 I. 62 The very abstract of penury! Sir John Cutler, with his transmigrated stockings, was but a type of him. 1898 Westm. Gaz. 28 July 5/2 To consider..more mundane matters, such as the number and characters of the transmigrating houeholds.

Transmigration (trɑnsˌmiɡrēˈʃən, -miˌ-, -z-). [ad. late L. transmigrātiōn-em change of country (in Itala 1 Esdr. vi. 16 the Babylonian Captivity), n. of action from transmigrāre: see prec. Cf. F. transmigration (13th c. in Hatz.-Darm.).]

†1. The removal of the Jews into captivity at Babylon; sometimes used for the Captivity. Obs.

1297 R. GLOUC. (Rolls) 196 þe vifþe [age] was fram dauid to þe transmigracion Of babiloyne. 1382 WYCLIF 1 Chron. v. 22 Thei dwelliden for hem into the transmyrgacioun. 1430–40 LYDG. Bochas iv. iii. (MS. Bodl. 263) 216/2 How God wolde make a transmygracioun Of his kyngdam. 1579 J. STUBBES Gaping Gulf B1, The whole people suffered a transmigration irretorrable in Assiria. 1609 BIBLE (Douay) 2 Kings xxv. 27 In the seven and thirteth yeare of the Transmigration.

†b. transf. The body of transmigrated people; the Jews of the Captivity. Obs.

1609 BIBLE (Douay) Jer. xxviii. 4 Al the transmigration of Juda, that are entered into Babylon, I will make to return. — Ezek. xi. 24 And the spirite caughte me into Chaldee to the transmigration, in a vision in the spirite of God.

2. Passage or removal from one place to another, esp. from one country to another.

1382 WYCLIF Jer. xiii. 19 Translatid is al Juda with parfit transmygracioun [1388 passyng ouere]. 1480 CAXTON Chron. Eng. (1520) 21 b/2 He put Nectanabo the kynge in Ethyopia and many Iewes in transmygracyon. 1534 MORE Com. agst. Trib. iii. Wks. 1237/2 Yf my transmigracion into a straunge countrey shoulde be any great greife vnto me. 1630 T. WESTCOTE Devon. 5 Gentlemen's younger sons, who, by means of their travel and transmigration are very well qualified, apt, and fit to manage great and high offices in the republic. 1796 MORSE Amer. Geog. II. 419 The modern Italians are in a great measure free from..the transmigration of colonies. 1842 WESTCOTT in Life (1903) I. ii. 31 You have heard of my transmigration from Birmingham to Ludlow. 1858 H. W. BEECHER Life TX. (1859) 171 Birds in the hour of transmigration feel the impulse of southern lands. 1875 HADDAN in Dict. Chr. Antiq. I. 226/2 [According to] the author of the tract De Translationibus..the thing prohibited is 'transmigration' (which arises from the bishop himself, from selfish motives), not 'translation' (wherein the will of God and the good of the Church is the ruling cause). 1903 Ardrossan & Saltcoats Herald 1 May 2 The great Teutonic, Hungarian, Tartar, and Mongolian transmigrations.

b. fig. Of non-material things.

1632 LITHGOW Trav. x. 500 Ignoble Gallants..swallow vp the honour of their..Predecessours, with..Gluttony, Lust, and vaine Apparell, making a Transmigration of perpetuity to their present Belly, and Backe. a 1711 KEN Sion Poet. Wks. 1721 IV. 307 Love instantly rejoin! Love from the Lover's Mind, To God still am'rous Transmigrations makes. 1824 MISS FERRIER Inher. xxxiv, That enviable power of mental transmigration, which placed him..quite beyond the influence of her power.

†3. Transition from one state or condition to another; esp. passage from this life, by death; also absol. death. Obs.

1576 FLEMING Panegyl. Epist. 323 His joyful estate of heauen, after his transmigration out of the labyrinth of this life. a 1631 DONNE Serm. lxi. (1640) 613 Enough for thy pilgrimage, enough for thy transmigration, enough for thy eternall habitation. 1695 T. PLUME Life Sp. Hacket (1865) 139 His placid departure, with as gentle a transmigration to happiness as..was ever heard of.

¶ b. Loosely used for transformation or transmutation (cf. transmogrification). Obs.

1618 N. FIELD Amends for Ladies ii. 1. in Hazl. Dodsley XI. 113 The teeth she had Have made a transmigration into hair! She hath a bigger beard than I. 1643 SIR T. BROWNE Relig. Med. i. § 39 Those strange and mysticall transmigrations that I have observed in Silkeworms.

4. spec. Passage of the soul at death into another body; metempsychosis. Also fig.

1594 T. B. La Primaud. Fr. Acad. ii. 527 This Transmigration of Soules they called Regeneration, because it was vnto them as it were a generation and new birth. a 1625 FLETCHER Woman's Prize iv. v, I..know her To be a womanwolf by transmigration. 1634 SIR T. HERBERT Trvs. 38 The Banyans..For they too much detest the slaughter of any creature, though a Louse..Imagining as did Pythagoras, the transmigration of mens soules into other creatures. 1709–10 STEELE Tatler No. 134 P 2 A Discourse on the Transmigration of Men into other Animals. 1890 WESTCOTT Gospel of Life 153 The Myths of Plato will shew us how great an attraction this doctrine of transmigration exerts upon the imagination of men.

5. Path. The migration or passage of cells through a membrane or the wall of a vessel; the oozing of white blood corpuscles through the unruptured walls of the blood-vessels; diapedesis.

1890 BILLINGS Med. Dict., Transmigration, a moving across a limiting membrane or out of a vessel or cavity. 1899 Syd. Soc. Lex., Transmigration, the passage of cells or particles through a membranous septum.

Hence Transmigrationism, the theory or doctrine of transmigration of souls; Transmigrationist, one who holds this doctrine; also attrib. or as adj.

1888 F. W. H. MYERS in Fortn. Rev. Jan. 103 Is Traducianism conceivable?..Are we not driven back on some form of "Transmigrationism"? 1884 Chr. Commonwealth 20 Mar. 545/1 Accessible to the influence of dead and buried Asiatic potentates and "transmigrationists. 1903 F. W. MYERS Hum. Personality II. 267 Both the old traducianist and the old transmigrationist view would thus possess a share of truth.

Transmigrative (trɑnsˌmiɡrēˈtiv, trɑnsˌmoiˈɡrātiv, -z-), a. [f. TRANSMIGRATE v. + -IVE.] Of, pertaining to, or characterized by transmigration; transmigratory.

1727 D'URFEY Eng. Stage Italianized Argt., The Doctor brings the Queen to life by a transmigrative Secret. 1828 G. S. FABER Horæ Mosaicæ I. 147 That Adam, and Enoch, and Noah, were alike transmigrative incarnations of him. 1833 — Reexpit. Apostasy i. 4 Those preëminent mundane patriarchs who were transmigrative reappearances of one and the same great universal father. 1844 — Eight Dissert. (1845) I. 284.

Hence Transmigratively adv., by way of transmigration (of the soul).

1828 G. S. FABER Horæ Mosaicæ II. 202 He himself was afterwards transmigratively born again in the body of his pontifical Successor Buddas-Addas. 1829 — Dispensations (1823) II. 74 Souls do not perish after death but flit transmigratively from one body to another.

Transmigrator (trɑnsˌmiɡrēˈtər, -z-). [f. as prec. + -OR.] One who or that which transmigrates; a transmigrant; a transmigrating spirit.

1743 ELLIS Knowl. Div. Things ii. 122 Whenever we find a People begin to revive in Literature, it was owing..either to some Transmigrators from those Parts coming and settling among them, or else to their going thither for Instruction. 1837 LYTTON Athens II. 63 [Genius] the true spiritual transmigrator—it passes through all shapes, losing identity but not life and kindred to the Great Intelligence which is the Soul of matter.

Transmigratory (trɑnsˌmoiˈɡrātərɪ, -z-), a. [f. as prec. + -ORY[2]: cf. migratory.] Having the quality of transmigrating; of or pertaining to transmigration.

1826 G. S. FABER Orig. Pagan Idol. I. 40 Reappearing.. agreeably to the transmigratory system. Ibid. I. 80 The latter [Noah] was deemed a transmigratory revival of the former [Adam]. 1871 ALABASTER Wheel of Law 90 They are reborn as angels..preparatory to reappearing in their last transmigratory existence as Buddha. 1893 HUXLEY Evolution & Ethics 19 That..each human being has his transmigratory representative.

†Transmigure, v. Obs. rare[−1]. Perversion of TRANSMIGRATE, after transfigure, or F. transmigrer.

1687 WINSTANLEY Lives Eng. Poets 153 The soul of Aristotle was said to have transmigured into Thomas Aquinas.

†Transmiˈse, v. Obs. Also 5–6 -myse. In earliest use in pa. pple. transmised, app. rendering F. pa. pple. transmis, -mise; cf. demise, premise, promise.] trans. To cause to pass or go; to send; = TRANSMIT.

1480 CAXTON Ovid's Met. xiii. vii, Thyder had kynge Priamus transmysed and sent..his sone Polydorus. 1490 — Eneydos xiv. 52 The sonne..shal have transmysed hys thynynge bemes. 1541 R. COPLAND Guydon's Quest. Chirurg. C ij, For the moste parte of the thynges that it (the liver) is composed is fleshely, blody, & therwith ben transmysed dyuers pypes or arteres. 1646 J. HALL Horæ Vac. 53 There being an innate desire in every man, to transmise himself unto posterity.

†Transmiˈss, sb. Obs. exc. Hist. [ad. L. transmiss-us, -um: see next.] A copy of an Irish Bill returned to the Irish Parliament with the king's approval.

1764 Jrnl. Irish Ho. Comm. 11 May, Resolved That no Bill shall pass in this House until a Committee of this House shall compare the Transmiss with the original Heads of a Bill, and report, if any, and what alterations have been made therein, to the House. 1812 in Rep. Comm. Pub. Rec. Irel. (1815) 75 Transmisses of Public and Private Acts of Parliament.—The oldest Transmisses we could yet discover, are of the Reign of Henry VIII.

†Transmiˈss, ppl. a. Obs. rare. [ad. L. transmiss-us, pa. pple. of transmittĕre to TRANSMIT.] Transmitted. (Const. as pa. pple.)

1647 H. MORE Poems 116 Souls..If they shoot out, be they equally transmisse Around this body? Or but upward start? Ibid. 182 Neither Speech nor Language is Where their voice is not transmisse.

†Transmiˈss, v. Obs. rare. [f. L. transmiss-, ppl. stem of transmittĕre to TRANSMIT. It occurs in the pa. pple. transmiss'd, app. representing L. transmissum. Cf. DISMISS.] = TRANSMIT.

a 1643 W. CARTWRIGHT Ordinary iii. v, Any reversions yet? nothing transmiss'd?

Transmissibility (trɑnsˌmisibiˈlĭti, -z-). [f. next + -ITY. Cf. F. transmissibilité (1812 in Hatz.-Darm.).] The quality of being transmissible.

1828 in WEBSTER. 1847–9 Todd's Cyel. Anat. IV. 114/1 The associated pus has in reality nothing to do with the transmissibility of the diseases. 1875 BENNETT & DYER Sachs' Bot. 826 The hereditary transmissibility of acquired characters exhibits itself in a most marked way when it does not affect the whole of the parent-plant, but only a particular branch. 1894 Pall Mall G. 19 Nov. 1/2 He handles the transmissibility question with diffidence.

Transmissible (trɑnsˌmiˈsĭb'l, -z-), a. [f. L. transmiss- (see TRANSMISS v.) + -IBLE. Cf. F. transmissible (16th c. in Hatz.-Darm.), and L. remissibilis, etc.] Capable of being transmitted.

1644 BP. MAXWELL Prerog. Chr. Kings v. 59 It is transmissible to his Successor. 1660 BOYL Scat. Reg. 138 God did declare it transmissible from Adam to the first born. 1798 MALTHUS Popul. iii. 1. (1806) II. 86 Transmissible and contagious disorders. 1869 DR. OF ARGYLL Primeval Man ii. 39 Some varieties do not thus transmissible; domestication, and by constant care in the selection of peculiarities transmissible to the young. 1885 SIR E. FRY in Law Rep. 29 Ch. Div. 283 The right to a grant of administration is not transmissible.

Transmission (trɑnsˌmiˈʃən, -z-). [ad. L. transmissiōn-em, n. of action from transmittĕre to TRANSMIT. Cf. F. transmission (14th c. in Hatz.-Darm.).] The action of transmitting or fact of being transmitted; conveyance from one person or place to another; transference.

1611 FLORIO, Transmissione, a transmission. 1626 BACON Sylva § 2 In the experiment of Transmission of the Sea-water into the Fits, the Water riseth; but in the experiment of transmission of the Water through the Vessel, it falleth. 1759 JOHNSON Idler No. 68 P 2 Alphabetical writing made..the transmission of events more easy and certain. 1802–3 tr. Pallas's Trav. (1812) I. 82 On the transmission of the Black Sea through the Propontis, great part of its shallow banks consequently became a saline steppe. a 1859 DE QUINCEY Posth. Wks. (1891) I. 308 One link in the transmission of the Homeric poems.

b. Physics. Conveyance or passage through a medium, as of light, heat, sound, etc.

1704 NEWTON Opticks (1721) 238 Their Reflexion or Transmission depends on the constitution of the Air and Water behind the Glass. 1815 J. SMITH Panorama Sci. & Art I. 7 Which greatly retards the transmission of the heat. 1834 MRS. SOMERVILLE Connec. Phys. Sc. xvii. 147 The transmission of sound as well as light is impeded in passing through an atmosphere of variable density. 1881 SIR W. ARMSTRONG in Nature 8 Sept. 449/1 To force a transmission of heat from the fire to the water in the boiler.

c. Biol. The transmitting of the peculiar nature, or of some character, of an organism to its descendants; hereditary conveyance.

1871 DARWIN Desc. Man II. xviii. II. 297 Equal transmission of ornamental characters to both sexes. 1880 E. R. LANKESTER Degener. 23 An organism..inherits, that is to say, is born with—the peculiarities of its parents; this is known as Transmission. 1890 Sc. Gossip XXVI. 66 Questions of protective resemblance and hereditary transmission.

d. Mech. Transference of motive force from one place to another; concr. a device for effecting this; spec. short for transmission-gear (see c).

1906 Daily Chron. 28 June 2/7 There are four large and eleven smaller electric motors driving the transmissions. Ibid., Improvements in devices for preventing accidents with transmissions. 1911 WEBSTER, Transmission, ..Horol. the train of a watch, etc.

e. attrib. (chiefly in sense d): transmission-gear, mechanism for transmitting the power of an engine, etc.

1833 BREWSTER Nat. Magic ix. 219 The sound will be partly reflected.., and the direction of the transmission wave changed. 1894 Prospect. Tramway Motor Co. 2 A transmission gear giving a wide range of continuously varying speed and inversely varying tractive effort. 1894 Daily News 3 Nov. 5/3 A large proportion of the sailors paid off there have gladly availed themselves of the transmission scheme. 1901 Scaffolding (ed. J. Black) 60 The endeavour is to dispense with transmission gear between motor and machine constitutes to-day a recognised principle of construction [in cranes]. 1906 Westm. Gaz. 22 Jan. 8/1 The electricity will be conveyed at high pressure to a central spot on the transmission lines. 1908 Ibid. 14 Nov. 14/2 Double universal joints to maintain true alignment between the power- and transmission-shafts.

Hence Transmissionist, one who holds the theory of the hereditary transmission of acquired characters; also attrib.

1900 C. LL. MORGAN Animal Behaviour iii. § 5. 113 It forms a very pretty subject for transmissionists and their critics to quarrel over. Ibid. 114 Let us expand the transmissionist position a little further.

Transmissive (trɑnsˌmiˈsiv, -z-), a. [f. L. transmiss- (see TRANSMISS v.) + -IVE: cf. L. remissivus remissive.]

1. Having the quality or action of transmitting.
1649 G. Daniel Trinarch., Hen. V ccclxxxvi, Harry (who gave more Of fate in his Transmissive veins, then both Could worke) yet wraps the Infant in that Cloth. 1834 Mss. Somerville Connex. Phys. Sc. xxx, 231 The transmissive power of certain substances having a dark colour exceeds by four or five times that of others perfectly diaphanous. 1903 Union Mag. Oct. 437/1 The function of the brain is not 'productive' but 'transmissive' of consciousness.

2. Having the quality of being transmissive.
1700 Prior Carmen Seculare 164 The Sire [may] inculcate to his Son Transmissive Lessons of the King's Renown. 1775 R. Chandler Trav. Greece (1825) II. 152 The native quickness of apprehension, which as if transmissive, .. is inherited from by the lower classes of the people. 1802-12 Bentham Ration. Judic. Evid. (1827) I. 68 Modifications of the genus of transmitted or transmissive evidence. 1889 L. P. Mercer New Birth (1890) 74 Transmissive dispositions and proclivities to evil, coming down a long line of tainted ancestry.

Hence Transmi·ssively adv., by way of transmission; Transmi·ssiveness.
1882 Sir W. Armstrong in Nature 8 Sept. 451/2 There will be a limit to the distance to which electricity may be profitably conveyed, but within that limit there will be ample scope for its employment transmissively. 1889 Home Missionary (N.Y.) Sept. 220 The aim is transmissiveness of the divine motive power.

Transmissory (trɑns,mi·sori,-z-), a. rare. [f. as prec. + -ORY²: cf. promissory.] = Transmissive 1.
1883 W. A. Butler in J. C. Butler Bible Work II. 235 Titles [of the Holy Spirit] which impress how truly his function is transmissory of perfections that dwell in Christ.

Transmit (trɑns,mi·t, -z-), v. [ad. L. transmittĕre, f. L. Trans- + mittĕre to send.]
1. trans. To cause (a thing) to pass, go, or be conveyed to another person, place, or thing; to send across an intervening space; to convey, transfer.
a 1400-50 Alexander 4335 Nouthire to tolyn ne to taunde transmitte we na webbis, to wrongis nane violre nevrtaint littis. 1544 Coverdale Let. to C. Hubert Wks. (Parker Soc.) II. 509 Take care..that they be transmitted to me with the paper of Cephalieus. 1612 Daniel Wiliy Irel., etc. (1717) 124 From this time forward shall the 1 year of King John..there was no army transmitted out of England to finish the Conquest. 1644 Milton Areop. (Arb.) 46 That Eusebian book of Evangelick preparation transmitting our sense through a board of heathenish propositions, to receive the Gospel. 1701 Penn in Pa. Hist. Soc. Mem. IX. 77 Hasten in my rents and debts, and transmit them with all possible speed. 1849 Macaulay Hist. Eng. iii. 1. 376 The expense of transmitting heavy goods in this way was enormous. 1880 C. R. Markham Peruv. Bark iii. 273 They merely transmitted my letter to the Secretary of State, without any recommendation.

b. intr. (for refl.) To pass to the heirs.
1903 H. Goudy in Eng. Legal Hist. of Conv. Hist. Stud. 208 Where..a delictal action was not strictly penal..it transmitted both actively and passively. Ibid. 218 In contracts the right of action almost invariably transmitted both to the heirs of the creditor and against the heirs of the debtor.

2. fig. To convey or communicate (usually something immaterial) to another or others; to pass on, esp. by inheritance or heredity; to hand down.
1629 Burton Truth's Triumph 91 This word of faith.. wee shall transmit and conuay it, euen vnto posterity. 1651 Hobbes Leviath. III. xlii. 267 His Apostles..transmitted the same Spirit by Imposition of hands. 1708 Swift Spirit. Tithes v. 234 The House of Lords..had this power transmitted solely to them exclusive of the House of Commons. 1738 in Neiirne Pieruyge Bohl. (1874) 42 The said John Nairne..is likewise wilfully disabled to take transmit or inherit any real or personal estate. 1828 Duppa Trav. Italy, etc. 84 A glowing diffusion of light, of which Claude's finest pictures transmit but a faint resemblance. 1862 Stanley Jewi. Ch. (1877) I. xiii. 44 Samuel..had actually transmitted the office by hereditary succession to his sons. 1910 Morning Post 28 June 3/7 Capacity for milk-production, for early maturity (etc.) are definitely fixed, and definitely transmitted from good sires.

3. Physics and Mech. To cause (light, heat, sound, etc.) to pass through a medium; also, of a medium, to allow (light, etc.) to pass through; to conduct. Also, to convey (force or movement) from one part of a body, or of mechanism, to another. Also fig.
1664 Power Exp. Philos. I. 26 View her with a full light transmitted through a Burning-glass. 1751 Johnson Rambler No. 156 P 2 Like light transmitted from room to room, in Auckland Corr. (1862) III. 313 Imagination transmits some rays of your comfort at Beckenham to my pensive thoughts. 1831 Lardner Pneumatics iv. 267 It is the nature of a fluid to transmit pressure equally in every direction. 1843 Hy. Martyn Characters Greek iv. 54 How ..the atmosphere, in its now approaching state, becomes incapable of transmitting sound to any distance. 1844 Parnell Chem. Anal. (1845) 29 Hydrosulphate of ammonia is prepared by transmitting sulphuretted hydrogen gas through solution of ammonia. 1862 Catal. Internat. Exhib. II. xii. 2 The motion of the handle on deck is transmitted..by means of a series of shaftings and tooth-wheels. 1866 Roscoe Elem. Chem. (1872) 275 Gold..in thin films, transmits green light. 1878 Huxley Physiogr. 171 The motion is transmitted from particle to particle, to a great distance.

Hence Transmi·tted ppl. a.; Transmi·tting vbl. sb. and ppl. a.
1682 R. Fleming Fulfilling Script. (1801) I, 430 Study the transmitting of truth and godliness. 1796 Kirwan Elem. Min. (ed. 2) I. 271 By reflected light, blackish brown; but, by transmitted light, yellowish. 1800 Herschel in Phil. Trans. XC. 458, I tried the transmitting capacity of the glass, by exposing it with the rough side towards the sun, over one of the transmitting holes of the apparatus. 1869 Haddon Apost. Succ. iii. (1879) 56 The Church..has been held together compactly by the very fact of its transmitted orders. 1876 Preece & Sivewright Telegraphy 137 The battery which is connected to..the transmitting portion of the apparatus.

Transmit (trɑns,mit, -z-), sb. rare. [f. prec. vb.; cf. Permit sb.] An act of transmitting; an order of transmission. Also attrib., as transmit warrant, a warrant authorizing transmission.
1679 Br. of Derry in Essex Papers (Camden) I. 26 That yor Excellcy may not judge me heedless of our transmit to ye King before my leaving Dublin. 1741 W. Wilson Contn. Def. Reform. Princ. Ch. Scot. (1769) 407 Their petition could not get the common right of a transmit to the assembly. 1908 Daily Chron. 12 May 1/5 The Court signed a transmit warrant for the conveyance of Mrs. Cleary to Claremorris, and she left with the police escort yesterday.

Transmittable (trɑns,mi·tăbˈl, -z-), a. rare. Also less correctly -ible. [f. as prec. + -ABLE; cf. Admittable.] That may be transmitted; transmissible. In quot. 1655, † capable of being 'thrown' across.
1651 Cotgrave, Transmittable, Transmittable. 1655 Mag. Worcester Cent. Inv. § 73 A transmittible Gallery over any Ditch or Breach in a Town-wall. 1882 F. Darwin in Nature 20 Apr. 581/2 A heliotropic stimulus is transmittable from one part of an organ to another. 1889 Pall Mall G. 1 Aug. 6 A virulent, contagious and transmittable disease.

Transmittal (trɑns,mi·tăl, -z-). rare. [f. as prec. + -AL.] The action of transmitting; transmission.
Letter of transmittal, an official letter in which the recipient is informed that certain documents are transferred to his custody. U. S.
1724 Swift Drapier's Lett. vii, The prodigious profit which England receives by the transmittal thither of two thirds of the revenues of this whole Kingdom. 1813 Brand's Pop. Antiq. I. Pref. 7 In the transmittal of vulgar rites and popular opinions. 1904 Athenæum 18 June 788/1 The letter of transmittal..is dated July 1st, 1899.

Trans,mi·ttance. rare. [f. as prec. + -ance; cf. admittance.] The action of transmitting; transmission.
1895 in H. Clarke Eng. Dict.; and in later Dicts.

Trans,mi·ttant, rare⁻¹. [irreg. f. Transmit v. or L. transmittĕre + -ant. (L. analogy would give transmittent*).] One who transmits; an official transmitter.
1855 Milman Lat. Chr. xiv. II. 406 The transmittants, the sole transmittants, of those graces and blessings which emanate from Christ.

Transmitter (trɑns,mi·tər, -z-). [f. Transmit v. + -er ¹.] 1. One who or that which transmits.
1797 Encyc. Britann. I 81 Lines to build, not boat a generous Race: No Tenth Transmitter of a foolish Face. 1775 Johnson Tax. no Tyr. 73 The transmitters of wrong. 1822 New Monthly Mag. V, 427 [Not] the inventor, but merely the 'transmitter' of a jest. 1894 L. Stephen Hours in Library (1892) II. I. 6 The great bulk of mankind are transmitters rather than originators of spiritual force. 1904 Brit. Med. Jrnl. 17 Sept. 672 The stegomyia fasciata (the transmitter of yellow fever).

2. phys. That part of a telegraphic or telephonic apparatus by means of which messages are transmitted or dispatched; a transmitting instrument: opposed to Receiver 7.
Also, the part of a stethoscope which transmits the sounds to the ear of the operator (quot. 1901).
1876 Preece & Sivewright Telegraphy 257 The chief faults which are met with in the Transmitter are broken spiral springs and chains, or loose adjusting screws. 1878 G. B. Prescott Sp. Telephone (1879) 9 The tone transmitter ..connected by a metallic conductor with the tone receiver.. at the distant station. 1888 Pall Mall G. 29 May 1/2 The operator sits watching at his transmitter on the Downs, while another attends in breathless expectation at the instrument in the Haymarket. 1889 Preece & Maier Telephone 97 In the transmitter is the instrument into which the words are spoken. 1901 Munsey's Mag. XXIV. 522/2 Dr. Schmuetzer placed the stethoscope over his heart,.. with the rubber transmitters stuck in his ears. 1902 Sloane Electr. Dict., Transmitter, in general electric parasiology any instrument which produces signals to be transmitted through a line or circuit..Thus the Morse key in telegraphy or the Blake transmitter in telephony are examples.

c. attrib.
1876 Preece & Sivewright Telegraphy 129 Fig. 90..contains a plan of the transmitter switch. 1892 Pall Mall G. 27 Apr. 7/2 A phonoporic receiver will not be actuated by impulses whose speed is regulated by a transmitter reed tuned to 304 diffs note from its own. 1904 Electr. Wkr. & Engin. 21 May 987 To overcome this difficulty [of being overheard by persons near] a transmitter hood has been patented. This is a metallic box adapted to be fastened upon the transmitter.

Transmittible, var. form of Transmittable.

† Trans,mo·dify, v. Obs. rare⁻¹. [f. Trans- 2 + Modify.] trans. To modify in transmission.
a 1774 Tucker Lit. Nat. (1834) II. 673 Squibs of witticism, stolen and transmodified from the storehouse of philosophy.

Transmogrify (trɑns,mɒ·grifəi), v. vulgar or humorous. Also 7-9 -mography, -mography, -mogripby, 8 -migrafy, -mugrify. [Origin uncertain: see Note below.] trans. To alter or change in form or appearance; to transform, metamorphose (utterly, grotesquely, or strangely).
1656 S. Holland Zara vi. (1719) 33 So that he remained for a time as one trans-elemented. [Note] Meaning transmografide, or metamorphosed into a Mandrake. 1671 Mas. Behn Amorous Prince iii. iii, I wou'd Love would transmogriphy me to a maid now. 1688 Shadwell Sqr. Alsatia iii. 1. 30, I know I am Transmography'd; but I am your very Brother, Ned. 1725 New Cant. Dict., Transmogrify, or rather Transmigrafy. 1728 Fielding Love in Sev. Masques v. iv. 68, I begin to think..that some wicked Enchanters have transmograbified my Dulcinea. 1736 tr. Ruggle's Ignoramus iii. 35 I'll go put on my other Dress, and be transmogrify'd to Dulman. 1751 Warburton Lett. (1809) 85 The first volume of the Divine Legation..is so transmogrified that you will hardly know it again. 1753 Smollett Ct. Fathom xxiv, Thou art so transmogrified, and bedaubed, and bedizened. 1786 Burns Addr. Unco Guid v, Social life and Glee sit down,..Till quite transmogrify'd, they're grown Debauchery and Drinking. 1844 Blackw. Mag. LVI. 777 By proper clipping and pruning..an ingenious editor might transmogrify these simple epistles into the philippics of Junius. a 1888 Mary Howitt Autobiog. (1889) II. 278 It was transmogrified by the addition of two storeys and a flat roof.

b. To astonish utterly, confound. dial.
1887 P. M'Neill Blawearie 84 We..made our way home and are quite transmogrified to find everything so outrageously transformed. 1888 Berks. Glouc. (B.D.S.), Transmogrified,..surprised, greatly astonished.

[Note. If the original form was (as suggested in quot. 1725) transmigrafy, this may have been a vulgar or uneducated formation in -fy from Transmigrate, or Transmigrate vb. (cf. Transmigration 3 b). Apparently, it was originally persons that were † transmografied †, or metamorphosed.]

Hence Transmo·grified, Transmo·grifying ppl. adjs.; also Transmo·grification (-fikăˈʃən), the action of transmogrifying, (strange or grotesque) transformation; Transmo·grifier (-fəi,əɹ), one who transmogrifies.
1661 K. W. Conf. Charac., Hide-Parke Lady (1860) 58 It must march at least thrice to the botchers for *transmogrification. 1694 Motteux Rabelais v. ii. 6 The Transmogrification of the Macrobian Children into Swans. a 1898 Sir G. G. Scott Recoll. i. (1899) 47 The Tower..has undergone strange transmogrifications. c 1832 Mrs. Sherwood in Life xxx. (1847) 529 We were led..over our *transmogrophied terrace. 1842 Barham Ingol. Leg. Ser. II. St. Aloys, The transmogrified Pagan perform'd his vow. 1696 Poor Robin's Intell. 13-20 June 2/1 A notable feed between a Translator of Shooes and a *Transmogrifier of Garments, that is to say betwixt a Cobler and a Botcher. 1841 Fraser's Mag. XXIII. 338 Other transmogrifiers and parodists of ancient architecture. 1832 J. P. Kennedy Swallow B. xliii, It [love] is the most *transmogrifying passion. 1904 Longm. Mag. Dec. 149 The transmogrifying process is being carried out only too rapidly.

Transmontane (trɑnsmɒ·ntein, -mɒntĕˈn), a. [In quot. c 1400 in OF. transmontane adj. and sb., altered form of tramontane, pole-star, north pole, also transmontanie north wind (Godef.); in later use ad. L. transmontānus: see Tramontane.]
1. Dwelling or situated beyond, or on the other side of, the mountains; = Tramontane A. 1. a. From the Italian point of view: North of the Alps.
1727 Bailey vol. II, Transmontane, dwelling or growing beyond the Mountains. 1826 K. Digby Broadst. Hon. ii. Tancredus (1846) II. 20 The Britons, English, and other transmontane people. 1839 Fraser's Mag. LVI. 503 The proud citizens of Rome witnessed with indignation the influx of a crowd of transmontane artists. 1880 J. Nichol Byron viii. 239 To abandon their transmontane plans, and agree to take up their head-quarters at Pisa.

b. In reference to other mountains, e.g. the Grampians in Scotland, the Rocky Mountains in N. America, the Blue Mountains in N. S. Wales. Also of traffic, across or over the mountains.
1884 Science 22 Feb. 220/1 Keeping back the migration, in order to monopolize this transmontane commerce. 1890 R. Boldrewood Col. Reformer (1892) 124 The transmontane towns. 1897 D. L. Leonard in Pop. Mission (N.Y.) Jan. 450 Just now [1892-6] it was that the entire transmontane region was added to the Union. 1900 W. Watt Aberdeen & Banff. 4 The northern or transmontane Picts.

† 2. Transmontane star, pole-star, = transmontane, the north pole-star; = Tramontane B. 1. Obs.
c 1400 Maundev. (1839) xvii. 180 In þat lond, ne in many othere beyonde þat, noman may see the sterre transmontane, ..þat wee cleepen the lode-sterre. Ibid., The sterre þat is cleept the transmontanyne. Ibid. 182 Alsen þat transmontanyne is the toper sterre, þat is cleept Antarysyes.

Hence † Transmonta·nian a. Obs. rare⁻¹, of or pertaining to the non-Italian section of the Roman Church: cf. Transalpine 1 c.
1624 T. Scott Aphorisms of State 8 Carion, Auentine, Cuspinianus, and other Transmontanian Writings.

Transmorphism (trɑnsmɒ·fizˈm). rare⁻¹. [f. Trans- + Gr. μορφή form + -ism: cf. Metamorphism.] Transformation of one thing into another, as in the process of evolution.
1888 Shorey in Amer. Jrnl. Philol. IX. 217 The Democriteans evolve the higher from the lower by the operation of chance. .. We will..substitute for the guess of transmorphism the assertion of a metaschematism intentionally devised for ethical ends.

Trans,mou·ld, v. [f. Trans- 2 + Mould *v.*²] trans. To mould into another form or shape.
1855 Pusey Doctr. Real Presence Note Q. 218 It seemed good to..the Maker of all things, to transmould (μετάβαλεν) the living creature to incorruption. 1860 — Min. Proph. 239 God is all-powerful, and transmoulds easily the nature of things which are, to what He willeth.

† Trans,mou·nt, v. Obs. rare. [f. Trans- 2 + Mount v.] trans. To surmount; to pass over or across by mounting.
1600 Holland Livy xliii. xx. 1168 These embassadours having transmounted the top of the hill Scordus. 1601 — Pliny viii. lviii. I. 223 The wild Asses [never] transmount that hill which devideth Cappadocia from Cilicia.

† Trans,mo·ve, v. Obs. rare⁻¹. [In form, f. Trans- 2 + Move v., but in quot., app. mistakenly, used for transmeue, -mewe, -myeue, early forms of TRANSMEW, TRANSMUE, and rimed with love, prove.] trans. To transform, transmute, 'transmew'.

1590 SPENSER F. Q. III. xi. 43 Saturne..That to a Centaure did him selfe transmoue.

Transmue: see TRANSMEW.

Transmundane (trænsmʌ·ndēn), a. [f. TRANS- 3 + L. mund-us world: cf. mundane.] That is or lies beyond the world.

1777 J. RICHARDSON Dict. Persian, Arab., etc., Dissert. 29/1 Every ingenious critic may then, like Archimedes of old, require only some transmundane station on which to rear his engines; in order to shake to pieces the reason of man. 1859 G. MEREDITH R. Feverel iii, One of the most ancient theories of transmundane dominion and influence on mundane affairs. 1899 W. JAMES Talks to Teachers on Psychol. 24 Whatever of transmundane metaphysical insight..we may carry.

Transmural (trænsmiū·răl), a. [f. TRANS- 3 + L. mūr-us wall: cf. mural.] That is beyond a wall or walls; spec. beyond the Roman Wall.

1851 D. WILSON Preh. Ann. (1863) II. iii. ii. 67 Within the transmural province. 1911 Edin. Rev. Apr. 488 With the fourth century this transmural area was lost.

Tra·ns-mu·scle. [TRANS- 6.] A crossing or transverse muscle.

1836-9 Todd's Cycl. Anat. II. 956/2 We have seen similar trans-muscles lying above the membrane.

Transmutability (trænsmiūtăbĭ·lĭtĭ, -z-). [f. next: see -ITY. Cf. med.L. transmūtābilitās (Aquinas, a 1274), It. trasmutabilità (Florio, 1611), F. transmutabilité (Dict. Acad., 1762).] The quality of being transmutable; susceptibility of being changed into something else.

1611 FLORIO, Transmutabilita, transmutability. 1669 W. SIMPSON Hydrol. Chym. 60 The transmutability of one salt into another. 1879 tr. De Quatrefages' Hum. Spec. 38 A variability which I fully accept, has nothing in common with the transmutability of Lamarck, Geoffroy, and Darwin. 1905 Speaker 26 Aug. 499/1 In chemistry..transmutability has survived merely as a wild and hopeless surmise.

Transmutable (trænsmiū·tăbĭl, -z-), a. [ad. med.L. transmūtābilis (Albertus Magnus, a 1250), f. L. transmūt-āre to TRANSMUTE: cf. mutable.] Capable of being transmuted or changed into something else.

1460-70 Jh. Quintessence 1.14 Oure 5-essencie is pe instrument of alle vertues of ling transmutable if pei be put in it, encreessynge an hundrid foold her worchings. 1545 RAYNOLD Byrth Mankynde 20 By contynuall circulation of the matter transmutable, she may bryngs her pourpose to passe. 1652 NEEDHAM Yorksh. Spa ii. 6 All Elements are mutually transmutable into one the other. 1731 Hist. Litteraria II. 379 Animal Substances are..more easily transmutable into animal Juices than vegetable. 1879 tr. De Quatrefages' Hum. Spec. 39 Lamarck, Geoffroy, Darwin and his school, consider the species not only as variable but as transmutable. 1896 Buffalo (U. S.) Current Hist. VI. 3 note, Professor Dewar and others have shown the X rays to be transmutable into luminous rays affecting the eye.

† b. Liable to change, changeable, mutable. c 1430 LYDG. Min. Poems (Percy Soc.) 197 The world unsuyr, fortune transmutable. 1509 HAWES Conv. Swearers v. Worldly rychesse is often transmutable. 1509 — Past. Pleas. xiii. (Percy Soc.) 51 Thy nothing thynke on fortune variable, Whyche al theyr ryches shal make transmutable.

Hence Transmu·tably adv., in a transmutable manner; Transmu·tableness, transmutability.

1666 BOYLE Orig. Formes & Qual. 1. ii, Some learned modern naturalists have conjectured at the easy transmutableness of water. 1680 — Prodrom. Chem. Princ. v. 265 The Aristotelian Hypothesis, of the transmutableness of what they call Elements. 1736 BAILEY (folio), Transmutably, in a manner capable of being chang'd.

Transmutant (trænsmiū·tănt, -z-). Math. [ad. L. transmūtant-em, pr. pple. of transmūtāre to TRANSMUTE.] (See quot.)

1858 CAYLEY Math. Papers II. 515 We may say that the function obtained by replacing..the facients of a covariant or contravariant by the first derived functions of a contravariant or covariant is a Transmutant of the first-mentioned covariant or contravariant.

† Trans·mutate, ppl. a. Obs. [ad. L. transmūtāt-us, pa. pple. of transmūtāre to TRANSMUTE.] Transmuted. (Const. as pa. pple.)

1432-50 tr. Higden (Rolls) II. 343 Iupiter..putte her in a schippe in whom he had a bulle depicte, wherefore poetes feyne Iupiter to be transmutate in to the similitude of a bulle. 1668 BAXTER Dying Th. (1830) 156 As if the fiery part of the candle were annihilated or transmutate,..when the candle goeth out; and were not fire, and in action still.

† Trans·mutate, v. Obs. rare. [f. ppl. stem of L. transmūtāre to TRANSMUTE: see -ATE 3.] trans. = TRANSMUTE I.

1632 LITHGOW Æneid v. 140 Here fortune her faire face first transmutated. 1659 STANLEY Hist. Philos. IV. (1687) 550/2 Solid Bodies, whose Elements are four, Fire, Water, Air, Earth; of all which, transmutated, and totally changed, the World consists. 1659 Ibid. xi. 763/1 By immixture of some small thing to be transmutated.

Transmutation (trænsmiūtē·ʃŏn, -z-). [a. F. transmutation (12th c. Hatz.-Darm.), or ad. late L. transmūtātiōn-em, n. of action from transmūtāre to change, shift, TRANSMUTE.] The action or process of transmuting or changing; the fact or condition of being transmuted or changed.

1. Change of condition; mutation; sometimes implying alternation or exchange. Obs. or arch.

c 1380 WYCLIF Sel. Wks. II. 297 Pus seiþ James, þat at God is not transmutacioun. c 1384 CHAUCER H. Fame III. 879 Of dyvers transmutacions Of estates and eke of Regions. 1398 — Fortune 1 This wreched worlde transmutacion As wele and [v.r. or] woo, nowe poure and nowe honour. c 1449 PECOCK Repr. I. xviii. 107 In lengthe of tyme ful greet transmutacioun and chaunge is alway maad in and aboute the circumstaunciis of politik governaunciis. c 1450 Mankind iii. 903 in Macro Plays 34 Thynke and remembyr, pat worldys but a wanite, as yt ys prowyd daly by diijuerse transmutacyon. 1570 FOXE A. & M. (ed. 2) 169/1 Busy you to purchase place that ever shal endure in joy without transmutation. 1851 LONGF. Gold. Leg. III. 274 The constant change and transmutation Of action and of contemplation.

2. Change of one thing into another; conversion into something different; alteration, transformation. Also with a and pl. a case or instance of this.

1398 TREVISA Barth. De P. R. XIX. I. (xxxiii. in Bodl. MS. ff. 302 b/2), pese may not be passinge transmutacion and chaunginge for here is defauie of hete & of humoure. 1412-20 LYDG. Chron. Troy I. 58 That a sodeyn transmutacioun Was made of amptis to forme of men anon. 1545 RAYNOLD Byrth Mankynde 20 When that matter is dysposed to make a transmutation of any matter. 1594 PLAT Jewell-ho. III. 65 Alterations, transmutations, & sometimes euen real transubstantiations of white wine into Claret. 1692 BENTLEY Boyle Lect. I. 229 The supposed change of Worms into Flies is no real transmutation. 1725 tr. Dupin's Eccl. Hist. 7th C. I. vi. iii. 237 He [Calvin] attacks Transubstantiation. He acknowledges that some of the Ancients made use of the word Transmutation. 1782 PRIESTLEY Corrupt. Chr. II. vi. 7 It is too early..for..the transmutation of the bread and wine. 1879 tr. De Quatrefages' Hum. Spec. 9 Here..is no transmutation of force similar to that in a machine worked by electricity or heat. 1896 Dr. ARGYLL Philos. Belief 69 The inconceivable power of transmutation exerted by that which we call life.

3. spec. a. Alch. The (supposed or alleged) conversion of one element or substance into another, esp. of a baser metal into gold or silver. Also allusively.

1478 Coventry Leet Bk. 422 To practise a true and a profitable conclusion in the Cunynge of transmutacion of metalls. 1605 TIMME Quersit. III. 183 Alchymie..ordereth and finisheth the transmutations of things. 1750 JOHNSON Rambler No. 63 ¶ 7 Not one appears to have desisted from the trade of transmutation, from the conviction of its impossibility. 1812 SIR H. DAVY Chem. Philos. 11 The processes supposed to relate to the transmutation of metals, and the elixir of life. 1872 YEATS Techn. Hist. Comm. 413 Alchemy, or the transmutation of metals, was virtually the parent of the modern science of chemistry.

b. Law. Transfer: usually Transmutation of possession, transfer or change of ownership.

1488-9 Act 4 Hen. VII, c. 4 An Acte for the passing and transmutacion of landes without Fyne. Ibid., Such personnes..shall nowe lawfully make thereof feoffmentes and transmutacion of possession by dede or dedis..without eny fyne for the said feoffement or transmutacion of possession. 1602 FULBECKE 1st Pt. Parallel 33 He held that in euery exchange there must be a mutuall transmutation of the possession. 1818 CRUISE Digest (ed. 2) II. 258, IV. 149. 1876 DIGBY Real Prop. vi. 292 In these cases uses are said to be created by a conveyance operating by way of transmutation of possession: that is, they accompany one of the recognised modes of conveying the seisin at common law—feoffment, fine, or recovery.

† c. Rhet. Transferred use of a word; metonymy. Obs. rare.

1553 T. WILSON Rhet. 93 Transmutacion helpeth much for varietie, the whiche is when one woorde hath a proper signification of the owne, and beyng referred to an other thyng, hath an other meanyng.

† d. = TRANSMIGRATION 4. Obs. rare—[1].

1594 R. ASHLEY tr. Leys le Roy 68 b, The transmutation of soules from bodie to bodie.

† e. Her. = COUNTERCHANGING. Cf. TRANSMUTED b. Obs.

1610 GUILLIM Heraldry II. 243 Counter-changing or Transmutation is an Enterimixture of seuerall Metals or Colours, both in Field and Charge, occasioned by the apposition of some one or moe lines of partition.

f. Biol. Conversion or transformation of one species into another; spec. applied to the form of evolution or development propounded by Lamarck (1815–22). Also attrib.

1626 BACON Sylva § 325 The Transmutation of Plants, one into another, is inter Magnalia Naturæ: for the Transmutation of Species is, in the vulgar philosophy, pronounced Impossible: .. but seeing there appear some manifest Instances of it, the Opinion of Impossibilitie is to bee rejected. 1691 RAY Creation II. (1692) 97 The most that can be inferred from hence is a transmutation of Species. 1722 WOLLASTON Relig. Nat. IX. 194 Transmutation of one species into another. 1859 PAGE Handbk. Geol. Terms, Transmutation, a term adopted by Lamarck and his followers to express their hypothetical views of the derivation of existing species from preceding species, by slow and gradual Transmutations of one form of organisation into another. 1863 LYELL Antiq. Man 1. 3 Recent modifications of the Lamarckian theory of progressive development and transmutation. 1879 tr. De Quatrefages' Hum. Spec. 90 Their ideas may be arranged in two principal groups according as their authors favour a rapid or a gradual transmutation.

g. Math. † (a) = PERMUTATION 3 b (obs.). (b) = TRANSFORMATION 3 c (rare or obs.).

1674 TEARE Arith. (1696) 576 Transmutation..serveth to show what Number of Changes may be made by any Number of..things in their Places or Positions. 1743 EMERSON Fluxions 1. 52 The first and all the following Forms relate to the Transmutation of Fluxions.

4. attrib., as transmutation doctrine, theory; transmutation glaze, trade name of a porcelain glaze having a changeable iridescent lustre.

1860 HUXLEY Lay Serm. xiii. (1870) 306 The so-called 'transmutation' hypothesis considers that all existing species are the result of the modification of pre-existing species, and those of their predecessors, by agencies similar to those which at the present day produce varieties and races. 1876 tr. Haeckel's Hist. Creat. I. i. 4 The theory which, through Darwin, has been placed at the head of all our knowledge of nature, is usually called the Doctrine of Filiation, or the Theory of Descent. Others term it the Transmutation Theory.

Hence Trans,muta·tional a., of or pertaining to transmutation, esp. in sense 3 f.

1861 WILSON & GIRKIE Mem. E. Forbes ii. 47, I can find no room, however, for transmutational ingenuity in writing of Edward Forbes. 1907 Edin. Rev. Jan. 31 The crude transmutational theory.

Trans,muta·tionist. [f. prec. + -IST.] One who believes in or advocates a theory of transmutation, esp. that of the transmutation of species in organic nature; a transformist. Also attrib.

It might also be, and prob. has been, applied to one believing in the transmutation of metals: an explanation given in Dictionaries from Worcester onward.

1844 Monthly Rev. Mar. 384 It is the doctrine of the Transmutationists. 1847 DARWIN in Life & Lett. (1887) I. 355 You have introduced several sentences against the Transmutationists. 1850 Fraser's Mag. XLII. 368 The author of the Vestiges, like the older transmutationists, assumes the mammals of the sea as the ancestors of the mammals of the land. 1866 Reader 20 Feb. 153/2 Owen..pleads..strongly and manfully in favour of the transmutationist doctrine. 1909 Q. Rev. Oct. 421 When Darwin first propounded his doctrine of descent..there were few 'transmutationists'.

Transmutative (trænsmiū·tătĭv, -z-), a. [ad. med.L. transmūtātīv-us (Albertus Magnus Metaphys., a 1255), f. L. transmūtāt-, ppl. stem of transmūtāre to TRANSMUTE: see -IVE.] Having the quality of transmuting; tending to transmute; characterized by transmutation.

1611 SPEED Hist. Gt. Brit. IX. vi. (1623) 502 The great Elixar..hath so transmutative a faculty, as to make Copper seeme Gold. 1781 Westm. Mag. IX. 73 A kind of coagulation which may be called transmutative. 1848 SMITH Moneyed Man III. ii. 50 How little do we mark the effects of Time in ourselves; how suddenly and deeply are we struck by its transmutative touch in others. 1865 GROTE Plato I. L. 5 A generative, motive, or transmutative force.

Trans,muta·tory, a. rare—[1]. [f. ppl. stem of L. transmūtāre: see next and -ORY.] = prec.

1626 DONNE Serm. (1661) III. 323 Love is..a transmutatory Affection, it changes him that loves, into the very nature of that that he loves.

Transmute (trænsmiū·t, -z-), v. Pa. pple. transmuted, also 5–6 transmute. [ad. L. transmūtā-re, f. TRANS- + mūtāre to change.

(Occurs first as variant in MSS. of Chaucer's works.)

1. trans. To alter or change in nature, properties, appearance, or form; to transform, convert, turn.

14.. Chaucer's Troylus iv. 959 (46) (MS. Cg. 4. 27) Pu muste me fyrst transmute [v.r. transmuwen] in to a ston. (24.. Chaucer's Clerk's T. 329 (Lansd. MS.) Vnneþ be peple hire knewe for hire faireness Whan sche transmute was in suche rechesse.) 1494 FABYAN Chron. vi. 149 The Emperour hauyng compassion of the forenamyd Barnarde, ..transmutyd the sentence of deth vnto perpetuyte of prysON, & losynge of his syght. 1545 RAYNOLD Byrth Mankynde 20 Yf the matter, by whome that luyce of meat, before of colour white, is transmutyd into red. 1583 MELBANCKE Philotimus D d iv, When Io was transmute of Ioue into an Hefars forme. 1660 SHARROCK Vegetables 89 The colour only or some other easily iterable accidents..are transmuted. 1871 TYNDALL Fragm. Sc. (1879) I. x. 310 To transmute its energy..into vibratory motion. 1890 Century Mag. May 48/2 The tendency of black plumage to become transmuted into white is a familiar..fact in breeding.

b. Alch. To change (one substance) into another, esp. a baser metal into gold or silver. Hence allusively. Also absol.

1610 DONNE Pseudo-martyr 94 By a new Alchimy, they doe not onely extract spirit out of euery thing, but transmute it all into spirit. a 1661 FULLER Worthies, Worc. III. (1662) 173 He is said to have transmuted a brass warming-pan (..onely warming it by the fire, and putting the Elixir thereon) into pure silver. 1750 JOHNSON Rambler No. 51 ¶ 11 Some alchymists have obstinately suppressed the art of transmuting metals. 1818 MRS. SHELLEY Frankenst. ii. (1865) 51 Metals cannot be transmuted. 1870 M. D. CONWAY Earthw. Pilgr. i. 29 You will find the pavements golden only when you can transmute them to gold.

† c. intr. for pass. To undergo transmutation; to change or turn into something else. Obs. rare—[1].

1675 G. R. tr. Le Grand's Man without Passion 139 His Strength transmutes into Temerity.

† 2. trans. To remove from one place to another; to transport. [So late L. transmūtāre.] Obs. rare.

a 1700 Life & Death Ld. Shaftsbury in Harl. Misc. (1810) V. 372 His malady..that might transmute his soul into that endless happiness, which he had been so long labouring for. 1817 MRS. EDGEWORTH Ormond xxx, I was transmuted to Dublin, to be..lodged in Kilmainham.

Hence Transmu·ting vbl. sb. and ppl. a.

1579 FULKE Heskins' Parl. 155 Though we take the word of transuming for changing, turning, transmuting, or transelementing,..yet meane they not change of one substance into another. 1594 PLAT Jewell-ho. I. 45 The earth..by her inwarde heate and transmuting nature..will conuert [etc.]. 1846 TRENCH Mirac. I. (1862) 99 An ennobling of the common, and a transmuting of the mean. 1864 MUSGRAVE Ten Days to Fr. Parsonage II. v. 150 Efforts..made to employ public education of the poor as a transmuting power.

Transmuted (trænsmiū·tĕd, -z-), ppl. a. [f.

prec. + -ED 1.] Changed in form or nature; altered; transformed.

1749 JOHNSON Van. Hum. Wishes ad fin., Patience, sov'reign o'er transmuted ill. 1805-6 CARY Dante's Inf. XXIX. 35 Who forged transmuted metals by the power Of alchemy. 1871 TYNDALL Fragm. Sc. (1879) II. IX. 183 Its matter is for the most part transmuted gas.

† b. Her. Of a charge on a field of two tinctures: Having the tinctures of the field reversed; = COUNTERCHANGED. Obs.

1486 Bk. St. Albans, Her. f.ij, He berith quarterly Sable and Siluer with a Cheueron of the sayd colowris transmuted. 1572 BOSSEWELL Armorie II. 99, I terme these lyons transmuted because ye lyon first placed in ye fielde, is Sable, in Or, and the other is Or, in Sable. c 1828 in BERRY Encycl. Her. I. Gloss.

Transmuter (trænsmiū·tər, -z-). [f. as prec. + -ER 1.] One who or that which transmutes.

1826 SCOTT Diary 4 June, in Lockhart, The translator of Tasso and Ariosto, and in that capacity a noble transmuter of gold into lead. 1870 LOWELL My Study Wind. 254 Chaucer exposes the cheats of the transmuter of metals.

Trans|mu·tive, a. rare—1. = TRANSMUTATIVE. 1856 HOR. SMITH Tin Trump. (1876) 344 The Chymist, with transmutive art Extracts a poison and a bane.

† Trans|mu·tress. Obs. rare—1. [f. TRANSMUTER + -ESS.] A feminine transmuter.

1660 tr. Paracelsus' Archidoxis I. v. 76 This Tincture is a Transmutress of Bodies to a better State.

Trans|mu·tual, a. rare—1. [f. TRANS- 3 + MUTUAL.] Reciprocal, commutual.

1829 COLERIDGE in Lit. Rem. (1839) IV. 132 That very discipline, the capability of exercising which in its own specific nature without superinduction of a destructive and transmutual opposite, is the fairest and firmest support of their cause.

Transmuwe, -mywe, obs. ff. TRANSMEW.

† Trans|na·te, v. Obs. rare—0. [ad. L. transnātāre to swim over.] Hence Trans|nata·tion, Trans|na·tion.

1623 COCKERAM, Transnate, to swimme ouer. 1864 WEBSTER, Transnatation, the act of swimming across. 1911 Ibid., Transnation.

Trans|na·tural, a. [f. TRANS- 4 + NATURAL.] † 1. That is beyond the order of nature; more than natural; supernatural. Obs.

1569 SANFORD tr. Agrippa's Van. Artes 70 Because they.. are supposed to be aboue nature, therefore they call them transnaturall or Metaphisicke. 1697 J. SERGEANT Solid Philos. 248 Great Scholars puzzle their Wits to find out Natural Causes for divers Effects, the true Reason for which is only owing to Trans-natural ones. 1700 —— (title) Transnatural Philosophy, or Metaphysicks.

2. Of which the nature is transmuted. nonce-use.

1907 E. H. COLERIDGE C.'s Christabel 29 The Geraldine of the First Part is a supernatural, of the Second Part a trans-natural being. ..The idea..of the second Part is.. physiological as well as mythological.

† Trans|na·turalize, v. Obs. rare—1. [f. as prec. + -IZE.] trans. = next.

1631 BRATHWAIT Whimzies, Char. Pedlar 140 He..turnes most impudent dogmaticall quacksalver. What transnaturalized elixers will this mercenarie mountebanke produce to delude the vulgar.

Trans|na·ture, v. Now rare. [f. TRANS- 2 + NATURE sb.] trans. To change the nature of.

1587 [see TRANSENATURED]. 1598 STOWE Annal. Albus. I. (1879) 54 Their curiosity, and nicenes in apparell..transnatureth them, makinge them weake, tender and infirme. 1627 J. CARTER Plain Expos. 72 The Soule, being set as a great Emperess in the bodie of man, hath a Favourite or Minion, to which it hearkeneth, and after which it is carried, yea, is euen so changed, and (as it were) transnatured by it, that if it be heauenly, the Soule is likewise heauenly; if earthly, maketh it like vnto it, in manner, earthly Soule. 1652 REEVS God's Plea 156 Repentance..able to transnature and translate people. 1812-29 [see TRANSLEMENT].

Hence Trans|natura·tion, change of nature. rare.

1873 F. HALL Mod. Eng. viii. 280 Save by effecting a total transnatuation or stagnation of the human mind, how could a language be prevented from undergoing changes?

Trans-Neptunian: see TRANS- 7.

† Trans|nihila·tion. nonce-wd. [f. TRANS- 1 + L. nihil nothing + -ATION.] Transformation (of nothing) into nothings.

1820 COLERIDGE Lett., Convers., etc. I. 29 How and whence did this sterile Nothing split or multiply into plurality? Whence this portentous transnihilation of nothing into Nothings!

Transnivean (trɔnsˌniˈvĭăn), a. [f. TRANS- 3 + L. nive-us snowy (f. nix, niv-em snow) + -AN.] Being or living beyond the snows (i.e. in quot. beyond the Himalayas).

1854 HOOKER Himal. Trnls. I. v. 127 Earliest intercourse with the trans-nivean races.

† Trans|nominate, v. Obs. rare. [f. ppl. stem of L. transnōminātre to change the name of, name over again: see TRANS- and NOMINATE.] trans. To change the name of. Hence † Transno·minated ppl. a.

1623 COCKERAM, Transnominate, to change one name for another. 1635 HEYWOOD Hierarch. VIII. Comm. 523 He also trans-nominated the two moneths of September and October, to Germanicus and Domitian; because in the one he was crowned, and in the other he was borne. 1657 GAULE Sapient. Yusif. 22 Then seems it so much the more strange..that so many real effects should proceed from a poorly equivocal and transnominated cause.

† Trans|nomina·tion. Obs. [ad. late L. transnōminātiōn-em, rendering Gr. μετονυμία metonymy: see TRANS- and NOMINATION. Cf. F. transnomination (Littré).] A change of name; spec. in Rhet. = METONYMY.

1561 T. NORTON Calvin's Inst. IV. xiv. 94 When the Apostle exhorteth the Ephesians to remembre that they were forein gestes of the testamentes,..he saith, that they were not partakers of Circumcision. Whereby he doth (by figure of transnomination) signifie that they were excluded from the promise it self, which had not receiued the signe of the promise. 1675 BROOKS Gold. Key Wks. 2857 V. 256 Oh, happy transnomination! Christ's bride being one with him!..is called, 'the Lord our righteousness'. 1712 SWIFT-WELL Chr. Obedience 11 An ordinary figure..which the rhetoricians call a metonomie or transnomination, and that is a transferring of a word, which is the particular name of one thing to express another.

Trans|no·rmal, a. [f. TRANS- 4 + NORMAL.] Outside the bounds of the normal; beyond or above the normal.

1860 FARRAR Orig. Lang. (1865) 53 The 'transnormal' character of these tongues only proves that they are the work of minds incapable of all subtile analysis. 1875 A. W. WARD Eng. Dram. Lit. Introd. 23 The distinctive features which already his [Euripides'] quickwitted contemporaries found mirrored in his transnormal productions.

Trans-oceanic (trɔnsˌoʊʃiˌæ·nik, -z-), a. [f. TRANS- + OCEANIC. Cf. F. transocéanique (Littré).]

1. Existing or situated beyond the ocean; also transf. pertaining to a region beyond the ocean.

1827 Blackw. Mag. XXII. 602 Their pristine transoceanic partiality for dram-drinking. 1872 Daily News 25 Mar. Then, England..employed her influence..in establishing the principle..of a threepenny rate for European letters, and a sixpenny rate for those intended for trans-oceanic countries. 1899 Dublin Rev. Jan. 62 Villanies of a transoceanic world. 1902 J. LEIGHTON in Publ. Circ. 8 Feb. 156/2 This device was ..admired by our transoceanic relatives.

2. Passing or extending across the ocean.

1868 LIVELL Princ. Geol. (ed. 12) II. III. xii. 420 We probably still remain ignorant of many means of transoceanic migration. 1884 Q. Rev. Apr. 453 The most vigilant supervision was exercised over the means of inland and transoceanic transport. 1890 Times 16 May 5/2 In 1871..the total transoceanic emigration from the United Kingdom was 252,435.

Trans|o·cular, a. [f. TRANS- 5 + L. ocul-us eye: cf. ocular.] Lying across the eye: applied to a longitudinal stripe or colour marking.

1872 COUES Key N. Amer. Birds 20 When these [lines] are continuous through the eye, they form a transocular line. 1876 Proc. Zool. Soc. 20 June 660 The crown being pure white, with only a transocular line on each side of the head.

Transom (trænsəm). Forms: 5 traunsum, -som, -sone, trampsoun, -sown, tramson, 6 trawnsom, (transumpt), transume, -same, 6-7 -sam, 6-9 -sum, -some, 7 -summe, 6- transom. [Late ME. traunsum, -som, of obscure history; but app. (as held by Prof. Skeat), a corruption of L. transtrum, of which it is the exact equivalent in sense. L. transtrum was a derivative of trans, or the root tra- across, with the instrumental -trum = Gr. -τρον, Indo-Eur. -trōm.

No concording forms between transtrum and transom have been found; but perh. the latter was a workmen's corruption, which had assumed this form before it came to be written down: cf. PEDIMENT. (Florio's spelling transtroms in 1598 and 1611 can only be taken as his own emendation of the Eng. word after it. transtri; he knew also the form transoms.)

The obscurity of the history is increased by the fact that senses 5 and 6 and the combination transom-nail are known of earlier date than the architectural and naval senses, which being those of L. transtrum would etymologically be earlier.]

1. In building, etc.: A cross-beam or cross-piece, esp. one spanning an opening to carry a superstructure; a lintel.

1487-8 Rec. St. Mary at Hill 137 Item, for v quarteres for traunsones, xd. 1519 HORMAN Vulg. 138, I hytte my heed agaynst the soyle or transumpt. 1538 ELYOT, Transtra, transoms which do go ouerwhart a house, also the sneates etc.]. 1577 HARRISON England II. X, They are inforced for want of stuffe to vse no studdes at all, but only raysines, groundselles, transomes, and vpright principalles. 1598 FLORIO, Transtri, cross or ouerthwart beames, transtrons [1611 Transtroms or cross-beames]. Ibid., Trasti...Also a transome or beame going crosse a house [1611 transoms or crosse beames]. 1667 PRIMATT City & C. Build. 63 Suppose a Shop-window to be twenty foot from..the Breast-summer will take up twenty six foot of Timber,..the two Transums for the Stalls eight foot. 1682 WHELER Journ. Greece I. 18 [An arch] whose two Lintel-Posts, and Transome, are of three whole Stones. 1879 FARRAR St. Paul II. 12 [The Temple of Diana at Ephesus] Its doors..surmounted by transoms so vast and solid that the aid of miracles was invoked to account for their elevation.

b. The transverse top-beam of a gallows, a swing, or the like; the lintel stone of a trilith.

1615 G. SANDYS Trav. 56 Swinging vp and downe, as boyes do in bell-ropes: for which there be gallowses..of an exceeding height..by two loynting ropes that are fastned aboue, they will swing themselues as high as the transome. 1796 MORSE Amer. Geog. II. 112 (Stonehenge) The transomes, or over-thwart stones, are quite plain. 1865 LUBBOCK Preh. Times v. (1878) 116 Circles of uprights and transoms at Stonehenge.

c. A beam resting across a saw-pit to support the log.

1885 Cheshire Gloss., Transom, the cross piece of wood that holds up the log on a saw-pit. A back-transom is a spare one always kept under the log for safety. 1888 ELWORTHY W. Somerset Gloss., Transum, a cross bearer used by sawyers to support the end of the piece. A spare support thrown across the pit would be also called a transum.

2. A horizontal bar of wood or stone across a mullioned window, dividing it in height; also, a cross-bar separating a door from the fan-light above it (Ogilvie, 1882).

1502 Privy Purse Exp. Eliz. of York (1830) 25 To John Conewey smyth for foure transoms and xij staudardes [of iron for a window]. 1575 LANEHAM Let. (1871) 50 Foour great wyndoz a freoch..euery one a fyue foot wide, az many mo euen aboue them, diuided on all parts by a transum and Architraue. 1612 CORGR., Meneau de fenestre, the transome, or cross-barre of a window. 1663 GERBIER Counsel 19 The middle Transoms of them [windows] above six foot..since otherwise the middle Transome would be opposite to a mans eye. 1805 T. West's Antiq. Furness 365 The wooden mullions and transoms contained in the great [window] were placed there in 1796. 1871 Athenæum 29 July 151 The lancet windows of the principal story are long triplets, of ample width, and divided horizontally by broad transoms of sculptured work.

b. Short for transom window: A window divided by a transom; also a small window above the lintel of a door. U.S. colloq.

1844 KINGLAKE Eothen v. 61 The transom that looks longwise through the street. 1882 Harper's Mag. Nov. 893 In trying to climb through the transom into the car he took hold of the guide rope. 1883 Century Mag. XV. 588/2 The dim light that streamed into the room from the transom. 1908 W. CHURCHILL Mr. Crewe's Career x, The buzz of talk which he had heard through the closed transom.

3. In technical applications. † a. The vane of a cross-staff (CROSS-STAFF 2): see quot. 1696. Obs.

1594 BLUNDEVIL Exerc. VII. xii. (1597) 322 b, A new kind of crosse staffe, hauing 3 transames or crosses. 1696 PHILLIPS (ed. 5), Transome, ..the Vane of a Cross Staff, or Wooden Member, to be set a-cross the cross Staff, having a Socket in it, upon which it slides stiff upon the Square of the Cross Staff, and may be set to any of the Graduations of it.

† b. The transverse member in a cross. Obs.

1615 G. SANDYS Trav. 184 For it [the Cross of Christ] was framed..of foure seuerall woods; the foot of Cedar, the bole of Cypresse, the transome of Palme, and the title of Oliue. 1658 SIR T. BROWNE Gard. Cyrus I. 96 Some [crosses] being right, and of one single peece without traversion or transome. 1864 R. S. HAWKER Quest of Sangraal 33 [The Southern Cross] a Pentacle of stars, whereof two shone for the Transome and three for the Stock.

c. A cross-piece connecting the cheeks of a gun-carriage.

1688 R. HOLME Armoury III. xviii. (Roxb.) 138/2 The transomes, are the peeces of wood which hold the cheekes or Limbers together. 1828 J. M. SEARMAN Brit. Gunner (ed. 2) 114 The 68-pounder carriage has, in addition to the breast transom,.. a centre and horizontal one. 1853 STOCQUELER Milit. Encycl., Transoms, in artillery, pieces of wood which join the cheeks of gun-carriages. There is but one in a truck-carriage, placed under the trunnion-holes; and four in a wheel-carriage—the trail, the centre, the bed, and the breast-transoms.

d. Carriage-building. In a perch-carriage, Each of two cross-timbers (fore and hind transom) framed across the perch, and upon which the springs are fixed.

1794 W. FELTON Carriages (1801) I. iii. 46 The fore transom, or fore spring-bar, is the most essential part of the cross framings. It is a strong timber fixed to the perch by means of a hooping-piece. 1877 G. C. THRUPP Hist. Coaches 32 The carriage is composed of a transom in front with a perch..fastened to it.

e. Each of the transverse timbers joining the sides in the frame of a railway carriage bogie-truck.

1891 in Cent. Dict.

† pl. On a railway: Cross-timbers laid between (or, formerly, beneath) longitudinal sleepers.

1838 Civil Eng. & Arch. Jrnl. I. 341/2 On the Great Western Railway..the longitudinal sleepers have been laid on transoms and piles. 1872 Daily News 15 July, For nearly a mile the transoms have been torn up and smashed, the ballast ploughed up, and the line otherwise injured. 1892 Pall Mall G. 23 May 1/3 The 'transoms' are the cross-timbers which hold the longitudinal sleepers at their proper distance apart.

f. The seat of a throne; also, a couch or seat built at the side of a cabin or state-room on board ship.

1683 F. M. CRAWFORD Dr. Claudius vii, The Duke was extended on a transom. Ibid. ix, He sat down on the transom. 1896 Daily News 19 May 5/2 Each throne has also been furnished with new transomes covered with crimson velvet.

4. Shipbuilding. † A cross-beam in the frame of a ship (obs.); spec. each of several transverse beams bolted to the stern-post, which support the ends of the decks and determine the breadth of the stern at the buttocks.

1545 ELYOT, Canonia, the transomes in a shyppe, whereon the hatches are made. 1584 B. R. tr. Herodotus II. xcvi. 94 They vnite and loyne the plancks together..binding the same to many transomes that goe both crosse and long wayes for the strength of the vessell. 1624 SIR W. MONSON Tracts (Navy Rec. Soc.) IV. 47 The transom is a timber that lies athwart the stern, and lays out the breadth of the ship at the buttock, which is her breadth from her tuck upwards. 1748 Anson's Voy. III. ii. 219 The long boat, which was at this time moored a-stern, was on a sudden canted so high, that it broke the transom of the Commodore's gallery. 1770 COOK Voy. round World II. vi. (1773) 398 The 27th and 28th were spent in refitting the ship..fixing a transom for the tiller, getting stones on board. 1871 BLACKMORE Maid of Sker 65 Part of the taffrail was carried away, but the transom and transom-knees stood firm.

b. Short for transom-frame (see in 7); hence in Boat-building, a board similar in shape and position to a transom-frame: see quot.

1857 P. Colquhoun Comp. to Oarsman's Guide 28 The stern-post is scarfed on, and upon it comes the transom, that heart-shaped piece of board, found in all cutter-built boats, and secured to the sax-board by transom grips or horizontal knees.

†5. Short for transom-nail. Obs. rare.

1423 in Rogers Agric. & Prices III. 448/4 Hornchurch. Transom. x m. @ f 10. 1427 Rec. St. Mary at Hill 65 Also payd for ij[m] transum, pe m[l] x d.. xx d. Also pay for iij m[l] sprigge, pe m[l] ix d.. xxvij d.

†6. ? A bolster; or part of a bedstead answering the same purpose. Obs.

The editor of the Bury Wills remarks 'the transome is usually considered to be that part of the bedstead which is between the two head-posts; but the general association of the word with feather beds would lead us to think the bolster was meant'.

[1459: Implied in Transomer.] 1463 Bury Wills (Camden) 23, ij peyre of good shetes, the transpoun, the coster; a of that chambyr. 1479 Ibid. 53 A traunson. 1482 Marg. Paston in P. Lett. III. 288 To John Heyth a materas with a traunsom, a peire shetes, a peire blankettes, and a cover. light. 1522 Bury Wills (Camden) 115 A fetherbed, ij trawnsoms, a matras, ij pelowes, iiij payer of schetes. [1570 Levins Manip. 161/44 Ye Transome of a bed, trabula.]

7. attrib. and Comb., as transom-shaft, -stone; transom-shaped adj. (2 b); transom-bar, the cross-bar over a door having a fan-light above it (U.S.); †transom-eyed a., having a transom or beam (Beam sb.[1] 3 c) in the eye; transom-frame (Shipbuilding), the aftermost 'square-frame' of a ship, giving shape to and supporting the stern, and bolted to the stern-post; transom-grip (Boat-building), an angular fastening analogous to a transom-knee; transom-knee (Shipbuilding), each of the curved timbers or angle-irons by which the transoms are fastened to the stern-timbers; transom-lattice, a transverse lattice; transom-lifter, an apparatus for controlling and fastening the fan-light over a door (U.S.); †transom-nail, a small size of nail, formerly in use; ? a lath nail; transom-rib, a transverse rib; transom road (U.S.), a railway track on longitudinal sleepers with transoms between them; transom-stern (Shipbuilding), a vessel's stern formed by or taking its shape from a transom; transom-window = 2 b: see quot. 1688.

1909 Cent. Dict. Supp., Transom-bar.* 1601 Bp. W. Barlow Defence 67 Thus these *transam-eyed hypocrites can spie small motes in Vs. 1874 Theakle Naval Archit. 85 A deep transverse frame, termed a *transom frame', situated at the fore end of the rudder-post, and connected thereto. 1857 *Transom-grip [see 4 b]. 1769 Falconer Dict. Marine (1789), Courbes d'arcasse, the *transom-knees, or sleepers. c 1850 Rudim. Nautic. (Weale) 156 *Transom-knees, knees bolted to the transoms and the side of the ship. 1689 E. Howard Caroloiades 273 A *transom Lattise did divide that Room. 1359 Letter-bk. G. London lf. 83 Item in D. de iiabes ij s. iij d. & ob.. Item in Ml. & D. de *transoma[l], xvij d. Item in Ml. & D. de Sprig' xv d. 1424 Hornchurch Account 2 & 3 Hen. VI. (New Coll. Oxf.), in Ml. de transumnnayl emptis pro domo capellani.. x d. 1835 R. Willis Archit. Mid. Ages vii. 85 The principal distinction between these [kinds of vaulting] and our own fan vaulting, is the substitution of lozenge-headed compartments in the fans for the English horizontal *transom rib. 1813 Scott Rokeby v. iv, The moon through transom-shafts of stone, Which crossed the latticed oriels, shone. 1844 Kinglake Eöthen v. 60 The *transom-shaped windows suspended over your head. 1770 Pennant Zool. IV. 53 In the interstices between the upright and *transome stones of Stone-henge. 1688 R. Holme Armoury III. 473/2 A *Transome window, hath Cross barrs in it, at the third part of its height. 1837 Mary Howitt Rur. Life III. v. (1862) 264 The state apartments are lofty and spacious, with numerous transom windows.

Hence Transomed (-səmd) a., divided by or having a transom or transoms; †Transomer, (?) a case or slip for a bolster: cf. sense 6.

1848 B. Webb Sk. Cont. Ecclesiol. 276 The window is *transomed midway. 1876 T. Hardy Elheiberta (1890) 3 Lifting his eyes to the mullioned and transomed windows and moulded parapet above him. 1881 Athenæum 13 Aug. 216/1 The hall..is lighted by three transomed windows. 1459 Paston Lett. I. 480 Canvas in the Warderop and fyne Lynen Clothe of dyvers sortes..ix. berys for fetherbeddys. Item, iiij. *transomers.

†Transon, v. Obs. rare. Also 6 transsene. [ad. F. transonner, formerly also transonner (14–16th c. in Godef.) to cut into segments or pieces, cut up, carve, variant form of tronçonner, f. tronçon: see Truncheon sb.] trans. To carve (an eel).

1513 Bk. Keruynge in Babees Bk. (1868) 265 Transsene that ele. 1688 R. Holme Armoury III. 78/2 Transon the Eel.

Transonance (trɑ:nsənăns). [f. Trans- + L. sonānt-em sounding: see -ance.] The passage of the sound produced in one organ (e. g. the heart) through the substance of another (e. g. the lung).

1909 in Cent. Dict. Supp.

Transoorbital, a. [f. Trans- 5 + Orbit: cf. orbital.] Drawn or measured across between the orbits or eye-sockets.

1882 Dana Crust. I. 92 Trans-orbital breadth small.

Transpacific (trɑns-, trɑnz-), a. [Trans- 7, 8.] a. Across or crossing the Pacific Ocean. b. On the other side of the Pacific.

1891 Scribner's Mag. Sept. 289/2 A newly organized transpacific service, running by way of Yokohama to Vancouver. 1897 Daily News 30 Jan. 6/2 The proposed 'All-British Trans-Pacific Cable'. 1906 Athenæum 17 Feb. 193/3 The Cardinal's Trans-Pacific experiences have accustomed him to such liberties.

Transpadane (trɑnspădēn), a. (sb.) Also 7 -an. [ad. L. transpadānus adj. and sb., f. trans across + Padus the river Po, padānus of the Po. Cf. F. transpadan, -ane (Littré).] That is beyond the river Po (from Rome); opposed to cis-padane. b. sb. One living north of the Po.

Transpadane Republic, a republic formed by Bonaparte in 1796, consisting of Lombardy and part of Venetia.

1617 Morvson Itin. III. 106 Lombardy of old was part of Gallia Cisalpina, which the River Padus ..divides into Cispadan (on this side the Po) and Transpadan (beyond the Po). Ibid., Transpadane .. containes the Dukedome of Milan. 1797 Burke Regic. Peace iii. Wks. VIII. 321 Isit to the Cispadane or to the Transpadane republicks..that we address all these pledges? 1896 Q. Rev. Oct. 396 The enfranchisement of the Transpadane Gauls. Ibid., So much for Cacus and his Transpadanes!

Transpalatine, a. and sb. [Trans- 5: cf. Palatine a.[2]] a. adj. Extending transversely across either half of the palate. b. sb. The transpalatine bone in certain sauropsidan vertebrates.

1891 in Cent. Dict. 1893 British Museum Catalogue, Snakes I. 71 Maxillary, palatine, and pterygoid movable; transpalatine present. 1899 in Syd. Soc. Lex.

Transpalmar, a. Anat. [ad. mod.L. transpalmār-is, f. Trans- 5 + L. palma Palm sb.[2]: cf. palmar.] Extending across the palm of the hand, as the transpalmar muscle.

1891 in Cent. Dict. 1899 in Syd. Soc. Lex.

†Transpare, v. Obs. rare. [f. after Transparent; cf. med.L. transpārē-re, f. trans, Trans- 1 + pārēre to appear, show oneself; It. trasparere (Florio, 1598).] intr. a. To be or become transparent. b. To appear or be visible through a transparent medium.

1604 Earl Stirling Aurora lxxiii, Oft haue I wish'd.. That th' Alabaster bulwarke might transpare, And that the pillars rarer then they are, Might whiles permit some happiug rayes to passe. Ibid. xcix, But through the yce of that vniust disdane, Yet still transpares her picture and my paine. 1661 Blount Glossogr. (ed. 2), Transpare.., to appear through, to be evident, or clear.

Transparence (trɑns,pēərĕns). rare. [f. as next: see -ence, and cf. F. transparence (c 1400 in Godef. Compl.).] = Transparency 1.

1594 Carew Huarte's Exam. Wits (1616) 84 That which cannot be read with ease, yet is made legible, by yeelding thereto a brightnesse and transparence. 1598 Florio, Trasparenza, a transparence or through-light. 1612 Drayton Man in Moon 322 Cleere Amber..Through whose transparence you might see The beds of Pearle whereon the Gum did sleepe. 1845 R. W. Hamilton Pop. Educ. x. (ed. 2) 270 Motive may be detected through the transparence of tendency. 1866 J. G. Murphy Comm. Exod. xxiv. 20 Adamantine solidity transparence, and brilliancy.

†b. transf. = Transparency 2. Obs.

1635 Heywood Hierarch. IX. 575 The casements standing wide Cleerely through that transparance is eepy'de This Glutton. 1789 E. Darwin Bot. Gard. IV. 343 O'er her light limbs the dim transparence plays, And the fair form it seems to hide, betrays.

Transparency (trɑns,pēərĕnsi). [ad. med.L. transpārēnti-a (Du Cange), f. transpārēnt-em: see next and -ency.]

1. The quality or condition of being transparent; perviousness to light; diaphaneity, pellucidity.

Thermal transparency, perviousness to heat rays; diathermancy: cf. Transparent 1 b.

1612 H. Crooke Body of Man 556 It is like a thinne and pollished horne of a Lanthorn, not only in transparencie by which meanes it receiueth the light, but also in his substance. 1651–3 J. Ser. Taylor Serm., for Year, xviii. 298 His wife may, by seeing the beauties and transparency of that Crystall, dresse her minde and her body by the light of so pure reflexions. 1705 Addison Italy 26 The Clearness and Transparency of the Stream. 1750 tr. Leonardus' Mirr. Games 56 A stone with a transparency, or a kind of brightness. 1830 Herschel Stud. Nat. Phil. 141 Between transparency and opacity there would at first sight appear a direct opposition. 1860 Maury Phys. Geog. Sea (Low) vi. § 313 The atmosphere is transparency itself. 1900 Trans. Soc. Dyers XVI. 7 The particles retain their form and transparency.

fig. 1843 Carlyle Past & Pr. II. i, Written in its child-like transparency. 1866 Geo. Eliot F. Holt v, The transparency of his talk..gave a charm even to his weaknesses.

2. That which is transparent; a transparent object or medium.

1591 Harington Orl. Fur. III. xvi, To make transparencies to meete in one And so convey the sunne-beames thereby where you list. 1788 Cowper Task v. 151 A watery light Gleaned through the clear transparency.

b. spec. A picture, print, inscription, or device on some translucent substance, made visible by means of a light behind.

1807 E. Orme (title) Essay on Transparent Prints, and on Transparencies in general. 1859 Gullick & Timbs Paint. 9 A mode of painting 'transparencies' as they would now be called, on linen.

attrib. 1855 W. Williams (title) Transparency painting on linen for decorative purposes.

c. A photograph or picture on glass or other transparent substance, intended to be seen by transmitted light. Also attrib.

1892 Conan Venus at Isle of Desolation 104 (Cassell), I took transparencies of the little photos. he took of my station. 1885 C. G. W. Lock Workshop Receipts Ser. iv. 357/2 A negative or transparency is not fully developed much under 15 minutes. 1892 Photogr. Ann. II. 576 Various transparency printing frames. 1897 J. Nicol in Outing (U.S.) XXX. 496/2 The transparency plate and negative are placed in the printing frame exactly as in printing on paper.

†3. Her. An outline figure, or the shadow of a charge, without the charge itself, painted the same colour as the field, but of a darker tint; = Adumbration 4. Obs.

1620 Guillim Heraldry II. iii. 42 Adumbration or Transparency is a cleere exemption of the substance of the Charge..in such sort, as that there remaineth nothing thereof to be discerned, but the..bare proportion of the outward lineamentes thereof. Ibid. vii. 65 The Orle..is an Ordinarie composed of a threefold line duplicated, admitting a Transparancie of the field, thorowout the..space therein enclosed. 1725 Coats Dict. Her. s. v. Adumbration, Some term such Adumbration, Transparency.

4. A burlesque translation of the German title of address Durchlaucht: cf. Serenity 4.

1844 Thackeray B. Lyndon ix, Hobnobbing..with lovely excellencies, nay, with highnesses and transparencies themselves. Ibid., Pippi..had kept back a note of hand 'her High Transparency' gave us. 1848 — Van. Fair lxii, His Transparency the Duke and his Transparent family..come and occupy the great box in the middle. 1895 Westm. Gaz. 7 Feb. 2/1 During the sojourn of grand transparencies beneath your Derbyshire roof.

Transparent (trɑns,pēərĕnt), a. (sb.) Also 5 -paraunt, 6–7 -parant. [ad. med.L. transpārēntem, pr. pple. of transpārēre (= 'pellūcēre' Du Cange), f. Trans- + pārēre to appear, be visible. In 15th c. app. stressed transparaunt, after F. transparent (14th c. in Hatz.-Darm.).]

1. Having the property of transmitting light, so as to render bodies lying beyond completely visible; that can be seen through; diaphanous.

1413 Pilgr. Sowle (Caxton) I. iii. (1859) 4 The erthe seemyd me al clere and transparaunt, soo that I myght see clerely al thas was withyn. 1432–50 tr. Higden (Rolls) VI. 425 A vesselle made of onichinus, transparente, and polischede by so subtile an arte þat [etc.]. 1588 Shaks. L. L. L. IV. iii. 32 Nor shines the siluer Moone one haile so bright, Through the transparent bosome of the deepe. 1667 Milton P. L. VII. 265 The Firmament, expanse of liquid, pure, Transparent, Elemental Air. 1712–14 Pope Rape of Lock II. 61 Transparent forms, too fine for mortal sight. 1807 Transparent Prints [see 1 Transparency 2 b]. 1813 Backwell Introd. Geol. (1815) 37 Uncrystallized quartz is seldom transparent, most frequently translucent, but sometimes opaque. 1868 Lockyer Elem. Astron. iii. § 23 (1879) 125 Both head and tail [of a comet] are so transparent that all but the faintest stars are easily seen through them.

b. transf. Pervious to heat-rays.

1871 B. Stewart Heat (ed. 2) § 178 It is probable that no substance is perfectly transparent with respect to heat. 1883 Illustr. Lond. News 24 Feb. 203/3 A table of various substances, some of which are opaque to light and transparent to heat, and the reverse.

†c. That shines through; penetrating, as light.

1593 Shaks. 2 Hen. VI, III. i. 353 Like to the glorious Sunne transparant Beames. 1593 T. Nashe Teares of Fancie xxxi, My loues transparent beames and rosy colour.

†d. Apparent or visible through something. Cf. Transpare v. b. Obs.

1609 Daniel Civ. Wars IV. ii, Which, though .. Thou ouerlay'st with fayrest colourings; Yet th' vnder-worke, transparent, shewes too plaine. 1712 Steele Spect. No. 490 ¶ 7 To my fond Eyes she all transparent stood.

†e. Admitting the passage of light through interstices. Obs. rare.

1617 Morvson Itin. III. 141 Not farre thence is a transparant and pleasant, but little Wood. 1693 Congreve in Dryden's Juvenal XI. (1697) 280 He, whose thin transparent Rags, declare How much, his tatter'd Fortune wants repair.

2. fig. a. Frank, open, candid, ingenuous.

1590 Shaks. Mids. N. II. ii. 104 Transparent Helena, nature shewes art, That through thy bosome makes me see thy heart. 1848 R. Carew in Lismore Papers (1888) Ser. II. 217 They are very well beloued for their ciuill and transparent carriage towards all sorts. 1878 T. Hardy Ret. Native I. iv, An ingenuous, transparent life was disclosed. 1891 E. Peacock N. Brendon II. 306 She was transparent as the daylight.

b. Easily seen through, recognized, understood, or detected; manifest, evident, obvious, clear. Cf. Apparent 3.

1592 Shaks. Rom. & Jul. I. ii. 96 Then turne teares to fire: And these who often drown'd could neuer die, Transparent Heretiques be burnt for liers. 1638 Chillingw. Relig. Prot. I. ii. § 150. 111 Your Argument against us, is a transparent fallacy. 1710 Steele Tatler No. 197 ¶ 5 In Courts, they make transparent Flatterers. 1867 Freeman Norm. Conq. I. v. 347 A transparent artifice..paralyses them. 1869 J. Martineau Ess. II. 178 The fallacy of the remark is transparent. 1879 McCarthy Own Times II. xviii. 37 The transparent sincerity of his purpose.

Transparently, adv. [f. prec. + -ly[2].] In a transparent manner or degree; so as to be seen through.

1617 Morvson Itin. III. 81 [Amber] after it is polished, becomes transparantly bright. 1628 tr. Mathieu's Powerful Favorite 34 It is so minced and subtile, that falshood may be transparently seene through it. 1667 H. Stubbe in Phil. Trans. II. 497 The Sea was black and thick, not transparently blue, as the rainbow. 1852 HAWTHORNE Snow Image, etc. Gl. Stone Face (1879) 39 One enormous pane of glass, so transparently pure. 1861 Scot. Rev. 23 Nov. 526 The cruder scheme...is much more transparently futile.

Trans|pa·rentness. rare. [f. as prec. + -NESS.] The quality of being transparent; = TRANSPARENCY 1.

1727 in BAILEY vol. II. 1762 tr. Busching's Syst. Geog. VI. 612 The water..besides its perfect transparentness is of a most grateful taste. 1880 Christy Carew I. iii. 136 A dull night sky, starless, but with a clear transparentness.

Trans|pa·rish, v. humorous nonce-wd. [TRANS- 2.] trans. To transport beyond the parish.

1819 SYD. SMITH in Lady Holland Mem. (1855) II. 287 If it blow before it rains, we shall all be up in the air in the shape of dust, and..transparished we know not where.

† Trans|pass, v. Obs. rare. [= obs. F. transpasser 'to passe or goe through, to passe ouer' (Cotgr.), in med.L. transpassāre to go beyond (Du Cange), f. TRANS- + F. passer, med.L. passāre to pass. Cf. also It. trapassare 'to passe through, away, or over, to decease, to die' (Florio 1598), 'to passe from life to death' (ibid. 1611). Cf. TRESPASS v.]

1. intr. To pass away, depart, die.

1592 DANIEL Descr. Beauty Wks. (1717) 422 Thy Form and flatter'd Hue, Which shall so soon transpass, Is far more fair than is thy Looking-glass.

2. intr. To pass or penetrate across or through; also trans. to pass beyond (a boundary or limit).

1626 T. H[AWKINS] Caussin's Holy Crt. 176 It is impossible to deceyue God, whose eye..transpasseth through the abysses. 1629 MAXWELL tr. Herodian (1635) 320 Had transpassed the banks and bounds of the Roman Empire. 1646 J. GOODWIN Notes & Obs. 74 The River Hypbasis..he transpassed, and set up Altars on the other side.

† Trans|pa·ssable, a. Obs. rare. [f. prec. + -ABLE.] Admitting of being passed through or over; capable of being crossed.

1614 RALEIGH Hist. World I. (1634) 98 The navigable River of Tygris..which is everywhere transpassable by boates of great burthen. 1658 COLWESPEE & COLE Barthol. Anat. III. vi. 140 The foremore and deeper parts [of the lateral ventricles of the brain] are near to the Mammillary processes, and..they are in some manner transpassable.

† Trans|pa·ssage. Obs. rare [f. TRANS- 1 + PASSAGE 1.] Passage over or across.

1620 DANIEL in Florio's Montaigne (1632) Pref. Verse, Tappland his happy setling in our land; And safe transpassage by his studious care Who both of him and us doth merit much.

† Trans|pa·tronize, v. Obs. rare[-1]. [TRANS- 2.] trans. To transfer from one to another the patronage of (something).

a 1609 WARNER Alb. Eng. IX. To Sir G. Carey ii, To transpatronize from him To you mine orphant Muse.

† Trans|pea·r, v. Obs. rare. Also-peer. [By-form of TRANSPARE, on analogy of peer, PEAR v., appear, compear.] intr. To appear or become visible through something; also fig. to be apparent.

c 1645 HOWELL Lett. vi. IV. Those proofs..are not so clear, as those rich breaks that transpeer through the dark clouds of adversity. 1654 Z. COKE Logick A ij, By this time then it transpears, That, as Nature needs Grace, so Grace desireth Nature.

Transpeciate (trɑnspē·ʃiˌēt), v. Now rare. [f. TRANS- + L. speciēs look, appearance, form, kind, SPECIES + -ATE[3].] trans. To change into a different form or species; to transform.

1624 SIR T. BROWNE Relig. Med. I. § 30, I do not credit..that the Devil hath a power to transpeciate a man into a Horse. 1694 WESTMACOTT Script. Herb. (1695) 77 Revived and transpeciated into a quite different and highly useful form. 1721 BAILEY, Transpeciated, ..changed from one species to another. 1894 G. S. HALL in Forum (N.Y.) May 309 There is no better test of educational institutions..than ..how far the lower has been transpeciated into the higher.

Hence Trans|peciation, transformation; change from one form or species into another.

1867 MAUDSLEY Physiol. Mind 164 Transpeciation is a word used by Sir Thomas Brown which might be found useful at the present day. 1870 — Body & Mind 175 For the exaltation and transpeciation of force and material. 1882 Mind X. 488 It will be seen, that there has been what we may call a minus of evolution in nature, and, secondly, that progressive transpeciations of matter have been events of it.

Trans|pe·netrable, a. rare. [f. TRANS- 1 + PENETRABLE.] Penetrable from side to side.

1615 JACKSON Creed IV. ii. vi. § 7 The body of the earth (which is not transpenetrable by any light) is directly interposed between the sun and moon.

Trans|pe·ritone·al, a. Anat. [f. TRANS- 5 + L. peritonēum: cf. peritoneal.] Traversing the peritoneal cavity. Hence Transpe·ritone·ally adv. So Transpe·ritone a.

1891 Cent. Dict., Transperitoneal. 1899 Syd. Soc. Lex., Transperitone. 1900 Lancet 18 Aug. 487/1 A case of transperitoneal ligature of the left common iliac artery. 1903 Ibid. 6 June 1591/1 The external iliac artery was ligatured transperitoneally just below its origin.

Transpicuous (trɑnsˌpiˈkiu̯əs), a. [f. med. or mod.L. transpicu-us, f. L. transpic-ēre to look or see through (f. TRANS- + specēre to look), on analogy of conspicuous, perspicuous.] That can be seen through; pervious to vision.

1638 WILKINS New World I. (1668) 175 Of this Opinion also was Cæsar in Gallia, whose Words are these, 'The Moon doth there appear Clearest, where she is Transpicuous [luna est transpicua], not only through the Superficies, but the Substance also. 1667 MILTON P. L. VIII. 141 That light, Sent from her [the earth] through the wide transpicuous aire, To the terrestrial Moon. 1762–71 H. WALPOLE Vertue's Anecd. Paint. (1786) IV. 258 Light corridores, and transpicuous arbours through which the sun-beams play. 1910 Athenæum 9 Apr. 432/3 A region of mist..no instrument of science can render transpicuous to our eyes.

b. fig. Of language, etc.: Plain, clear in meaning; also gen. easily perceived or detected; manifest. Cf. TRANSPARENT 2.

1877 PATMORE Unknown Eros i. 2 The lonely suns, the mystic hazes and throng'd sparkles bright That..In sweet transpicuous words, shall glow alway. 1896 T. HUTCHINSON in Academy 28 Mar. 256/1 Far-reaching and luminous thought..incarnated in language correspondingly grave and transpicuous, or ardent and sublime. 1908 Month Jan. 8 Why should we not have new words, so they be musical and their meaning transpicuous?

Hence Trans|pici·uously adv., clearly (in meaning).

1839–52 BAILEY Festus XX. 358 To speak transpicuously of things Divine Pertaineth not to nature.

Transpierce (trɑnsˌpiˈrs), v. [a. F. transpercer, f. TRANS- + percer to pierce. Cf. TRESPERCE.]

1. trans. To pierce through from side to side (with the agent or the instrument as subject: cf. PIERCE 2. 1).

1594 DRAYTON Idea i, Then transpierce the Coarse. 1624 HEYWOOD Gunaik. III. 160 She snatcht up a sword with which she transpierst her selfe. 1697 DRYDEN Æneid II. 68 The sides transpierced return a rattling sound. 1725 POPE Odyss. x. 188, I launch'd my spear, and with a sudden wound Transpierc'd his back, and fix'd him to the ground. 1857 DUFFERIN Lett. High Lat. xii. (ed. 3) 364 He falls, transpierced by many wounds.

b. transf. and fig.: esp. said of the effect of emotion, and the action of wind, light, sight, etc.

1598 LAYTON Heroic. Ep., C'vers Salisbury to Bl. Prince, Is that great hart, that did aspire so hie, So soone transpersed with a womans eye? 1601 DANIEL Civ. Wars VI. cxiv, Whereof the proofe was such As sharpest pride could not transpierce the same. 1664 EVELYN Kal. Hort., Mor. (1729) 127 The sharp Easterly and Northerly Winds transpierce, and dry them up. 1788 GIBBON Decl. & F. xlvi. IV. 479 note, The eye of Tacitus seems to have transpierced the camp of the Parthians and the walls of the harem. 1841–4 EMERSON Ess., Spir. Laws Wks. (Bohn) I. 67 The divine question which searches men, and transpierces every false reputation.

2. To make one's way through; to pass through, penetrate; in quot. 1908, to extend through, rare.

1604 W. HARBERT Poems (Grosart) 92 If England's loade-starre..Could the firme center's regiment transpearse. 1796 KIRWAN Elem. Min. (ed. 2) I. 93 Compound spar..In a porcelain heat, it vitrifies with the crucible, which it transpierces. 1908 Athenæum 6 June 701/3 A metal rod..transpierces the box.

Hence Transpie·rced ppl. a.; Transpie·rcing vbl. sb. and ppl. a.

1592 DANIEL Compl. Rosamond Wks. (1717) 42 Transpiercing Rays of christal pointed Eyes. 1627–77 FELTHAM Resolves II. xcv. 247 Such transpiercings as rankle the flesh within. 1838 MRS. BROWNING Isobel's Child x, Dear Lord, who spreadest out above Thy loving, transpierced hands.

Tran|spi·nal, a. Anat. [ad. mod.L. transpinālis, f. TRANS- + L. spīna SPINE.] Of a muscle: Lying between two successive transverse vertebral processes; = INTERTRANSVERSE.

Transpirable (trɑnsˌpaiə·rəˈbl), a. [ad. med. or mod.L. transpirābilis, or a F. transpirable (c 1560 Paré): see TRANSPIRE and -ABLE.] Admitting of transpiration; capable of being breathed through.

1598 BANISTER Hist. Man I. 7 Neither would substance of such, be anything so transpirable as were in that Case expedient. 1621 COTGR., Transpirable, transpirable, easie to breath out or through. 1674 R. GODFREY Inf. & Adv. Physic 69 So long as we live, our whole Body..is transpirable, and exspirable. 1687 A. LOVELL tr. Thevenot's Trav. I. 260 A Bardaque, or Pot, that is Transpirable. 1720 QUINCY tr. Hodges' Loimologia 212 The Body must be kept transpirable. 1870 ROLLESTON Anim. Life 121 To keep the gill-plates lubricated and transpirable by their secretion.

Hence Transpirabi·lity, the quality of being transpirable.

1864–72 WATTS Dict. Chem. II. 821 Transpirability of Gases. 1870 ROLLESTON Anim. Life 35 The transpirability of the skin.

† Tran|spi·rately, adv. Obs. rare[-1]. [f. mod.L. transpīrāti-us*, pa. pple. of transpīrāre to TRANSPIRE + -LY 2.] By or in the way of transpiration. (But possibly a misprint for transpiratively.)

1598 BANISTER Hist. Man I. 6 b, Those grosse..fumosities (which otherwise by the seamy Commissures, would transpirately exaporate).

Transpiration (trɑnspirəˈʃən). [ad. med. or mod.L. transpīrātiōn-em, n. of action from transpīrāre to TRANSPIRE; perh. through F. transpiration (1541 in Hatz.-Darm.).] The action or process of transpiring.

1. Exhalation through the skin or surface of the body; formerly, also, evaporation. Also concr. matter transpired.

1562 BULLEYN Bulwark, Dial. Soarnes & Chir. 16 b, Expalsed, or auoided by inuisible transpiracion, whiche is one of the forces, or benefits of nature. 1605 TIMME Quersit. I. xv. 75 Mercury and sulphur doe vanish away by an insensible transpiration. 1707 Curios. in Husb. & Gard. 102 A viscous humour,..a plain Transpiration from the Plant. 1718 OZELL tr. Tournefort's Voy. Levant I. 131 It supples and mollifies the Skin, thereby facilitating Transpiration. 1826 KIRBY & SP. Entomol. IV. xlii. 130 The substance secreted appears to be a transpiration through the pores of the body. 1879 G. GLADSTONE in Cassell's Techn. Educ. IV. 204/1 The products of transpiration are always of a more or less oily nature. 1898 P. MANSON Trop. Diseases xxii. 338 The excessive loss of fluid by cutaneous transpiration creates a powerful thirst.

† b. Emanation, effluence. Obs. rare.

1652 J. WRIGHT tr. Camus' Nat. Paradox x. 248 It is probable that by some kinds of transpiration, or by the means of Spirits, things acted at a distance are conveyed to persons absent, and represented to them in their sleep. 1675 TRAHERNE Chr. Ethics 74 A mystery..perhaps founded in a grateful transpiration of spirits from one to the other.

c. fig. Outflow (of affection, etc.).

1821–30 LD. COCKBURN Mem. 268 Always beloved for the constant transpiration of an affectionate and cheerful heart.

2. Bot. The exhalation of watery vapour from the surface of the leaves and other parts of plants, in connexion with the passage of water or sap through the tissues.

1551 TURNER Herbal 1. Pij, The floures and leues..which ..by ventyng out or transpiration maketh rype and digesteth. 1786 JEFFERSON Writ. (1859) II. 56 These leaves having a power of keeping themselves cool by their own transpiration, they impart no heat to the air by contact. 1898 MACNAB Bot. iv. (1883) 99 The water that plants give off as watery vapour by transpiration through the stomata.

attrib. 1895 OLIVER tr. Kerner's Nat. Hist. Plants I. 276 Lin bundles of woody cells and vessels, serve as conductors of the transpiration current. Ibid. 280 The stomata or transpiration-pores which pierce the epidermis of the leaf.

3. Physics. The passage of a gas or liquid under pressure through a capillary tube or porous substance.

1867 HIRST in Brande & Cox's Dict. Sc., etc. s. v., The transpiration of a gas is uninfluenced by the material of which a tube is constructed; it increases with pressure—the greater the density, the shorter the time of transpiration. 1870 ATKINSON tr. Ganot's Physics (ed. 4) § 132 For the same gas, the rate of transpiration increases, other things being equal, directly as the pressure.

4. The action or fact of something transpiring or becoming indirectly known; also, that which transpires (i. e. in quot. (errone.) happens). rare.

1802–12 BENTHAM Ration. Judic. Evid. (1827) III. 110 Causes of transpiration..disclosure, with or without treachery, on the part of one or more of the co-delinquents. 1908 Academy 7 Mar. 229/2, 'I there prosecuted my enquiries and observed for myself what transpired'. The transpirations are disappointing.

† Tran|spi·rative, a. Obs. rare. [f. ppl. stem of med. or mod.L. transpīrāre to TRANSPIRE + -IVE.] Having the quality of transpiring, or a tendency to transpire.

1598 BANISTER Hist. Man I. 7 As if it should not have passage out, after a certaine transpirative manner. 1662 J. CHANDLER Van Helmont's Orient. 181 The whole arterial blood..dispersed by the transpirative evaporation of the Body. 1753 N. TORRIANO Gangr. Sore Throat 55 The transpirative Matter..is carried back into Masses of Humours, corrupts not only the Fluids,..but also the Solids.

Transpiratory (trɑnˌspiə·rətəri), a. rare. [f. as prec. + -ORY 2.] = prec.

1855 in H. CLARKE Eng. Dict. Hence 1860 in WORCESTER; and in later Dicts.

Transpire (trɑnˌspaiə·r), v. [ad. med. or mod. L. tran.s.pīrāre* (f. TRANS- + spīrāre to breathe), or a F. transpirer (c 1560 in Paré).]

1. trans. To emit or cause to pass in the state of vapour through the walls or surface of a body; esp. to give off or discharge (waste matter, etc.) from the body through the skin; of plants: to give off (watery vapour); also, to exhale (an odour); to breathe forth (vapour or fire).

1597 A. M. tr. Guillemeau's Fr. Chirurg. 40 b/2 When as we desire to transpire, and cause to evaporate, any venomouse vapours. 1647 CRASHAW Hymns, 'Name of Jesus', With wider pores..More freely to transpire That impatient fire. 1654 EVELYN Sylva (1776) 29 It transpires the rest of the liquid at the Summites and tops of the branches into the atmosphere. 1774 GOLDSM. Nat. Hist. (1862) I. viii. 37 At the [quicksilver] mines near the village of Idra..some in a manner transpiring quicksilver at every pore. 1826 KIRBY & SP. Entomol. (1828) I. vi. 201 Aphides that transpire a cottony excretion. 1840 J. BUEL Farmer's Comp. 122 Some species transpiring their weight of moisture every twenty-four hours. 1878 MACNAB Bot iv. (1883) 101 For the same reason cut flowers wither. The leaves transpire more fluid than the stem can take up. 1908 A. BENNETT Old Wives' T. III. ii, The air was heavy with the natural human odour which young children transpire.

b. To cause (a gas or liquid) to pass through the pores or walls of a vessel.

1864–72 WATTS Dict. Chem. II. 820 The volume [of gas] transpired in equal times is inversely as the length of the tube. 1889 ANDERSON in Nature 19 Sept., Not only are gases occluded, but they are also transpired under favourable conditions of temperature and pressure.

c. fig. To cause to pass like breath. rare.

1641 J. JACKSON True Evang. T. I. 37 As if Severus had transpired his soule into Maximinus,..he now became the Wolfe, and Leopard.

2. intr. Of a body: † To emit vapour or perfume; to give out an exhalation (obs.); of the animal body (or a person): to give off moisture through the skin; to perspire (obs. exc. as rendering Fr. transpirer); now only of plants: to give off watery vapour from the surface of leaves, etc.

1648 HERRICK Hesper., Appar. of Mistr. Calling him to Elisium 7 This, that, and ev'ry thicket doth transpire More sweet than storax from the hallowed fire. 1673 O. WALKER Educ. 68 Exercises and recreations..such..as may cause the body to transpire plentifully. 1844 KINGLAKE Eothen xviii. (1864) 237, I saw that the Doctor was transpiring profusely. 1878 MACNAB Bot. iv. (1882) 102 When the plant is transpiring most rapidly and most water is moving through the stem, the wood cells and vessels are filled with air. 1885 Trnl. R. Microsc. Soc. Oct. 826 If transpiration is suddenly stopped in branches which ordinarily transpire strongly, the leaves fall.

3. intr. Of a volatile substance: To pass out as vapour through pores (in the human body or any porous substance), to exhale; of a liquid: to escape by evaporation.

1643 DIGBY Observ. Relig. Med. (1644) 8: In bodies which have internall principles of Heat and Motion, much continually transpiring out to make roome for the supply of new aliment. 1687 A. LOVELL tr. Thevenot's Trav. ii. 62 Through these Jars the water transpires and percolates into an earthen Vessel underneath. 1746-7 HERVEY Medit. (1818) 161 A fragrance .. peculiarly rich and reviving transpires from its opening tufts. 1794 G. ADAMS Nat. & Exp. Philos. II. xiii. 17 Moisture can transpire through our skin. 1815 KIRBY & SP. Entomol. (1818) I. ii. 29 One of those species [of Aphides] from the skin of which transpires a white cottony secretion. 1882 ANDERSON in Nature 19 Sept. Common coal-gas under high pressure transpires through the steel of the containing vessel.

b. transf. and fig. of non-material things.

1752 A. MURPHY Gray's-Inn Jrnl. No. 2 Anxiety and Solicitude, which soon transpire into the Face. 1753 Ibid. No. 51 An elegant Way of Thinking, which will be always sure to transpire into their Compositions. 1886 STEVENSON Dr. Jekyll ii, The mere radiance of a foul soul that thus transpires through, and transfigures, its clay continent.

†c. trans. To pass through the pores of. Obs. rare—1.

1754 MILES in Phil. Trans. XLVIII. 526 Occasioned..by warm steams transpiring the earth.

4. fig. 'To escape from secrecy to notice' (J.); to become known, esp. by obscure channels, or in spite of secrecy being intended; to 'get wind', 'leak out'.

1741-2 HT. BUTLER Mem. (1842) II. 96 Yesterday's quarrel may transpire. 1748 LD. CHESTERFIELD Let. Dayrolles 26 Jan., This letter goes to you, in that confidence, which I.. place in you. And you will therefore not let one word of it transpire. 1754 RICHARDSON Grandison xxxvii. (1781) I. 265 Can he have so many Love-secrets, and yet will he not let them transpire to such a Sister? 1799 Hull Advertiser x June 2/4 The Hamburgh mail..has just arrived, but no particulars have transpired. 1821 JEFFERSON Autobiog. & Writ. (1892) I. 131 What passed between them did not transpire. 1856 FROUDE Hist. Eng. II. vii. 143 The conditions of the contract were not allowed to transpire. 1905 R. BAGOT Passport xxx, Not allowing the fact of there being any difficulty..to transpire to Donna Bianca.

¶ b. Missued for: To occur, happen, take place. Evidently arising from misunderstanding a sentence as 'What had transpired during his absence he did not know'. App. began in U.S. about 1800; registered in Webster's Dict. 1828 (not in Webster 1806).

[1800 M. CUTLER in Life, etc. (1888) II. 92 The most trying scene which has transpired through the course of this long and interesting discussion.] 1804 Age of Inquiry (Hartford, Conn.) 46 When..the reformation transpired in England.. almost the whole nation became convinced. 1810 F. DUNLEP Memoirs I. 14 Could short-sighted mortality..foresee events that are about to transpire. 1828 WEBSTER, Transpire .; 3. To happen or come to pass. 1841 W. L. GARRISON in Life (1889) III. 16 An event .. which we believe transpired eighteen hundred years ago. 1848 DICKENS Dombey xxxii, Few changes—hardly any—have transpired among his ship's company. 1858 HAWTHORNE Fr. & It. Note-bks. I. 225 Accurate information on whatever subject transpired. 1883 L. OLIPHANT Altiora Peto I. 277 His account of what transpired was so utterly unlike what I expected.

¶ c. Of time: To elapse. Obs. rare. erron.

1824 C. WORDSW. Who wrote Eikon Basilike 197 The interval of years which had transpired between the conversations and the account of them. 1847 — Chas. I 1 Whether in the interval which has transpired, the convictions at which I had arrived,..have been in any material degree confirmed, shaken, or modified.

Hence Transpi'red ppl. a., Transpi'ring vbl. sb. and ppl. a.

1670 MAYNWARING Physician's Repos. 21 A strengthening or transpiring Medicine. 1693 A. VAN LEEUWENHOEK in Phil. Trans. XVII. 842 As to the Transpiring Parts of our Bodies. 1725 Bradley's Fam. Dict. s.v. Antimony, This Diaphoretick alone may be taken..in malignant Fevers, to facilitate the transpiring of the Venom thro the Pores. 1827 FARADAY Chem. Manip. xv. (1842) 345 The transpired matter on the surface of the skin. 1895 OLIVER tr. Kerner's Nat. Hist. Plants I. 274 The sap in the transpiring cells becomes more concentrated.

Transpirometer (transpaiə'rɒmĭtər). [f. TRANSPIRE (or its source) + -OMETER.] An apparatus for recording the amount of watery vapour transpired by a plant.

1904 Science 11 Mar. 424/2 An autographic transpirometer, ..records..on a drum the transpiration of a plant for a week.

Transpiry (transpai'ĕri). rare. [f. TRANSPIRE + -Y, after EXPIRY.] The fact of 'transpiring' or leaking out. In quot. misused for Occurrence.

1884 A. DANIELL Princ. Physics Introd. 3 All our arrangements..are subject to the transpiry of facts unknown or unforeseen at the time.

Transplace (transplē's), v. rare. [f. TRANS- + PLACE v.] trans. To change the place of, transpose; to oust from its position in favour of something else. (Also with the two things as obj.) Hence Transpla'cing vbl. sb.

1615 LAWSON Country Housew. Gard. (1626) 26 An artificiall transplacing or transposing of a twig, bud, or leafe, cause the body to growe and graft. AINSWORTH Annot. Ps. xiii. 6 The Greeke readeth thus; the salvation of my face and my God; transplacing the Hebrew letters. 1641 WILKINS Math. Magick i. xi. (1648) 75 The transplacing of that Obelisk at Rome by Sixtus the first, was done in some few days by five or six hundred men. 1711 J. GREENWOOD Eng. Gram. 217 Of Transposition or the transplacing of words and sentences. c 1810 COLERIDGE in Lit. Rem. (1838) III. 205 'Not so killing but so secret'.., transplacing the sentences 'as secret though not so killing'. 1878 VILLARI Machiavelli (1898) I. 16 In the 'Decameron' Latin periods already transform and transplace Italian periods.

Transplant (transpla·nt), sb. [f. next.]

1. That which is transplanted; spec. in forestry, a seedling transplanted once or several times.

1796 P. BROWNE Jamaica 378 Very few transplants of the kind thrive. 1885 P. MACOWAN Rep. Cape Town Bot. Gard. 1884. 9, A box of 25 transplants. 1898 F. WHITMORE in Atlantic Monthly Apr. 507/1 There was nothing for it but to sow seeds for transplants.

fig. 1891 M. DODS Bryanwus, etc. 8: They do not appear as transplants in the writings of Plato.

2. The transferring of bacterial organisms from one medium to another for purposes of culture.

1900 Jrnl. Exper. Med. (U.S.) 25 Oct. 173 Both microorganisms failed to survive the exposure, transplants failing to produce a growth on broth and on kidney.

Transplant (transpla·nt), v. [ad. post-cl.L. transplantāre (Itala, Luc. xvii. 6), f. TRANS- + plantāre to PLANT. Cf. F. transplanter (16th c.).]

1. trans. To remove (a plant) from one place or soil and plant it in another. Also fig.

c 1440 Pallad. on Husb. III. 504 Transplaunte hem so, & sone up wol they spring. 1555 EDEN Decades 135 Transplanyng the roote thereof, [to] brought it from wildenes to a better kynde. 1605 TIMME Quersit. I. xvi. 86 They are to be transplanted into home gardens. 1664 EVELYN Kal. Hort., Aug. (1729) 213 Transplant such Lettuce as you will have abide all Winter. 1798 SYDNEY SMITH Sent. Journ. I. In the Desobligeant, The man who first transplanted the grape of Burgundy to the Cape of Good Hope. 1842 TENNYSON Amphion x, Methods of transplanting trees.

2. To convey or remove from one place to another; to transport; esp. to bring (people, a colony, etc.) from one country to settle in another.

1555 W. WATSMAN Fuerdle Fractions Pref. 9 Now can thei tattempte..to transplante their progenie, and offspring into places unenhabited. 1606 in Cair. S. P. Irel. 553 The Grames and others to be transplanted into Ireland were charged with many children. c 1630 RISDON Surv. Devon § 308 (1810) 278 These lands were transplanted into the name of the Poultons. 1769 E. BANCROFT Guiana 120 The Bull and the Cow..have been successfully transplanted into Guiana. 1860 PUSEY Min. Proph. 43 The policy of transplanting nations..was adopted, as a regular part of Assyrian, Babylonian, and Persian policy. 1899 A. E. GARVIE Ritschlian Theol. v. vii. 211 We cannot even transplant ourselves into the religious life of a pious Israelite.

3. Surg. To transfer (an organ or portion of tissue) from one part of the body, or from one person or animal, to another.

1786 [see transplanted below]. 1906 Daily Chron. 22 Sept. 6/7 A..case in which a child..suffering from cretinism, had a portion of its mother's thyroid gland transplanted into its spleen. Ibid., Successful experiments in transplanting the blood vessels of animals. 1909 Westm. Gaz. 5 July 6/3 A dachshund, to which the kidneys of a fox-terrier had been transplanted..was apparently in perfect health.

4. intr. †a. (for refl.) To leave one place of abode and settle in another; to emigrate. Obs.

1608 [see TRANSPLANTING]. 1655 Clarke Papers (Camden) III. 24 The Irish are unwilling to transplant or prove their qualificacions, but they will bee forc'd to goe and make way for the English planters. 1662 Jesuits' Reasons (1675) 130, Why..not..take up your roots and transplant?

b. (for pass.) To bear transplanting.

1796 P. BROWNE Jamaica xv. (1756) 248 Peas will transplant, and therefore broken rows may be made up. 1817-18 COBBETT Resid. U. S. (1822) 302 Persons of advanced age, of settled habits,..do not..'transplant well'. Of all such persons, Farmers transplant worst. 1846 J. Baxter's Lib. Pract. Agric. (ed. 4) II. 361 Transplanting.—Swedish turnips transplant very well, like the common cabbage; but the true turnip, the white globe or yellow, do not transplant.

Hence Transpla·nted ppl. a.

1765 Museum Rust. IV. 232 A six-shilling book..on the subject of transplanted lucerne. 1786 J. HUNTER Treat. Venereal Disease VII. i. § 1 (1810) 586 The transplanted tooth fastened extremely well, and continued so for about a month. 1833 ALISON Hist. Europe (1849) I. i. § 37. 83 Any transplanted Irishman, found out of his district, might be put to death by the first person who met him.

Transplantable (transpla·ntăb'l), a. [f. prec. + -ABLE.] Capable of being transplanted.

1656 in P. H. HORE Hist. Wexford (1911) VI. 508 What popish proprietors of lands Transplantable, do yet remain uninsinglanded. 1844 MISS MITFORD Village Ser. I. (1863) 21 Cabbage-plants and celery, and all transplantable things. 1829 SOUTHEY Sir T. More (1831) II. 89 Old forms of government are not transplantable into new countries.

Hence Transplantabi·lity, capability of being transplanted.

1811 W. TAYLOR in Monthly Mag. XXXI. 448 The transplantability of the fossils. 1867 T. ARCHER in Macfarlane Mem. vii. 185 Some plants are famed for transplantibility.

Transpla·ntar, a. Anat. [f. TRANS- 5 + L. planta sole: cf. plantar.] Lying across the sole of the foot, as a transplantar muscle.

1892 Cent. Dict. cites COUES. 1899 in Syd. Soc. Lex.

Transplantation (transplantē'ʃən). [n. of action from TRANSPLANT v.: cf. plantation. So F. transplantation (16th c.).]

I. The action of transplanting.

1. The removing of a plant from one place or soil and planting it in another.

1601 HOLLAND Pliny XVII. x. I. 510 Neither need they any remouing or transplantation at all. 1764 Museum Rust. IV. 38 The culture of lucerne by transplantation. 1796 C. MARSHALL Garden. xviii. (1813) 296 In all transplantations, it is proper to shorten some of the roots. 1856 DELAMER Pl. Gard. (1861) 95 Take them up for division and transplantation every fourth summer at longest.

2. Transference or removal from one place to another; transportation; esp. the removal of people from one country and settling of them in another.

1606 in Cair. S. P., Irel. 551 The transportation and transplantation of the Grames and other[s]..into the realm of Ireland. 1614 PURCHAS Pilgrimage iv. viii. (ed. 4) 383 Those which have beene here seated by the transplantations of Tamerlane and Ismael..out of other Countries. 1625 GILL Sacr. Philos. I. 96 Their foolish thoughts concerning the transplantation of soules. 1633 in ROW Hist. Kirk (Wodrow Soc.) 260 That all such clerks and scullions bons a Finsers entrie or transplantation be discharged. 1720 QUINCY tr. Hodges' Loimologia 80 The Transplantation of the Plague from Turkey to Holland. 1882-3 Schaff's Encycl. Relig. Knowl. (1891) 1/1 The Apostles taught a transplantation of the highest order..into the pleroma.

3. The pretended magical cure of disease by causing it to pass to another person, or to an animal or plant. Obs. or Hist.

1655 S. BOULTON (title) Medicina Magica..containing the general Cures of all Infirmities, by way of Transplantation. 1663 BOYLE Usef. Exp. Nat. Philos. II. v. 227 An Example of a most violent pain of the Arme, removed by Transplantation. 1730 BAILEY (folio), Transplantation by Approximation (in Nat. Mag.) which is more properly called Approximation, as when a Wallow stops a Finger, and is cured by rubbing a Cat's Ear, which is supposed to receive the Pain. 1854-67 C. A. HARRIS Dict. Med. Terminol., Transplantation,..a pretended method of curing diseases by making them pass from one part to another.

4. Surg. The operation of transferring an organ or a portion of tissue from one part of the body, or from one person or animal, to another.

1813 J. THOMSON Lect. Inflam. 239 Besides those examples that are seen in the transplantation of the teeth, it must be confessed that instances of reunion among parts which had been entirely separated are very rare in the human body. 1881 in Philad. Record No. 3472, 2 The object aimed at was nothing less than the transplantation of bone. 1890 BILLINGS Med. Dict., Transplantation, removal of a portion of living tissue from its normal position, and uniting it with living tissue in another place, in order to repair a defect or lessen deformity. 1909 Westm. Gaz. 5 July 6/3 The operation of kidney transplantation.

II. 5. That which has been transplanted; a transplanted company or body.

a 1541 EP. MONTROSE Acts & Lett. (1840) 467 Salmanassar brought Colonies, and transplantations of mixed people from the countries beyond Euphrates. 1805 W. TAYLOR in Ann. Rev. III. 236 He would by propagating and sheltering the new transplantations, cherish a vernal luxuriance to the appearance of the whole surrounding growth.

Transplantee'. rare—[1]. [f. as next + -EE 1 2.] One who is transplanted.

a 1687 PETTY Pol. Arith. iv. (1691) 65 If the Nation who shall be admitted, shall be less able to prejudice and annoy the Transplantees into England than before.

Transplanter (transpla·ntər). [f. TRANSPLANT v. -ER 1.]

1. One who transplants. Also attrib.

1611 COTGR., Transplanteur, a transplanter. 1755 JOHNSON, Transplanter, one that transplants. 1827 STEUART Planter's G. (1828) 240 The failure and decay of the Top (the great opprobrium of Transplanters) is primarily to be ascribed to the entire want of skill in the preservation of these fibrous roots, on which the Tree mainly depends. 1852 Meanderings of Mem. I. 21 So thence uprooted with transplanter care, In other soil it scents another air.

2. An implement or contrivance for transplanting.

1828 WEBSTER, Transplanter, n. 3. a machine for transplanting trees. 1855 DELAMER Kitch. Gard. (1861) 16 The transplanter is a tool with handles at one end, and a couple of semicircular blades at the other, which, when closed, form a hollow cylinder. 1909 Cent. Dict. Supplt., Transplanter, a horse-power machine used in setting out tobacco or other field plants.

Transplanting (transpla·ntĭŋ), vbl. sb. [f. as prec. + -ING 1.] The action of the vb. TRANSPLANT in various senses.

1608 in Buccleuch MSS. (Hist. MSS. Comm.) 77 The natives ..will be as charges in transplanting them thither. 1696 FULLER Ch. Hist. x. Ded., Plants are much meliorated by transplanting. 1790 PALEY Horæ Paul. i. 2 The immediate transplanting of names and circumstances out of one writing into the other. 1883 G. B. GOODE Fish. Indust. U. S. 14 (Fish. Exhib. Publ.) The transplanting of fish was practised ..at the close of the last century. 1906 Daily Chron. 22 Sept 6/7 Professor Garré, of Breslau, delivered an interesting lecture on the transplanting of blood vessels and organs.

b. concr. That which is transplanted.

1889 Lancet 20 Apr. 802/1 Such colonies become so intimately fused with others that not seldom the transplantings from them turn out impure.

c. attrib. as transplanting machine, wagon, etc.

1786 Abercrombie Gard. Assist. 172 The transplanting kinds, as cabbage, savoys, broccoli, celery, endive. 1827 Stuart Planter's G. (1828) 182 The best and simplest transplanting machine now known. Ibid. 223 A cursory idea of my own Transplanting Nurseries. 1877 Knight Dict. Mech. Transplanting machine a machine or truck for removing trees for replanting. 1884 Ibid. Suppl., Transplanting Wagon. 1904 R. Small Hist. U. P. Congregat. I. 19 He was now [in 1841] beyond the transplanting age.

†Trans|pla·ntively, adv. Obs. nonce-wd. [f. as assumed adj. transplantive* (f. as prec. + -IVE) + -LY 2.] In the way of transplantation.

1606 Warner Alb. Eng. xv. xciv. 376 Her heart to his, his heart to hers, transplantively did passe.

Tran|sple·ndency. rare. [f. as next: see -ENCY.] The quality or condition of being transplendent; supereminent brilliancy or splendour.

1664 H. More Antid. Idolatry ii. 38 A supernatural and unimitable Transplendency of the Divine Presence.

Tran|sple·ndent, a. rare. [f. Trans- 1 + L. splendent-em, pr. pple. of splendēre to shine, be bright. Cf. resplendent.] Brilliantly translucent; resplendent in the highest degree.

a 1541 Wyatt Compl. Absence of Love 49 The clere cristall, the bright transplendant glasse. 1622 R. Preston Godly Man's Jugnis. 1. 16 Our weakenesse is so great, and his Maiestie on the other side is glorious and transplendent. 1829 J. S. C. Abbott Napoleon (1855) I. xi. 198 Those energies now so transplendent on the banks of the Mississippi and the Ohio.

Hence Tran|sple·ndently adv., with surpassing splendour.

1662 H. More Antid. Idolatry ii. 36 The Divinity..is hypostatically, vitally and transplendently residing in this Humanity of Christ.

Trans|pleural, a. Surg. [f. Trans- 5 + L. pleura : cf. pleural.] Traversing the pleural cavity.

1892 in Cent. Dict. 1905 Rolleston Dis. Liver 149 A transpleural operation, letting out serous fluid from the pleura.

Trans|po·lar, a. [f. Trans- 3 + L. polus pole + -AR 1: cf. polar.] Crossing the (north) pole or polar region.

1850 Scoresby Chesever's Whalem. Adv. i. (1855) 3 Daring adventures after a north-east or transpolar route to India. 1900 Scribner's Mag. Sept. 258/1 A transpolar bird, which passed by a transpolar migration..from Siberia into Greenland.

†Trans|po·nent, a. Obs. rare—1. [ad. L. transpōnent-em, pr. pple. of transpōnĕre to Transpose.] Transposing, transferring: in quot. (errorn.) = transferred; immanent by communication.

1612 R. Sheldon Serm. St. Martins 20 How the attributes, and diuine perfections, of God were transponent in Christ.

Trans|po·nible, a. rare—0. [f. L. transpōn-ere to transpose + -IBLE.] Capable of being transposed; transposable. So Transponibi·lity.

1892 in Cent. Dict. 1902 in Cassell's Encycl. Dict. Suppl.

Transpontine (trans|pɒ·ntəin), a. [f. Trans- 3 + L. pons, pont-em bridge + -INE 1. Cf. F. transpontin (16th c. in Godef. Compl.).] That is across or over a bridge; spec. on the other side of the bridges in London, i. e. south of the Thames; transf. (from the style of drama in vogue in the 19th century at the 'Surrey-side' theatres), melodramatic, sensational.

1844 Alb. Smith Pott. Scatterg. Fam. ix, It was Monday evening, second to the pits and galleries of transpontine theatres. 1850 Mrs. P. Byrne Undercurrents Overlooked I. 78 The..Metropolitan theatres, cispontine and transpontine. 1876 C. M. Davies Unorth. Lond. 130, I was wandering in transpontine London one Sunday morning. 1882 Du Windt Equator 132 Triana, a transpontine suburb [of Seville], is worth a visit in the daytime. 1901 Scotsman 9 Apr. 5/4 A new drama strongly seasoned with transpontine flavour.

Transport (tro·nspɒrt), sb. [f. next. Cf. F. transport transfer of rights (1312 in Godef. Compl.), med.L. transportus (Du Cange) transferment.]

1. The action of carrying or conveying a thing or person from one place to another; conveyance.

1611 Florio, Trasporto, a transportation, a transport. 1621 Elsing Debates Ho. Lords (Camden) 11 The Bill against transport of golde and sylver. 1674 Josselyn Voy. New Engl. 22 Undertaking the Transport of his Family. 1841 Elphinstone Hist. India II. ix. i. 277 Availing himself of the Jamna and Ganges for the transport of his stores and part of his army. 1844 H. H. Wilson Brit. India III. iii. vi. 251 Sale at prices sufficient to cover the whole cost of transport. 1875 Bennett & Dyer Sacks' Bot. 634 The Conducting Tissue for the transport of the formative materials. 1894 Geol. Mag. Oct. 470 In the same way the beds at Moel Tryfaen are regarded as examples of glacial transport.

†b. fig. Transference. Obs.

1653 Urquhart Rabelais i. ii, Many are now poor wandring beggars..whoare descended of..great Kings and Emperours, occasioned..by the transport and revolution of Kingdoms and Empires.

†c. Transfer or conveyance of property. Obs.

App. the earliest use in English. It is the regular term for 'transfer of shares' in the Minute Books of the East India Company 1624–28.

1456 Sir G. Hayes Law Arms (S.T.S.) 133 Men takis landis ..and syne makis transport of thame, and puttis tham in othir menis handis. 1523 Ld. Berners Froiss. I. cexii. 258 Thesayde renunciacion, transportes, sessynge, and leauynge of all the sayde thynges. 1607 (Nov. 23) E. India Co. Court Bk. II. 59 (MS.) Notwithstanding the transport made at the last Court of Mr. Bramley's adventure by Agnes Smyth to Mr. Robert Sandie. 1682 Scarlett Exchanges 55 By this Endorsement, he to whom the Bill is sent, is the true and right Possessor of it, and needs no further Assignation, Transport, or any other Title or Right.

†2. Transference of a word to a different meaning; metaphor. Obs. rare.

1589 Puttenham Eng. Poesie III. xvii. (Arb.) 189 To call the top of a tree, or of a hill, the crowne of a tree or of a hill..because such terme is not applyed naturally to a tree, or to a hill, but is transported from a mans head to a hill or tree, therefore it is called by metaphore, or the figure of transport.

3. The state of being 'carried out of oneself', i. e. out of one's normal mental condition; vehement emotion (now usu. of a pleasurable kind); mental exaltation, rapture, ecstasy. Also with a and pl., an instance of this, a fit of joy or rage; sometimes transf. an ecstatic utterance.

1658 Phillips, A Transport,..also a sudden trance, or rapture of minde. 1663 Br. Patrick Parab. Pilgr. xiii. (1687) 84 Can you imagine into what transports it will cast your soul to hear the praises of the Creator sung by all his Works? 1686 tr. Chardin's Trav. Persia 146 An unheard-of Transport of Fury. a 1715 Burnet Own Times an. 1660 (1766) I. ii. 131 The letter was received with transports of joy. 1796 Jane Austen Pride & Prej. i, When the first transports of rage..were over, he..returned to all his former indolence. 1854 J. S. C. Abbott Napoleon (1855) I. xxvi. 413 He was hailed with transport wherever he appeared.

4. A means of transportation or conveyance; orig. a vessel employed in transporting soldiers, military stores, or convicts; later, the horses, wagons, etc. employed in transporting the ammunition and supplies of an army; sometimes including the things so conveyed.

1694 [implied in transport-ship: see 6]. 1712 E. Cooke Voy. S. Sea 140 At Five in the Afternoon, the Transports row'd for the Town of Guayaquil. 1783 Justamond tr. Raynal's Hist. Indies VII. 192 [He] took three thousand men of regular troops out of the militia, which he embarked upon twenty-five transports. 1834 Napier Penins. War xvi. iii. (Rtldg.) II. 341 From the scarcity of transports only 38 guns could be brought to the trenches. 1865 Macaulay Hist. Eng. xiv. III. 411 The Dee was crowded with men of war and transports. 1879 A. Forbes in Daily News 13 June 5/5 That all-important element in campaigning, the transport, including in that term the animals, the waggons, and the supplies. 1897 S. L. Hinde Congo Arabs 86 One woman and a boy acted as transport. 1900 Dundee Advertiser 17 May 4 All our larger transport has arrived without mishap. The men and horses are standing the continuous strain admirably, notwithstanding the heavy roads.

5. A transported convict; a person under sentence of transportation. Now rare.

1767 Chron. in Ann. Reg. 58/2 Fourteen transports from Durham..were put on board..bound for Virginia. 1777 Howard Prisons Eng. (1780) 286 The county has for some years..clothed such transports as were quite indigent. 1817 2nd Rep. Comm. Police Metrop., Min. Evid. 392 Have you ever known any instances of returned transports obtaining licences to keep public houses? 1851 D. Jerrold St. Giles xix. 199 You don't mean to say..that you are an escaped transport?

6. attrib. and Comb., as transport-agent, -carriage, + felon, -hoy, -labour, -service, -wagon, worker, etc.; †transport-bill, †debenture, a voucher given for a claim for transport services; †transport brief, deed, a transfer-deed; transport-buoy, a buoy used for the mooring and warping of vessels; transport-rider (South Africa), a goods carrier; so transport-riding, carriage of goods; transport-ship, -vessel: see 4.

1897 J. K. Laughton in Dict. Nat. Biog. I.II. 156/2 He was appointed "transport agent for the expedition to Egypt. 1710 Lond. Gaz. No. 4637/3 Lost..Four "Transport-bills, ..being for two Months Freight each on the Ship Success, ..Signed by..her Majesty's Commissioners for Transportation. 1895 J. Brown Pilgr. Fathers iv. 124 It was conveyed ..by a "transport brief or deed made on the 5th of May 1621. 1793 Smeaton Edystone L. § 102 The use that was made of "Transport Buoys, in the moving and mooring the king's ships in the Hamoaze. 1895 Daily News 18 Oct. 5/5 Dr. Höhnel's bicycle "transport-carriages for sick people. 1707 Lond. Gaz. No. 4321/3 A "Transport-Debenture for the Year 1697. No. 32. for 965 l. 3s. 4 d. is lost. 1766 Chron. in Ann. Reg. 134/2 Three hundred "transport felons..have been shipped at Hickwell for the plantations. 1705 Lond. Gaz. No. 4167/3 This day came into Kingroad, two "Transport-Hoys. 1850 R. G. Cumming Hunter's Life S. Afr. (1902) 20/2 The Dutchman along their road being very unfriendly and inhospitable to the English "transport-riders. 1909 R. Cullum Compact xii. 143 Each waggon has two coloured transport-riders. 1900 Haggard Black Heart i, "Transport-riding—that is, in carrying goods on ox waggons from Durban or Maritzburg to various points in the interior. 1817 Parl. Deb. 584 A resolution then passed for 140,000*l.* for the "transport service. 1694 Act 5 & 6 Will. & Mary c. 23 § 3 The "Transport Ships for the Warr of Ireland. 1701 Lond. Gaz. No. 3712/3 Several Transport Ships are arrived at Williamstad with Recruits. 1722 De Foe Col. Jack ii, Coming to the common period of that kind of life, I mean to the transport-ship, or to the gallows. 1700 Tyrrell Hist. Eng. II. 795 Bourscore Togs, a sort of small "Transport-Vessels. 1903 Westm. Gaz. 6 Apr. 5/2 The railwaymen, who are federated with the "transport workers, declining to handle any traffic which had been unloaded by 'free' labourers.

Transport (trɒnspɒ·rt), v. [ad. F. transporter (14th c. in Hatz.-Darm.), or its source L. transportāre, f. trans across + portāre to carry.]

1. trans. To carry, convey, or remove from one place or person to another; to convey across, Formerly used in general sense: see quots. 1 now mostly restricted to the conveyance of persons, animals, and things as an organized operation, or with allusion to other senses.

1483 Caxton Gold. Leg. 260 b/1 Where it shalle plese the to enhabyte it transporte me to the. 1490 — Eneydos x. 39 They were separed & transported into dyuerse places. 1494 Fabyan Chron. VII. cccxii. 245 Duyers bysshoppes sees were tran-ported from one place to another; as Selwey to Chechester, Kyrton to Exeter, Wellys to Bathe, . Dorchester to Lyncolne. a 1548 Hall Chron., Edw. III 235 If the Duke of Britayne, would transporte hym into England. 1560 Daus tr. Sleidane's Comm. 284 That he should neither make a brydge nor finde a foorde to transport his armie. 1579 Gabriel Arch. in 10th Rep. Hist. MSS. Comm. App. v. 430 To tranchporte any manner tymber. 1599 Shaks. Hen. V II. Prol. 35 The Scene Is now transported (Gentles) to Southampton. 1605 in Calr. S. P. Irel. 551 To demise to the said Grames and such other persons as shall be transported ..120 quarters of land. 1632 Lithgow Trav. x. 437 He made fast the doore, and transported the keyes. 1635 Swan Spec. M. vii, § 3 (1642) 223 As a..Mirrour transporteth the light of the fire, or the sunne against a wall. 1709 Steele Tatler No. 3 P 6 Mules to transport his Provisions and Ammunition. 1829 Scott Anne of G. ii, I have no wings to transport me from cliff to cliff. 1893 J. H. Newman Hist. Sk. (1873) II. i. ii. 65 This region..receiving the merchandise of East and North, and transporting it by its rivers. 1895 Kane Arctic Explor. II. vi. 75 The dogs are indispensable in..transporting us to Anoatok. 1901 [see Transportability].

b. fig. (app. the earliest use.)

c 1374 Chaucer Boeth. III. pr. 6 (Camb. MS.) The errour and folye of manyynde departeth and deuydeth it,.. and transporteth from verray and parfyt good to goodes þat ben false and vnparfyt. c 1475 Partenay 3739 And in sorow transport our gladnesse. 1509 Hawes Past. Pleas. xxxi. (Percy Soc.) 150 Consyder well that your lusty courage Age of his cours must at the last transporte. 1652 G. Collier Vind. Sabbath (1656) 45 The Apostolick churches transported the exercises of that day to the Sunday. 1798 Fenwick Eng. Historiane 224 Transport your imagination to the scene. 1857 W. Smith Thorndale 537 Man transports himself into nature, endues the great objects or powers of nature with human feelings, human will.

†c. To transfer or convey (property). Obs.

1523 Ld. Berners Froiss. I. cxvii. 257 All the right that oure sayde brother hath.., he yeldeth and transporteth them to vs perpetually. Ibid. 258, 259 [see Cess 2.] 1607 (July 21) E. India Co. Court Bk. II. 44 (MS.) Sir James Deane's letter to the Company that his stock of the 3rd voyage, being £200, be transported over to the accompt of Andrew Holdip his kinsman. a 1649 Drumm. of Hawth. Hist. Jas. I (Wks. (1711) 24) Transporting lands to themselves and their friends, distributing offices and places of the crown and state.

†d. intr. for refl. To transfer oneself to another place of abode; to emigrate. Obs.

c 1540 tr. Pol. Verg. Eng. Hist. (Camden No. 29) 143 Six months after that he had transported into Flandres. 1632 Weever Ane. Fun. Mon. 794 He required him (before he transported) to returne. 1633 T. Stafford Pac. Hib. II. x. (1821) 338 It shall be lawfull for any of the Inhabitants..to transport, without any molestation. 1679 tr. Machiavelli's Prince viii. (Rtldg.) 56 He transported into Africa.

†e. To remove from this world to the next: cf. Translate v. 1 b. Obs.

In quot. 1603, a euphemism for 'put to death, kill'. So taken by Schmidt in quot. 1590; but W. Aldis Wright takes it as, in Stanyhurst's language, = 'transform, transfigure', comparing the use of 'translate' in III. i. 122.

1603 Shaks. Meas. for M. iv. iii. 72 A creature vnprepar'd, vnmeet for death, And to transport him in the minde he is, Were damnable. (1590 — Hist. H. iv. iv. 4 He cannot be heard of. Out of doubt hee is transported.)

2. spec. a. Sc. Ch. To translate (a minister) from one charge to another.

1637–50 Row Hist. Kirk (Wodrow Soc.) 164 There was an intention to have had four of the ministers of Edinburgh transported to other places. 1726 Wodrow Corr. (1843) III 251 Discharging them to be transported without consent of the General Assembly, or declared transportable without consent of the people. a 1791 Grose Olio (1796) 111 By transported we mean, in Scotland, removed to another parish. 1898 Ramsay Reminis. v. (1870) 118 A Seceding minister at Kircaldy. But I hear he expects to be transported soon. 1904 R. Small Hist. U. P. Congregat. I. 457 It was carried [in] 1830 by a great majority to transport.

b. Sc. Eccl. Law. To remove (the site of the church) to a different part of the parish.

1707 Sc. Act Anne c. 10 (1814) XI. 435/1 The transporting of Kirks,..or erecting and building of new kirks, being always with the consent of the heritors of three parts..at least of the valuation of the parock whereof the kirk is craved to be transported or..kirks to be erected and built. 1765–8 Ersskine Inst. Law Scot. I. v. § 21 With more ample powers, of..transporting churches already built to more convenient places. 1838 [see Transportation 2 b].

c. To carry away or convey into banishment, as a criminal or a slave; to deport.

1666 Act 18 & 19 Char. II, c. 3 § 2 It shall be lawfull to and for the Justices..to transport for cause to be transported the said Offenders..into any of his Majestyes Dominions in America. 1667 Pepys Diary 8 Sept., A prisoner being condemned at Salisbury for a small matter..They were considering to transport him to save his life. 1759 Hume Hist. Eng. III. lxi. 326 The rest were sold for slaves and transported to Barbadoes. 1849 Macaulay Hist. Eng. ii. I. 177 It was provided that the offender should not be transported to New England.

3. fig. To 'carry away' with the strength of some emotion; to cause to be beside oneself, to put into an ecstasy, to enrapture.

1509 Hawes Past. Pleas. xxv. (Percy Soc.) 179 But loke hye his hart to transport. 1596 Spenser Hymne Heavenly Beautie iii, Transported with celestiall desyre Of those faire formes. 1604 E. G[rimstone] tr. D'Acosta's Hist. Indies I. xxi. 69 They stood transported with amazement. 1669

MILTON P. L. III. 81 Onely begotten Son, seest thou what rage Transports our adversarie? 1712 ADDISON Hymn, When all thy mercies' i, Transported with the view, I'm lost in wonder, love, and praise. 1840 DICKENS Barn. Rudge lxxi, Transported with the thought that rescue had at length arrived, Emma and Dolly shrieked aloud for help.

Transportability (transpō·rtăbĭ·lĭtĭ). [f. next + -ITY.] Capability of being transported; in early quots. referring to translation of ministers (see TRANSPORT v. 2 a, TRANSPORTATION 2 a).

1651 Reg. Comm. Gen. Assembly 24 Feb. (S.H.S.) III. 538 The motion anent Mr. George his transportabilitie is waved. 1676 Row Contn. Blair's Autobiogr. xi. (1848) 344 Mr. Blair supplicated the Presbytery of St Andrews for an act of transportability. 1846 in WORCESTER. 1883 Century Mag. July 430/2 The fever's...transportability was fearfully proven. 1901 N. Amer. Rev. Feb. 220 The Transvaal war has shown the transportability...of the heaviest artillery... The Boers transported their 'Long Tom' as they might have transported a piano.

Transportable (transpō·rtăb'l), a. [f. TRANSPORT v. + -ABLE. Cf. transportable (1812 in Hatz.-Darm.); mod.L. transportābilis.]

1. Capable of being transported.

1582 Reg. Privy Council Scot. III. 530 In uptaking of the custom of all gudis transportabill furth of this realme. 1642 Declar. Lords & Comm. to Gen. Assemb. Ch. Scot. 13 [Soldiers] to be sent presently over to reside amongst them, or declared transportable. 1676 Phil. Trans. XI. 680 A Chest of Copper,...transportable by means of wooden barrs like a Sedan or Chair. 1726 [see TRANSPORT v. 2 a]. 1881 J. RUSSELL Haigs v. 105 Bringing off whatever was transportable on its own four feet. 1904 R. SMALL Hist. U. P. Congregat. II. 1 The Presbytery decided not transportable.

2. Involving or liable to transportation.

1769 BLACKSTONE Comm. IV. xvii. 242 The statute ..makes it a felony transportable for seven years. 1815 MISS MITFORD in L'Estrange Life (1870) I. 322 It does not.. appear that he ever committed any transportable or transportable offence. 1840 GEN. P. THOMPSON Exerc. (1842) V. 371, I remember once discovering that I was living in the commission of transportable offences at the rate of two a-day.

Hence Transportableness, the quality of being transportable; liability to transportation.

1797 in BAILEY vol. II. 1844 P. HARWOOD Hist. Irish Reb. 107 Transportableness for life.

†Transportage. Obs. [f. as prec. + -AGE. Cf. PORTAGE.] = TRANSPORTATION 1, TRANSPORT.

1562 J. SHUTE Cambini's Turk. Wars 9 Almost..out of hope of any transportage for them. 1600 HOLLAND Livy XLIII. xii. 1163 He should give order for their transportage thither. 1631 HEYWOOD 1st Pt. Fair Maid of West I. i. Wks. 1874 II. 273 Such gold fit for transportage as I have, I'le beare along. 1637 — Royall Slife 12 Vessels..for the transportage of graine from one province to another.

No Transportal, Transportance (pōē-ANCE: cf. importance], transport, conveyance.

1837 DARWIN in Life & Lett. (1887) II. 9 Let the powers of transportal be such. 1839 — Voy. Nat. ix. (1879) 287 To explain the transportal of these gigantic masses of rock. 1889 — Orig. Spec. iv. (1860) 104 So as to favour..the transportal of their pollen from flower to flower. 1893 SIR H. H. HOWORTH Glacial Nightmare II. 680 The transportal of drift in directions opposite to the movements of the ice.

1606 SHAKS. Tr. & Cr. III. ii. 12 he thou my Charon, And give swift transportance to these fleeting loves. 1612 CHAPMAN Iliad XVI. Comm. (1857) II. 105 Nor would Homer have any one believe the personal transportance of Sarpedon by Sleep and Death. 1615 BRATHWAIT Strappado (1878) 32 There's no fashion knowne, In Christian Courts, But by transportance it doth come to thee. 1888 G. MACDONALD Castle Warlock xxxi, A doubtful denial of transportance.

†Transportant, a. Obs. rare[−1]. [f. as TRANSPORT v. + -ANT.] Transporting, ravishing.

1660 H. MORE Myst. Godl. vi. v. § 5. 227 So rapturous a Joy, and transportant Love.

Transportation (transpŏrtē·ʃŏn). [n. of action f. TRANSPORT v. + -ATION. Cf. L. (post-Aug.) transportātiōn-em transmigration, and F. transportation (1519 in Hatz.-Darm.).]

1. The action or process of transporting; conveyance (of things or persons) from one place to another.

Much used in 17th c. down to c 1660; afterwards gradually given up for transport, prob. to avoid association with penal transportation, sense 2 c.

1540 Act 32 Hen. VIII c. 14 § 2 For the fraight transportation conveyaunce or cariage of anny warres. *a*1600 in Hakluyt Voy. III. 174 By reason of the transportation of raw wool of late dayes more excessiively then in times past. 1607 HIERON Wks. I. 371 Lookes how the seas stood with their transportation out of Ægypt into Canaan. 1615 G. SANDYS Trav. 26 Here is a Ferry for transportation into Asia. *a*1656 USSHER Ann. VI. (1658) 331 Finding no ships there, for his transportation, he divided his army. 1699-88 Secr. Serm. Moneys Chas. & Jas. (Camden) 16 To the Bishop of London, for transportac'on of three Chaplains to the Leward Islands ..60 o o. 1707 E. CHAMBERLAYNE Pres. St. Eng. I. viii. (ed. 22) 63 Upon the Three Articles of Exportation, Transportation or Re-exportation, and Importation, no Kingdom or State in the World can any ways match us. 1827 STEUART Planter's G. (1828) 264 It must make the Tree..more troublesome to be balanced during the transportation. 1855 PRESCOTT Hist. Philip II, I. 178 The transportation of the troops was going ..on. 1890 Wisconsin Hist. Soc. Prospectus, Upon any gift to the Society, transportation will be cheerfully paid.

b. Geol. The movement of land-waste by rivers, ocean-currents, glaciers, wind, etc.

1830 LYELL Princ. Geol. I. 8 A geologist, who..sees the decomposition of rocks, and the transportation of matter by rivers to the sea. 1877 LE CONTE Elem. Geol. III. v. (1887) 516 The general direction of the scorings corresponds with that of transportation of the bowlders.

2. spec. a. Sc. Ch. The translation of a minister from one charge to another.

1562 in Row Hist. Kirk (Wodrow Soc.) 24 Transportation declared lawfull where there is reason for it. 1603 BLAIR Autobiog. ii. (1848) 46 That assembly sets a note upon the act of my transportation. 1717 T. BOSTON in A. Thomson Life (1895) 129 In a time wherein there is so little need of transportations.

b. Sc. Eccl. Law. Transportation of a church, removal of the site of the church to a different part of the parish.

1838 W. BELL Dict. Law Scot. s.v. Transportation of Churches, The form of applying for transportation is by a summons raised before the Teind Court, concluding for authority to transport, and to have the new church declared the regular parish church.

c. Removal or banishment, as of a criminal to a penal settlement; deportation.

1669 in 10*th Rep. Hist. MSS. Comm.* App. v. 95 If..the said Rice Havard [a condemned felon] doe give in security for his transportacion as before mentioned. 1678 BUTLER Hud. III. ii. 197 Neither Chains, nor Transportation, Proscription, Sale, nor Confiscation. 1727 GAY Begg. Op. i. xiii, Were you sentenc'd to Transportation? 1879 MCCARTHY Own Times II. xviii. 33 The sentence of death was changed into one of transportation for life.

3. transf. Means of transport or conveyance. U.S.

1861 Times 29 July, We captured..all the enemy's camp equipage and transportation. 1869 T. W. HIGGINSON Army Life (1870) 236 There was no transportation to take us. At last, a boat was notified. 1890 Century Mag. Feb. 564/1 A lot of miscellaneous transportation, composed of riding horses, ambulances, and other vehicles. 1894 Outing (U. S.) XXIV. 400/2 Transportation is furnished for the horses of mounted officers.

b. A ticket or pass for travelling by a public conveyance. U.S.

1909 in Cent. Dict. Suppl. 1911 in WEBSTER.

†4. Transport (of feeling), rapture, ecstasy. Obs.

1657 COLLINS Def. Bp. Elyn. vii. 266 Not onely in extasie and transportation, but in the daily forme of prayer. 1660 STANLEY Hist. Philos. IX. (1701) 373/1 A soul disturbed with anger or pleasure, or any other unbefitting transportation. 1690 LITTRELL Brief Rel. (1857) II. 68 Which those poor people received with great transportations of joy.

5. attrib., mostly in sense 1, as transportation agent, company, money, rate, sentence, system, etc.

1573-4 Privy Council Acts (1894) VIII. 212 To aunswer the conduct, transportation money and wages acording to her Majesties usuall entertainement. 1844 EMERSON Lect., Eng. American Wks. (Bohn) II. 303 The private transportation-shop. 1883 G. B. GOODE Fish. Indust. U. S. 67 (Fish. Exhib. Publ.) The construction of refrigerating transportation cars. 1888 BRYCE Amer. Commw. II. App. 670 All railroad, canal, and other transportation companies are declared to be common carriers. 1891 Athenæum 26 Dec. 863/3 There is not much in it about Siberia,..and the work is, in fact, one on the Russian transportation system. 1892 P. WARUNG Tales Old Regime 148 Her horse record was bad, and most likely her transportation-sentence was life.

Hence Transportational a., of, belonging or pertaining to transportation; Transportationist, one who favours the transportation of criminals.

1888 J. T. GULICK in Linn. Soc. Trnl., Zool. XX. 250 Transportational segregation, caused by activities in the environment that distribute the organism in different districts. 1840 GEN. P. THOMPSON Exerc. (1842) V. 26 On the whole, we seem to have flurried the transportationists.

Transportative (transpŏ·rtătĭv), a. rare. [f. TRANSPORT v. + -ATIVE, after PORTATIVE.]

1. Adapted or liable to transportation; such as to be carried from place to place, portable.

1643 TRAPP Comm. Gen. xxxii. 6 The Ark was transportative, till settled in Solomon's temple. 1657 Ibid. Jeb iv. 19 A tabernacle which hath no foundation, and is transportative. 1680 C. NESSE Church-Hist. 151 His ark should be no more transportative, but setled for a long season.

2. Having the quality of transporting.

1886 A. WINCHELL Walks Geol. Field 46 The transportative power of the stream had become so abated.

Transported (transpŏ·rtĕd), ppl. a. [f. TRANSPORT v. + -ED 1.]

1. Conveyed from one place to another.

1693 EVELYN De la Quint. Compt. Gard. I. ii. x. 26 There is but little to be said..of Transported Earth...it is a Novelty our Age has introduc'd in Gard'ning. 1830 LYELL Princ. Geol. I. 109 At the base of such hollow ravines was seen a wide and deep mass of ruins, consisting of transported earth, gravel, rocks, and trees.

b. Compulsorily carried to a distant country.

1728 GAY Polly I. (1777) 18 Since he came over [to America] he married a transported slave. 1743 BURKLEY & CUMMINS Voy. S. Seas 20 Those Grandees..in a few Minutes look'd like a Parcel of transported felons. 1890 Daily News 18 Sept. 6/1 The transported of 1851 and of 1871 are looked upon as revolutionists who only got what they deserved.

2. † Carried away by excitement or vehement emotion; excited beyond self-control; enraptured.

1600 E. BLOUNT tr. Conestaggio 247 Troublesome and transported subjects. 1685 BOYLE Eng. Notion Nat. v. 173 Like a passionate and transported thing, oppose it,..with such blind violence. 1746-7 HERVEY Medit. (1818) 29 The fondness of they transported husband. 1874 MOTLEY Barneveld I. ii. 177 He had never seen a man so desperate, so transported.

Hence Transportedly adv., in a transported manner, in a transport; Transportedness.

1652 LOVEDAY tr. Calprenede's Cassandra I. 56 [She] *transportedly cryed out [etc.]. 1713 CYRUS WINGHELSEA Misc. Poems 27 Assemble here, you watry Race, Transportedly he cries. 1804 J. COLLINS Scripscrap. 28 The chief a new Religion transportedly hails. *a*1656 BP. HALL Rem. Wks. (1660) 420 Titular respects which those..can weild without any such taint or suspicion of *transportedness.

Transportee (transpŏrtē·). [f. as next + -EE.] A transported convict.

1883 Chambers' Encycl. IX. 518/1 The criminal classes.. heard more about the success than the hardships of the transportees.

Transporter (transpŏ·rtăr). [f. TRANSPORT v. + -ER 1.]

1. One who transports.

1535 Act 27 Hen. VIII, c. 14 § 1 The said..Tanners or other person transporter of the same Lether. 1562-3 Act 5 Eliz. c. 12 § 4 No..Carrier, Buyer or Transporter of Corne. 1615 G. SANDYS Trav. 209 A thing usual it is betweene Tripoly and Aleppo..to make tame Doues the speedy transporters of their letters. 1744 J. PATERSON Comm. Milton's P. L. 305 The transporter of departed souls into hell. 1906 Times 21 Aug. 5/1 The result of the increased number of transporters is that the price of everything has fallen.

2. Any carrying apparatus; esp. a device for transporting coal from a quay or from one vessel to another.

Transporter-bridge, a bridge over a navigable waterway, high enough not to interfere with navigation, carrying a suspended platform or car which travels from bank to bank and conveys the traffic. So transporter car.

1893 Westm. Gaz. 25 July 5/2 Mr. Temperley's ingenious contrivance for coaling rapidly...The 'transporter', as it is called, is made of steel, beam-shaped,..and fitted with an automatic travelling carriage suspended from the lower flange of the beam. 1894 Ibid. 31 July 7/1 The 'B' Fleet has now been coaled with exceptional rapidity and without recourse to the Temperly transporter. 1904 Ibid. 2 Sept. 10/2 The Runcorn Transporter Bridge, now being erected, has its towers made wholly of steel. They rise 190ft. above high-water level. Ibid., The transporter car..is suspended from the trolly by steel-wire ropes.

Transporting (transpŏ·rtĭŋ), vbl. sb. [f. as prec. + -ING 1.] The action of the verb TRANSPORT; transportation.

1500 in 10*th Rep. Hist. MSS. Comm.* App. v. 397 After the transporting of the same to sell the said warres. 1574 in Mait. Cl. Misc. I. 101 Transporting of certane quheit furth of this realme without lycence. 1612 J. MORE in Buccleuch MSS. (Hist. MSS. Comm.) I. 125 The transporting of Sir John Ogle's regiment to my Lord Chandos. 1712 J. JAMES tr. Le Blond's Gardening 209 Clay is not dear, unless in the Carriage and Transporting of it. 1849 MACAULAY Hist. Eng. ix. II. 531 He would be no party to the transporting of the prince into France.

b. Naut. (See quot.) Also attrib.

c 1850 Rudim. Navig. (Weale) 156 Transporting, moving a ship from one situation to another by hawsers only. Ibid. Transporting-blocks, two snatch-blocks, fitted on each side above the taffrail to admit a hawser, when transporting the ship from one place to another.

c. Sc. See TRANSPORT v. 2 a, b.

1707 [see TRANSPORT v. 2 b]. 1904 R. SMALL Hist. U. P. Congregat. I. 446 In September 1829 transporting calls came up to Mr. Ritchie from Dunfermline..and from the Potterrow. Ibid. 469 Mr. M'Gilchrist's mind was not up to the transporting point yet.

Transporting, ppl. a. [f. as prec. + -ING 2.] That transports.

1. That removes from one place to another; engaged in transportation.

a 1618 RALEIGH Apology 21 That we might have kept our Transporting ships with our men of War. 1830 LYELL Princ. Geol. I. 312 The direction and position of their destroying and transporting power. 1834-9 J. PHILLIPS in Encycl. Metrop. VI. 705/1 The transporting action of streams. 1886 Academy 7 Aug. 82/1 Michael is hurried into the transporting ship which founders with all on board.

2. fig. Causing transport, ecstasy, or rapture; ravishing, enchanting.

c 1655 A. SIDNEY Love (in 19*th Cent.* Jan. (1884) 58), Epicureans allow soe much of it [Love] as consists in pleasure, but reject the transporting part. 1707 WATTS Hymn, 'My God, the spring of all my joys' iv, My soul would leave this heavy clay At that transporting word. 1756 MRS. INCHBALD Nature & Art v, So did Henry survey, with transporting glory, his brother, dest for the first time in canonicals.

Hence Transportingly adv., in a transporting manner; ravishingly.

1668 H. MORE Div. Dial. II. xi. (1713) 121 We see sundry Species of living Creatures this way the most pleasantly and transportingly provided for. a 1721 KEN Hymns also Poet. Wks. 1721 III. 54 [He] feel thee transportingly amaz'd.

Transportive (transpŏ·rtĭv), a. rare. [f. TRANSPORT v. + -IVE.] Having the quality of transporting (lit. and fig.); tending to transport.

1622 T. ADAMS Eirenopolis Wks. 1862 II. 315 It is the voice of transportive fury, 'I cannot moderate my anger'. 1633 — Exp. 2 Peter ii. 19 The running of our own ways, after our transportive fancies. 1899 T. C. CHAMBERLIN in Jrnl. Geol. Oct.-Nov. 669 As the declivity increased the cutting and transportive power of the drainage increased.

†Transportment. Obs. [f. as prec. + -MENT. Cf. OF. transportement (13–16th c.).]

1. Transportation: = TRANSPORT sb. 1. rare[−1].

a 1619 FLETCHER, etc. Q. Corinth iv. i, Are not you he, when your fellow Passengers, Your last transportment being assayl'd by a Galley, Hid your self i' the Cabbin?

2. Vehement emotion, passion; rapture, ecstasy: = TRANSPORT sb. 3.

1639 LD. DIGBY, etc. Lett. conc. Relig. (1651) 116 When they enveigh against Heretickes; their passions and transportments being at such times greatest. 1652 J. WEIGHT tr. Camus' Nat. Paradox XII. 395 'I'o appease the frantick transportments of his Minde. 1686 tr. Chardin's Coronat. Solyman 81 Hairbrain'd, and violent actions, and full of a Transportment that truly savour'd of Extravagance.

Transposable (transpōˈzəbˈl), a. [f. TRANSPOSE v. + -ABLE.] Capable of being transposed; interchangeable. Hence Transposabilˈity.

1899 WEBSTER Suppl., Transposable. 1881 ARMSTRONG in Nature 8 Sept. 450/2 Heat, electricity and mechanical action, are all equivalent and transposable forms of energy. 1903 A. R. WALLACE Man's Place in Universe 195 The most important element in protoplasm...which confers upon it...its extreme mobility and transpositibility, is nitrogen.

Transposal (transpōˈzəl). rare. [f. as prec. + -AL ; cf. proposal.] Transposition.

1695 KENNETT Parr. Antiq. lix. 106 A transposal from one fraternity to another. 1707 NORRIS Treat. Humility iv. 177 A strange turn and transposal of events. 1866 J. G. MURPHY Comm. Exod. xx. 17 The transposal of the first two clauses. 1868 MRS. WHITNEY P. Strong iii, Like the thing proof-readers put for a sign of a transposal.

† Transpoˈse, sb. Obs. rare. [f. TRANSPOSE v.] = TRANSPOSITION.

1589 PUTTENHAM Eng. Poesie II. xii. (Arb.) 121 Of the Anagrame,..we may terme him, the poesie transposed or in one word a transpose. Ibid. 122 This man was very perfit and fortunat in these transposes. 1605 CAMDEN Rem. (1637) 175 This transpose of the letters in the name.

Transpose (transpōˈz), v. [a. F. transposer (14th c. in Hatz.-Darm.), f. TRANS- + poser to place: see POSE, COMPOSE.]

† 1. trans. To change (one thing) to or into another; to transform, transmute, convert. Obs.

c 1380 WYCLIF Sel. Wks. II. 387 Vertues ben transposid to vices. c 1460 Wisdom 1005 in Macro Plays 68 Gyff a peny in thy lyve, with goode wyll To pe pore, & yt pleysyllle Gode more þan mowntynys [MS. mowtynys] in to golde transposyde were; Ande affir thy dethe, for the dysposyde. 1530 PALSGR. 761/1, I transpose, I chaunge or tourne a thyng... He hath transposed his house quyte newe, il a transmué, or contourné sa mayson tout de nouveau, or tout neuve. 1579-80 NORTH Plutarch (1676) 415 To transpose themselves from good Soulliders...to Lobourers, Merchants, and Farmers. 1590 SHAKS. Mids. N. I. i. 233 'Things base and vile, holding no quantity, Love can transpose to form and dignity. 1605 — Mach. iv. iii. 21 That which you are, my thoughts cannot transpose; Angels are bright still, though the brightest fell.

† 2. To change (a writing or book) into another language, style of composition, or mode of expression; to translate; to transfer; to adapt. Obs.

1390 GOWER Conf. II. 90 The Bible, in which the lawe is closed, Into Latin he [Jerome] hath transposed. 1552 HULOET, Transpose, transcribo. 1706 PHILLIPS (ed. Kersey), To Transpose, to turn out of Verse into Prose, to change, or alter the Style. 1858 FABER tr. Life of Xavier 256 He spent them in transposing a copious exposition of the Apostle's Creed into Japanese.

† 3. To change the purport, application, or use of; to apply or use otherwise; to give a different direction to; in bad sense, to corrupt, pervert; to misapply, abuse. Obs.

1509 BARCLAY Ship of Folys (1570) 106 They frowardly the sentence do transpose, And..By their corrupting and vnlawful glose,..bring to damnable heresie. 1548 GEST Pr. Alesse in Dugdale Life (1840) App. 102 Can the baptisme water be justlyy recomended when it is transposed to other usage..namely..to christen belles, to washe our clothes withal? 1564 Brief Exam. B iv b, They toke..the salarie..consecrated to the Bishoppes..and transposed it to finde the Ministers of the Church. 1641 MILTON Eikon. Wks. (1847) 98/1 Nor should..any private friendship have prevailed with me to..transpose my former thoughts.

4. To remove from one place or time to another; to transfer, shift (lit. and fig.: now rare exc. as in 5); † to transplant (obs.); † to convey, conduct (obs.).

c 1320 BARCLAY Mirr. Gd. Manners (1570) F iv, An olde tree transposed shall finde small auauntage. 1555 in Strype Eccl. Mem. (1721) III. App. xlvi. 139 Bishhope Barlo, after he was transposed and..discharged out of the bisshopryck of St. Davids. 1578 BANISTER Hist. Man v. 77 Many braunches are deriued from this veyne..transposing bloud to euery Membran. 1602 WARNER Alb. Eng. Epit. (1612) 389 Thus..was the Scepter transposed to the House of Lancaster. c 1662 HEYLIN Laud (1668) 69 Transposing the Commission Table to the East end of the Quire. 1669 MANLEY Grotius' Low-C. Warres 67 To transpose his Horsemen, and afterwards his Carriages, into that part of the Sen-Coast. 1792 RICHARDSON Pamela III. 212 To..transpose his Affections to a worthier Object. 1887 RUSKIN Praeterita II. vii. 243 As I transpose myself back through the forty years of desultory..reading.

5. To alter the order of (a set or series of things), or the position of (a thing) in a series; to put each of (two or more things) in the place of the other or others, to interchange; esp. to alter the order of letters in a word or of words in a sentence. (Now the ordinary sense.)

1538 ELYOT, Metatheti, where one letter is transposed from one place in a worde into an nother as Tymber Tymbre. 1571 GOLDING Calvin on Ps. lxxv. 5 Manye because they saw there could no vnkindnesse scarce be picked out of the words, thoght the order to have bin transposed. 1602 CAMDEN Rem. 153 The letters of Elizabetha Regina transposed to signifie that happinesse..O Englands Soveraigne (into anagrams made vs happy) thus Elizabetha Regina, Anglise Hera, Beati. 1612 BAILEY Lud. Lit. xiv. (1647) 197 This one Verse is turned by transposing the words 104 wayes. 1692-8 NORRIS Pract. Disc. (1721) III. 171 Whose Notions..are cross and transposed, that calls Evil Good, and Good Evil. 1706 [see TRANSPRONING]. 1833 J. HOLLAND Manuf. Metal II. 289 A common balance..should always be tested in this way:—Let a weight be put in one dish, and balanced by other weights in the other dish; let the weights be then transposed. 1861 PALEY Æschylus (ed. 2) Suppliices 909 note, The following four verses Hermann transposes after 927. 1902 SLOANE Electr. Dict., Transposing, a method of laying metallic circuits for telephoning. The wires at short intervals are crossed so that alternate sections lie on opposite sides of each other. It is done to avoid induction.

b. Algebra. To transfer (a quantity) from one side of an equation to the other, with change of sign.

1810 HUTTON Course Math. I. 222 Thus, if $x + 5 = 8$; then transposing, 5 gives $x = 8 - 5 = 3$. c 1865 in Circ. Sc. I. 456/2 The 3x is transposed: it is taken from the right and put on the left with changed sign.

† 6. To discompose, disturb the mental composure of. Obs. rare.

1594 KYD Cornelia II. 214 Madam, you must not thus transpose your selfe; Wee see your sorrow, but who sorrowes not? 1622 BURTON Anat. Mel. to the Ill. v, Do something or other, let it [grief] not transpose thee.

7. Mus. To alter the key of; to put into a different key (in composition, arrangement, or performance).

1609 DOULAND Ornith. Microl. 26 To transpose is to remoue a song, or a Key from the proper place ? 1725 (title) Melodies Proper to be Sung To..y^e Psalms of David, Figur'd for the Organ, and..the Treble of each Melody Transpos'd for the Flute. 1845 E. HOLMES Mozart 30 He transposes prima vista the airs he accompanies. 1875 DISSERT Mus. Form 71 At bar 23 the first subject is transposed into the key of B.

Hence Transpoˈsed ppl. a.; Transpoˈsedly (-ēdlĭ) adv.

1609 DOULAND Ornith. Microl. 16 In transposed Songs. 1683 MOXON Mech. Exerc., Printing xxii. P 8 He removes the other..to the transposed Page into the place of the first. 1771 LUCKOMBE Hist. Print. 447 If there be more than two Transpos'd Pages in the Sheet. 1889 F. TAYLOR in Grove Dict. Mus. IV. 161/2 Transposed editions of songs are frequently published, that the same compositions may be made available for voices of different compass. 1678 CUDWORTH Intell. Syst. I. v. 676 Writing down the..letters of the alphabet transposedly, any how.

Transposer (transpōˈzər). [f. prec. + -ER 1.] One who transposes: esp. in sense 7.

1882 OGILVIE Suppl. s.v., The transposer has written the tune two tones higher. 1894 Westm. Gaz. 23 Apr. 1/3 Many great musicians are poor transposers.

Transposing (transpōˈzĭŋ), vbl. sb. [f. as prec. + -ING 1.] The action of the vb. TRANSPOSE, in various senses.

1550 Acc. St. Andrews's, Canterb. (MS.), Item for the transposyng of a cope xviij d. 1559 MORWING Acronym. 141 By a certain metempsychosin, that is a transposing of the soules or principal vertues. 1574 tr. Marlorat's Apocalips 210 b, The cup of his wrath...The transposing of the woorde Cup from his owne proper signification...is very ryfe in the Scriptures. 1706 A. BEDFORD Temple Mus. vii. 156 We hardly meet with a Verse.., but with Transposing would admit of..Rhymes. 1908 Contemp. Rev. Apr. 414 There is not much more in it than a transposing of words.

b. attrib.: transposing instrument (Mus.), (a) an instrument having a mechanical device for transposing into a different key, as a transposing harpsichord, organ, piano; (b) a name for those orchestral instruments the parts for which are written in a different key from that in which they sound.

1840 Penny Cycl. XVIII. 142/2 This instrument was called by Mr. Trotter a transposing piano-forte. 1883 W. S. ROCKSTRO in Grove Dict. Mus. III. 433/1 In all these Scores, the Parts for the so-called 'Transposing-Instruments' correspond with the separate 'Parts' used in the Orchestra. 1889 A. J. HIPKINS Ibid. IV. 160/1 Praetorius (A. D. 1619) speaks of transposing viol-pipes (harpsichords) which by shifting the keyboard could be set two notes higher or lower... Burney in his musical tour met with two transposing harpsichords; one..at Venice; the other..at Bologna.

Transposition (transpōzĭˈʃən). [prob. a. F. transposition (c 1560 in Paré), or ad. med.L. transpositionem (Dr Cange), n. of action from L. transpōnĕre (f. TRANS- + pōnĕre to place); but, like other nouns in -position, associated in F. and Eng. with transposer, TRANSPOSE v. etc.] The action of transposing, or condition of being transposed; the result of this.

1. gen. Removal from one position to another; transference.

1538 ELYOT, Transcribere, the transposition of a possession from one to an other. 1642 FULLER Holy & Prof. St. I. xii. 19 Well may masters consider how easie a transposition it had been for God, to have made him to mount into the saddle that holds the stirrop. 1678 CUDWORTH Intell. Syst. I. i. § 33. 42 This was the Doctrine of Pythagoras..., that no Real Entity perishes in Corruptions, nor is produced in Generations, but only new Modifications and Transpositions made. 1827 CARLYLE Misc., Germ. Lit. (1857) I. 30 A transposition of the critic into the author's point of vision.

† b. Translation into another language. Obs.

1653 LD. VAUX tr. Godeau's St. Paul A ij, To publish this elaborate transposition of your Lordships out of French into English.

2. Alteration of order, or interchange of position, esp. of letters in a word, or words in a sentence; metathesis; the result of such action; a word or sentence transposed.

1582 T. WATSON Centurie of Loue lxxx, By tables of translillion to decypher any thing that is written by secret transposition of letters. 1630 J. TAYLOR (Water P.) Life & Death Virg. Mary Wks. 22/1 For in an Anagram Iskariott is, By letters transposition, Traitor kis. 1675 BAXTER Cath. Theol. II. v. 248 Beza..thinks that a transposition of two Verses hath darkened these Texts. 1797 H. HAMMER tr. Fleury's Eccl. Hist. I. 62 There are so many..hyperbatons and transpositions, which render his stile difficult. 1818 SCOTT Br. Lamm. xxxiv, The mysterious transposition of the portraits. 1861 PALEY Æschylus (ed. 2) Choeph. 219 note, By the accidental transposition of the verses.

3. Mus. a. Alteration of key; the performance of a piece in a different key from that in which it is written, or the writing of a piece in a different key from the original; also transf. a transposed piece. † b. Inversion of parts in counterpoint (obs.).

1609 DOULAND Ornith. Microl. 26 Transposition is the remouing of a Song or a Key from his proper place. 1740 (title) Calliope, or English Harmony: a Collection of..English and Scots Songs,..with the Thorough Bass and Transpositions for the Flute. 1889 F. TAYLOR in Grove Dict. Mus. IV. 161/1 In transposition it often happens that a natural has to be represented by a sharp or flat, and vice versa.

4. Algebra. Transference of a quantity from one side of an equation (or one member of a proportion) to the other.

1664 POWER Exp. Philos. II. 130 Here is now four Proportionals, and by any three given, you may strike out [? = hit upon] the fourth, by Conversion, Transposition, and Division of them. 1674 JEAKE Arith. (1696) 622 In Transposition of the next Equation..the Signs are accordingly changed. c 1865 Circ. Sc. I. 456/2 When unknown quantities are linked together, separate them by transposition.

5. Anat. Abnormal position of the organs of the body, e.g. the heart being on the right side; heterotaxy.

1887 DUNGLISON Med. Lex., Transposition of the Viscera ...consists in the viscera being found out of the situations they ordinarily occupy. 1904 Brit. Med. Jrnl. 17 Dec. 1643 Heterotaxy, or transposition, the teratogenesis of which is still obscure.

Hence Transpositional a. (rare⁻¹), of, pertaining to, or involving transposition.

c 1800 S. PEGGE Anecd. Eng. Lang. (1814) 77 The most striking..error in pronunciation among the Londoners..lies in the transpositional use of the letters W and V...Thus they always say Wool, instead of wool...Wicked, for wicked.

Transpositive (transpōˈzĭtĭv), a. [f. TRANSPOSE v., after positive, etc. Cf. F. transpositif (18th c.), and rare L. transpositiva (Quintil.).] Characterized by or given to transposition.

1783 BLAIR Lect. Rhet., etc. I. vii, 122 The French Language..admits the least of inversion..; But the Italian retains the most of the antient transpositive character. 1869 A. W. POTTS Lat. Pr. Comp. (1879) II. ii. 40 The English language..is compelled to obey somewhat rigid rules in the arrangement of the words...The Latin language, on the contrary, is transpositive.

Hence Transpoˈsitively adv. (in recent Dicts.)

Transpoˈsitor, rare⁻¹. [agent-n. in L. form from transpōnĕre (see TRANSPOSE); cf. F. transpositeur (1835 Dict. Acad.) and POSITOR.] One who transposes; a transposer.

1824 LANDOR Imag. Conv., Southey & Porson 43 We will lay aside the scrip of the transpositor and the pouch of the pursuer.

So Transpoˈsitory a. (rare⁻¹) = TRANSPOSITIVE.

1839 Fraser's Mag. XVI. 478 'Old England', in virtue of this transpository operation, evolves a Golden Land.

† Transpour, v. Obs. rare. [TRANS- 2.] trans. To pour from one to another, transfer by pouring.

1585 FETHERSTONE tr. Calvin on Acts xv. 9 Faith taketh that of Christ which it transpourth into vs.

Transprint, v. rare. [f. TRANS- 2 + PRINT v.] trans. To reprint from another book, etc. Hence Transprint sb., that which is transprinted.

1825 COLERIDGE Aids Refl. (1848) I. 327 The celebrated conclusion of the fourth book of Paley's Moral and Political Philosophy, referred to in p. 268,...is here transprinted for the convenience of the Reader. 1827 BENTHAM Mem. & Corr. Wks. 1843 X. 577 A transprint of which, in a number of the Examiner, is likewise destined to accompany them.

Transproˈcess. Anat. [TRANS- 6.] A transverse process of a vertebra; a diapophysis.

1891 Cent. Dict. cites COUES.

Transprose (transprōˈz), v. [f. TRANS- 2 + PROSE sb. Orig. a nonce-word, to match TRANSVERSE *v.*², q.v.] trans. To turn into prose; to translate or render in prose. (Chiefly humorous.)

1691 VILLIERS (Dk. Buckingh.) Rehearsal i. (Arb.) 31 Bayes...I Transverse it; that is, if it be Prose, put it into Verse, (but that takes up some time); if it be Verse, put it into Prose. Johns. Methinks, Mr. Bayes, that putting Verse into Prose should be call'd Transprosing. Bayes. By my troth, a very good Notion, and hereafter it shall be so. 1672 MARVELL (title) The Rehearsal transpros'd: or, Animadversions upon a late Book, entituled, a Preface, shewing What Grounds there are of Fears and Jealousies of Popery. 1673 [R. LEIGH] Transp. Reh. 4 What Miracles men of Art can do by Transversing Prefaces and Transprosing Playes. 1681 DRYDEN Abs. & Achit. ii. 443 Instinct he follows and no farther knows, For to write verse with him is to transprose. 1710 STEELE Tatler No. 194 P 1, I shall transprose it, to use Mr. Bays's Term. 1732 [see TRANSVERSE *v.*²]. 1826 Museum Criticum I. 411 Babrius versified them [Æsop's apologues]: various persons, as Mr. Smith says in the Rehearsal, transprosed the choliambics of Babrius.

Hence Transproˈsal, the action of 'transprosing', or something 'transprosed'; Transproˈser, one who 'transproses' (whence Transproˈsership); Transproˈsing vbl. sb.

1672 Transprosing (see above). 1673 S'too him Bayes 4 Godsookers you'l spoil all my Transprosal. Ibid. 34, I...bid your Transprosership heartily farewell. 1673 Answ. to

A Seasonable Disc.' 19 Has not the judicious Transproser a long Paragraph of the furious temper of these Clergy Men? 1718 J. TRAPP Æneis (1725) I. Pref. 82 Tho' the Translating of Poems into Prose is a strange, modern Invention; yet the French Transprosers are so far in the right; because their Language will not bear Verse.

Trans,pu·lmonary, a. [f. TRANS- 5 + L. pulmo, pulmōn-em lung: cf. pulmonary.] Acting or operated through the lungs: said of the respiration in birds, in which the lungs are connected with large air-sacs, into and out of which the air passes through the lungs.

1902 G. B. HOWES in Rep. Brit. Assoc. 624 The respiratory process in the bird may be defined as transpulmonary.

† Trans,qua·lify, v. Obs. rare—[1]. [TRANS- 2.] trans. To change from one quality to another.

1652 URQUHART Jewel Wks. (1834) 223 The fierceness of his foe was in a trice transqualified into the numbness of a pageant.

† Transra·tional (transræ·ʃənăl), a. [TRANS- 4.] Going beyond or surpassing what is rational.

1892 R. L. STEVENSON Let. in Myers Human Personality (1903) I. 302 The transrational felicity of the [dreamed] word..not one [syllable] was in itself significant, and yet the whole expressed to a nicety a voluminous distress of one in a high fever.

Transre·al, a. [TRANS- 4] Beyond the real; outside the world of reality.

1901 Speaker 3 Aug. 503/2 A foothold in the quicksands of time, 'a jumping-off ground' for his raids into the Transreal.

† Transre·gionate, ppl. a. Obs. rare—[1]. [f. TRANS- + L. regiōn-em region + -ATE 2.] Transferred to or inhabiting another region.

1597 HARRISON England III. vi. (1878) II. 39 There are some cockescombs..in England, learning it abroad as men transregionate, which make account also of this pastime.

Transrhenane (transrī·nēin), a. [ad. L. transrhēninus adj. and sb., f. trans across + Rhēnus the Rhine. Cf. F. transrhénan, -ane (in Littré).] That is across or beyond the Rhine; hence, German as opposed to Roman or to French.

a 1797 NEWTON Obs. Dan. I. v. (1733) 54 Captains of the Transrhenane Franks in the reign of Theodosius. 1830 CROWE Hist. France I. 7 A fresh infusion of the ruder spirit of the Transrhenane race came to invigorate the already degenerated Franks of Gaul. 1858 Fraser's Mag. XL. 260 The crude chimæras of transcendental and transrhenane philosophy. 1913 Eng. Hist. Rev. July 561 The Germans obtained the very rudiments of civilization from the Kelts in their pristine transrhenane home.

Transriverine (transrī·vərəin), a. [f. TRANS- 3 + RIVER: cf. riverine.] Situated across a (or the) river; transfluvial.

1900 Athenæum 22 Dec. 824/2 The town [Birkenhead] was projected at first simply as a residential trans-riverine suburb of Liverpool.

† Transs, obs. spelling of TRANCE sb.

(In the following passage it has been variously taken as TRANCE sb.[1] 3 b, and as sb.[2]: see also Jamieson.)

a 1550 Christis Kirke Gr. v, He playt sae schill, and sang sae sweet, Quhyle Towsie tuke a Transs.

Transsexit: see TRANSEXIT.

Trans-segmental, a. Anat. [f. TRANS- 5 + SEGMENT: cf. segmental.] Passing across a segment; extending through one segment of a limb and terminating in another, as a nerve or vessel.

1890 BILLINGS Nat. Med. Dict., Transsegmental arteries, those which pass through a region to be distributed beyond.

Transsene, variant of TRANSON v. Obs.

Trans-se·nsual, a. [f. TRANS- 4 + L. sensu-s sense: cf. sensual.] Lying beyond or transcending the senses.

1807 COLERIDGE in Lit. Rem. (1839) IV. 294 Confounding the..effects necessarily predetermined by the precedent causes..with the transensual ground or actual power.

Trans-sepulchral, a. [f. TRANS- 3 + L. sepulc,h)rum sepulchre: cf. sepulchral.] That is beyond the sepulchre or tomb.

1891 in Cent. Dict. 1912 in WEBSTER.

† Trans-sha·pe, tran,sha·pe, sb. Obs. [f. TRANS-SHAPE v.] Change of shape; transformation; metamorphosis.

1612 HEYWOOD Golden Age IV. i, By our transshapes And gulles of loue. 1632 — Silver Age II. i, But her search He soone deluded in his slye trans-shapes. 1636 — Love's Mistr. I. i, He shew thee..What kind of people I commerst withall in my transhape.

Trans-shape (trans,ʃē·pp), † transhape (tran,ʃē·pp), v. Now rare (? arch.). [f. TRANS- + SHAPE v.] trans. To alter the shape or form of; to transform.

1575 FENTON Gold. Epist. (1577) 332 The Olive and Laurell, into the which were transhaped Lotus and Daphne. 1599 SHAKS. Much Ado v. i. 172 Thus did shee an howre together trans-shape thy particular vertues. 1638 HEYWOOD Rape Lucrece Wks. 1874 V. 179 Hee's from a toward hopefull Gentleman, Transeshapt to a meere Ballater. 1656 S. HOLLAND Zara (1719) 53 Till Soto by degrees was transsisped into a goodly steed. 1659 Lady Alimony II. vi. Elvb, When th' Camel shall Transhape himself into a nimble Wesil,..I shall value you. 1855 SINGLETON Virgil I. 45 Or how he told of Teresʼ limbs transshaped.

Hence Trans-shaped (-ʃē·pt) ppl. a.; Trans-sha·ping vbl. sb.

1602 MARSTON 2nd Pt. Ant. & Mel. IV. i, Rather put on some transhap't cavalier, Some habit of a spitting critick. 1909 tr. Husserand's Lit. Hist. Eng. III. 140 Deeds of sorcery..: apparitions, evocations, transhapings.

† Trans-shift, v. Obs. rare—[1]. [TRANS- 2.] trans. and intr. To shift across or away.

1648 HERRICK Hesper., Argt. 9, I sing of times trans-shifting, and I write How Teares came first, and red, and lillies white. Ibid., On Himselfe, When monarchies trans-shifted are, and gone, Here shall endure thy great dominion.

Trans-ship,-shipment: see TRANSHIP, -MENT.

† Trans-si·tuate, v. Obs. rare. [TRANS- 2.] trans. To shift or alter the situation or position of.

1630 DAVENANT Cruel Brother III, He chides Women, for wearing their Halfe-Ruffes, Which pinn'd behind transsituates the face.

Trans-solid, a. rare. [f. TRANS- 4 + SOLID a.] Beyond solid; of a density surpassing solidity.

1898 J. W. POWELL Truth & Error v. 43 Geologic facts in a vast system lead to the induction that the centrosphere does not exist in the solid state; if it is metallic the weight reduces it to a trans-solid condition.

† Trans-spi·rit, v. Obs. nonce-wd. [TRANS- 1.] trans. To convey the spirit of (a thing) from one place or person to another.

1652 W. AMES Saints Security 33 He is a Christian to purpose, who hath the Bible transpirited into his minde.

† Trans-spi·ritualized, ppl. a. Obs. rare. [TRANS- 4.] Spiritualized in a surpassing degree.

1683 E. HOOKER Pref. Pordage's Mystic Div. 60 A little Incarnate Cherub..a very highly mystical and transspiritualized Person.

Trans-ste·llar, a. [f. TRANS- 3 + L. stella star: cf. stellar.] Existing or lying beyond the stars.

1888 J. MARTINEAU Stud. Relig. II. iii. ii. 270 Transstellar regions. 1893 FR. THOMPSON Judgm. Heav. iii. Poems 55 On the fire crystalline pale of that transstellar Heaven.

Trans-Stygian (-sti·dʒiăn), a. [f. TRANS- 7 + L. Styx, Styg-em: cf. stygian.] That is on the other side of the Styx; infernal. (Cf. TRANS-ACHERONTIC.)

1899 R. WALLACE Geo. Buchanan v. 91 Despising Pluto and the trans-Stygian penalties.

† Trans-sty·le, v. Obs. rare. [TRANS- 2.] trans. To transform or change the style or title of.

1611 HEYWOOD Gold. Age III. i, Archas..by Iouss gift Pelasgia's seate hath wonne, Which after..He hath transstil'd Archadia by his name.

Trans-subjective, a. Also tran,subjective. [TRANS- 4.] That transcends or is beyond subjective or individual experience as such.

1889 R. ADAMSON in Mind Jan. 127 Pure, mere experience is simply such knowledge as the subject directly has of his own subjective processes. Anything else shows itself on the slightest analysis to contain trans-subjective reference or trans-subjective elements. 1899 JAS. WARD Naturalism & Agn. II. 170 The sun as transubjective object is not L's sun or M's sun or N's sun..but rather what is common to them all, neglecting what is peculiar to each. 1902 T. CASE in Encycl. Brit. XXX. 668/1 From this epistemology he derives the metaphysical conclusion that the things we know are indeed independent of my consciousness and of yours, taken individually, or, to use a new phrase, are 'trans-subjective'. 1911 JAS. WARD Realm of Ends vi. 124 By intersubjective intercourse [men] attain to the trans-subjective or truly objective, both in knowledge and in action.

† Trans-su·bstancing, vbl. sb. Obs. rare—[1]. [f. TRANS- 2 + SUBSTANCE + -ING [1], repr. med.L. transubstantiātio.] = TRANSUBSTANTIATION.

c 1380 WYCLIF Wks. (1880) 345 Pus power pat prestis han standeb not in trans-substansing of be oste.

Transsuite, Transsume, etc.: see TRANSUDE, TRANSUME, etc.

Trans,te·mporal, a. Anat. [f. TRANS- 5 + L. tempora the temples: cf. TEMPORAL a.[2]] Crossing the temples; traversing the temporal lobe of the brain, as 'the transtemporal fissure'.

1889 Buck's Handbk. Med. Sc. VIII. 157/1 The crossing of the temporal lobe ventrad of the supertemporal fissure by two transtemporal fissures.

† Trans,tempora·tion. Obs. nonce-wd. [f. TRANS- 1 + L. tempus, tempor- time + -ATION.] Intermission of time, delay.

1651 Life Father Sarpi (1676) 59, I would desire the Reader to tolerate a little transtemporation, and digression.

† Trans,ti·me, v. Obs. nonce-wd. [TRANS- 2.] trans. To change as to time.

1647 WARD Simp. Cobler (1843) 16 To transplace or transtime a stated Institution of Christ,..is to destroy it.

Transubstantial (transŭbstæ·nʃăl), a. [f. TRANS- 1 + L. substantiāl-is, f. substantia SUBSTANCE: cf. CONSUBSTANTIAL.] a. Changed or changeable from one substance into another; of or pertaining to transubstantiation. b. Made of something beyond substance; non-material, incorporeal.

1567 Guide & Godlie B. (S.T.S.) 210 Gif God be transubstantiall In [= into] breid, with hoc est Corpus Meum. 1651 BIGGS New Disp. P 214 The transubstantial migration of the grapy juice of the papall Sacramentarians. 1892 E. C. STEDMAN in Century Mag. Apr. 821/1 The very stuff whereof the Muse fashions her transubstantial garments.

Hence Transubstantialism, the theory or doctrine of transubstantiation; Transubstantialist, one who holds this doctrine; Transubstantialize v., † (a) trans. to change from one substance to another, to transubstantiate; (b) intr. to hold or maintain the doctrine of transubstantiation (whence Transubstantializa·tion); Transubstantially adv., by change of substance, in the way of transubstantiation.

1842 G. S. FABER Prov. Lett. (1844) I. 283 The clause, through which Mr. Maitland would charge the Albigenses with acknowledged Transubstantialism, could never have been uttered by themselves. 1858 — Inquiry (1) Is it wrong to let a Romanist himself exhibit the blasphemous heresy of the *Transubstantialists in all its naked deformity. 1859 BP. E. H. BROWNE Exp. 39 Articles XXVIII. i. (1874) 679 If there were no other alternative,..we must perforce acknowledge, that they believed in a carnal presence, and were transubstantialists. For some presence they undoubtedly taught. 1647 TRAPP Comm. Matt. iii. 11 [The fire of the Spirit] spiritualiseth and transubstantializeth us, as it were, into the same image from glory to glory. 1846 G. S. FABER Diffic. Romanism (1853) 246 Some..have rashly charged the Episcopal Church in Scotland with transubstantialising, because the ancient phrase occurs in her eucharistic liturgy. 1846 — Lett. Teacher. Sweden. 180 The old phraseology, which Dr. Moehler confidently adduces as proof positive that the Primitive Church transubstantialized from the very beginning. 1846 — Diffic. Romanism (1853) 100 Specimens of such phraseology, by way of demonstrating the *transubstantialisation of the Primitive Church. 1577 tr. Bullinger's Decades (1592) 27 To expound the wordes of the Sacrament Sacramentally, and not *Transubstantially. 1579 FULKE Heskins' Parl. 428 Ba-il..beleeued the bread and wine to be made Christes body and bloud, he meaneth corporally and transubstantially.

Transubstantiate, ppl. a. Obs. or arch. Also 5–7 trans-. [ad. med.L. tran(s)substantiātus, pa. pple. of tran(s)substantiāre: see next.] Transubstantiated. (Mostly const. as pa. pple.)

c 1450 Mirour Saluacioun 1885 He the preest is brede to flesshe Transubstanciate. a 1536 TINDALE Declar. Sacram. C vij, [They say] the breade and wyne are changed, turned, altered and transubstancyat in to the very body and bloud of Chryste. 1550 CRANMER Defence 30 Y holdeth, that breade is transubstanciate or turned into the body, and wyne into the bloudde. 1571 FORTESCUE Forest 43 Sutche merciesse and transubstantiate monsters. 1598 DALLINGTON Meth. Trav. B iij, He hold transubstantiate this fat Fowle into fish. 1678 R. BUNCLAY Apol. Quakers xiii. § 5. 459 The Bread, and..the Wine..which they say is Consecrate and Transubstantiate into the very Body of Christ. 1848 KINGSLEY Saint's Tragr. I. ii. 194 To find the canvas warm with life, and matter A moment transubstantiate to heaven.

Transubstantiate (transŭbstæ·nʃiĕt), v. Also trans-. [f. ppl. stem of med.L. tran(s)substantiāre (Du Cange), f. TRANS- + substantia SUBSTANCE. Cf. F. transsubstantier (14th c. in Godef. Compl.). App. first used in pa. pple.: cf. prec.] trans. To change from one substance into another; to transform, transmute.

1584 R. SCOT Discov. Witchcr. III. ii. (1886) 45 She [a witch] confesseth that she transubstantiated him selfe. 1619 W. LAWSON Country Housew. Gard. (1626) 19 The sap..is consolidated and transubstantiated into the substance of the tree. 1670 PETTUS Fodinæ Reg. 44 The Philosophers stone ..which would..transubstantiate other Metalls into..Gold and Silver. a 1711 KEN Hymns Evang. Poet. Wks. 1721 I. 98 He Water transubstantiated to Wine. 1870 HUXLEY Lay Serm. (1877) 135 A singular inward laboratory, which I possess, will convert the dead protoplasm into living protoplasm, and transubstantiate sheep [i.e. mutton] into man.

b. spec. in Theol.: see TRANSUBSTANTIATION 2.

[c 1450: see prec.] 1533 TINDALE Supper of Lord B iij, The wyne transubstanciated into his bloud. 1658 C. CARTWRIGHT Cert. Relig. 1. 122 After Consecration there is no longer the substance of Bread, but that the Bread is transubstantiated, and turned into the substance of Christs Body. a 1774 TUCKER Lit. Pilot (1852) II. 183 It is necessary the priest should call down His very body crucified upon the cross into the bread; which must be transubstantiated therinto, or consubstantiated therewith. a 1829 GEO. HILL Lect. Div. (1842) III. 362 The practice of partaking in private of a small portion of what the priest has thus transubstantiated.

c. transf. and fig.

1641 R. BROOKE Eng. Episc. 71 So large that no one man ..could sufficiently visit and over-see it except he get the Pope to Transubstantiate him also and so get a Vbiquitarian Body. 1675 OWEN Author. Script. Wks. 1851 VIII. 499 A private doctor of the Church of Rome may thus transubstantiate blasphemy into piety. 1799 STRUTT Tr. Shandy II. ix, Never was a Dr. Slop so belitted, and so transubstantiated. 1884 J. TAIT Mind in Matter (1892) 125 Hints are transubstantiated into conceptions.

d. absol.

1579 FULKE Heskins' Parl. 67 Vᵉ Papistes call consecrating, to change vᵉ substances, or to transubstantiat. 1641 R. BROOKE Eng. Episc. II. iii. 74 A Preist can Consecrate, and by Consecration Transubstantiate. 1667 MILTON P. L. v. 438 With keen dispatch Of real hunger, and concoctive heate To transubstantiate.

e. intr. for pass. To become transubstantiated.

1851 W. ANDERSON Exposure Popery (1878) 84 If the cake be not genuine in respect of wheaten flour, and if the wine have been made of immature grapes, they will not transubstantiate.

Hence Transubstantiated ppl. a.; Transubstantiating vbl. sb. and ppl. a.

1550 BALE Apol. 63 Those "transubstanciated Goddes, were knowne for no Goddes. 1654 JER. TAYLOR Real Pres. 47 The spiritual eating of the flesh, may be done without their Transubstantiated flesh. 1718 J. CHAMBERLAYNE Relig. Philos. (1730) I. ii. § 5 A metamorphosed or transubstantiated Earth. 1849 SIR J. STEPHEN Eccl. Biogr. (1850) I. 82 His faltering lips had closed on the transubstantiated elements. 1585 HOOKER Serm. Justif., etc. § 17 As "transubstantiating of sacramental elements in the Eucharist. 1800 W. TAYLOR in Monthly Mag. X. 319 Scarcely marvellous enough for his "transubstantiating.

Transubstantiation (transŭbstæn,ʃi·ē·ʃən, -stænsi,ē·ʃən). Also trans-. [ad. med.L. tran(s)substantiātio (in use in the 11th c.), n. of action fr.

tran(s)substānti-ārē: see prec. So F. transsubstantiation (14th c. in Godef. Compl.).

The L. form occurs as a current term, c 1070, in St. Peter Damian Expos. Canonis Missæ § 7 'Quando profertur ipsum pronomen ['Hoc'], nondum est transsubstantiatio'. (Migne Patrologia CXLV. 883.)

1. The changing of one substance into another.

(Often with allusion to sense 2.)

1398 Trevisa Barth. De P. R. IX. xxxi. (MS. Add. 27944) lf. 129 Panne þe cene day is day of reconciliacion, of transsubstanciacion, of consecracion, *and*of sacrings, of bulewinge of oynement. 1477 Norton Ord. Alch. v. in Ashm. (1652) 86 Whereby of Mettalls is made transmutation, Not only in Colour, but transubstantiation. 1574 Newton Health Menr. 23 Avicen sayeth that flesh is a meate comfortynge the body and of meere transubstantiation and conversion into bloud. 1594 Plat Jewell-ho. III. 65 The Vintners practising..sometimes seen real transubstantiations, of white wine into Claret. 1691 Hobbes Leviath. IV. xlv. 561 The Gentiles..might excuse their Idolatry, by pretending..a transubstantiation of their Wood, and Stone into God Almighty. 1768 Tucker Lit. Nat. (1834) I. 286 We look upon..the change of a substance from one species into another as a transubstantiation. 1872 O. W. Holmes Poet Breakf.-t. xi. 362 It is no longer a wax doll for her, but has undergone a transubstantiation quite as real as that of the Eucharist.

2. The conversion in the Eucharist of the whole substance of the bread into the body and of the wine into the blood of Christ, only the appearances (and other 'accidents') of bread and wine remaining: according to the doctrine of the Roman Church.

Distinguished from consubstantiation, in which the elements of the bread and wine are held to coexist with the body and blood of Christ.

1533 Tindale Supper of Lord C iij b, S. Thomas theyr owne doctoure that made theyr transsubstanciacion confessethe that some there were that sayed that Christe dyd fyrste consecrate wyth other wordes, and he now reacthyng the bread to his disciple sayed, This is my bodie. a 1536 — Declar. Sacram. D iv, As concerninge the transubstanciatyon I thinke that such a speche was among the olde doctours though they that came after wyderstode them amysse. 1558 Bp. Watson Sev. Sacram. viii. 45 The..church..did..well..when it inuented the worde of Transubstantiation, to expresse the olde truthe,..that the former substances of bread and wine be conuerted and chaunged into the body and bloud of Chryste. 1579 Fulke Heskins' Parl. 73 Transubstantiation is not so olde as Damascene, neither was it receyued in the Greeke Church, neither is it at this daye. 1635 Fleigh Christianogr. 55 The word Transubstantiation is..first mentioned by Roger Hovenden, who flourished An. 1204. 1664 H. More Myst. Iniq. xv. 31 That Mysterious conceit of Transubstantiation and the Idolatry thereon depending. 1678 Act 30 Chas. II. Stat. II. § 3 Such Peer or Member shall..audibly repeat this Declaration following, 'I A. B. do..testify and declare, 'That I do believe that in the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper there is not any Transubstantiation of the Elements of Bread and Wine into the Body and Blood of Christ at or after the Consecration thereof'. 1715 Bentley Serm. x. 362 By slow degrees Transubstantiation was enacted into an Article of Faith. 1839 Keightley Hist. Eng. I. 83 As transubstantiation had not yet [11th c.] been established by the papal authority, it..formed no part of the public system of the Anglo-Saxon church. 1901 R. Wace Body of Christ ii. § 3. 118 The use..of the distinction of substance and accidents for the purpose of assisting the doctrine of transubstantiation was already familiar to Berengar,..he combats the proposed use of it, proving that the accidents exist apart from their substance or 'subject', or apart from that of which they are attributes. 1901 B. J. Kidd 39 Art. II. 230–1 It was a crude attempt to secure some real meaning to Our Lord's Words of Institution by the doctrine of a physical transubstantiation or change in the material elements. But the Schoolmen now came forward with a subtler defence.. Hence the doctrine of a metaphysical transubstantiation was adopted [by the Council].

Hence Transubstantia·tionist, one who holds the doctrine of transubstantiation. So Transubstantia·tionite, -a·tionalist.

a 1834 Coleridge in Lit. Rem. (1839) IV. 192 The Consubstantiationist, or the Transubstantiationist. 1839 J. Rogers Antipapey. vi. ii. 219 What Bedlam..contains madmen madder than the mad transubstantiationists? 1884 N. & Q. 23 Feb. 149/2 Dr. Samuel Pegge explained it ['please the pigs'] by 'An't please the pyx', and so making it equivalent to Deo volente in the minds of transubstantialists.

Transubstantiative (tronsəbstæ·nʃĭtĭv), a. [f. as Transubstantiate v. + -ive; cf. Consubstantiative.] Of the nature of transubstantiation. Hence Transubsta·ntiatively adv., by way of transubstantiation.

1826 G. S. Faber Diific. Romanism (1853) 73 note, The fourth Council of Lateran..determined that the alleged material change in the elements, is not consubstantiative but transubstantiative. Ibid. 271 note, If, after his ascension, the humanity of Christ had been transubstantiatively changed into his Divinity.

† Transubsta·ntiator. Obs. [agent-n. in L. form, from med.L. transubstantiāre or Transubstantiate: see -or. Cf. F. transubstantiateur (16th c. in Godef. Compl.).] One who holds the doctrine of transubstantiation; a transubstantialist.

a 1555 Ridley Declar. Lord's Supper (1559) 53 b, Some among the transubstantiators..walke soe wilely and soe warely betwixte these ij. opinions. 1624 Gataker Transubst. 82 As these Transubstantiators..say that the Bread in the Eucharist looseth its owne nature. a 1626 W. Sclater Exp. Rom. xi. (1629) 145 Our Transubstantiators..delude the simple, perswading the real presence of Christs body. 1686 H. More Real Pres. II. 12 These Transubstantiators have fallen into that very absurdity, that they seemed so much to abhor them.

So Transubsta·ntiatory a. (rare—[1]), implying or tending to transubstantiation.

1878 E. Jenkins Haverholme 184 Transubstantiatory rather, is it not?

Transudate (tro·nsĭudět), sb. [ad. mod.L. transūdāt-us, pa. pple. of L. transūdāre to Transude.] A substance transuded: = Transudation b.

1876 tr. Wagner's Gen. Pathol. (ed. 6) 156 Most transudates taken from the cavities of dead bodies contain.. generators of fibrin. 1899 Allbutt's Syst. Med. VIII. 500 In nasal catarrh or bronchitis we have..change of the normal transudate into a mucoid exudate.

† Tran,sudate, v. Obs. rare. [f. transūdāt-, ppl. stem of mod.L. transūdāre to Transude: see -ate 3.] intr. = Transude.

1684 Boyle Porosus. Anim. & Solid Bod. viii, 128 That Mercury and Aqua fortis being digested together in a Bolthead, may, by rubbing the outside of the Glass, be made visibly and palpably to transudate.

Transudation (tronsĭuděi·ʃən). Also 7 trans-. [ad. mod.L. tran(s)sūdātio, f. L. trans across + sūdātio a sweating. Cf. F. transsudation (18th c.).] The action or process of transuding; the passing off or oozing out of a liquid through the pores of a substance.

1612 Woodall Surg. Mate Wks. (1653) 274 Transudation is, when in descensory distillation, the essence provoked, sweateth through, and is carried..into the receiver. 1661 Boyle Certain Physiol. Ess. (1669) 192 The drops..proceeded not from the transudation of the Liquor within the Glass. 1794 Sullivan View Nat. I. xiv. 175 It causes transudations, evaporations, exhalations. 1848 Carpenter Anim. Phys. 39 A simple transudation of the watery parts of the blood may take place..in the dead as in the living body.

attrib. 1899 Cagney Yaksch's Clin. Diagn. viii. (ed. 4) 418 Transudation fluids may be serous, sanious, or in rare instances, chylous.

b. concr. Something which is transuded.

1650 H. Brooke Conserv. Health 183 The more thick Transudation by the Ears. 1707 Curios. in Husb. & Gard. 90 The Manna of Calabria, and of Briançon, are only the Transudation of a Humour that breaths out of..Larch-Trees. 1897 Allbutt's Syst. Med. IV. 322 The amount [of proteids] present in the transudations of renal disease are far below those seen in the transudations of cardiac disease.

Tran,su·datory, a. [f. ppl. stem of mod.L. tran(s)sūdāre: see next and -ory 2.] Having the quality of transuding; characterized by transudation.

1752 Randolph Virtues Bath-Water 53 It does not..check the Exhalation of the transudatory Lymph. 1876 Clin. Soc. Trans. IX. 142 A cystoid or cicatrix, with their transudatory walls, favours the flow of intra-ocular fluids by exosmose.

Transude (tronsĭu··d), v. Also 7 transsude. [ad. mod.L. tran(s)sūdāre, f. trans across + sūdāre to sweat. Cf. F. transsuder (18th c.).]

a. intr. To ooze through or out like sweat; to exude through pores (in the human body or anything permeable).

1664 Evelyn Sylva 54 From the latter [Picea] transsudes a very bright and pellucid Gum. 1744 Mitchell in Phil. Trans. XLI. II. 108 In Winter, when they are..not covered with that greasy Sweat which transudes thro' them in Summer, their Skins feel more coarse. 1784 Wedgwood ibid. LXXIV. 383 Part of the water transudes through the vessel. 1877 Roberts Handbk. Med. (ed. 3) I. 32 The vessels become overloaded, and the fluid portion of the blood transudes.

b. trans. To ooze through (something) like sweat.

1781 Kerr in Phil. Trans. LXXI. 378 As the Lac liquifies twixt the bag, and when a sufficient quantity has transuded the pores of the cloth, lay it [etc.]. 1814 W. C. Wells Ess. Dew (1866) 110 The pans..are so porous that they readily permit water to transude them.

c. trans. in causal sense: To cause (something) to ooze through.

1861 Holme tr. Moquin-Tandon II. iv. I. 214 A fluid which they disgorge or transude from some part of their body. 1877 Roberts Handbk. Med. (ed. 3) I. 26 The vessels may be so distended as to transude serum.

Hence Transu·ded ppl. a., Transu·ding vbl. sb. and ppl. a.

1756 Nugent Montesquieu's Spir. Laws (1758) I. xiv. x. 326 After the transuding of the aqueous humour. 1772 Phil. Trans. LXII. 467 To let out extravasated or transuding fluids. c 1865 Circ. Sc. I. 323/2 A very great proportion of the transuded matters does not contribute to the nutrition. 1873 T. H. Green Introd. Pathol. (ed. 2) 319 The transuded serum usually differs from blood-serum in being of lower specific gravity.

† Tran,su·lt, v. Obs. rare—[0]. [ad. L. tran(s)-sultāre to leap over, f. Trans- + saltāre to leap.]

1623 Cockeram, Transult, to leape away. 1656 Blount Glossogr., Transult, to leap or jump over, to overleap.

Transum, obs. form of Transom.

Transume (transiū·m), v. Obs. exc. Hist. Also 5–7 transumme. [ad. (post-Aug.) L. tran(s)-sūmēre, f. trans across, over + sūmēre to take, seize; in med.L. transumēre, transumptāre, to transcribe, make a copy of. Cf. OF. transumer (1482 in Godef.).]

1. trans. To make an official copy of a (legal) document; = Exemplify 7. Obs. exc. Hist.

1482 in Rymer Foedera (1713) XII. 165/2 We have Decerned..the said Letters to be Exemplified and Transumed. 1533 St. Papers Hen. VIII, I. 413 That the same Acte may be impressed, transumed, and set up on every churche dore. 1541 Records of Elgin (1903) I. 64 Ane transump and instrument transsumit out of Master Androw Cheves protocoull buik. 1545 Reg. Privy Council Scot. I. 10 The autentik copy of the said letter of merk autentikly transumpt in the toun of Arkis under the sele of the tabellioun and keparis of the sele of the vecunty of Arkis. 1598 D. Wemyss Compt Hk. (S.H.S.) 157 David Ostlar.. restis awin me a Crown for transuming Andro Ostlaris barnis Seasingis. 1693, 1765–8 [see Transumpt sb.]. 1881 S. R. Macphail Relig. Ho. Pluscardyn xi. 107 The original bull..having been produced to court to be transumed.

† 2. To take from one to another, take over; to transfer, transport. Obs.

1483 Caxton Pilgr. Sowle IV. xxix. 76 This word statua, whiche that we transumen in to Englysshe, that is to mene an Image. 1627 W. Sclater Exp. 2 Thess. (1629) 184 Terms properly belonging to time, are yet sometimes transumed to denote what is pertinent to eternity. 1630 Lord Relig. Persees 17 The Angell..bade him close his eyes, and he would transume and rappe him up into that place of glory. 1656 [? J. Sheppard] tr. T. Wheler's Perspad. Fact, 382 Physicians affirm..the Seed of the Man disappears, being transum'd into the Flesh of the Woman.

† 3. To transmute, change, convert (into something else).

1579 Fulke Heskins' Parl. 155 The bread and wine are transumed. Ibid., Though we take the word of transuming for changing, turning, transmuting, or transelementing,.. yet meane they not change of one substance into another. 1652 Crashaw Carmen Deo Nostro Wks. (1904) 249 With a well-blest bread and wine Transum'd, and taught to turn divine.

† b. intr. for pass. = Transmute v. 1 c. Obs. rare.

1480 Caxton Ovid's Met. XV. iv, They [the four elements] be wont to transume, that one into that other.

¶ Some instances of transume in early printed books or modern editions from MS. are mis-readings of transmue: see quots. below; and in some of the passages quoted above in sense 3 and 3, transmue was possibly the author's word. It is possible that sense 3 originated in this confusion of form between transume and transmue.

1483 Caxton Gold. Leg. 140/2 He..transumeth the payne perpetuell [Fr. orig. le muement de la paine de purgatoyre; Lat. orig. poenae purgatoriae..commutatio]..in to payne temporell. 1490 Caxton Eneydos Mem v. vi. (W. de W.) 99 b, The soule shall be in suche wyse transumed [Fr. orig. transmuee] in god. 1543 Harding's Chron. CLXXVI. iv, Syr Hugh ..was transumed [primes pursued, renewed] In high estate. 1909 ed. of Pecock's Bk. of Faith c 1456, p. 157 The sijt is the principal outward wit, and therfore his name may be transumed [MS. (Trin. Coll. Camb.) transmued] in to the name of ech others outward witt.

Transumpt (tronsə·mpt), sb. Also 5–6 Sc. transump, 5–7 transumpt, 7 transumt. [ad. med.L. tran(s)sumpt-um transcript (Du Cange), f. ppl. stem of L. tran(s)sūmēre (see prec.). Cf. OF. transumpt (15th c. in Godef.).] A copy, transcript; spec. a copy of a record, deed, or other legal document; an exemplification. (Chiefly in Sc. legal use from 16th c. to c 1870.) Hence, action or decree of transumpt.

1480 Acta Dom. Conc. (1839) 50/1 Pe originale letter.. or elles ane autentic transump þerof. 1542 [see Transume 1]. c 1555 Harpsfield Divorce Hen. VIII (Camden) 195 The transumpt of the said brief was sent to the King's agents. 1677 Gale Crt. Gentiles II. IV. 8 What is the sum of the Ten Commandments..but a Transumt,..Abstract or rather extended Copie of the Law of Nature given to man in the beginning? 1693 Stair Inst. Law Scot. (ed. 2) IV. xxxi. § 4 Although there be no express obligement to grant Transumpts, yet the Interest in common Evidents, is a sufficient Title to cause them be produced, to be Transumed. 1752 J. Louthian Form of Process (ed. 2) 283 For every Sheet of Decreets of Transumpt..o 14 6 Scots Money. 1755 Cawe Hist. Eng. IV. 118 A transumpt or copy was now taken of it. 1765–8 Erskine Inst. Law Scot. IV. i. § 53. 657 An action of transumpt,..is competent to any person who has a partial interest in a writing,..against him in whose custody the writing lies, to exhibit it. Ibid., When a decree of transumpt is questioned upon a ground of falsehood alledged against the writing transumed. 1810 G. Chalmers Caledonia II. III. vi. 274 The citizens of Edinburgh..paid the money on the production of such a transumpt. 1878 Dixon Hist. Ch. Eng. I. iii. 151 note, An instrument made on a transumpt of the Breve. Ibid., A definition of transumpt, the word lately revived in the State Papers, for a copy made by authority, or an attested copy.

† b. A pictorial representation, sketch, or engraving (of a work of art). Obs. rare—[1].

1629 Maxwell Heroidum b j margin, His [Commodus] naked Statue (as he plaid the Gladiator) is extant at Rome in the Vrbanian Palace. See the Transumpt of it in M. G. Sandy's Iournall, p. 271.

† Transumpt, ppl. a. Obs. [ad. L. transumpt-us, pa. pple. of transūmēre to Transume.] 'Transumed', transferred, copied. (as pa. pple.)

1495 Trevisa's Barth. De P. R. II. v. (W. de W.) b iij/2 They [angels] ben lyckened to other thynges that ben take and transumpte of materyall thynges.

Transumpt, obs. erron. form of Transom.

† Tran·sumption. ? Obs. Also 5 transum-. [ad. late L. tran(s)sumptiōn-em (Quintilian), n. of action f. tran(s)sūmēre to Transume. Cf. OF. transumption (15th c. in Godef.).]

1. Transcription, copying; a passage copied or taken from any author; a quotation.

1412–20 Lydg. Chron. Troy Prol. 264 Veyn[e] fables, whiche of entencioun They han contreved by false trau sumpcioun, To hyde trouthe falsely vnder cloude. 1451 CARGRAVE Life St. Gilbert 85 All þese transumpciones folowing rehersith our auctour to þis entent, þat men of religion schold not haue fair conditiones owtward and euel inward,..and soo may men expounne all þe oþir transumpciones. *a*1716 SOUTH Serm. (1744) VII. ii. 28 It was not Paul's design, to use these words..by way of citation out of David; but having by a kind of transumption and accommodation borrowed those former words of his.

2. The action of taking over from one to another; transference or translation to another part or place.

1615 CROOKE Body of Man 608 The aiery bodie..is nourished by blood brought by the Veines, and that per Diadosin that is by Transumption. 1656 R. REYNER Rules Cont. Tongue 213 Elijah informed Elisha of such things as should fall out in Israel after this transumption. 1684 tr. Bonet's Merc. Compit. VI. 242 A Sinus..out of which, sharp Ichores coming by transumption to the neck of the bladder.

3. Rhet. Transfer of terms; metaphor. See also quot. 1553.

*c*1449 PECOCK Repr. II. xviii. 258 This colour of speche which in rethorick is clepid transumpcioun. 1553 T. WILSON Rhet. (1580) 178 Transumption is, when by degrees wee goe to that, whiche is to bee shewed. As thus: Suche a one lieth in a darke dounegeon, now in speaking of darkenesse, we vnderstande closenesse, by closenesse, we gather blacknesse, and by blacknesse, we iudge deepenesse. 1624 BARGRAVE Serm. 7 Such parabolicall transumptions are to be expounded to the sense, not to the letter. 1677 GALE Crt. Gentiles II. iv. 280 The cause of this Transumption is because we have not a word which properly signifies the stable mansion of Eternitie: wherefore we are forced to transfer, by way of similitude, our temporal words..to Eternitie. [1880 LEWIS & SHORT Lat. Dict., Transumptio, a taking or assuming of one thing for another, transumption, metalepsis, a transl. of μετάληψις, Quint. 8, 6, 37.]

4. Logic. In the Aristotelian logic (tr. Gr. μετάληψις), Conversion of a hypothetical proposition into a categorical one.

1628 T. SPENCER Logick 293 Aristotle doth call all compound Syllogismes by the name of Hypothetical, because they inferre the conclusion vpon the supposition of some part thereof: & doth diuide them into such as conclude according vnto transumption: and qualitie (that is as Pacius vnderstands it), when the minor is taken out of the maior; as..If a man, then a living creature. But a man, therefore a living creature. [1730-6 BAILEY (folio), Transumptio (with Schoolmen), a syllogism by concession or agreement, used where a question proposed is transferred to another with this condition, that the proof of this latter shall be admitted for a proof of the former.]

†Transu·mptive, a. Obs. or arch. [ad. L. transumptīvus (Quintilian), f. transumpt-, ppl. stem of transūmĕre to TRANSUME + -ĭvus, -IVE. Cf. OF. transumptivement figuratively (Godef.).] Characterized by transumption; metaphorical.

1597 DRAYTON Heroic. Epist., Rosamond to Henry II, Annot., Meander is a riuer in Lycia...Heereupon are intricate turnings by a transumptiue and Metonimicall kind of speech, called Meanders. 1657 W. MORRICE Coena quasi Koiv xxvi. 265 Some..apply this text in an accommodate and transumptive sense. 1662 J. CHANDLER Van Helmont's Orient. 153 It was yielded to by a liberty transumptive or of taking one thing for another, without taking heed. 1876 LOWELL Among my Bks. Ser. II. 44 'The form or mode of treatment', he [Dante] says, 'is poetic, fictive, descriptive, digressive, transumptive'.]

Transunite (trænsjʊ·nəˈɪt), v. rare. [TRANS-1.] trans. To unite across a space.

1652 GAULE Magastromancer 232 The strong kind of phrenzie proceeds from Venus; and it doth, by a fervent love, convert and transunite the minde to God.

Transuterine (trænsjʊ·ˈtərəin), a. nonce-wd. [f. TRANS- 3 + L. uter-us womb: cf. uterine.] Beyond or outside of the womb.

1830 COLERIDGE Ch. & St. (ed. 2) 227 Do not the eyes, ears, lungs of the unborn babe, give notice and furnish proof of a transuterine, visible, audible atmospheric world?

Transvaal (trɑ·nsvɑˈl, -z-). [f. TRANS- 7 + Vaal, a tributary of the Orange R. in S. Africa.] A former South African republic, now a state of the Union of South Africa, lying north of the Orange Free State, from which it is separated by the River Vaal.

attrib. Transvaal daisy, Gerbera Jamesonii, a composite plant, introduced from the Transvaal in 1888.

1901 Gardener 12 Jan. 1049/1 The Transvaal Daisy..has been a bright patch for a long time...The large flame-coloured flowers..are a particularly fine sight.

Hence Transva·ler, a native or inhabitant of the Transvaal; Transvaa·lian a., of or belonging to the Transvaal; Transvaalite (transvɑ·ˈlɔit, -z-) Min. [-ITE 1 2.], a mineral consisting mainly of black oxide of cobalt, resulting from the alteration of cobalt arsenide, found at a cobalt-mine near Middleburg in the Transvaal.

1887 RIDER HAGGARD Jess x. You [are] going to show us *Transvaalers how to do it, eh? 1899 Daily News 19 Dec. 3/5 That the position of the Britisiers under the *Transvaalian oligarchy would, in the end, become absolutely unbearable. 1890 MACGHIE & CLARK in Engin. & Mining Jrnl. (N.Y.) L. 96 *Transvaalite. 1896 in CHESTER Dict. Min.

Transvalua·tion. [TRANS- 1.] An alteration of values; revaluation. So Transva·lue v. trans. to alter the value of, to re-value; Transva·luer.

1898 Contemp. Rev. May 738 The transvaluation of all values—the reversal of all accepted ideals. 1906 Q. Rev. Jan. 64 A certain 'transvaluation' of the traditional judgments about the comparative merits of various tendencies in Greek philosophy. 1908 MOZLEY in Contemp. Rev. Apr. 425 Christianity..is the real transvaluer of all values. 1911 Daily News 20 Oct. 5 On such an island..all moral values would have to be transvalued.

†Tra·nsvasate, v. Obs. rare⁻¹. [f. ppl. stem of med.L. transvāsāre, f. TRANS- 1 + L. vās vessel. Cf. EXTRAVASATE.] trans. = TRANSVASE. So †Transvasa·tion [cf. F. transvasation (? 16th c. in Godef. Compl.)], the action or process of pouring out of one vessel into another.

1601 HOLLAND Pliny XXXIV. xviii. II. 519 This transvasation ought so long to be continued out of one vessell into another, untill such time as it have done casting any residence downward. 1673 Phil. Trans. VIII. 6022 This Alcalisat odor is lost by transvasation, that salt being thereby steamed away. 1678 CUDWORTH Intell. Syst. I. iv. § 36. 610 For the Father and Son are not, as they suppose, transvasted and poured out, one into another, as into an empty vessel; as if the Son filled up the concavity of the Father, and again, the Father that of the Son.

Transvase (trænsvē·ˈs), v. rare. [a. F. transvaser (12th c. in Hatz.-Darm.), f. TRANS- + L. vās vessel.] trans. To pour out of one vessel into another. Also fig. Hence Transva·sing vbl. sb.

1892 Dim Dict. Arts 587 The higher ouvreaux called the lading holes, because they serve for transvasing the liquid glass, are three in number. 1888 Nature 23 Feb. 388/1 Errors incident to the collection and the transvasing of the water. 1891 STEVENSON Lett. (1901) II. xii. 218 Something better to do than to transvase the work of others.

†Transva·story. Obs., perh. corr. of transversary, used by Bourne interchangeably with TRANSITORY B. 2, TRANSVERSARY B. 2.

Transve·ctant. Math. [f. L. transvect-, ppl. stem of transveh-ĕre (see next) + -ANT.] An invariant or covariant derived from two binary forms by the operation of transvection.

1876 [see next 2].

Transvection (transvē·kʃən). [ad. L. transvectiōn-em, n. of action from transveh-ĕre (-vect-), f. trans across + vehĕre to carry.]

†1. The action of carrying or conveying from one place to another; transportation. Obs.

1624 DONNE Body of Man 39 The transvection or transportation of aer..to the same Lungs of the infant. 1680 H. MORE Apocal. Apoc. 330 The consummate salvation of the Saints, or their transvection into those eternal Mansions of glory. 1682 — Annot. Glanvill's Lux O. xiii. 105 That transposition..is..a transvection of them, rather than poision or traction.

2. Math. A method used by Clebsch and Gordan for deriving invariants and covariants from a product of two binary forms.

1876 SALMON Lessons Introd. Mod. Higher Algebra (ed. 3) xix. 279 If $\phi$, $\psi$ be covariants..we can obtain from them the series of covariants $\phi x^{p-k}\psi x^{q-k}(\phi\psi)^k$..This operation, in German called Ueberschiebung, we shall call transvection, and the covariants generated we shall call transvectants of the two given covariants.

Transve·ctor. Math. [f. TRANS- + VECTOR.] In Quaternions, The sum of a vector and a provector.

1853 SIR W. R. HAMILTON Quaternions (1866) 4 If a provector $BC$ be added to a vector $AB$, the sum is the transvector $AC$; or in symbols, $I..(B-A)+A=B$; and $II..(C-B)+(B-A)=C-A$.

Transve·nom, v. rare. [TRANS- 2.] trans. To transform into something poisonous.

*a*1667 JER. TAYLOR, Envy..transvenoms the honey of another man's comfort into the poison of asps for its own bosom. 1816 COLERIDGE Statesman's Man. 26 That atheistic philosophy, which in France transvenomed the natural thirst of truth into the hydrophobia of a wild and homeless scepticism.

Transverbate (trænsvē·rbeˈt), v. rare. [f. TRANS- 1 + L. verb-um word + -ATE 3; after transliterate.] trans. To translate verbally or word for word. So Transverba·tion, verbal translation.

1885 Athenæum 14 Mar. 349/2 (Philological Society) Mr. R. Dawson read a paper on the Revised Version of the New Testament...He commended the accuracy of the revisers, but condemned their 'transverbation' of the Greek. 1896-7 H. HAIGH in Bible Soc. Record (N. Y.) Jan. 2 If we could take the Hebrew and the Greek and transverbate them it would be comparatively easy.

†Transve·rberate, v. Obs. rare. [ad. ppl. stem of L. transverberāre, f. TRANS- 1 + verberāre to beat.] trans. To strike through.

1623 COCKERAM, Transverberate, to strike thorow. 1640 G. WATTS tr. Bacon's Adv. Learn. III. iv. 147 The appetencies of Matter, and the most universall Passions, (which in either Globe are exceeding Potent, and transverberate [L. transverberant] the universall nature of things).

So Transverbera·tion, a striking through.

1881 H. J. COLERIDGE Life & Lett. St. Teresa I. 24 The room in which Teresa received her mystical transverberation—the piercing of her heart by a fiery dart.

Transversal (transvē·rsəl, -z-), a. and sb. [ad. med.L. transversāl-is (*a*1255 Albertus Magnus Animal. 13. 2. 1): see TRANSVERSE and -AL. Cf. F. transversal (16th c. in Hatz.-Darm.).]

A. adj. 1. Lying or passing across; = TRANSVERSE a. 1.

*c*1440 tr. Pallad. on Husb. VI. 179 A double course of boording..On transuersal, another cours directe. 1527 R. THORNE in Hakluyt Voy. (1589) 253 One of the transuersall lines. 1541 R. COPLAND Guydon's Quest. Chirurg. E iv, Openynge with two transuersall muscles. 1644 DIGBY Nat. Bodies XXVI. § 5. 236 The hart hath in the ventricles of it, three sortes of fibers..the third, are transuersall or thwart ones. 1755 Phil. Trans. XLIX. 119 Flames, rays, and fiery corruscations, direct and transversal. 1831 FARADAY Exp. Res. XVII. 358 The direct vibration of the luminous body may communicate transversal vibration..to the molecules of the ether. 1908 Contemp. Rev. Mar. 369 A scheme for the construction of a transversal line which would link Odessa and Varna.

†2. Genealogy. Collateral: = TRANSVERSE a. 2. [*a*1308 DUNS SCOTUS Sent. 4. 40. 6 Transversalis.] 1594 PARSONS Confer. Success. II. viii. 184 He was of the right discendant lyne of K. John, and the Cardinal was but of the collateral or transuersal lyne. 1907 [implied in TRANSVERSALLY].

3. Conch. = TRANSVERSE a. 1 c. (So in F.)

1835-6 Todd's Cycl. Anat. I. 710/2 All [shells] that are of greater breadth than length are named transversal.

B. sb. †1. Something transversal or lying athwart, a transverse line; fig. a deviation, digression. Obs. rare.

1597 LOWE Chirurg. (1634) 256 Three kinds of fibres which are Rights, Obliques, and Transversals. 1620 SHELTON Quix. (1746) III. xxvi. 183 On with your Story in a direct Line, and fall not into your Crooks and your Transversals.

2. Geom. A line intersecting two or more lines, or a system of lines.

1881 CASEY Sequel to Euclid 68 If two parallel lines be intersected by three concurrent transversals, the segments intercepted by the transversals on the parallels are proportional. 1888 ELDRIDGE Comm. Plane Curves 15 Every transversal of a harmonic pencil is divided harmonically in the points in which it intersects the lines of the pencil. 1902 TOWNSEND tr. Hilbert's Foundat. Geometry 63 A segment [of a line] joining a vertex of a triangle with a point of the opposite side is called a transversal. A transversal divides the given triangle into two others having the same altitude and having bases which lie in the same straight line.

b. Optics. The line in which the plane of polarization of a beam of light intersects the wave-front; the transverse plane. 1909 in Cent. Dict. Suppl.

3. Roulette. A bet placed at the end of any three numbers taking them horizontally. Cf. TRANSVERSE B. 1 b. Also in Fr. form transversale.

Transversale six, a bet placed on the line, taking in the three numbers above and the three below.

1895 G. MEREDITH Amazing Marriage IX, He stated that the number of y' had won twice, and Shrane tried the transversal enclosing this favoured number.

‖ Transversalis (transvəɪsē·lis). Anat. [med. and mod.L.: see prec.] A transverse muscle; one of the muscles, etc., that lie across various parts.

[1704 J. HARRIS Lex. Techn. I, Transversalis Colli, is a Muscle of the Neck. 1847 ARBENETHY Surg. Wks. I. 292 The internal oblique and transversalis muscles.] 1872 HUMPHRY Myology 16 Between the external oblique and the transversalis.

Transversa·lity. [f. TRANSVERSAL + -ITY.] The condition or state of being transversal.

1850 GREGORY Reichenbach's Res. Magnet., etc. 421 We have placed beyond a doubt, the existence of transversalis in the odylic phenomena. 1888 LD. RAYLEIGH in Encycl. Brit. XXIV. 450/1 The condition of transversality leads at once to the desired results.

Transversa·llly, adv. [f. as prec. + -LY 2.] In a transversal manner, transversely, athwart.

(In quot. 1641, app. = obliquely.)

1641 WILKINS Math. Magic I. xviii. (1707) 77 The several Proportions of Swiftness and Distance in an Arrow shot Vertically, or Horizontally, or Transversally. 1762 tr. Busching's Syst. Geog. V. 39 A shield twice longitudinally divided and three times transversally with a escutcheon of pretence. 1907 Daily Chron. 19 Jan. 3/1 [In the opinion of some] 'Heredity goes transversally, sideways, not in straight lines'.

Transversan, a. Bot. [f. as TRANSVERSE a. + -AN.] (See quot.)

1900 B. D. JACKSON Gloss. Bot. Terms 274/1 Transversan Plane, that which passes through the centre of a Diatom frustule vertically to the pervalvar axis (O. Mueller).

†Transve·rsant, a. Obs. rare⁻¹. [f. as TRANSVERSE *v.*1 + -ANT.] Crossing, transverse.

*c*1440 Pallad. on Husb. I. 564 But mak this hous wherin they [thrushes] shal abide Light, clene, and playn, with perchis transuersaunt To sitte vppon.

Transve·rsary, a. and sb. [ad. L. transversāri-us lying across: see TRANSVERSE and -ARY. Cf. F. transversaire (Littré).]

†A. adj. Transverse. Obs. rare⁻¹.

*c*1400 Lanfranc's Cirurg. 148 þe wesant..haþ noon [brawys] transuersaire, þat is to seie goynge ouerþwert, for wiþholdynge is not neiþerful to goynge.

B. sb. †1. The transverse beam or member of a cross. Obs. rare⁻¹. [L. transversarium cross-beam.]

*a*1608 DEE Relat. Spir. I. (1659) 185 Neither of the letters in the Transversary of the black Crosse.

2. A cross-piece or vane of a cross-staff. Hist.

1594 J. DAVIS Seam. Secr. (1660) 17 Your staffe so ordered, then moue the transversary upon your staffe to and fro as occasion requireth. 1638 OUGHTRED in Rigaud Corr. Sci. Men (1841) I. 51 For setting the degrees on the transversary. 1879 A. GRIFFIN in Encycl. Brit. X. 28/1 The cross-staff was a very simple instrument, consisting of a graduated pole with cross pieces, called transversaries... also graduated, which were fitted to work on it.

Transverse (trænsvē·rsəs, -z-), a. (sb., adv., prep.) [ad. L. transvers-us turned or directed across, pa. pple. of transverĕre: see TRANSVERT. Cf. F. transverse (16th c.).]

1. Lying across; situated or lying crosswise or athwart; esp. situated or extending across the length of something, spec. at right angles (opp. to longitudinal). Also const. to.

1621 Burton Anat. Melan. I. ii. iii, Fibræ are strings, white and solide, dispersed through the whole member, and are right, oblique, transverse, all which have their severall vses. a 1687 Petty Treat. Naval Philos. i. 1. Three perpendicular lengthway sections, and...a transverse section of the Hulk. 1784 Cowper Task I. 561 A kettle slung Between two poles upon a stick transverse. 1815 W. Shepherd, etc. Syst. Educ. (1822) II. 112 The influence is not exerted in a direction parallel to the wire through which the electricity passes but in a direction transverse to it. 1858 H. Spencer Princ. Psychol. (1872) II. vi. ii. 7 In similar masses of matter which are subject...to the transverse strain, the power of resistance varies. 1872 F. R. Wilson Ch. Liability. 64 A transverse set of pews in the Chancel.

b. Her. Crossing the escutcheon from one side to the opposite one. (Cf. quot. 1610 in D.)

c 1828 Berry Encycl. Her. I. Gloss., Transverse, and Transverse in point, to the dexter and sinister.

c. In a bivalve shell: Of greater breadth than length or height; having the longer diameter transverse to the hinge.

1822 J. Parkinson Outl. Oryctol. 180 A transverse bivalve.

d. In special collocations:

Transverse artery, Anat. one of the small branches given off at nearly right angles from the basilar; transverse axis, (a) an axis transverse to the main axis, as in a crystal; (b) Geom. the axis passing through the foci of a conic section (in an ellipse, the longer axis): see Axis † 7; transverse bone, Zool. in some reptiles, a bone connecting the pterygoid and maxilla; transverse colon, Anat. (see Colon †); transverse fissure, Anat. (a) the cleft below the hemispheres of the brain into which the pia mater extends to form the velum interpositum and choroid plexuses; (b) a short transverse cleft on the lower surface of the left lobe of the liver: transverse ligament, part of the cotyloid ligament; transverse magnet formed by a combination of bar-magnets so that its poles are at the sides, not at the ends: transverse magnetism, magnetization, magnetization at right angles to the length of the bar; transverse muscle, any one of various muscles extending across other parts; transverse process, a lateral process of a vertebra; transverse sinus, a simple network of veins connecting the two inferior petrosal sinuses; transverse suture, the suture between the frontal and facial bones; transverse vein, Entom. any one of the several short veins of the wings of an insect, connecting two longitudinal ones.

1829 Dunglison Med. Lex. 926/2 *Transverse artery of the face, arises from the temporal, passes transversely across the face...and gives its branches to the different muscles of the cheek. 1704 J. Harris Lex. Techn. I. s.v. Latus Transversum. The longest Diameter in the Ellipsis, which Apollonius calls the *Transverse Axis, or Diameter. 1878 Bell Gegenbaur's Comp. Anat. 59 The other connects the sides of the body, and is the transverse axis. 1840 E. Wilson Anat. Vade M. (1842) 101 The transverse ligament is a strong ligamentous band. 1696 Phillips (ed. 5), Transverse Muscles, the first pair shew themselves with a Membranous beginning, at the *Transverse Processes of the Vertebræ of the Loyns. 1840 E. Wilson Anat. Vade M. (1842) 8 The transverse processes project one at each side from the lamina of the vertebra. Ibid. 341 The *Transverse sinus passes transversely across the basilar process of the occipital bone. 1741 Monro Anat. (ed. 3) 375 The *transverse Suture runs quite cross the Face, from the external Canthus of one Orbit to the same Place of the other. 1860 Mayne Expos. Lex., Transverse Suture, ...a suture which passes across the face, sinks down into the orbits, joining the bones of the skull to those of the face.

†2. Of kindred: Collateral, as between brothers, cousins-german, etc. Obs. rare.

1614 Selden Titles Hon. Pref. B iv, A Monster, that is not like him that got him, nor any other of the ascending or transverse line. 1652 D. W. Comet Nat. 154 This Discent ought to be to the next Heirs, Males or Females, in a direct or transverse line. 1660 Jer. Taylor Duct. Dubit. II. iii. rule iii. § 9. 401 The Grand Parent of a Family; from whom the direct descendants are for ever to be reckon'd to the Kinred in the strait and proper line: but when once it goes to the transverse and collateral, they not onely have no title to the inheritance, but [etc.].

9. In combination with other adjs. (Entom.): transverse-orbital, -medial adjs. = Transverso-cubital, -medial; transverse-quadrate a., quadrate with the transverse diameter the longer.

1840 tr. Cuvier's Anim. Kingd. 528 Having the thorax transverse-quadrate.

B. sb. [The adj. used absol.]

1. Something that is transverse: spec.

†a. A cross or transverse part or member. Obs. rare. †b. Portif.† = Traverse sb., Obs. rare. c. The transverse axis of a conic section. d. See quot. 1867. e. A transverse muscle. f. Arch. (See quot. 1842–76.) g. The sprocket axle of a chain-driven motor-car. h. Roulette = Transversal B. 3.

a. a 1633 Austin Medit. (1635) 108 The Transverse of the Crosse...is held to have bin a peece, much about that length. 1634 Bp. Hall Contempl., N. T. iv. Crucifixion, Having fastened the transverse to the body of that holy tree. b. 1704 J. Harris Lex. Techn. I. Transverse, in Fortification, is a little Trench bordered with two Parapets...which the Besiegers make quite thwart the Mont of the Place, to pass secure from Flank-shot, and to bring the Miners to the Bastions. c. 1743 Emerson Fluxions 244 Let the Transverse of the Ellipsis = $2r$, Conjugate = $2c$. d. 1867 Thomson & Tait Nat. Phil. I. 1. § 120 Mark a line, along its length, such that it shall be a straight line parallel to the axis...A line drawn from any point of the axis perpendicular to this side line of reference, is called the transverse of the rod at that point. f. 1842–76 Gwilt Archit. Gloss. s.v. Chambranle, The top of a three-sided chambranle is called the transverse, and the sides ascendants. g. 1907 Westm. Gaz. 22 Nov. 10/2 Their manufactures include live axles of various types and sizes, transverses, change-speed and brake levers [etc.]. h. 1899 Scribner's Mag. XXV. 50/2 He placed eight louis on the number nineteen, and 1,200 francs on the line between nineteen and twenty-two, thus playing the 'transverse'.

†2. By transverse [L. per transversum], in a transverse position, crosswise; athwart. Obs. rare.

1596 Spenser F. Q. VII. Mutability vii. lvi, Nothing doth firme and permanent appeare, But all things tost and turned by transverse.

C. adv. In a transverse direction or position; transversely, across, athwart. Now rare or poet.

1660 R. Coke Justice Vind. 41 When they are cut transverse, they are cut to right angles. 1671 Milton Samson 209 These two proportioned ill drove me transverse. 1726 Leoni Alberti's Archit. I. 51/2 Beams across from one Wall to the other..are Columns laid transverse. 1798 Bloomfield Farmer's Boy, Spring 93 And o'er the whole Giles once transverse again, In earth's moist bosom buries up the grain.

†D. prep. Across, athwart. Obs. rare.

1607 Topsell Four-f. Beasts (1658) 161 One of them descendeth, and goeth down into the Ditch, and standeth transverse or cross the same. 1612 Guillim Heraldry III. xxii. 166 All Fishes having bones Transverse the Escocheon must in blazon be termed Naiant.

Transverse (transvə́·rs, -z-), v.[1] Now rare. [a. Ofr. transverser (13th c. in Godef.) = med.L. transversāre (Du Cange) to cross, f. L. transversus, ppl. stem of transvertĕre: see Transvert.]

1. trans. To pass or lie athwart or across; to cross, traverse. rare.

1430–40 Lydg. Bochas IX. x. (MS. Bodl. 263) 417/1 Ther shon wer..Richell transversed with gold weer. 1545 Raymond Orph Andromede v In Latin: muscell transuersi: Bycause they transuerse or ouerthwart the belly. 1873 Mivart Elem. Anat. x. 413 The internal carotid transverses the petrous part of the temporal bone.

†b. fig. To cross or speak in opposition to; to cross, thwart; in Law = Traverse v. 12. Obs.

1387–8 T. Usk Test. Love I. ii. (Skeat) I. 195, I trowe the strongest and the best that maie bee founde, woll not transuers thy wordes. 1628 Sir S. D'Ewes Jrnl. (1782) 45 He was presentlie transversed and overruled by his flatterers. 1704 J. Harris Lex. Technic. I. s.v., To transverse an Indictment, is to take Issue upon the chief Matter, and to contradict or deny some Point of it. 1769 R. Cumberland Brothers II. ii. That perverse hussey...threatens to transverse all my hopes.

†c. intr. (for refl.) To go across or athwart; to run counter; to transgress against. Obs. rare.

1377 Langl. P. Pl. B. xii. 284 Ac trewth pat trespassed neuere, ne transuersed ayeines his lawe. 1393 Ibid. C. iv. 449 And ho so takep ayen treuthe oper transuersep ayens reson Leaute shal ho hym lawe.

2. trans. To turn upside down or backwards; to overturn, turn topsy-turvy. Now rare or Obs.

c 1520 Barclay Jugurth (1557) 28 As if thei wer belies of ships transversed or turned vp set downe. 1643 Howell Parables on Times Ep. Ded. 2 These sad confusions which have so unhing'd, distorted, transversd, tumbled and dislocated all things. 1738 Whitefield in Life & Jrnls. (1756) 50, I could not but transverse the Prodigal's Complaint: How many are ready to perish with hunger, whilst I have bread to spare. 1829 G. Meredith R. Feverel xiv, In love, it is said, all stratagems are fair, and many little ladies transverse the axiom by applying it to discover the secrets of their friends.

b. To convert into something different; to alter, transform. (Cf. Transverse v.[2])

1687 Prior & Montagu (title) The Hind and the Panther Transvers'd To the Story of The Country-Mouse and the City-Mouse. c 1700 Sir J. Montague in N. & Q. 7th Ser. (1889) VIII. 430/2 Making several essays to transverse.. other parts of the Poem. 1708 Modesty Mistaken 5 Having transvers'd the two famous Lines of Sir J. Denham to the scandal of Bottled Ale.

Hence Transversed ppl. a., placed crosswise, crossing, transverse.

a 1711 Ken Hymns Rise Po. Wks. 1721 III. 85 His heav'nly Banner..Wrought with direct and with transversed Rays.

Transverse, v.[2] [f. Trans- 2 + Verse sb.; cf. Transphrase. (Orig. as a kind of pun or play on prec.)] trans. To turn into verse; to translate or render in verse.

1671 Villiers (Dk. Buckhm.) Rehearsal I. (Arb.) 31 I take a Book in my hand..if there be any Wit in't,...I Transverse it into Prose, if it be Prose, put it into Verse..., if it be Verse, put it into Prose.] 1672 [H. Stubbe] Rosemary & Bayes 2 To pilfer from other men; and if they write in prose, he doth trans-verse them. 1732 Fielding Debauchees Prol. 10 Old worm-eaten Jokes..Transverse'd from Prose, perhaps transpros'd from Rhimes. 1881 Saintsbury Drydeu viii. 159 Having taken the fancy to transverse some Arthurian stories.

Transversely (transvə́·rsli, -z-), adv. [f. Transverse a. + -ly 2.] In a transverse manner or direction; across, athwart; crosswise.

1656 Bulwer Anthropomet. 295 Another membrane, which transversely..doth cover the chink of the Hymen. 1658 Sir T. Browne Gard. Cyrus i. 96 Not transversly or rectangularly intersected, but in a decussation, after the form of an Andrew or Burgundian cross. 1777 Cook Voy. Pacific Ocean II. i. (1784) I. 178 An open end, which represented an ellipse divided transversely. 1822 J. Parkinson Outl. Oryctol. 180 A...transversely oblong bivalve. 1878 W. H. Dall Later Prehi. Man 16 There are eighteen threads to the inch longitudinally and twenty-four transversely. 1884 Bower & Scott De Bary's Phanar. 347 A layer of transversely elongated, partly thick-walled elements.

Transverseness. rare. [f. as prec. + -ness.] The condition or state of being transverse.

1867 C. J. Smith Syn. & Antonyms s.v. Across, Transverseness to a line of movement becomes obscure.

Transversion[1] (transvə́·rʃən, -z-). rare. [n. of action fr. L. transvert-ĕre to turn across, Transvert; cf. conversion, inversion, etc.] The action of turning across or athwart; intersection; a turning into something else, conversion, perversion, transformation; transposition.

1656 Blount Glossogr., Transversion, a turning away or crosse, a traversing, or going athwart. 1658 Sir T. Browne Gard. Cyrus i. 96 Nor shall we take in the mystical Tau, or the Crosse of our blessed Saviour, which having in some descriptions an Empedon or crossing foot-stay, made not one single transversion. 1671 [see text]. 1716–20 Lett. fr. Mist's Jrnl. (1722) I. 9 As if they intended a Transversion of Christendom to its first Paganism. 1870 Lowell Study Wind. 331 A transversion common with him.

Transversion[2]. [n. of action f. Transverse v.[2]] A turning into verse; concr. a metrical version of something.

(Quot. 1671 appears to combine this with prec.)

[1671 Villiers (Dk. Buckhm.) Rehearsal I. (Arb.) 31 My first Rule is the Rule of Transversion, or Regula Duplex, Changing Verse into Prose, or Prose into verse.] 1796 W. Taylor in Monthly Mag. I. 404 The following transversion of a passage from Ossian's Carthon, may give an idea of the practicability of such metres in the English tongue. 1898 Q. Rev. Jan. 100 Bayes's rules for the composition of plays ...the rule of transversion for instance.

Transversive (transvə́·rsiv, -z-), a. rare[−1]. [f. L. transvers-: see Transverse v.[1] and -ive.] Having the effect of crossing or thwarting.

1855 Bailey Mystic 43 The will Of man, so oft transversive of the truth.

Transverso- (transvə́·rso), used as combining form of L. transvers-us Transverse (see-o suffix), in a few rare scientific terms: Transverso-cubital, Transverso-medial adjs., Entom. crossing the cubital, or the medial, cells of the wing, as certain nervures. Transverso-spinal a., Anat. an epithet of several muscles attached to the transverse processes of the vertebræ. Transverso-vertical a., relating to, or expressing the ratio between, the transverse and vertical dimensions (greatest breadth and greatest height), as the transverso-vertical index in craniometry.

1857 Dunglison Med. Dict., Transverso-spinal. 1891 Cent. Dict., Transversocubital, Transversomedial, Transversovertical.

†Transvert, v. Obs. [ad. L. transvertĕre to turn across, f. trans across + vertĕre to turn.] trans. To turn across or athwart; to turn into something else, transform, convert; to turn about, reverse, overturn.

